In the committee's inspection of this division, members were greatly impressed with the scope of the organization. Few students realize the size and importance of the gigantic boilers, the extensiveness of the service system, and the efficiency of the organization. Being uninformed in the technicalities of science, the filter plant and the heat and water divisions were perhaps not appreciated as much as they could have been, but the results which show on paper setting forth costs and rates proved the efficiency and good management of this division.

BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT

This department comes under the "utilities" group insofar as it maintains the campus dormitories and buildings, grounds, University rental houses, and a system of repair work.

The entire campus is the working area for this department. At present it consists of approximately 188 acres, not including the land on which the 30 University rental houses and buildings are built. There are 52 buildings, excluding those houses rented to University employees, used in general University service. These buildings have a floor area of 970,375 square feet or 22.3 acres, and a roof area of 504,750 square feet or 11.55 acres. All of this area must be kept in good condition.

The buildings department does not work in town except in the maintenance of the University rental houses, which, however, is quite a large item. Also, private carpentering in the buildings department workshop is done on order. At present, the department owns two new trucks and five old trucks. As all freight and express is delivered through the buildings department, one truck is kept busy delivering these items virtually all of the time.

Efficient

In our investigation, we found the department well managed and efficient, although the dormitory inspectors and classroom inspectors have not always efficiently reported repair needs. An adequate stock is on hand to meet ordinary contingencies and operating needs, and a skilled force is available for particular jobs.

At present the buildings department employs 119 men, consisting of 17 skilled workers, 11 unskilled workers, 49 janitors, 17 regularly employed students, seven irregularly employed students, two policemen, three truck drivers, one storekeeper, and two men on the electrical staff.

All employees on an hourly basis are employed by the superintendent of buildings and are discharged by the same authority. All janitors are also hired by this superintendent, but they are first recommended by a committee appointed by the University Janitors Association. If for any reason they are discharged, other than necessary "laying-off," this action is placed before the same committee for its approval.

All employees on salary are hired through the University personnel officer, but they are also approved by the superintendent of buildings.

The employees are divided into seven divisions: carpenters, painters, plumbers, shop workers, janitors, campus workers, and laborers. The foreman of each division assigns the work for his men and supervises it. The foremen are directly responsible to the superintendent of buildings for the quality and efficiency of the work done under their supervision.

DORMITORIES

Our inspection of Spencer hall and our knowledge of the other dormitories has given us a good basis for many recommendations regarding student quarters. We have neglected reporting on the classroom buildings and others because the changes which we would suggest would embrace projects of remodeling which are at present beyond the financial capacity of the University to undertake. However, we hope that we may do some work in this field at a later date.

We found Spencer hall very efficiently run and extremely neat and comfortable. The most impressive thing about Spencer, perhaps, was the well-kept appearance and cleanliness and neatness, as contrasted with the men's habitations. This, of course, is due to personal efforts on the part of the women students.

Spencer hall is a unit in the service system differing from the other dormitories in that meals are served to the roomers. Consequently, the machinery of the central office is brought into play in purchasing, special employment, and administration.

The committee feels that the inhabitants of Spencer are exceptionally well treated and that that dormitory is satisfactory in every way. Needless to say, the inspection of the upper floors was more than attractive and interesting.

At present there are 15 dormitory buildings with 713 rooms, of which number 668 are rentable to 1305 occupants. The other rooms are used for service rooms for dormitory stores, laundry agents, monitors, matrons, etc. Two buildings are occupied by women, Spencer hall and Graham dormitory. There are 271,200 square feet of floor space in the University dormitories.

Dynamiting Case

(Continued from page one)

against the convicted men was entirely circumstantial.

University students and all others interested are invited to attend the forum. After the Reverend Weaver's talk there will be a general discussion of the topic, during which the speaker will welcome any questions and student opinions.

WILIEST OF THEM ALL

Warner Oland appears the seventh time as the famous Chinese sleuth in Fox Film's new production, "Charlie Chan in Paris," said to be the most ingenious and engrossing mystery of the lot, playing today at the Carolina theatre.

Table Tennis

(Continued from page three)

plunged to obscurity as rapidly as it had soared to popularity; and three years later found it but a vague memory.

Twenty-five years passed ere enthusiasts could effect a revival. This time it mounted slowly toward public approval and today seems practically assured of enduring in the hectic competitive race that all sports participate in.

However, one hitch obstructed the advance of the game. The producers of the game had commercialized the name "Ping Pong" and restricted players in tournaments to the use of their equipment.

This caused a slight furor in the ranks of the ping pong fanatics, and in 1930 they launched the great war between table tennis and ping pong by branching off into a separate organization. Terming themselves the United States Table Tennis Association, they returned the game to a purely amateur basis.

The war was on. Ping pongists dared not to mention the name of table tennis and visa versa, their tournaments becoming distinct and unallied competitions. Two national champions were crowned, one in ping pong and one in table tennis, and the world wondered.

Today the battle is over and table tennis rules supreme. Ping pongers have conceded the victory and have trekked over to the ranks of the table tenniseers. It is now a great sport and packed galleries turn out for tournaments in various cities, colleges and clubs.

Northwestern and Michigan are leaders among the universities staging annual tourneys that draw hundreds of entries. Harvard, C. C. N. Y., New York University, and others have teams, and intense interest prevails among the student body.

Carolina Next?

Is Carolina in line? There is undoubtedly interest at Chapel Hill as shown at the Graham Memorial tables and from bits of conversation. Therefore, there are plans underway to test the desire of the Tar Heels to witness table tennis as it should be played.

The cream of the crop, or the nation's best, are considering a trip to North Carolina that would include an exhibition at Chapel Hill. They will be out to prove the claim of table tennis to a position as a sport.

Three of the best players in the country, including the national champion, may play at Chapel Hill during the month of April. At present the title-holder is in Europe competing in the world championship.

The present tournament to be held between the dormitories and fraternities as part of the intramural program, is a test for the interest at Carolina. All teams of three are requested to sign up immediately at Graham Memorial, in the game room or office, so that the tournament may get under way early next week.

MAKE PLANS FOR STUDENT-FACULTY DAY

Charts On Economics To Form One Exhibit

Economics Department to Have Student-Faculty Display.

The department of economics and commerce will feature a display of charts relating to various phases of economics as its share in the program of student-faculty day, it was learned today from Dr. W. F. Ferger, chairman of the committee in charge of the department's exhibit.

The exhibit, which will be held in the small lobby in the north wing of Graham Memorial, will include charts concerning labor, finance, business administration, statistics, economic theory, foreign trade, insurance and transportation, in addition to charts concerning the general fields of economics.

Used in Class

"These charts," said Dr. Ferger, "are used regularly for classroom instruction, and were not made expressly for the exhibition. They were made possible by FERA workers, and are done, in part, in colors. There are at present 50 of these charts, and more are being drawn at the rate of about three a week by the FERA workers."

In addition to the exhibit of charts, states Dr. Ferger, there will be displayed a number of coins and paper money, both ancient and modern. The object of this display is to emphasize the difference in the kinds of money used over the world, and not merely to exhibit a collection of rare money, Dr. Ferger adds.

The committee in charge of the department's exhibit is as follows: Dr. W. F. Ferger, chairman; Professors M. S. Heath, J. M. Lear, and R. H. Sherrill, all of the school of commerce.

With the Churches

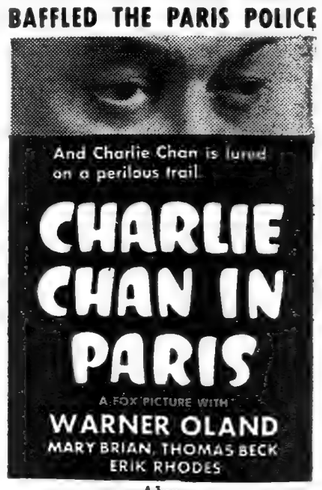
(Continued from page two)

Henson.

11 a. m.—Service—Rev. Roscoe B. Fisher. Sermon: "These Times."

Catholic

8:30 a. m.—Mass in Gerrard hall—Dr. Morrissey.



Episcopal

8 a. m.—Holy Communion.

11 a. m.—Service and sermon—Rev. A. S. Lawrence.

8 p. m.—Prayers and organ recital.

A MAN WHO NEVER EXISTED BAFFLED THE PARIS POLICE

—Also—
Comedy — Novelty
TODAY
CAROLINA

MID-WINTERS!
All Set for a Great Party!
Invite your friends to the CAROLINA INN CAFETERIA
"The Best Food on the Hill"
BREAKFAST, 7:30-9:30
LUNCH, 12-2 DINNER, 6-7:30

PLAYMAKER READING
8:30 P. M.
PLAYMAKERS THEATRE

The Daily Tar Heel

DYNAMITE CASE
7 P. M.
METHODIST CHURCH

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1935 | NUMBER 108

World Bulletins

Hauptmann Booed

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 16.—(UP)—Resentful at the presence of a "babykiller" in their midst, 600 inmates of the New Jersey State Prison booed Bruno Hauptmann today.

He was brought from Flemington and was officially "dressed in." Officials ordered the three prisoners who started the disturbance at the mid-day meal locked in their cells for three months.

Court Decision Soon

Washington, Feb. 16.—(UP)—A Supreme Court decision Monday on the gold clause cases became probable late today as the justices concluded a protracted conference without making any announcement of postponing the verdict to a later date.

Italian Militia Off

Naples, Italy, Feb. 16.—(UP)—The first battalion of 1,000 Fascist militia, fully equipped for tropical warfare, sailed today for East Africa, where Italy's embroiled dispute with Abyssinia is reaching the boiling point.

The troops carried regular infantry rifles. Mussolini in a stirring speech reminded them that they were to defend the fatherland and expressed a confidence that they would merit the trust the country was placing in them.

Old Age Pensions

Washington, Feb. 16.—(UP)—The Senate finance committee fired away in a gay mood at Dr. F. E. Townsend's old age pension program, but failed to shake the gray-haired California doctor's faith in the plan to pay $200 monthly to everyone over 60 years of age.

The committeemen are frankly skeptical about the plan, which has baffled the nation's economists. All persons pensioned will be required to spend their money each month, for "commodities or services."

U. S. S. Macon's Inquiry

San Francisco, Feb. 16.—(UP)—The naval board of inquiry continued an investigation today into the crash of the U. S. S. Macon.

Witnesses today were Thomas Henderson, Point Sur lighthouse keeper; Henderson's assistant, R. H. Miller, and two sailors of the U. S. S. Houston, one of the rescue cruisers.

DAVIS WILL READ COMEDY TONIGHT

Playmaker Director to Present "Moon in the Yellow River."

Denis Johnston's "Moon in the Yellow River" will be read by Harry Davis in the Playmakers theatre tonight at 8:30.

Davis, who has studied under Leo Bulgakov and handled many comedy roles in his career as an actor, has appeared on several previous occasions as a reader.

Johnston's play was recently produced by the New York Theatre Guild and has caused considerable comment on the New York stage. One critic says "It has sensitiveness, wit, and intelligence. The dialogue has an uncommon style and distinction. The passages of comedy are delightful, and the passages where comedy is absent of absorbing interest."

The reading of the modern Irish drama will be the first comedy reading this year.

Faculty Await Celebration

To the student-faculty day committee on arrangements was sent this letter by Dean of Administration R. B. House, endorsing plans for the Wednesday affair:

Mr. J. D. Winslow, Chairman,
Committee on Arrangements,
Student-Faculty Day.
Dear Mr. Winslow:

I think that one of the most fruitful suggestions ever made for closer relations between faculty and students was that made last spring that faculty and students work out together some such day of celebration as we are planning for February 20. Consequently, I have been very glad, indeed, to see the plan take shape and I know that every member of the faculty on whom you have called has, likewise, been glad to offer full co-operation and help just as far as he can see what is to be done.

It seems now that plans are rounding up and I certainly hope that faculty and students will stay in Chapel Hill that day and enjoy each other, beginning with the morning convocation and going through all the things that are planned for the day and the evening celebration. I think that we will have a great deal of fun together, and I know that we will learn a great deal that we ought to know about the University.

Cordially yours,
R. B. House,
Dean of Administration.

Jazzy Johnson, Harmonica House Will Perform Wednesday Evening

Group of Musical Maniacs Will Render Sea Chant; Roy Armstrong Will Give Stunt.

BARR TO SHOW DANCERS

Further details concerning the evening program of the student-faculty day celebration, as released yesterday by Stage Manager Johnny Walker, show that the gala nocturnal occasion will include twelve events planned to follow each other without interruption.

Master of Ceremonies Dean R. B. House will direct the program which will feature Freddy Johnson and the music of his "Carolina Tar Heels."

Johnson to Play

With the vocalizing of the campus-popular Peggy Wood and Gene "Lanks" Whitaker, Johnson will open the affair with several jazzy numbers and a specialty.

Phoebe Barr and her b'ar cubs, including Harry Coble, Walter Terry, Fred Howard, Bob Lewis, Bill Crayton, and Charles Eaton, will swing into the program with "Mexican Hat Dance," a special number which Dancer Trainer Barr has worked up for the occasion.

Dean House on the scene—no speech this time, but his famous ol' harmonica. The M'thorganist will softly render several of his more popular request numbers.

Parodying Paul Green's "Shroud My Body Down," the Carolina Playmakers will present Wilbur Dorsett's "Blow My Body Down."

Dorsett himself will be featured with the following Playmakers cast: Sammie Ruth Bell, Carl Thompson, Bob Nachtman, Ella Mae Daniel, George Stoney, Hester Barlow, and Jean Walker (and as many minor characters as can be gotten on the stage).

(Continued on last page)

FINJAN CENSORS

The censor board for the Finjan is requested to come to the office at 2 o'clock this afternoon, or if this is impossible, to get in touch with Pat Gaskins at the Sigma Delta house this morning. The censor board for this issue will be Frank Kenan, Simmons Patterson, and Kenneth Young.

FERA PAY CHECKS

Students on the FERA payroll may get their checks for the month of January by calling by the cashier's section of the University business office tomorrow.

The office will be open in morning from 9 until 1 o'clock and in the afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock.

'Y' Group Discusses Capital Punishment In Forum Tomorrow

Cabinets to Continue Study of Social Disorganization.

With John Calvin Grier discussing "Capital Punishment" before the junior-senior cabinet, the Y. M. C. A. groups will resume their study of social problems tomorrow night at their regular meetings in the "Y" building at 7:15 o'clock.

C. C. Martin, sophomore, will address the second-year men on the subject of "Lynching." His discussion follows a talk on "Prison Labor" made by Phil Kind last week to the sophomores.

Textile Labor

The Freshman Friendship Council will hear Miss Herring of the Institute for Research in Social Science discuss "Points in the Textile Labor Situation."

Grier's discussion of "Capital Punishment" follows Phil Hammer's lecture last week on "The Social Effects of Crime." Y. M. C. A. President J. D. Winslow will address the upper cabinet next week on the matter of "Juvenile Delinquency."

The cabinet's program for the quarter has been devoted entirely to a series of discussions on "Social Disorganization." There will be two more speakers during the remainder of the quarter. Present plans were drawn up by President Winslow, Don McKee, and Billy Yandell with the assistance of Dr. Harold D. Meyer of the sociology department who gave the group valuable suggestions during the past summer.

Political Union Group Draws Up Plans

The temporary committee to make plans for the first meeting of the recently-formed Carolina Political Union has drawn up ten proposals for the organization of the club, it was announced yesterday by Phil Hammer, temporary chairman.

The committee will submit these recommendations at the next meeting of the Union for ratification.

Robert Smithwick, Morty Slavin, and John Schulz were appointed by Hammer as a board to obtain a speaker for the next session of the new organization.

Burlington Minister To Lead Discussion On Dynamiting Case

Rev. James Weaver Speaks in Methodist Church Tonight.

A joint forum of Methodist and Baptist students will meet at 7 o'clock tonight in the west parlor of the University Methodist church to hear the Reverend James Weaver of Burlington discuss the Burlington dynamiting case.

The dynamiting of a mill during the textile strike in Burlington last fall, for which six men were sentenced to a total of 57 years imprisonment, has caused wide-spread comment in the state.

University students and all others interested are invited to attend Weaver's lecture.

KAY KYSER ENDS MID-WINTER SET OF DANCES HERE

Affair Closes with First Song Kyser Played at Carolina, "Thinking of You."

EXTENDS TOUR FIVE DAYS

The mid-winter set of dances sponsored annually by the German Club, closed last night with the strains of Kay Kyser and his orchestra as they rendered the first song they ever played here at the University of North Carolina several years ago—"Thinking of You."

Kyser and his group of musicians delighted the dancers with a diversified program, including his highly popular novelty numbers and renditions by his glee club, as well as dance numbers played in his inimitable style.

Extended Tour

Kyser has extended his tour for five more days. After leaving here he will play for the University of Chicago mid-winters and the Northwestern prom, both these dances being rated as the best in the mid-west. On Saturday night he will again appear in the Blackhawk restaurant and will be there until June, when he will journey forth on a summer tour.

Leading the dance last night was Mark Lynch, with Miss Eilzabeth Park, Raleigh; Billy Coan, first assistant leader, with Miss Courtlandt Preston of Washington, D. C., and second assistant leader, Billy Harrison, with Miss Jo Meadows of Atlanta.

COMMITTEE PRESENTS FINAL REPORT

Student Group Makes Recommendation to University Administration for Complete Rehabilitation of Swain Hall; Offers Suggestion for Re-allocation of Fees to Create New Fund and a System of Script in Student Credit.

The final report of the student advisory committee concerns Swain hall and the central business organization.

This concludes the work of the student group for this particular inspection, which embraced a study of the Consolidated Service system. The committee, however, is a permanent organization which will function in the advisory capacity to the University administration for the rest of this year.

SWAIN HALL

Swain hall is operated for the purpose of furnishing at low cost good, wholesome food served under proper sanitary conditions, to supply meals to patients in the University infirmary, and for use as a banquet hall.

Old Commons hall was the University-controlled dining room prior to 1913 and was used to serve meals at $8.00 per month. Swain hall was built in 1913 and has been added to and re-built in many places since that time. The highest figure for board in Swain was in 1920-21, when it was $25.00 per month. The price has been known to change as many as three times in one year. In 1919-20 school opened with board at $18.00 and ended at $22.50. In September, 1924, board was set at $22.00 per month and remained there until 1931. Since 1931 it has been $20.00 per 30-day month.

Swain hall for the first six months of the current fiscal year has shown an operating loss of $403.31. This figure does not include any rental charge, building and physical maintenance, and no depreciation on the building and fixtures.

Swain Employees

There are only two regular employees at Swain hall, the supervisor and an assistant. The cooks and colored help are paid weekly and employed as long as the number of boarders justifies their employment, their number varying from four to twelve throughout the year. Student help composes the largest number of employees, varying greatly in number throughout the year and averaging usually about 50 employees.

The wage scale for the cooks and colored help varies from 25 to 30 cents per hour, from which their board is deducted. Students are paid for their labor in board. All work is divided as far as possible to be distributed to the needy students, thus limiting the amount paid each student—the maximum being his board. However, there are three students who draw a weekly wage of from $2.50 to $12.50 per week.

The supervisor is employed by the assistant controller of the University and is directly responsible to him. His assistant is employed by the supervisor with the sanction of the University personnel officer. The weekly and daily laborers are employed by the supervisor. The student help is originally selected by the University self-help committee, a large percentage of this number being carried over each year on the recommendation of

(Continued on page two)

Recommendations For Swain Hall

The committee recommends to the administration the following articles concerning Swain hall:

1. Painting of the interior of the dining hall.
2. Replacement of the floor of the dining hall with a new wooden surface.
3. Purchase and installation of new shades for the windows.
4. A new lighting system for the dining hall.
5. New and much needed replacement of equipment in the kitchen.
6. Complete renovation of the physical plant, both upstairs and in the basement.
7. A better and more efficient system of serving infirmary patients.
8. Regular inspections by the University administration of the property and organization.

Suggestions For Business Office

Recommendations made by the committee regarding the central business administration are:

1. Issuance of University script to students for use in each and all of the service units, making the central business office, with facilities at hand of the dean of students' office and the registrar's office, the only credit center in the new system of student financial transactions with the University.
2. Re-allocation and revision of certain student fees to provide for the establishment and maintenance of a permanent campus improvement fund.
3. Making of provisions whereby student fees can be regularly and periodically revised or re-allocated.
4. Quarterly reports of the business administration and the student audit board to be published in this newspaper.
5. Centralization of secretarial duties in a main office in South building to take care of such functions for each and all of the service divisions.
6. Assumption of the obligation by the University of cashing student checks, using certain facilities already available for investigation of personal credit and responsibility.
7. A more careful administration and more periodic check-ups of the various University storerooms.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 8, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
George Underwood ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Nelson Lansdale, chairman; Nick Read, Bob Browder, Francis Clingman, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Willis Harrison.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner (managers), Bill MacDonald, Louis Shaffner, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: DON McKEE

Sunday, February 17, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"Swain Hall Cage Team Counts 103." Trying to put themselves to sleep?

We see where Miss McAndrews will "bring all the punch and judy . . ." How about leaving Judy home if we're gonna make a party of it?

Now they tell us southerners that ping pong is not table tennis. Just another northern racket.

Valuable Suggestions

Several of the student advisory committee's recommendations concerning the dormitories are pertinent and represent long-felt student grievances.

The internal improvements clauses were especially well taken. Inmates of various dormitories have been making considerable fuss for some time regarding the toilet conditions, the condition of the walls, and a lack of furniture. But we think some of the general recommendations are even more important.

The suggestion that women students take over the New Dorms and vacate Graham of the lower quadrangle is very good. Battle-Vance-Pettigrew will offer much better facilities for the women, will be closer to the main street and the men, and will offer ample room for social rooms on the lower floors.

The installation of screens in all dormitory windows may seem to some in mid-winter to be rather unnecessary, but when late spring and summer eases around and gnats, mosquitoes, and flies begin their playful summer fun, the student's health demands such protection. Consequently, it is hoped that the administration can see its way clear to make such a provision.

Other recommendations are worthwhile, also. Whereas it is doubtful that financial arrangements can be made to cover all the suggestions, at least those which are less expensive and are of such undoubted value should be immediately acted upon by the administration.

Politics and The Union

After a two-hour session of debate, the temporary organization committee of the Carolina Political Union emerged the other night with definite ribs upon which the union should be shaped.

It is a difficult task in any organizing project to appease the more conservative and the more radical of the organizers. It is especially difficult in the case of politics. But the compromises which the committee effected are essentially sound and it is to be hoped that the union at its first session realizes the efforts represented in the committee's proposals and adopt them.

The interest which has been displayed in the creation of the new union is proof that there has been a demand for such an enterprise. We do not feel that its instigation was in any way a slam agaist existing organizations on the campus, but was rather an appreciation of the function which these groups were already carrying out and an effort to extend their utility.

We predict that a large slice of the campus will turn out for the fireworks of the first session.

Far-Sighted Statement

Speaking before freshman assembly, Senator Julian Allsbrook made a point about the honor system that we, who are so close to it that we sometimes lose our objectivity, would do well to consider.

Senator Allsbrook called it "one of the fine things that serves mostly after college days." That sentiment is not only reassuring to believers in this vital principle of the University, but powerfully argumentative against those pessimists whose eternal claim against the honor system is that it "doesn't work."

We grant there are times when the efficacy of the honor system as a deterrent against dishonesty is brought into question, but it is mainly by those students who see morality as a series of crimes and punishments. No such thing is true in this scheme of things. If it were, we should have to scrap our hopeful philosophies at the first sight of good unrewarded and evil uncondemned.

The honor system, however, does work. It works, as Senator Allsbrook pointed out, as one of the fine things that endure after college life. Any other view of the honor system, however sincere, is a short-sighted one.

With the Churches

Much has been made of the many forms of educational entertainment offered the students on this campus. The student entertainments, visiting musicians (and orchestras), visiting writers, such as Miss Stein, receive a cordial welcome and good attendance on the part of the students.

However there is one form of "educational entertainment" which is being provided weekly, but is to a large extent overlooked by the students. Every Sunday morning and evening, the churches in Chapel Hill are open to present their varied programs of music and fine speakers to all who wish to attend. There is no doubt that many of the talks made by ministers here have surpassed those of visiting speakers, though, of course, the reverse is often true, and quite a few of the choirs' renditions are really excellent.

Lately there seems to have been an increase in church attendance among students. On entering a local service lately, one was surprised and pleased to note virtually the whole chapter of a prominent fraternity lined up on a front row and to see a large number of carefully dressed young men strolling in with their "dates." They listened to and joined in the service with evident enjoyment.

Missing such Sunday presentations is missing an interesting and essential part of what Chapel Hill has to offer. It is encouraging to see more students taking advantage of this phase of University education.

Students on The . . . Nuts!

It seems that once every year renewed efforts are made to bring back the beautiful green velvety appearance which all lovely campuses such as ours are supposed to possess. The efforts this year have broken out in the form of large, long, lanky, and unlovely wooden barricades allegedly keeping careless students from turning the soft green verdure of this beauty spot into hard, or soft, as the weather may be, black dirt.

This present attempt indeed represents the most colossal effort we have seen so far, the barriers certainly being big enough to be seen at quite a distance, and thus adequate to thwart any deep, dark intention any Carolina student might have to trample underfoot Mother Nature's handiwork. But the Carolina student is not one to be dabbled with. In the face of adversity, he has the will to carry on. What is a mere barricade to a college man in a hurry?

Why it should be that no matter what is done to protect the grass, someone is bound to pay no attention to it, even to the point of climbing over a wooden fence, will be an eternal mystery to us.

School Teacher To Housekeeper

Another startling indictment of our state educational system has been delivered with the revelation of an application for the position of housekeeper at the governor's home by a school teacher, graduate of E. C. T. C. and holder of an "A" grade teaching certificate.

The applicant, at present employed in the Fairmont public schools, is evidently desirous of raising her financial and social status from that of a common pedagogue to that of a higher ranking housekeeper.

When a position as guardian of the pots and pans in an executive mansion is nearly twice as remunerative as that of a teacher who shapes the future course of the rising generations things have come to a rather sad state of affairs.

We do not wish to condemn our whole educational system, but it is obvious that drastic steps must be taken to raise the level of the teaching profession in this state.

It is to be hoped that our legislators will bear this in mind when they consider the bill which will apportion the appropriations for the coming year.

Committee Report

(Continued from page one)

the supervisor to the self-help committee. The supervisor has the privilege of firing any student, but does not have the privilege of replacing him with another student except with the assistance of the self-help committee.

Student Work

The students are required to work three hours per day for their board. Time is kept on every job by a student appointed by the supervisor. At the end of each month or stated period, the time is balanced against the student's board. If he has any overtime he is credited with this on the following month or period. If he has not worked the full number of hours he is charged with the difference. The class schedules of many students make it impossible for them to arrange their work schedules at the necessary hours, and forces the management to use more men on part time than he desires. The weekly and day laborers, not students, work from 62 to 65 hours per week.

Student help at one time did not work by the hour, but was given a certain job to do for board, or half-board, as the manager saw fit. This old system was supplanted by the hourly basis in 1922. The colored help at one time worked seven days per week; however, now they work only six and one-half, and receive the same base pay. The supervisor has no hours, being subject to calls from 5 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night.

The supervisor and his assistant assist in all purchases, making many directly. They also have full responsibility of the administration of Swain hall and the keeping of the necessary records for the controller and auditor. The Negro help does all the preparing of food and is responsible for the cleanliness and efficiency of the kitchen and machinery. The student help takes care of all types of work in the dining room, such as waiting on tables, changing linen, sweeping floors, washing side tables and windows, and also washes all the dishes.

No students are selected to work in Swain hall because of their athletic ability, but are selected with all other student help through the self-help committee on the basis of financial need.

Number of Customers

The number of customers for the first six months of the fiscal year varied from 100 monthly boarders during the second term of summer school to approximately 500 the first month of the regular school year.

The bulk of Swain hall's nonperishable purchases is made through the state purchasing department with the aid and approval of the supervisor and his assistant. These purchases are made quarterly. Perishables such as vegetables, etc., are purchased daily by the supervisor. There are large storerooms in the basement for the food, and a fairly adequate set of refrigerator rooms.

No food is supposed to be served in Swain hall below an certain standard. The majority of canned goods are of the choicest variety, and other foods are carefully selected.

Sanitary Conditions

The sanitary condition of the Hall is inspected by the University physician and the town health officer. Also, the state has a health officer who frequently visits and inspects the Hall. There is no percentage basis for grading state dining rooms. However, they must all pass a rigid state standard of inspection.

In the committee's inspection tour, all parts of the physical set-up were carefully investigated, the administrative details closely scrutinized, and the system of board collections studied. Reports are tendered by the supervisor and his assistant to the University auditor and assistant controller weekly and monthly, according to the nature of the reports.

Under the circumstances, we believe Swain hall well run and well managed. However, conditions in the kitchen and in the ill-lighted dining room are not conducive to the most efficient and sanitary feeding of the boarders and we feel that immediate steps should be taken in remedying certain faults. The recommendations which we have attached should, despite the initial cost, greatly repay the organization through an increased clientele, a thoroughly satisfied group of boarders, and a more efficient administration of duties on the part of the working force.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Realizing our inexperience and ignorance in financial detail and business routine, we nevertheless have several pertinent recommendations to make regarding the central business set-up at the University. These ideas on our part are not dealing with the business set-up, as such, but are relevant to the relations which the business office has with University students. More specifically, they deal with an amelioration of certain conditions which we think demand a certain amount of consideration and attention.

The first recommendation deals with the problem of student credit at the various service agencies. In our opinion, the present system of allowing credit is a sloppy one, for not only is there considerable uncertainty on the part of the students as to how and for what period of time credit may be obtained, but also is there inadequate means of ascertaining the financial responsibilities of the students asking for credit. Although there is a certain restriction on loss through student credit through the withholding of class credits at the University if bills to the University are outstanding, nevertheless, we think there is ample opportunity for loss, error, and misunderstanding on the part of both the student and the service division authority.

Use of Script

Consequently, we recommend the use of University script by the issuance of personal bills of credit by the central business administration of the University. These cheques would be good for payment of all University obligations, including bills due any of the service divisions. The facilities of the office of the dean of students and the registrar would be available to the business administration in ascertaining the student's ability and responsibility to pay. We believe that an adequate and efficient system could easily be worked out on this basis. In this way, misunderstanding, error, and much of the risk would be eliminated. Furthermore, the costs of bookkeeping would be minimized through the abolition of the necessity of individual accounts at each of the service department offices. And still further, the system would tend to increase the patronage of the various University service divisions where the credit would be good.

Revised Fees

Secondly, we believe, in the face of the University's financial inability to provide a fund for campus improvements, that the present fees which are collected from the students for student activities should be re-allocated and revised to provide such a permanent campus improvement fund. The specific sources for this fund are the fees now paid to the Student Union and to the different classes. This fund would be used for various methods of improving student comfort and welfare. We feel that there is justification in suggesting the two specific fees above for re-allocation because: the Student Union fee, paid by students at the regular sessions, also has sustained the union during the summer months. The abolition of this practice and the consequent composition of a union fee on summer school students themselves for the purpose of summer maintenance would leave enough surplus, we believe, to warrant such a fee revision. Also, the class fees have gone to certain functions in which the whole class has not participated, such as dances, etc. Consequently, the imposition of additional fees on those who would participate would finance the regular functions as needed and the surplus could well be used as we suggest.

Thirdly, along the same line, we believe that some provision should be made for the periodic revision of student fees. At the present, a re-allocation or the imposition of a new fee is virtually impossible as far as the students are concerned. The present fees, furthermore, have been charged for a number of years and some of them have outlived their utility.

Quarterly Reports

Fourthly, we recommend quarterly reports of the University business administration and the Student Audit Board to the students through the medium of the DAILY TAR HEEL. The business administration's reports should include a presentation of the University's expenditures, receipts and current financial standing, and the Student Audit Board's report should include expenditures, receipts, and financial standings of the various member organizations.

Fifthly, we believe that a centralization of secretarial duties in the business set-up would result in a more efficient and cheaper administration. At present, the use of one or more secretaries in each University department and in each division of the service system undoubtedly tends to keep the operating overhead at a higher level than such work would justify.

Sixthly, we recommend that the University assume the obligation of cashing student checks at the main business office. The present system of check-cashing is both inconvenient, unsafe, and costly to both the students and organizations which cash them. The Book Exchange has assumed a great bulk of this activity. Furthermore, we believe that such an assumption of obligation on the part of the business administration might eventually lead to the creation of a student bank, which suggestion we offer for consideration with approbation.

Seventhly, we recommend a more careful administration of University storerooms, which would result in more efficiency and perhaps less loss than is now experienced.

Publication Photos

Magazine, Finjan, and Yackety Yack Staffs to Pose Tuesday.

All staff members of the Carolina Magazine, the Carolina Finjan, and the Yackety Yack will have their pictures taken for the yearbook in front of Graham Memorial Tuesday afternoon.

The schedule announced by Charles Ivey is as follows: Yackety Yack, 2 o'clock; Finjan, 2:30 o'clock; Magazine, 3 o'clock.

The staffs will be taken in several small groups. Pictures of the DAILY TAR HEEL staff have already been made.

Phantoms Trim Duke; Williamson Fourth

Glace And Harris Lead Carolina To Revenge Win; Now At Top Of Big Five

Duke Rally Is Cut Short By Fine Playing of Ironman Team

Podger Plays Brilliant Game at Guard for Blue Devils.

The basketball clubs of Carolina and Duke dashed up and down the Tin Can court in the fastest pace witnessed here this year, with the White Phantoms finally getting a thrilling revenge win, 24-20. The Tin Can was packed to capacity for the occasion.

The victory gives the Tar Heels a clear edge in the race for Big Five honors; it was the 17th triumph out of 19 for Carolina and the Blue Devils' second loss in state play.

Tar Heels Take Lead

Carolina took an early lead, was tied at 3-3, and then captured a second margin which was held the rest of the way. The White Phantoms went on a spree during the latter part of the first half to run the count up to 14-8 at the gun.

Midway in the second period the Tar Heels put on a smooth attack and built up a 24-14 margin. From then on it was all Duke as the Blue Devils added sparkle to the contest by pulling desperately close to their rivals. Duke counted six points during the last six minutes while the winners could do nothing but barely hold on.

Ironman Team

Coach Bo Shepard started Captain Aitken, Nelson, Glace, McCachren, and Harris, and all five ironmen lasted the whole distance. Cameron used nine men in his effort to overtake the winners.

Jason Glace, senior center, was the real inspiration for the White Phantoms with a magnificent return to form. The lankly blond, although not controlling the tip-off in his usual fashion, followed the ball around the court as he never has before, recovering continually from both backboards and messing up the Duke attack time after time. He held his opposing centers pointless.

Bucky Harris, guard and only non-letter man on the Phantom club, showed surprisingly great form, his best so far on the local court. The rookie played a cool, heads-up game and counted 6 points on three beautiful action shots. Jim McCachren performed in his usual steady all-Southern manner while Captain Snooks Aitken added fire and fight all the way.

Podger Leads Duke

Podger, guard who was forced out during the latter part of the contest as a result of four fouls, was the ace for Duke both on defense and offense. The other two guards who saw action, Cheek and Polack, also performed outstandingly for the Blue Devils.

Carolina's first-half ability to make foul shots good resulted in its margin. Both teams counted nine field goals in all but the

(Continued on last page)

Box Score

CAROLINA:	FG	F	T
Aitken, rf	1	3	5
Nelson, lf	1	1	3
Glace, c	2	2	6
McCachren, rg	2	0	4
Harris, lg	3	0	6
Total	9	6	24
DUKE:	FG	F	T
Kunkle, rf	2	0	4
Riley, rf	2	0	4
Bell, lf	0	0	0
Naktenis, c	0	0	0
Podger, rg	2	1	5
Cheek, lg, rg	1	1	3
Polack, lg	2	0	4
Total	9	2	20

Score at half: Carolina 14; Duke 8.

Non-scoring subs: Duke: Huiskamp, lf; Herrick, c.

Officials: Referees: Proctor (Richmond Y.), and Knight (Durham Y.); timekeeper: Townsend (UNC.)

WILEY COLLABORATES IN WRITING GRAMMAR

W. L. Wiley of the University French department and H. A. Grubbs, Jr., of Princeton have recently collaborated in writing a French grammar for beginners which will be published this spring.

Entitled "Minimum French," the book is designed for those wishing to master the essentials of French grammar in the shortest possible time.

BABIES TAKE ON STRONG WOLFLET QUINTET TUESDAY

Skidmore Team Journeys to Raleigh to Tackle State Frosh in All-Important Encounter.

BIG FIVE TITLE AT STAKE

The Tar Babies get their opportunity to avenge the lone defeat they have suffered all season when they meet the State frosh in Raleigh Tuesday evening.

Stepping at a terrific pace and simply raring to go, the Carolina frosh can clinch Baby Five honors in this encounter if they stop the State yearlings.

State nosed out the Babies in an extra period game in the last encounter between the two freshman outfits. That game snapped a seven game winning streak for the Carolina team, but they resumed their winning ways immediately after and have six consecutive victories since then.

It was this big boy Berry, State center, that caused the downfall of the Tar Babies. It will again rest with Meroney to hold this boy in check. It is a difficult task, but Meroney is a greatly improved player and is expected to make a much better showing against the youth from Raleigh.

The showing that Foy Grubb made against Duke Friday night may result in his return to the starting lineup. However, Bill Franks again played good ball in his defensive role, and it is doubtful as to which of the two will see action.

Varsity Mittmen Start Big Final Work For SIC Meet

Coach Rowe Sends Tar Heels Through Final Preparations; Heels Stand Excellent Chance of Copping Conference Crown, Provided Sophs Come Through as Usual.

Since the Southern Conference boxing tourney will get under way the latter part of this week, the Tar Heel pugs have already swung into their last training session of the current season.

Coach Rowe will lead a group of scrappers into the tournament that stand an excellent chance of winning the SIC crown. The squad is built around four sophomores who have performed brilliantly in their respective weights.

Close in Bantam

The bantamweight class, held down by Marion Diehl, is the division that is going to be a tough one to call. Hahn of Virginia, whom Diehl defeated once this year, is the defending champion. However, Taylor of South Carolina, who has decisioned Diehl must be considered. Diehl has improved considerably since his losing encounter to Taylor and will probably be a slight favorite to romp home with the crown tucked safely away.

In the 125-pound class, little Ernie Eutsler will be stacked up against some real competition. Both Lloyd of Duke and Rainey of Virginia, defending champion, have decisioned Ernie this year in close bouts.

Johnnie Edwards in the 135-pound class is a much better fighter than he was a few weeks ago and showed up very well in his scrap with Kneipp of Duke last Thursday night. The man who shapes up as Edwards' most difficult problem is Brooks of the Cavaliers.

Fisher-Womer in Welter

It is expected that Joe Fisher and Mutt Womer will be finalists in the welterweight class since the rest of the opposition is weak. These boys staged a beautiful exhibition of boxing in their match at the Tin Can a few weeks ago with the verdict being rendered as a draw. Each of these boys is anxious to come through and win the conference as neither one has been defeated this season. Fisher has a beautiful record behind him this year. He has engaged in five bouts, winning four and tying one. The draw bout was fought with Womer, who is the present 145-pound SIC champion.

Jule Medynski should find the going easy in the junior middleweight division. He is going to meet his strongest oppositon from McClung, a southpaw of the Cavalier outfit. If Al Mann's eye is sufficiently healed to enable his entrance into the tourney, he too must be given much consideration in this class. Jule is undefeated to date having compiled a record dotted with kayos.

Maxie Novich, who will carry Carolina's hopes in the light heavyweight class, should find little difficulty in reaching the

(Continued on last page)

ONLY FIVE CAGE TEAMS UNBEATEN AS FINALS NEAR

Dekes, Phi Kap Sigs, Swain, Mangum No. 1, and S. A. E. In Select Mural Group.

FOUR DROP LAST WEEK

Four teams were dropped from the unbeaten ranks in the intramural basketball competition during last week's round of hectic play, leaving only five clubs undefeated, but in a most insecure position.

Of the five remaining—D. K. E., Phi Kappa Sigma, Swain, Mangum No. 1, and S. A. E.—all face extremely difficult competition, and each stands a fine chance of being handed a reverse.

Phi Kap Sigs Cop

Outstanding in last week's play was the very surprising win of the Phi Kappa Sigma team over the big Zeta Psi quintet. What makes the victory more remarkable was the fact that the smaller Phi Kaps continually headed the Zetas, who came close to a win only in the final moments.

Alpha Epsilon also pulled a major surprise by knocking off the Betas. As in football the slogan was "stop Rand and you stop the Betas." This was what A. E. did, and when "Trip," who had scored an average of 15 points per game, was held to one, the Beta Theta Pi combine saw its chances almost hopelessly blasted.

Likewise did the Kappa Alpha team suffer an unexpected defeat. Phi Delta Theta, which has been going great guns of late, came through with an easy 15 point margin. Ruffin met a double setback by losing to both Kluttz and Mangum No. 1.

Next week may or may not clear up the championship picture. Should all of the five unbeaten teams meet defeats, both leagues would have about six teams tied for the chance to play in the campus championship.

The feature attractions of the week will be the Mangum No. 1-Law School clash on Monday, and the Betas-Phi Kappa Sigma, Ruffin-Swain Hall, D. K. E.-Phi Delta Theta, Kappa Alpha-S. A. E. games, all on Tuesday. The fraternity playoff, if necessary, will be held on Thursday, with the dormitory one on Friday.

The standings of the unbeaten teams are as follows:

Team	Won	Points For	Points Ag.
Mangum No. 1	7	304	100
S. A. E.	7	242	84
D. K. E.	7	223	93
Phi Kappa Sig.	7	173	116
Swain Hall	6	268	79

The Schedule for this week:

Monday

4:30—(1) S. P. E. vs. Zeta Psi, (2) Mangum No. 1 vs. Law School, (3) Z. B. T. vs. Theta Chi.

5:30—(1) Delta Psi vs. Chi Psi, (2) Delta Tau Delta vs. Sigma Nu, (3) Manly vs. Pharmacy.

(Continued on last page)

Cunningham Wins Baxter Mile With 4:09.8; Venzke, Bonthron Follow Leader

'Blue' Club Wins Over 'Whites' In Grid Tilt, 7-6

Dick Buck Intercepts Pass and Runs 80 Yards to Score for Winners; Ditt Tallies.

Carolina's football squad took a hard practice game yesterday afternoon in Kenan stadium with the "Blues," or first string barely downing the "Whites," 7-6.

Although the four elevens that saw action put up an excellent scrap, Coach Carl G. Snavely was far from satisfied with the showing of his charges. The mentor was especially displeased with the offensive work. The blocking was a little slow and many of the players did not know the signals.

Dick Buck, last year's star end, counted the touchdown for the "Blues." The sophomores jumped into the air to intercept Randy Cooner's flat zone pass and then raced 80 yards unhindered to the goal line.

McIver Gets Kick

Pop McIver continued his fine place-kicking by making good on the extra point try. This score was the margin of victory for the "Blues."

Cooner's passing also accounted for the marker made by the "Whites." The blond halfback made a beauty 15-yard toss to Art Ditt, fullback, who then ran the remaining 10 yards to the zero line. Brickelmeyer's place-kick missed.

The feature of the contest was the punting and punt-returning. Cooner nearly got loose once when he dashed 40 yards after taking a kick, while Wally Dunham also picked up 40 yards on a return.

Jim Hutchins, regular fullback, showed plenty of power by hitting the middle of the line for frequent gains while Ditt also picked up lots of ground from the same position.

The veteran first string lined up as follows: Captain Snyder, blocking back; Captain Montgomery and Jackson, halfbacks; Hutchins, fullback; Buck and McCarn, ends; Bartos and Trimpey, tackles; McIver and Joyce, guards, and Kanner, end.

The "Whites" started the following: Walborn, blocking back; Cooner and Dunham, halfbacks; Ditt, fullback; Bershak and Beard, ends; Wolfe and Moffitt, tackles; Pendergraft and Palmer, guards, and Avery, center.

Baseball Practice

There will be a baseball practice tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock in the Tin Can. Both varsity and freshman squads are urged to be in attendance.

TAR HEEL TRAILS WINNER 40 YARDS

Hawthorne Fails to Qualify for Finals; Williamson Finishes In 10 Yards of Bonthron.

TIME IS N. Y. A. C. RECORD

Madison Square Garden, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Glenn Cunningham turned in one of his most brilliant home stretch spurts here tonight in the Baxter Mile of the 68th annual N. Y. A. C. indoor games, and as a result set a new meet record and walloped his ace rivals, Gene Venzke and Bill Bonthron.

Harry Williamson of North Carolina, followed close behind the "Big Three," while Eric Ny of Sweden failed to finish.

The Kansan's time was 4:09.8 minutes. His final sprint carried him to the tape 25 yards ahead of Venzke. Bonthron was on the Penn's heels and Williamson followed 10 yards behind.

Ny opened the classic mile run by setting the sizzling pace of 57 seconds for the initial quarter to take the early lead. The four finishers grouped together in the second quarter and stayed bunched during the third lap. Williamson lagged slightly behind as the three worked up to their breath-taking finish. Cunningham opened up and breezed past the tape easily over Venzke.

Williamson's run tonight was probably the fastest mile he has ever run. His best time has been 4:15.23 minutes in the N. C. A. A. last summer. All indications of the early report point to a time better than the one last summer. The race was exceptionally fast, and the Tar Heel managed to keep pace for three quarters, but could not meet the deadly spurt at the home lane.

Cunningham, by his win tonight, has stamped himself as the world's leading miler. Before tonight he and Bonthron were tied, 3-3, in races won from each other. Venzke has never beaten the Kansan, but tonight outran the ex-Princeton star for the second time.

Hawthorne Not Finalist

Tom Hawthorne of North Carolina failed to qualify for the finals of the special 60-yard high hurdles. Sixteen men were entered, with four heats being held and the winners of the heats competing in the finals.

Jack Torrance of L. S. U. failed to break his own world record in the shot put. His best toss was 51 feet 9 1-2 inches, short by one foot of a record. Torrance appeared troubled by the rough shot and slick floor.

Food Prices Have Advanced in North Carolina 58% in the Past Two Years!

Do you think you are getting the same quality you were two years ago?

We Serve Only the Best at Prices Consistent with the Market and Quality

GOOCH BROS. & BROOKS CAFE

"Made Popular by Its Quality Food"

WE LEND KODAKS - FOISTER PHOTO CO.

NO RENTAL FEE AND NO DEPOSIT REQUIRED FROM STUDENTS

SUMMER SESSION WILL HAVE MANY GUEST LECTURERS

List of Professors for Special Course on Higher Education Is Nearing Completion.

WILL BE PROBLEM COURSE

The distinguished list of guest lecturers for the summer session's special course dealing with problems of instruction in higher educational institutions has almost been completed, Dr. Edgar Knight, director of the summer session, stated yesterday.

This graduate course for instructors and administrators in higher educational institutions will be an examination of certain basic conceptions which underlie and bear on higher education. Particular attention will be given to the curriculum and to problems of instruction and administration.

First Term

The course will be given during the first term, from June 13 to July 24, and classes will meet in the afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock to allow members of the teaching staff here and from Raleigh and Greensboro to sit in on the classes.

The guest lecturers will be: Dean M. E. Haggerty and Assistant Dean F. L. Hovde of the University of Minnesota; President James W. Ward of Stephens College, Columbia, Mo.; Dean Herbert E. Hawkes, dean of the undergraduate college of Columbia University, who visited here recently; Dean P. C. Packer of the State University of Iowa; Dean C. H. Gray, acting president of Bennington College, Vermont; President David A. Robertson of Goucher College, Baltimore, and Professor Harry Carman of Columbia University.

Gauss Invited

Dean Christian Gauss of Princeton University has also been invited to be a guest lecturer, but no reply has as yet been received from him.

University faculty members who will conduct the course are Deans A. W. Hobbs, W. W. Pierson and F. F. Bradshaw, and Professors N. W. Walker and E. W. Knight. Other members of the faculty here will also participate in the proceedings of the course.

The new course will be the first of its type ever to be offered in the south and one of the few to be given in the country.

Varsity Boxers

(Continued from page three)

finals. McGraw of Maryland, is the toughest man in the camp of the opposition. However, Novich, another undefeated sophomore, looks like the champion from present observations.

The heavyweight class is going to be the closest of all classes. Kanner of the Tar Heels will meet such sterling opposition as Cramer of Virginia and Granger of Duke. Both of the aforementioned boys hold decisions over the elongated Kanner. Kramer looked good against Kanner, flashing a beautiful jab and a powerful right hand.

Bolstering the fighting Tar Heels will be Captain Sam Giddins in the middleweight class. This class boasts of some of the best boxers in the south. Kaplin of Virginia; Matulewicz of Duke and Fabri of State are all noteworthy opponents. Gids has performed well this season in spite of an almost constantly sore shoulder. He should be at top form in the conference and should go a long way. He brings to close a career of ring warfare at Carolina that saw him fight his way up from the freshman team to the captaincy of the varsity mittmen.

P. T. A. WILL HEAR SEAWELL SPEAK

Local Group to Meet with Orange County Council Thursday.

Members of the Chapel Hill P. T. A. will meet jointly with the Orange county council of the P. T. A. Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the auditorium of the Chapel Hill high school.

In order that all parents in the P. T. A. may attend, high school girls will conduct a nursery for young children.

The following program will be presented: A Boy Scout demonstration; a talk, "In Appreciation of Kathryn Mavity Martin," by Dr. Harold D. Meyer; a program on the school library by Mrs. U. T. Holmes; a dance by two fourth grade girls, and a talk, "Schools and the Legislature," by Attorney General A. A. F. Seawell.

Student-Faculty Day

(Continued from page one)

Bill Miller will furnish the music copy.

Musical Maniacs

An octet of maniacs from the University Glee Club will sea chant some wet tunes (to be taken with a grain of salt!). The octet will include John Walker, Jesse Parker, John Barney, Walter Bateman, Harold Gavin, Bruce Culbreath, James Dees, and Larry Anderson.

Betty Tandy of Durham will present a tap dance number, "hot" from the Tandy Studios in the tobacco city.

Medynski and Cooner

Johnson and the "Carolina Tar Heels" will blare forth again, this time with the crooning voices of Boxer Jule Medynski and Randy "Blond" Cooner of gridiron fame.

Roy Armstrong will come to the front with an hilarious imitation of Rev. Teester, the famous faith-healer from the mountains of western North Carolina. Armstrong calls his monologue a "Teester Revival."

Phoebe Barr's boys return next with a "Cossack Dance" followed by a return of the Glee Club Octorettelettes in another group of songs.

Hodge-Podge Skit

Climaxing the affair will be Miss Helen Hodge's "Hodge-Podge" skit that she recently presented in Durham. The boys from the Freshman Friendship Council, Malcolm Wall, Scott Hunter, Joe Pardi, Ralph Gilbert, and Nick Read, will present the hilarious farce which deals with the age 2000 A.D. when all the women in the world have taken complete charge of everything. The weaker sex have turned to the professions and control the business world while the men stay at home, minding the children and taking care of the house.

On the occasion of the drama, the men are attending a sewing circle during which typical womanish conversation is carried on.

The "Grand Finale" for the evening program will include the entire company singing "Hark the Sound," accompanied by Johnson and his "Carolina Tar Heels."

ESSAY CONTEST

The National Council of Teachers of English and the World Federation of Education Association announce an essay contest for Good Will Day, May 18, for undergraduates of colleges or universities.

There will be a cash award of 50 dollars to be divided into two prizes: 35 dollars for first prize and 15 dollars for second prize.

The theme will be "What can America Contribute to World Peace?" The papers must be approximately 800 words in length.

DR. DEWEY VISITS PROFESSORS HERE

Famous Philosopher and Psychologist Myrtle McGraw Entertained at Dinner.

Dr. John Dewey, philosopher, educator, and radical political thinker, and Dr. Myrtle McGraw, Columbia University psychologist who conducted the recently-famous experiment with the twins "Johnny and Jimmy," left here yesterday morning for Williamsburg, Va., on their way from Florida to New York City.

They spent Friday afternoon and night in Chapel Hill.

Dr. Dewey, who delivered the McNair lectures here in 1917, is a well-known exponent of pragmatism, and the founder of a league for independent political action now principally connected with the Farmer-Labor party.

The woman psychologist is chiefly interested in the problem of the relative influences of heredity and environment on development. In working on this problem she has experimented with several sets of twins, in each instance training one child of the pair in exercises such as roller skating and swimming and allowing the other to develop naturally.

Dr. Dewey and Dr. McGraw are returning to New York after spending some time near Jacksonville, Fla., visiting the Yale Anthropoid Station.

The two celebrities were the guests of Dean Francis Bradshaw at supper Friday night. Other Chapel Hillians who attended the supper were: Dr. Lee M. Brooks of the department of sociology, Dr. S. A. Emery of the department of philosophy, Drs. J. F. Dashiell and A. G. Bayroff of the psychology department, R. W. Madry of the University News Bureau, Dr. A. M. Jordan of the education department, Mrs. Jordan, and Louis Graves, editor of the Chapel Hill Weekly.

Murals

(Continued from page three)

Tuesday

4:30—(1) Beta Theta Pi vs. Phi Kappa Sigma, (2) Ruffin vs. Swain Hall, (3) Theta Kappa Nu vs. Lambda Chi Alpha.

5:30—(1) D. K. E. vs. Phi Delta Theta, (2) Kappa Alpha vs. S. A. E., (3) Aycock vs. Mangum No. 2.

Wednesday

No games scheduled.

Thursday

4:30—(1) A. T. O. vs. T. E. P., (2) Theta Kappa Nu vs. Sigma Chi, (3) Old West vs. Everett.

5:30—(1) Delta Tau Delta vs. Chi Phi, (2) Fraternity playoff if necessary, (3) Z. B. T. vs. Sigma Nu.

Friday

4:30—(1) S. P. E. vs. Beta Theta Pi, (2) Dormitory playoff if necessary, (3) Lewis vs. Locals.

5:30—(1) Alpha Epsilon vs. Kappa Sigma, (2) Mayflower Club vs. Pharmacy, (3) Kluttz Building vs. Smithsonians.

Infirmary

The following students were confined to the infirmary yesterday: Carl Anderson, E. T. Berry, B. E. Ellisberg, J. L. Matthews, W. D. McLean, Max Novich, G. H. Woodburn, and Donald Pope.

Welfare Board

A luncheon meeting of the student welfare board will be held at 1 o'clock today in Graham Memorial. The report of the sub-committee on the student welfare program for the summer session will be heard.

Lodge Meeting Tomorrow

University Lodge No. 408 will meet in regular communication at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening.

TWO WELL-FURNISHED ROOMS

Adjoining bath, twin beds, in private home. Rent reasonable. Phone 7931.

Varsity Basketball

(Continued from page three)

victors tallied six free shots out of seven before the first gun went off. Both outfits found trouble making crip shots largely as a result of the tremendous pace of the battle.

Captain Aitken started the scoring with a perfect free throw and Glace followed this with two more. The Blue Devils tied the count at 3-3 as Cheek counted a foul and Podger tapped one through in a scramble under the basket. The score was never deadlocked again.

Carolina Goes Ahead

McCachren's good snowbird crip on Harris' pass put the winners ahead. Glace added another two-pointer with a crip after Aitken's fine pass. The Carolina captain tallied a second foul but Riley put Duke back in the running with two action baskets; one came on a pivot from the foul line and the other was made under the basket.

With the count 8-7 Carolina staged a short rally, Aitken and Nelson getting free throws and Harris and Nelson tallying from the court. Podger dropped in a foul just before the half ended, leaving the score 14-8.

Kunkle began the second half with a quick crip but McCachren kept Carolina's big margin intact by tossing in a long shot from the left side. On an open play under the basket Podger scored; however, Aitken came out of a scramble with a two-pointer. A long toss by Harris and Glace's beauty on a dribble and pivot put the margin up to 22-12.

Polack counted on a hook and Harris on a one-hander from the foul mark. It was the final Tar Heel score.

The Blue Devils finished in their rally, Kunkle throwing in a beauty action from the right side, Cheek sinking a long one, and Polack scoring with another right hook toss.

Neither outfit could dent the hoop during the last two minutes of play.

COURT OF HONOR GIVES 27 AWARDS

Faculty and Townspeople Take Part in Boy Scout Ceremony.

The Boy Scouts of Chapel Hill held a court of honor in Gerrard hall last Wednesday at which 27 awards were made, it was announced yesterday by George W. Hamer, scoutmaster.

Several members of the University faculty and townspeople were present and participated in the ceremony.

Bill Jenkins was presented with the highest of the Boy Scout awards, the Eagle award, by Dr. E. J. Woodhouse of the University.

Charles Giduz and Loren MacKinney were awarded with the Life badges, and the Star award was given to Sheldon Sparrow, Walter Clark, Jr., Eugene McCauley, and Hugh Perry.

Sonny Kenfield, Sam Nathan, Wilbur Partin, and F. M. Durham, Jr., received the first class awards.

Three second class and seven tenderfoot awards were also made.

Six merit badges were distributed. Two of these were in athletics, two in first aid, one in personal health, and one in life saving.

WHEELER SPEAKS

The Carbon Club of the department of chemistry resumed its weekly sessions yesterday.

Dr. Wheeler spoke to the organization on his researches with paracymene since 1921.

The speaker next week will be Dr. Bost. The club consists of students doing research in organic chemistry.

ORCHESTRA GIVES CONCERT TUESDAY

Mendelssohn and Gluck Included In Symphonic Program.

The University Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Earl Slocum, will appear in concert Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Hill Music hall.

The personnel of the organization is composed of faculty members, students and townspeople, numbering in all about 50 players. Nearly all the departments and schools in the University are represented.

The program will include the following selections: "The Italian Symphony," by Mendelssohn; the overture, "Iphigenia in Aulis," by Gluck, and the "Polka" and "Dance of the Comedians," from the opera, "The Bartered Bride."

Tuesday night's concert will mark the first appearance of the University Symphony for the current musical season. Students and townspeople are cordially invited, according to Director Slocum.

Plans are being considered for a joint concert to be given by the symphony orchestras of the University at Greensboro and the University at Chapel Hill, here and again at Greensboro. Should arrangements be completed, the joint concert will probably be presented during the spring quarter.

LOST

In Tin Can at Duke game, one girl's tan trench coat with dark tan belt. Finder report to the DAILY TAR HEEL office and receive reward.

FOUNTAIN PENS
Half Price
Sutton Drug Co.

YOUR HEART WILL TELL YOU How Wonderful and Thrilling It Is!

The world has waited for two years for this mighty motion picture. Now it is here, gay, soul-thrilling, glowing with romance . . . exactly as Charles Dickens might have wished for his greatest love story!

DAVID COPPERFIELD

With a star cast of 65 players featuring:

W. C. FIELDS
MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN
MADGE EVANS
EDNA MAY OLIVER
LIONEL BARRYMORE
FREDDIE BARTHOLOMEW
LEWIS STONE
ROLAND YOUNG

The love story of David and Agnes will remain forever in your heart!

For Your Comfort and Enjoyment:

Upholstered Seats
Indirect Lighting
and
New Decorations
Throughout

These and other new features make The Carolina as comfortable and as luxuriously appointed a theatre as there is in the two Carolinas.

We hope you will like these changes. They were conceived and installed for your greater enjoyment.

Also Paramount News

SUNDAY
MONDAY

CAROLINA THEATRE

JIMMY DURANTE
SALLY EILERS
in "Carnival"
TUESDAY

JANET GAYNOR
WARNER BAXTER
in
"One More Spring"
WEDNESDAY

JEAN PARKER
in "Sequoia"
THURSDAY

CHESTER MORRIS
VIRGINIA BRUCE
in
"Society Doctor"
FRIDAY

MID-NITE SHOW FRIDAY
Doors Open 11:15 P.M.
MARY CARLISLE
in
"Girl of My Dreams"

COMING
RUDY VALLEE
in
"Sweet Music"

CLAUDE RAINS
JOAN BENNETT
in
"The Man Who Reclaimed His Head"
Saturday

DEBATE SQUAD
9 P.M.
209 GRAHAM MEMORIAL

The Daily Tar Heel

UNIVERSITY CLUB
5 P.M.
209 GRAHAM MEMORIAL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1935 | NUMBER 109

NATION'S MARTS BOOM AS COURT REVEALS DECISION

Supreme Court Favors New Deal In Upholding Gold Policy of Administration.

STOCK SHARES JUMP $10

New York, Feb. 18.—(UP)—The stock and commodity marts boomed here today as the Supreme Court's gold clause decision removed one of the biggest obstacles in the way of business and market recovery.

Prices jumped as much as $10 a share as 960,000 shares of stock changed hands in one hour following the decision.

Washington, Feb. 18.—(UP)—The New Deal forces scored a smashing triumph today when the United States Supreme Court upheld the administration's gold policy, involving $100,000,000,000 in private and government obligations.

The five-to-four decision by America's highest court found Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes in the camp of the liberals.

Congress Once Wrong

The court ruled first, that Congress acted legally in outlawing gold payment clauses in more than $75,000,000,000 of private corporation bonds; secondly, that Congress exceeded its authority in outlawing gold clauses and government obligations totalling $16,500,000,000, and thirdly, that Congress acted properly under its power to control and regulate the value of money when it had obliged holders of gold certificates to surrender them for other legal tender.

The second ruling was thrown out of court because the party challenging this action failed to prove any actual damage.

The ruling came as a surprise to many political observers who had expected an outward show of hostility toward the New Deal by the court.

Debate Squad Discusses New Deal Tonight

Seawell and Kellar Will Meet Wake Forest Friday.

In preparation for a debate with Stanford University, the debate squad will discuss the New Deal at 9 tonight in 209 Graham Memorial.

The Carolina debaters will uphold the affirmative of the query: Resolved, That this house favor the New Deal, in the debate here March 12.

Don Seawell and Norman Kellar will go to Wake Forest Friday to sustain the affirmative of the query: Resolved, That the nations of the world agree to prevent the shipment of arms and ammunitions.

Francis Fairley and Winthrop Durfee will meet Wake Forest debaters here towards the end of February, taking the affirmative of the same query.

UNIVERSITY CLUB

The University Club will meet in a special session this afternoon in 209 Graham Memorial at 5 o'clock.

Frank Willingham, president, announced yesterday that the meeting is an extremely important one, and that all members of the club are urged to attend.

ENGINEERS' BALL WILL BE FRIDAY

Jack Wardlaw Will Play for Promising Frolic.

The annual engineers' ball will get under way in Bynum gym next Friday night at 9 o'clock with Jack Wardlaw and his orchestra furnishing the tantalizing, teasing, toe-tickling, terpischorean, tuneful tempo.

Although oft referred to as the "Engineers' Brawl" by would-be punsters, the dance promises to be one of the best single dances of the season.

Wardlaw's band is playing out of Roanoke, Va., now and will stay in Chapel Hill long enough to play for the engineers' ball Friday night and the Grail dance Saturday.

Tickets are now on sale to engineering students only. After Thursday they will be open to the public at $1.50 each.

PUBLIC WILL SEE CHEMISTRY WORK

Nearly 30 Exhibits Will Be Displayed in Venable Hall.

On student-faculty day, for the first time in the history of the chemistry department, the private research laboratories in inorganic chemistry will be open to public inspection.

Exhibits on display in Venable hall are: (1) Organic substances derived from coal tar, room 201.

(2) Synthetic lemonade made without fruit, without sugar, without vitamins, without calories, room 172.

(3) Preparation of perfumes and flavorings, room 225.

(4) Preparation of mercurochrome from coal tar, room 226.

(5) Preparation of an anesthetic, room 227.

(6) Preparation of aspirin from coal tar, room 228.

(7) Vacuum distillation and products derived from the tobacco plant, room 230.

(8) Caffine from coffee, and useful products from peanut shells, room 231.

(9) Coal tar dyes and their application to fibres, room 232-3.

(10) Preparation of camphor from turpentine, room 236.

Glass Blowers

In the auditorium of Venable hall there will be a demonstration of glass blowing, conducted by N. L. Simmons and George Koch.

There will be exhibits of inorganic chemical phenomona as follows: (1) Effect of pressure on the boiling point; (2) Accelerated oxidation of metals; (3) Conductivity of solutions; (4) Exceptionally low temperatures and the solidification of mercury; (5) Ozone; (6) Gas fountains; (7) Vapor pressures; (8) Compounds of water; (9) Diffusion of gases; (10) Demonstration of Charles and Boyle's laws; (11) Expansion of gases; (12) Demonstration of electroplating. These exhibits will be in room 171, Venable hall.

The department of chemical engineering will exhibit its equipment as follows: In room 145: (1) High temperature measurements; (2) Humidity measurements; (3) Oil and gas analysis; (4) Coal analysis; (5) Commercial filtrates using the Oliver continuous filter; (6) Gasoline analysis.

Finjan Meeting

There will be a meeting of the advertising staff of the Finjan in the office in Graham Memorial at 2 p. m. today.

Phi Assembly

Officers for the spring quarter will be elected at tonight's meeting of the Phi Assembly in New East at 7:15 o'clock.

Initiations will also be held for new men wishing to become members.

SYMPHONY PLAYS PROGRAM TONIGHT

University Orchestra Makes First Appearance of Season at 8:30 O'clock.

The University Symphony Orchestra will make its first public appearance for the current music season tonight at 8:30 o'clock in Hill Music hall.

With Earl A. Slocum conducting, the orchestra will feature in tonight's concert the "Italian Symphony No. 4" by Mendelssohn. Gluck's overture "Iphigenia in Aulis," and Smetana's "Dances from 'The Bartered Bride,'" will make up the second half of the concert program.

Personnel

Included in the personnel of the University Symphony are: Violins: Isabelle Buckles, Arlindo Cate, James Fuller, Herbert Goldberg, Kimbal Harriman, Mrs. A. M. Jordan, Edwin Jeffress, Robert Kirschman, Arthur Lindsey, D. A. MacPherson, J. E. Mulder, Jane Ross, Wilton Mason, Mrs. G. E. Shepard, Earl Wolslagel, Jacob Williams.

Violas: Hugo Giduz, U. T. Holmes, Raymond Zauber, D. J. Smith; Cellos: Jack Christian, Dan Field, Maurine Moore, Amy Newcomb, Mrs. E. A. Slocum, Ralph Weatherford.

Basses: John Murphy, G. H. Lawrence, A. M. White; Flutes: Davis Bennett, Eldon Bailey; Oboes: Herbert Hazelman, Leonard Nanzetta; Clarinets: Morris Fitts, Glen Haydon, Mac Smith.

Bassoons: W. F. Ferger, Walter King; Horns: Raymond Brietz, Joe White, Paul Schallert; Trumpets: William Hall, Jack Klingham. Trombones: John Daniels, Robert McManeus, Robert Simmons. Percussion: Walter Buffey, F. B. McCall.

Feature Board

There will be a meeting of the feature board this afternoon at three o'clock in 209 Graham Memorial.

McNeir Finds Freshmen Blithely Ignorant Concerning Who's Who

W. F. McNeir, instructor in the University English department, wondered exactly how much intelligence one of his freshman sections possessed. So he put them on the psychological dissecting table with a request to identify 20 persons prominent in the news of the day.

Some of the section made such logical mistakes as those of calling Josephus Daniels a cabinet member; Clarence Darrow a United States ambassador, ambassador to Mexico, president of the Century of Progress; John McCormack the inventor of the threshing machine and reaper; Upton Sinclair, prominent government official, head of gas companies.

Mistakes

Other mistakes not at all logical and which caused McNeir much amusement were these: Donald Richberg, a Frenchman, a famous German; Mussolini, a noted Russian; Diego Rivera, president of Mexico, the man who tried to shoot Roosevelt, a singer, ex-dictator of Spain, Spanish king, king of Ireland, and the comment: "It sounds like a French casino."

Josef Stalin was called a German official and a movie director. Alexander Stavisky was classed as an artist, a boxer, someone connected with Russian embassy in Washington, a leader in Russia, a Russian ambassador, and a orchestra leader. Magda Lupescu was, according to some students, a Mexican, an Italian, and a dancer affiliated with the music field.

The climax came, however, when Wilhelm Hohenzollern was identified as the owner of a beer garden.

According to MvNeir, the class average was 10.4 out of a possible 20; the lowest score was 4, and the highest was 16.

HOUSE DECLARES VALUE OF FANCY

"Imagination," Speaker Says, "Is First Step to Thinking."

Dean R. B. House addressed the members of the freshman class at chapel program yesterday morning.

Continuing his discussion of "The Intellectual Life," Dean House stressed the necessity of acquiring a good imagination and pointed out the presence of strong imaginations in the works of the ancient Greek philosophers, Shakespeare and his contemporaries and the writers and thinkers of the present day.

Dean House pointed to art, poetry, music and invention as the four supreme examples of the necessity and use of imagination.

"Imagination is the first step towards thinking," concluded Dean House, "and since you, as students, are here at the University to learn how to think I advise and urge you to strengthen your imagination."

Student-Faculty Day To Be Commemorated By Souvenir Program

Pete Ivey Prepares Booklet for Wednesday's Celebration.

Under the personal direction of Pete Ivey, an attractive, gloss paper program is being prepared for the coming student-faculty day celebration, it was announced yesterday.

With the idea of giving the students, faculty members, and parents who attend the Wednesday affair souvenirs of the occasion, Ivey has arranged for the eight-page 8x10 inch folder to include a program for the complete day and numerous cuts.

Free Souvenir

The programs will be distributed at the 10 o'clock convocation in Memorial hall, according to yesterday's announcement.

Featured in the souvenir folder will be a picture of the University faculty at the reopening of the school after the Civil war when the famous President Battle headed the teaching staff.

Battle's grandson, Kemp D. Battle of Rocky Mount, who will be guest speaker at the morning convocation tomorrow will have his photograph included in Ivey's program along with that of President Frank Porter Graham and Carolina's Old Well.

Alumnus Kemp Battle To Open Student-Faculty Day Tomorrow

NOTICE

Members of the student body who are inviting faculty members to be their guests during the festivities tomorrow are asked to assume responsibility for setting the time and place for meeting, Jack Pool announced yesterday.

Pool urged the students to take the initiative in making arrangements for the various activities.

SPEAKER REVIEWS TEXTILE CONFLICT

Miss Harriet Herring Delivers Speech Before Freshman Friendship Council.

Following their plan of informing themselves on topics for the Human Relations Institute this spring, members of the Freshman Friendship Council heard Miss Harriet Herring of the Institute for Research in Social Science last night on "The Chief Point of Conflict in the Textile Labor Situation."

"After the war there was a lack of consumption and modernization," said Miss Herring, "and the factories did not come out of the slump. When prices were being cut and wages thus lowered, the manufacturers chose the utilization of finer machinery and the 'stretch out system' as the way out of the difficulty.

Fought System

"The workers did not strike because of long hours, low wages, or child labor, things which were later listed by the chief agitators, but because of this 'stretch out system.'"

H. F. Comer requested that all members of the Council meet in his office at 10:30 a. m. today to receive their assignments for work in connection with student-faculty day.

Dance Leaders

All junior and senior dance leaders and all commencement marshals must have their pictures taken with tuxedoes and white ties at Wootten-Moulton's by Friday afternoon if they are to go in the Yackety Yack.

The deadline for any other dance leaders who have not yet had their pictures made is also Friday.

Mr. Moulton will supply the white tie.

Di Senate

The sales tax versus a greater corporation tax is one of the issues for debate in the Di Senate tonight, at 7:15 o'clock in New West.

The bill as formally stated is: Resolved, That the N. C. sales tax be retained with possible modifications rather than it be replaced by a greater tax on corporations.

Other bills on the slate for tonight are:

Resolved, That dirigibles are unsafe and impractical and that the United States should build no more of them.

Resolved, That all grammar school and high school teachers be required to swear allegiance to the United States.

Morning Convocation To Launch Program

Program of Stunts and Skits Will Be Presented at Night To Close Affair.

FOOTBALL IN AFTERNOON

Tomorrow will be the big day. Tomorrow, faculty and students can forget math and French and English and talk together about the weather and Mae West and the next war; about the Carolina-Duke game, University appropriations, and the cemetery that used to be where Swain hall now is.

Tomorrow the whole University family will become a curious group of sightseers, touring the campus and inspecting the exhibits which the departments and schools of the University have spent the last two weeks preparing.

Tomorrow students and faculty will receive a large and pleasant dose of University traditions, history, and purpose.

Convocation at 10 a. m.

The program will open with a general University convocation at 10 a. m. in Memorial hall, where President Frank Graham, representing the faculty; Virgil Weathers, representing the student body, and Kemp D. Battle, representing the alumni, will present the schedule of events for the day and suggest the spirit which should prevail.

At luncheon every faculty member will be the guest of a student or group of students. Fraternities will keep open house all day for faculty and non-fraternity men.

Football Game

An action glimpse of the 1935 edition of the Tar Heel football team will be presented during the afternoon when two winter grid teams picked by Coach Carl Snavely clash in Kenan stadium, beginning at 2:30.

Professors will attempt to teach some tennis to their students in matches which will also take place during the afternoon.

The program of stunts and skits arranged to begin at 8 p. m. in Memorial hall bid fair to be the stepping stone to fame for some of the performers. To open the show, Freddy Johnson's Carolina Tar Heels will play several numbers and specialties, with Peggy Wood and Gene Whitaker as vocalists.

Song and Dance

Phoebe Barr and her b'r cubs, Harry Coble, Walter Terry, Fred Howard, Bob Lewis, Bill Crayton, and Charles Eaton, will then present their famous Mexican hat dance, in which they will do everything but aesthetic dancing.

Next on the program will come Cun'l Bob House, m'thorganist, who will make his harmonica play real music.

What "Proff" Koch considers the highlight of the program will be the presentation by Frederick H. Koch's Carolina Playmakers of the second Chapel Hill premiere of Peter Blue's (Wilbur Dorsett's) new play, "Blow My Body Down," with accidental music by Nomore Stringbeans. The cast:

Edie, who was a lady, Sammie Ruth Bell.

Happily, the old janitor and fortune teller, Carl Thompson.

Semicolon, the young janitor, Bob Nachtmann.

Oscar, the undertaker, Wilbur

(Continued on page two)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
George Underwood ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Merty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Nelson Lansdale, chairman; Nick Read, Bob Browder, Francis Clingman, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Willis Harrison.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: WALTER HARGETT

Tuesday, February 19, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"Dynamite Case, 7 p. m., Methodist Church." Well, at least it ought to keep the congregation awake.

Then there is the Y. M. C. A. freshman who thinks capital punishment means squeezing a dollar.

We don't know much about basketball, but we imagine a snowbird crip is a shot that puts the game on ice.

Students, Faculty, And Their Day

Tomorrow is student-faculty day. The first annual get-together of undergraduates and their teachers will be the culmination of days of planning and anticipation upon the part of many students and members of the faculty who wholeheartedly have put their efforts and attention to what they believe is to be a banner day in University history.

And it will be a banner day if the student body and the faculty enter into the spirit from which student-faculty day must get its inspiration. Complete co-operation is what the event needs.

We are not proceeding to inaugurate a student-faculty day on the assumption that our university is divided into those two armed camps. We are attempting to cement the relationships that already exist, and to encourage others. Not only students and faculty must co-operate, but also fraternity and non-fraternity men. The success of the occasion depends on the willingness and esprit de corps shown by all.

We hope that everyone concerned participates in the spirit which was intended as the guiding force for the project—good fellowship for mutual education. We hope that the relations are continued, that the idea of friendship which tomorrow should span the gap between students and faculty members will pervade in the future, and that student-faculty day will be recognized as a pleasant experience in an exer-pleasant environment, tending toward making a relationship of ever-increasing benefit to both parties concerned.

Professor, will you have a second helping of potatoes? And a cigar? And thank you for the cigarette. It's a swell day, isn't it?

Return A Loan

From time to time the University athletic association feels acutely the loss of equipment which it has issued to students and which has not been returned, and from time to time it sends out an appeal for the return of this equipment.

Many students secure sweat clothes when they try out for University teams. When they no longer can claim use of them for this purpose, this equipment should be returned to the University, its rightful owner.

Probably no other athletic association in the state, if we are correctly informed, is as lenient about issuing this equipment as that of the University. Indeed, everyone recognizes that it is all to the advantage of promoting interest in physical exercise and in Carolina teams to allow students this privilege. But granting that the athletic authorities are good enough to permit the loan of equipment, we should certainly recognize that it is only a loan.

Question Answered

The following letter was submitted to the DAILY TAR HEEL by two freshmen as a contribution to the "Speaking the Campus Mind" column. They raise a question pertinent enough at this time to warrant explanation in the editorial columns of this paper. In order that they should be answered through an authoritative source, we print simultaneously with it a reply by Jack Pool, president of the senior class and chairman of the committee on student-faculty day.

The letter follows:

"'Faculty-fraternity day'—is this what the highly touted holiday that we're going to have tomorrow is going to turn out to be? Is it in keeping with the purpose of such an event as this one was conceived to be that a small number of students on the campus, who happen to be members of the fraternities, should be the ones who are permitted to entertain the members of the faculty at dinner on that day?

"We hardly think that this could be true. It is not possible that the originators of this splendid idea (which has promised to do so much good in furthering the good feeling between the faculty and the student body) could ever have intended that one of the main features of the program should be monopolized by groups aggregating only a small percentage of the student body. We can but believe that this has come about through a misconception on the part of someone connected with the planning of the event.

"We happen to know that in most of the dormitories on the campus a number of the members signed up with the dormitory councilmen under the plan that this was the way that the faculty members were to be assigned. It was the understanding that the fraternities on the campus were to co-operate in this plan, so that in this way things would be fairly and evenly arranged.

"Since we are only a couple of lowly freshmen, we hardly dare question the actions of the mighty but in our small way we'd just like to ask whether this holiday is intended to be 'student-faculty day' or 'fraternity-faculty day'?"

In reply, we print the explanation of Jack Pool. No ill feeling or misunderstanding should prevail on this day of all days in the year.

The reply is as follows:

"To make clear the method that is being used to insure that every member of the faculty is being invited to lunch by a student on student-faculty day, the following explanation is offered.

"Because it is most desirable to have every member of the faculty be the guest of a student on Wednesday at lunch, the fraternities were assigned in a bloc an allotted number of the faculty members with the understanding that they are to invite those who are assigned to them to be their guests. However, those who are not affiliated with any fraternal organization have the privilege of inviting any member of the faculty whom they wish to be their guest on Wednesday. The understanding with the fraternities is that when a member of the faculty on their assigned list has been previously invited, the fraternity members are to forego the privilege of having that member of the faculty as their guest.

"Because it was felt that some organization was needed so as to make sure that every member of the faculty is asked to lunch, this plan is being used, and it is hoped that all who so wish may have the pleasure and opportunity of lunching with a member of the faculty on Wednesday. It is no intention on anyone's part, I feel sure to discriminate in the matter of who shall have the choice of entertaining a member of the faculty on Wednesday. It is only hoped that every member of the faculty will be the guest of a student, or a group of students, at lunch tomorrow."—JACK POOL.

Greek Brothers

An article in last Sunday's Magazine Section of the New York Times discussed the rising problems and difficulties now being experienced by college fraternities throughout the country. The writer of the article was of the opinion, and produced statistics to prove, that American college brotherhoods have been "catching it on the chin" in the past several years. The article enumerated three new enemies of fraternities which have arisen during the past three years: (1) depression and "hard times," (2) a new student seriousness and cynicism, (3) a sudden concern of the colleges themselves with undergraduate housing and social life.

Probably the most serious threat to fraternal security has grown out of the second of the aforementioned threats. The editor of the student paper at the University of Wisconsin recently resigned from his fraternity and is quoted in the Times article as saying that "college fraternities are definitely on the way out."

We do not attempt to argue the issue. As it applies to this campus we can see no diminution of fraternity prestige, although the Greek letter organization here as elsewhere has undergone stormy times. One thing is certain, however: the fraternity can offer more than mere companionship. If it does not, it will find itself decadent.

GEOLOGISTS PLAN TRIO OF EXHIBITS

To Show Material of University's First Geology Professor.

In conjunction with the student-faculty celebration tomorrow, the department of geology has arranged three special exhibits in the geological museum on the first floor of New East.

Most interesting of these is the exhibit which shows the characteristics of early man.

Another exhibit displays the material used in an early attempt to teach geology by visual education. This was part of the lantern equipment used by Professor Dinnison Olmstead, who was the first professor to teach geology at the University. Professor Olmstead began his work as professor and state geologist in 1824.

The third exhibit consists of a display of early North Carolina maps.

Grades of FERA Men Go to Government

The educational division of the North Carolina Federal Emergency Relief Administration has called for the names and fall quarter grades of all students who are receiving federal aid.

One copy of the student's list will be mailed to FERA headquarters in Washington, according to Edwin Lanier, local director.

All colleges in the state will also be required to send a detailed statement concerning the different work projects on which FERA students are now engaged.

This request is in line with the administration's plan to establish all student FERA projects on a "social" level.

Law Book Display

Not to be outdone in providing for the celebration of the big event, the University law school under the direction of Dean M. T. Van Hecke has arranged for a display of old and rare law books tomorrow in Manning hall.

Kemp Battle to Speak

(Continued from page one)

Dorsett.

Lora, his daughter with a school girl complex, Ella Mae Daniel.

Tommy, the Ethiopian in the lumber-stack, George Stoney.

Nymphs, Hester Barlow and Jean Walker.

Enter the Glee Club

The Glee Club Octorettelettes, which means John Walker, Jesse Parker, John Barney, Walter Bateman, Harold Gavin, Bruce Culbreth, Jimmy Dees and Larry Anderson, promise sea chanties as the next event on the program.

Miss Betty Tandy of Durham will follow with tap dancing. Then Jule Medynski and Randy Cooner will vocalize with Johnson's orchestra for the next number, and will be followed by Roy Armstrong in a "Teester Revival."

Some More Song and Dance

Mrs. Barr's boys will again appear in a Cossack dance.

They will be followed by the Glee Club Octorettelettes in the encore they optimistically expect to be called for at the end of their first performance.

The next event, Hodge-Podge, looks into the future with Miss Helen Hodges and her boys from the Freshman Friendship Council; Malcolm Wall, Scott Hunter, Joe Pardi, Ralph Gilbert, and Nick Read.

The grand finale will see, or hear, everybody more or less singing "Hark the Sound" in competition with the orchestra.

INFIRMARY LIST

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Frank Umstead, C. H. Woodburn, W. D. McLean, Glenn Best, A. C. Buccolo, Carl Anderson, J. L. Matthews, E. T. Berry, C. J. Sharp, R. F. Blount, and J. F. Blue.

French Club

The French Club will meet at 7:15 tonight in the Episcopal parish house.

DRAMATISTS PLAN COLORFUL EXHIBIT

Playmakers' Display Includes Stage Models and Scenery

The Playmakers plan a varied and colorful exhibit for student-faculty day.

In Graham Memorial they will exhibit a collection of play bills, stage models, the published volumes of Carolina Folk Plays and folk comedies, and the published plays of native son Paul Green. They will also present their quarterly magazine, The Carolina Play Book, which has been published for the last seven years by the Playmakers and the Carolina Dramatic Association.

In the Playmakers theatre there will be a stage setting and lighting exhibit.

In the scene shop and wardrobe room, in the rear basement of the gym, will be exhibited the scenery and costumes, and in "Proff" Koch's office can be seen collections of photos, posters, masks, and scrapbooks.

AMAZING OPPORTUNITY

College Students: Finance your education by part time work NOW—full time position next summer. Representatives are making two to five dollars per hour. Write for proof of results and full details immediately.

College Department
1010 Arch St., Philadelphia

Gouged by a Gim-me Girl?

. . . light an Old Gold

When the girl friend orders $16.40 in "vittles" and "bubbles". . . and you have only $5.90 in the kick . . . don't get the heebies. Light a sunny-smooth Old Gold. It has a positive genius for raising your morale and lowering your blood pressure.

AT TRYING TIMES . . . . TRY A Smooth OLD GOLD

Phantoms Have Chance To Take Crown In Clash With Wolfpack Tonight

IMPORTANT GAME TO BE AT RALEIGH

Chub Womble Is Back for Red Terrors, Making Them Dangerous on Own Floor.

TAR HEELS IN HARD DRILL

U. N. C.	Pos.	STATE
Aitken	f.	Aycock
Nelson	f.	Lambeth
Glace	c.	Flythe
McCachren	g.	Rex
Harris	g.	Womble

Coach Bo Shepard gave his White Phantoms a heavy workout yesterday afternoon in the Tin Can, in preparation for the always - dangerous Wolfpack from N. C. State College. The battle takes place on the Wolf court tonight, following the frosh game.

With work on defense stressed the Tar Heels took their only practice between the Duke and State encounters. In the Blue Devil tilt last Saturday, the Heels flashed a brilliant floor play and passing attack at times, but their shooting was decidedly off.

Title Is Possible

Tonight the Tar Heels will have a chance to clinch Big Five cage honors by downing State. But to down the Red Wolves on their own home ground is a difficult task. This was shown last season when the crack White Phantom edition suffered one of its three setbacks in the Frank Thompson gym.

State will have full strength to throw into the clash tonight. Chub Womble is back in the lineup after being forced out several weeks due to an injury. With Captain Ray Rex at the other guard post, Flythe at center, and Lambeth and Aycock at forwards, the Raleighites will possess the strong team which has carried them to wins over Duke, South Carolina, W. and L., and many others.

Coach Shepard will open with the same lineup which played the whole game against Duke, that is, Aitken and Nelson at forwards, Glace at center, and McCachren and Harris at guards. If past games are any indications, this ironman five will see most of the action in tonight's battle royal.

This Week Brings State Title Race To A Conclusion

Carolina or State Can Win, or It Is Possible That There Will Be Three-Way Tie.

With three different outcomes possible, the Big Five cage race has now entered its final week. The White Phantoms hold the upper hand at present but everything depends on the performances of the State five.

Carolina, with six victories out of seven starts, needs only a triumph over the Red Terrors tonight in order to make the championship. However, the State club has been going at a rapid pace for the past two weeks and playing on its own court, will at least have even odds to turn the tables on the Tar Heels.

Should State win tonight it will be the only team left in the race with a chance to win the title alone. However, besides the Tar Heels, the Red Terrors must take on Duke at Durham Saturday night.

Third Possibility

This makes a third possibility in the championship race. The Blue Devils have already been defeated twice but still have hopes for a triple-tie. Should State whip Carolina and Duke in turn upset the Wolfpack, it would leave the three leading fives deadlocked, each with two losses.

Of course there is still a chance that one of the two bottom teams, Davidson and Wake Forest, might knock off State or Duke. Wake Forest met the Blue Devils last night while the Wildcats will take on the Red Terrors Friday night.

In addition to closing their Big Five schedules all three of the top state clubs also finish their regular cards this week. This will give each a chance to get well-prepared for the Southern Conference tourney which opens Thursday, February 28, at Raleigh.

South Carolina will furnish

(Continued from page three)

Williamson, Medley Relay Team Will Run In AAU Meet Saturday

National Indoor Championship Track Games Will Be Held in Madison Square Gardens; Williamson Will Compete with Hornbostel in 1000-Meter; Relay Club Runs 2900-Meters.

Invitations have been received and accepted for Harry Williamson and a distance medley relay team to compete in the national indoor championships of the A. A. U. to be held in Madison Square Garden, Saturday night, February 23.

Williamson is to run in the 1000-meter event, while the 2900-meter medley team is yet undecided. The medley is composed of the 200, 400, 800 and 1500-meter legs.

Chuck Hornbostel of Indiana will be defending champ in the 1000-meter while teams from Pennsylvania and N. Y. A. C., with Venzke and Bonthron running anchors according to the early reports, will feature the medley.

This past week-end Williamson ran a beautiful mile to finish a close fourth behind Cunningham, Venzke, and Bonthron. Venzke followed by 25 yards. Bonthron was five yards back of the Penn star and the Tar Heel was five behind him. Williamson's time was about the same as he turned in the N. C. A. A. meet last summer, 4:15.23 minutes.

Ny opened the race by setting a sizzling 57-second pace for the initial quarter, with Williamson 15 yards in the rear but ahead of the others. Just before the halfmark Cunningham edged into the lead with the Tar Heel right on his heels.

Harry Fast at First

Williamson's three quarters were exceptionally fast and enabled him to stay in the leading position. But he could not match the withering last quarter spurts of the world's best milers. It was the nearest he has ever come to beating Bonthron.

Tom Hawthorne in the special 60-yard high hurdles led his heat to the third hurdle only to stumble on that timber. He finished, however, and was barely nosed out of second place, which would have meant qualifying for the semi-finals.

This was his first chance in big competition, and also the first time he had ever used spikes on the wooden runway, which undoubtedly bothered him.

FIRST BASEBALL SESSION IS HELD BY COACH HEARN

Frosh and Upperclass Pitchers And Catchers Turn Out for Drill in Tin Can.

REST WILL REPORT LATER

The resounding smack of ball against mit in the Tin Can yesterday afternoon ushered in the initial Carolina baseball practice of 1935 and gave Coach Bunn Hearn a running start for the formation of another top ball club.

The daily practices to come are for the benefit of the pitchers and catchers, held so that they may limber up their arms for the long spring sessions. Freshmen as well as upper classmen turned out yesterday and, under the scrutinizing eye of Coach Hearn, tossed the pellet around with a vim and vigor which will cause many sore arms in this week's warm-up drills.

Quite a few of the would-be stars let loose with everything they had, while the wiser and more experienced candidates just threw the ball easily in order to limber up. It is too early in the campaign to advance any predictions as to future greats, but the eagerness with which the boys plunged into the practice vouches for a hustling nine this coming season.

The first meeting of infield and outfield candidates will probably take place about three weeks from today.

Mangum 1 Enters Cage Play-Offs By Defeating Lawyer

St. Anthony Hall takes Extra-Period Tilt; Zeta Psi and D. T. D. Get Victories.

Mangum No. 1 became the first team definitely to gain the play-offs in the intramural basketball competition as it successfully repulsed the strong Law School five by a 23-19 score yesterday afternoon.

A last moment field goal by "One-Shoe" Hammer in the second overtime period gave St. Anthony a 15-13 triumph over Chi Psi in another thrilling encounter. Zeta Psi trounced on S. P. E. by a 37-18 margin, and Delta Tau Delta beat Sigma Nu, 39-16, in the other games.

After holding a one-point lead at the end of the first and second quarters, the shyster quintet fell before a hard third period rally by Mangum No. 1. Law was ahead 7-6 at the first quarter, and 12-11 at the half, but Mangum went out in front for the third, 18-14, and was never again behind.

This time it remained for "T" Vick to pace the victors, connecting for three field goals and a foul for seven points. Peacock and Bryan of Law followed with six each, while Fox and Henson garnered five apiece for Mangum.

After Parker Morris of St. Anthony had virtually given the Chi Psi's a tie game by tossing a basket for them, the two quintets fought through the regulation game time, one extra period, and practically all of the second to a 13-13 deadlock.

With only three seconds re-

(Continued on last page)

FROSH BOXERS

All freshman boxers are to report at the Tin Can at 4 o'clock today. Boxing uniforms will be issued. Tomorrow at the same hour and place photographs of the team will be taken.

GRAPPLERS FACE BLUE DEVIL CLUB SATURDAY NIGHT

Two Great Rivals Look about Even; Both Have Lost to Davidson and W. & L.

UMSTEAD WILL BE BACK

Carolina began preparations for its final wrestling meet of the season yesterday. The Tar Heels will clash with Duke at Durham on Saturday night in both varsity and freshman engagements.

Carolina is expected to have its full strength against the Blue Devils. In the encounter with Davidson last Saturday Frank Umstead, star bantamweight grappler, was missing from the starting lineup. Umstead, who was injured in the V. M. I. meet two weeks ago, will be ready for Coach Add Warren's charges.

The Tar Heels showed up surprisingly well against Davidson, despite the fact that the Wildcats returned to their lair with a 16-14 victory. Particularly impressive was the showing of Ward, 135; Gholsen, 145; Bonner, 155, and Captain Efland in the 165-pound classes.

Ward Shows Form

Ward looked better Saturday than he has at any time this year. The Carolinian gained an overwhelming 9:29 time decision over Parker of the Wildcats. Ward was fast and aggressive throughout and on several occasions almost pinned his opponent.

Gholsen had a real battle on his hands in Owen of the Presbyterians. Neither man had the required minute advantage after the regulation 10 minutes of fighting. But Gholsen proved to be stronger and speedier in

(Continued on last page)

Tar Baby Cagers May Take Title In Tilt With State Frosh Tonight

Prelim Game Starts At 7:15 in Raleigh

Wolfpack Yearlings Have Handed Tar Babies Their Only Setback So Far This Year.

GRUBB READY TO START

U. N. C.	Pos.	STATE
Mullis	f.	Satterfield
Potts	f.	Swan
Meroney	c.	Berry
Ruth	g.	Rennie
Grubb	g.	Keating

The Tar Babies have the opportunity of clinching State honors in the freshman division tonight when they tangle with the State College yearlings in Raleigh at 7:15.

Leading State due to its recent victory over Duke, the frosh have but this game to win to settle matters once and for all. However, State is the one team that holds a decision over the Carolina five and is still more difficult to beat on its home court.

Overtime Game

It was in an extra period game that State emerged victor over the Tar Babies, 29-26. The frosh had been leading the entire encounter but faltered in the final moments to let its opponents knot the count.

Mac Berry, pivot man, led his team to the win with a total of 17 points. He was unstoppable and he will prove to be the player who has to be watched closely. Red Meroney will be assigned the task of keeping Berry from the basket.

Grubb to Start

Coach Skidmore is starting Foy Grubb at guard tonight in the place of Bill Franks. Grubb has been out of the opening lineup the last few games due to illness but is prepared to play once again.

Franks gave capable performances each time and will probably see a great deal of action. The other starters will be the same as usual with Pete Boone on the bench as alternate forward.

Coach Skidmore and ten players will leave Emerson stadium at 5 o'clock.

TRACK NOTICE

All varsity and freshman track candidates are urged to be present at an important group meeting this afternoon at 5 o'clock in 111 Murphey hall.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss group workouts for the indoor and outdoor seasons, to make announcements of the J. C. of M. meet in Charlotte next week, and also to give some valuable data on the SIC indoor meet. Slow motion pictures of the IC4A and NCAA meets, with the best American track stars in action, will also be shown.

All track men are required to be present or get in touch with Coach Ranson before 5 o'clock. Workouts will be held before the meeting. All new men interested in any phase of track are cordially invited to attend.

Tar Heel Boxers Prepare For SIC Title Tournament

Have You Selected Your Flaming Five?

The Charlotte Observer is sponsoring a contest to determine the five outstanding athletes in the two Carolinas last year. In the 1933 selection both George Barclay and Virgil Weathers were on the team.

The leading Tar Heels yesterday were:

Coach Snavely, 5th.

Jim McCachren, 10th.

The voting for the first 15 places is very close.

Other Tar Heels in the places are:

Virgil Weathers, Snooks Aitken, and Jim Hutchins, tie for 17th; Dick Buck and Dave McCachren, tie for 23rd; Jim Tatum, 33rd; Charlie Shaffer, 35th; Harry Montgomery, 36th; Harry Williamson, 37th.

Everyone vote for a Flaming Five and cast yours for a Flying Tar Heel. Send your selection on a postcard (be sure and sign it) to the Sports Department. Contest closes Saturday.

FENCING NOTICE

There will be an important meeting of the fencing team this afternoon at 4 o'clock. A regular practice will also be held starting at the same time.

Today's Mural Card

4:30—(1) Beta Theta Pi vs. Phi Kappa Sigma, (2) Ruffin vs. Swain Hall, (3) Theta Kappa Nu vs. Lambda Chi Alpha.

5:30—(1) D. K. E. vs. Phi Delta Theta, (2) Kappa Alpha vs. S. A. E., (3) Aycock vs. Mangum No. 2.

CAROLINA DEPENDS ON FOUR ROOKIES

Meet Takes Place This Week-end In Charlottesville; Condition Of Novich Is Feared.

MEDYNSKI PICKED TO WIN

Members of Carolina's boxing team are working this week preparatory to entering the Southern Conference tournament Friday and Saturday in Charlottesville.

While the Tar Heels came through with a fairly successful season, defeating V. P. I., South Carolina, and State, losing a 4 1-2 3 1-2 decision to Virginia, and tieing Duke to share the Big Five title, they still have slight chance of coming through with the Conference title.

The hopes rest entirely on four sophomores—Marion Diehl, bantamweight; Joe Fisher, welterweight; Jule Medynski, junior middleweight, and Max Novich, light heavyweight. Medynski, Novich, and Fisher were undefeated this season, but Fisher fought a draw with Maynard Womer, Virginia's Conference champ. Diehl met but one defeat, losing a close fight to Taylor of South Carolina early in the season.

Medynski is given an almost sure chance to come through in his division. Although a sophomore, he began his varsity career in fine style, winning every fight by good margins.

An unexpected setback for the Tar Heels might be the illness of Max Novich—a severe cold that has kept him confined for the past week. He was so anxious to fight against Duke that he left his bed in the University infirmary against the doctor's orders, won a decision from Don Schmidt of Duke, and then went back to his bed where he is now resting.

Co-ed Cage Tourney Will Start Tonight

The co-ed basketball tournament will begin in the gym this evening at 7 o'clock.

The freshmen will meet the juniors at 7 and the sophomores face the seniors at 8.

These games are the first scheduled tilts for the season.

MAKE PLANS FOR STUDENT-FACULTY DAY

CAROLINA
TODAY
A LOVE STORY AS HUMAN AS A KISS!
CARNIVAL
LEE TRACY
SALLY EILERS
JIMMY DURANTE
—Also—
Comedy — Novelty
MIDNIGHT SHOW FRIDAY
Doors Open at 11:15 P. M.
MARY CARLISLE
"GIRL O' MY DREAMS"
Also Comedy Cartoon

Colonel W. de Basil's
BALLET RUSSE
DE MONTE CARLO
Page Auditorium—Duke University—Durham, N. C.
(The Only Appearance in Either of the Carolinas This Season)
Monday Evening, March 4, at 8:15
TICKETS: Orchestra, A-P, $3.30; Q-Z, $2.75; AA-EE, $2.20.
(Entire Mezzanine and Balconies Already Sold Out)
Box Office Open Beginning February 25
Mail Orders Now being Received by J. Foster Barnes, Box 4822, Duke University, Durham, N. C.

EXHIBIT TO SHOW ENGLISH'S VALUE

Demonstrations Center in Library and Graham Memorial.

The exhibit to be given by the English department for student-faculty day will be distributed over the campus.

The humanities division will exhibit in the reserve book room of the library. In this division the English department will show charts representing the offerings of the department and its services and relations with other departments of the University. There will also be a collection of representative rare books tracing English literature from Beowulf down through modern English. These books have been taken from the collection of the University and from private faculty collections.

The freshman English exhibit will be shown in the northwest corner of Graham Memorial. The formal side of teaching freshman English, consisting of the procedure, course of studies, and connections with high schools will be classed in one group. Another group will be a series of cartoons humorously presenting the preblems connected with teaching freshman English. The committee in charge of the whole exhibit is Dr. A. C. Howell, Dr. R. P. Bond, Dr. J. O. Bailey, and Dr. A. P. Hudson.

Murals

(Continued from page three)

maining, Phil Hammer lost one shoe in a heated scramble, became known as "One-Shoe" Hammer, and tossed the winning basket for St. Anthony. "One-Shoe" also led the individual scoring with eight pointers, while Manley of Chi Psi was runner-up with five.

Corwith of Delta Tau Delta took high scoring honors for the day with 25 as he engineered his team through to a 39-16 triumph over Sigma Nu. The Zetas walloped S. P. E. as Bill Carr and Hatwood went on sprees with 15 and 11 points, respectively.

Today's games will find the remaining four undefeated teams in action, all against severe opposition. Should the fraternity unbeatens all come out on the short end, it would send their respective league into a six-way tie for the playoffs.

Mangum (23)	Law School (19)
Henson, f (5)	Williams, f (3)
Barnwell, f	Bryan, f (6)
Fox, c (5)	Alexander, c (2)
Rhodes, g (4)	Peacock, g (6)
Vick, g (7)	Markham, g (2)

Subs: Mangum No. 1—Freeman (2).

St. Anthony (15)	Chi Psi (13)
Jeanes, f (4)	Kavanagh, f (2)
Walker, f	Waters, f
Hammer, c (8)	Foreman, c (4)
Morris, g	Barwick, g
Read, g (3)	Wilday, g

Subs: St. Anthony—Rhodes, Fackner; Chi Psi—Manley (5), Chichester, Holman (2).

Zeta Psi (37)	S. P. E. (18)
Thorpe, f	Chestnutt, f (4)
Hatwood, f (11)	Pitts, f (2)
Carr, c (15)	Sawyer, c (5)
Folger, g (6)	Davison, g (4)
Maupin, g	Parker, g (6)

Subs: Zeta Psi—Williams (4), Satterfield (2).

D. T. D. (39)	Sigma Nu (16)
Shores, f (4)	Lytle, f (5)
Currie, f	J. Bost, f (3)
Rouiller, c (8)	Primrose, c (6)
Corwith, g (25)	Hairston, g
McCollum, g (2)	Ford, g (2)

Humanities Group Plans Exhibit in Library

Newly Created University Division to Give Joint Display.

On student-faculty day the University Division of the Humanities (comprising the English, classical languages, Romantic languages, Germanic languages, history and government department) will present a joint exhibit in the reference room of the library.

These departments decided to hold a joint exhibit rather than the separate displays they had planned to arrange in Graham Memorial in order to further a newly formulated plan to unite the departments into a Humanities group.

The entire reference room will be devoted to this division's exhibit.

Grapplers

(Continued from page three)

the extra periods and as a result won out on 2:23 time.

Bonner Does Unusual

In Quarterman of the visitors, Bonner faced the toughest opposition of the evening as far as the Tar Heels were concerned. Quarterman took the aggressive during the early minutes of the scrap and held the top position for over seven minutes. Bonner, however, freed himself from the Wildcat's clutches and proceeded to pin Quarterman in the time of 8:49.

Captain Efland scored his second victory in state competition at the expense of Hodges, capable 165-pounder of Davidson. Efland worked hard and fast, finally winning out by the narrow margin of 12 seconds over his game foe.

Carolina and Duke appear to be evenly matched on paper. Both teams were defeated by Davidson and Washington and Lee. The Devils suffered a 21-9 setback as compared with the Tar Heel 16-14 setback against the Wildcats. Washington and Lee literally swamped Coach Quinlan's protegees 28-0 while Duke held the great General aggregation to a 19-11 score.

Martin Leads Discussion of Lynching in U. S.

Sophomore and Junior-Senior "Y" Groups Meet Jointly.

The sophomore and junior-senior Y. M. C. A. cabinets met jointly last night to hear C. C. Martin discuss "Lynching."

Martin, a sophomore, spoke of the prevalence, causes, methods, and proposed preventions of lynching in the United States.

The discussion on "Pros and Cons of Capital Punishment," scheduled to be led in the junior-senior cabinet last night by J. C. Grier, will be presented at the next meeting of the group.

At a brief business session at the first of the meeting, the cabinet set March 4 as the date for the proposed "Y" smoker.

The group also made plans to visit the state prison in Raleigh March 1.

TEA AT RALEIGH

The State College Woman's Club of Raleigh will receive at a tea Thursday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at the home of Colonel J. W. Harrelson, 1903 Hillsboro street.

The tea, to have been held last Thursday, was postponed because of the death of Professor John M. Foster, State faculty member. All of the wives of the University faculty members are invited to attend.

Basketball

(Continued on last page)

both Carolina and Duke competition during the week, meeting the former five tomorrow night here and the Blue Devils Thursday night at Durham.

Wake Forest and Davidson will battle Thursday night. Neither team has won a Big Five contest yet so the tilt will take one of the two off the bottom.

The standings, which do not include the Duke-Wake Forest tilt last night, follow.

Team	W.	L.	Pts.	Opp.
Carolina	6	1	221	16
State	4	1	175	125
Duke	4	2	199	17
Davidson	0	5	142	177
W. Forest	0	5	108	20

LOST

Monday morning on campus, pair of gold-rimmed glasses in black case. Reward if returned to 315 E. Franklin street.

LOST

1 Petite Point suede bag during dances. Generous reward offered. Return to DAILY TAR HEEL office or Miss Hazel Perkins, Kirkchosei & Arnold, Inc., Capital Club Building, Raleigh.

STOLEN

Diamond Sigma Chi pin with name W. G. Hines engraved on back. Liberal reward if returned to DAILY TAR HEEL office, or for information leading to recovery. No questions asked.

When you need an excuse to stay a little longer....

I'm your best friend

I am your Lucky Strike

I give you the mildest smoke, the best-tasting smoke. You wonder what makes me different. I'll tell you. It's center leaves. I spurn the little, sticky, top leaves . . . so bitter to the taste. I scorn the coarse bottom leaves, so harsh and unappetizing. I am careful of your friendship, for I am made only of the mild, fragrant, expensive center leaves.

They Taste Better

Copyright 1935, The American Tobacco Company

GENERAL CONVOCATION TODAY -- 10 O'CLOCK -- MEMORIAL HALL

U. N. C. vs. SOUTH CAROLINA
BASKETBALL
TIN CAN—7:30

The Daily Tar Heel

U. N. C. vs. SOUTH CAROLINA
BASKETBALL
TIN CAN—7:30

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1935 | NUMBER 110

PHI ELECTS NEW OFFICERS; SENATE AGAINST LYNCHING

Frank McGlinn, Harry McMullan, Wilborn Davis, Leighton Dudley Are New Officers.

ALBERT ELLIS IS SPEAKER

Seven new officers for the spring quarter were elected at last night's meeting of the Phi assembly. Albert Ellis was elected speaker three weeks ago.

Additional officers, who were elected last night, are: speaker pro tem, Frank McGlinn; sergeant-at-arms, Harry McMullan; reading clerk, Wilborn Davis; and assistant treasurer, Leighton Dudley.

Committee

In addition, James Van Hecke, Drew Martin, and Billy Seawell were elected members of the ways and means committee. Van Hecke was named chairman.

The assembly initiated four new members: John Bowles, C. S. Trexler, Jesse H. Ott, and C. S. Shoaf.

The bill, Resolved, that the school of engineering be moved to Raleigh was defeated by an overwhelming majority, after several representatives condemned such an action.

The bill providing that the Phi assembly support the Carolina Political Union was tabled until additional plans as to the organization and policies of the Union are further developed.

Di Senate

The Di Senate passed 15-6 the bill, Resolved, that the Di Senate go on record as favoring the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill. Senator Yeatman introduced the bill, speaking in favor of the affirmative. Senators Weaver and Gibbes led the negative arguments.

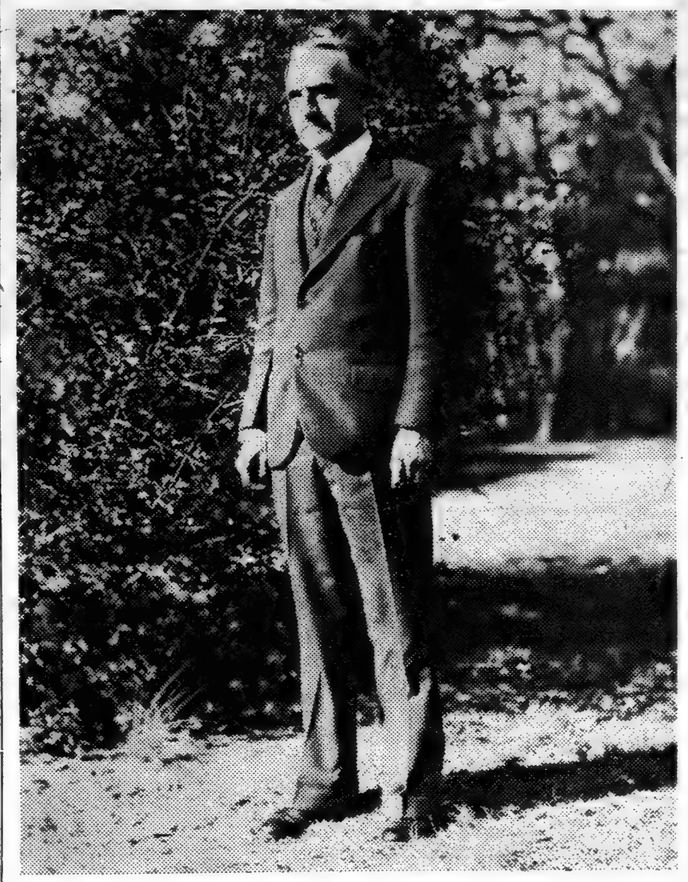
Tom O'Brien was proposed and accepted as a new senator, and Stephen H. Mazur's application for reinstatement was approved.

Senator Kind reported that the freshman debate with the Phi assembly will take place March 1, with the subject being, Resolved, that divorce is a social asset. Tryouts for the debate will be held Tuesday night.

Chemistry Fraternity Will Furnish Guides For Venable Exhibits

Chemistry Building Tours Will Begin at Room 171.

Through the efforts of the local chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma, national honorary chemistry fraternity, Carolina students will be given special guides to carry them through Venable today from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.



The exhibit tour will begin at room 171 in the chemistry building and several tours will be conducted during the open hours. Students will act as guides to the various exhibits.

As partial remuneration, the chemistry department will serve a special "chem" lemonade which they boast, "contains no food value, no vitamins, no lemons, no sugar, and no ade."

No Co-ed Tea

The regular weekly co-ed tea will not be held this afternoon since the co-eds will assist with the student-faculty reception at Graham Memorial. The teas will be continued next week.

President Approves Celebration

Expressing the hope that student-faculty day will become a permanent institution at Carolina, President Graham gave, in a statement to the DAILY TAR HEEL last night, his complete approval of the purpose and program of the day.

The statement reads:

"I hope and believe that student-faculty day is to be a happy occasion which will establish the day on the high plane of a customary University institution along with University Day and Commencement Day. We have registration day, football and athletic days, proms, Germans, fraternity initiations, Phi Beta Kappa night, 'tapping night,' campus-wide elections, the Dogwood festival, the dramatic festival, high school day, not to mention exams and whatnot in the colorful panorama of University life.

"Today we have the inauguration of a day around the two main constituents of our University life, the students and the faculty. They are what it is all about. In them the University, with all its traditions, associations, and opportunities, lives, moves, and has its being. In sharing more together, the students and the faculty make new traditions and open wider opportunities of rich experience in the good things of this place on this our first student-faculty day."

CONGRESS HEARS VET BONUS PLAN

Proposal Calls for Payment in Negotiable Coupon-Bonds.

Washington, Feb. 19.—(UP)—A bonus proposal that may eventually be the basis of a compromise between the militant war veterans and the administration's forces was introduced into Congress today.

The measure calls for payment, in bonds. It was submitted by Senator Millard Tydings (Rep., Maryland). The plan is to exchange the $2,300,000,000 in adjusted service certificates for negotiable coupon-bonds, bearing three percent interest.

Veterans with $1,000 adjusted service certificates are to be given the privilege of exchanging it for a bond with face value of $775. They would receive at once, $15.75 in cash and if they hold the bond until 1945 they receive $209.25 in interest.

MILITARY PREPAREDNESS

Washington, Feb. 19.—(UP)—Warning that the United States favors adequate military preparedness was issued today when a $378,699,488 army supply bill was introduced into the House of Representatives.

The bill provided for the purchase of 547 new airplanes; strengthening the national guard; and increasing the regular army. These provisions were entered under the direction of President Roosevelt.

MUSICIANS PLAN PROGRAM TODAY

Noon Organ Recital by Kennedy; Glee Club in Evening.

A short concert by the University Symphony Orchestra at the convocation in Memorial hall at 10 o'clock this morning will begin the varied program to be offered throughout the day by the University music department.

Professor Nelson Kennedy will be featured in a demonstration-recital on the organ in Hill music hall at 12 o'clock. This will be followed by a trip through the organ loft.

The Glee Club will perform during the evening program. The department has arranged an exhibition in Hill hall consisting of books, music, and instruments.

Special arrangements have been made for an exhibit of medieval music in connection with the general exhibit in medieval history.

The library of records, piano rolls, and other equipment of the department will be open for inspection throughout the day.

ENGINEERS' BALL

The engineers' ball will be given at the Carolina Inn, beginning at 9 o'clock Friday night instead of in Bynum gym as formerly stated.

Jack Wardlaw will play for the affair. Tickets are priced at $1.50 and will be available to the public after tomorrow.

Political Union

No Discussion at Meeting to Be Held Next Week.

Indications point to a record forum in attendance at the first meeting of the Carolina Political Union which will be held some time next week.

A large number of students have announced their intentions of participating in the union discussions this spring. At the first meeting, no discussion will be held, but the organization will be completed and an outside speaker will give a political address.

Plans in the form of proposals have been drawn up by the temporary committee appointed by Phil Hammer, temporary chairman, and will be presented for the consideration of the group at this first session.

METHODISTS GIVE BROADCAST TODAY

Music Will Feature Fourth Regular Religious Workers Council Radio Program Today.

The regular Wednesday afternoon radio broadcast from station WDNC in Durham, sponsored by the Religious Workers Council, will be conducted today at 2 p. m. under the direction of the Methodist church.

The Methodist choir under the direction of Lee Sistare will sing several old hymns, a quartet from the choir will render a number especially arranged for the occasion, and Miss Isabelle Buckles will play a violin solo, for the half-hour program.

Scripture Reading

The Reverend W. S. Jenkins of the church will complete the program with a scripture reading and prayer.

Today's broadcast follows similar ones by the University Y. M. C. A., the Presbyterian and Baptist churches.

Local church and Y. M. C. A. leaders compose the Religious Workers Council which was recently organized here. Besides initiating this present series of radio broadcasts, the council recently brought the famous Chinese doctor, T. Z. Koo, to Carolina.

Physics Department Has Varied Exhibits

The physics department will feature displays of mechanical, optical, and electrical apparatus for student-faculty day. They are located in the basement and on the first floor of Phillips hall, and have been arranged under the direction of Dr. K. H. Fussler.

A ping pong ball suspended on an air jet, a loop-the-loop device, and a "whirlwind tube" with straboscopic effects are the important features of the mechanical display.

In room 154 optical effects including spectra of various elements and interference fringe will be shown. In this connection there will be a demonstration of spectrographs and other optical equipment.

Dr. Stuhlman will demonstrate X-ray apparatus, showing the human anatomy with the aid of fluorescent screens. He will display a group of X-ray photographic plates and models explaining crystal structures.

The department requests that those wishing to visit the exhibits apply at room 201 Phillips for permission.

Dr. F. P. Graham To Open Student-Faculty Festivities

Today's Program

10 a. m.—General convocation in Memorial hall.

1 p. m.—Students take faculty members to lunch.

2:30 p. m.—Football game in Kenan stadium.

5 p. m.—Open house at fraternities.

7:30 p. m.—Basketball game with South Carolina at Tin Can.

9 p. m.—Stunt program and jamboree in Memorial hall.

Exhibits of the various departments of the University will be on display all day in the following buildings on the campus: Graham Memorial, Davie hall, South building, Venable hall, Bingham hall, Phillips hall, the library, the infirmary, Hill Music hall, Howell (pharmacy) hall.

Playmakers theatre, Playmakers scene shop, Proff Koch's office (112 Murphey), New West, Alumni building, Y. M. C. A., Peabody hall, Bynum gym, Manning hall, and New East.

Engineering Labs To Be Open Today

As part of the student-faculty day program the engineering school will throw open to the public all its laboratories. As much of the equipment as it is feasible to put in operation will be demonstrated.

Perhaps the most unique will be a demonstration of the forces acting on a model of the Chrysler automobile as shown by the small wind tunnel. This will take place in the laboratory of the mechanical engineering department.

For all the radio-minded students of the campus it will be of interest to know that the radio room will be open and in operation.

The large 200,000-pound testing machine will be operated to demonstrate a test of a large steel beam, and in the electrical laboratory will be an electrical display of the 50,000-volt high tension circuit.

The demonstrations already mentioned are the more important ones that will take place in Phillips hall in the department laboratories of mechanical, electrical, civil and sanitation engineering.

LIBRARY EXHIBIT

Today the University's school of library science will have on display the work done in their cataloging, reference, and book selection classes.

In the study hall on the third floor of the library here are books arranged that might belong to any university "browsing" room. Also on display in the same room will be works of Hungarian art and literature lent to the University library by the Hungarian-American Society of New York.

Literature on library work and on the library school will be available to students who may be interested.

At the circulation desk, as a regular part of the library student-faculty day display, will be an exhibition of books written by members of the faculty in addition to work done by the various University departments.

KEMP D. BATTLE TO GIVE ADDRESS

Instructions for Entire Program Will Be Given at Convocation This Morning.

WEATHERS ALSO TO SPEAK

Speaking in Memorial hall at 10 o'clock this morning, President Frank Porter Graham will officially open the program of the first student-faculty day at the University of North Carolina.

Kemp D. Battle of Rocky Mount, speaking in behalf of the alumni, and Student Body President Virgil Weathers, speaking as the representative of the students, will be the other speakers at the general convocation, where instructions as to how the rest of the program will be carried out will also be given. Everyone connected with the University is expected to attend the convocation.

Welcome

President Graham's address will be one of welcome to students, faculty, alumni, and friends. Battle, former president of the North Carolina Bar Association, University trustee, and a grandson of Kemp Plummer Battle, president of the University from 1876 to 1891, will tell some of the achievements and traditions of the University. Weathers will give the welcoming address of the student body to faculty, alumni, and guests.

Free time between the convocation and luncheon, as well as throughout the rest of the day, will be spent in visiting the numerous departmental exhibits in Graham Memorial, Davie hall, South building, Venable, Bingham, Phillips, the library, the infirmary, the music building, Howell, the Playmakers Theatre, the Playmakers scene shop, New West, Alumni and the "Y."

At luncheon every professor and instructor will be entertained by a student or group of students.

The feature of the afternoon program will be the football game in Kenan stadium between two teams picked from the winter gridders by Coach Carl

(Continued on page two)

Alleged Mill-Bombers To Plead Own Defense At Mass Meeting Here

Burlington Prisoners Speak in Gerrard Hall Tomorrow.

Defendants in the Burlington dynamiting case will plead their own defense before a mass meeting of students and townspeople in Gerrard hall at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Several of the men accused of having bombed the E. M. Holt plaid mills during the textile strike last fall will tell their side of the story tomorrow. The group will be headed by Chief Defendant John Anderson.

Last Sunday a discussion on the same topic was led by the Rev. James Weaver of Burlington in the Methodist church here.

The latter part of the meeting tomorrow night will consist of open forum questions from the floor. The meeting is being conducted by the student committee for the defense of the Burlington prisoners.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
George Underwood ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: IRVING SUSS

Wednesday, February 20, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"Imagination is the first step towards thinking" says Mr. House. Having no imagination, we'll take the escalator.

Dirigibles might be safe, but, economically speaking, you can't always tell about bringing home the Macon.

The freshman who called Upton Sinclair "The head of gas companies" probably heard the EPIC man make a speech.

Now Is The Time

The first annual observance of a thought which will make tradition will be held on this historic campus today.

When students and members of the faculty get together in congenial friendship, it is a step toward a better understanding and an educational co-operation. But when they participate together in the common interest of the University, its progress and its program, then it becomes more than a single step—it becomes a part of University tradition such as has carried the oldest of state universities through many stormy seas of educational, financial, and social chaos.

Student-faculty day is not lacking in spontaneity as the plans would suggest. It was instigated, propagated, and animated by spontaneous action on the part of both the students and the faculty and administration. The plans which have been set for getting the faculty and the students together are merely facilitating plans, not regimenting. And it is upon the spirit in which students and faculty members enter co-operatively in the venture that the success will depend.

The purpose of student-faculty day is threefold: first, to broaden and deepen the students' knowledge of and interest in the functioning of the whole University and the special achievements of the various departments and faculty members; second, to provide a special, designated opportunity for faculty and students to become more adapted to each other in scholastic work by becoming better acquainted socially; and third, to acquaint the University's students, faculty, and friends more fully with the end that a truer and more comprehensive appreciation of the University may be achieved by the whole campus family.

It is the first time such an elaborate get-together has been attempted in an American University. It was not begun because of ill-feeling or misunderstanding between faculty members and the students; its purposes and functions do not embrace means for correcting student-faculty abuses, as there are none to our knowledge. It is a healthy manifestation of a desire to gain and to grow through good feeling, through appreciation, through celebration, through exposition.

Student-faculty day will be successful if each student member and each faculty member enriches his own life by more than a single new contact with the other group, if he finds but a few facts of only one department of the University, of which he knew nothing before. But we must strive to do even more than that; we must take advantage of the informality, the spontaneity, of the whole thing by availing ourselves of the opportunities which are offered on this friendly day.

Court, Gold
And NRA

"As important as the famous Dred Scott Decision which helped to bring on the Civil War." Thus the Supreme Court's gold decision has often been described. The result, which was largely unexpected by those who consider the court a bulwark of conservatism, seems on the whole to be a decided victory for the New Deal.

In a five to four decision the Supreme Court ruled that Congress could nullify the gold clauses of private bonds; that a gold certificate is worth only its face value in present devalued currency; and that the government's action in nullifying the gold clause of its own bonds was unconstitutional—but that the bondholder could not recover without providing actual loss. The first two of these decisions are complete victories for the Administration, while the result of the third, concerning federal bonds, is as yet uncertain.

The actual significance of the decision is twofold. First, by upholding one phase of Congress's power to devaluate the currency, a tremendous impetus is given to Roosevelt's entire New Deal program. Whether or not the court will permanently uphold this blow to vested interests, it has at least given notice that Congress may act strongly in an emergency to prevent chaos. Secondly, by upholding Congress's power to tamper with the great majority of the nation's contracts, the court is placing the sanctity of contract in a somewhat dubious condition.

Just what these two results will mean to our generation is still an open question. That the encouragement given to the New Deal will prove beneficial to us by speeding recovery seems more than probable, but that the blow given to the sanctity of contract may prove harmful to financial security in the future must not be forgotten.

Authority with
The Student Body

For years Swain hall, the laundry department, various dormitories, the buildings department, etc., have come in for a good deal of unstinted and, possibly, deserved panning. Students realized that conditions could be bettered and did not refrain from openly saying so. The trouble was that the commonly heard criticism came from individuals who were griped about a torn shirt, a poor meal, or an unclean dormitory room. Naturally enough, as is usually the case in such instances, word of the dissatisfaction never reached the ears of anyone of consequence, or, if it did, was ignored by them for what it actually was. So long as mere individuals voiced dissatisfaction, their griping went unheard or unheeded.

Now that a body, the student advisory committee, composed of students has made an intensive and systematic investigation of long-apparent evils, and has printed a list of valid suggestions based upon its findings, we cannot help but feel, and we have every reason for doing so, that a step has been taken toward the ultimate correction of the faults.

Smoking Hot
White Phantoms

Tonight the White Phantoms will become their phantom selves again and take on South Carolina's basketball outfit in the Tin Can.

Off the court our basketeers are just normal fellows, but on the court they, as well as their opponents, are truly phantom-like. The reason: despite the signs saying "No Smoking," there is a fog of mellow, center-of-the-leaves smoke that would make London look like a vacuum.

Smoke obviously doesn't help a basketeer's vision, nor does it do his lungs any particular good. And the spectators on the upper tiers can hardly see the court half of the time when the lower-seat smokers lay down a nicotine smoker screen. For the general good, we should refrain from smoking in these games. Lots of concerned persons will appreciate it.

Flaming
Tar Heels

Over in Charlotte the Observer conducts an annual straw-vote for the "Flaming Five" wherein the quintet of outstanding North Carolina athletes are acclaimed by votes of the sporting public and get their pictures in the paper as being the idols of the sports-lovers.

The University has more than its share of candidates this year. Barclay, Snavely, McCachren, Williamson, Shaffer, Aitken, Abernethy, Hawthorne, Diehl, Medynski, Buck, Hutchins, Snyder, and many others come in for consideration when outstanding athletes are chosen.

With no other motive than school spirit, that elusive something-or-other, the campus is going strong in a campaign to clutter up the "Flaming Five" with Tar Heels from Chapel Hill. It's great publicity, no doubt. Undergraduates and faculty members who spend most of their leisure time comparing the abilities and capacities of athletic pachyderms will have a good time casting votes and everyone should be satisfied.

Casual Correspondent
by Nelson Lansdale

FLASH!

Last year smooth, blonde Ed Broadhurst, and D. K. E.'s Bobby Carmichael set the campus on its ear with an anonymous social column, "Campus Keyhole." We didn't get to Midwinters, so we asked Ed, as one of the campus playboys who goes everywhere and does everything, to give us the low-down on what went on. Haul out the magic carpet, Winchiselizing Mr. Broadhurst:

MEANDERING THRU MID-WINTERS

ON THE FLOOR

Fighting gamely through the swarm of todsters at the many local cocktail soirees we take off on the Magic Carpet and take a position high over Chapel Hill. We're here for three days so settle back and look over the side . . . Gorgeous girls galore (my, but I'm alliterate!) including such eye treats as Lynchburg's Lib Morton, Columbia's Du-Bose, Coky Preston, Lydia Stewart, all from the Queen City (and aptly named), Margaret Jamieson and Katherine Harris of Oxford and Raleigh. This sounds like a social column so let's stop. I couldn't see all of them so don't ask why I left your girl out. After all I didn't mention my own and she does very well. . . .

AMONG THE MISSING

As a sort of memorial we have to note some of the usual swell girls who weren't on the ball with us unfortunately. Over in that corner we hoped to find the blonde of blondes, "Wiz" Lambeth of Charlotte, but she got lucky and attached Erwin Walker and now it's wedding bells. (The "lucky" was Walker's idea but we think he has a horseshoe in his pocket). Not far away a glass is turned down for that swell girl who did so much for many a dance set until another alumnus took her middle aisling. None other than Louise Galloway. To these two girls and the future Benedicts of their choice this column offers sincere congratulations and the wish that none of the bundles from heaven turn out to be columnists. And now some news! The girl with the X-ray eyes Agnew Bahnson has been squiring around for some few dances turned up in the missing list and went to Davidson. We sent flowers to Agnew and took a good weep ourselves because she is an addition to any dance. Check up Mr. Bahnson! Missing along with Barbara was Marion's Liz Neal with equally effective optics. You girls have no excuse like the soon-to-be-brides so we count on you for May Frolics. . . .

THE GREEKS AT HOME

And now the dance is over so let's take the Carpet over the Greek hangouts. Slumbering peacefully, we seek the Deke pledge whose last words were, "Calm those troubled waters," uttered after a valiant attempt to get to the Friday night match . . . and there goes the past big shot of Phi Bete with one of Greensboro's better dark horses after a hard night casting scholastic dignity aside while "Shagging" near the band. You haven't begun to work yet, fella! . . . Fred Bahnson looking happy and well fed since his Texas weakness sent back the family jewels . . . there sways the K. A. who has torn up three cars at various week-ends, and who just purchased a telephone pole and a perfectly good fence. It seems that he swore not to repeat his luck so got the house chocolate to drive him, not knowing condition of said janitor. Moral: stewed chocolate is no better than curdled vanilla. . . . What's this? Looks like Indianapolis Races with "Red" Astaire (Spence Folger to you guys) at the wheel making a fast turn in Joe Webb's speedster around the court of "Kappa Sigma Psi" camp. The Greeks called them chariots but they never foresaw this job . . . and there are those two prominent alumni now running the sock world over Burlington way. One is cooking breakfast in the Deke fireplace and calling his playmate down from a neighboring tree where he took roost to get some peace. . . . Back home to a nice clean room and some sleep. What's this! A letter from Booty written with my typewriter on my best tux shirt! What a week-end this turned out to be! . . . So long until Winchell thinks Ben Bernie is sane!

Vance Inn Will Initiate Judge M. Schenck

Phi Delta Phi Initiation Will Take Place Saturday.

The initiation of Judge Michael Schenck, associate justice of the Supreme Court, into Vance Inn, University chapter of Phi Delta Phi, international legal fraternity, will take place here next Saturday.

Due to illness of Judge Schenck, the initiation was postponed from January 5, as previously announced.

Among prominent alumni expected for the exercises are Judge E. E. Rives of Greensboro and Judge George W. Connor, associate justice of the Supreme Court.

The initiation will take place in Graham Memorial at 5:30 o'clock which will be followed by a banquet at the Carolina Inn.

Officers of Vance Inn are: William Vass Shepherd, Raleigh magister; Peter Hairston, Advance, secretary; H. G. Connor, Jr., Wilson, clerk, and Frank Wilson, Winston-Salem, historian.

Sociologists to Show Departmental Work

Exhibit in Graham Memorial to Include Enrollment Statistics.

In carrying on the program for the student-faculty day the sociology department's committee on exhibit, headed by Dr. H. D. Meyer, has placed in Graham Memorial a number of items intended to explain the work of that department.

Included in this exhibit will be several charts showing the growth of enrollment in the department, the class average, the enrollment of graduate courses, the enrollment in correspondence courses, and the total enrollment.

Another phase will be an exhibit of the books and pamphlets written by faculty members of the sociology department.

BALLET RUSSE ADVANCE SALES REPORTED BRISK

Durham, Feb. 19.—The advance sale of tickets for the performance of Colonel W. de Basil's Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo to be given in Page auditorium, Duke University, March 4, has been very brisk during the last few days, J. Foster Barnes, local manager, reported yesterday.

The manager stated that the entire mezzanine and balcony sections of the local auditorium have already been reserved.

Nearly 300 persons were turned away from the box office last year when the dancers appeared here, and Barnes expressed the opinion today that all seats will be taken several days in advance of the dancers' performance here next month.

Patronize Our Advertisers

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:00: George Hall orch., WBIG.

1:30: Little Jack Little, songs, WBT.

2:00: Radio City Matinee; Paul Whiteman's orch.; Ramono; The King's Men, WJZ. KDKA.

3:00: Kate Smith's Matinee Hour, WBT.

4:00: Woman's Radio Review—"America's Answer To Prejudice," Pearl Buck, WPTF.

4:30: Rochester Civic orch., WJZ.

7:00: Jack Denny orch, WEAF.

7:45: Plantation Echoes—Robison orch.; Southernaires Quartet, WPTF.

8:00: Mary Pickford and her Dramatic Co., WPTF; Penthouse Party; Emil Coleman orch.; Frank Parker, tenor, WLW.

8:15: Edwin C. Hill, commentator, WABC, KMOX.

8:30: Wayne King orch., WEAF, WSB; Everett Marshall's Varieties, WBT.

9:00: Town Hall Tonight—Fred Allen, comedian; Lennie Hayton orch., WPTF; Andre Kostelanetz orch.; Lily Pons, soprano; Vocal Ensemble, WBT.

9:30: Burns and Allen, comedians, WBT.

9:45: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

10:00: Guy Lombardo orch., Ricardo Cortez, narrator, WEAF, WLW.

10:30: Ray Noble orch., WPTF, WLW.

11:00: Hal Kemp orch., WJZ.

11:30: Eddy Duchin orch., WEAF, WLW; Ozzie Nelson orch., WBT.

Student-Faculty Day

(Continued from page one)

Snavely.

Fraternity open house will be held from 5 to 6:30 p. m. and every one is expected to visit several lodges.

The evening program begins at 7:30 o'clock with the South Carolina basketball game. The stunt program in Memorial hall, previously announced for 8 p. m., will begin at 9 o'clock to allow everybody to see the game and attend the stunts too.

Co-eds will serve tea all day in Graham Memorial.

Ledbetter-Pickard
Stationery, Gifts, School Supplies

CAROLINA
TODAY

Also: Comedy — Novelty

MIDNIGHT SHOW FRIDAY
Doors Open at 11:15 P. M.

White Phantoms Drop State, 37-35; Annex Big Five Title

Heels Forced To Stage Great Last Half Rally; Play S. C. Tonight, 7:30

Jim McCachren Stars For Winners with Mel Nelson

Aycock Is Leader of Wolfpack Offensive Attack.

Frank Thompson Gym, Raleigh, Feb. 19.—Trailing five points midway in the second half, Carolina's White Phantoms staged a great rally to go nine points ahead to finally defeat State, 37-35, in a thrilling battle here tonight. As a result of the victory Carolina won the Big Five cage championship for the second successive year.

The Red Terrors took the lead from the start, counting five points before the Tar Heels got under way. State once held a 17-11 lead during the first half, but in a last minute rally Carolina cut the margin to 17-15 at half time.

'Pack Gets Hot

The second half saw the Wolfpack again go into long leads and the Phantoms pull up. State had a 27-22 margin when the Tar Heels started their big rally. With Jim McCachren and Mel Nelson leading the winners' play, Carolina scored 14 points while the Red Terrors could get but one good foul.

Leading 37-28, the Tar Heels were satisfied and relaxed almost too much. Carolina attempted to freeze, but State put on a sprint for seven straight points before the final gun stopped the

(Continued on last page)

Varsity

CAROLINA:	FG	F	T
Aitken, f	1	1	3
Nelson, f	6	2	14
Glace, c	3	1	7
McCachren, g	6	1	13
Harris, g	0	0	0
Totals	16	5	37

STATE:	FG	F	T
Lambeth, f	2	2	6
Aycock, f	7	1	15
Flythe, c	4	1	9
Rex, g	2	1	5
Dalrymple, g	0	0	0
Totals	15	5	35

Score at half: State 17; Carolina, 15. Non-scoring subs: State: Hockfield, g. Referees: Knight (Durham Y); Gerard (Ill.)

UNC vs. USC Tonight

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock the Universities of North and South Carolina hook up in a basketball game in the Tin Can.

The White Phantoms have yet to lose a game on the home court this season; in fact, the last time this happened was last year against these same Gamecocks.

In their first encounter of the year North Carolina nosed out the sandlappers, 32-31, but only by virtue of Jim McCachren's beautiful scoring play in the last 30 seconds of the game.

Probable starting lineup:

U. N. C.	Pos.	U. S. C.
Aitken	f.	Laurie
Nelson	f.	Henderson
Glace	c.	Craig
McCachren	g.	Rowland
Harris	g.	Gooding

CAROLINA BOXERS PUT ON FINISHING TOUCHES TODAY

Novich Is Hampered by Lingering Cold While Giddins Suffers Sore Shoulder.

DIEHL AIMING FOR TAYLOR

The Carolina pugilists put the finishing touches to a hard season of training yesterday afternoon in the Tin Can. Today, the mittmen will take light workouts before departing for Charlottesville and the Southern conference. The team is in fair shape despite the casualties of certain members of the squad.

The chief worry of Coach Rowe is the lingering illness of Maxie Novich, ace light heavyweight. Novich has been suffering from a head cold for the past two weeks and has not recuperated as soon as expected.

Sam Giddins is still suffering a sore shoulder that has slowed him up a great deal the latter part of the season. He is going to meet some tough opposition in the middleweight class and wants to be in the best possible shape for such men as Fabri of State, Kaplin of Virginia, and Matulewicz of Duke.

Marion Diehl is coming along well in spite of a troublesome nose. It was the worry of his breathing apparatus that caused Diehl to be so cautious in his scrap with Taylor, and this probably cost him a victory.

Gridders Scrimmage In Kenan, 2:30; Tar Baby Five Takes State Crown

STUDENT-FACULTY DAY FEATURED BY INTRA-SQUAD TILT

Regular Game Will Be Highlight of Winter Football Practice.

Coach Carl Snavely will send his grid protegees through a hard scrimmage this afternoon in Kenan, as one of the sport features of the student-faculty day. The intra-squad game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Winter work has progressed rapidly during the last month, and the team is now at its peak. Fundamentals have been stressed, while play formations have also received much attention.

Whites vs. Blues

The "Whites" will likely be composed of last year's regulars and leading veterans, while the "Blue" club is made up leading reserves and frosh.

Most of last fall's highly successful eleven are on hand at practice, and will be ready for this year's edition. Although Barclay, Tatum, Kahn, and Shaffer will be missed, Coach Snavely has found material to fill those gaps.

Jim Hutchins has been showing up well in drills, as well as Dick Buck on the flank position. Andy Bershak has led the yearlings by turning in some fine playing at end. McIver and Ditt have also shown up well.

Freshmen

CAR. FROSH:	FG	F	T
Mullis, f	4	0	8
Boone, f	1	2	4
Potts, f	2	0	4
Meroney, c	1	2	4
Ruth, g	5	3	13
Grubb, g	2	0	4
Totals	15	7	37

STATE FROSH:	FG	F	T
Satterfield, f	2	1	3
Swan, f	1	1	3
Berry, c	9	0	18
Rennie, g	2	1	5
Keating, g	1	0	2
Totals	15	3	33

Score at half: State, 20; Carolina, 19. Non-scoring subs: Carolina: Franks, g. State: Brock, c. Referee: Taylor (Tex.)

Mural Play-off

THURSDAY

5:30—S. A. E. vs. D. K. E., Phi Kappa Sigma, Bye.

FRIDAY

4:30—Swain Hall vs. Mangum No. 1.

5:30—Phi Kappa Sigma vs. winner game No. 1.

STAY OFF, PLEASE

All students are asked to remain off the field this afternoon at the intra-squad football game in Kenan, which starts at 2:30 o'clock. Students may aid the football officials by remaining in the stands.

CAROLINA FROSH BEAT WOLFLETS IN 37-33 THRILLER

State Rally Cut Short; Earl Ruth Stars; Berry Leads Losers.

Frank Thompson Gym, Raleigh, Feb. 19.—The title of state freshman champions fell to the rollicking Tar Babies when they overcame a powerful State yearling quintet 37-33 here tonight before a packed crowd.

Playing their only opponent to have scored a victory over them this season, the frosh kept their heads up and played bang-up ball every minute of the encounter. A remarkable incident shows the consistency of the Tar Babies last night for during the first seven minutes of the game, the Carolina sharpshooters only missed one shot at the basket and sunk seven.

Ruth Leads Babies

Earl Ruth, brilliant guard, again starred for the Babies, scoring 13 points and was followed by Pete Mullis who dropped in four tosses from the floor to total eight. Every player went places and their sparkling play finally wore down the State frosh.

Try as Meroney did, there was no stopping of big "Connie Mac" Berry, State center. From all corners and peculiar positions Berry threw in accurate two pointers and compiled a total of 18 points before being taken out of the game in the final moment for excessive personal fouls. In the first half he

(Continued on last page)

Five Mural Basketball Teams Gain Berths In League Play-Offs

SWAIN HALL WINS IN DORM DIVISION

Phi Kap Sigs, S. A. E., Dekes Keep Slate Clean over Strong Opponents Yesterday.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA COPS

The failure of any upsets to develop in yesterday's session of intra-mural basketball competition sent five teams, three fraternity and two dormitory, into play-offs to decide the contestants for the campus championship battle.

Phi Kappa Sigma defeated the Betas, 30-24; S. A. E. downed Kappa Alpha, 24-20; Swain Hall triumphed over Ruffin, 19-9, and the Dekes walloped Phi Delta Theta, 27-12. Lambda Chi Alpha took an easy 32-8 win over Theta Kappa Nu in the fifth encounter.

Phi Kap Sigs Lead

The Phi Kappa Sigs got off to a fast start in their contest with Beta Theta Pi, and the latter, though coming close on several occasions, could never tie matters up. The winners held a 14-12 advantage at half time, and a 24-20 lead at the third quarter.

"Hack" Wilson headed the attack with an even 10, to tie for top score with Tennille of the Betas. Rand also found the hoop for four double-pointers,

(Continued on last page)

GRAPPLERS SEEK WIN OVER DEVILS

Umstead May Be in Lineup as Tar Heels Close Season in Scrap with Duke There.

Carolina will be seeking its first Big Five victory when the Tar Heels clash with the Duke Blue Devils in Durham Saturday. Coach Quinlan's team will be engaging in its last dual test of the year.

In their first Big Five encounter, State drubbed Carolina to the tune of an 18-6 count. The losers were able to win but two matches, Umstead winning over Bell and Captain Efland over Furr on time decisions.

Umstead May Fight

Davidson nosed out the Tar Heels last Friday 16-14, but many Carolina supporters think that victory would have changed hands had Umstead been able to compete. Umstead will probably be ready to start against the Blue Devils.

Although the meet Saturday has no bearing at all on the state championship, Carolina will be out to close its season with a win over Duke. After a disastrous year in 1934, the Carolinians romped over the Durham aggregation 20-8 in the final tilt to take runner-up hon-

(Continued on last page)

Big Array Of Track Stars Meet In Jay-Cee Games In Charlotte

The South's best track athletes will assemble in the Armory at Charlotte next Monday night to turn out a J. C. of C. indoor meet which holds all indications of being a fast and furious one.

Schools from Maryland to Georgia and Louisiana have entered men. These entrants represent champions of world records to Southern Conference crown-bearers. Every race possesses invited stars of equal calibre, who will put on a real track show for the audience.

Torrance to Come

Jack Torrance is the most famous of the Jay-Cee entrants. Being a world record holder in the shot put, there is little doubt as to the fact that the L. S. U. man-mountain will win his event, but it is a question as to just how far he will toss the iron ball.

Harry Williamson and Earl Widmyer are the other leading stars for the Queen City carnival. Williamson is rated among the four best milers in the country and will head the Barrett Mile, feature event of the night. Widmyer, SIC indoor and outdoor dash champ, recently outran Metcalfe, world record holder, twice in one night, the only time it has ever been done.

Crack Mile Relay

Maryland also presents a crack one-mile relay team. The Terp batoners set a new record of 3:26.4 for the event in the N. Y. A. C. meet last Saturday; and this same quartet is entered in Charlotte.

The hurdles will feature Hawthorne and Abernethy of Carolina, Everett of Virginia, Slye of Maryland, and Schuhle of Washington and Lee.

Other stars to compete are Ed McRae, indoor SIC mile record-holder; Earl Frazier of Davidson, state mile and two mile champion; Dunaj of W. and L.; Bird and Morse of Duke; and Ed Waldrop of Carolina, outdoor SIC two mile champ.

PUT TAR HEELS ON "FLAMING 5"

Vote for the 1934 Carolinas' Flaming Five!

Vote for U. N. C. athletes!

The Charlotte Observer is sponsoring its fourth annual Flaming Five—a selection of the five outstanding athletes in the two Carolinas during 1934.

Last year both George Barclay and Virgil Weathers were on the final choice, the latter on the year before also.

Yesterday Barclay was in second place, just four votes behind Davidson's Mackorell. Stasavich and Wentz followed; and Coach Carl Snavely is tied next with James and Rex. Jim McCachren is close behind these leaders.

Other leading Tar Heels in the present voting are Weathers, Snooks Aitken, Harry Williamson, Jim Hutchins, Dave McCachren, Dick Buck, Jim Tatum, Charlie Shaffer, and Harry Montgomery.

Clip the following, fill out and send to the Sports Department, the Charlotte Observer, before Saturday midnight.

My choice for the 1934 Carolinas' Flaming Five is as follows:

(Name and College or Town)

1. .....

2. .....

3. .....

4. .....

5. .....

Signed .....

Address .....

Everyone fill out a ballot—and give the Tar Heel sport stars a break. Have all your friends fill out one, collect in one envelope, and mail to Charlotte immediately.

GRAIL DANCE
SATURDAY
Bynum Gym Feb. 23

Music by

JACK WARDLAW

And His Orchestra

Y.M.C.A. To Display Charts And Posters

The Y. M. C. A., which is playing an important part in organizing the programs for student-faculty day, has an interesting exhibit in the lobby of the "Y" building.

The exhibit consists of charts, a collection of handbooks from about 20 universities, and a number of Y. M. C. A. directories.

Some of the charts depict the development of the Christian movement, showing the growth in membership and property value of college Y. M. C. A.'s. There are posters framing excerpts from early issues of the Carolina Magazine on the founding of the University "Y" in 1860. Another poster explains that the University Y. M. C. A. is the third oldest in the country with the University of Virginia's "Y" first and Michigan's second.

One of the posters shows pictures of the Y. M. C. A. at Jerusalem, "The world's most interesting 'Y'."

Other charts relate to the history, work, and executives of the University Y. M. C. A.

Varsity Basketball

(Continued from page three)

gigantic battle.

It was a real contest of iron-men, only eleven men seeing action. For the second straight game Coach "Bo" Shepard used only the team of Captain Aitken, Nelson, Glace, McCachren, and Harris. Coach R. R. Sermon used his same five all the way, except for about a half minute when he took Captain Rex out for instructions.

Little can be said about the stars for the winners. The whole team clicked together like a machine at times and then slumped terribly on other occasions. Mel Nelson's 14 points, most of them being made on beautiful action baskets, led the scoring; Jim McCachren, although playing guard, also did some great shooting and tallied 13 markers.

It was McCachren that came through when Carolina was overtaking the Wolfpack and then Nelson's shooting that put Carolina so far ahead a couple of minutes later.

His team trailing 25-18, McCachren dribbled down the court and let loose a long hook for a score and Captain Aitken followed this with another long one. Lambeth tapped in a two-pointer but on a follow-up shot Glace was good, making the count 27-24.

Glace scored again on a beautiful action play with McCachren handling and passing the ball. Captain Rex got the last Wolfpack tally for several minutes on a free shot.

Deadlocked

Here the White Phantoms knotted things for the first time; McCachren let loose a long successful toss from the right sidelines. J. Mack also put his club ahead by dropping in a foul.

The Tar Heel attack continued with Nelson getting a one-hander, McCachren tallying a two-pointer on Aitken's sweet pass, and Nelson making good on two more action baskets.

Shots by Rex, Flythe, Aycock, and Lambeth featured State's closing threat.

In addition to the two Carolina high-scorers, Snooks Aitken played a magnificent floor-game. He was the star on defense and besides passed brilliantly on the Tar Heel attack. Harris also turned in another smooth performance, while the towering Glace came back after a slow first half to do fine work both on offense and defense.

Aycock, tall Wolfpack forward, was the outstanding man by far for the losers. He led the scoring of both teams for the night with his 15 points. Flythe, center, counted nine times, while Dalrymple's floor play featured the State defense.

Companions

Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter in "One More Spring," Fox Film's tender screen story of two souls whom life's turbulent tides could not divert from their romantic quest, now playing at the Carolina theatre.

Murals

(Continued from page three)

while Bower starred for the winners.

S. A. E. gained the play-offs for the fourth year in succession as it took Kappa Alpha by a four-point margin. The latter went into the lead, 4-2, at the first quarter, but a second period spurt sent the winners out ahead never to be overtaken. Andrews, S. A. E. forward, and Everett of the K. A.'s, with nine and eight points, respectively, led the scoring.

Swain Hall tied for the dormitory championship as it handed Ruffin a 10-point set-back, holding it to four scores from action while making nine itself. Thomas and Wright paced the winners with six points each.

The Dekes failed to receive the expected opposition from Phi Delta Theta and won out by a 27-12 margin. Willis, Moore, and Montgomery scored from all angles to pile up a heavy D. K. E. advantage, while Mosier and Tucker, with five apiece, did best for Phi Delt.

Lambda Chi Alpha made it seven wins against one loss as it trounced Theta Kappa Nu by a 32-8 total. Marshall, Lothian, Brooks, and Liebfried topped the scoring.

The summaries:

Phi K. S. (30)	Betas (24)
Sharp, f (4)	Rand, f (8)
Link, f (4)	Leak, f (2)
Love, c (6)	Dunn, c (4)
Wilson, g (10)	Tennille, g (10)
Bower, g (6)	Williams, g

S. A. E. (24)	Kappa Alpha (20)
Andrews, f (9)	Everett, f (8)
Brown, f (5)	Skinner, f (6)
Scott, c (4)	Wilson, c
Poe, g (3)	Shriver, g
Connor, g (3)	Seymour, g (6)

Swain Hall (19)	Ruffin (9)
Burton, f (3)	Merryfield, f
Thomas, f (6)	Pool, f (4)
Wright, c (6)	Petrea, c (4)
Allen, g	Hicks, g
Brown, g (2)	Ogelsby, g

Subs: Swain Hall—Cooke, Craven (2); Ruffin—Garrison, Oliver, Stricker (1).

D. K. E. (27)	Phi Delts (12)
Moore, f (8)	Hershey, f (2)
Montgomery, f (6)	Tucker (5)
Willis, c (11)	Mosier, c (5)
Patterson, g (2)	Rogers, g
Warren, g	Williams, g

L. C. A. (32)	Theta K. Nu (8)
Marshall, f (10)	Priestley, f (1)
Liebfried, f (6)	Schaper, f
Hill, c	MacPhee, c (4)
Lothian, g (6)	Falk, g (2)
Brooks, g (6)	Stauber, g (1)

Subs: Lambda Chi Alpha — Devito (2), Shore (2); Theta Kappa Nu—Buffey.

Gold Decision

Washington, Feb. 19.—(UP)—Observers tonight interpreted the Supreme Court's gold decision as imposing the present gold policy permanently on the nation. The only apparent alternative is to return to the old standard dollar. This is considered practically impossible.

The world has apparently turned to a policy of national currencies based on bullion reserve. Even France, still on the gold standard, is stopping the circulation of gold coins.

Meanwhile Roosevelt discussed legislation to clinch the administration's recent victory with Attorney-General Homer S. Cummings. No decision had been reached at a late hour.

Freshman Basketball

(Continued from page three)

amazed the gallery by scoring backwards over his head while standing on the foul line.

In annexing the state crown, the Tar Babies were forced to rally from an early deficit and then stave off a threatening final surge by Berry and his comrades. Trailing 6-2 in the early stages the frosh went wild with a parade of deadly shots and in the middle of the first half led 17-7.

Trail at Half Time

A relapse followed and the frosh found it impossible to keep pace with Berry's solo rampage and their desperate attempts failed to check State from taking the lead right before half time at 20-19.

The score went to 23-all after seven minutes of the last half and then Carolina stepped out to score nine points rapidly and take the lead at 32-23. Ruth scored three consecutive shots from underneath the hoop during this bevy of points.

With but three minutes to go and leading 36-27, the frosh found themselves in hot water as Berry tallied twice and Satterfield sank a long one. Ruth dropped in a foul for the last score of the game and Swan graciously missed two like tries. The gun barked on the completion of the second, making the final count 37-33.

This was the seventh straight victory for the Tar Babies and they now have 14 wins to one loss for their season's record. They close tomorrow night against Presbyterian Junior College.

Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: H. A. Goldberg, C. J. Sharp, A. C. Buccolo, C. H. Woodburn, Carl Anderson, J. E. Matthews, R. F. Blunt, and J. F. Blue.

Graduate Tea

Tea will be served this afternoon in the lounge of Smith building from 4 to 6 o'clock, it was announced by Delos D. Wickens, president of the Graduate Club.

All visitors, students, and faculty members are extended a cordial invitation to the tea.

Mrs. Frank P. Graham and Mrs. T. F. Graves will act as hostesses.

ISAAC W. PRITCHARD DIES

Last rites were conducted here yesterday afternoon for Isaac W. Pritchard, 82, prominent cotton manufacturer, farmer, and realtor, who died suddenly at his home here Sunday night from a heart attack.

The services were held in the University Methodist church at 3 o'clock, and interment was made in the Chapel Hill cemetery.

The large church auditorium was nearly filled, as hundreds of people including many University faculty members and administrative officers came to pay respects to one who had contributed in large measure to educational, civic, and religious enterprises in the community.

Co-ed Reception

The following co-eds will report to Graham Memorial today to serve for the student-faculty reception:

At 11:30 a. m.: Lois Byrd, Mary Kapps, Hazel Beacham, Betty Crock, Evelyn Jenkins, Bet Jones, Kitty Cline.

At 2:00 p. m.: Mary Pride Cruikshank, Joyce Killinsworth, Nancy Lawlor, Elsie Lawrence, Sara Seawell, Nancy Pike.

At 3:00 p. m.: Harriet Taylor, Ellen Murchison, Margaret McDonald, Elmina Hearne, Eleanor Barker, Tempe Newsom, Annie Smedes Vass.

At 4:00 p. m.: Betty Durham, Nancy Gordon, Julia Wood Skinner, Margaret Spencer, Louise Weyher, Tracy Scobee, Frances Caffey, Nan Norman.

PUBLICATIONS PHOTOS

Members of the business and editorial staffs of the following publications will meet at the specified time today for group pictures in the Yackety Yack office; Yackety Yack, 2 p. m.; Finjan, 2:15 p. m, and Carolina Magazine, 2:30 p. m.

Editor Joe Sugarman said yesterday that only members of the magazine staff who had contributed one story or article, one poem, or two book reviews would be eligible for the picture of the Carolina Magazine group.

HOUSE RECEIVES BILL FOR N. C. STATE STADIUM

Raleigh, Feb. 19.—(UP)—Representative Thompson of Wake introduced a bill in the house today to authorize the trustees of the Consolidated University to construct and finance an athletic stadium, presumably at State college, with other than general funds. The bill was referred to the finance committee.

The State Senate passed without a dissenting vote the House bill outlawing slot machines.

DR. KNIGHT WILL ATTEND ATLANTIC CITY MEETING

Edgar W. Knight, director of the University summer session, leaves Saturday for Atlantic City, N. J., to attend the winter meeting of the National Education Association, which begins Sunday.

Dr. Knight will give an address on the history of American Education during the past decade before the executive committee of the National Society of College Teachers of Education, of which he is a member.

He will also attend the meeting of the National Council of Education, to which he was elected last summer.

DESK STAFF MEETING

There will be an important meeting of all desk men and all city editors of the DAILY TAR HEEL staff tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, Editor Lonnie Dill announced yesterday. Attendance is required.

Photo Deadline

The deadline for junior and senior dance leaders' and all commencement marshals' pictures for the Yackety Yack is Friday. All pictures will be made in tuxedos and white ties. Wootten-Moulton will supply the white tie.

VISIT THE STUDENT-FACULTY DAY EXHIBITS

FROSH BOXERS

All freshmen boxers are to report at the Tin Can at 4 o'clock today. Boxing uniforms will be issued and photographs of the team will be taken.

Grapplers

(Continued from page three)

ors in the state championship race.

Duke has yet to win a contest this year. Opening the season against V. M. I., the Devils bowed to the Kaydets 26-5; Davidson turned back Coach Add Warren's charges 21-9, but against Washington and Lee the Dukesters showed their best form of the season, holding the greatly favored General contingent to a 19-11 count.

PEP on the AIR

Ruth ETTING and her melody

Red NICHOLS and his rhythm

Kellogg's

COLLEGE PROM

JOIN in the fun and frivolity. Songs. Syncopation. Thrills and laughs. The color of the college campus.

DARTMOUTH NIGHT

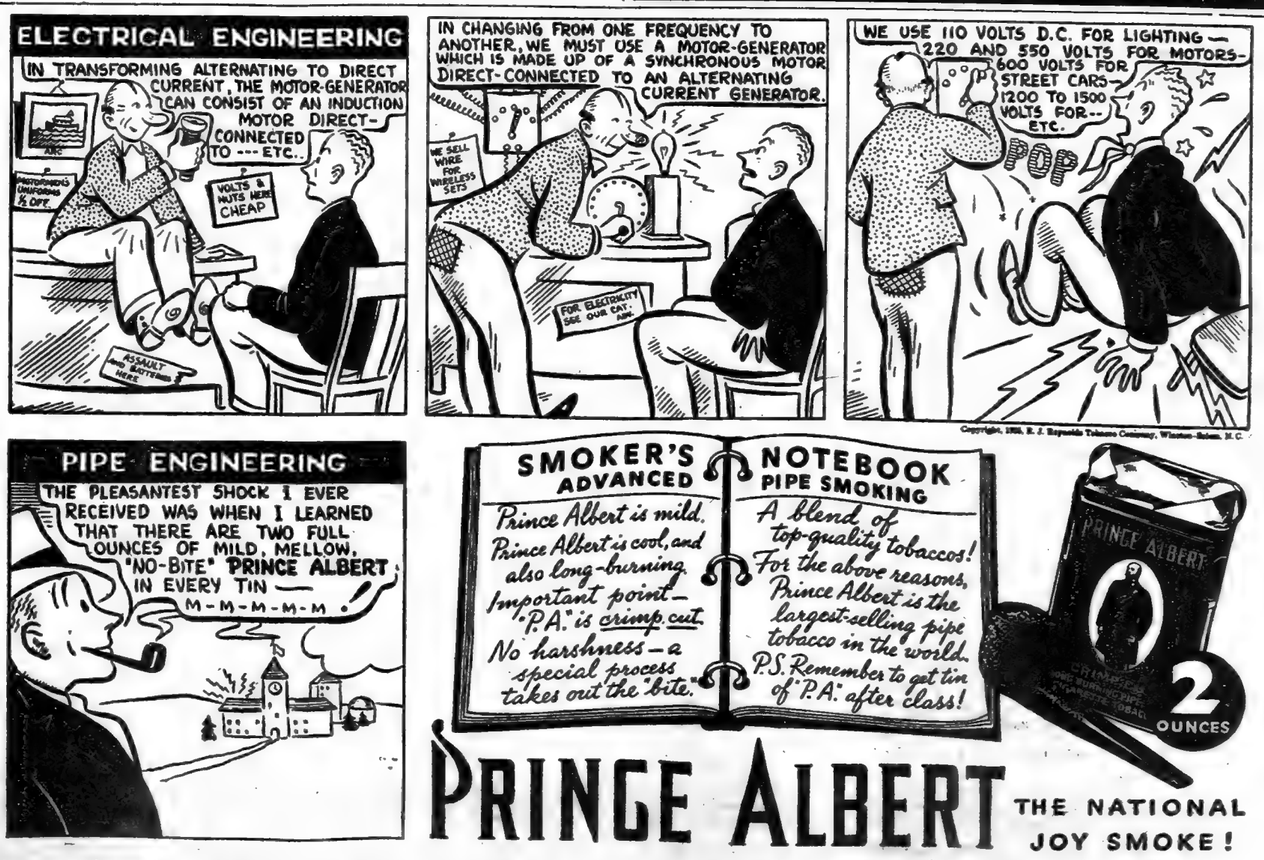
GUEST OF HONOR

JACK SHEA

(Olympic Skating Champion)

THURS., FEB. 21st

WMAL—7:45 P. M., E. S. T.



Tune in every week at the same time. N. B. C. Blue Network.

BERMAN'S

Anything You Need in a Department Store, We Have It. Articles as Cheap as a Nickel or Any Price You Desire. Come In and Visit Both Our Floors and Be Convinced.

BERMAN'S DEPT. STORE

CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

BASKETBALL GAMES
V. M. I. AND P. J. C.
TIN CAN—7:15

The Daily Tar Heel

FOREIGN POLICY LEAGUE
7:45 P. M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1935 | NUMBER 111

CHINESE STUDENT SPEAKS TONIGHT TO POLICY GROUP

Tsu-Yuan Koo, Graduate Here, Will Voice His Views on Sino-Japanese Quarrel.

LEAGUE TO MEET AT 7:45

An informal address by Tsu-Yuan Koo, graduate student at Carolina from Pai Shih Chiao, China, will be the feature at the meeting of the Foreign Policy League tonight at 7:45 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

The Chinese was graduated from Soochow University, China, in 1923, and had been working for the Chinese government in various sections of his country until recently.

Studies Engineering

The Nanking government sent Koo, with a Rockefeller Foundation scholarship, to study sanitary engineering at the University.

Koo will discuss the Sino-Japanese situation from the Chinese viewpoint with emphasis on: the economic dependency of China and Japan; reasons for Japanese expansion; the attitude of the Chinese people toward the Nanking government; the hope for Chinese freedom in Manchuria; further resistance to Japan.

The meeting, which will be very informal, is a continuation of the seminar on the Far East which was inaugurated by the League two weeks ago. All interested in the subject are invited to be present.

World News Bulletins

Washington, Feb. 20.—(UP) Roosevelt today asked Congress to extend the National Industrial Recovery Act two years more, protecting employee bargaining rights and eliminating jail sentences for violators.

Representative Schuyler Bland, Democrat, Virginia, introduced 11 bills designed to safeguard lives aboard ships by entailing drastic inspections of ships and officers.

Huey Long continued his attack on Farley, charging that the postmaster general had solicited political contributions.

Madrid, Spain, Feb. 20.—(UP)—Madrid is tonight in the grip of one of the worst influenza epidemics since the World War, with thousands ill, hundreds dying.

Washington, Feb. 20.—(UP)—Influenza cases reported by the United States Public Health Service for the week ending January 26, latest public statistics, showed the figure to be four times as great as during the same period last year.

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 20.—(UP)—Ex-President of the United States Herbert Hoover tonight commented on the Supreme Court gold decision, demanding a re-establishment of the gold standard in the United States in order to "restore confidence in our currency."

FROSH EXECUTIVES

Freshman Class President Clyde Mullis issued last night a notice for a call meeting of his executive committee to be held in room 214 of Graham Memorial at 10 o'clock this evening.

Photos Today

Both business and editorial staff members of the following publications will meet in the Yackety Yack office this afternoon to have group pictures made for the annual: Yackety Yack members at 2 o'clock; Finjan members at 2:15; and Carolina Magazine members at 2:30 o'clock.

The pictures were scheduled to be made yesterday but had to be postponed because of student-faculty day.

Editor Joe Sugarman has announced that only members who have contributed at least either one story or article, one poem or two book reviews during the year are eligible to be in the Magazine picture.

O'Hara To Teach Watercolor Art Here Next Month

Painter to Stay Three Weeks Under Auspices of Southern Art Projects.

Eliot O'Hara, who, under the auspices of the Southern Art Projects, will give a three weeks' course in watercoloring here in March, is expected to be in Chapel Hill today to confer with Russell M. Grumman, who is in charge of making arrangements for the course.

O'Hara, who was head of an enamel factory until 1928, when he secured a Guggenheim Fellowship and went to Europe for two and a half years of painting, will exhibit 30 of his own watercolors here during the period that he will spend teaching.

The watercoloring course which O'Hara will give will be one of the events on the North Carolina program of the Southern Art Projects, which has already brought to Chapel Hill an exhibition of oil paintings, one of etchings, and a lecture on architecture by Dean Everett Meeks of Yale University.

ANNUAL FESTIVAL SCHEDULED HERE FOR APRIL 25-28

Committee Prepares Tentative Program for Third Annual Dogwood Celebration.

GRUMMAN AGAIN DIRECTOR

April 25, 26, 27, 28 were set as dates and a tentative program was arranged for the third annual Dogwood Festival at a committee meeting here this week.

Russell M. Grumman, director of the University extension division, is to serve as president of the festival again this year, and Dr. Arthur P. Hudson is to serve as program chairman.

The program this year is to include exhibits featuring the arts and crafts of youth, CCC camps, and Veterans' hospitals, to be displayed in Graham Memorial and Hill Music hall; special art exhibits secured through the aid of the Southern Art Projects, to be displayed in Hill Music hall and the University library; and demonstrations in arts and crafts, to be held all day April 26 and 27, in Graham Memorial.

Boy Scout Jubilee

A Boy Scout Jubilee in recognition of the 25th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America will be held in conjunction with the Dogwood Festival and will bring to Chapel Hill more than 1,000 scouts from all over the state.

A convention of the Rock Garden Society of North Carolina and the annual meeting of the state division of the American Association of University Women are also to be held in conjunction with the festival.

National, state, and local council scout executives are to direct the scouts as they engage in numerous activities culminating in a mass program in Kenan stadium Saturday evening. Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, President Frank P. Graham, and National Chief Scout Executive James E. West are to deliver addresses.

Exhibits Depict Carolina's History

Through exhibits consisting of charts, diagrams, demonstrations, and lectures, the 142 years' history of the oldest state university in America was told in a different way here today for the benefit of faculty, students, alumni, parents, and other friends of the University of North Carolina.

The displays made such a tremendously fine impression that University officials decided to hold the exhibits open tomorrow and Saturday, that people throughout the state may view them. Requests for time extension began to pour in last night.

Alumni Association

The alumni association had a big exhibit showing the service it renders its 17,135 living alumni, 12,000 of whom are in the state. The Alumni Loyalty Fund, showing private benefactions, pointed out all campus buildings prior to 1905 were private gifts. Last year private donations were 40 per cent of what the state appropriations were.

Numerous athletic trophies and photos of classes, teams, and other groups in Graham Memorial recalled the old days.

The dean of students' office depicted the welfare program; Koch's Playmakers showed stage models, scenery, programs and the like; the school of commerce displayed charts and graphs showing trends and cycles; the University Press, which is to bring out 40 volumes this year, displayed its favorites; the school of library science showed how book cataloging, selection, and reference are done most efficiently; the University news bureau displayed types of stories the papers are apt to print; and the freshman English department showed clever cartoons depicting spliced comas, pronouns looking for their antecedants, and coma shooters.

Library

The exhibit for the entire English department, a most impressive display, was shown in the library along with that institution's layout. Rare volumes, bindings, and prints dating back many centuries were presented here.

The science departments held exhibits in their own buildings. The medical school showed specimens of hearts, livers, and tumors; psychology showed the action of white mice and gave tests for reactions and color-

(Continued on page two)

ENGINEERS STAGE DANCE TOMORROW

Public May Buy Bids Today in Phillips Hall for $1.50

Bids for the engineers' ball, which will be held tomorrow night, will go on sale this morning to the student body at $1.50 each.

Bids will be sold in the senior civil, electrical, and mechanical engineering rooms in Phillips hall.

Jack Wardlaw and his Carolina Pines orchestra will furnish the rhythm. Wardlaw's band originated at the University in 1927 and has since toured Europe and eastern America, playing at resorts, schools, colleges and clubs.

The band has been "on the air" consistently since last summer when it broadcast over the Columbia network from the Steel Pier in Atlantic City. At present the orchestra is playing out from the Hotel Patrick Henry in Roanoke, Va., on a schedule which includes various engagements throughout the south during February.

GRAIL WILL GIVE DANCE SATURDAY

Jack Wardlaw Will Furnish Music; Freshmen to Be Admitted to Affair.

The Order of the Grail will sponsor its third dance of the winter quarter Saturday night in Bynum gymnasium from 9 until 12 o'clock. Jack Wardlaw and his orchestra have been engaged to furnish the music.

According to Simmons Patterson, treasurer of the Grail. freshmen will be admitted to the dance.

Famous Band

Jack Wardlaw and his band are better known in the north than in this section of the country. He was featured at the Steel Pier at Atlantic City last summer, and since then has been playing in and around Roanoke, Va.

Tickets are priced at $1.00. They are now on sale at Pritchard-Lloyd's and will be on sale at the door.

Singers

Featured in the Wardlaw orchestra are the voices of Lucile Gregory, Bob Bland, and Roland McKellar. McKellar, sparkling tenor, was given a rating of 100 per cent by the Columbia audition when he sang over their network last summer.

Miss Gregory is one of the outstanding singers appearing with a southern orchestra and Bland has become famous for his "Scat" choruses.

Workers Convicted Of Dynamiting Mill Speak Here Tonight

Rev. Binkley Will Preside over Meeting in Gerrard Hall.

Four men convicted of dynamiting the E. M. Holt plaid mills in Burlington during the textile strike last September, will appear tonight in Gerrard hall at 8 o'clock to speak at a meeting which will be presided over by the Reverend O. T. Binkley, pastor of the Baptist church.

The prisoners are now out on bail pending an appeal which is being sponsored by interested parties.

Last Sunday the Reverend James Weaver of Burlington spoke in the Methodist church here in defense of the men.

Professors And Student Body Celebrate University Holiday With Gala Festivity Program

STAFF MEETS TODAY

There will be a meeting of all city editors and desk men of the DAILY TAR HEEL staff this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Graham Memorial. Failure to attend this meeting will mean suspension from the staff.

BRADSHAW LEADS NATIONAL FORUM

Dean of Students Now at Conference in Atlantic City.

Dean of Students Francis F. Bradshaw left Tuesday for Atlantic City where he will preside over two sessions of the annual meeting of the American Council of Guidance and Personal Associations on the program of which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is included in the list of speakers.

Among others on the program are Arthur E. Morgan of the Tennessee Valley Authority, Commissioner of Education Studebaker, and Dr. M. R. Trabue, now on leave of absence from the University department of education.

Dr Trabue will describe research in occupational classification now being conducted by him in the United States public employment service in co-operation with the department of labor.

Educational needs, mental hygiene problems, occupational difficulties of students in schools and colleges will be discussed at the sessions.

Membership of the council includes deans, personnel officers, guidance workers, and other administrative officers from secondary schools, colleges, universities, and industries all over the country.

Marshals And Ball Leaders To Be Photographed

Dance Leaders to Have Pictures Taken by Tomorrow.

Junior and senior dance leaders and commencement marshals have until tomorrow afternoon to have their pictures made at Wootten-Moulton's for the Yackety Yack. Tuxedos and white ties are required.

The following men are included in the list: Ernie Eutsler, Harry Montgomery, Johnny Bost, Claude Rankin, Bob Page, Charlie Edwards, Frank Rogers, Ben Willis, Hugh Primrose.

James Keel, Jack Clare, Frank Willingham, Henry Valk, Trip Rand, Charles Ivey, Jack Pool, Malcolm Bell, Frank Abernethy, Colin Stokes, Scott Blanton, John Hoggard, and Luther Cromartie.

Any others who have served as dance leaders during the year and have not had their pictures made are urged to attend to the matter immediately.

SENIOR EXECUTIVES

The executive committee of the senior class will meet at 7 o'clock tonight in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A., it was announced yesterday by Jack Pool, president.

Class finances and especially the class gift, will be the topics for discussion. Plans will also be made for Senior Week which has been tentatively scheduled for the second week in May.

MORNING MEETING STARTS OFF DAY

K. D. Battle and President Graham Speak; Stunts, Skits, Music Close Exposition.

SNAVELY EXHIBITS SQUAD

Classes were forgotten yesterday as University professors joined with their pupils to celebrate the first student-faculty day in the history of the institution.

The holiday festivities opened in the morning with a general convocation, at which President Frank Porter Graham and Kemp D. Battle spoke.

Battle Wants Courage

Taking "Eels" as his subject, Battle, speaking for the University alumni, told how the slimy sea creatures exhibited bravery and courage, qualities needed today by human beings.

Discussing the University itself, Battle stated that the institution was "the fruit of one of the great dares of the human spirit."

The speaker called upon students to display faith and courage. "To one who views the world today with a discerning eye, there has never been presented perhaps a spectacle of such catastrophic dangers and magnificent possibilities," he declared.

Graham Makes Talk

President Graham spoke welcoming the parents, students, faculty, and former scholars of the institution.

Dr. Graham declared that the students and faculty possessed a common heritage—traditions of struggle, honor, and freedom.

Virgil Weathers spoke in behalf of the student body, and J .D. Winslow presided at the session.

Afternoon Program

A football game staged by Coach Carl Snavely's winter gridders was presented in the afternoon, and was followed by open house at the fraternity homes and the South Carolina basketball game at night in the Tin Can.

The holiday was closed with a gala stunt program in Memorial hall, featuring Dean of Administration House, who played the mouth organ, and Freddy Johnson's orchestra.

Take-offs, dances, skits, songs, impersonations, and other surprises were presented by faculty, students, and visitors.

At lunch every instructor and professor was entertained by a student or a group of students.

Throughout the day almost all the University departments exhibited the work of their administrative sections.

Seawell Talks Today

A. A. F. Seawell, state attorney-general, will address the Chapel Hill P. T. A. this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the auditorium of the local high school building.

Professor Harold D. Meyer of the University sociology department and Mrs. U. T. Holmes are also scheduled to make addresses.

Demonstrations will be presented by the Boy Scouts and the third grade. The girls' Hi-Y club will conduct a nursery for the young children so that all parents may attend the session.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
George Underwood ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: DON McKEE

Thursday, February 21, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

Yesterday's cordial theme song seems to have been: "You're the Prof."

Now the New Deal is planning to build 547 new airplanes. It looks like the administration is going up in the air.

"Grapplers Seek Win Over Devils." Sounds like a step toward cleaning up athletics.

We Are The Melody

The song is ended, but the melody lingers on.

Student-faculty day is over, but the spirit which it represented and in which it was animated is with the students and the faculty and will, we believe, remain.

The first annual affair was a success in every respect. We believe that all concerned enjoyed the relationships which sprang up on the campus, profited by the exhibits representing the University more graphically than we have ever had occasion to witness, and appreciated each other all the more in the atmosphere of traditional Chapel Hill friendliness.

For their efforts and successful planning which led to the exhibits of departmental functions, for their co-operation and sponsorship, for their spirit of whole-hearted concern in the success of the day, the faculty and the University administration are to be sincerely thanked. And to those student leaders who were responsible for the origin, stimulation, and development of student-faculty day, we tender warm appreciation.

The spirit with which everyone took student-faculty day was rivaled only by the spirit in which the sponsors and administrators labored for its success. We believe we can rest assured that it will become an annual affair, looked forward to and regarded as another binding Carolina tradition. We believe that a mutual understanding, a more comprehending relationship, has arisen from the affair, which will pervade in all University endeavors, both in the classroom and out, for the years to come.

To the alumni, friends, and parents who were the University's visitors yesterday, we know student-faculty day has been successful. Culminating what we hope is a closing period of hectic history in University annals, which served for the good only in that it drew the bonds of the departments and the faculty and the students more closely together, student-faculty day marked what we would like to term a "renaissance of campus optimism" with regard to the future. Any legislator who would have attended yesterday's presentations would surely have felt the spirit of forward-reaching unanimity, of educational brotherhood, with which Chapel Hill was drawn together.

We believe one outstanding result of student-faculty day was the removal of faculty skepticism regarding the utility of mingling with their pupils and of student skepticism regarding the advisability of mingling with their teachers. The benefit derived from viewing the University's progress is without question important, but the essential lesson that we learned was that student-faculty co-operation is feasible, desirable, delightful, and, we hope, more of a reality here.

Again, to those students and faculty members who worked so thoroughly, we give our thanks.

Our Help to The Strikers

Unfortunately, the students cannot help those Burlington strikers who were convicted of dynamiting the E. M. Holt Plaid Mills and who will address a gathering in Gerrard hall tonight. The students, we are sorry to say, have neither the money nor the community influence to aid them to get an appeal that may be fully justified.

In view of this, and the prejudice that already exists against the University, it is an imprudent move to call such a meeting. That prejudice has grown out of the same feeble, misdirected, and ostentatious efforts that characterize such strivings toward social justice as this.

Not to jeopardize the interests of both strikers and University, it would be better to let those who are able to negotiate for appeal quietly continue their work.

Calling this meeting is like raising a hue and cry because we contribute a widow's mite. It is not a sign of any generosity in spirit that can be helpful in practice.

Ethiopians in Duce's Woodpile

Mussolini announced before the fascist grand council that Italian troops "must be ready for any eventuality," and that the first contingent of soldiers have already sailed for the "African front."

It will be remembered that 10,000 Italians were slaughtered by the Ethiopians the last time Italy tried to invade the hinterland. In order to protect his interests, Mussolini's troops will have to cross fever-ridden jungle lowlands. Should a war break out, Il Duce will have on his side a preponderance of military equipment and modern scientific methods of fighting, but Abyssinia will have the advantages of a larger immediately available man power and a greater facility of movement.

For centuries, the Ethopians have been successful in repelling foreign invaders, especially the Italians, and the present ruler has, so far, refused any concessions to Mussolini and it is unlikely that he will alter his stand.

The situation offers a serious threat to a disturbance of world affairs. In 1906 there was made an agreement between Great Britain, France, and Italy that the territory of Ethiopia will be maintained intact, so far as possible. Italy should be judicious in not going far enough, in efforts to punish Abyssinia for attacks on Italian troops on the Eritrea border, to bring formal protests from the British or French.

Slot Machines

Gambling slot machines in this state have been outlawed by the passage of a law by the General Assembly making illegal their possession and manufacture.

At worst slot machines are no very great destroyers of public morals, and their importance fades beside other needs. So why waste time?

Let's Play Politician

Ah! the time is coming when we shall be free from all our back-slapping, baby-kissing, cigar-distributing, rotund belly, bellowing politicians.

The next phase in the evolution of these blowhards may parallel the model after the insane asylum plan; in an insane asylum they allow their inmates to play Napoleons if they are under the impression that they are Napoleons. Analogous to the Napoleon picture, is the picture of some of our present day politicians and the future shadow of our tomorrow politicians; they will be given rooms in which they can play politicians—yell their heads off at their sleeping committee fellows and then vote that something vital must be done about the trivial problem. Their momentous decision once reached, they will naturally proceed to do nothing all over again.

If the politician passes out of the picture entirely he may be sure of an effigy. By the way, the definition of an effigy is "a stuffed figure made to represent some obnoxious person."

The principal problems and procedures will shift to scholars of governmental management.

These inferences of the future may be entirely incorrect for they were based upon a sole observation of two committee meetings at Raleigh. In one meeting the discussion centered around a very insignificant matter. Heated arguments were raised, nothing was accomplished except a mass production of noise—politicians. The other meeting which was called for the purpose of outlining the taxation problem was conducted on a sane basis. A detailed report was given by a Ph.D. in economics. The committee members taken as a whole seemed to have some conception of what they were in the midst of discussing. They took the course of the meeting calmly and intelligently.

The two committe meetings presented such a sharp contrast that it was obvious that government responsibility was falling from the soft shoulders of the politicians to the square shoulders of government experts. We have all reason to believe that this is a national and international move and not just a local fad.

KOCH TO ADDRESS EDUCATION GROUP

Playmaker Director Will Speak In Washington This Week.

Professor Frederick H. Koch, Kenan professor of dramatic literature at the University, will speak this week at the national conference of the Progressive Education Association, now in session in Washington, D. C.

Koch will address the group on "The Theatre as the Integrator of the Arts," tomorrow afternoon. He will illustrate his lecture with stereopticon slides made from past productions of the Carolina Playmakers.

Koch is one of the three speakers set to address the conference tomorrow afternoon. The session will continue through Saturday, meeting in the theatre of the Wardman Park Hotel in the nation's capital.

Lamar Stringfield of the North Carolina Symphony orchestra will also speak to the conference on "Folk Culture and American Music."

Graduates Will Direct New Plays Next Week

Under the general supervision of Technical Director Samuel Selden, the new bill of Carolina plays is rapidly rounding into shape for the coming production set for February 28, March 1 and 2.

Graduate Students Alton Williams, Douglas Hume, and Ella Mae Daniel are directing the original plays which make up the bill, "Cottie Mourns," "Ancient Heritage," and "Yours and Mine," respectively.

Authors to Act

Authors of the plays, Patsy McMullan of "Cottie Mourns," Philip Parker of "Ancient Heritage," and Ella Mae Daniel of "Yours and Mine," are taking active parts in producing their masterpieces.

Miss McMullan, native of Washington, D. C., will play the lead, Cottie, in her drama of the sea-folk of Okracoke Island.

Parker's Drama

Parker's play concerns his native New England and he himself will play Ed Kendall in the Playmakers production. He first appeared here as a Playmaker last fall in the role of Dr. Call in the production of "R. U. R." Last month he again marked himself as an outstanding actor when he interpreted the role of George Brent in the production of Noel Coward's "The Young Idea."

Miss Daniel is a graduate student and will direct her own original drama, "Yours and Mine," on the coming bill. Her play deals with domestic troubles. "Yours and Mine" is her fifth one-act play.

The three dramas which will be produced on the coming bill were chosen from a large number of plays written this year in the playwriting course. All of them have been produced experimentally by the Playmakers and final casts for the public production were recently announced.

A. S. C. E. MEETS TONIGHT

The William Cain chapter of the A. S. C. E. will meet at 7:15 o'clock tonight in 319 Phillips hall.

Jack Pruden will give an illustrated lecture on the Holland Tunnel.

Athletic Co-eds

The Misses Elsie Lawrence and Evelyn Barker have been elected delegates to the annual conference of the southeastern district of the Athletic Federation of College Women. The conference will be held March 21, 22, 23, at W. C. U. N. C. in Greensboro.

S.A.E. and Dekes Have Play-Off Game Today

This afternoon at 5:30 o'clock the basketball teams of S. A. E. and D. K. E. will clash in the first of the fraternity league play-offs in the intramural basketball competition.

Both teams have come through with eight straight victories against some of the toughest competition offered by the league. S. A. E. has a record of 266 points for and 84 against, while the Dekes have 250 for and 105 against. Both also gained play-offs last year.

PRESS RELEASES STUDY ON BYRON

W. C. Calvert Writes Book on Famous Author.

W. C. Calvert's new book, "Byron, Romantic Paradox," has just been released by the University Press.

The study of Lord Byron is said to be distinctive in that the author rules out at the start, as irrelevant to his main purpose, that "obsession of criticism of Byron during the last decade, the problem of Astarte."

He sets himself to analyze Byron's life work. The author examines Byron as an artist and self-critic who knew what he was doing and why.

Exhibits

(Continued from page one)

blindness; pharmacy hall had a huge drug display; models and dissections were in the zoology department; living and mounted plants featured the botany display, including the fine herberium; the physics department and the various departments of the school of engineering gave practical demonstrations all day. In Venable hall other practical demonstrations in chemistry were in progress.

The language department, business office, sociology department, department of journalism, educational department, department of grounds and buildings, Y. M. C. A., law school, extension division, and infirmary were among others having exhibits.

LIBRARY DISPLAYS NEW COLLECTION

Valuable Bookplates Exhibited in Cases in Lobby; Many Works of Historical Interest.

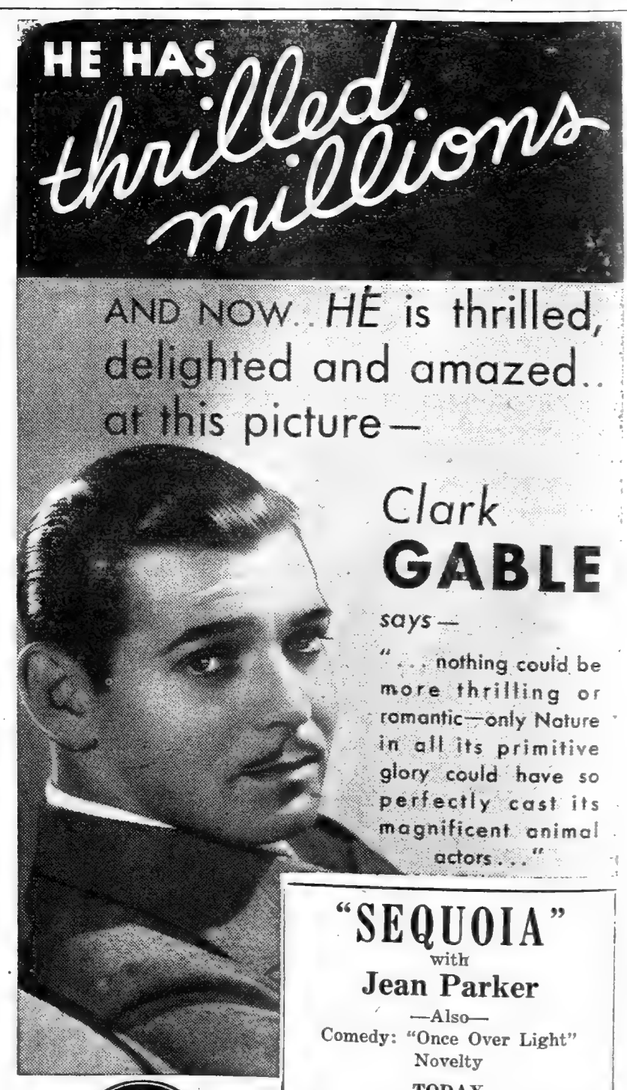
Now on display in the library exhibition cases is a collection of bookplates, arranged by the members of the school of library science under the direction of Dr. S. N. Akers, Miss Nora Beust, and Mr. J. L. Greenway.

The collection of bookplates was lent to the library through the courtesy of Mrs. George F. Stone of Hartford, Conn. One display is devoted to the work of J. Winfred Spenceley, another to that of Edwin D. French, and the third is given over to various plates of historical interest.

Outstanding Plates

J. Winfréd Spenceley, an engraver of the latter part of the last century, produced about 160 bookplates. Of his outstanding plates, two are included in this collection—one belonging to Ohio State University and the other belonging to Harvard University.

Another engraver of this same period, Edwin Davis French's famous bookplate of Sherwood Forest is on display.



Charles Dickens' bookplate with his coat of arms is to be found along with the plate of King William IV and that of his brother, the Duke of Sussex.

Very much prized by the collectors are the engravings of early libraries by Amos Doolittle, three of which are on exhibition.

The bookplate of Dr. Frederick M. Hanes, class of 1904, is on exhibit in this case and also on display are the University library's group of bookplates and a few plates used by faculty members of the University.

INFIRMARY

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: C. J. Sharp, C. H. Woodburn, Carl Anderson, J. L. Matthews, W. M. Fletcher, R. F. Blount, Norman Roth, J. P. Jenrette, and Ralph Gardner.

Phantom Machine Clicks In Great Style And Licks Gamecock Cagers, 42-17

Tar Heels Far Superior Throughout; Margin At Half Is 26-9

Carolina will conclude its regular basketball season tonight in the Tin Can by taking on the VMI basketeers immediately following the Tar Baby-PJC tilt.

North Carolina's White Phantoms worked with smooth, machine-like precision in the Tin Can last night and scored almost at will as a result of a near-perfect floor attack, to snow under South Carolina's Gamecocks by the tune of 42-17.

The Tar Heels had things their own way from the starting whistle to the finishing gun, with a withering offense and a near impregnable defense. From an early 5-0 lead, the Shepards went on at a rapid pace. They were ahead 26-9 at half-time.

Excellent Playing

The passing, dribbling, shooting, and guarding were superb, of true champion calibre. Never did the Gamecocks seriously dint the Tar Heel advantage. The last 10 minutes of play the boys from down there failed to score a single field goal.

Mel Nelson topped the Tar Heel scoring with 17 points, 12 from action. Jim McCachren and Snooks Aitken were the sparkplugs of the floor game, with Jim Mack particularly deadly on long shots. Jason Glace and Bucky Harris also turned in heads-up games.

Captain Dana Henderson was the outstanding man of the losers. He tallied 10 points, but was nearly completely bottled up by the scrapping of Aitken, Glace, and McCachren. He had to leave the game mid-way in the second half because of excessive fouls.

Box Score

NORTH CAR:	FG	F	T
Aitken, f	1	1	3
Nelson, f	6	5	17
Blood, f	1	0	2
Glace, c	2	3	7
McCachren, g	4	1	9
Harris, g	0	0	0
Kaveny, g	2	0	4
Totals	16	10	42

SOUTH CAR:	FG	F	T
Henderson, f	3	4	10
Laurie, f	0	0	0
James, f	1	1	3
Craig, c	1	0	2
Gooding, g	1	0	2
Rowland, g	0	0	0
Totals	6	5	17

Score at half: North Carolina: 26; South Carolina: 9. Non-scoring subs: North Carolina: Ramsey, f; Webster, c; Minor, g. South Carolina: Taylor, G., c; Fennel, c; Skidmore, c; Taylor, W., g. Officials: Proctor (Richmond Y.); Hendrickson (Duke).

Frosh "5" Ends Season

The high-riding yearling quintet closes a highly successful season tonight, engaging the Presbyterian Junior five at the Tin Can directly before the varsity clash with the V. M. I. Kaydets. The game starts at 7:15 o'clock.

GRAPPLERS END YEAR SATURDAY

Many Fine Individual Bouts Expected When Carolina and Duke Finish Dual Season.

There will be several outstanding individual matches when the Carolina wrestlers meet Duke in Durham Saturday. Both teams will be fighting their final dual engagements of the 1935 season before entering the Southern Conference tournament at Lexington next Friday.

Undoubtedly the feature bout will be between Umstead of Carolina and Stevenson of the Blue Devils in the 118-pound class. Both men are undefeated this year.

The 145-pound division will bring together for the first time Gholsen and Ardelino of the Durham aggregation. Ardelino two weeks ago defeated his Washington and Lee opponent in the fall route. Gholsen in five matches this season has scored three victories and two defeats.

Carolina will be seeking its third consecutive victory over Coach Warren's charges. Last year the Tar Heels took their rivals into camp 20-8.

Mural Play-off

PLAY-OFF

5:30—S. A. E. vs. D. K. E.

OTHER GAMES

1:30—(1) A. T. O. vs. T. E. P., (2) Theta Kappa Nu vs. Sigma Chi, (3) Old West vs. Everett.

5:30—(1) Delta Tau Delta vs. Chi Phi, (2) Z. B. T. vs. Sigma Nu.

CAROLINA PUTS 14 BOYS IN JAY-CEE TRACK ENCOUNTER

Williamson, Higby, Drake, Gammon, and McRae Will Take Part in AAU Games.

Fourteen Carolina track men will compete in the first annual Jay-Cee indoor games in Charlotte, this Monday night. Five men will make the week-end trek to New York City and the national indoor championships of the A. A. U.

The A. A. U. runners will leave today and spend tonight at the University of Maryland. Williamson leaves tomorrow night.

The batoners are entered in the 2900-meter medley relay; Drake will take the first leg, 400-meters; Higby, 200; Gammon, third, 800; and McRae in anchor, 1500.

The men to make the trip to the Queen City in their events are as follows: Hubbard, 50-yard dash; Hawthorne, 50-yard high hurdles; Gardiner, 880; Gabori and Gammon, 1000; Williamson and McRae, the Barrett Mile; Waldrop, two-mile; Parker, high jump; Evins, shot put; Bear, pole vault, and Rosser, Montgomery, Drake and either Gardiner, Gammon, Williamson, or McRae, in the mile relay.

Roosevelt seeks ways to obtain cheaper power. Our guess is that the embarrassed G.O.P. would like to know, too. — Dallas Morning News.

Rookie 'Whites' Get 6-0 Victory Over 'Blues' In Winter Grid Tilt

Art Ditt Makes Score On 7-Yard Plunge; Cooner Shines

Scoring on the first play of the fourth quarter, the rookie "Whites" got their first victory of the winter football practice, downing the veteran "Blues" 6-0 here yesterday afternoon.

The "Whites," made up mostly of freshmen and reserves, held the upper hand throughout the hard, well-played battle, threatening to score several times before finally getting across the goal line. The winners led in first downs, 8-5.

Art Ditt, yearling fullback, crashed through a hole at right guard for seven yards to put the lone touchdown over. The "Whites" put the ball in scoring position during the third period on a drive which started from the "Blues" 30-yard line.

Cooner and Ditt

Randy Cooner, halfback, punted and his club recovered on the 30 when Don Jackson fumbled. Cooner dashed around end for seven and Ditt went three more for a first on the 20. Five more yards were picked up by Cooner on a lateral and Ditt again tore his way through the line for a first to the ten.

Cooner and Wally Dunham could get but three yards in three tries as the quarter ended. Then Ditt shot through for the tally.

Besides Ditt's drives, Cooner was the spearhead of the "Whites." The blond triple-threater did everything well, picking up much ground from scrimmage besides making several brilliant run-backs of punts.

The improved punting featured the game, Cooner, Jackson, Captain Montgomery, Burnett, and Little all kicking nicely.

Jackson also threw some excellent passes while Montgomery got off several good runs and Jim Hutchins some plunges for the "Blues."

In the line Acting-Captain Pendergraft, guard; Bershak, end, and Keeney, tackle, were best for the winners. Moore, end; Evins, tackle; Daniel, center, and Captain Snyder, backing up the forward wall, stood out for the "Blues'" defense.

Lineups

BLUES	Pos.	WHITES
Buck	l.e.	Beard
Wrenn	l.t.	Wolf
McIver	l.g.	Pendergraft (C)
Daniel	c.	Avery
Joyce	r.g.	Palmer
Evins	r.t.	Bartos
McCarn	r.e.	Bershak
Snyder (C)	b.b.	Walborn
Jackson	l.h.	Cooner
Montgomery (C)	r.h.	Dunham
Hutchins	f.b.	Ditt

Scoring touchdown: Ditt (line plunge).

Blues	0	0	0	0—0
Whites	0	0	0	6—6

Substitutes: Blues—Juliper, t; Yeager, bb; Kanner, c; Webb, g; Moore, e; Dashiell, lh; Burnett, fb; Mizell, t; Ax, g; Coughenour, rh. Whites—Keeney, t; Sniscak, bb; Bricklemyer, hb; Dixon, g; Israel, c; Moffitt, t; Little, hb; Robinson, e.

TAR HEELS LEAVE FOR VA. IN QUEST OF BOXING TITLE

Sam Giddins Will Lead Ringsters; Carolina Depends on Sophs to Get Crown.

Coach Rowe will entrain for Charlottesville, Va., this morning with one of the best boxing teams to represent Carolina in recent years. The mittmen stand more than an even chance of annexing the Southern Conference crown.

The team is captained by Sam Giddins, middle-weight, who is competing in his third Conference meet. The middle-weight class will have one less man contesting for the crown since Fabri of State has withdrawn from the tournament.

The team boasts of three undefeated sophomores, who will most likely be carrying the brunt of the attack. These men are Joe Fisher, welterweight; Jule Medynski, junior middleweight, and Maxie Novich, light heavyweight. Marion Diehl, also a sophomore, will be expected to be in the thick of things in view of his victory earlier this year over Southern Conference Champion Hahn.

The other men to carry Carolina's colors into the squared circle are Ernie Eutsler, featherweight; Johnnie Edwards, scrappy 135-pounder, and Murray Kanner, rangy heavyweight. Of this group, Eutsler is the only veteran.

ORDERED SOLD!!

AT

PUBLIC LIQUIDATION

Stetson 'D' Shop FOR MEN

COMMENCING THURSDAY, FEB. 21, 9 a.m.

Established about Fourteen Years. No Introduction Necessary to College Men. Your Opportunity to Attend the Most Sensational Selling Event in the History of Chapel Hill. The Entire and Complete Stocks of High Grade Merchandise from which to make Your Selections. . . . . .

Everything Must Be Sold To The Bare Walls !!

Select From the Following Merchandise on Hand

Stetson 'D' Clothing - Nunn Bush Shoes - Ide and Arrow Shirts - Varsity Underwear - Berg and Society Club Hats - Hickok and Swank Jewelry, Varsity Pajamas - Arrow Collars - Neckwear - Trousers - Slacks and other Accessories for Dress, Sport and Formal Wear . . . . . .

SHIRTS
Stetson "D" and Other Makes — Soft and Starched Collar.
97c

Neckwear
Hand Made and Reselio Construction
47c

COLLARS
Tux and Other Style Collars
19c

SWEATERS
Crew-Neck and Zipper—in Brush Wool and Chain Knits
$1.95

Stetson 'D' Suits and Overcoats

SUITS
14.75 - 19.75
24.75

OVERCOATS
9.90 - 16.60
18.80

HOSIERY
Monito Hose and Other Makes in Solid and Fancy Patterns—
29c

Raincoats
$3.95

SHOES
Edgerton and Packard
$3.95
Nunn-Bush
$5.85

TUX-SUITS
Your Cohice of Any Tux Suit
$19.75

TUX SHIRTS $1.85

UNDERWEAR Shirts or Shorts 39c — 2 for 75c

SLACKS $3.95

HATS $3.85

Chapel Hill's Most Exclusive Shop For The Smart Dressed Man

SALE STARTS THIS MORNING AT 9 A.M. SHARP

STETSON 'D' SHOP

Now Being Re-oganized

SHOP EARLY FOR BEST SELECTIONS

DORMITORY CHAMPIONSHIP
TIN CAN—4:30
MANGUM NO. 1 vs. SWAIN

The Daily Tar Heel

PHI DELTA PHI INITIATION
8 P. M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1935 | NUMBER 112

CHINESE STUDENT MAKES ADDRESS TO POLICY GROUP

Describes China as Turning to Militarism for Adequate Solution to Her Problems.

"TO PREVENT AGGRESSION"

China was pictured as a nation turning to militarism for a solution to its problems in a talk last night presented to the Foreign Policy League by Tsu-Yuan Koo, University graduate student from Pai Shih Chiao, China.

The chinese scholar stated that his fatherland had unlimited man power but that it lacked munitions and implements of warfare.

"We are training our young folks and building up our defenses as a preventative against aggression," Koo declared, stating that China's comparatively recent trend towards militarism had been caused by the foreign policies of nearby nations.

Trusted League

"We trusted the League of Nations too much," the speaker said.

Koo declared that China in the past had clung to the philosophy of not bothering anyone else. "That was just too bad," he said. "China is not going to trust her foolish and impossible past program of defense any more."

The Chinese pointed out that his homeland "expects something from America."

Look to America

"America should supply equipment to us, so that with our man power we may prevent invasion," he declared.

Koo said that although the Chinese at present were purchasing American goods instead of Japanese products, even though United States goods sold at higher prices, his people could not be expected to keep up the procedure.

Koo does not think that Ja-

(Continued on page two)

NYE ADDRESS IS WELL ADVERTISED

Speech Sunday by Chairman of Senate Committee Announced By Golden Placards.

Soft gold is gleaming in the campus eye this morning as the Y. M. C. A.'s posters announcing the address by Senator Gerald P. Nye, set for 8 p. m. Sunday in Memorial hall, flame forth on all the bulletin boards in the neighborhood.

The new placards cover a multitude of half-sheets with the announcement that Senator Nye will address the student convocation Sunday night on the subject, "Munitions Profiteering, Etc."

To Speak in Raleigh

After appearing in Raleigh before a peace group Sunday afternoon, the North Dakota senator will appear in Chapel Hill under the sponsorship of the University Y. M. C. A.

Nye has distinguished himself in Congress as a leader of the minority and has become known as the "Progressive Republican." He stirred the country in September, 1934, when his committee on munitions investigations revealed startling facts concerning the abuses charged against certain American munitions makers.

Scholarship Awards

The University Scholarship Committee will make awards of all University scholarships between April 15 and May 1, Dean R. B. House announced yesterday.

It will be necessary for all holders of University scholarships to fill out applications for renewal of the scholarships which they hold. These blanks may be secured from Edwin S. Lanier, and must be filled out properly and returned to Lanier before April 15.

Burlington Prisoners Given Whole-Hearted Support by Group Here

Students, Faculty, Townspeople Will Aid in Gaining Hearing.

A mass meeting of approximately 90 students, faculty members and townspeople passed almost unanimously last night a resolution that "this body co-operate whole-heartedly in the effort of the Burlington prisoners to obtain a hearing before the North Carolina Supreme Court," to present an appeal for a re-trial.

Convicted Defendants Anderson and Hoggard calmly and self-possessedly proclaimed their innocence of the Burlington dynamiting crime in simple but detailed talks to the assembly in Gerrard hall.

Professing personal conviction that a fair trial had not been received by the seven defendants, who have been sentenced to serve terms totaling 57 years, J. H. Wisherd, who presided at the meeting, Paul Green, W. D. Couch, and E. E. Ericson stated the difficulties facing the prisoners in their effort to appeal their case.

Since these difficulties are chiefly financial, donations would be particularly helpful for the defendants, it was stated.

Wisherd, who is an instructor in freshman English, announced that such contributions should be sent to Couch or to Walter Pickard of Burlington, who also spoke at the meeting last night. Although Pickard has not been accused of complicity in the affair, he has been a leader in the defense's efforts for a re-trial.

Two court stenographers made records of the meeting, and further information on the case and the meeting last night may be obtained from Wisherd, Ericson, Green or Couch.

GRAIL WILL HAVE WARDLAW'S BAND

Freshmen to Be Admitted to Third Winter Quarter Dance Scheduled for Tomorrow.

With Jack Wardlaw and his Carolina Pines orchestra swinging into rhythm at 9 p. m. tomorrow, the third dance sponsored by the Order of the Grail for the winter quarter will get under way in Bynum gymnasium.

Freshmen will be admitted to the affair according to an announcement from Simmons Patterson, treasurer of the Grail.

Tickets at $1.00 each are now on sale at Pritchard-Lloyd's, and will be on sale at the door.

The music-makers, Wardlaw and his band, began their activities at the University in 1927 and since then have established an enviable record playing in Europe and along the Atlantic seaboard.

On Extensive Tour

On an extensive tour of southern colleges at present, Wardlaw will stop over at his alma mater to play for the engineers' ball tonight and for the Grail dance tomorrow night.

Featured vocalists with the band are Miss Lucille Gregory, Bob Bland and Roland McKellar. Miss Gregory is one of the outstanding southern songstresses and Bland has gained a wide reputation with his "Scat" choruses. McKellar, sparkling tenor, crashed through with a rating of 100 per cent from the Columbia audition when he recently sang over their coast-to-coast network with the Wardlaw band. Freddie Rich, guest Columbia conductor for one of the band's broadcasts was highly pleased with his performance.

Scouting Fraternity

Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary scouting fraternity, will conduct a pledging ceremony tonight at 8 o'clock in room 209 Graham Memorial.

Phillips Russell, Carolina representative to the World Peace Conference, who is a life scout, will speak to the group about his experiences abroad.

The following men have been invited to present themselves for pledging: Jack Osborn, John Bowles, Marvin Chaikin, Tom O'Connell, Ira Howard, Jesse B. Caldwell, John J. Wells, Leighton Dudley, Sanford Paydlett, and J. M. Davison.

Courtly Language Of Captain Example For Modern Swains

Library Has Time Worn Letters of Civil War Captain to His Lady Fair; Chivalrous Soldier Was Afraid He Was Writing Maid of His Desire Too Often and Asked Her Pardon.

Time-worn and in places time-erased, the letters of Captain N. H. R. Dawson to his sweetheart, written during the Civil War, and now in the library, may perhaps disclose a new world of infinite possibilities wherein letters do not open with "H' ya Pal," and end with "Signing off."

When you, gentle reader, are so thoughtful (or foolish) as to send some damsel flowers, why not accompany them with this little note, in part obliterated: "I wish these fragrant flowers to be the silent, living . . . of my love, and I know you will water and cultivate them as the living memorials of my constant fidelity to your heart?"

And in thanking the aforementioned lady for some favor such as a picture, a glove, or mayhap even a lock of hair, it may benefit you to emulate Captain Dawson and say: "I have your sweet likeness and lock of hair. . . . I long to hear again your voice of welcome, and it will increase to the music of love and happiness."

Nor were the lovers in that day hasty scribblers of infrequent notes. Imagine for instance, one of our modern maidens being the recipient of this note: "You must excuse me for writing so often, but it is a great pleasure to speak with you, and unless you command me otherwise, I will continue to do so until my duties will prevent me."

(Continued on page two)

Freshmen Have Whiskey Bottles Celebrating UNC Football Games

Various Obviously Purloined Signs Also Decorate Room of Aycock Dormitory Men.

Freak collections—working on them seems to be the ambition of every freshman. One pair of these newcomers to college, living down in Aycock, seems to be well on the way to becoming modern Barnums, if one is to judge from the bizarre group of things they've assembled in their room.

The first thing that strikes the eye as the visitor enters the room is the row of whiskey bottles, 31 in all, which are hanging from the moulding around the top of the room. The collectors, whose names are Robertson and Gove, contend that they have the most complete collection of whiskey bottles in the University, and that no two are alike. They say that each of the bottles represents a game—the large quart-size bottle of choice Sauterne representing a great victory for Carolina, and the small two-ounce bottle of Paul Jones representing a bitter defeat. They also gave a gallon mug, which they say stands for the Duke game last fall.

Lounge Lizards?

Over one closet door is the sign "Ladies Lounge," which was collected in Durham. Above that one is a large metal plate with the words "This space reserved for Secretaries of Senators," which was obviously obtained in the nation's capital.

The usual "No Parking" signs, which one would expect to find in such a collection, are prominently displayed here. Also, over the door is the statement, "Exit Only," done in black and white on a pine plank.

Above the other closet door is an arrow, with the inscription, "This Way to Forest Theatre." On the opposite wall is a group of signs seen everywhere—"Wild Life Refuge," "No Trespassing," etc. Above these is a collection of pennants, from Atlantic City, U. S. Navy, New York University, as well as a dozen or so illustrations from Esquire.

Displayed in a prominent position on the wall is the printed warning, "Don't Let Someone

(Continued on page two)

KELLAR, SEAWELL TO DEBATE WAKE

University Debaters to Uphold Affirmative of Arms Query.

Norman Kellar and Don Seawell, representing the University debate squad, will journey to Wake Forest tonight to uphold the affirmative of the query: Resolved, that the nations of the world should agree to prevent the shipment of arms and munitions.

Francis Fairley and Winthrop Durfee will accompany Kellar and Seawell.

All four men will be guests of Wake Forest at dinner tonight. Fairley and Durfee will debate the negative of the same query in Gerrard hall next Monday night against another Wake Forest team.

Next Sunday evening a group of Wake Forest debaters will be guests of the University. They will hear United States Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota speak on the munitions situation.

FROSH CONSIDER HONOR PROBLEM

Class Will Decide Fate of Court Today; Will Give Informal Dance in Spring.

The freshman executive committee voted last night to appropriate a maximum of $250 to be used for a dance during the spring quarter. Permission had previously been granted the freshmen to give a dance by the University Dance committee provided they excluded all other classmen for the affair. The executives voted that the dance be informal.

The executives voted to present the following plan of a freshman honor court for the consideration of the class at chapel this morning. The plan has the full support of Virgil Weathers and the other student council members.

Plan For Council

The plan proposes a council comprised of 11 freshmen representing five schools; four from the College of Liberal Arts, three from the Commerce School, two from the Engineering School, one from the Pharmacy School, and one from the School of Applied Science.

In addition there will be one member of the student council as an adviser.

The council will act in a dual capacity; first, as a spearhead in drives to make the campus honor-conscious, and secondly, it will try freshmen reported for cheating. It will not try freshmen for breaches of the campus code.

Procedure

The decisions of the proposed court will not be made public until they have been submitted to the Student Council for sanction. Two members of freshman honor council would appear before the Student Council to submit each decision. They will present the facts and findings of the case. The council may hold a rehearing. In such a case two members of the freshman court would attend to furnish any facts previously uncovered.

Freshmen are asked to consider the proposal and prepare for discussion on the open floor at chapel this morning.

Jack Wardlaw to Play For Engineers Tonight

With Jack Wardlaw and his Carolina Pines orchestra manufacturing the rhythm, the engineers' ball will begin tonight at 9 o'clock in the ballroom of the Carolina Inn.

Bids went on sale to the public yesterday at $1.50 each. They may be bought in the senior civil, electrical, and mechanical engineering rooms in Phillips hall.

Wardlaw organized his band at the University in 1927 and since then has toured Europe and the eastern United States. Last summer he was featured over the Columbia Broadcasting system from the Steel Pier in Atlantic City. At present he is filling an engagement at the Hotel Patrick Henry in Roanoke, Va.

Sigma Chi Pledge

Gordon Robinson of Stamford, Ontario, recently pledged Sigma Chi, according to the dean of students' office.

HOOVER'S APPEAL THROWS SENATE INTO HOT DEBATE

"Kingfish" Reads Speech Day Before Farley Was to Have Delivered It.

FORCE PATMAN BILL VOTE

Washington, Feb. 21.—(UP)—The United States Senate had a busy session today as it heard Huey Long and approved several bills.

Ex-President Herbert Hoover's appeal yesterday for the return of the gold standard in the United States at the present dollar value stirred up a bitter controversy in both houses but found few defenders.

Old line Republicans declined to comment or else were mildly critical. Progressive Republicans assailed the proposal while New Deal spokesmen remained unexcited.

Huey Renews Feud

Kingfish Huey Long renewed his feud with Postmaster General Farley by starting to read in the Senate today a speech which Farley was to have delivered tomorrow night.

James D. Donovan of Kansas City, Kan., advocated federal aid to cities seeking to establish municipal utility plants in an address to the public ownership conference.

Representatives crowded around the desk of the Speaker of the House in order to sign a petition designed to force a vote on the $2,015,000,000 Patman bonus bill. The House also approved an increase of 11,000 men to the enlisted strength of the regular army. The National Industry Recovery Board extended the aluminum code an extra 45 days.

DRIVERS LICENSE BILL IS FAVORED

Greatly Altered, Bill Passes Second Reading Before State House by Large Vote.

Raleigh, Feb. 21.—(UP)—Creaking under a load of new amendments, the drivers license bill passed on the second reading in the North Carolina House today by a vote of 105 to 4.

Tomorrow it will be given a third reading and returned to the Senate, where it originated, for concurrence to House changes. This will call for a free conference in which the bill will likely undergo further amendment.

Morrison—Assembly

The House received the Senate joint resolution inviting former Senator Cameron Morrison of Mecklenburg county to address the Assembly, and referred the proposal to the judiciary committee No. 2.

Representative Howard of Orange county introduced a bill for the appropriation of $25,000 annually for the next biennium to support the North Carolina Symphony orchestra. The proposed appropriation was referred to the appropriations committee.

Senator Corey of Pitt introduced a measure prohibiting the dumping of rubbish within 1,500 yards of the state highway. The House passed a bill by Representative Thompson of Wake county allowing the University of North Carolina to borrow $25,000 for the athletic stadium and repay from athletic receipts.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
George Underwood ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: REED SARRATT

Friday, February 22, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

Hoover wants us to return to the gold standard. From what the Supreme Court says, we've gone back on it already.

After looking around on student-faculty day, we came to the conclusion that all our departments are just a bunch of exhibitionists.

And the Southern Art Projects Board is sending the former head of an enamel factory to teach watercolor. Maybe if we wait long enough they'll have a landscape artist to teach surveying.

Councillors for The Freshmen

It has been suggested by Mayne Albright, supervisor of Everett's housing experiment with freshmen, that the University employ young instructors for the definite purpose of living in Everett to act as councillors to the freshmen.

At present Everett first-year men are advised by eight seniors and law students who are given their lodging in return for their services. Obviously, the sort of councillors Mr. Albright suggests would be able to give the boys more help than the present fellows can, for their main business would be supervising freshman learning; the average senior and law student, on the other hand, is not noted for any remarkable memory of the binomial theorem, comma fault, or such random knowledge.

A freshman, as everyone knows, needs advice from the man who does remember these things—whose business it is to remember them. Furthermore, most seniors and law students need all their time to circumvent their own manifold pitfalls; it is really requiring too much of them to charge them with the salvation of a dozen or more frosh souls.

We hardly see how any results the Everett experiment as affecting freshman scholarship can be valued when such student councillors are employed. We do not question the councillors' capacities and abilities, but rather the expediency of their efforts.

Co-eds in The Dorms

Another point in favor of the student advisory board's recommendation for the establishment of social rooms in the dormitories is the placing of dormitory inmates on the level of their fraternity classmates in regard to the entertainment of the University women students.

There is no reason for the dormitory men to be deprived of the privilege of having co-eds as their guests. Of course, at present such an arrangement is not desirable, because dormitory living quarters are not conducive to entertaining feminine friends. But social rooms would provide such entertaining facilities.

There might be an argument in this precept against a counter-argument on the part of the administration that social rooms used to be provided in the dormitories, but the inmates pillaged all the furniture and wrecked the plans. If co-eds were allowed to be visitors, however, we daresay a certain pride in keeping the room in which the entertainment of the visitors would come about would restrain such destructive practices and tend toward neat, well-kept rooms.

Both Sides Of the Meet

There is a great deal of dissatisfaction in Chapel Hill because the Southern Conference boxing championships are held at Charlottesville every year. This is partly due to the fact that Virginia has always been able to keep a monopoly on the crown.

Charges that the actual decisions are influenced by Virginia are entirely unfounded, but there can be no doubt that the Cavaliers have a tremendous psychological advantage. Any team can perform better anywhere if it is able to feel that the crowd is behind it. Another bad feature of always holding the meet at Charlottesville is the fact that most fans from the southern end of the conference never get a chance to see the championship tournament.

On the other hand it must be remembered that Virginia is not the only school which holds a monopoly on a Southern Conference tournament. The basketball tournament at Raleigh, the indoor track meet at Chapel Hill, and the outdoor meet at Durham are gradually becoming permanent fixtures. This not only tends to even up the honors, but also makes it possible for each meet to be run off by a group which is more or less experienced in handling that sport.

Besides, Virginia seems to have the finest facilities in the conference for boxing, Carolina for indoor track, and Duke for outdoor track.

There is no definite rule to keep the location of these tournaments from being changed if other schools would apply for them. It might be beneficial to have a system whereby all the tournaments rotate from year to year; yet such a plan would necessarily bring about a loss of valuable color and tradition which surround some of the meets today.

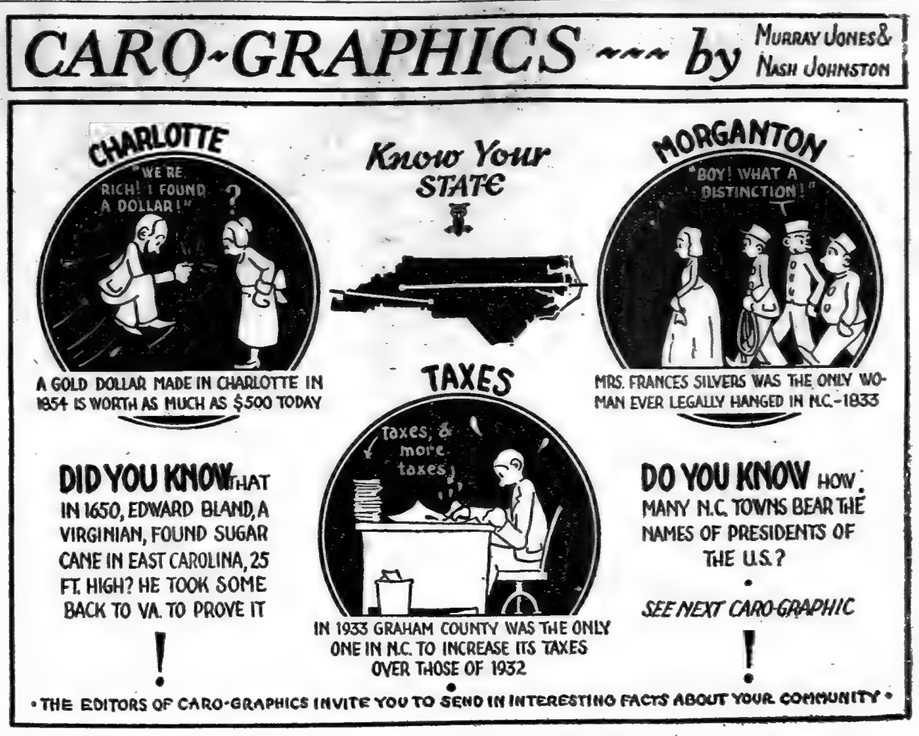
At any rate, we wish our boxers all sorts of good wishes for this week-end's boxing jamboree at Charlottesville's conference arena. No matter where they fight, they're good.

Are Fraternities On the Wane?

The second of the articles in the New York Times concerning the American fraternity system, its rise and no-too-uncertain decline, raises the question of whether, in the face of the growing house plan, the Greek-letter societies can survive without drastic change and perhaps suffering to the point of disappearance.

The Times writer was of the definite opinion that fraternities must become intellectual orders as well as social orders if they expect to subsist. They must offer the advantages of educational expansion, either by the horizontal formation embracing members whose interest is the same or by stimulating programs for intellectual development.

According to the article, for the past 50 years fraternities have had a virtual monopoly on attractive rooming and dining facilities on American campuses. During the last five years, however, even state universities, not to mention the endowed institutions, have begun to construct dormitories with luxurious furnishings, elaborate student unions, restaurants, game rooms, ball rooms, and beer gardens (no schools were mentioned in connection with this last improvement).



Due, then, to this unforeseen competition on the part of the institutions, the fraternities have found the going tough. The "brotherly love" spirit, even, is being carried over into rooming houses run by the universities and what spirit is left with the fraternities is, in the writer's opinion, fast waning.

We believe, however, that on southern campuses the fraternity has been, is, and ever will be the same impelling force in undergraduate life. Records at this university show that the number of freshmen joining fraternities is increasing, not decreasing. Of course, our dormitories are not luxurious enough to out-do the Greeks, but our student union is as good as any in the south.

The reason fraternities have thrived on this campus is that they DO offer advantages which the institution cannot offer in the dormitories. Whereas it cannot be said that our fraternities are intellectual hotbeds, it can be mentioned that fraternities are dens of companionship, power on the campus, unity in student activities, and tradition in University annals.

The "fading into seclusion" which has been suggested may be a fact in the north and the west, but it is our opinion that in most southern schools it is in theory only. On this campus, the fraternity average is higher than the scholastic average of the campus as a whole; the fraternity is a means of undergraduate campus participation; the fraternity is a traditional phase of educational development to many of us.

But the dangers which are suggested are never non-existent. What the Times has to say should serve as an incentive to local Greek-letter societies to maintain those standards which support their existence. At the present, there are several houses which do not justify their continuation on this campus; if they take advantage as much as possible the weaknesses which the Times points out, the local Greek-letter system will probably be strengthened even more.

Love Letters

(Continued from page one)

And why, in the name of the powers that be, say: "Got your letter and thought it was "cute" when you can write: "I thank you, my loved Elodie, for your sweet note of January 1. I reciprocate, from the bottom of a grateful heart, all of your good wishes. I trust that the year, which has now entered upon its course, will bring you happiness with each of its diurnal revolutions, and that happiness will be blended with mine. Am I not selfish, to make your happiness contribute to mine?"

Jealousy

Maidens possessed of jealous squires should read to them in a soft, modulated voice the following extract: "But I do not blame him, for loving the same dear and . . . lady whom I worship. I will never feel . . . at your receiving the attention of any gentleman, but am rather pleased. For I am willing and anxious that the beams of the same sun which reflect upon me should warm others into happiness. I have no hesitancy in saying that I have a confidence that can never be shaken, the same that the follower of Mohammet has in his prophet."

Instead of the commonplace: "Gee, kid, I sure am going to miss you," Captain Dawson writes: "We are speeding on our way over the water, and at each revolution of the wheels, the distance is lengthened, but the ties that bind us are only increased."

23 HIGH SCHOOLS IN LATIN CONTEST

With 217 high school students competing, the state Latin contest will be held in 23 high schools.

This contest, which has been held annually since 1925, is under the auspices and direction of the University extension division. Dr. S. G. Saunders of the University Latin department prepared the tests, and they will be graded by Latin professors and instructors here. Each high school will enter its three best papers.

Durham high school won the contest for the fourth time last year, having also won in 1929, 1930, and 1931. Wilson won in 1933 and Roxboro in 1932.

The extension division also conducts each year high school academic contests in French, Spanish, and mathematics.

High schools which have entered the Latin contest are: Apex, Asheville, Brevard, Chapel Hill, Charlotte, Durham, Forest City, Edenton, Fayetteville, Lexington, Lillington, Reidsville, Roxboro, Salisbury, Sanford, State School for the Blind in Raleigh, Statesville, Sylva, Morehead City, Fletcher, Oxford, Wilson, and Winston-Salem.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:00: George Hall orch., WBIG.

1:30: Little Jack Little, songs, WBT.

2:00: Int'l Broadcast from Germany; Anniversary of Birthday of George Handel, composer; Symphony orch., WJZ, KDKA; Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

3:00: George Washington Day Program, WBT.

4:00: Pro Arte String Quartet, WBIG.

7:15: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBT.

8:00: Concert; Jessica Dragonette, soprano; Bourdon orch., WEAF, WRVA; Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, speech, WABC, KMOX.

8:15: Edwin C. Hill, commentator, WBT; Musical Revue; Robert Armstrong orch.; Mary Courtland, songs; Novelty Quartet, WJZ, KDKA.

8:30: Court of Human Relations, WABC, WHAS; Al Goodman orch.; Jane Froman, contralto, WJZ, KDKA.

9:00: Abe Lyman orch.; Frank Munn, tenor; Vivienne Segal, soprano, WLW; March of Time, WABC.

9:30: Hollywood Hotel—Dick Powell; Frances Langford; Ted Fio-Rito orch., WBT; Phil Baker, comedian; Leon Belasco orch., WJZ, KDKA.

10:30: The Pause That Refreshes—90-piece instrumental and vocal ensemble; Frank Black, conductor, WEAF, WLW.

11:00: Hal Kemp orch., WJZ.

11:15: Ozzie Nelson orch., WBT.

11:30: Wayne King orch., WGN.

11:45: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

12:00: Cab Calloway orch., WABC.

12:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

Policy League

(Continued from page one)

pan will fight the United States in the near future.

According to Agnew Bahnson, the Foreign Policy League will meet next Thursday in a special session to bring to a conclusion the series of discussions on the Far East. Dr. E. E. Ericson will speak.

Photo Deadline

This afternoon has been set as the deadline for all junior and senior dance leaders, commencement marshals and any others who have served as dance leaders during the year to have their pictures made at Wootten-Moulton's for this year's Yackety Yack.

All pictures must be made with tuxedos and white ties.

Fencers Will Battle At W. & M. Tonight

Carolina's fencers will get their first chance of competition of the season tonight in Williamsburg, Va., when they battle the William and Mary club.

The men making the trip include Brad Toby, Milton Spies, John Elmendorf, Jack Spies, and DuPont Snowden. All are veterans of last year and much previous experience before coming to Carolina. Elmendorf was the star of the 1934 club, completing the season undefeated.

Grid Souvenirs

(Continued from page one)

Think You're from Duke." Above this one is hung a plaster of paris death mask of one of the freshmen. This latter object completes the ill-assorted collection, but it will not be long, claims Robertson, before they'll have reached their goal of 50 different bottles.

PHI DELTA PHI INITIATION

Vance Inn of Phi Delta Phi, honorary international legal fraternity, will initiate the following students in Graham Memorial at 8 o'clock tonight:

Alex Andrews, Clement Bennett, Mark Dunn, Ralph Gardner, John Higby, Chapin Litten, Nicholas Powell, Virgil Weathers, John Williams, and Kenneth Young.

Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Irving Landow, C. H. Woodburn, Stewart Parker, Carl Anderson, W. M. Fletcher, R .F. Blount, J. P. Jenrette, and Ralph Gardner.

CAROLINA

Today

"SOCIETY DOCTOR"

with

CHESTER MORRIS

VIRGINIA BRUCE

—Also—

Comedy — News

MIDNIGHT SHOW

Tonight

Doors Open at 11:15 P. M.

Carolina Comes Back In Last Half To Down Fast VMI Five, 33-20

Kaydets Hold 11-6 Lead At Half; Nelson Is High Scorer

Tar Heels Off Form in First Half; Downey Stars.

After a ragged first half Carolina got its basketball machine warmed up and romped to an easy victory over VMI, 33-20, here last night. The Kaydets held a 11-6 advantage at half-time.

As a result of the victory the White Phantoms closed one of the most successful regular seasons in the history of the University. The Tar Heels got 20 wins out of 22 starts, defeating some of the best fives in the east. Carolina now starts pointing toward the Southern Conference tourney which opens at Raleigh next Thursday.

Off at First

Missing terribly on both passes and shots the Phantoms were held to only two field goals during the first half, Mel Nelson, crack-tossing forward, scoring both baskets. Jason Glace's fouls accounted for the other two points.

Carolina opened the second half, however, with determination as Captain Aitken and Paul Kaveny led the winners to a 5-point margin before VMI could tally. Aitken got a fast one-hander and Kaveny added two beautiful crip shots after some nice passing.

Lead Increases

This made the count 12-11 and a moment later Aitken increased the margin with a couple more action baskets. After Nelson and Captain Downey both made free shots on a double foul, Hancock, Kaydet forward, center, dropped in a crip and a long throw to bring his team within one point of the Phantoms.

This was the closest VMI got to a win during the rest of the game. Nelson and Glace cut loose on a scoring spree to put Carolina safely ahead.

The work of Jim McCachren and Paul Kaveny, both guards, was outstanding for the victors. Mack took on the task of guarding the dangerous Captain Dow-

(Continued on last page)

Varsity

CAROLINA:	FG	F	T
Aitken, f	4	0	8
Nelson, f	4	4	11
Glace, c	2	4	8
McCachren, g	1	0	2
Harris, g	0	0	0
Kaveny, g	2	0	4
Totals	13	7	33
V. M. I.	FG	F	T
Hancock, f-c	2	1	5
Downey, f	0	1	1
Mirolo, c	1	0	2
Haas, g	3	2	6
Raffo, g	2	2	6
Totals	7	6	20

Score at half: V. M. I. 11; Carolina 6. Non-scoring subs: V. M. I.—Rucker, f; Ackerly, f; LeMansier, f. Carolina—Ramsey, f; Blood, f; Webster, c; Minor, g; Harrison, g.

Referee: Proctor (Richmond Y).

Frosh Trackster To Race In Trials For Jewish Team

Lambeth Invited to New York to Trials for American Team In Jewish Olympics.

Barney Lambeth, Carolina freshman, has received an invitation to race in the trials for the American team which competes in the second Maccabiah or the World Jewish Athletic Games to be held in Palestine this summer.

The American track trials will be run next Wednesday night, February 27, in the 102nd Engineers' Armory in New York City. Lambeth is invited in the high hurdles and will represent the University.

Ace Hurdler

Hailing from the Empire City, he has had much experience in the timber-leaping event. Three years ago he won the national scholastic championship in the high hurdles at Newark, representing DeWitt Clinton High School. Since then he has competed quite successfully in numerous big city A. A. U. meets.

(Continued on last page)

Frosh Hoopsters Bring Season To Close, Routing P.J.C. 57-14

Earl Ruth and Ramsay Potts Star in One-Sided Victory For Tar Baby Team.

The freshman five climaxed their season's play last night with a blaze of field goals that completely overpowered a Presbyterian Junior College team by a 57-14 score.

Scoring at will, the Tar Babies rolled up their largest score of the year with every player on the squad seeing action. The first team found no competition and consistently broke clear underneath the basket for simple putaways.

Potts Looks Good

Earl Ruth again led the Babies as a sharpshooter, totaling 14 points. Ramsay Potts, who played a perfect game of basketball, scored 11 and Pete Boone was a close third with 10. Potts has been an important cog in the freshman machine of late and is easily one of the best on the squad.

For the visitors Yearwood managed to score six points; two by the gratis method. Yearwood was taken out in the second half for personals, and it was Cole, who replaced Yearwood, that sank a long pretty one-handed toss for P. J. C.'s last two

(Continued on last page)

Freshmen

CAROLINA	G	F	TP
Mullis, f	1	0	2
Boone, f	5	0	10
Potts, f	5	1	11
Johnson, f	2	0	4
Meroney, c	1	0	2
Ruth, g	7	0	14
Grubb, g	4	0	8
Franks, g	2	0	4
Nye, g	1	0	2
Totals	28	1	57
P. J. C.	G	F	TP
Carr, f	0	0	0
Plesants, f	0	1	1
Harrell, f	2	1	5
Wilson, g	0	0	0
Yearwood, g	2	2	6
Cole, g	1	0	2
Totals	5	4	14

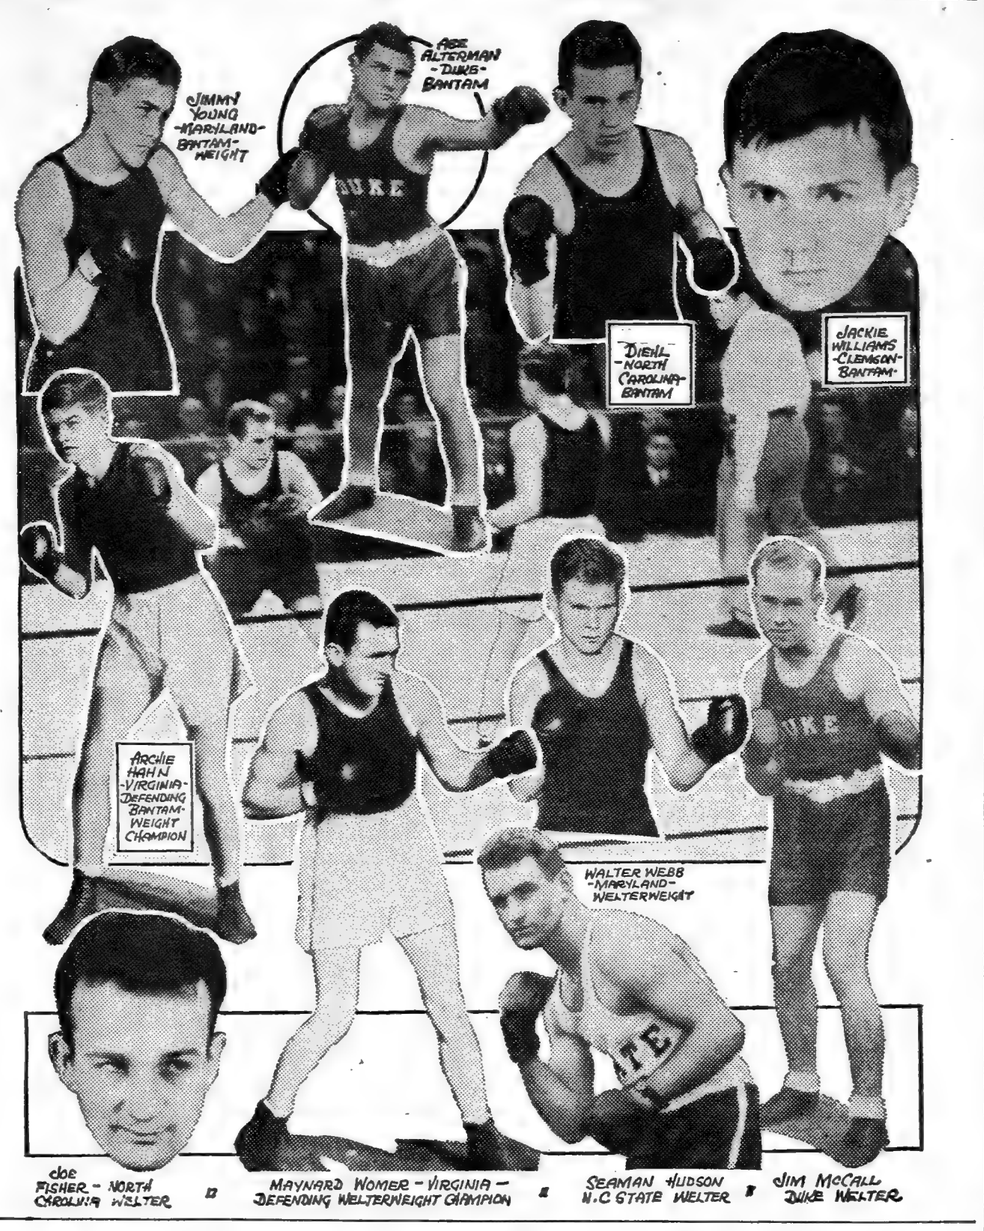
Non scoring subs: Carolina—Hagey c, Peacock g, Dowd g, Allen g; P. J. C.—Murphy f.

Referee: Dave McCachren.

Score at half: Carolina 26, P. J. C. 9.

Today's Mural Card

DORM CHAMPIONSHIP



4:30—Mangum No. 1 vs. Swain Hall.

OTHER GAMES

4:30—(1) S. P. E. vs. Beta Theta Pi (2) Lewis vs. Locals.

5:30—(1) Alpha Epsilon vs. Kappa Sigma, (2) Mayflower Club vs. Pharmacy, (3) Kluttz Bldg. vs. Smithsonians.

Survival of the Fittest at Charlottesville Today and Tomorrow

Southern Conference Boxing Tourney To Start At Charlottesville, Va. Today

CAROLINA ENTERS WITH HIGH HOPES

Diehl, Fisher, Medynski and Novich Strong Threats in Respective Divisions.

GIDDINS TO END CAREER

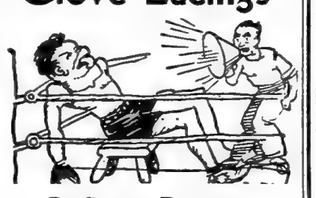
With a grim determination to do or die, the Carolina pugilists are anxiously awaiting the gong that will send them into action against the best boxers in the south this afternoon at Charlottesville, Va.

Marion Diehl is going to have a tough time wading through his opponents, who include Hahn of Virginia and Taylor of the Gamecock team. Diehl is in good condition and will most likely be a slight favorite at weighing-in time.

Opposition for Eutsler

Ernie Eutsler goes to the post with a fairly good record. He has won a few bouts this year and has lost a few. Among his opponents will be the powerful Lloyd of Duke, and the defending champion, Rainey of Virginia.

Johnnie Edwards will be boxing his first Southern Conference tourney, and with his vast improvement these past few weeks will be good opposition for Kneipp of the Blue Devils and Brooks of Virginia.



Joe Fisher, clever welterweight, will probably find Mutt Womer as his only obstacle to the championship. These two boys look like the best bets, and their previous encounter, which ended in a draw, serves to substantiate the argument about them being the cream of the crop.

Medynski Is Favorite

In the junior middleweight class, the powerful, hard hitting Jule Medynski will represent the Tar Heels. His most troublesome opposition will probably be in the person of McClung, a dangerous southpaw from the Cavalier outfit.

(Continued on last page)

Glove Lacings

By SMITH BARRIER

4-Way Battle

Today and tomorrow, colleges of the Southern Conference will battle for the 1935 boxing title. The prelims are this afternoon, semi-finals tonight, and the grand climax finals tomorrow night. Team scoring points are three for finalist and five for champion.

Four teams will meet on the canvas of battle this week-end, each holding an excellent chance of copping the crown. Virginia, defending champ for the past three years, leads this quartet. North Carolina, Maryland, and Duke follow.

* * *

Equally Balanced

This select group stacks up about equally. Virginia eked out a 4½-3½ win over Carolina, one point gained via forfeit. Duke in turn tied the Tar Heels. The big upset was Maryland's tie with Virginia last week, showing the power of those Old Liners. They captured the light, junior middle, middle, and light-heavy weights. The Cavaliers, however, probably possess the best balanced team in the group, and will enter the tourney favorites—but those Virginians will have to put up the fight of their lives to come through this time.

* * *

Champs Defending

Four champions will be on hand this season. Three of them are Cavaliers, namely—Archie Hahn, bantam; Gordon Rainey,

(Continued on last page)

VARSITY MATMEN TAKE LAST WORK FOR BLUE DEVILS

Grapple Duke Tomorrow in Latter's Gym; Bonner, Chandler Put on Feature.

UMSTEAD BACK IN LINEUP

The varsity grapplers yesterday afternoon completed their hard workouts for the present season and will meet this afternoon for a short workout consisting of calisthenics. Except for a small group of men who will be training for the SIC tournament, today will be the last practice session.

The return of Frank Umstead to the squad, after being out due to skin ailments, has added new hope to the team, which has great hopes of ending the season with a victory over Duke. Umstead will be switched to the 126-pound class, instead of his usual 118-pound division, in place of Lytle.

Darden at Bantam

In the bantamweight class formerly defended by Umstead, Darden will attempt to start with a victory in the first bout of the match with Duke.

The feature bout of the match will be between Bonner and Chandler. In last week's match with Davidson when Bonner was pitted against Quarterman in the feature bout, he won by a fall. In tomorrow's match he will attempt to repeat his feat. Exciting action should also be furnished in Gholson's match with Ardelino and also by Gwynn in his bout with McGrail.

The records of both teams are about even. Duke has yet to score a victory in its matches and should put up a game fight in its last chance of the season.

SEND THE DAILY TAR HEEL HOME

D.K.E. TAKES FIRST MURAL PLAY-OFF; DOWN S.A.E., 32-17

Losers Eliminated First Time in Four Years; Moore, Montgomery, Willis Star.

MANGUM vs. SWAIN TODAY

For the first time in four years, S. A. E.'s basketball quintet failed to qualify for the final round of the intramural championships as it lost a 32-17 decision to D. K. E. in the first of the fraternity league play-offs yesterday afternoon.

The Dekes got off to a fast start, sinking five points before the S. A. E. offense counted once, and held a 7-2 advantage for the first quarter, and 14-5 for the half. Willis, Moore, and Montgomery were all responsible for the early lead, each swishing the nets for two field goals, while the latter pair added one foul apiece.

D. K. E. continued its whirlwind attack throughout the third period, adding a dozen points while holding the opposition to six. The final period saw S. A. E. forcing the issue in a vain attempt to tie matters up, but the winner's strong defense held them at bay.

Bill Moore took scoring honors with five shots from action and three conversions, with Montgomery and Scott, S. A. E. pivot man, runners-up with eight each.

This afternoon at 4:30 o'clock the quintets representing Mangum No. 1 and Swain Hall will battle it out for the dormitory title and the right to face the winner of D. K. E.-Phi Kappa Sigma game for the campus championship.

In the other games played A. T. O. defeated T. E. P., 28-19; Sigma Chi downed Theta Kappa Nu, 35-26; Sigma Nu belittled Z. B. T., 29-12; and Delta Tau Delta triumphed over Chi Phi, 30-13. Corwith of Delta Tau Delta took the day's scoring top with 17.

The summaries:

D. K. E. (32)	S. A. E. (17)
Patterson, f (2)	Andrews, f (1)
Montgomery, f (9)	Connor (4)
Willis, c (8)	Scott, c (8)

(Continued on last page)

YEARLINGS MEET IMPS TOMORROW

Tar Baby Wrestlers Get Last Test of 1935 Season in Battling Duke Tomorrow.

The frosh grapplers completed their last hard practice of the current season yesterday afternoon in the Tin Can. This afternoon's session will be a light warm-up for their meet with Duke tomorrow.

The following men will face the Blue Devil Imps at the Duke gym tomorrow: Ehringhaus, Tankersley, Ford, Claypoole, Gibbons, James, Love, and Kaluk.

Kaluk is the only man among those who have scored victories who have not gained one by the fall route. In this third and last match, the fast improving unlimited candidate has hopes of culminating his short term on the wrestling team by pinning his opponent.

Ford and Love are the only two men on the squad who have won all their bouts. Love had the chance of going through a season scoring all his wins by falls, but last week in the meet again Woodberry Forest he fought with the handicap of a bad ankle, and all he was able to do was to gain a time advantage over his opponent. Both men will be fighting hard in an attempt to defend their unblemished records.

Extension Worker Praised by Meyer

An address of appreciation for the services of Miss Kathryn Mavity Martin, former field representative for the University extension division, was delivered by Professor Harold D. Meyer, of the University sociology department, yesterday afternoon before a joint meeting of the Orange County Council of the Parent-Teachers Association and the Chapel Hill Parent-Teachers Association in the high school auditorium.

Attorney General A. A. F. Seawell spoke on "Schools and the Legislature." Mrs. Urban T. Holmes presented a talk on the "School Library," and directed a group of children in a demonstration.

Other features of the program were a dance by two fourth-grade girls, and an exhibit in the school library.

Glove Lacings

(Continued from page three)

feather; and Maynard Womer, welter. Maryland sends the other crown-bearer in Stewart McCaw. The Terp won the crown in the light heavyweight last year, but recently in the Md.-Va. meet, he fought in the senior middleweight.

* * *

Star Newcomers

A trio of newcomers featured SIC mitt circles this winter. All are undefeated, and most of their wins came via kayoes. These three are Jule Medynski, North Carolina junior middle; Ray Matulewicz, Duke senior middle; and Ivan Nedomatsky, Maryland lightweight. Little need be said of the former two.

The Old Liner knocked out all his men up until the final Virginia battle. Even then he floored his man twice in the first round for the count of nine each time. In his first fight of the year against Richmond U., he knocked his man clear out of the ring. Incidentally, a Washington Herald photographer snapped his camera just as the unlucky Richmond fighter was sailing horizontally through the two upper ropes. Nice fellow, this Ivan.

* * *

But That Is Not All—

But this group is not all the stars of the regular season. From the Tar Heel camp comes three more brilliant sophomores, on whom the burden of winning the title will rest. They are Marion Diehl, bantam; Joe Fisher, welter; and Maxie Novich, light-heavy.

From South Carolina comes the undefeated Lorenzo Taylor, the only bantam in the conference to hold a victory over the Tar Heel, Diehl. Virginia sends Marion Brooks to the 135, Bill McClung (probably) to the 155, and Fred Cramer, mammoth star of the heavies.

Duke furnishes Captain Lloyd to battle in the feather, with such stars as Rainey, Freddie Hall of V. P. I., and Ernie Eutsler, Carolina. Jack Kneipp will be well in the running as a lightweight, while Sully Grainger scraps in the heavies with Cramer, Carolina's Kanner, and Maryland's Gormley.

Senior Executives Chat

With President Jack Pool presiding, the senior class executive committee chatted again last night without reaching any definite decisions concerning the date for the junior-senior dance, the class gift, the band to play for the junior-senior dance, or commencement details.

According to Pool, definite action will be taken by the executive group next Thursday night at its regular meeting.

Varsity Basketball

(Continued from page three)

ney and held him to only one good foul shot.

Kaveny entered the game midway in the first half and put new life into the erratic Phantoms. He played a beautiful floor-game, both on offense and defense.

Mel Nelson again topped the point-making with his super-shooting, this time getting 11 points. He twisted his ankle late in the battle and was forced to retire.

Captain Aitken returned to his old scoring ways as he tallied four excellent field goals.

Although he was sadly lacking as far as points were concerned, Downey was the real sparkplug for the losers. His passing and defensive work stood out all the way. The two Kaydet guards, Haas and Raffo, were high scorers, each with two action and a couple of free shots for a six total.

A. S. Ch. E. Meets

Plans were made last night at the meeting of the American Society of Chemical Engineers for a senior inspection tour.

Jack Pruden, secretary of the society, gave an illustrated lecture on the eight-mile Cascade tunnel in Oregon.

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO SOCIOLOGIST VISITS HERE

The Institute of Research in Social Science announced yesterday the arrival of Dr. Donald Slesinger of the University of Chicago, a representative of the Social Science Research Council.

Yesterday Dr. Slesinger had luncheon with members of the institute's board of governors and conferred with members of the faculty and staff.

Lambeth to N. Y.

(Continued from page three)

Past records play a big hand in the final choice, regardless of the showing in the trial run. The Tar Baby stands an excellent chance of copping the final selection.

The American Maccabi team leaves March 16, going to Tel Aviv, Palestine, where the Jewish Olympics are held. On the trek back home, the Americans hold dual meets with most of the European teams. The tour lasts nearly two months.

Lambeth is planning to leave either today or tomorrow. If anyone knows of a ride, sharing expenses, to either Washington or New York over the week-end, please get in touch with Lambeth at the Ranson House or the sports department of the DAILY TAR HEEL, at 4351.

Boxing

(Continued from page three)

Captain Giddins will be fighting in his third Southern Conference tournament and is more than anxious to come home the proud wearer of a crown. He will have a huge task on his hands as the favorite to take this weight is Matulewicz of Duke.

The colorful Maxie Novich, who has been suffering from a terrible head cold, has improved somewhat in health and should be a slight favorite to annex the light heavy crown. Novich is turning in a beautiful record for his first season of varsity competition, and has yet to taste defeat. His chief problem will be the clever McCaw of Maryland.

Big Murray Kanner will be fighting in his first Southern Conference meet, and, although he has been beaten by some of the men he will encounter in the tournament, he should go a long way. He has improved considerably and is in excellent shape.

Community Club

The Community Club will meet at 3:30 this afternoon in the Episcopal parish house. The art department will be in charge. Mrs. Phillips Russell will give a demonstration of wood carving.

Murals

(Continued from page three)

Warren, g	Poe, g (4)
Moore, g (13)	Brown, g

Subs: D. K. E.—Morris; S. A. E.—McDonald.

A. T. O. (28)	T. E. P. (19)
Hawley, f (9)	Lessem, f (5)
Phillips, f (6)	A. Eisenberg (6)
Spencer, c (13)	L. Eisenberg, c
Parker, g	Murnick, g (2)
Fulghum, g	Ellisberg, g (4)

Subs: T. E. P.—Weisbrod (2), Goldberg.

Sig. Chi (35)	Theta K. Nu (26)
Rehm, f (11)	Priestley, f (5)
Barney, f (4)	Falk, f (2)
Clover, c (12)	MacPhee, c (8)
Neal, g (4)	Buffey, g (4)
Wyche, g	Stauber, g (4)

Subs: Sigma Chi—Bannon (4); Theta Kappa Nu—Schaper (3).

Sigma Nu (29)	Z. B. T. (12)
Lytle, f (2)	Stein, f (2)
J. Bost, f (8)	Sims, f
Hairston, c	Straus, c
Primrose, g (10)	Kalmanoff (6)
Lynch, g	Kind, g (2)

Subs: Sigma Nu—Fitts (1), T. Bost (2), Anderson (2), Hollingsworth (2); Z. B. T.—Zauber (2), Bluenthal.

D. T. D. (30)	Chi Phi (13)
Shores, f (11)	Voliver, f (7)
Currie, f	Bitting, f (2)
Rouiller, c (2)	Boone, c
Corwith, g (17)	Montsinger (2)
McCollum, g	Perry, g

Subs: Chi Phi—Credle (2).

Frosh Basketball

(Continued from page three)

points.

Start Slowly

At the start of the game the frosh missed repeatedly and only held a 4-2 lead after four minutes. However, with Potts leading the parade they brought the count to 21-6 and closed the half with a 26-9 advantage.

The first team added to the score at the beginning of the second half and when the substitutes were thrown in they continued the merry pace by scoring fast and often.

Johnson stood out for the second team, scoring four points in his debut on the floor. The game came to a brilliant close with the first Tar Baby outfit re-entering the contest and baffling the junior collegians with an exhibition of rapid passwork that netted eight points in the last three minutes.

This game ended a most successful season for the Carolina frosh, which saw 15 victories enter the scorebook in contrast to one defeat at the hands of State.

WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS I'm your best friend

I am your Lucky Strike

I am a friend indeed. A better friend than others, because I am made only of mild, fragrant, expensive center leaves. I don't permit a single sharp top leaf nor a single coarse bottom leaf to mar my good taste or my uniform mildness. I am a soothing companion, the best of friends.

LUCKIES USE ONLY THE CENTER LEAVES

CENTER LEAVES GIVE YOU THE MILDEST SMOKE

They Taste Better

Copyright 1935, The American Tobacco Company.

GRAIL DANCE
9-12 P. M.
BYNUM GYM

The Daily Tar Heel

SCHENCK INITIATION
5:30 P. M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1935 | NUMBER 113

FRESHMEN DEFER PROPOSED HONOR COURT QUESTION

If Class Votes for Tribunal, It Will Also Name Method of Selecting Members.

PLAN FAVORED BY COUNCIL

The freshman class voted yesterday to pospone decision on the proposed honor court until it assembles again Monday morning. If the class decides to have such a court, it will then vote on the method for selecting the members.

Nick Read, chairman of the honor court committee, asked the freshmen to consider the following methods of selection and be prepared to discuss and vote on them Monday:

1. That the class delegate to the executive committee the power to elect the members of the council.

2. That the class allow the executive committee to nominate 22 men, from which the 11 men on the court will be elected by the class.

3. That the class elect a nominating committee from the entire class, with the president and chairman of the executive committee acting as ex-officio members, to nominate the 22 men.

Weathers States Approval

Virgil Weathers, president of the student body, speaking for the student council, told the freshmen, "We are heartily in sympathy with the proposed honor court and sincerely hope that it succeeds."

"Pete" Mullis, president of the freshman class, presided and called on Nick Read who presented the report of the honor court committee.

The honor court, as it is proposed, will have 11 men representing the five schools: four from the college of liberal arts, three from the commerce school, two from the engineering school, and one from both the pharmacy school and school of applied science. A member of the student council will act as an adviser.

Freshmen convicted of cheating in their own honor court will then have the opportunity of appealing to the student council.

Law Library Gets Full Data on Gold Cases

Briefs, Majority-Minority Reports, and Comments on Hand.

The law library now has the full reports on the gold clause cases on which the U. S. Supreme Court handed down an opinion this past Monday. These reports include the majority opinion as delivered by Chief Justice Hughes, and the dissenting opinion as delivered by Associate Justice McReynolds.

The library also has the briefs on the respective cases, prepared by Attorney General Cummings and heard by the Supreme Court on January 8 and 9. These reports and briefs, together with newspaper and magazine comment, may be secured at the law library desk. However, they cannot be taken out of the reading room.

Composition Exams

All students who plan to take the examination for the removal of composition conditions are asked to see Dr. H. K. Russell in 203 Murphey Monday from 10 to 11 a. m. or 3 to 4 p. m.

LAW FRATERNITY INITIATES TODAY

Judge Michael Schenck Will Be Inducted at 5:30 O'clock.

Judge Michael Schenck, associate justice of the N. C. Supreme Court, will be initiated into Vance Inn, University chapter of Phi Delta Phi, international legal fraternity, today.

The initiation will take place in Graham Memorial at 5:30 o'clock which will be followed by a banquet at the Carolina Inn.

Officers of Vance Inn are: William Vass Shepherd, Raleigh, magister; Peter Hairston, Advance, secretary; H. G. Connor, Jr., Wilson, clerk, and Frank Wilson, Winston-Salem, historian.

Among prominent alumni expected for the exercises are Judge E. E. Rives of Greensboro, and Judge George W. Connor, associate justice of the N. C. Supreme Court.

'Y' TO SEND NINE TO FAYETTEVILLE

Deputation Team Will Make 15 Appearances in Four-Day Stay; Leaves Thursday.

Nine campus leaders will represent the University Y. M. C. A. when it sends its deputation team to Fayetteville Thursday, according to an announcement from Harry F. Comer yesterday.

The team will make 15 appearances during its four-day stay in the eastern town. Its visit will include talks to clubs, churches, schools, and to a mass meeting Sunday afternoon of the boys of Fayetteville.

Personnel

Included in the team, which will leave Chapel Hill Thursday afternoon, are Lee Grier, Francis Fairley, Don McKee, Bill Yandell, H. F. Comer, and the James Dees quartet composed of Claude Ballard, John Walker, Harold Gavin, and Dees himself.

Comer and the quartet made the recent "Y" deputation trip to Dunn with Jack Pool, chairman of the Y. M. C. A. deputation group. Pool recently announced that a complete program with deputation trips planned for each week-end (excluding the period for examinations) was being drawn up.

Pool, as chairman last year, led his teams over the state contacting more than 25,000 people. He plans to beat his record with the new program outlined for the remainder of this year.

OPERA

A broadcast of two operas, "Don Pasquale" by Donizetti and "La Serva Padrona," by Pergolesi, from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, will be heard in the choral room of the Hill music hall today at 1:40 p. m.

VANCE INN—ITIATION

White-wigged and black-robed figures presided over the initiation of students to Vance Inn of Phi Delta Phi, international legal fraternity, last night in Graham Memorial.

Those lawyers who were elected to the fraternity are Alex Andrews, Clement Bennett, Mark Dunn, Ralph Gardner, John Higby, Chapin Litten, Nicholas Powell, Virgil Weathers, and John Williams.

F. D. R. PROMISES PERSONNEL MEN

Huey Long Abuses Farley, Violates Press Release; House Pushes Bonus Issue.

Washington, Feb. 22.—(UP)—There was joy in the camp of the Democrats tonight, for they were promised today by President Roosevelt that a personnel man was to be appointed for each government board and agency. These job-finders will not only listen to Democratic Congressmen wanting jobs for their constituents, but they will listen respectfully.

Speaker of the House Joseph T. Byrns said that some 10,000 jobs would be available for superintendents and foremen of CCC camps.

The Senate and the House completed action on the Conally "hot oil" bill and sent it to Roosevelt for his signature.

Amendment Deleted

The House passed a $378,000,000 war department appropriation bill after removing an amendment previously voted which would have increased the army's enlisted strength by 11,000.

More than 100 representatives signed a petition to force a vote in the House on the $2,015,000,000 soldiers' bonus bill. If 217 sign within the next few days, a vote will be forced on March 11.

The Louisiana Loudspeaker, Huey Long, gave tongue tonight in the Senate to some of the most profuse and extreme abuse ever recorded from the floor of that assembly. Using everything included in his vocabulary short of repressed profanity, he denounced Postmaster - General "Big Jim" Farley as a "cheap . . . crook." He then proceeded to give excerpts from an ill-gotten press release of the speech that Farley is scheduled to make tomorrow.

Newspapers throughout the country refrained from quoting Long, holding that the Delta Dictator had violated an ethical trust.

Fiddlers, Bards to Have Three-Day Festival

Arranged by University Institute; Will Begin Wednesday.

A three-day old-time music convention, arranged by the Institute of Folk Music at the University, will begin Wednesday at Cranberry high school, near Elk Park, N. C., according to an announcement by Richard Chase, associate director of the institute.

String musicians, ballad singers, those who can sing the old time hymns of the "all-day singing with dinner on the grounds" type, and others who just wish to attend and listen-in are invited to the festival.

Fiddlers, banjo-pickers, and string bands will be featured on the opening day. Ballad-singing and old "love songs," traditional children's songs and other secular pieces will characterize the following day's program, and the third day will be given over to sacred music.

Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Nancy Flanders, C. H. Woodburn, Irving Landon, Stewart Parker, W. M. Fletcher, R. F. Blount, J. P. Jenrette, and Ralph Gardner.

Political Union

Definite arrangements for the program of the first meeting of the newly-formed Carolina Political Union are not yet complete, Phil Hammer, temporary chairman, announced yesterday.

The hitch in the program has been the failure of speakers invited to participate to answer invitations. However, it is expected that definite plans will be announced in tomorrow's issue of this newspaper.

Monday night is the tentative date for which the first meeting of the union is to be held. This will be changed, however, if an outside political speaker cannot be obtained for that night.

The rest of the program will be given over to final organization of the new Union, Hammer announced. Proposals will be submitted for organization by the temporary committee appointed by the chairman for that purpose.

"Ancient Heritage" To Add To Author's Drama Achievements

Philip Parker's Play Is Among Three Originals to Be Presented Next Week.

Philip Parker, Carolina junior who came here this fall from Bowdoin, has received frequent recognition in his five months with the Playmakers. His original drama, "Ancient Heritage," will be presented next week on the Playmakers bill of new Carolina plays.

Parker first appeared before Carolina students last fall in the Playmakers' production of Karl Capek's "R. U. R." After having several of his originals produced experimentally by the Playmakers, Parker again came to the front with his portrayal of George Brent in the latest Playmakers production, Noel Coward's "The Young Idea."

Three-Play Program

His latest recognition with the Koch outfit was the announcement recently that his "Ancient Heritage" would be produced, along with two other outstanding originals: Patsy McMullan's "Cottie Mourns" and Ella Mae Daniels' "Yours and Mine," on the bill of new Carolina plays, scheduled to be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

His play concerns his native New England and New English aristocracy. The author's love for his own locale and its traditions led him to write a story depicting two members of his own family. These two women, Carrie and Sarah Bancroft in the drama, have carried on the traditions which have lasted through New England history since its beginning in 1620.

DR. GEORGE ADDRESSES STATE COLLEGE BODY

Dr. W. C. George of the University medical school addressed the faculty and graduate students in the biological departments of State College yesterday afternoon.

His paper was a discussion of some of the problems involved in contemporary investigations of the structure and function of the blood cells.

TAX SUBSTITUTE IS NOT APPROVED

Senate Committee Chairman Finds No Merit in Plan.

Raleigh, Feb. 22.—(UP)—At the conclusion of the hearings by a joint finance committee on the McDonald-Lumpkin sales tax substitute, indications were that none of its sections would be adopted.

Chairman Harris Newman of the Senate Finance Committee told the United Press, "Hearings have convinced me that there is no merit whatsoever in the plan."

The House in a lively session today debated the Senate resolution to invite former Governor Cameron Morrison to address a joint session. They finally passed the resolution, bearing an amendment changing the time to Wednesday at 8 p. m.

GRAIL GIVES HOP AT NINE TONIGHT

Freshmen May Attend Third Winter Dance; Wardlaw, Ex-Campus Boy, Will Play.

With another of a long line of distinguished orchestras that have originated at the University furnishing the music, the third Grail dance of the winter quarter will begin tonight at 9 o'clock in Bynum gym.

According to Simmons Patterson, treasurer of the Grail, freshmen will be admitted.

Since Jack Wardlaw left the University with his band they have toured Europe and have established themselves as one of the most popular bands on the eastern seaboard. At present they are on an extensive tour of southern colleges and universities from their winter location at the Hotel Patrick Henry in Roanoke, Va.

Vocalists Rate

Featured vocalists with the band are Lucile Gregory, Bob Bland and Roland McKellar. Bland was given an excellent rating by the Columbia Broadcasting system in an audition last summer over their network. Miss Gregory is one of the most outstanding feminine singers appearing with a southern orchestra.

The dance will last from 9 until 12 o'clock. Tickets are priced at $1 and are now on sale at Pritchard-Lloyd's, or they may be bought at the door tonight.

Knight Leaves Today To Meet Educators

Will Speak at Atlantic City Education Conference.

Dr. Edgar W. Knight, director of the summer session, leaves today for Atlantic City, N. J., where he will attend the winter meeting of the National Education Association, which begins Sunday.

Dr. Knight will speak to the executive committee of the National Society of College Teachers of Education.

He will also attend the meeting of the National Council of Education, prominent body to which he was elected last summer. He will return Wednesday or Thursday.

B. Y. P. U. Program

A group of W. C. U. N. C. students will conduct the weekly program of the B. Y. P. U. tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the Baptist church.

NYE TO DISCUSS WAR PROFITEERS TOMORROW NIGHT

Prober of Munitions Companies Appears Here under Auspices of University Y. M. C. A.

SPEAKS FIRST IN RALEIGH

United States Senator Gerald P. Nye will address the Carolina student body tomorrow night in Memorial hall at 8 o'clock on the subject of "Munitions Profiteering, etc."

Nye's appearance at the University is being sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. The North Dakota senator will address a peace group in Raleigh tomorrow afternoon and will come to Chapel Hill for dinner tomorrow night in the Carolina Inn.

Was Chief Prober

"Munitions Profiteering, etc." will deal with the Senate investigation of the munitions industry in this country. The Senate investigation committee, which group Nye headed last summer, recently revealed startling facts concerning DuPont and other munitions manufacturers.

The Senator's lecture will give Carolina students a chance to hear from the "investigator" himself many of his findings. Nye, a leader of the minority in Congress, is an advocator of disarmament, provided the disarmament steps are taken by loyal citizens not biased by stock-contact with the munitions industry.

Glass Houses . . .

Nye opposed the recent bill that was defeated by Congress that the United States should join the World Court. He believes that America should clean up her own back yard before forcing herself and her plans for international peace on the rest of the world.

The North Dakota Congressman has become known as the "Progressive Republican." He has had an outstanding career as a journalist and entered national politics only during the last ten years.

BOOKSHOP HEARS RUSSELL TUESDAY

Writer-Teacher Will Give Regular Bull's Head Lecture.

According to an announcement from Elizabeth Johnson, director of the Bull's Head Bookshop in the Y. M. C. A., Professor Phillip Russell will appear on the regular Tuesday afternoon lecture program in the Bookshop next week.

Russell, author of several books and outstanding as a writer, will address the Bull's Head audience on "Preventive Writing."

The speaker is the teacher of the creative writing course. The class meets for two hours each Thursday night in the Bull's Head where the Tuesday lecture will take place.

FOREIGN BULLETIN

London, Feb. 22.—(UP)—Sir John Simon, English foreign secretary, planned tonight to hurry to Berlin, and possibly to Moscow, to act as a peace-maker between Russia and Germany.

The British government expressed alarm at the blunt charges of official organs in Moscow that Germany was hungry for war and that Hitler was preparing to seize territory in eastern and central Europe.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
George Underwood ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: JIM DANIEL

Saturday, February 23, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

We see where there's quite a wet-dry debate over Hill's bill in Raleigh. All we can say is "Good luck, hill-billies."

Facts show that old Memorial Hall was "sentenced to be torn down by the Board of Trustees" in 1930. The old boys were tough in those days.

The Democrats have been warned not to try any more monkey business. We know the one about the monkey and the elephant, but this one about the monkey and the donkey is something new to us.

Justifying Public Service

Further justification of the belief expressed in this column recently that politicians are singing their swan song, and professional government experts are taking their initial bow, is to be found in the report of the commission on personnel of the Social Science Research Council. This report deals with the United States civil service system.

The commission is headed by President L. D. Coffman of the University of Minnesota and has been conducting hearings in London and several American cities. The British, French, and German systems of civil service have been studied, and other pertinent information has been compiled by Dr. Luther Gulick of the Institute of Public Administration at Columbia University.

In a nutshell, the report urges that some sort of a career system be established in our civil service so that young people of worthy aspirations can be assured of a life work, and the possibility of advancement to positions of responsibility and honor. A seven-point program which can be put into immediate effect for the improvement of the present service is presented which would greatly reduce the number of appointive offices, and somewhat increase efficiency among those offices which are already under civil service control.

As shown above the report is a reliable one consisting of tried facts and observations compiled and submitted by a group of men prominent in this field. It can be taken at face value as an opinion worth considering. From the social viewpoint a change such as that recommended would quite obviously be of untold value in its improvement of the administrative departments.

But from strictly our own personal viewpoint as college men and women we wholeheartedly wish to see this reform take place. It would open up to ambitious youth a new field of employment as first choice which had hitherto been a last resort because of the improbability of advancement to a position of authority.

There are many men and women of high calibre in college now who need but the added inducement of possible advancement and the chance to achieve distinction to persuade them to take up government work.

College students cannot reconcile what they will find after graduation with what they learn in school. But if civil service emphasized fitness and not popularity, this reconciliation would be possible.

We Don't See By the Papers

The results of English Instructor McNeir's experiment with one of his freshman sections was regarded by the campus at large as being delightfully funny. But there is something that must make those of more mature judgment and concern wonder how the modern college man can go surrounded by newspapers without managing to become acquainted with at least the names of the men who are making twentieth century history.

Those who failed to keep up with the Hauptmann trial can hardly be said to have missed very much. Yet, on the other hand, those who have failed to see by the papers that Mussolini is making preparations for a war, that President Roosevelt has been granted a huge sum of taxpayers' money to spend as he sees fit, that the biggest army appropriation bill since 1921 is before the House, and that a hundred other things of equally important nature are occurring these days, are certainly not in possession of a modicum of that interest in national and international affairs that is supposed to be a characteristic of the average mature mind.

Failure of Education

Training the individual so that he will be capable of solving the problems of life is the function of education, according to Dr. English Bagby. In a most interesting lecture, Dr. Bagby discussed with his class the success of the present undergraduate educational set-up in fitting students to meet the problems of life.

The fact that subjects rather than men are being taught was deplored and the teaching of things that will be of definite value to the youth in life was advocated. This teaching of subjects rather than men is the traditional method of the American educational system, supposedly descending from the old way of training men for the clergy used at Harvard University.

Dr. Bagby considered what the present system does or, rather, fails to do toward training young men and women to solve the vocational, social, parental, sex, and recreational problems which will sooner or later inevitably confront them. Most men have incomplete and in some cases erroneous conceptions of the profession they intend entering. It is the duty of education to provide some adequate means of telling them exactly what are the requirements and duties of various professions and just what these professions are like. In other words, education has failed unless it supplies men with very clear conceptions of their professions. The primary consideration of education is to equip the individual to meet the practical problems of life directly and the instilling of vast stores of information will mean nothing if the fundamental need is not met.

Our curriculum planners at the University are doing what they can to remedy the situation at Chapel Hill. We believe this University will be among the leaders in meeting the new demands of collegiate education.

Vassar In Shining Armor

"Puffing nonchalantly on their cigarettes," a delegation of women students from Vassar descended upon the New York state senate to protest against the bill introduced by Joseph Nunnan which would require all students entering state-financed institutions to take the oath of allegiance to the constitution. The Nunnan bill, which is aimed at withholding from Communists the right to higher education, deserves protest, without doubt. Whether is should come wafted amidst the fragrance of Toujours-Moi and Evening in Paris, and borne in the wake of a Murad, is a question of technique, however.

The Vassar girls may throw the weight of this argument in the affirmative. Maybe their charm will prevail against the unloveliness of the Nunnan bill, but all in all we have a sneakin' suspicion that the issue at stake may become in the minds of the legislators one of dilettantes' interest, rather than the vital principle which it represents.

As to the Vassar girls' claim that the Nunnan bill is an abridgement of freedom of speech, that may be. It may also be an "abridgement"—in so far as an incursion against the constitution is anything new these days—of the right of equal protection of the laws, granting of course that Communists, when they are not ogres, can still be citizens. But the truly odoriferous part of the bill is that it would hardly keep those Communists who were so minded to get themselves an education from entering state-financed colleges. Senator Nunnan's measure, we rather think, would only encourage perjury and self-misrepresentation. That should by all rights be more abhorrent to a nation conceived in liberty and tolerance toward political and religious beliefs than all the subversive tenets of Moscow.

Meanwhile, onward, Vassar girls! We only hope your well-meant efforts won't in the long run perfume the Nunnan bill for the delectation of New York's legislators.

WITH THE CHURCHES

Presbyterian

10 a. m.—Student class—Rev. Watt Cooper. Topic: "Violent and Non-Violent Force."

11 a. m.—Sermon—Rev. Donald H. Stewart. Topic: "A Preface to Religion."

7 p. m.—Student Forum led by A. H. Fotouhi, Persian student at the University. Topic: "The Religious Faith of the Orient." (The Forum will close in time for Senator Nye's address.)

Episcopal

8 a. m.—Holy Communion.

11 a. m.—Service and sermon—Dr. A. S. Lawrence.

United

10 a. m.—Student Bible class. Topic: "Saved from and Saved for."

11 a. m.—Sermon—Dr. W. J. McKee. Topic: "Walking in Integrity and Good Will."

7 p. m.—Student Forum led by W. S. Wilder. Topic: "The Student and the Future of the Negro."

Methodist

9:45 a. m.—Sunday school.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon—Rev. W. A. Jenkins.

7 p. m.—Student Forum discussion.

Baptist

10 a. m.—Student class—M. J. Hagood.

10 a. m.—Co-ed class—Mrs. E. T. Howell.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon—Dr. O. T. Binkley. Topic: "Not a Sparrow Is Forgotten—Illusions or Reality."

7 p. m.—B. Y. P. U. for college students.

7 p. m.—Young People's Society for high school students.

Lutheran

10:15 a. m.—Sunday school discussion group led by Thomas Henson.

11 a. m.—Service—Rev. Roscoe B. Fisher. Topic: "This Believing World" (Graham Memorial).

Catholic

8:30 a. m.—Mass—Dr. R. J. Morissey, chaplain (Gerrard hall).

SPECIAL CONFERENCE PLANNED FOR SUMMER

During the week of June 17 a conference dealing with problems and tendencies in public school administration and conducted by eminent leaders in that field will be held in Chapel Hill by the Summer Session of the University of North Carolina.

Public school administrators in North Carolina and other southern states are being invited to the conference.

A special announcement giving further details will be issued soon, according to a statement of Dr. Edgar W. Knight, director of the consolidated summer session of the University.

PENDER TEACHERS TO HEAR DR. MacKINNEY

Dr. L. C. MacKinney of the University history department will speak Wednesday night to the Pender County Teachers Association, meeting in Burgaw.

Dr. MacKinney, who is the chairman of the faculty subcommittee working on the general course in the social sciences for the freshman year, will speak on the relation of the secondary curriculum and the college curriculum in social studies.

While in Burgaw, Dr. MacKinney will also present the plans for the summer session at the University.

L. R. Wilson, Former University Librarian, Will Lecture Here

Scheduled to Appear in Fifth Week of Summer Session.

Dr. L. R. Wilson, dean of the graduate library school at the University of Chicago, and for many years librarian and Kenan professor of library administration here, will be one of the guest lecturers at the approaching summer session, Director Edgar W. Knight announced yesterday.

Dean Wilson will be here during the fifth week of the first term and will participate in Education s107, "Education in the Program of Reconstruction," and also in Education s200, "The Curriculum, Instruction, and Administration of Higher Education."

He is an authority in the field of library administration, and is also greatly interested in the whole subject of reading and reading habits, in which field he has made some distinguished studies.

Dr. Knight also announced that Dr. William E. Givens, formerly superintendent of schools in Oakland, California, and now secretary of the National Education Association of the United States, will give two public lectures here August 19, during the second term of the summer session. Dr. Givens has been prominent in education in the United States for many years and is considered an energetic leader in that field.

Civil Service Exam

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an open competitive examination for the position of director of typography in the government printing office.

Applicants must have had certain practical printing experience and, in addition, at least four years of consistent employment by a printing or publishing house, in laying out and preparing complete "dummies" of proposed publications; in the creation and development of artistic designs, illustrations, title pages, book and pamphlet covers, lettering, and decorative design for reproduction by typographical processes; in the selection of stock and colors to be used, and in the setting of margins and otherwise planning of complete publications or jobs of commercial printing.

NEW PRESIDENT CHOSEN FOR JOHNS HOPKINS U.

Baltimore, Feb. 22.—(UP)—Isaiah Bowman, president of the American Research Council, was today elected president of Johns Hopkins University at a special meeting of the board of trustees.

Dr. Bowman will succeed President Joseph S. Ames, who will retire June 30 after 52 years of official connection with the University. Dr. Ames had previously announced his intention of retiring during the academic year in which he reached his 70th birthday.

ALUMNUS ACTS WITH LITTLE THEATRE GROUP

William Orrison, University student in 1927-29, has been chosen to play in a teacher guild production of "Merchants of Glory" for the Anniston, Ala., Little Theatre.

The play, directed by Fred Morrow, will be given on this evening. Orrison has been associated with the WFLA players in Clearwater, Fla., and is now living in Anniston. He has also appeared for the Little Theatre in "You Never Can Tell," and "The Perfect Alibi."

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

Saturday Feb. 23

1:00: "The Political Situation in Washington Today"—F. W. Wile, WBT.

1:15: George Hall orch., WBT.

2:00: Metropolitan Opera, WPTF; Louis Panico's orch., WBT.

5:00: Little Jack Little orch., WBT.

6:00: Dick Messner orch., WBT.

6:30: Eddie Dooley—Sports Reporter, WBT.

7:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

7:30: Beauty Parade—Walter Preston, baritone; Victor Arden orch., WABC.

8:00: Sigmund Romberg, conductor; Wm. Phelps, narrator, WLW; Roxy's Gang, WABC, KMOX.

8:30: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

9:00: Richard Bonelli, tenor; Vocal Ensemble; Andre Kostelanetz orch., WBT; Radio City Party; Frank Black orch., John B. Kennedy, narrator, WPTF; Rose Bampton; Nathaniel Shilkret orch., WEAF, WLW.

9:30: The Gibson Family—Conrad Thibault; Don Voorhees orch., WLW; Studebaker Champions; Richard Himber orch., Joey Nash, vocalist, WBT, WABC.

10:30: Guy Lombardo orch., WJZ; "Let's Dance," 3-hour dance program, WEAF, WLW. California Melodies, WBT.

11:00: Glen Gray orch., WBT.

11:30: Wayne King orch., WGN.

11:45: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

12:00: Cab Calloway orch., WABC, WHAS.

12:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

12:30: Hal Kemp orch., WJZ, KDKA.

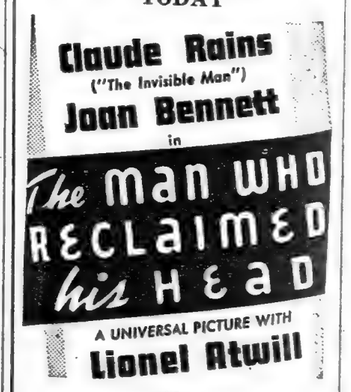
12:45: Kay Kyser orch, WGN.

Bread Loaf School Offers Scholarships

The Bread Loaf School of English, one of the graduate divisions of the famous summer sessions of Middlebury College, offers free tuition for the 1935 session to properly qualified applicants.

The scholarships are offered by the school in addition to the Bread Loaf scholarships offered by the Atlantic Monthly to the winners of the 1935 prize essay contest conducted under the auspices of that magazine.

The staff of the school is composed of distinguished lecturers and teachers who offer a well-rounded group of courses which lead to the M. A. degree.



The Bread Loaf School is located in Middlebury, Vermont.

Henderson Speaks

Dr. Archibald Henderson spoke on George Washington before the Raleigh Kiwanis Club yesterday at noon.

CAROLINA

TODAY

—Also—
Comedy — Novelty

Giddins To Finals; Diehl, Medynski, Edwards, Semi-Finals

Fisher Loses Via TKO In Prelims, Bad Eye-Cut; Matulewicz, Duke, Loses

Novich, Kanner, Eutsler Lose Openers; Diehl Beats Dukester

Only Semi-Finals in Three Heavier Weights Held Yesterday.

(Special to the DAILY TAR HEEL)

Charlottesville, Va., Feb. 22.—Only the semi-finals in the three heavier weights were completed here tonight in the Southern Conference boxing tournament, with Virginia and Maryland placing two each. North Carolina and Duke landed one each.

All the prelims were finished during a day of glove slinging before a capacity crowd. The semi-finals in the five lower divisions will be fought tomorrow and the finals will climax the tourney tomorrow night.

Matulewicz Beaten

Maryland's Lombardo furnished the big upset of the current tournament by taking a decision over Ray Matulewicz, the brilliant sophomore from Duke who was picked by all the experts to cop the middleweight crown.

North Carolina's captain, Sam Giddins, also reached the finals by pounding out a decision over Jean of W. and L.

Morty Caplin of Virginia, moving up to the lightheavyweight for the tournament, outpointed Maxie Novich of North Carolina to reach the finals tomorrow. The Tar Heel appeared weak, due to recent illnesses. The defending SIC champ, McCaw of Maryland, won over Powell of N. C. State for the right to oppose Caplin tomorrow.

Cramer of Virginia and Grainger of Duke won their semi-final bouts in the heavyweight division over Gormley of Maryland and Kanner of North Carolina, respectively.

The feature upset of the prelims was Captain Humphlett of South Carolina and his second round technical knockout of North Carolina's ace sophomore welterweight, Joe Fisher. The Tar Heel received a bad cut over the eye and the bout was stopped.

Marion Diehl won his prelim over Abe Alterman of Duke and will meet Lorenzo Taylor of South Carolina tomorrow in the semi-finals.

Ernie Eutsler lost his prelim fight to Clemson's clever Altman.

Jule Medynski and Johnnie Edwards of North Carolina advanced to the semis via the bye route.

Summaries:

Semi-Finals

Middle weight — Lombardo (Md.) over Matulewicz (Du), Giddins (NC) over Jean (W. and L.).

Light heavy weight — Caplin (Va) over Novich (NC), McCaw (Md) over Powell (NCS).

Heavyweight — Cramer (Va)

(Continued on last page)

FROSH WRESTLE DUKEMEN TODAY

Yearlings in Last Meet of Year; Ford and Love Risk Undefeated Records.

A short session yesterday afternoon consisting mainly of calisthenics, served as the final gathering at the Tin Can this year for the frosh grapplers. With this last workout, the Baby groaners completed training for the Duke team which they meet this afternoon.

Ten men will weigh in at Emerson stadium this morning at 10:30 and will then depart for the Duke gym for the meet to be held there at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The men making the trip to Durham are as follows: Patrick, Ehringhaus, Tankersley, Ford, Claypoole, Gibbons, James, Schulman, Love and Kaluk.

Ford and Love will attempt to complete undefeated seasons in their final collegiate encounter as freshmen. Gibbons and Tankersley will probably be afforded their last chance to score a yearling win, while Kaluk will attempt to gain his first fall in his third and last encounter as a frosh grappler.

The most probable lineup should find practically the same starters who wrestled in the last three encounters. Ehringhaus will begin the afternoon's bouts when he goes on deck representing the 118-lb class. The rest of the lineup will probably be as follows: 126-lb—Tankersley; 135-lb—Ford; 145-lb—Claypoole; 155-lb — Gibbons; 165-lb—James; 175-lb—Love, and unlimited—Kaluk.

FOOTBALLERS IN HARD SCRIMMAGE THIS AFTERNOON

Not Real Game, but Intensive Workout; Rookies Win Last Intra-Squad Contest.

PRACTICE IS NEAR END

Coach Carl Snavely plans to put his Carolina off-season gridders through an intensive scrimmage this afternoon. The workout, although it cannot be classified as a regulation game, will bear the earmarks of an intra-squad contest.

In a game played Wednesday for the benefit of student-faculty day, and also for the purpose of giving students and alumni a look at 1935 prospects, the rookie team composed of freshmen and reserves thoroughly outplayed the veterans and leading reserves from last year to gain a 6-0 win.

Rookies Win

The white clad team showed the vets a few points about all-round playing, never allowed them to come within the "Whites'" 20-yard strip, and led in first downs eight to three.

Randy Cooner, reserve halfback, and Art Ditt, freshman fullback, contributed fine performances for the winners.

"Babe" Daniel, center, and Tom Evins, tackle, both members of last year's team, have returned to winter drills after being out because of illness.

The scrimmage today, which will begin about 2:30 o'clock, will find practically the same lineup as used in previous intra-squad games—the veterans and leading reserves on the first string, the freshmen and the reserves on the second string.

Today marks the end of the sixth week of winter drills. Only one more week remains as the gridders are to lay up their togs March 2.

Mangum No. 1 Captures Dorm Title Over Swain

Alpha Epsilon, Betas, Lewis, and Mayflower Club Annex Victories Yesterday.

FRAT PLAY-OFF MONDAY

A fire-brand passing attack, coupled with a sterling defense, earned for the Mangum No. 1 intramural basketball team the dormitory league title and a berth in the campus championship game, as it defeated Swain Hall by a 30-21 margin yesterday afternoon.

The victors got off to a fast start, ringing up a 6-1 advantage for the first quarter and 15-4 for the half, limiting the opposition to a single field goal during that time. Fox led the early attack with three shots from action.

Waiters Rally

Swain started to rally after the intermission, coming to within two points of the Mangum team, but the sinking of numerous "crip" shots kept the latter out in front. It clung to a 17-13 margin for the third period.

The waiters had evidently put all they had into the third period spurt, for, with Vick leading the offense, the Mangum team went far out in front never again to be in serious danger. Thurman Vick topped the scoring with 11 points, while his teammate, Fox, was tied with Craver of Swain at six each.

Mangum scored 13 field goals and four out of 12 foul tries, while the losers tallied 8 field goals and converted 5 out of 13 fouls.

A. E.'s Win

Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Sigma chose to settle their differences on the big court, and the battle saw the former running away to score a 24-11 victory. Weinstein and Turk headed the Wrestlers Battle At Duke Today; Trackmen Run Tonight In A.A.U.

(Continued on last page)

UMSTEAD FIGHTS IN 125-LB CLASS; LAST 1935 MEET

Gholson-Ardolino and Bonner-Chandler to Be Feature of Afternoon's Match.

BOTH EVENLY MATCHED

Nine varsity wrestlers accompanied by Coach Quinlan and Manager Francis Bowen, will leave by bus this afternoon from Emerson stadium at 12:45 o'clock for Durham, where the Tar Heels will battle Duke in their final dual mat test of the 1935 season.

The meet will follow a tilt between representatives of the two first year teams which is scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock. The men who will make the trip are Darden, Umstead, Lytle, Ward, Gholson, Bonner, Efland, Gwynn, and Ranson.

Outstanding Bouts

There will be two outstanding bouts on today's mat program. The feature match will bring together Gholson and Ardolino in the welterweight division. Ardolino and Stevenson, bantam performer, are considered the leading stars on the Blue Devil contingent.

Ardolino is undefeated to date and boasts victories over his Washington and Lee, VMI, and Davidson opponents. Gholson is the most improved man on the Tar Heel squad this year and he will undoubtedly make it plenty hot for the Duke 145-pounder.

Bonner-Chandler

In the 155-pound class another real scrap is expected between Bonner of Carolina and Chandler. Bonner has suffered only one defeat in two years of competition. Chandler's only loss was at the hands of Quarterman of Davidson two weeks ago. Bonner won a hotly contested match from the Presbyterian contestant last Friday. Although Bonner will be the favorite today, he will in all probability have his hands full with the Duke man.

Carolina will be greatly strengthened by the return of Frank Umstead, brilliant bantamweight. Umstead, who was unable to compete on account of skin ailments in the Davidson meet, has put on several pounds of weight and will get the call in the featherweight division.

If comparative scores are taken into consideration, Carolina and Duke are evenly matched. The Tar Heels defeated VPI, 23-9, in the season's opener; and then lost to State, 18-6; Washington and Lee, 28-0; VMI, 19-11; and Davidson, 16-14, on successive Saturdays.

Coach Add Warren's charges have yet to gain a victory. Opening against VMI, the Blue Devils were trounced, 26-5. Davidson walloped the Durham aggregation, 23-9, but the Dukesters gave the Washington and Lee

(Continued on last page)

State High Schools Will Meet in Tin Can In Finals Next Week

Class "A" and "B" Winners Battle Tuesday, Wednesday.

The finals in the North Carolina high school basketball races are to be played here in the Tin Can early next week, it was announced by E. R. Rankin, secretary of the State High School Athletic Association.

Class "B" finals are to be staged Tuesday night at 8 o'clock while the class "A" finals will be played Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

The battles for sectional championships have been very closely contested this year in all four divisions. The Western Class "A" title rested on the outcome of the High Point-Greensboro and the Charlotte-Salisbury games last night. In the east, the final winner remained undecided until the Durham-Raleigh game was over. Results of neither game were available last night.

In the lower class, the Dover-Cary game in the east and the Dobson-Cleveland tilt in the west were to decide the sectional winners.

ALUMNI MEETING

Carl Snavely, head coach of football, and J. M. Saunders, alumni secretary, will address alumni from Cabarrus county in Concord tonight.

Officers of alumni clubs of neighboring counties and a number of students home for the week-end are also expected to attend the meeting.

WILLIAMSON AND DISTANCE MEDLEY GROUP IN RACES

Fourteen Men to Represent Carolina in Charlotte Jay-Cee Games Monday.

CLOSE RACES EXPECTED

Harry Williamson and the 2900-meter medley relay team will get into action tonight in the national indoor championships of the A. A. U., being held in Madison Square Garden at New York City.

Williamson, on his fourth trip north this winter, will be pitted against the cream of the crop for the 1000 meters. Chuck Hornbostel, all-American in this distance, will lead the field, followed by such stars as Dawson and Sweet.

Relay Team

The four legs in the medley are, in order, the 400, 200, 800, and 1500 meters. "Red" Drake will handle the first lap, Floyd Higby the dash, Graham Gammon the third, and Ed McRae the anchor post. Penn and N. Y. A. C. will afford the strongest opposition in this distance medley.

Monday 14 track men will journey to Charlotte and the Jay-Cee games to be staged in the Armory that night. These men include those who went to New York, except Higby; and Charlie Hubbard, Tom Hawthorne, Bob Gardiner, Dick Gabori, Ed Waldrop, Jesse Parker, Tom Evins, Dick Bear, Roy Rosser, and "Red" Montgomery. They leave from Emerson Monday afternoon at 12:45 o'clock.

(Continued on last page)

Carolina Swordsmen Cross Sabres With William & Mary In Opener

Fencing Meet Tonight Marks Carolina Debut; Elmendorf, Toby, Kalb, Spies, and Snowden to Engage in Competition at Williamsburg, Va.; Tar Heels Victors, 10-7, Last Year.

Carolina makes its 1935 debut in another sport tonight when the fencing team matches strokes with the William and Mary aggregation at Williamsburg, Va. The statement in yesterday's edition of the DAILY TAR HEEL to the effect that the fencers were to meet their Virginian opponents last night was in error.

A veteran lineup, with the exception of Milton Kalb, will carry the Blue and White colors against William and Mary and hope for a repetition of last year's victory. In the dual match of last winter the Tar Heel swordsmen emerged on the long end of a 10-7 score.

Elmendorf Stars

Johnny Elmendorf, brilliant sophomore fencer, undefeated in last year's play, will lead the team against William and Mary. He will be ably supported by Brad Toby, who is coaching the players, Jack Spies, DuPont Snowden and Kalb.

At present this is the only scheduled meet for the Tar Heel squad as William and Mary is the only southern school to sponsor a fencing team. VMI, who defeated Carolina last year, has abandoned fencing, leaving Georgia Tech as the only other possible foe.

Three Weapons

The competition will be staged in three parts. Foils, epee, and sabre are the divisions in which the teams contend for honors. Last year Elmendorf copped two victories in the sabre and epee contest to score four points. Tobey also starred, taking two decisions in the epee event.

The team is anxious for a victory so that fencing may obtain a permanent grip in Carolina athletic activities. Fencing is an uninitiated sport in the south, and intercollegiate competition is expected to be the necessary boon to give it a foothold.

GRAIL DANCE
TONIGHT
Bynum Gym 9-12

Music by
JACK WARDLAW
And His Orchestra
Freshmen Admitted

Government Again Puts Men to Work On the University's Athletic Field

Work on the University's new intramural athletic field—begun under the C. W. A., suspended, resumed under the E. R. A., and again suspended — is again going forward. The passer-by sees the field peppered with laborers digging, laying pipes, filling ditches, rolling wheel barrows, and tugging pieces of lumber back and forth.

The on-again, off-again performance of the Government, with respect to this job, has been confusing. One day the inquiring newspaper reporter is told there is no money, and so the job must stop. Which is true. But then a message comes from Washington to Raleigh, and is passed on here from Raleigh, to the effect that fresh funds are available—and the laborers are called back to work.

"I believe the work will go on steadily now until it is finished, or certainly with not much interruption," said George H. Lawrence, Government relief representative in Orange county, yesterday. "This is one of those projects, left incomplete when the C.W.A. went out of existence, which the Government has decided to complete, and special provision has been made for the purchase of the necessary materials and for the skilled labor. The unskilled labor has to be paid for out of the regular relief funds, and it was the exhaustion of those funds that forced the suspension of operations last week."

A person looking at the field has seen very little progress in the last three or four weeks. That is because the work has had to do mostly with drainage. Now that the pipe lines are laid, and most of them are covered up, the construction of the bank of concrete seats will begin.

Garden Club to Meet

The Chapel Hill Garden Club will meet at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon in the Sunday school room of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Clarence Heer will talk on raising flowers from seeds sown in the open ground.

Ribbons will be awarded in the following classes: (1) arrangements of bulb flowers, all of one kind; (2) arrangement of more than one kind of bulb flowers; (3) arrangement of flowering shrub or tree; (4) a plant or bulbs grown indoors; (5) collection of flowers and bulbs; (6) any arrangement other than those specified.

Every exhibit should be brought to the Sunday school room by 3 o'clock, with a card bearing the name of the member and the number of the class in which the display is to be entered.

Boxing Tourney

(Continued from page three)

over Gormley (Md), Grainger (Du) over Kanner (NC).

Prelims Summary

Bantam—Diehl (NC) over Alterman (Du), Hahn (Va) over Williams (Clem).

Feather — Birmingham (Md) over Tuttle (NCS), Altman (Clem) over Eutsler (NC).

Light — Nedomatsky (Md) TKO in first over Brooks (Va), Dawson (Clem) over Hudson (NCS).

Welter — Humphlett (SC) TKO in second over Fisher (NC).

Junior middle—Mann (Du) TKO in first over McClung (Va).

Middle—Lombardo (Md) over Stoddard (SC).

Track

(Continued from page three)

All the events in the Queen City will be close and exciting. Such stars as the following are to be on hand: Widmyer and Little in the dashes; Everett, Schuhle, and Slye in the hurdles; Evans and Bullard in the half-mile; Dunaj, Plummer, Frazier, and Bird in the two-mile; Williams and possibly Torrance in the shot put; Dunaj and Heritage in the Barrett Mile; Headley and Calhoun in the 1000-yard run; Pittman and Stroud in the pole vault; Arnold, Boucher, Wilkin, and Atkinson in the high jump, and Maryland's N. Y. A. C. record holding mile relay team.

"MENS INSANA—— IN CORPORE SANO"

Boston, Feb. 22.—(UP)—Among other things, "look as idiotic as you possibly can" if you want to be healthy.

That's the advice which Dr. Jay B. Nash, chairman of the department of health and physical education of New York University, gave the ninth state conference of directors and instructors of physical education here recently.

Other health "tips" included—relax, slouch, "walk with ease and find relaxation in rhythm."

Several Hundred Athletes To Be Here For SIC Indoor Track Carnival

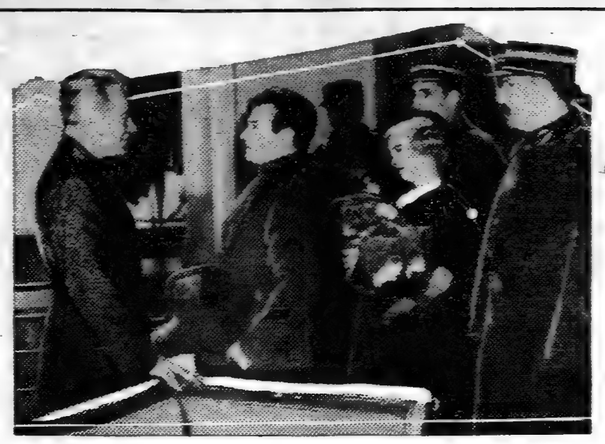
Elaborate Plans Are Going Forward to Make Sixth Annual SIC Meet in Tin Can on Saturday, March 9, Best Yet; Numerous Teams Expected in All Four Divisions.

A check-up yesterday of probable entries indicated that some 300 individual performers, representing more than 40 teams, are planning to compete in the sixth annual southern indoor games. Plans are rapidly being carried out for the meet, to be held in the Tin Can, Saturday, March 9.

R. A. Fetzer, chairman of the game committee of the Southern Conference, and athletic director of the University, said today he was practically assured that all 10 conference teams would send entries.

Scholastic Group

In the scholastic division intentions of entering have been received from the following high schools: Greensboro, Durham, Raleigh, Goldsboro, Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Old Town, High Point, in North Carolina; Atlanta Boys' High, John Marshall High of Richmond; Asheville Boys' School, Woodberry Forest, Oak Ridge Military Institute, and Hargrave Military Academy.



Non-conference schools expected to be entered are Catholic University and Georgetown University of Washington, D. C.; Richmond University; William and Mary; Furman University, Davidson College, Presbyterian College, and Wake Forest.

Frosh Teams

Freshman teams will be entered by practically all the conference and non-conference schools participating.

The games will be split into four divisions—Conference, non-conference, freshman and scholastic. Carolina won the title in the conference division last year, Catholic University in the non-conference, Duke in the freshman, and Atlanta Boys' High in the scholastic.

AT CAROLINA TODAY

Scene from "The Man Who Reclaimed His Head," now playing at the Carolina theatre.

Co-op Cleaners Audited

Mr. Haywood Weeks,
Chairman, Board of Directors,
Student Co-operative Association,
Chapel Hill, N. C.

Dear Sir:

I have audited the books and records of the Student Co-operative Cleaners for the year ended December 31, 1934, and submit herewith my report consisting of the following statements:

Balance Sheet	EXHIBIT A
Statement of Profit and Loss	EXHIBIT B
Mortgages Payable	SCHEDULE 1

Comments

Notes Receivable—This note is dated December 16, 1934, payable on demand, with interest at 6%. It is signed by the Student Co-operative Store, with the three directors as trustees. In my opinion this is not sufficient security for the protection of the Cleaners. I feel that until the members decide to merge the two organizations, they should be kept entirely separate, and that all transactions between them should be on the same basis as those between any other business organizations.

Accounts Receivable—This consists of the following items:

Due from Fraternities—cleaning	$119.90
Power deposit	25.00
Other receivables	14.45
Total	$159.35

Equipment has been depreciated at the following annual rates, the amount of depreciation being based on the actual number of months used. For example the new truck was purchased on December 11, so only $13.92 has been reserved. Since the former truck owned was of little value, no depreciation was considered.

Cleaning equipment
New	16.66%
Second hand	20
Delivery truck	25

As shown on Exhibit A, a surplus of $845.79 was accumulated during the first year. While the object of the association is to render service at cost, I believe that this first year profit is justified, as some surplus may be needed for future contingencies.

The board of directors, particularly the chairman, has done a tremendous amount of work in launching this enterprise, and deserves much credit. The only compensation received by any director has been free cleaning service, with the exception of one member, who was paid 25 cents an hour for services rendered for a short time during the summer as clerk and truck driver. I recommend that the chairman of the board be voted a reasonable monthly salary for the service which he is now rendering, this expense to be shared by the Cleaners and the Store.

I HEREBY CERTIFY, that, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the enclosed Balance Sheet correctly presents the financial condition of the Student Co-operative Cleaners as of December 31, 1934, and that the enclosed Statement of Profit and Loss reflects true results of operation for the year ended that date.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT H. SHERRILL,
Certified Public Accountant.

EXHIBIT A

STUDENT CO-OPERATIVE CLEANERS
Balance Sheet
DECEMBER 31, 1934

Assets
Current Assets
Cash	$ 346.55
Note Receivable—Co-operative Store	900.00
Accounts receivable	159.35	$ 1,405.90
Fixed Assets
Cleaning equipment	$ 2,447.68
Less: Reserve for depreciation	314.46	$ 2,133.22
Delivery truck	$ 668.00
Less: Reserve for depreciation	13.92	654.08 2,787.30
Deferred Charges
Prepaid interest	$ 16.50
Prepaid insurance	15.50
Supplies on hand	78.12	110.12
Total Assets		$ 4,303.32
Liabilities
Current Liabilities
Mortgages payable (Sch. 1)	$ 1,077.49
Accounts payable (All paid in Jan.)	598.04
Total Liabilities		$ 1,675.53
Net Worth
Memberships	$ 1,782.00
Surplus—From Exhibit B	845.79
Total Net Worth		$ 2,627.79

EXHIBIT B

STUDENT CO-OPERATIVE CLEANERS
Statement of Profit and Loss
YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 1934

Income
Cleaning and pressing		$10,037.66
Alterations		274.15
Trucking		30.75
Rental		276.00
Interest		10.90
Total Income		$10,629.46
Expense
General Administration
Salary—Manager and clerks	$ 1,816.87
Installation of accounting system	20.00
Auditing and bookkeeping	210.00
Supplies	21.80
Telephone and telegraph	90.70
Advertising	68.09
Rent	840.00
Taxes	103.75
Occupancy Expense	38.13
Interest	26.41
Other expense	31.50	$ 3,267.25
Cleaning and Pressing
Salaries and wages—Cleaners	$ 2,413.29
Salary—Tailor	533.35
Cleaning supplies	898.09
Bags, hangers, etc.	333.93
Light, power, water	696.36
Repairs and maintenance	314.88
Depreciation	314.46
Other expense	21.45	5,525.81
Delivery Expense
Salary—Driver	$ 496.05
Gas and oil	315.84
Repairs and maintenance	132.30
Taxes	17.00
Insurance	15.50
Depreciation	13.92	990.61
Total Expense		$ 9,783.67
Net Profit—To Exhibit A		845.79

SCHEDULE 1

STUDENT CO-OPERATIVE CLEANERS
Mortgages Payable
DECEMBER 31, 1934

	Due	Amount
Hoffman Machine Co.	January, 1935	$ 31.35
Kelly Iron Works	$ 23.00 per month	229.00
Securities Investment Co.	14.68 per month	161.57
Singer Sewing Machine Co.	9.43 per month	55.57
Bank of Chapel Hill	100.00 per month	600.00
Total to Exhibit A		$ 1,077.49

Murals

(Continued from page three)

winners, while May and Rennie did best for Kappa Sigma.

The Betas returned to the victory path after a two-game leave and finished its season by routing S. P. E., 48-15. Trip Rand took the day's scoring prize with 26 markers.

Lewis battled through a difficult game with the Locals, but finally emerged the victors by a 29-27 margin, and with Brady paving the way, the Mayflower Club took the Pharmacy five into camp by a 28-23 margin to round out the afternoon's game.

The summaries:

Mangum (30)	Swain Hall (21)
Henson, f (5)	Allen, f (3)
Vick, f (11)	Burton, f (3)
Fox, c (6)	Wright, c
Freeman, g (4)	Brown, g (1)
Barnwell, g (4)	Thomas, g (3)

Subs: Mangum No. 1—Rhodes; Swain Hall—Little (5), Craver (6), Cook.

A. E. (24)	Kappa Sigma (11)
Weinstein, f (6)	Rennie, f (2)
Shalom, f (2)	Townsend, f
Singer, c (3)	May, c (5)
Levine, g (4)	Fulton, g (2)
Turk, g (9)	Steele, g (2)

Subs: Alpha Epsilon—Mark.

Lewis (29)	Locals (27)
Collins, (5)	Davenport, f (9)
Hawks, f (6)	Brown, f
A. Parker, c (6)	Woodard, c (3)
Lawlor, g (8)	Seawell, g (6)
Derrickson, g (2)	Terry, g (2)

Subs: Lewis—D. Parker (2); Locals—Warner (7), P. Woodard.

Betas (48)	S. P. E. (16)
Rand, f (26)	Chestnutt, f (2)
Leak, f (3)	Taylor, f
Van Hecke, c	Sawyer, c
Fletcher, g (4)	Pitts, g (5)
Williams, g	Davison, g (5)

Subs: Beta Theta Pi—Abernethy (11), Dunn (4); S. P. E.—Parker (4).

Mayflower (28)	Pharmacy (23)
Collins, f (2)	K. Edwards, f (7)
Bagwell, f (10)	P. Woodard (6)
Brady, c (6)	J. Woodard, c (4)
Walker, g (6)	Warner, g (4)
Holland, g (4)	W. Edwards (2)

Subs: Mayflower Club—Adelman.

Varsity Wrestling

(Continued from page three)

Generals a close shave before bowing 19-11, victories via the fall route in the last two matches turning the tide in favor of the Virginians.

The probable starting lineup for Carolina will be as follows: 118—Darden; 126—Umstead; 135—Ward; 145—Gholson; 155—Bonner; 165—Captain Efland; 175—Gwynn and unlimited—Ranson.

Grumman, Kiwanian

R. M. Grumman made an official visit to the Louisburg Kiwanis Club last night. He is lieutenant-governor of the fifth Carolinas district of Kiwanis International.

WANTED

Ten thousand more patrons at the University Barber Shop on Main Street, two doors below Pritchard-Lloyd's.

SEND THE DAILY TAR HEEL HOME

Alfred Williams & Co., Inc.
Pennsylvania and Wright & Ditson Tennis Balls

Popular Classics in Cheap Editions
From 15c to $1.00
RECENT FICTION; NON-FICTION; DRAMA
Memory of Love — Bessie Breuer
Road of Ages — Robert Nathan Heaven's My Destination — Thornton Wilder
Forty Days of Musa Dagh — Franz Werfel
The Bull's Head Bookshop
Books for Sale or Rent

POLITICAL UNION
TOMORROW—8:15
GERRARD HALL

The Daily Tar Heel

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

SENATOR NYE'S ADDRESS
8 P.M.
MEMORIAL HALL

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1935 | NUMBER 114

U.N.C. WILL HEAR ABOUT MUNITIONS INQUIRY TONIGHT

Gerald P. Nye, North Dakota Senator, to Discuss Congressional Probe.

WILL SPEAK AT 8 O'CLOCK

Tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall, Carolina students will hear the facts concerning Congress's last summer investigation of the American munitions industry from the mouth of the North Dakota Senator who headed the investigation, Gerald P. Nye.

Under the sponsorship of the University Y. M. C. A., Nye will appear here tonight after making a similar lecture on "Munitions Profiteering, Etc." in Raleigh this afternoon.

Reported Last Fall

The Senator's address to the Carolina audience will deal with the Senate investigation of DuPont and other American armament makers. Nye and his group made startling revelations to the United States last September when the committee made its report to Congress.

Nye, with an outstanding career as a newspaperman, entered national politics during the 1920's when he was appointed to fill a Senatorial vacancy in Congress. Since then he has advanced to the leadership of the minority in Congress and has become known as the "Progressive Republican."

Voicing a reason for his opposition to the United States' entering the World Court, Nye recently told a Philadelphia audience that the United States should clean up her own backyard before she forced herself and her peace projects on other nations.

PLAYERS TO HOLD TRYOUTS TUESDAY

Seven Plays Will Be Presented on Next Playmakers Experimental Bill March 7.

Seven plays will be presented on the second bill of experimental dramas by the Carolina Playmakers March 7. Tryouts for the casts will be conducted Tuesday afternoon in the theatre at 4:30 o'clock.

According to Samuel Selden, technical director of the Playmakers, 12 original dramas have been submitted by students in the University's playwriting courses for consideration on this second bill of experimentals. The seven plays to be chosen will be announced tomorrow.

Second Half of Quarter

Five experimental dramas were presented several weeks ago on the bill for the first half of the quarter's work. The coming productions will represent the second half of the quarter, according to Selden.

Tryouts are open to all, and people who have not yet become associated with the Playmaker group are especially invited to participate. Appearing in an experimental drama gives credit toward the Playmakers' annual mask award, announced Selden.

B. Y. P. U. Program

Several W. C. U. N. C. students will conduct the weekly program of the B. Y. P. U. at 7 o'clock tonight at the Baptist church.

Karl Fussler Says Observatory Here Was The First Owned By U.S. College

Medical Professors Back from Reunion

Dr. C. S. Mangum and Dr. W. deB. MacNider, both of the University medical school, have returned from the annual reunion of the graduates of the old North Carolina University medical school, which took place at Fayetteville, February 22.

The reunion was unique in that all the doctors that attended are graduates of a school which no longer exists. The University medical school, which was in Raleigh, was in operation only from 1903 till 1910.

In that time it graduated some physicians who today stand at the top of their specialties. Among them are Dr. J. A. Farrell, medical director of the Rockefeller Foundation; Dr. Marshall C. Guthrie, surgeon in charge of Indian affairs for the United States government; Dr. C. S. Mangum, dean of this University's medical school, and Dr. W. deB. MacNider, also of the University.

On the program were Dr. H. A. Royster and Dr. J. W. McGhee of Raleigh, both of whom were members of the faculty of the old medical school.

Joseph Caldwell Purchased $6,000 in Equipment for Early Research in Astronomy.

"As far as I have been able to find out," said Dr. Karl H. Fussler of the physics department, "the University had the first astronomical observatory of any institution in America. It was built by Joseph Caldwell, first president of the University, after he had gone to England and purchased $6,000 worth of physical apparatus."

Dr. Fussler referred to Kemp P. Battle's "History of the University of North Carolina," which records President Caldwell's observatory as being the first "connected with an institution of learning in America, that of Professor Hopkins at Williams College being in 1836," five years after the completion of the University's observatory.

Site of Observatory

"We have located the approximate site of the observatory," said Dr. Fussler. "It is near the varsity tennis courts. As I understand it, there used to be a hill there which was leveled off in marking the courts," the physics professor said. "I should like to see an appropriate marker or monument erected there by some senior class to keep something of historical importance in peoples' minds," Dr. Fussler added with emphasis.

Dr. Fussler at the present time is at work identifying the surviving pieces of the apparatus housed in the observatory. "Some of the old instruments and equipment are still used by the physics department," said Dr. Fussler. Among the various pieces still in use Dr. Fussler named a leyden jar, an instrument with two large spherical mirrors, a pair of discharge handles for electrical discharges, and an instrument called an armilary, a device for visualizing the heavens in relation to the earth, which he considered historically valuable.

Arc Scale

Dr. Fussler went on to describe an arc scale which he had resurrected from one of the telescopes purchased by Presi-

(Continued on last page)

FIRST-YEAR CLASS VOTES TOMORROW ON HONOR COURT

Freshmen to Make Final Decision on Tribunal at Assembly.

The freshman class will vote in assembly tomorrow on the honor court proposed to them last Friday by Nick Read, chairman of the honor court committee.

Should the class accept the plan at the meeting today they will also vote on the method of selecting the 11 members of the court. Three methods have been proposed: selection directly by the executive committee, selection by the class from 22 candidates nominated by the committee, and selection by the class from 22 candidates nominated by a committee elected by the class, with the class president and chairman of the executive committee acting as ex-officio members.

The plan, approved by Virgil Weathers, president of the student body, would vest in the court the power of trying all cases of violation of the honor code arising in the freshman class. Decisions would be subject to appeal to the student council.

FOREIGN BULLETIN

Asuncion, Paraguay, Feb. 23.—(UP)—Angered by the course that the League of Nations took in attempting to settle the Bolivia-Paraguay conflict, those two nations resigned from the League today.

P. U. Board!

A special meeting of the Publications Union Board has been called for tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock in the seminar room of Bingham hall, it was announced yesterday by Claude Rankin, president. All members of the board are urgently requested to be on time as important action will be taken regarding the circulation of the Daily Tar Heel.

GRIER AND McKEE LEAD DISCUSSIONS TOMORROW NIGHT

Y. M. C. A. Cabinets Will Consider Pros and Cons of Capital Punishment.

"Y" TO PLAN DEPUTATION

Y. M. C. A. Members J. C. Grier and Don McKee will lead the "Y" cabinet discussions tomorrow night at 7:15 o'clock when the respective groups resume their study of social problems.

Grier will address the junior-senior group on the subject of "Capital Punishment." Grier was scheduled to deliver his address on the same topic last Monday night but postponed his talk until tomorrow's meeting.

"Similar Topic"

McKee, in the sophomore cabinet, will take up a similar topic, "Should Capital Punishment be Abolished?" He will present both sides of the question and will point out the distinct advantages of abolition.

The "Y" groups will consider the report of the deputation team committee which has scheduled a Y. M. C. A. trip to Fayetteville for the coming week-end; the matter of visiting the North Carolina state penitentiary in Raleigh, in connection with their study of crime, will also be taken up in the meetings tomorrow night.

For the entire winter quarter, the "Y" cabinets have been studying "Social Disorganization" and two more speakers have been scheduled to address the groups on the remainder of the quarter's program. President of the "Y" J. D. Winslow will appear before the upper group next week to lead the discussion on "Juvenile Delinquency."

COMPOSITION CONDITIONS

All students who plan to take the examination for the removal of composition conditions are asked to see Dr. H. K. Russell in 203 Murphey hall tomorrow morning from 10 to 11 o'clock or tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock.

Fun To Be Fooled

By MAC SMITH

Blond-headed Freshman John Leach leaned back in his chair down in Everett dorm.

"Go ahead, boys," he said to the assembled group, "go ahead and have some. There's plenty of it, so help yourself."

Leach proceeded to pass around the large candy box filled with enough goodies to please the most hard-boiled football senior. The box had come direct from the pantry of President Frank Porter Graham.

Now it had happened after this fashion. Leach, like all good freshmen, was studying awfully hard last week when the piercing voice of the dorm store-keeper had called him down to the phone.

The victim rushed down and a soft voice told him he was wanted at President Graham's mansion . . . a party or something. Leach frocked up and hurried out to the edge of town. He was goin' to see Dr. Frank.

A smooth little man met Leach at the door and invited him inside. Except for Dr. Frank, Leach was alone in the great house.

Fifteen minutes passed and Leach was enraptured with the warm cordiality of Dr. Frank. Then the president arose and offered his apologies . . . some work to do . . . would Leach make himself at home and browse about the library.

The young freshman felt ill at ease. "Didn't you call for me to come around?" he said.

Dr. Frank turned with a questioning "No."

Leach gulped and then Dr. Frank smiled . . . joke victim for 34-35 had at last turned up.

"Come on, young man, and we'll fix things up." Whereby Dr. Graham led young Leach to the pantry and between the two a feast was made . . . milk and chicken, cake and a few candies.

"And take this with you," said Dr. Graham. It was a huge box of goodies straight from the hands of the president.

Leach stepped out in the fresh Carolina air, whisked over to Everett and called in the scavengers to feast once more off the president's candy box. Some joke, eh, boss?

Former N. C. Sales Tax Director Will Speak To Political Union

Debaters Will Meet Wake Forest Here

Francis Fairley, and W. C. Durfee of the University debate squad will meet a debate team from Wake Forest tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

The local debaters will take the negative on the query: Resolved, that nations of the world agree to prevent the shipment of arms and munitions.

This will be the return encounter for the debate Friday night at Wake Forest in which Norman Kellar and Don Seawell of the University argued the affirmative for the same query.

The visiting team will arrive here tomorrow afternoon and will be entertained at dinner afterwards.

Having debated the same query on several previous occasions, Durfee and Fairley are expected to be quite familiar with the question.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR ART COURSE

Southern Art Projects Will Sponsor Painting and Art Class at University.

Plans for the fourth event in the Southern Art Projects program for North Carolina, the watercoloring course to be taught for three weeks beginning March 25 by Eliot O'Hara, artist, teacher, and author of "Making Watercolor Behave," have been completed, R. M. Grumman announced yesterday.

The course in the technique of watercolor painting will include the following topics: abstract brush drill, values (light and darkness), warm and cold color, tree strokes, application of brush strokes to landscape, the spectrum, neutralization of color, tree shadows on a white house (method of showing form by lighting), geometric shapes and painting, recessions into space, transitions, memory sketches, and review with some notes on composition.

Criticism of students' work will be made three times during the course, usually on rainy days when the class is unable to get out of doors. Balance, alignment, direction, scale, and rhythm will be considered in the criticism of students' pictures.

Anyone over 14 years old, regardless of previous art training or experience, is eligible to enroll. The classes, however, will be limited in enrollment.

The cost of the course is $5 for tuition, $8 for materials. University faculty members and their families, students, and members of Miss Tuttle's art classes are exempt from the tuition charge.

Registration blanks and further information may be obtained from Grumman at 312 South.

BROADCAST

A broadcast of the Brahms cycle, featuring his Second Symphony, played by the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Arturo Toscannini, may be heard in the choral room of the Hill music hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The concert will come from Carnegie hall in New York and is the second in the Brahms cycle.

HARRY McMULLAN TALKS TOMORROW

Present Chairman of State Industrial Commission to Make Address on "Taxation."

NEW GROUP TO ORGANIZE

Harry McMullan, chairman of the state industrial commission and former director of the state sales tax, will speak at the first meeting of the newly-formed Carolina Political Union in Gerrard hall tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock on "Taxation."

McMullan is regarded as the outstanding authority in North Carolina as regards the sales tax and its application in North Carolina. He delivered a speech before the North Carolina Club recently on the subject and was well received by a large campus audience.

Organization Meeting

The first meeting of the Union will probably differ from the subsequent gatherings, as it combines an organizational session with the presentation of an outside speaker.

There will be no debate or discussion on the issue following McMullan's speech, as it is expected that the creation of the organizational plans will consume a large portion of the evening.

Proposals Ready

Proposals for organization and procedure have been drawn up by a committee appointed by Phil Hammer, temporary chairman, and will be presented tomorrow night.

As tentatively planned subject to ratification or rejection by the Union, the proposals call

(Continued on page two)

ICKES DEPLORES CONGRESS' DELAY

President's Works Relief Plan Under Fire; Ickes Points Out Country's Needs.

Washington, Feb. 23.—(UP)—PWA Administrator Harold L. Ickes stressed the national need for public works tonight as he termed the Congressional delay on the President's works relief bill as "most unfortunate."

The energetic public works chief announced that a preliminary survey of the nation had uncovered more than $8,500,000,000 in available projects, besides the $3,000,000,000 already on file.

Meanwhile . . .

Meanwhile President Roosevelt's legislative program, including his works relief appropriation, was jeopardized in turn by a bolting Senate and a rebellious House. The New Deal is evidently on the defensive on all fronts.

The administration is obviously depending on the folks back home to chastise the Senate. A strict enforcement of rules is to be the prime defense against rebels in the House.

FORUM POSTPONED

The third lecture of the series of winter forums sponsored by the Presbyterian church, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed because of Senator Gerald P. Nye's address.

Professor J. A. Spangler of Duke University was to have spoken on "The Christian and Communism."

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
George Underwood ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: JIM DANIEL

Sunday, February 24, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"'Y' to Send Nine to Fayetteville." With that quartet, it looks like a real bawl club with a stellar second-bass.

We see where there will be some old-time music down at Cranberry high school. Think we'll go down just to fiddle around.

The opinion that one needs lots of crust and skads of dough to go to the Bread Loaf School of English is probably half-baked.

We're Sick

Sitting in the editorial office of this newspaper yesterday morning, we received within one hour over ten complaints from persons on the subscribers' list who have not received their copy of the DAILY TAR HEEL regularly.

Some of the complaintants were irate; one has received only four copies since the Christmas holidays. Friday a letter from the firm which gives the paper its bulk of national advertising showed that it received six copies in the whole of December, four for January, and two for February. It is meant to get daily issues.

The editorial staff of this newspaper kicks as much as the subscribers. We're getting tired listening to complaints; we're getting sick of not having enough copies to read ourselves after the impassioned public purloins our office; and the business staff next door is just as upset.

The circulation manager is appointed by the Publications Union Board and is responsible to it only. But the Publications Union Board cannot see what we can, or else it doesn't, and the circulation manager has been remonstrated but not dealt with decisively.

As long as the circulation manager is responsible to the Publications Union Board, the same result will occur. There is no incentive for efficiency because the salary is uniform each week, the responsibility is far-removed, and the chances for more-than-occasional slips are legion.

We wish something would be done about the situation. And, in addition, that the circulation manager be made responsible to the DAILY TAR HEEL, which is concerned, rather than to the Publications Union Board, which is also concerned but not always able to experience the rattle in the publication machinery when one of the cogs slips awry.

Loyalty To What?

The William Randolph Hearst papers, standing for "Loyalty to America," named 24 prominent American educators who are allegedly hand-in-hand with the Soviet government and are spreading Communistic propaganda throughout American institutions of learning.

Frank P. Graham is on the list, as is our Professor Howard W. Odum, outstanding sociologist. And so is Harry Woodburn Chase, now chancellor at New York University and formerly president at the University of North Carolina.

Mr. Hearst would not answer the questions of the American college editors recently, but he will attack the college heads because they are open-minded. Mr. Hearst is a die-hard propagandist and had better define Americanism before he attacks the un-Americans.

The Union Is Begun

The Carolina Political Union will meet in its first real session tomorrow night. It is expected that over 100 students and faculty members will be in attendance as the newest campus organization becomes a reality.

We have stressed the importance of such a group in these columns before. The committee which has drawn up proposals has represented all points of view and it is expected that a minimum amount of debate will be necessary in the creation of a skeleton plan for organization.

The political union can easily and will probably become one af the most powerful organizations on the campus. It deals with current problems, it recognizes the minority, it fosters individual opinions as well as group action, it tends to crystallize public sentiment.

In the whirling social and economic order of today, students must become conscious of their part in the social revolution which characterizes our government and our nation. When the youth can hear facts and shout its opinion and band together in a crystallized consciousness, it can more easily realize its responsibility.

We hope there is a large turnout tomorrow night. The union's program should tend to become a major undergraduate force in Chapel Hill.

Freedom To Complain

The revised curriculum is purported to take care of individual needs, interests, and abilities. An undergraduate dean and a council for each of the four divisions will see to it that students are pursuing educational paths compatible with their personalities and conducive to their intensest application.

If this individual consideration will be granted, we have an additional freedom which we believe the student must enjoy to get the most from the revised set-up, which is changing with the changing economic and social order. This new freedom is the privilege of the student to report grievances or suggestions against a faculty member which are hindering his obtaining a maximum of good from the course.

There are professors who teach nothing more than what is in the text, whose lectures are dry and whose interest in the class is nil. We understand how professors could slip into the rut of routine exposition; but for the student who wants to learn the cut-and-dried discourse is a negative influence in the educational procedure.

So, as the curriculum is re-examined to meet the changing conditions, why cannot the teachers be re-examined also? We feel that the modern generation of students is fairly conscious of its responsibilities in the new order and to express his demands as to his instructors is to manifest this consciousness and to warrant his complaint a proper treatment and consideration.

The Court And the Code

Freshmen are ruminating over the week-end on the proposed honor court for their class. Tomorrow the first-year men will vote on the tribunal and if it is favored, they will decide the methods by which members shall be chosen.

It has been gratifying from the first to see the newest additions to the campus manifest such an interest in the basic tradition of this institution, the basic code of its organization. There may be reasons for the non-establishment of the court and there may be just as many supporting the tribunal, but we are not to say.

It is the freshmen's business and they will handle it as they see fit. Honor cannot be dictated; it must be felt spontaneously and sustained by force of belief. Whatever the freshmen do tomorrow, we feel that they are justified in doing for they have already shown that the honor code is their code and whatever movement has been made has been prompted by a spirit of co-operation in enforcing it.

Students Of a Racket

United States Senator Gerald P. Nye will speak tonight in Memorial hall on "Munitions Profiteering, etc." Carolina undergraduates at last have the opportunity of hearing the facts of one of the modern age's greatest malpractices exposed by the man who knows more about the subject than any man in America.

We will not go into the story of munition grafters because the material has been re-hashed many times. We can say, however, that University students should not be disappointed when Senator Nye states the case; he is not one to suppress facts which he believes are self-evident indictments against Americans who are traitors to their country, guilty of treason, and suckers of public blood, in the guise of being public-spirited members of a successful class of American business men.

Senator Nye is fearless. So should we all be, but we're not. It is in the creation of a new generation on straight-forward, fearless young Americans, though, that Senator Nye's public presentations can be vastly important. Tonight's opportunity should not be passed by if possible.

Casual Correspondent

by Nelson Lansdale

FOR SHAME DEPARTMENT

And one of the titles in the prevue (in the west they call them "teasers") of David Copperfield reads: "Directed by George Cukor, who made Little Women."

TACT AMONG THE GREEKS

One of the best stories we heard concerning student-faculty day is told about the visit of a member of the faculty and his wife to about the sixth or seventh fraternity house on their list. Everywhere they'd gone, they'd been feted with punch and cookies, or tea, or something or other to eat, so they took it for granted that they'd get something at the next house. It seems that the house in question wasn't serving anything. The faculty member and his wife were introduced around, and sat down to talk, when a freshman got up, excused himself, and bolted toward the door. The faculty lady looked up, and smiled at him graciously: "Oh, please don't get us anything to eat—we've had so much already," she pleaded.

The embarrassed freshman at the doorway just stood there, trying to think of something to say, when one of the brothers in the lodge came to his aid. "That's all right, Joe," he said, "Dr. and Mrs. ——— really don't want anything."

"Aw right," agreed Joe, "I won't get them anything." And he didn't.

COMMON GROUND

The English department's Richmond P. Bond had a man in one of his classes who for three weeks insisted on calling him Mr. Boggs. You probably already know that there is an R. S. Boggs who teaches Spanish for the Romance language department. Anyway, the fact that he was being confused with Mr. Boggs got on Mr. Bond's nerves considerably, so after continued repetition of the mistake by the student, he stopped one of his lectures to announce: "My name is Bond—B-O-N-D. The only thing Mr. Boggs and I have in common are the letters B. O."

CHRISTIANS, AWAKE

This department's roommate, a freshman, has the most ingenious system for getting himself up in the morning that's ever come to our attention. A mere alarm clock won't do the job. He hears it, but he goes back to sleep. So he puts a glass of water beside the clock at night, and when the alarm goes off in the morning he reaches up for the water, pours it on himself, and it makes him so uncomfortable he has to get up.

IF YE BUT HAVE FAITH

There's a story that's been going the rounds among the publications crowd that you may not have heard, so we'll pass it along. It seems that there was a little boy who was trying very hard to get an obstinate tire off his wagon. The tire just wouldn't come off, and the little boy, like a lot of his elders, was trying to improve matters by swearing up a storm at it. He was in the midst of a particularly pungent streak of profanity, when a priest interrupted him. "Now, my little man," said the priest, "That's no way to get the tire off. Kneel down and ask the Lord to help you."

So the little boy and the priest kneeled down and asked the Lord to help them get the tire off. They prayed for about 20 minutes. Then the little boy reached up and barely touched the tire. It came off at once. The priest looked at the wagon, at the little boy, and at the tire, and said: "Well, I'll be Gawd-damned."

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

Sunday, Feb. 24

12:45: International broadcast from London, John Keats' 114th anniversary, WABC.

1:30: Bertrand Hirsch, violinist, and others, WEAF.

1:45: Art Kassel orch., WABC.

2:00: Drama, "Joseph in Egypt," chorus, orch., WEAF, WPTF.

2:30: Hammerstein's Music Hall, WABC, WBT.

3:00: Philharmonic Symphony orch., Toscannini, conductor, Heifetz, violinist, WABC, WBT.

4:30: Morton Downey, WJZ.

5:00: Freddy Martin, orch., Donald Novis, Vera Van, WABC, WBT.

6:00: Wayne King orch., WGN.

6:30: Jan Garber orch., WGN; Carl Goerch, WPTF.

6:45: Wayne King, orch., WGN.

7:00: Jack Benny, comedian, WJZ, WPTF.

7:30: Joe Penner, comedian, WJZ, WPTF.

8:00: Eddie Cantor, comedian, WABC, WBT.

9:00: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

9:30: Musical Revue, Frank Munn, tenor, Vivienne Segal, soprano, Gus Haenschen, orch., WEAF, WPTF.

10:00: Wayne King orch., WABC.

10:30: Walter Houston, actor, WJZ.

11:00: Henry King orch., WEAF.

11:15: Little Jack Little orch., WABC.

11:30: Wayne King orch., WGN.

12:00: Cab Calloway orch., WABC; Jan Garber orch., WGN.

12:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

12:30: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Irving Coffield, J. R. Morgan, Nancy Flanders, Stewart Parker, C. B. Trexler, Percy Brown, J. F. Blue, E. F. Wells, W. T. Glass, and L. W. Dudley.

John D. Rockefeller's grandson has quit Yale to become a Standard Oil truck driver, so probably in time the company will have a president who will have risen from the ranks.—Columbus Citizen.

McMullan to Speak

(Continued from page one)

for the eventual spontaneous development of liberal, radical, and conservative parties to debate the issue, which will be presented the meeting before the time for debate. Issues will be drawn up by a permanent committee elected by the Union.

Membership for the first meeting tomorrow night is open to the campus. Members of existing forensic groups and faculty members are especially invited to participate.

Qualifications for membership at subsequent meetings will be decided upon by the group tomorrow night. Also, a permanent committee will be elected, the chairman of which will probably become the permanent chairman of the Union.

ERA WORKERS TO HOLD STUDY COURSE HERE

A four-weeks course for ERA workers and supervisors will begin here tomorrow under the direction of Miss Valentine, a state ERA officer.

The first and third week will be devoted to case workers from the central district of the state, covering about 30 counties.

Supervisors from the same region will assemble for training during the second and fourth week.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

CHAPEL HILL MOVIE GUILD
Presents
Sunday
ALLURINGLY ROMANTIC!
ENDEARINGLY FUNNY!
ENCHANTINGLY HAPPY!
CARL LAEMMLE PRESENTS
MARGARET SULLAVAN
HERBERT MARSHALL
in Ferenc Molnar's Masterpiece

The GOOD FAIRY
A Universal Picture with FRANK MORGAN
Also
Comedy — Novelty

DEBATE

Between

UNC and Wake Forest

Monday Feb. 25, 8 p. m.
GERRARD HALL

QUERY—Resolved, That Nations of the World Agree to Prevent the Shipment of Arms and Munitions.

U. N. C. SPEAKERS (Negative): W. C. Durfee and Francis Fairley.

Captain Giddins Is Only Tar Heel Champ

Diehl Beaten By Hahn In Finals, Edwards And Medynski Lose In Semis

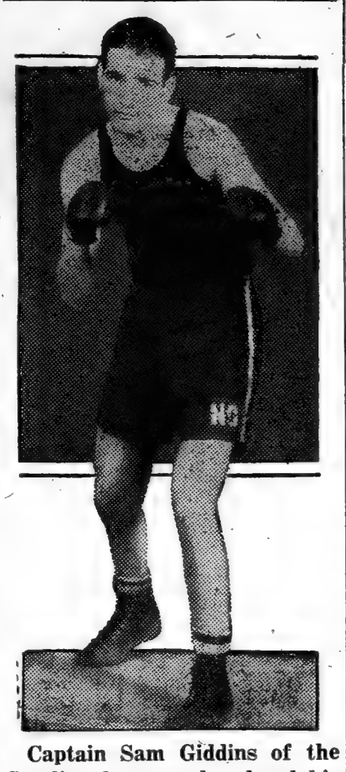
Final Reports Unknown Late Last Night as Going to Press

Virginia More Than Likely to Have Retained Title.

Captain Sam Giddins, Carolina middleweight, was the only Tar Heel to come through with a Southern Conference championship at the tourney held by the University of Virginia in Charlottesville.

Giddins upset the dope to defeat Lombardo of Maryland, who was given a decision over Duke's great Matulewicz. Although Giddins pulled an upset the rest of Carolina's sophomores met the same fate that Novich and Fisher encountered yesterday; the referee and the judges decided against them.

Marion Diehl, Tar Heel sophomore bantamweight, came back to defeat Taylor of South Carolina in the semi-finals but then fell before Virginia's Hahn. Diehl won with ease over the Cavalier earlier in the season.



Carolina's big favorite, Jules Medynski of the 155-pound class, didn't even get to the finals. He fell by a decision before Mann of Duke. Mann went on to win the junior middleweight championship.

Johnny Edwards, Carolina's lightweight, was decisioned by Kniepp of Duke in the semi-final round yesterday afternoon.

According to late reports, Lloyd, 125-pounder of Duke, upset Rainey who won the featherweight title last year. Nedomatsky, brilliant Maryland lightweight, also won a champion-

(Continued on last page)

Champion Giddins

Captain Sam Giddins of the Carolina boxers who closed his career as a Tar Heel last night at Charlottesville by getting a brilliant victory over Lombardo of Maryland in the Southern Conference middleweight finals.

CAROLINA FROSH MAT CLUB WHIPS BLUE IMPS, 21-9

Tar Babies Close Season with State Title under Belts; Love, Ford Undefeated.

LOVE TAKES 41 SECONDS

Duke Gym, Feb. 23.—The North Carolina freshman wrestling team scored a decisive 21-9 victory over the Duke Blue Imps and for the second time in a row won the state yearling championship.

Ehringhaus started the team off in the winning column by gaining a large time advantage over Northrop. Tankersley fought hard but lost a time advantage to Windslow of Duke.

Ford entered the mat with the score tied but soon placed the Tar Babies in the lead, by gaining his usual five points in 2:17 minutes over Somerville. The lead gained by Ford was increased when Claypoole gained a time advantage over Coen; from this bout on, the Carolina grapplers maintained a sizeable lead.

Love in Fast Work

Love in unusually brilliant form completed an undefeated seasonal record along with Ford and clinched the championship for the team. The flashing victory gained by Love was accomplished in the remarkable short time of 41 seconds.

In the unlimited class, the greatly improved Kaluk came through with a 6:55 minute fall over his opponent, Garber, thus bringing to a close his short and

(Continued from page three)

CAGERS PREPARE FOR SIC TOURNEY

White Phantoms to Begin Hard Practice Tomorrow for Title Tilts Starting Thursday.

Carolina's White Phantoms will begin intensive work tomorrow for the Southern Conference cage tourney scheduled to get underway at Raleigh Thursday afternoon.

The Tar Heels have taken a rest since last Thursday, earned as a result of victories over State, South Carolina and VMI within three days. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week will find the Carolina cagers taking the last drills of the 1935 season.

Carolina will likely be seeded number one for the tourney. The White Phantoms turned in great season and conference records besides winning the Big Five championship. The Tar Heels got 20 wins while losing only two contests and were victorious in 12 out of 13 tilts in the conference.

Duke's basketeers handed Carolina its lone conference setback, 33-27, while Army was the only other outfit to count a triumph.

Although at the number one post, Carolina will hardly be rated more than equal with the seven other clubs entered in the tourney, which is expected to result in one of the closest scrambles for a title in many a year.

In addition to the Phantoms, teams from South Carolina, Clemson, Duke, State, Washington and Lee, Virginia, and Virginia Military Institute will likely be the other contenders.

With the return to form of Paul Kaveny last Thursday against VMI, Coach Bo Shepard expects to have his six-man team ready for the tough clashes.

Captain Aitken and Mel Nelson, forwards; Jason Glace, center, and Jim McCachren, guard, have been regulars during the entire season with Bucky Harris and Kaveny alternating at the other guard position.

Wrestlers Beat Duke; Williamson 3rd

CAROLINA CLOSES YEAR WITH 19-13 WIN OVER DEVILS

Bonner and Gwynn Lead Tar Heels by Getting Falls.

Duke Gym, Feb. 23.—With Bonner and Gwynn leading the way, the Carolina matmen downed Duke 19-13 this afternoon. Bonner and Gwynn scored victories via the fall route to cinch a well contested meet for the Tar Heels. Only a handful of spectators were on hand to see the Tar Heels and Blue Devils close the lid on the 1935 dual mat season.

Harvey Gwynn, Tar Heel 175-pounder, produced the real surprise of the afternoon when he pinned McGrail in 1:13 of the first extra period and again in 1:20 of the second extra period. Gwynn entered the ring as the decided underdog but he showed a complete reversal of form over that exhibited in previous contests.

Great Battle

The two contestants battled furiously through the required 10 minutes of competition but neither could obtain a sufficient time advantage. However, Gwynn took the aggressive in the extra periods, mixing speed with superior skill, to throw his opponent in fast time.

Coach Add Warren's protegees went off to a flying start in the opening bout when Stevenson threw Darden with a half nelson and body scissors in 4:21. Stevenson gained a time advantage just before the two-minute bell sounded and maintained it until he was able to pin the Carolinian's shoulders to the canvas.

Umstead Tries 126-Class

Frank Umstead, fighting for the first time in the featherweight division for the winners, defeated Kellogg in a decisive 8:51 time win. Umstead was fast and shifty throughout and frequently came close to counting a fall. Except for a few brief seconds Kellogg was never in the fight.

The two teams divided honors in the 135 and 145-pound classes. Melvin Ward, 135, of Carolina, continued his sterling performances of the past by administering a sound drubbing to Satterfield. When the bout ended Ward had amassed a huge 7:29 advantage on time. In the 145-pound class Gholson lost a close decision to Ardolino of Duke. Ardolino carried the fight for six minutes but Gholson took the top position in the closing minutes to cut down considerably the time margin piled up by the Duke star.

In the junior and senior middleweight classes Carolina garnered eight points. Allen Bonner repeated his spectacular exhibition of the previous week against Quarterman of Davidson, by throwing Chandler of the Durham aggregation in 8:57.

Efland Takes Title

Captain Efland ended his varsity career in superb fashion, winning over Friedlander on time in 7:27. By virtue of this win Efland cinched state title honors in the 165-pound class.

Tom Evins, brillant tackle on the 1934 football contingent, competing for the first time this year, was thrown by Kraushaar in 6:43 in unlimited division. Showing ill effects of a year's absence from the mat Evins was no match for Kraushaar, who was greatly aided by a 20-pound advantage in weight.

The summary of the matches is as follows:

118—Stevenson (D) pinned Darden in 4:21.

126—Umstead (C) won time decision of 8:51 over Kellogg.

135—Ward (C) won time decision of 7:29 over Satterfield.

145—Ardolino (D) won time decision of 3:21 over Gholson.

155—Bonner (C) threw Chandler in 8:57.

165 — Captain Efland (C) won time decision of 7:27 over Friedlander.

175—Gwynn (C) threw McGrail in 1:13 of the first extra period and in 1:20 of the second extra period.

Unlimited—Kraushaar (D) pinned Evins in 6:43.

Patronize Our Advertisers

CHARLOTTE TRACK MEET WILL TAKE PLACE TOMORROW

Torrance and Hardin, L. S. U.'s World Champions, Entered in Jay-Cee Indoor Games.

14 TAR HEELS ENTERED

The first annual Jay-Cee indoor track games will be held tomorrow night in the Armory at Charlotte; a large, fast field is expected to furnish numerous thrills for the crowd.

Two world's champions will be on hand in the persons of Jack Torrance and Glenn Hardin of L. S. U., record-holders in the shot put and the quarter-mile. Hardin also runs in the hurdles, and last night competed in the 600-meter run at the A. A. U.

Williamson in Mile

Harry Williamson will be the ranking runner in the featured Barrett Mile. Bill Dunaj of Washington and Lee will be his biggest competition.

The sprints will feature Earl Widmyer, Maryland's stocky bit of real speed. Tarrall and Hubbard will afford him the most opposition. Everett, Schuhle, Slye, and Hawthorne will battle for hurdle honors.

The two-mile run is a real free-for-all. Waldrop, Dunaj, Plummer, Frazier, Bird, and Morse are all ace distance runners, and any one of them is likely to be the winner.

Relay to Be Scrap

The mile relay will develop into a real scrap between Maryland's record-holding quartet, North Carolina and Duke. The former is favored to cop honors.

Fourteen men will comprise the Tar Heel team. Four of the five men who went to New York over the week-end will also compete in Charlotte. They are Williamson, Drake, McRae, and Gammon.

The rest of the team which will leave from Emerson stadium tomorrow afternoon at 12:45 o'clock is as follows: Hubbard, Hawthorne, Gardiner, Gabori, Waldrop, Parker, Evins, Bear, Rosser, Montgomery, and Manager Barrier.

Equipment will be issued at chapel period tomorrow.

GRIDSTERS CLOSE WINTER PRACTICE WITH FAST GAME

Coach Snavely Greatly Satisfied With Progress So Calls Off Workouts Week Early.

FIRST CLUB SHOWS FORM

Coach G. Snavely brought his winter football practice to a close yesterday afternoon by sending his charges through a two-hour game. It is impossible to say who won the ball game as the mentor put men on first one side and then the other.

The "Whites" counted a 20-12 victory but it was the first string or part of the initial pick that accounted for all five of the touchdowns.

Coach Snavely stopped his off-season work a week earlier than originally planned. He stated that the boys had come along so fast during the past two weeks that he was more than satisfied.

First String Clicks

Although several of the regulars were absent a first string machine was chosen which showed real class. The blocking was hard and sure and several long runs and drives resulted.

Two of the small members of the squad, Little and Coughenour, furnished the fireworks for the afternoon; both boys got off many lengthy runs and contributed to three of the markers.

Dunham, Cooner, Jackson, and Bricklemyer also carried the ball well, while Hutchins and Sniscak hit the line for frequent gains. The linemen charged hard all afternoon with Joyce, Bershak, Bartos and Keeney standing out.

Hutchins scored first for the "Blues" just a couple of minutes after the game got underway. The first string took the ball on kickoff and long dashes by Hutchins and Dunham plus a successful end-around play, with Bershak carrying the ball, placed the "Blues" just a yard from the goal line.

Cooner's nice running plus a final 7-yard plunge by Sniscak accounted for the second and last "Blues" marker.

After most of the first club had changed to white jerseys this club put on a comeback finally to take the lead. Little scored first on a beautiful 45-yard run. He went over left tackle and cut back to the right to cross the line standing up.

Little put the ball in scoring

(Continued on last page)

SIC CAGE TICKETS

Anyone wishing to make application for season or single game tickets to the Southern Conference basketball tournament in Raleigh may get application blanks at the Carolina athletic office in Graham Memorial. Season tickets are $3 while admission Thursday afternoon, Thursday night, Friday night, or Saturday night will be 75c and $1.

TRIO OF WORLD'S RECORDS FALL AT AAU TRACK MEET

Cunningham, Owens and Johnson Set New Marks; Carolina Relay Team Fifth.

(Special to the DAILY TAR HEEL*)*

Madison Square Garden, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Three world's records fell before the crushing onslaught of spiked shoes here tonight in the national indoor championships of the AAU with Glenn Cunningham strengthening his hold as the world's leading miler.

The Kansan captured the featured 1500-meter event with one of his usual brilliant home stretch spurts which carried him over the line with another world record under his belt. His time was 3:50.5. Bill Bonthron, Gene Venzke, and Erik Ny followed in order.

Williamson Close

Harry Williamson, brilliant runner from the University of North Carolina, finished close behind Glen Dawson of Tulsa A. A. and Waldo Sweet of N. Y. A. C. in the special 1000-meter race. The winning time was 2:30. Grady was fourth.

Jesse Owens, brilliant Negro athlete, leaped to a new world's record in the broad jump with a measurement of 25 feet 9 inches. Peacock of Temple also broke the record in finishing second in this event with a leap of 25 feet

(Continued on last page)

Dekes And PKS Meet Tomorrow For Frat Crown

Winner Plays Mangum No. 1 for Campus Title; Cage Season to Be Brought to Close.

After seven weeks of hard play, the intramural basketball season will come to a close this week with the final fraternity league playoff tomorrow afternoon and the campus championship clash on Wednesday.

The D. K. E.-Phi Kappa Sigma battle at 5:45 o'clock tomorrow will furnish plenty of fireworks, with the winner emerging as the frat title holder. Both teams finished the regular season with eight victories.

S. A. E. closed its fourth undefeated season in succession as the last member of an unbeaten triangle, but was eliminated in a playoff with the Dekes by a 32-17 count. The game tomorrow will present an experienced, older group of boys representing the Dekes, while the Phi Kappa Sigs will be backing a less experienced, but energetic and hard fighting team.

Whoever the winner may be, it will have its hands full when it faces Mangum No. 1, who was installed in one of the championship berths as a result of its 30-21 triumph over Swain Hall on Friday. The dorm champs also are well fortified with experienced material, some of its members having played on the

(Continued on last page)

Why Not Try Our Special Sunday Dinner
GOOCH BROS. & BROOKS CAFE
The Wholesome Food, the Quick Service, and the Reasonable Prices Will Delight You
MAGAZINES SODAS SANDWICHES CANDY TOBACCOS
BEER IN BOTTLES AND ON TAP NEWSPAPERS

STUDENTS TO AID ON PUPPET TOUR

Marionette Shows to Be Presented Before North Carolina Grammar Schools.

According to the office of Professor Frederick H. Koch, director of the Carolina Playmakers, Louise McGuire and William Long have been selected to accompany Miss Catherine McAndrews on her marionette tour of North Carolina.

The puppeteers and puppet theatre will make their first public appearance in the Chapel Hill school tomorrow morning and will follow with a performance in Hillsboro. Tuesday the group will set out for Durham and other points.

The puppet tour is being presented by the Playmakers in all the grammar schools in the state, under the sponsorship of the state board of health and the Good Tooth Council.

Green Room

Under the direction of Miss McAndrews, national puppeteer and hygiene worker, several Playmakers have been working out in the Green room of the theatre for the past week. The choice of Long and McGuire to accompany the national director was announced yesterday.

"Circus or Bust," a drama designed to interest children in the proper care of the teeth, is the marionette production that the group is presenting over the state this month. Dr. E. A. Branch, head of the oral hygiene division of the state board of health, has charge of booking the show in the schools of the state.

MEL NELSON TOPS CAROLINA CAGERS WITH 208 POINTS

White Phantoms Score Total of 717 Points in 22 Games.

During the basketball season just ended, the Tar Heel cagers looped the basket for 717 points for an average of 32.6 points per game as compared to 526 and an average of 23.9 for the opposition during the 22 scheduled games—20 of which were won by the Carolina quint to take the Big Five title and finish first in conference standings.

Melvin Nelson, forward up from last year's reserves, led the scoring with 208 points. Captain Aitken, forward, was second with 141. Jason Glace, center, third with 111, Jim McCachren, All-Southern guard, fourth with 100, Paul Kaveny, guard, fifth with 60, and Bucky Harris, guard, sixth with 45.

Webster, center, led the reserves scoring with 25 points. Blood, forward, tallied 19, and Minor, guard, eight.

The Tar Heels will enter the Southern Conference basketball tournament to be held in Raleigh Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Football

(Continued from page three)

position on several gains and then tossed a six-yard pass to Dick Buck for another touchdown. Place-kicks by Pendergraft and Hutchins gave the "Whites" a 14-12 margin.

Coughenour counted the last six-pointer on an eight-yard gallop over tackle. The ball had been put within scoring distance by Bricklemyer who stepped off 40 yards on a spectacular dash.

The first lineup follows: Captain Snyder, blocking back; Jackson and Dunham halfbacks; Hutchins, fullback; Buck and Bershak, ends; Wolf and Bartos, tackles; Joyce and Pendergraft, guards; and Avery, center.

FARE THEE WELL, ANNABELLE

Rudy Vallee and Ann Dvorak will be heard singing "Fare Thee Well, Annabelle," one of the big hits of the year, in "Sweet Music," Warner Bros' new musical, showing at the Carolina theatre tomorrow.

CO-EDS WILL FINISH ROUND-ROBIN CAGE TOURNAMENT SOON

Four Games Will End Tourney; Juniors and Seniors Lead.

The co-ed round-robin basketball tournament will be brought to a close this week with four games on the schedule. All contests are held in Bynum gym and will start promptly; any team not appearing on time will forfeit.

The juniors and seniors took the lead last week, the former girls getting a 2-0 forfeit victory over the freshmen, while the seniors defeated the sophomores 31-24.

Geneva Surratt and Helen D'Anna led the scoring for the victors, while Ida Winstead was high point-maker for the losers.

This week's schedule follows:

Seniors vs. juniors, Monday at 8 o'clock.

Freshmen vs. seniors, Tuesday at 7 o'clock.

Juniors vs. sophomores, Tuesday, immediately following the frosh-senior game.

Freshmen vs. sophomores, Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

Track

(Continued from page three)

3½ inches.

The third world record to tumble tonight was in the 60-meter sprint, in which Johnson of Columbia beat out Owens and Peacock in a close finish with the new time of 6.6 seconds.

Drop Baton

The 2900-meter medley relay race was won by Manhattan College in 7:13. N. Y. U., Manhattan frosh, Penn State, and North Carolina followed. Drake and Higby, on exchanging the baton on the first change, got mixed up, dropped the stick, and when Higby got back into the race, the team was so far behind that it was an impossibility to catch up. The men ran fine races, but the mishap was too great to overcome.

Percy Beard of N. Y. A. C. equalled the meet record in the 60-meter high hurdles, timed at 8.6 seconds.

Jack Torrance of L. S. U. won the shop put with a disappointing distance of only 49 feet and 7 inches.

Johnson of Compton Juniors took high jumping honors with a heighth of 6 feet 7 inches.

Stanley of German American A. C. won the 600-meter race over Vilanova's Eliot in the time of 1:21.9 minutes.

The 1500-meter relay was taken by the New York Curb Exchange A. C., setting a new meet record of 3:20.7 minutes. McCloskey of N. Y. A. C. won the 3000-meter steeplechase in 9:07.2 minutes.

Observatory

(Continued from page one)

dent Caldwell over a hundred years ago. "The scale is probably made out of silver," said Dr. Fussler, "and I should say it would cost about $600 today."

Asked when and where these instruments were discovered, he replied that R. B. Downs of the library happened to run across some dusty old apparatus in the attic of South building when he was moving some books about a year ago. "He asked me if I wanted some junk that looked like astronomical equipment," said Dr. Fussler smiling, "and I made a find."

Lenses Stolen

Dr. Fussler was asked if the telescopes were being used at the present time. "No, the lenses were stolen out of them," the physics professor replied. "Have you any idea who stole the lenses?" he was asked. "Yes, I have a pretty good idea, but I won't say definitely," was the reply. "You see," went on Dr. Fussler, "Lenses during wartime are very valuable for making range finders, sighting devices, and the like. The lenses of President Caldwell's telescopes were purloined during the Civil War, but I won't pick the guilty party. It may have been the Yankees or just as probably the Southerners."

President Kemp Battle records an incident in his history when Dr. James and Charles Phillips hid their watches and valuables from the Union soldiers within the interior of the telescope. "They underestimated the keen-eyed seekers for hidden treasures. But the commanding officer was in love with the president's daughter, and forced the lucky finders to disgorge," says the history.

Battle's history reports that after President Caldwell's death the observatory, which was made of wood, fell into decay. The instruments were removed and remained unused for years. The building was later destroyed by fire, supposed to have been set by students celebrating a jubilee.

Murals

(Continued from page three)

Old East champs of 1932 and last year's Ruffin winners.

The final schedule follows:

Monday

4:30—(1) Sigma Nu vs. S. P. E., (2) Chi Psi vs. Phi Alpha, (3) Z. B. T. vs. Theta Chi.

5:30—(1) Delta Tau Delta vs. Kappa Sigma, (2) Alpha Epsilon vs. Chi Phi.

5:45—D. K. E. vs. Phi Kappa Sigma.

Tuesday

4:30—(1) Aycock vs. Grimes, (2) Pharmacy vs. Manly.

Wednesday

5:30—Mangum No. 1 vs. fraternity league winner.

Operators Attack Slot Machine Ordinance

Assembly Passes Local Bills Without Debate, Adjourns.

Raleigh, Feb. 23.—(UP)—The General Assembly passed a handful of local bills today without debate and then adjourned until Monday night.

While T. R. Stylers and D. R. Hinkle, Winston-Salem slot machine operators, were seeking a supreme court order restraining an enforcement of the anti-slot machine law, Attorney-General A. A. F. Seawell said today that he would have a formal opinion Monday regarding the specific types of machines outlawed by the new act.

Stylers and Hinkle contend that the act should not be enforced until their licenses expire May 31.

The Senate received no new bills. Monday night the House will reach on the calendar the beer bill designed to legalize beer with 5 per cent alcohol by weight.

Boxing

(Continued from page three)

ship.

If the DAILY TAR HEEL figures are correct, the referees awarded the Virginia team the championship.

DAVIDSON TAKES WRESTLING TITLE BY LICKING STATE

Wildcats Whip Wolfpack, 15½-10½; Three Draws Feature.

Davidson won its first Big Five championship in quite a while Friday night when the Wildcat wrestlers licked State 15½-10½.

Davidson also defeated Carolina and Duke, giving it an undisputed championship.

Three extra-period draws featured the meet. Enough time for either contestant failed to be recorded in the bouts between Krach of State and Parker (135-pound class), Fort of Davidson and Croom (175-pound division), and Hodgin of Davidson and Purr (unlimited weight).

The Wildcats got their margin through time decisions won by Owen and Blackwelder in the 145 and 165 classes and a fall scored by Quarterman, 155-pounder.

Frosh Wrestling

(Continued on last page)

rather successful freshman wrestling career.

Summary:

118-lb — Ehringhaus (NC) time advantage of 7:10 over Northrop.

126-lb—Windslow (D) time advantage of 3:28 over Tankersley.

135-lb—Ford (NC) pinned Somerville in 2:07.

145-lb—Claypoole (NC) time advantage of 3:55 over Coen.

155-lb—Cannitt (D) time advantage of 4:29 over Gibbons.

165-lb—Katz (D) time advantage of 3:04 over James.

175-lb—Love (NC) pinned Crammell in 0:41.

Unlimited—Kaluk (NC) pinned Garber in 6:55.

Invite Your Friends to Sunday Dinner

at the

CAROLINA COFFEE SHOP

"We Serve Only the Best"

FOUNTAIN SERVICE BEER

Here It is! . . . The Star-Studded, Song-Packed Fun Riot That Will Set The Entertainment Standard for 1935—and 1936!

Radio's Reigning Favorite—in his first great musical—heading a grand galaxy of stars in a laugh-packed story by the authors of "20 Million Sweethearts"; 6 song hits that are already famous! Romance that will make your heart lighter! It's got everything!

And the cast sounds like a Who's Who of Hollywood! . . . Look!

HELEN MORGAN NED SPARKS
ALICE WHITE ROBERT ARMSTRONG
ALLEN JENKINS AL SHEAN
100 HOLLYWOOD BEAUTIES

MONDAY with

RUDY VALLEE in "SWEET MUSIC" with ANN DVORAK

OTHER FEATURES
Mickey Mouse Cartoon, "Mickey Plays Papa"
Ina Ray Hutton's Band "Million Dollar Notes"
Paramount News

CLARK GABLE CONSTANCE BENNETT in "AFTER OFFICE HOURS"
Tuesday — Wednesday

RICARDO CORTEZ, VIRGINIA BRUCE in "Shadow of Doubt" THURSDAY
BARBARA STANWYCK, WARREN WILLIAM in "SECRET BRIDE" FRIDAY
MID-NITE SHOW FRIDAY, JOE PENNER in "College Rhythm"
MYRNA LOY, CARY GRANT in "Wings in the Dark" SATURDAY

COMING "Little Colonel"

CAROLINA

COMING "Chu Chin Chow" "Roberta" "Vanessa"

DEBATE TRYOUTS
8:30 P.M.
209 GRAHAM MEMORIAL

The Daily Tar Heel

DI AND PHI SOCIETIES
7:15 P.M.
NEW WEST—NEW EAST

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1935 | NUMBER ~~114~~ 115.

CAROLINA'S NEW POLITICAL UNION HEARS McMULLAN

Permanent Controlling Committee Is Elected; Will Name Executive Chairman.

COMMITTEE MEETS TODAY

The Carolina Political Union met in first session last night in Gerrard hall and heard Harry McMullan, chairman of the state industrial committee, deliver an address on "Taxation." McMullan laid special emphasis on the current developments in Raleigh regarding the sales tax.

A permanent committee was elected from the group last night. This committee will elect a chairman who will serve as executive chairman of the Union. It will also have other important functions, such as presenting the issues for discussion, providing factional floor representation, and deciding other points of organization.

The Committee:

Members of the committee elected are Robert Smithwick, Nick Read, Betty Durham, Francis Fairley, and Phil Kind. Phil Hammer, who has acted as temporary chairman, will serve as ex-officio member.

The Union will foster liberal, conservative, and radical divisions for the purpose of debate. These groups will gather together their arguments at meetings held outside of the Union and it is expected will turn eventually into regular factional organizations.

The new committee will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Graham Memorial to discuss plans for the next session, and to elect the Union chairman.

AUTHOR TO TALK AT BULL'S HEAD

Phillips Russell Speaks Today on "Preventive Writing."

Professor Phillips Russell, outstanding American author, will lead the regular Bull's Head discussion this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the bookshop in the Y. M. C. A.

According to an announcement from Elizabeth Johnson, director of the bookshop, Russell will address the Bull's Head audience on "Preventive Writing."

The speaker is the teacher of a course in creative writing at the University. The class meets for a two-hour session each Thursday night in the Bull's Head where today's lecture will take place.

Russell's appearance will be the third Bull's Head lecture program for the winter quarter. Today's discussion follows a reading by Mrs. Urban T. Holmes and a series of book reviews by members of the library school.

DEBATE TRYOUTS

Debate tryouts will occur at 8:30 tonight in 209 Graham Memorial on the query: Resolved, That this house favor the New Deal.

The University debaters, who will be chosen from the tryouts, will take the affirmative of the question against Stanford University men March 7.

Judges at the tryouts will be Professors W. A. Olsen, E. J. Woodhouse and George McKie.

Phi Assembly

The Phi Assembly will convene at 7:15 o'clock tonight in New East.

Bills for discussion:

Resolved, That this house favor the passage of the Hill liquor control bill, now before the General Assembly.

Resolved, That all classes in the University have optional attendance.

Resolved, That this house favor the New Deal.

Plans will be presented for a social to be given the first week in March. A free movie is considered.

'Y' CABINET MEN PLAN NEXT TERM

After Business Session, Combined Cabinets Discuss Capital Punishment Problem.

Considering the problem of "Capital Punishment," and discussing plans for the coming quarter, the sophomore and junior-senior Y. M. C. A. cabinets met jointly last night in the last formal session of the winter term.

President J. D. Winslow distributed mimeographed leaflets setting forth plans for the rest of the year, and this program of activities was discussed.

McKee Leads Discussion

Following the business session, a discussion on the social worth of capital punishment was led by Don McKee of the sophomore cabinet.

The cabinets postponed the proposed trip to the state prison in Raleigh until a later date.

It was decided that the meeting of the organization next Monday would take the form of a smoker in Graham Memorial. The session will be informal, and a visiting speaker will lead a discussion of the race question.

President Winslow appointed T. P. Yeatman for infirmary visitation and elaborated plans to co-operate with Dean Bradshaw's program of vocational guidance.

SENATE TO PROBE ALLEGED PROFITS OF PROCESS MEN

Congress Receives First Veto of Year; Committee Favors Old Age Pension Exemptions.

MAY TABLE NAVAL BILL

Washington, Feb. 25.—(UP)—The Senate authorized an investigation today of the charges by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, (D., Mont.), that food processors grew rich during the depression at the expense of the farmers and consumers.

The Senate received a formal notice of the contest by Dennis Chavez, Democrat, New Mexico, for the seat held by Senator Bronson Cutting, Republican, New Mexico, charging that fraud and illegal balloting seated Cutting.

"Marine Organisms"

Congress received its first veto of this year from Roosevelt when the bill appropriating $500,000 for a study of a control for marine organisms returned unsigned.

The House naval committee favored tabling the bill authorizing $38,000,000 for naval improvements.

The House ways and means committee voted to exempt 7,000,000 farm laborers, domestic servants, and transient workers from the contributory old age pension section of the economic security bill.

Di Senate

Three bills, headed by the resolution, That the North Carolina sales tax be retained, will come before the Di Senate at its meeting in New West tonight at 7:15 o'clock.

The other two bills are: Resolved, That continued relief appropriations are injurious to the morale of the working classes, and, Resolved, That the quarter system be retained at the University of North Carolina.

Leading Faculty Men And Students Question Nye At Dinner Conference

Senator Cites Case of Pressure to Keep Movies Revealing Racket of Munitions Makers from Screen; Says Solution Must Be Effected in Country, Not by International Agreement.

By MAC SMITH

The repast finished, fresh after-dinner cigarette smoke beginning to fill the air, 30 Carolina campus leaders leaned back in their chairs in a special Carolina Inn dining room Sunday evening to listen to a young-looking, black-haired Congressman give his authoritative opinion on the matter of munitions and munition profiteering.

North Dakota's Senator Gerald P. Nye, answered the questions of this group of 30, which included faculty members and students, for one hour Sunday night before he appeared at the mass meeting of the student body in Memorial hall at 8 o'clock.

With a low voice that filled the little dining room, the Senator answered the questions asked by members of the group between slow draws on his cigarette. Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University, sat on Nye's right, his head resting on his hand, one finger moving through a design on the table cloth, drinking in the words of the North Dakotan. Once he smiled, nodded at the Senator's words, and turned to "Y" President J. D. Winslow, who sat at his right on the end of the head table.

E. J. Woodhouse, University government professor, snapped his jaws on the Senator's right and continued to make mental notes of what the speaker said to recite to his class this week.

Professor W. A. Olsen opened the questions concerning munitions: "Could you, Senator Nye, tell me how true it is that pressure is being brought to bear to keep shows like 'The Man Who Reclaimed His Head,' that played here yesterday, from being played in the show houses?"

Nye recited a case where he knew a big offer had been made to producers if they would withhold release on a similar munitions picture. He indicated, however, that many of the rumors might be propaganda of the producers for commercial purposes.

Winthrop Durfee, Phi ready-with-the-question man, asked the

(Continued on last page)

Enthusiastic Audience Applauds As Nye Condemns Arms Makers

Underwood Resigns

At a called meeting yesterday morning, the Publications Union Board accepted the resignation of George Underwood as circulation manager of the DAILY TAR HEEL, Carolina Magazine, and Finjan.

Applications can be made for the open position today and until 2 o'clock tomorrow. All candidates for the job must see Professor J. M. Lear immediately at his office in 109 Bingham hall in order to learn the duties of the job. Professor Lear will also receive the applications.

All applicants will be interviewed by the board at 2 o'clock tomorrow.

ORIGINALS OFFER TRYOUTS TODAY

Forty Roles Will Be Filled in Seven Experimental Dramas To Be Staged March 7.

Professor Frederick H. Koch, director of the Carolina Playmakers, announced yesterday the seven plays written in the second half of his playwriting course, which will be presented on an experimental bill here March 7.

Try-outs for the experimental dramas will be conducted this afternoon at 4:30 in the theatre. All students interested will have an opportunity to become connected with Playmakers' activities, according to Koch.

The Seven Plays

Included in the seven plays that were chosen from a group of 12, are: "Goldie," a Negro comedy by Wilbur Dorsett; "Tslaga," a drama of the Cherokee Indians, by William Greet; "The Settin'-Up," a play of a country wake by Sara Seawell; "Tea Party," a children's play by Ellen Deppe; "While They Waited," the first act of a full length drama of a small-town family, by Kenneth Bartlett; a tragedy of family life by Anne Moore; and a mountain play by Mildred Moor.

According to Professor Koch there are 40 parts available for try-out candidates.

One bill of experimentals which included five original dramas written in the same playwriting course this quarter has already been presented by the Playmakers. The coming production will represent the work of the second half of the quarters' work.

Tobacco Growers Decide To Keep Prices Low

Wallace Shows High Prices Will Destroy Foreign Market.

Raleigh, Feb. 25.—(UP)—Tobacco growers in North Carolina, Virginia, South Carolina, and Georgia decided here today that they would rather retain the nation's foreign tobacco trade than see prices for their product sky-rocket further above parity levels.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace explained to 5,000 persons that a small crop and the attendant high prices this year would almost certainly curb the foreign trade. He urged trying to keep tobacco down to a parity price so as to prevent over-production later.

"U. S. Must Clean Up Profiteers at Home"

"Take the Profiteering Out of War and You Will End War," Is Senator Nye's Plea.

GOVERNMENT IMPLICATED

For one hour and 45 minutes United States Senator Gerald P. Nye from North Dakota held a Carolina audience at the cheering point Sunday night when he addressed the capacity crowd on the subject of "Peace or Profit."

Nye, who headed the Senate munitions investigation committee in their active campaign last September, voiced his protest against the profiteering that arms makers are carrying on at the expense of world peace.

Our Own Back Yard

Considered the best authority in the world on the matter of munitions profiteering, Nye indelibly impressed the Carolina audience with the fact that America herself must take in hand the matter—a matter that the government so far has not only allowed to exist but has actually encouraged.

President of the Greater University Frank Porter Graham, introduced the "Progressive Senator" from North Dakota, who at present heads the minority in Congress.

Applause after applause interrupted Nye's stirring address that carried with it evidence to support his accusations and appeal to Americanism to "wake up."

According to the Senator, it is a question of profit or peace. "The next war will not be a war to make the world safe for democracy," he said, "but a war rather to make the world safe for Du Pontcracy."

Freshman "Y" Council Discusses Munitions

Projects for Rest of Year Are Given Members.

Since no regular program had been planned for last night's meeting, the members of the Freshman Friendship Council held a general discussion under the leadership of Harry F. Comer, general secretary of the "Y."

The major topic of the discussion concerned the facts given by Senator Gerald P. Nye in his address Sunday night.

A list of the Y. M. C. A. programs and projects for the remainder of the year was given to each Council member, and Comer urged all to study it and offer any suggestions that will help the program to a successful conclusion.

FRATERNITY PHOTOS

The following fraternities must have the specified number of pictures taken for the Yackety Yack immediately: Delta Tau Delta, 4; Lambda Chi Alpha, 4; Phi Kappa Sigma, 5; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 3; Tau Epsilon Phi, 3; Theta Kappa Nu, 2; Zeta Beta Tau, 1; and Kappa Alpha, 1.

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMS

Comprehensive examinations for commerce and liberal arts seniors will be held Saturday at 9 a. m. in the departmental offices, it was announced yesterday.

Seniors planning to take the examinations should report to departmental heads this week.

FRESHMEN ADOPT BOARD OF HONOR BY BIG MAJORITY

Tribunal to Consist of Representatives from the Five Schools of the University.

REHEARINGS PLANNED

The freshman class at assembly yesterday accepted their proposed Honor Council by a vote of 218 to 80.

The complete plans of the Council drawn up by the Honor Council committee appointed by "Pete" Mullis, president of the class, and submitted to the class by Nick Read, chairman, follow:

Representation

"The Honor Council will be composed of members from the freshman class, representing the five schools: Four from the liberal arts school; three from the school of commerce; two from the engineering school; one from the school of pharmacy; one from the school af applied science.

"In addition there will be one member of the student council sitting with the freshman Council as an adviser. He will have no voting power, however.

"The Council will serve in a dual capacity: first, it will foster and co-ordinate movements for strengthening the honor system in the freshman class, as well as spreading information about the system; secondly, it will try freshmen reported for cheating, but not for breaches of the campus code.

"The decisions reached by the freshman Council in trial will be submitted to the Student Council for action. Two or more members from the freshman Council will appear before the Student Council to submit each decision and to present the facts and findings of the case.

Appeal Possible

"The Student Council may call for a rehearing of the case if the facts and circumstances are vague or if the freshman on trial appeals for a rehearing. In such an event, two or more members from the freshman Honor Council will convene with the Student Council to present any facts or findings which were uncovered in the previous trial."

Before turning the meeting over to Mullis, Dean F. F. Bradshaw commended the class on the interest it is taking in the honor system, and said that he felt gratified that it is considering it.

There was some contention as to how the members of the honor council should be chosen, but the class finally decided to elect representeatives according to schools.

Since the class is not organized by schools, President Mullis will have to appoint chairmen to preside during the meetings of the various schools. Dean Bradshaw said these meetings will probably be either Wednesday or Friday.

Sophomore Assembly

Pete Ivey will speak at the first sophomore convocation for 1935 tomorrow at 10:30 o'clock. His subject has not yet been announced.

Carroll to Make Talk

Dean D. D. Carroll of the school of commerce will address the Sanford Rotary Club today in Sanford.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
George Underwood ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: WALTER HARGETT

Tuesday, February 26, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

Once again, we note, the University has made "Time." In wooing the legislature, says the news magazine.

Campus opinion would seem to indicate that Referee Wolfe should henceforth be kept away from the tournament door.

Sump'n we never knew before: "Newspapers throughout the country refrained from quoting Long, holding that the Delta Dictator had violated an ethical trust."

A Senator's Reception

To most of those who were fortunate enough to hear Senator Gerald P. Nye's dynamic address Sunday night came boundless confidence and enthusiasm in his clearly stated policies. To everyone who heard him came respect and admiration for his personality and sincerity. As the audience reluctantly filed out of Memorial hall we heard such remarks as "You've just heard the future President," and "I wish we had a hundred like him."

It was not the Senator's criticism of the munition makers alone, however, that held our interest. His plan to strike at the roots of war by levying a 99 per cent tax on all incomes over $10,000 in time of war was, in our opinion, the most practicable scheme yet devised to stifle jingoism.

The almost phenomenal rise of the North Dakotan in national public began when Governor Arthur G. Sorlie appointed him to the Senatorial seat made vacant by the death of Edwin F. Ladd. After the Senate had failed by two scant votes to disqualify him, he assumed office and became a thorn in the side to all the "contented" conservatives in Washington.

As a newspaper writer, editor, and publisher in his young days, he was well equipped to head the Nye committee investigation of the munition makers of the nation. In the series of nationwide lectures which he has begun, he has found enthusiastic audiences. His sincere and active support of the "little man" and the small enterprise have made him a potential champion of the masses. His ultra-conservative enemies see him as a "dangerous demagogue." The liberals understand him as a man seriously interested in the welfare of the people.

At 42 there stretches before him 10, 20, or perhaps 30 years of public life. We predict that the future holds great things for Senator Gerald P. Nye.

Comprehensives 'Round the Corner

Time has crept up on us until the fateful day of comprehensives is scarcely a week away.

Still, there remains a lot that we can do in a week. It is a well-known fact that sitting up all night before an examination is not helpful toward anything but bare passing. It is also generally accepted that material studied in brief, intensive periods will bring better results than long hours of cramming.

The logical conclusion is evident, that as long as we persist in having the outworn comprehensive, we must treat it better than it treats us.

Candy For Baby

Last week-end a baby received a nice, much coveted piece of championship candy from an unforeseen godfather. The lucky urchin was the University of Virginia, the generous guardian was Referee Wolfe, ably assisted by Miller, and the sweet was the Southern Conference Boxing Tournament.

Fisher who, after a most unfortunate head-butting with Humphlett of South Carolina in his Friday afternoon bout, was told by the over-industrious Mr. Wolfe that he could not continue in view of the fact that he had a slight cut under his left eye. While Wolfe was concerning himself busily with Fisher's eye, Humplett, who had a six-stitch cut over his own eye, was being hauled out of the ring by his manager. When the referee turned to designate Humphlett as the winner, that particular gentleman was outside of the ring with a giant towel draped around his injured blinker. At this juncture, Wolfe must have mistaken him for a Turkish sultan who was not to be denied, for he graciously awarded him the decision while the latter was still outside the ropes. Ted Mann, writing to the Raleigh News and Observer direct from the ring-side, seemed of the opinion that just such decisions were handed the boys from Duke, State, and Clemson as the bouts progressed.

The only comment that we have to make is that we heartily wish the management had but notified the teams from North and South Carolina that their efforts toward victory were to be futile. Had they done this in advance of the tourney, we know several fellows who might have used the time spent in training to a much more profitable end.

Melodrama In One Act

A liberal takes us to task in the adjacent columns for calling the meeting in behalf of the Burlington strikers "a feeble, ostentatious, and mis-directed" effort toward social justice.

Until the effectiveness of that meeting proves to equal the good work done by those individuals who have interested themselves in the case, our statement still stands. Likewise, in an unbiased opinion, stands the statement that the meeting was imprudent.

With Mr. Woodward's letter as an example, it is open to question whether protagonists of the meeting can lay claim to an unbiased judgment. Certainly he is starting from the terribly quixotic viewpoint of seeing President Graham "pilloried" as a "Red." To be on Mr. Hearst's stink list is an honor, not an execution, and he is in good company along with the half-hundred other educators whom America's first citizen has named as being tools of Moscow.

It is the same type of solicitude exemplified by Mr. Woodward's letter that gives his liberalism its particular cast. Certainly it is all very well to see that the Burlington strikers get an appeal. Certainly there is good grounds for an appeal. But why hire a hall to do it? The workers have an able lawyer interested in their case. They have the support of men whose judgment can be relied on and who are affluent in comparison with the students. Our students, in the name of social justice or not, can hardly go to the Student Loan Fund to finance the strikers. Therefore, we say, let the appeal go ahead, but let it go forward under the responsibility of citizens and voters and taxpayers.

Our fervent wish is to see a good deed done for social justice without the sounding of brass and the tinkling of cymbals that are so dear to the hearts of those who see every mill-owner as a swine and every breast-beater as a ministering angel.

New Deal Newspapering

Eugene Kelly in the current issue of the American Mercury calls to our attention the complete subsidizing and suppressing of the press by the national administration. Although we do not completely agree with Mr. Kelly in his hostile indictment of the administration's publicity policy, we must admit the force of many of his arguments.

The national administration has built up a powerful publicity organization, which controls, supervises, and hands out all the news concerning the New Deal. This organized publicity agency, embracing many ex-newsmen employed by the government as press agents, issues to the supine Washington newsmen carefully prepared dispatches. The reporters proceed to publish the government press notices unchanged.

This suppression of the press is even more pernicious than that of Italy and Germany because of the undercover methods used. The mass of the public has no idea of this situation and little realizes that the beloved independent press is but a press agency of the government. It is generally and naively believed that no such condition as exists in Italy and Germany could ever be in the land of liberty, free speech, and free press. But it does.

SPEAKING the CAMPUS MIND

'Defending' Liberalism

Editor, the DAILY TAR HEEL:

In your issue of February 21, in which you announce the meeting in Gerrard hall in behalf of the Burlington workers who were convicted of dynamiting the E. M. Holt Plaid Mills, you also run an editorial on the meeting. In it you speak of the "feeble, misdirected, and ostentatious efforts that characterize such strivings toward social justice as this," condemning the meeting as "an imprudent move" which threatens "to jeopardize the interests of both strikers and University."

Now I happen to know that the interests of these strikers are pretty much "jeopardized" whether such meetings are held or not, but it is about the interests of the University I am writing you. If you young gentlemen believe you are doing the University a good turn by writing such stuff as this for the consumption of timid legislators and mill owners, may I suggest that you take a look at the current Hearst editorials, and you will find your own President Graham and his predecessor in that office pilloried as Reds in about the same tone as you adopt toward this little meeting. In this same issue you quote President Graham's speech of the the day before upon "the common heritage of students and faculty" here: a tradition of liberalism and academic freedom. Need I add that this tradition was not won, nor can it be defended, by truckling?

Bills have passed the present legislative sessions in Tennessee and Arkansas which put an end to academic freedom in those states. Bills almost identical with them are pending before the legislatures of Georgia and Alabama. Louisiana has not troubled to pass a law, since it wasn't necessary. This drive against academic freedom is a deliberate, concerted campaign emanating from Atlanta. Chapel Hill is thought of all over the south as the last stronghold of the liberal tradition. It ought to be worth a better defense than it is getting.

VANN WOODWARD.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:15: George Hall orch., WBT.
2:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.
4:30: Chicago A Capella Choir, WJZ.
4:45: Dick Messner orch., WBIG.
6:45: Lowell Thomas, commentator, WJZ, WLW.
7:15: Morton Downey, tenor; Sinatra orch.; Guy Bates Post, narrator, WJZ.
7:30: The Street Singer, WGN, WLW.
8:00: Leo Reisman orch., Phil Duey, WPTF; Frank Munn, tenor, Haenschen's orch., WABC, WHAS.
8:30: Wayne King orch., WEAF, WSB; Lawrence Tibbett, baritone, Pelletier's orch., WJZ, KDKA.
9:00: Ben Bernie orch., Adolphe Menjou, guest, WEAF, WSB; Bing Crosby, Mills Bros., Stoll orch., WBT, WABC; Grace Moore, soprano, Jackson orch., WJZ, KDKA.
9:30: Ed Wynn, Eddy Duchin orch., WPTF, WLW; Isham Jones orch., Grace Hayes, soprano, WBT, WABC.
10:00: Camel Caravan—Glen Gray orch., Annette Hanshaw, singer, Walter O'Keefe, WBT; Beauty Box Theatre — Gladys Swarthout, soprano, John Barclay, baritone, WLW, WPTF.
10:45: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.
11:30: Wayne King orch.,
12:00: Jan Garber orch., WGN.
12:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

ECONOMICS SEMINAR

Carl Snyder of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York will speak on "The Mechanism of Economic Growth and Expansion" at the economics seminar meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in 202 Bingham hall.

The meeting has been advanced a day to accommodate the speaker.

Pierson Goes to New York

Dean W. W. Pierson of the graduate school leaves today for New York City where, as representative of the classifications committee of the Association of American Universities, he and Dr. R. N. Dempster of Johns Hopkins University will inspect Fordham University.

Dean Pierson will return about March 3.

Infirmary List

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Leighton Dudley, E. F. Wells, Nancy Flanders, Elizabeth Hampton, R. B. Hardison, George Hux, E. C. Brantley, Robert Ledford, and A. H. McLeod.

French Club to Meet

There will be a meeting of the French Club tonight at 7:15 o'clock in the parish room of the Episcopal church.

CAROLINA
Today
CLARK GABLE
CONSTANCE BENNETT
STUART ERWIN
in
"After Office Hours"
—Also—
Comedy — News

Midnight Show Friday
JOE PENNER
LANNY ROSS
LYDA ROBERTI
in
"College Rhythm"
Doors Open at 11:15 P. M.

Plopped by a Playful Pooch?

...light an Old Gold

When the Girl Friend insists that you romp with Rollo before you have your tête-à-tête with her . . . don't let the Bow Wow bash your spirits. Brighten up by lightin' up an Old Gold. Its sunny-smoothness makes even dog-walking endurable. Darn clever . . . these O. Gs!

AT TRYING TIMES . . . . TRY A Smooth OLD GOLD

Torrance Sets New Mark At Jay-Cee Games; Three N. Carolinians Score First

LSU STAR MAKES TOSS OF 53 FEET

Williamson Wins Barrett Mile; Gardiner Tops Half-Mile; Gammon Ties in 1000.

EVINS 2ND TO TORRANCE

City Armory, Charlotte, Feb. 25.—Jack Torrance, L. S. U.'s great star, furnished the feature of the first Charlotte Jay-Cee indoor track meet here tonight by putting the shot to a new indoor world's record. The Louisiana lad got a distance of 53 feet, one and a half inches. Tom Evins of Carolina also did some nice work as he finished second to the husky ace by getting 43 feet and three inches.

Carolina's entries headed the meet by taking three of the nine first places finished at the time the DAILY TAR HEEL went to press. The result of the high jump was unknown.

Harry Williamson of Madison Square Garden fame, returned to his own state and had an easy time winning the new Barrett Mile. He ran the distance on the difficult short track in 4:27.7. His own teammate, Ed McRae, finished second, while Dunaj of Washington and Lee was third.

Two sophomores, Bob Gardiner and Graham Gammon got the other Tar Heel victories. Gardiner led the 880-yard run with a time of 2:8.5 and was trailed by Evans of Maryland and Rankin of Georgia, while Gammon tied Headley of Maryland in the 1000-yard run while Dick Gabori, another Carolina boy, was third.

Widmyer, Maryland's lad who has also been doing some fancy stepping up north, dashed off the 50 yards in 5.5 seconds and was followed by Captain Hubbard of Carolina and Little of William and Mary.

In a fast mile relay, featured by the great finish of Williamson, Maryland took first ahead of Carolina. Williamson took the baton on the anchor lap 15 yards behind but then picked up on the leader to within a horse's hair at the finish.

Evans, Archer, Sonen, and Headley made up the Old Liner quartet while the Tar Heel four consisted of Red Montgomery,

(Continued on last page)

Doping The Sports

By JAMES MORRIS

EIGHT dark horses will go into action this Thursday at Raleigh, all intent on winning the Southern Conference basketball tournament. Although Carolina has been seeded number one and Duke number two, neither team will be bet on very heavily to come through. Each of the other clubs appears to have too much restrained strength that may be let loose by any one outfit and carry it on to a championship.

AN OMEN of what might happen is well illustrated by last year's outcome. Washington and Lee was probably rated next to last in the pre-tourney dope, but then upset Maryland, State and Duke in a row to take the title. On the other hand, South Carolina and North Carolina were seeded one and two but neither team even reached the final game. The Gamecocks met their fate in the first round, going down before State, 43-24.

COACH BO SHEPARD will still be after his first Southern Conference championship when his White Phantoms start things going Thursday night. This will make the fourth year that Shepard has coached the Tar Heels. In the first season under the present mentor Carolina pulled the big surprise of the tourney at Atlanta by upsetting Kentucky. However, the Tar Heels fell before Georgia in the finals 26-24. In 1933 the Phantoms needed only one point to pull another surprise as it took the highly-favored South Carolina five two extra periods to finally conquer the Tar Heels in the semi-final tilt. Last year the Phantoms were victims of an upset; Duke toppled them in the semi-final round, 21-18, by coming from behind during the final minutes of the contest. Carolina had already turned back the Blue Devils twice before the tourney.

THE WHITE PHANTOMS, pitifully lacking in reserves, will have a trio of the worst hurdles possible to get over if they expect to triumph. They must

(Continued on last page)

CAROLINA FENCING OUTFIT DEFEATED BY W. AND M., 14-3

Tar Heels Show Lack of Proper Coaching and Equipment; Jones Drills Carolina.

LEFT-HANDERS FEATURE

Saturday afternoon a well-coached, well-equipped William and Mary fencing team defeated the University fencing club, 14-3, in one of the worst setbacks received by the local group in years.

John Elmendorff, undefeated last year, could do no more than win one bout out of four. Brad Tobey, captain of the club, and DuPont Snowden also accounted for one victory apiece.

Left Handers

William and Mary in presenting a team of experienced left-handers made able use of their various advantages, losing but one foil bout out of nine, two epee out of four, and no saber. Captain Hoke, saberer, and Cedarbaum, foil and epee man, starred for the victors.

After the meet Coach Jones of W. and M. tutored the Carolina squad for over an hour. It was his opinion that the U. N. C. club made an excellent showing considering the disadvantages that it has been up against, and since the scores of most of the bouts were very close, there rarely being more than a point or two between winner and loser.

A regular practice session will be held Wednesday.

TAR HEEL CAGERS TAKE HARD DRILL FOR SIC TOURNEY

Coach Shepard Works Charges on Both Offense and Defense In Scrimmage with Frosh.

NELSON SHOWS TOP FORM

Coach Bo Shepard pushed his White Phantoms through both offensive and defensive drills in an effort to iron out the team wrinkles before the Southern Conference tourney, which will get underway at Raleigh Thursday.

The varsity cagers lined up against the freshman state champions in the scrimmage at the Tin Can yesterday.

Nelson All Right

Mel Nelson, who suffered an ankle injury during the final minutes of play against VMI last week, displayed top-form at his regular forward position.

Jason Glace, tall center, showed remarkable accuracy at sinking shots from under the basket.

Captain Aitken, Glace, McCachren, Nelson, and Harris, regular starters, composed the combination that seemed to produce the best results in yesterday's scrimmage. Kaveny, Blood and Webster worked well as substitutes for the regulars.

Due to the season's record of 12 wins and only one defeat in conference circles, the Tar Heels are ruled favorites to win the S. I. C. tournament at Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh this week.

Phantoms Face S. C. Five In First Tourney Battle

Cary And Dobson Play For High 'B' Title Here At 8

Both Clubs Have Great Records; Raleigh Meets High Point Tomorrow for Crown.

The North Carolina class "B" basketball title will be at stake tonight when Cary and Dobson Highs, winners respectively in the Eastern and Western conferences, clash at 8 o'clock in the Tin Can here.

Both teams hold impressive records in their territories and are expected to provide one of the toughest battles ever seen here in finals play. Dobson, the defending champion, ran riot over Cleveland in the final Western game to gain a 69-18 win. Cary, in the final Eastern game, defeated Dover, 55-24.

Stars of Highs

The stars in the Cary lineup this season have been Copeland, forward, and Holleman, center. Neal Cockerham, husky guard, has led the play of the Dobson quint.

Cary's probable lineup tonight will be: Copeland and Sorrell, forwards; Holleman, center; Wyatt and Craddock, guards.

Dobson's probable lineup will be: Jackson and White, forwards; Blue, center, and Cockerham and Collins, guards.

Martin Kotler, of Pennsylvania, is coach at Cary while J. S. Gentry of Carolina, fills the post at Dobson.

The class "A" title will be decided tomorrow night when Raleigh, Eastern winner, meets High Point, Western champ, at 8 o'clock in the Tin Can.

CAROLINA SEEDED ONE, DEVILS TWO

Rest of Teams Picked from Hat; Championship Games Open Thursday Afternoon.

MARYLAND AND V. P. I. OUT

The Carolina White Phantoms have been selected as the cream of the crop in the mad scramble for the southern basketball championship which opens Thursday afternoon in the Memorial auditorium at Raleigh.

Due to its splendid record of 12 victories and one defeat in conference games, Carolina has been seeded at the top of the list. Duke, with ten victories and four setbacks has been selected for second position by the committee.

Clemson and V. M. I. are the other two seeded combinations in the field of eight. However, these two were drawn from a hat, as was the pairing in every case.

Battle of the Carolinas

The White Phantoms plunge into their third "battle of the Carolinas" in their opening clash on Thursday night, facing South Carolina. The Tar Heels have twice downed the Gamecocks, the initial time by a solitary point in Columbia, and then routing them recently in the Tin Can. This coming struggle on a neutral court is liable to terminate in any possible manner.

State opens the tourney, facing V. M. I. early Thursday afternoon. The Red Terrors are heavy favorites but the opportunity for an upset is exceedingly strong as State has played raggedly at times, and V. M. I. once threw a wrench into Duke's works with an unexpected win.

Duke is expecting real opposition from the rejuvenated Cavaliers. Virginia has improved recently and the favored Duke five is wary of its opponents.

Clemson-W. and L.

The other first round battle is the Clemson-Washington and Lee affair. Clemson, considered the dark horse of this tourney, is picked to win over the defending champions, although its infrequent starts against conference competition leaves no basis for a true rating. The Clemson Tigers did stop the Generals last week and are favored on that showing.

Maryland, fourth in the conference standing, and V. P. I. are the only two schools not to send a representative team to the tournament.

The tourney draw follows:

Thursday

3 p. m.—N. C. State vs. V. M. I.
4:30 p. m.—Duke vs. Virginia.
8 p. m.—Clemson vs. Washington and Lee.
9:30 p. m.—North Carolina vs. South Carolina.

Friday

8 p. m.—Winner of N. C.-S. C. game vs. winner of State-V. M. I.
9 p. m.—Winner of Clemson-W. & L. vs. winner of Duke-Va.

Saturday

8 p. m.—Final game.

Ernie Eutsler Is Elected To Captain Boxing Team

Featherweight Has Served Two Years

Is Now President of Junior Class; Won Two Out of Four Fights in Past Season.

SUCCEEDS SAM GIDDINS

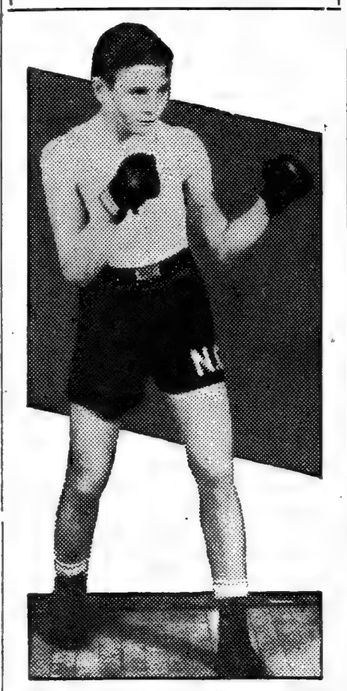
Diminutive Ernie Eutsler, featherweight, has been chosen captain of the 1936 Carolina leather-punchers. Ernie has already fought two years on the ring squad and his spunk in the squared circle has made his election a popular one.

Eutsler is now president of his junior class and is a prominent figure on the campus. He is a member of Sigma Nu and also of the Gorgan's Head, a junior order.

Resident of Goldsboro

Ernie hails from Goldsboro and besides graduating from Goldsboro High School, he attended Virginia Episcopal School before entering this University. He is following the engineering course in Chapel Hill.

After attempting to fill a gap in the 119-lb weight last year, Eutsler boxed in the 126-lb division this season and performed creditably. He broke even in his four contests, gaining the nod over Jenkins of South Carolina and Tuttle of State.



Loses to Champs

He dropped two decisions, the first to Rainey, former Southern Conference champion from Virginia, and then later to Capt. Lloyd, of Duke, the newly crowned title-holder.

Last week he was eliminated by an unpopular decision in the first bout at Charlottesville by the shifty Altman of Clemson. Next year promises to be a banner one for Ernie as he will have two years' experience behind him and an improved two-fisted attack in front.

The new captain succeeds Sam Giddins as leader. Giddins finished his career by winning the Southern Conference middleweight crown.

Captain Eutsler

Ernie Eutsler, junior from Goldsboro, who will succeed Sam Giddins as captain of the Carolina boxing team. Eutsler will finish his career next year.

JUNIOR FEMALES DEFEAT SENIORS

Today's Tilts Postponed until Monday and Tuesday.

The juniors took top place in the co-ed round robin cage tourney last night by defeating the seniors, 29-24. It was a fast battle with the result in doubt until the final junior rally.

Gertrude Bridges, forward, led the play of the winners while Vivian Grisette was the star for the losers.

The freshman-senior and junior-sophomore games scheduled for tonight have been postponed until next Monday and Tuesday. The freshman-sophomore tilt carded for tomorrow night at 8 o'clock is the next clash for the Carolina girls.

Patronize Our Advertisers

TAR BABY CAGERS MAKE 607 POINTS

State Champs Hold Opponents to 367 Points; Ruth Leads Scoring with 138.

The freshman basketball five, having ended their 16-game schedule, can glance back with a great deal of satisfaction. The fast-moving outfit scored 607 points to their opposition's 367.

The quintet, which dropped but one game, averaged almost 38 points a game and that is top going in any class of competition. Their opponents were able to garner but 22 points per encounter. The Tar Babies scored 57 against P. J. C., for their highest score of the season and in their lone defeat at the hands of State were limited to 26 points, which marked their minimum.

Earl Ruth, outstanding guard, ran away with individual scoring honors by rolling up a total of 138 markers. Twenty of these points were foul throws and he led the team in that department also.

Pete Mullis, diminutive forward, trailed Ruth with 112 tallies. Red Meroney, center, came third with 94.

Pete Boone, who saw a great deal of action in the last few games, placed fourth with 70 points and Ramsay Potts, who played regular forward only for the latter part of the season, followed with 51.

It is surprising to note that Andy Bershak, who dropped off the squad before half the schedule had been completed, was next on the list with 47 points. Foy Grubb, guard, was seventh with 44. Bill Franks, sub guard, rounded out the scoring with 18 points and the few remaining tallies were scattered through the reserves.

Today's Mural Card

4:30 — (1) Aycock vs. Grimes, (2) Manly vs. Pharmacy.

•THE NEW DENTISTRY
A Phase of Preventive Medicine
College Men find in it unusual opportunities for a career
HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL
A competent course of preparation for the dental profession. A "Class A" School. Write for catalogue.
LEROY M. S. MINER, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 28, 188 Longwood Ave., Boston, Mass.

Dekes Take Frat Cage Title By Topping Phi Kap Sigs, 32-11

Bill Moore Again Leads Way for D. K. E. in Keeping Fine Record Intact; Will Meet Mangum No. 1 Tomorrow Afternoon for Campus Championship; Four Other Games Played.

The D. K. E. basketball team yesterday afternoon ended the Phi Kappa Sigma string of victories and won for itself the intramural fraternity league championship by virtue of a 32-11 triumph. The Dekes will face Mangum No. 1 tomorrow for the campus title.

Although it was completely outclassed, the smaller Phi Kappa Sigma team fought valiantly, but the opposition was a little too experienced and led the entire way—7-1 for the first quarter, 9-3 for the half, and 25-5 for the third quarter.

Moore Leads Way

Bill Moore continued his fine play and headed the scorers with a dozen markers, while Bower of the losers came next with seven. Willis, Montgomery, and Patterson each tallied six toward the D. K. E. score.

Alpha Epsilon closed its first season in any intramural sport by nosing out the Chi Phi quintet by a 29-28 margin. Chi Phi's high scoring Voliver headed the individual play with 13 points; Weinstein and Turk paced the victors with 15 between them.

Sigma Nu Wins

Sigma Nu went on a bit of a rampage as it swamped S. P. E., 40-19. Primrose was fairly well in bloom and accounted for six field goals and three fouls. Phi Alpha and Chi Psi staged a lively contest with the two pivotmen, Laskey and Foreman, having an individual battle with 13 and 10 points, respectively. Phi Alpha took the verdict by a 25-23 margin.

Delta Tau Delta built its offense around its high scoring guard, Foster Corwith, who rang up 17 points, to defeat Kappa Sigma, 20-15. May and Rennie, with six points each, did best for the losers.

The summaries:

D. K. E. (32)	Phi K. S. (11)
Patterson, f (6)	Sharp, f
Montgomery, f (6)	Link, f

(Continued on last page)

Nye Interview

(Continued from page one)

Congressman for his opinion concerning the proposed munitions embargo. Nye told the group that much depended upon the effectiveness of enforcing such an embargo which in turn depends on public sentiment.

Nye was asked to give his reason for not supporting the bill for the United States' entering the World Court. "I was hard put to it this year when the question arose," he said. "Eight years ago I probably would have supported it." His discussion of the matter showed that he felt there had been too much importance placed on the matter.

"I can't see how we can save ourselves from trouble," said Nye, "If we get into the court and are forced to enter into the settlement of foreign disputes which might arise, I am opposed to the court for the same season that many are for it. We can save the world from wars outside as well as inside. We are better outside."

As to the success of settling international disputes by international agreement, Nye said that it "would be a long time off." Munitions makers, according to the Senator, are not afraid of the countries of the world settling their problems by agreement, they are afraid that some one country will wake up to the facts and take the motive of profit out of their game. "American delegates are as guilty of wrong intent as the delegates from any other countries to these international conferences.

"The more I can see of the matter, nationalizing the industry is the answer," he continued. Nye would include in the nationalizing program only those manufactured products directly connected with war making: ships, airplanes, guns, powder and certain chemicals. Other products would be guarded against profiteering, according to the Congressman.

Nationalization was almost at hand last month, according to Nye, but he indicated that no definite action could be hoped for until Congress re-convenes next year.

Visitors Here

Dr. H. A. E. Chandler, economist for the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, and Dr. Carl Snyder, statistician for the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, have been week-end guests of friends here in Chapel Hill.

Finjan Business Men

There will be an important meeting of the Finjan business staff at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Finjan office. All members must attend.

Murals

(Continued from page three)

Willis, c (6)	Love, c (1)
Moore, g (12)	Bower, g (7)
Warren, g (2)	Wilson, g

Subs: Phi Kappa Sigma—Odum (3).

A. E. (29)	Chi Phi (28)
Weinstein, f (7)	Bitting, f (6)
Shalom, f (4)	Voliver, f (13)
Singer, c (4)	Boone, c (2)
Levine, g (5)	Montsinger, g (5)
Turk, g (8)	Perry, g (2)

Subs: Alpha Epsilon—Mark (1); Chi Phi— Linn.

D. T. D. (20)	Kappa Sig. (15)
Shores, f (2)	Rennie, f (6)
Currie, f	Lee, f (1)
Rouiller, c	May, c (6)
Corwith, g (17)	Blackwelder (2)
McCollum, g (1)	Fulton, g

Phi Alpha (25)	Chi Psi (23)
Hauser, f (8)	Barwick, f (4)
Hendel, f (4)	Dowling, f
Laskey, c (13)	Foreman, c (10)
Goldman, g	Kavanaugh, g (5)
Greenberg, g	Beebe, g (2)

Subs: Chi Psi — Chichester (2).

Sigma Nu (40)	S. P. E. (19)
Lytle, f (4)	Chestnutt, f (3)
J. Bost, f (8)	Lawyer, f (6)
Hairston, c (7)	Means, c
Primrose, g (15)	Pitts, g (2)
Fitts, g (2)	Danison, g (8)

Subs: Sigma Nu—T. Bost (4).

Doping the Sports

(Continued from page three)

face a dangerous, up and down South Carolina quint in the opening battle, probably State in the second contest, and then Duke, Virginia, Clemson, or Washington and Lee in the finals. Both the Gamecock and Red Terror outfits are tall and rangy and when clubs of this style are on it is almost impossible for a smaller five to even get within striking distance. The team that reaches the final bracket will more than likely be about as hot as the Generals were last year.

CAROLINA depends much on team work with a job cut out for each individual. Being the only tall man of the club, Jason Glace must handle the biggest opponent around the foul line besides taking charge of backboard rebounds and tipoffs. Mel Nelson has been doing most of the point-making with some excellent shooting but he depends a lot on the passing and feeding of the ball by his teammates. Captain Aitken will be opposing the leading offensive guards of the rivals while Jim McCachren will be called on to stop the top forwards. Bucky Harris and Paul Kaveny are also important cogs and much will depend on them, regardless of which man is in the ball game.

Jay-Cee Track

(Continued from page three)

Red Rosser, Red Drake, and Williamson. Duke took third in this event.

Bob Bear of Carolina got a second in the pole vault behind Lee of Davidson who vaulted 12 feet and two inches. Wick Smith, jumping unofficially but a former Tar Heel star, was third.

In the two other events, the 50-yard high hurdles and the two-mile run, Carolina was able to get two thirds. Captain Tom Hawthrone trailed Towns of Georgia and McDonald of Maryland in the hurdles, while Waldrop finished behind his old rivals, Frazier of Davidson and Dunaj of Washington and Lee. The hurdle time was 6.6 seconds and the distance, 10:01.

Some 1,500 fans attended the meet.

Economics Seniors

Professor J. G. Evans will meet all seniors who expect to take the comprehensive examination in economics and government at 10:30 o'clock this morning in 308 Bingham hall.

English Graduates

There will be a tea for graduate students in English tomorrow in the lounge of the Graduate Club from 4 to 5:30 o'clock.

NEWS BULLETIN

Hyde Park, N. Y., Feb. 25.—(UP)—Convinced that the nation is behind him, Roosevelt tonight stood pat and refused to surrender to the Senate bloc seeking important changes in the work relief program.

Frosh Schools to Meet

The freshman class will meet by schools at chapel period tomorrow morning, Dean F. F. Bradshaw announced last night.

Purpose: to elect representatives to the freshman Honor Council.

The places of the meeting and other details will be announced in the DAILY TAR HEEL tomorrow.

I am your Lucky Strike

Others may disappoint. I never do. I'm always mild, always fine to taste—because I'm made of fragrant, expensive center leaves, only. Turn your back on top leaves. I do. They're raw, bitter, stinging. Turn your back on bottom leaves because these coarse, sandy, grimy bottom leaves don't belong in your smoke. Before I consider it worthy, every leaf must be a center leaf, mild, fine-tasting, fragrant. That's why I'm your best friend.

LUCKIES USE ONLY THE CENTER LEAVES...CENTER LEAVES GIVE YOU THE MILDEST SMOKE

They Taste Better

Copyright 1935, The American Tobacco Company.

SOPHOMORE CONVOCATION
10:30 A. M.
GERRARD HALL

The Daily Tar Heel

TAR HEEL DESK STAFF
4 P. M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1935 | NUMBER 115

Y.M.C.A. LEADERS VISIT TWO STATE CITIES THIS WEEK

Group of Nine Leaves Tomorrow For Fayetteville; Four Members Go to Winston-Salem.

TO GIVE VARIED PROGRAM

A double-barreled bolt of Y. M. C. A. leaders will be fired at the state this week-end when Chairman Jack Pool of the deputation team committee, sends one group to perform at Fayetteville and another in Winston-Salem.

Pool himself, "Y" President J. D. Winslow, Soloist Jesse Parker and Freshman from China Bob Magill, leave this afternoon on the Winston-Salem trip.

Eastern Delegation

Nine other Y. M. C. A. leaders will compose the Fayetteville deputation which will leave tomorrow night for its four-day stay in the eastern North Carolina town.

The teams will appear in the schools, clubs and churches of the respective towns. Included in the Fayetteville program are appearances at five schools, six churches, a Kiwanis club luncheon, a boys' mass meeting, a father-and-son banquet, the county home, the prison camp, a social for high school students, and at a "Y" vs. high school basketball game.

According to an announcement from Y. M. C. A. General Secretary Harry F. Comer, the Winston-Salem team will return to Chapel Hill tomorrow night, the Fayetteville group, Sunday afternoon.

Composing the Fayetteville team are Lee Greer, Francis Fairley, Billy Yandell, Don McKee, Harry F. Comer, and the University quartet of Claude Ballard, Sam Lane, James Dees, and Harold Gavin.

PLAY PRESERVES ISLAND CULTURE

McMullan Drama Is on Bill of Three to Be Presented by Playmakers Tomorrow.

Playing the role of Cottie in her own original drama, "Cottie Mourns," which will be presented on the bill of New Carolina plays by the Carolina Playmakers tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, Miss Patsy McMullan, versatile Playmaker, will be attempting to preserve the local color that is fast vanishing from Ocracoke Island off the sound of North Carolina.

Passing People

The island of "bankers," as the fisher folk of Ocracoke are called, are falling prey, according to Miss McMullan, to a thin, cheap, "paste-board" civilization that is pouring in on them from the inland of our state.

With the inrush of the new people, the "bankers" and their old Elizabethan Devonshire accent, their simple, hardy ways of making a living on the "banks" are fast disappearing.

"Cottie Mourns" is Miss McMullan's third drama. The folk-comedy was presented on a Playmakers experimental bill last year in which production were featured Mildred McMullan and Robert Barrett who will play their same roles in tomorrow night's performance.

Wilton Mason and the author herself complete the cast.

"De Lawd" Rests After Completing Fourth Year Of "Green Pastures"

Richard B. Harrison Bewails Difficulty of One Night Stands And Day Coaches.

PLAY GROSSES $3,000,000

New York, Feb. 26.—(UP)—De Lawd sat in a room in Harlem recently, his fingers folded over his bulging vest, and talked about his troubles just like a mortal.

"De Lawd never knew de trouble I had," said Richard B. Harrison, shaking his long white locks mournfully. "One night stands! Day coaches! Auditoriums! My, oh my!"

The 70-year-old Negro actor came in off the road only to begin his fifth year in the role of "De Lawd" in Marc Connelly's amazing play, "The Green Pastures." "The Green Pastures," which has grossed more than $3,000,000 since Broadway managements refused to handle it, played at Baltimore to its 1652nd audience recently.

One Night Stands

"Ninety-three one-night stands in the last year," said Harrison, again shaking his head so highlights danced on his high forehead, round nose, and gold-rimmed spectacles. "The good Lord never had to put up with one night stands and day coaches."

Then he threw back his head and the round contours of his face took on a beaming expression.

"But we enjoyed it all. Oh, how we enjoyed it. Folks were so fine to us. And we all came home healthy."

De Lawd patted his ample midsection.

He sat in an arm chair in a

(Continued on page two)

CIRCULATION MANAGER

Applications for the position of circulation manager of the DAILY TAR HEEL, the Finjan, and the Carolina Magazine must be delivered to Mr. J. M. Lear at 109 Bingham hall by 2 o'clock this afternoon. All candidates must see Mr. Lear immediately to learn the duties of the position.

The applicants will be interviewed by the P. U. Board this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

SENATE APPROVES QUARTER SYSTEM

Motion Requiring Pro or Con Statement Before Taking Rostrum Is Defeated.

A listless discussion on the University quarter system was turned into a highly hilarious harangue last night as the Di Senate returned to new business to debate a motion requiring each Senator to state his view on the bill under consideration before speaking from the rostrum.

It was following the vote on the quarter system bill that Senator Kind proposed that each member of the Senate be required to state whether he favored or opposed the bill he was about to discuss before actually debating on the question.

Defeated

After numerous speeches by the senators on Kind's proposal, the bill was defeated almost unanimously.

The bill, Resolved, that the quarter system should be continued at the University of North Carolina, was unanimously approved.

Members of the society discussing the bill were Senators Kind, Howell, Stein, McKee, and Weaver.

By a vote of nine to eight the proposal, Resolved, that continued appropriations for relief are harmful to the future of the working classes, was defeated.

Senator Blackwell led the affirmative on the question and was assisted by Dacy, Yeatman, and McKee. Senators Fletcher, Kendrick, and Rawls rallied around Floor-Leader Eagles, who headed the negative forces.

The next session of the Senate will be an executive session. President Lee announced that every member would be required to attend and that reports are expected to be submitted by the chairmen of all Senate committees.

Craig to Speak

Dr. Hardin Craig, visiting professor of English, will deliver an address Friday evening at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall. The subject of Dr. Craig's talk will be "Why Hamlet?—An Attempt to Account for the Importance of Shakespeare's Play."

Mathematics Seminar

The mathematics seminar will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock in room 360, Phillips hall. L. L. Garner of the mathematics department will speak on the subject, "The Graphical Solution of Equations Involving Three Parameters."

RUSSELL SPEAKS AT BULL'S HEAD

Biographer Advises Students to Serve Hard Apprenticeship For Literary Success.

Yearning to write cannot alone produce a work of literary value, Professor Phillips Russell, teacher of the creative writing course, told an audience at the Bull's Head Bookshop yesterday afternoon. His subject was "Preventive Writing."

"I think there should be one writing course to give the student a knowledge of his working tools and another to 'prevent' him from writing," said the noted biographer. "By that I mean that he should be 'prevented' from writing until he has served his apprenticeship in the craft."

Professor Russell told the audience that he is continually receiving manuscripts from would-be authors who ask for criticism. "In almost every case I know before I open their letters that their compositions are not worth reading," he said. "They have not served what is often a hard apprenticeship, and they have only the desire to become authors."

His main purpose in teaching creative writing is to familiarize the students with the essentials of composition, he said. "Any writer must have form for one thing," said Professor Russell. "Too many amateurs think they can squeeze writing out of themselves, like toothpaste from a tube."

THEILADE COMES HERE NEXT WEEK

Danish-Javanese Dancer to Appear on Student Entertainment Series Wednesday.

Nini Theilade, Danish-Javanese dancer who during her first American tour last season was pronounced to be the logical successor to the great Anna Pavlowa, will give a performance here next Wednesday on the student entertainment series.

Mlle. Theilade was first launched on her career five years ago by Pavlowa, and later attracted international attention as premiere danseuse in four of Max Reinhard'ts European productions.

Royalty

Born in Java, Nini Theilade on her mother's side is of royal heritage. Her great-grandmother was the daughter of the Sultan of Java. Her father is a Danish journalist.

When she was nine years old Nini was brought to Denmark by her parents. Here she attended Asta Mollerup's ballet school. It was evident from the start that she had exceptional talent, so later she was taken to Paris to study under Madame Egorowa, who had formerly been first ballerina of the St. Petersburg ballet under the Czar. It was there that Anna Pavlowa saw her dance. So impressed was the great Russian that she turned to her companion and said:

"This child is the future. I am the present. People talk of me now. Later they will talk as much of her."

Pavlowa arranged for Mlle. Theilade's debut at The Hague in 1929, an appearance followed by a long tour of Germany, Switzerland, Holland and Scandanavia—and the subsequent engagements with Max Reinhardt. The Reinhardt productions in which she appeared included "Hoffmann's Erzahlungen," "Die Schoene Helena," "Jedermann" and "Der Studentenprinz."

Last year she made her first visit to the United States, creating such an impression that arrangements were immediately made for a return tour.

Congress Deadlocked

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Congressional activity came to a standstill today under an armed truce between New Dealers and oppositionists over the work-relief bill and the proposed NRA investigation.

The NRA faces two Senate investigations, both aimed at examining the charges that the recovery administration has fostered monopoly and price-fixing.

Labor got encouragement today on a bill slipped into the Senate by Senator James F. Byrnes (Dem., S. C.), which would make it a felony to transport strike breakers in interstate commerce.

SOPHOMORE CONVOCATION

The sophomore class will convene at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow in Gerrard hall to the tune of Peter (Buc) Ivey's musical voice as he endeavors to expose to them the fundamental secrets of the wiles and wills of women in general.

This is the first and probably the last convocation of the second year class during the winter quarter.

Committee Elects Smithwick President Of Political Union

Desk Staff

City editors, desk men, and sports editors will convene this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Graham Memorial for a short meeting.

Attendance is necessary since announcements will be made relative to their work.

NEW DEAL UPHELD BY PHI ASSEMBLY

Also Favors Bill Providing for Optional Attendance for All University Classes.

Members of the Phi Assembly fled to the first floor of New East to hold their meeting last night after the lights in their familiar portrait-panelled penthouse failed to function.

After a rather lengthy discussion, the assemblymen registered a large majority vote in favor of the bill, Resolved, that the Phi assembly favors the New Deal.

Representative Drew Martin, speaking against the bill that provided optional attendance for all classes at the University, sought to impress upon the minds of the assemblymen the alleged inferiority of the southern student and the southern university. The credence of his listeners was not sufficient, however, and the representative voted in favor of optional attendance.

Debate on the Hill bill for the repeal of the 18th amendment in this state was cut short by lack of time and was tabled until next meeting.

Members of the assembly are asked by Treasurer Francis Fairley to make arrangements for the payment of dues.

Freshmen Will Select Honor Court Today

To Convene by Schools at 10:30 O'clock This Morning.

Members of the freshman class will meet this morning at 10:30 according to schools for the purpose of electing representatives to the freshman Honor Court.

Each class will elect one representative.

Those freshmen in the college of liberal arts will meet in 111 Murphey with Joe Patterson presiding.

Commerce freshmen will meet in Memorial hall. David Allen will act as chairman.

Richard Heller will conduct the meeting of engineering freshmen in the auditorium of Phillips hall.

The pharmacy group will convene in Howell hall with Kemp Battle Nye acting as chairman.

Ted Cochrane will preside over the meeting of the applied science freshmen in the auditorium of Venable hall.

Policy League

There will be an important meeting of the executive committee of the Foreign Policy League in Graham Memorial tonight at 8 o'clock.

Comprehensives

All seniors who are scheduled to take their comprehensive examination Saturday at 9 o'clock must report to their respective major heads immediately.

Francis Fairley Made Secretary-Treasurer

Plans to Invite Many Outstanding Figures in Politics and Social Work to Meetings.

TO INVITE LONG IN MARCH

At the initial meeting of the executive committee of the Political Union, Robert Smithwick, former speaker of the Phi, was elected chairman of the Union and Francis Fairley, who served as reading clerk for the Assem- and who is now treasurer of that group, secretary-treasurer.

The committee, made up of Robert Smithwick, Francis Fairley, Nick Read, Phil Kind, and Betty Durham, passed on a resolution that the secretary invite Huey Long to speak before the Union in March.

To Be in Raleigh

Huey is expected to speak to the legislature in Raleigh next month and the committee has hopes that he will come to Chapel Hill.

It was also decided that the secretary write President Roosevelt, asking him to stop over at Chapel Hill on one of his trips to Warm Springs, Ga., to speak under the Union's auspices before the University.

A number of prominent people were selected to be invited to appear before the Union. Among these were Margaret Sanger, J. Edgar Hoover, Donald Richberg, Hugh Johnson, Henry Wallace, and Cordell Hull.

The committee approved a suggestion that the Political Union sponsor an open forum, or a supper, featuring one of the speakers coming here in the Human Relations Institute, March 31-April 5. The speaker was not decided upon, however, as all speaking engagements of the Human Relations Institute are not definitely settled as yet.

A proposal advocating a small assessment on each member of the Union was not accepted. The financial problem will be worked out at another meeting, the present expenses being taken care of by individual contributions to the secretary.

Economics Seminar Hears Carl Snyder

The economics seminar at its meeting last evening had as its speaker, Carl Snyder, statistician of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York who spoke on "The Mechanism of Economic Growth and Expansion."

He said that the financial status of the nation was dependent upon the savings and investments of the people. There has been no increase in the nation's wealth during the last five years for the first time in history, and during the last five years the savings of the nation as a whole have been nil.

Contrary to opinion, the one who is most beneficial to society and gives the greatest material advance as a whole to the nation is not the spender, but the miser or saver. As investments and savings decrease, the country's wealth likewise decreases.

Faculty Meeting

There will be a meeting of the general faculty in Bingham hall this afternoon at 4 o'clock, Dean R. B. House announced yesterday.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
George Underwood ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: IRVING SUSS

Wednesday, February 27, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

And some there are who still say that the only honor board for a freshman is the paddle.

Wrestling news item of last week: "Love Takes 41 Seconds." Certainly shows what you can do in a clinch.

Too bad President Roosevelt vetoed the $500,000 appropriation for studying control of marine organisms. He's now betrayed the Forgotten Foraminifera.

Political Intelligence

The turn-out for the first meeting of the Carolina Political Union was rather disappointing. Of course, there are many things on the students' minds at this stage of the quarter and the meetings are not particularly appealing. But the crowd was still not up to expectations.

The union, we predict, will develop into something really powerful in undergraduate circles. It will take time. If the program is carried out as the union leaders have expressed it, within a year the organization should become recognized by all as an interesting and instructive opportunity for political intelligence.

Building A Library

English 22, consisting mainly of a survey of the prose and poetry written in England since the eighteenth century, employs a textbook called British Poetry and Prose, 1362 pages, which contains virtually all the material needed for class work in the particular course. Outside reading can be done adequately in the library.

Now, we understand, just 10 days from examinations, English 22 students are told to purchase The College Omnibus, priced at $2.85 in the Book Exchange. It must be a new book, for there are no second-hand copies of the new edition at the Book Exchange. The total assignments given by one professor in the book could be read, we understand, in one night of concentrated reading. But the students must buy the book, look over the roommates' shoulders, or otherwise inconvenience themselves.

"It's a racket," quoted an English 22 professor in class. "I'm going to write a book myself."

If the teachers themselves deplore the "racket" and the students can find no particular delight in shelling out nearly three dollars, something obviously must be done about the situation. Or maybe it's a campaign to Build Up the Undergraduate Library.

Practicality In the Y. M. C. A.

The mimeographed list of activities of the Y. M. C. A. which members discussed Monday night included several useless sub-titles which help only by making the list more impressive.

The Y. M. C. A. has done good work this year. It has gained more campus respect by doing more practicable things. But its activity program is cluttered up with activities which, on paper, are very nice, but in practice are non-existent.

"Cultivating Friendship" is not an activity; it is the result of definite activity. We think this organization would do well to be practical and let the ultimate goals take care of themselves.

Neglected Fencing Team

When Coach Jones of the William & Mary fencing team offered to give the visiting Carolina fencers a few pointers after the disastrous meet last Saturday, his generosity, while fully appreciated by the Tar Heels, made them feel like homeless and neglected orphans.

In any form of athletics, and especially in one which requires the high degree of nicety and precision that fencing does, efficient and regular coaching is necessary if any sort of team is to be expected. No clearer illustration of this can be offered than the outcome of last Saturday's meet. A year ago, an uncoached Carolina team met and easily defeated the uncoached William and Mary fencers. Since then, the Virginians have secured the services of an excellent coach and have profited from his teaching to such an extent that almost the identical men who lost to Carolina last season routed the Tar Heel swordsmen 14-3 last week. The Carolina men were so clearly outclassed that the William and Mary coach was moved to offer them instruction.

There is only one man on the fencing team who has not had instruction and experience in prep school fencing previous to coming to the University. But, forced to work out against the same few teammates week after week, it is difficult for any athlete to keep from forgetting what he has previously learned, and impossible for him to add to his store of knowledge.

When school opened last fall, some slight effort was made to secure a fencing instructor for Carolina. Under the suggested plan the University would have been put to little expense and the fencing team would have benefited infinitely. After much letter writing and discussion, the idea was finally abandoned for reasons not made convincingly clear. The team was granted a meager appropriation for absolutely necessary equipment and left to shift for itself.

The University has not seen fit to recognize fencing as a minor sport. As yet, fencing doesn't deserve such recognition. But the athletic department has shown enough interest in the sport to grant it a small appropriation for equipment and the expenses of a single trip. Some money has been spent, and some interest has been shown in a half-hearted attempt to restore fencing to the position it once held among minor sports. Certainly Carolina wants a winning team. We have the material, as Coach Jones remarked, but until some sort of coaching is made available, fencing at Carolina is doomed either to an ignoble death or the continuation of a haphazard existence on starvation rations.

Enlightening Entertainment

The Student Entertainment committee is to be complimented on the selection of attractions to be presented here during the remainder of the scholastic year. The entertainments have been considered from the standpoint of student appeal more thoroughly, according to campus opinion, than has been customary in the past.

The next feature which has been booked by the committee is the appearance of the world's youngest ballet dancer, Nini Theilade, who is coming here "straight from Hollywood." Some unfounded criticism has been heard from students because of the several postponements of Miss Theilade's program. These delays have been occasioned by the fact that the young danseuse is at present busily engaged in cinematic production and consequently was forced to request postponement of her appearance here.

The attractions for next quarter are equally worthwhile. The Russian Symphonic Choir and the DeWolf Hopper Operatic Company in "The Mikado" will both appear here. Supplementary to the regular schedule, the committee will sponsor the return to the campus of one of its most talented young graduates, Thor Johnson, who will bring the University of Michigan Little Symphony here early in April.

The committee has been active in procuring for the students here some of the most famous artists in the world. "Green Pastures" was an auspicious choice last quarter and Miss Theilade is a most attractive follow-up. An added innovation will be the appearance on the same program of the Whitney String Quintet which will accompany Miss Theilade.

Publicity By Co-operation

The Cabarrus county alumni of the University have just subscribed to a special offer presented by the University Club consisting of regular delivery of the DAILY TAR HEEL, the Carolina Magazine, the Finjan, and the Yackety Yack. The important feature of the Cabarrus alumni's action was that these publications will be sent to each high school in that county regularly.

The University Club is in the midst of a campaign to provide, with the help of alumni, Carolina publications in every high and preparatory school in the state. It is excellent publicity of the most convincing kind and the club feels, as do we, that it will tend to boost the local roster next fall.

SPEAKING the CAMPUS MIND

Imprudent Meeting

Editor, The DAILY TAR HEEL:

The "imprudent" meeting that was held in Gerrard hall giving the Burlington strikers a fair opportunity to present their side of the case, was brought about by a sincere class of justice-loving citizens who have made a thorough and impartial study of the class struggles, in classroom and in real life.

It was a rare opportunity to hear the alleged dynamiters give their side of the case, especially at a time when confidence is shaken in the present judicial system where injustice has been meted out in so many cases, because of the lack of proper leadership and lack of financial means on the part of the underprivileged.

The members of the committee who invited the prisoners to speak are to be congratulated in giving the citizens and students of Chapel Hill the opportunity to hear first hand knowledge of current labor troubles.

It is a fine privilege to sit in class room or church auditorium and hear discussed the terrible struggles of the downtrodden people in far away lands, but to hear about actual experiences right at our own door and to do something about it is entirely a different matter. Every freedom loving citizen whose taxes go to support an educational institution has a right to have a fair hearing in the name of social justice.

Realizing that religion itself is forced to truckle to worldly policy, I sympathize with those connected with the press, that a similar predicament confronts them if they do not give special preference to those who live in the higher circles.

May there be more meetings of this type to enlighten the minds of students of the efforts being put forth by all those in any status of life who seek for justice and fair play in the circles of conflicting thought.

—REV. C. R. DIERLAMM.

"De Lawd"

(Continued from page one)

tiny room in the Harlem Y. M. C. A. His brown suit needed pressing. He wore a blue-striped shirt and black and silver tie. He was smoking a ten-cent cigar.

"Lawd, you've been in 223 towns. How long is the depression going to last?"

"Everybody cries 'depression.' But they buy tickets to our show."

"Lawd, how did they treat you down south?"

"We couldn't ask for better."

"Lawd, what are you going to do when you come face to face with the real Lord?"

"I can see Him now. 'Come here you. So you de feller been playing My part down dere—and not too good neither. You get the hell outa here!'"

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

Old Medical School

Dean C. S. Mangum and Dr. W. deB. MacNider of the University school of medicine have returned from Fayetteville where they attended the annual reunion of the graduates of the old North Carolina University medical school.

This reunion was unusual in that all the medical men that attended are graduates of a school which no longer exists. The old University medical school was operated from 1903 to 1910 and was situated in Raleigh.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:30: Little Jack Little, songs, WBT.

2:00: Radio City matinee; Ray Noble's orch.; Guest Stars, WJZ, KDKA; Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

3:00: Kate Smith's matinee hour, WBT.

3:30: George Hamilton's orch., WPTF.

5:00: Rochester Civic orch., WPTF.

5:30: George Sterney's orch., WPTF.

6:45: Lowell Thomas, commentator, WLW.

7:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

7:45: Plantation Echoes, WPTF.

8:00: Mary Pickford's Plays and Players; Lou Silvers, musical director, WPTF; Penthouse Party—Emil Coleman orch., guest artists, WJZ, WLW.

8:15: Edwin C. Hill, commentator, WABC, KMOX.

8:30: Wayne King orch., WABC, WSB; Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

9:00: Town Hall Tonight—Fred Allen, comedian; Lennie Hayton orch., WPTF, WLW; Andre Kostelanetz orch., Lily Pons, soprano; vocal ensemble; male quartet, WBT.

9:30: Burns and Allen, comedy, WBT; Ted Weems orch., WGN.

9:45: Jan Garber orch, WGN.

10:00: The Family Hotel; Jack Pearl; Freddie Rich orch., WBT; Guy Lombardo orch., Ricardo Cortez, narrator, WPTF, WLW.

10:30: Ray Noble orch.., WEAF, WLW.

11:15: Leon Belasco orch., WBT.

11:30: Eddy Duchin orch., WEAF, WLW; Ozzie Nelson orch., WBT.

CAROLINA

Today

CLARK GABLE
CONSTANCE BENNETT
STUART ERWIN
in
"After Office Hours"

—Also—
Comedy — News

Midnight Show Friday

JOE PENNER
LANNY ROSS
LYDA ROBERTI
in
"College Rhythm"

Doors Open at 11:15 P. M.

Bradshaw Speaks

Dean of Students Francis F. Bradshaw will address the students of Salem College in Winston-Salem this morning at 11 o'clock. His talk will be a part of the regular assembly period for the girl's school.

Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: R. S. Morgan, Leighton Dudley, Elizabeth Hampton, George Hux, Fred Cates, E. O. Brantley, A. H. McLeod, Robert Ledford, and R. B. Hardison.

EXHIBIT & SALE of Cotton Suede Apparel
2 and 3 Piece Dresses
Sweater Suits for Children
Bathing Suits
at CAROLINA INN
Feb. 28-Mar. 3
10 A. M. to 6 P. M.
ROOM 126

FILL your cereal bowl with Kellogg's Rice Krispies. A grand breakfast dish. Extra delicious when you add a bit of fruit.

Rice Krispies crackle cheerfully in milk or cream — a sound that appetites can't resist.

They're a satisfying between-meal snack. And just the thing before bedtime. They aid restful sleep because they are nourishing and easy to digest.

At grocers, hotels and restaurants, in the red-and-green package, ready to eat. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Quality guaranteed.

Listen!—
get hungry

EXHIBITION
CLOTHES OF INDIVIDUAL EXCELLENCE, CORRECTLY ATTUNED TO THE IMMEDIATE SEASON.
FORTY DOLLARS AND MORE
EXHIBITION AT
Student Co-operative Cleaners
TODAY AND TOMORROW
ROBERT GRAY, Representative

Finchley
FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

CLOTHES INDIVIDUALLY TAILORED TO ORDER :: ALSO HABERDASHERY • HATS • SHOES

Phantoms Finish Work Today For SIC Tourney

TAR HEELS PLAY AT 8 TOMORROW

Carolina Has Strong First Team Ready for Battles; Gamecocks First Opponents.

GOOD RESERVES NEEDED

The Carolina White Phantoms took their next to last workout yesterday afternoon for the Southern Conference tournament which opens tomorrow afternoon at the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium.

A change has been made in the time for the North Carolina-South Carolina battle. The previous game-time of 9:30 o'clock tomorrow night has been moved to 8. The State-VMI game will follow.

Coach Bo Shepard will have his full strength to throw into the tourney melee. Although considerably lacking on reserve strength, the Phantoms will enter with probably the best starting team in the tournament.

First Club Ready

The first five of Captain Aitken, Nelson, Glace, McCachren, and Harris has seen most of the action during the past several weeks. Kaveny and Blood are the stand-outs among the subs. The question remains as to whether this ace quint will be able to stand up under the grind and strain of three days toil.

The practice session yesterday pitted the varsity against the frosh first string, with the Phantom reserves seeing plenty of action.

The Shepard players will be meeting in the prelim encounter a team which they have beaten twice this season, once by one slim point and again by a big, overwhelming margin. This team is South Carolina, led by the nearly unstoppable "Texas Dana" Henderson. The Gamecocks, heads-on favorites in last year's tournament, are not up to par this season, but still possess a crack ball team.

Doping The Sports

By JAMES MORRIS

THE WHITE PHANTOMS will probably find their biggest opposition in the fight for the Southern Conference championship right in the two Carolinas, namely South Carolina, Clemson, Duke and State. The Tar Heels battle the Gamecocks in the first round and chances are that they will meet two of the other three; that is, if they keep winning.

SOUTH CAROLINA holds the same position this year that Duke held last year in regard to North Carolina. The Blue Devils eliminated the Phantoms in the tourney after being beaten by the same team twice during the season. This does not mean, necessarily, that the Gamecocks will stop the Tar Heels, but it is a warning worth heeding.

ALTHOUGH they have faltered and dropped several games to weak teams during the past week, the Red Terrors form a dangerous combination. Coach Sermon has built a beautiful passing attack and when this is clicking along with State's sometime remarkable ability to drop in long tosses the opposition must be plenty careful. The Phantoms can't easily forget the Big Five game with the Wolfpack at Raleigh. State held the lead for the first half and almost three-fourths of the second; the Red Terrors also finished fast and almost passed Carolina a second time. The Wolfpack in addition will be the only team performing before a home crowd.

CLEMSON and Duke are the favorites to come through in the lower bracket. Duke finished second to Carolina in the Southern Conference standings and is the real tourney team. That is, Coach Cameron has two strong fives ready to go, giving his charges the needed reserve strength for three hard games. The Blue Devils have a high-speed combination that at times left Carolina flat-footed during the contests in which the two outfits have already battled. The main thing lacking in the Duke attack seems to be real shooting ability and if this department is polished properly the Devils have an excellent chance of being in there at the end.

CLEMSON is the real mystery-team of the tournament due to the fact that it has taken on so few Southern Conference clubs. However, the Tiger record shows victories over both Washington and Lee and the Gamecocks. Clemson also won the South Carolina state championship with room to spare. A senior outfit will represent the school which has not taken part in a conference tourney in many a year. Five boys started at Clemson four years ago and and have been developed into a great combination, led by Alex Swails, center, who is without a doubt one of the top players of the conference. A large group of fans has picked the Royal

(Continued on last page)

REGULAR COURT SEASON CLOSES

Pharmacy and Grimes Get Wins In Final Mural Games, Downing Aycock and Manly.

Pharmacy and Grimes basketball teams took the final games of the regular schedule for the 1935 intramural season yesterday afternoon as they won victories over Manly and Aycock, respectively.

The prescription fillers came from behind to overcome an early Manly lead and took the contest by a 39-26 score, while Grimes' revamped lineup found the hoop on too many long shots and beat Aycock, 31-28.

The summaries:

Grimes (31)	Aycock (28)
Calloway, f	Kornegay, f (12)
Idol, f (9)	Guntzler, f (10)
Umstead, c (4)	Kesselman (4)
Hockaday, g (8)	Bronitsky (2)
Willard, g (8)	Katz, g

Subs: Grimes—Swain (2); Aycock—Karnersky.

Pharmacy (39)	Manly (26)
Woodard, f (6)	Broady, f
Warner, f (4)	Gunn, f (2)
Woodard, c (15)	Rowley, c (6)
Edwards, g (8)	Farquson (12)
Mathews, g (6)	Shean, g (6)

Hi Title Tilt Tonight

Raleigh, champion of the eastern conference, and High Point, winner in the west, will meet in the Tin Can tonight to decide the Class "A" high school basketball championship. The battle will start at 8 o'clock.

Co-ed Cagers

The co-eds of the freshman and sophomore classes will meet tonight in another tilt of the round-robin tournament. The contest in Bynum gym will start at 8 o'clock.

Both clubs are out for first victories so a real battle is likely to result. Each was defeated once last week.

TAR HEELS TURN IN FINE RECORDS AT JAY-CEE MEET

Thirteen Out of Fourteen Win Medals; Williamson, Gammon, Gardiner First.

FOUR CAPTURE SECONDS

The Jay-Cee indoor track meet of Charlotte is over; besides making a remarkable debut for track in the Piedmont section of Carolina, it showed that the North Carolina Flying Tar Heel track team will be on the warpath again this year.

Fourteen men represented Carolina in the meet, and 13 of the group won medals. A trio of Tar Heels captured first places, four took seconds, three more had thirds, and the relay gained a close second.

Harry Williamson, Graham Gammon and Bob Gardiner were the first place winners. The former took the Barrett Mile with much ease, his time of 4:27.7 being good for the condition of the track.

Sophs Come Through

The two sophomore runners in the middle distances came through in a big way. Gammon was pitted against Headley of Maryland, fine anchor man of Marvland's N. Y. A. C. record-holding mile relay team. Both men came down the short home

(Continued on last page)

DOBSON TAKES 'B' TITLE BY VICTORY OVER CARY, 27-23

Eastern High School Team Leads at Half But Dobson Goes Ahead to Triumph.

HOLLEMAN TOPS SCORING

Dobson High defeated Cary 27-23 here last night to take the second consecutive class "B" high school title.

Cary began the game with a rush, running up six points before the western contenders could score and led 8-4 at the end of the first quarter and 14-13 at the half.

Dobson began clicking in the second half and on consecutive field goals by White, who counted two crips, Blue, and Collins went into the lead 21-16. At this point Holleman, lanky Cary center, dropped in a crip shot and a foul to bring his team within two points of Dobson.

Get Four-Point Lead

White came through with a crip shot to give Dobson a four-point lead, but Copeland, a forward, succeeded in sinking a shot from near the foul circle. Collins then scored for Dobson, Holleman for Cary, and Blue for Dobson to end the point-making.

Holleman used his reach to advantage, numerous times

(Continued on last page)

Four Tar Heels Entered In SIC Wrestling Tourney

Umstead, Ward, and Bonner, All Sophomores, and Captain Efland, Senior, Will Compete in Championship Battles at Lexington Friday and Saturday; W. and L. Defends Title.

Carolina will have four representatives in the Southern Conference wrestling tournament which will be held Friday and Saturday at Washington and Lee, Lexington, Va. The Tar Heel matmen who will participate are Frank Umstead, 118-pound class; Melvin Ward, 135; Allen Bonner, 155, and Captain Sim Efland, 165.

Umstead, Ward and Bonner are sophomores while Captain Efland is competing for the last time under Carolina colors. Incidentally Efland is the only letterman on the 1935 mat aggregation.

Washington and Lee, defending title club, will be attempting to win its fourth consecutive crown. In the conference tourney held at Blacksburg in 1934 the Generals nosed out the VMI Kaydets by a scant three points. The Generals have another strong grappling contingent this year and are undefeated to date in six contests. Among their victims are Carolina, State and Duke, who will be represented Friday.

Besides the above outfits VMI and VPI are planning to enter teams. Last year Currence, 155, and Dorrier, 165, won title honors for VMI while Waldrop, 175, was the lone conference champ of the Gobblers.

Although Carolina can hardly hope to win the conference title, several of the matmen will have excellent chances of copping individual honors. Of the Tar Heel quartet, Allen Bonner is the best possibility. Bonner, who will be competing in the welterweight division, has been defeated but once this season. Pre-conference dope reports that the 145-pound class will be a battle of sophomores and Bonner looks to be the most promising of these candidates.

Frank Umstead, brilliant ban-

(Continued on last page)

Mangum And Dekes Play Today For Campus Title

Braves Sign Babe

Boston, Feb. 26.—The tension over the Babe Ruth question is at last quieted. Late reports from the headquarters of the National League team here state that the King of the Swat has been sold to the Boston Braves. He is to play, act as assistant manager, and is second vice-president of the club. No price was named.

BOWLING TOURNEY OPENS THIS WEEK

First Round Must Be Played Off By Friday; Z. B. T. No. 1 Is Only Team Eliminated.

The qualifying round of the Graham Memorial intramural bowling tournament resulted in the elimination of one entry, Z. B. T. No. 1. leaving 16 entries. The tournament will be run on an elimination basis rather than in a league, as has been the custom in the past.

The seeded teams are the Midnight Flyers (Sensenbach, Jimison, Lovill) with a score of 1218; Grimes (Draper, Liebermann, Walters) with 1196; Phi Delta Theta (Mosier, Blount, Potts) with 1067, and Sigma Nu (Jones, Hollingsworth, Ruth) with 1059.

The tournament is for organizations, not individuals; therefore, a dormitory or fraternity team may use a different trio of individuals in each round, if it wishes.

Herman Schnell, intramural director, has announced that each team entered will receive 25 intramural points, teams reaching the semi-finals an additional 30 points, and 65 points going to the winner of the tournament.

First-round pairings are given below. These matches must be completed before Friday. Teams are to make their own arrangements as to time of match.

Midnight Flyers vs. Aycock; Old East vs. Zeta Psi No. 2; Sigma No vs. Chi Phi; Chi Psi vs. Z. B. T. No 2; Grimes vs. Mangum; A. T. O. vs. Zeta Psi No. 1; Phi Delta Theta vs. Theta Kappa Nu; Sigma Chi vs. Ruffin.

Gobbler Cagers Win

VPI, doormat of the Southern Conference during the past basketball season, finally came through last night to defeat VMI 25-24.

MURAL CAGE TILT TO START AT 5:30

Both Teams Have Turned in Great Records; Mangum Leads in Scoring.

MOORE AND FOX ARE STARS

D. K. E.	Pos.	MANGUM
Patterson	f.	Henson
Montgomery	f.	Barnwell
Willis	c.	Fox
Moore	g.	Rhodes
Warren	g.	Vick

This afternoon at 5:30 o'clock the intramural basketball teams representing Mangum No. 1 and D. K. E., dormitory and fraternity league champions, will battle it out on the main court of the Tin Can for the 1935 campus title.

Both teams hold enviable records and will be primed for the annual tussle, each having gone through the regular schedule of eight games without a flaw and also coming through the playoffs successfully. The Mangum quintet had only Swain Hall to hurdle, while the Dekes had to get by S. A. E. and Phi Kappa Sigma.

During the season's play, Moore of D. K. E. and Fox of Mangum have been the spearheads in their respective teams' scoring punches and both will bear considerable watching in today's encounter. Mangum may be slowed up somewhat as Rhodes will be incapacitated by an injured toe.

The records of the teams follow:

	Mangum No. 1
1	Y. M. C. A.	0
37	Pharmacy	12
84	Locals	15
74	Manly	13
45	Kluttz Bldg.	13
37	Aycock	28
26	Ruffin	17
23	Law School	19
30	Swain Hall	21
357		138

	D. K. E.
59	Z. B. T.	17
25	Theta Chi	16
28	Sigma Nu	2
33	Delta Tau Delta	12
33	Sigma Chi	24
13	Chi Phi	10
32	Kappa Sigma	17
27	Phi Delta Theta	12
32	S. A. E.	17
32	Phi Kappa Sigma	11
314		138

MARIONETTE ACT BEGINS ITINERARY

Puppet Show Is Touring Grammar Schools of State to Promote Better Teeth Care.

Under the auspices of the State Board of Health, the American Council of good teeth for children, and the Carolina Playmakers, a state-wide tour of a puppet show, organized here, got underway yesterday.

The purpose of the "tooth drama," which consists of three acts presented on a 48-inch stage in less than an hour, is to illustrate for the benefit of school children the proper care of the teeth.

Dr. Ernest A. Branch of Raleigh, former president of the North Carolina Dental Society, and head of the division of oral hygiene of the State Board of Health, is in charge of arrangements for the tour.

The show will be presented by invitation in grammar schools throughout the state without charge for a limited period, Dr. Branch said, and arrangements for dates should be made with him by the schools or parent-teacher associations.

The Orange county schools will be covered first.

Rehearsals for the show were held here all last week under the direction of Miss Catherine McAndrews, of Chicago, a daughter of Congressman McAndrews, representing the American Council.

Two members of the Playmakers staff, Louise Maguire and William Long, will put on the puppet show during the tour.

PRESS DISPLAYS

In the past week the University Press has been holding two exhibitions of its work. One of these, at the Educational Association of Printing at Washington, was intrusted to Miss Wolff of the Press staff. The other, held under the auspices of the National Educational Association at Atlantic City, N. J., was in charge of Mr. Griffin.

The purpose of these exhibits is to sell the publications of the University Press. Both at Washington and Atlantic City, most of the prominent publishers were represented.

Graduate Tea

There will be a tea for graduate students in English this afternoon from 4 to 5:30 o'clock in the lounge of the Graduate Club. The tea is in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Hardin Craig.

"PEP ON THE AIR"

RUTH ETTING and her melody

RED NICHOLS and his rhythm

Kellogg's

COLLEGE PROM

IT'S the big night on the air. Dancing. Singing. Sport thrills. With the color and gaiety of the college campus.

KANSAS NIGHT

HONORING
DR. J. L. NAISMITH
Originator of Basketball

THURSDAY, FEB. 28th

WMAL—7:45 P. M., E. S. T.

Tune in every week at this same time. N. B. C. Blue Network.

Jay-Cee Track

(Continued from page three)

stretch neck to neck and finished in a real dead heat.

Gardiner likewise had to compete with an Old Liner, Evans, another relayer. He ran a heady race, taking the lead about half way and then managing to hold onto it with a nice finish.

Charlie Hubbard served notice to all Dixie sprinters that he will be well in the running this season. He had to run against Widmyer of Maryland in both heat and finals, but each time was just a mere yard behind him. In the final run the Old Liner streak covered the 50 yards in 5.5 seconds, just three-tenths of a second slower than the world's record.

Tom Hawthorne, after taking his heat with apparent ease, captured third in a close finish of the finals over the high hurdles.

Waldrop Is Close

Ed Waldrop was right among the leaders throughout the whole two-mile race, trailing Bird of Duke the first half and Frazier of Davidson the last until the last when W. and L.'s Dunaj passed him. His time of around 10:03 minutes was exceptionally good for the Armory track.

Tom Evins put the shot around 43 feet, second to the giant Jack Torrance, who set a new world's indoor record. Evins has had little practice this winter in track, having participated in the football drills.

Dick Bear in the pole vault has shown the most improvement of any man on the team, possibly. He has been working hard and his fine vaulting in Charlotte is a good result. He kept right up with Davidson's Lee until the bar rested at 12 feet 2 inches.

The mile relay team showed up good and gave the favored Maryland team a real fight. The three "Reds," Montgomery, Rosser, and Drake, turned in some fine running, and then Williamson carried the baton in anchor.

Doping the Sports

(Continued from page three)

Bengals of South Carolina to ride through for the title.

IN ADDITION there are the three darkest of dark horses from the Old Dominion, Virginia, VMI, and W. and L. It is remembered that the Generals, defending champs, didn't have a much better record last year than they have this season and it is not impossible for the club to repeat should a heat wave strike them again. Virginia has been developing rapidly during the past few weeks and by now may be ready to go places. VMI knocked off Duke once and gave the Tar Heels a terrible scare during one first half.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNUS

Dr. George M. Murphy of Wilmington, University alumnus, materially aided Dr. Harold C. Urey of Columbia University to discover "heavy water," or deuterium, for which Urey received the Nobel prize in chemistry last year, according to the February issue of the Alumni Review.

North Carolina Club

Ralph MacDonald of Winston-Salem, former professor of psychology at Salem College, will speak tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the meeting of the North Carolina Club in the basement of the University library.

MacDonald will talk on the readjustment of taxes and his own plan of taxation.

Varsity Wrestling

(Continued from page three)

tamweight, will carry to the tournament a record just as impressive as his teammate. Umstead in two years of competition has been beaten only once, and that was by Thomas of Washington and Lee at Lexington four weeks ago. Thomas, who was conference champ in the 125-pound class in 1933, will grapple in the bantam division.

Tough Opponents

Ward and Efland will probably face the toughest opponents of the Tar Heel entries. Ward will have to contend with such stars as Krach of State; Witt of VPI, and Lowry of W. and L. Krach is undefeated in six matches this season while Witt and Lowry have a lone setback each to mar their most impressive records.

When the bell sounds for the 165-pounders to swing into action the fur is expected to fly thick and fast. The outstanding men are Efland of Carolina; Currence of VMI; Priode of VPI; Seitz of W. and L., and Furr of State. Efland has faced all of these contestants in dual matches this season but his only victory was at the expense of Furr. Captain Currence, who was 155-pound champ in 1934, will be the overwhelming favorite to gain top honors in this division.

Appropriations Delegation

President of the Greater University Frank Porter Graham and Controller Charles Woollen left Chapel Hill yesterday afternoon for Raleigh where they were to attend the meeting of the state legislature. A committee is now considering the appropriations bill for the Greater University.

Dobson Wins Title

(Continued from page three)

picking the ball off the backboard to score for Cary. Copeland played a good floor game for the losers.

One of the outstanding men on the floor was Neal Cockerham, Dobson guard. He was in every play, and continually led the Dobson attack.

J. S. Gentry of Carolina is coach of the Dobson team. Although he never played basketball here, he attended a coaching school and led his team to the title in his first year out of college.

DOBSON:	FG	F	T
Jackson, rf	2	1	5
White, lf	3	1	7
Blue, c	2	3	7
Cockerman, rg	2	0	4
Collins, lg	2	0	4
Totals	11	5	27

CARY:	FG	F	T
Copeland, rf	2	0	4
Sorrell, lf	1	0	2
Holleman, c	6	1	13
Wyatt, rg	1	0	2
Craddock, lg	1	0	2
Totals	11	1	23

Referee: Knight (Durham Y. M. C. A.) Half score: Cary 14; Dobson 13.

Scripto

World's Most Popular Mechanical Pencil

In our store alone, 192 dozen sold in 27 months, because of their

SUPERIORITY
PRACTICABILITY
DEPENDABILITY ECONOMY

Only 10 & 15c

Ledbetter-Pickard
Stationery—Gifts—School Supplies

MacKinney to Speak

Dr. L. C. MacKinney of the University history department, will address the Pender County Teachers Association meeting in Burgaw tonight.

Dr. MacKinney, chairman of the faculty sub-committee working on the general course in social sciences for the freshman year, will speak on the relation of the secondary curriculum and the college curriculum in social studies. He will also present plans for the summer session at the University.

LOST

Black Scotty puppy named Johnny Walker. Reward if returned to Mac Bell, S. A. E. house.

?

WHY so many Carolina Men are buying their Suits from LIPMANS. Because they know they get the same fit and same attention to the fitting of their clothes whether they buy a $20.75 or a $55.00 Suit.

Our 11 years' experience of outfitting the University man enables us to know what patterns and how your clothes should look on you.

Why not give us a trial for your Spring Suit and let us convince you that we can fit you at reasonable prices.

SOL LIPMANS JACK

Come in and select your Spring Oxfords from our 50 styles of Regal Shoes—whites, combination colors, and solid colors—at

$5.55

Take a cigarette like CHESTERFIELD

You know I like that cigarette...

I like the way it tastes... there's plenty of taste there.

Chesterfield is mild, not strong ... and that's another thing I like in a cigarette.

What's more, They Satisfy ... and that's what I like a cigarette to do.

I get a lot of pleasure out of Chesterfield ... you know I like that cigarette.

On the air—

MONDAY	WEDNESDAY	SATURDAY
LUCREZIA BORI	LILY PONS	RICHARD BONELLI

KOSTELANETZ ORCHESTRA AND CHORUS
9 P. M. (E. S. T.)—COLUMBIA NETWORK

© 1935, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

FOREIGN POLICY LEAGUE
8 P. M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

The Daily Tar Heel

UNIVERSITY CLUB
7:15 P. M.
209 GRAHAM MEMORIAL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1935 | NUMBER 116

ROBINSON CHOSEN CIRCULATION HEAD FOR PUBLICATIONS

Board Calls for Applications for Position of Managing Editor of Daily Tar Heel.

TO INTERVIEW APPLICANTS

Joe Robinson, University senior, was chosen by the P. U. Board yesterday to succeed George Underwood, who tendered his resignation last week, as circulation manager for the campus publications.

Robinson will begin his duties at the end of this week and will continue as circulation manager until the end of this school year.

Applications Due

The Publications Union Board also decided to receive applications for managing editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL when it meets again next Wednesday.

Applications must be in the hands of Professor J. M. Lear by that time, and the applicants themselves are requested to be present in order to be interviewed individually by the board.

The final selection will be made at a special meeting the following Monday, March 11.

FACULTY ACCEPTS NEW HONOR RULE

Instructors Are to Enter Rooms Occasionally During Progress of Exams or Quizzes.

The University faculty yesterday adopted a resolution, proposed by the Student Council and the faculty executive committee, to aid in promoting more ideal conditions for the functioning of the honor system.

The resolution follows:

"It is suggested that as a member of the college community each instructor has a positive responsibility with respect to the honor system. This responsibility involves appropriate interpretation of the honor system and the promotion of conditions favorable to effective work.

Profs to Be on Hand

"On the occasion of a quiz or examination the instructor should be readily available to be of assistance and he should drop in from time to time so as to answer questions and insure the maintenance of order."

This resolution, which by its adoption by the faculty becomes a ruling, is not to be interpreted as any retreat from the high interpretation of the honor system now in general acceptance, according to Dr. T. J. Wilson, who serves as secretary of the faculty. It is intended to provide more ideal conditions both for concentration during tests and for full functioning of the honor system.

EDITORIAL BOARD

The editorial board of the DAILY TAR HEEL will meet with the editor and the board chairman this afternoon in Graham Memorial at 5 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

Glee Club

All members of the Glee Club are urged to attend rehearsal for an important business session this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Hill Music hall. The business will pertain to the Yackety Yack picture and the spring tours of the group.

WINTER TERM EXAMINATIONS WILL COMMENCE ON MARCH 13

University Registrar's Office Releases Schedule for Quarter's Final Tests.

QUIZZES CLOSE MARCH 16

The registrar's office released yesterday the schedule for winter quarter examinations in academic courses, which begin Wednesday, March 13, and end Saturday afternoon, March 16.

The examination schedule for courses in engineering, including engineering mathematics, is in Phillips hall. The dates for exams in accounting courses will be announced by instructors in these courses.

Two Exams Daily

Two examinations each day have been scheduled, at 9 a. m. and 2:30 p. m.

Quizzes will be held Wednesday morning for all 8:30 o'clock classes except history 2 and economics 31 and 32. The schedule for Wednesday afternoon includes all sections of history 1 and 2 meeting at 8:30 and at 12 o'clock, all 2 o'clock classes and all sections of economics 32.

Thursday Tests

All 9:30 classes except history 1 and 2 and economics 31 and 32 will have examinations Thursday morning. Thursday afternoon all 3 and 4 o'clock classes, all sections of English 1 and 2 meeting at 9:30 o'clock, and all sections of economics 31 will be examined.

All 11 o'clock classes except English 1 and 2 and economics 31 and 32 will be examined Friday morning. Examinations will be held Friday afternoon for all English 1 and 2 classes meeting at 11 o'clock.

All 12 o'clock classes except history 1 and 2 and economics 31 and 32 will have examinations Saturday morning, and Saturday afternoon all examinations will be held which cannot be arranged otherwise.

By action of the faculty the time for no examination may be changed after it has been fixed in the schedule.

UNIVERSITY CLUB

The University Club will meet tonight in 209 Graham Memorial at 7:15 o'clock.

Frank Willingham, president, announced yesterday that several very important matters will be brought up at tonight's session. All members are urged to be present.

LEAGUE TO HEAR ERICSON TONIGHT

Foreign Policy Club to Meet at 8 P. M. in Graham Memorial.

Dr. E. E. Ericson of the University English department will speak to the Foreign Policy League tonight at 8 o'clock in Graham Memorial, Agnew Bahnson announced yesterday.

Ericson will conclude the series of studies undertaken during the quarter by the league on the "Sino-Japanese Situation."

The English professor will epitomize the progress of the previous discussions and will present information complementary to that brought out by T. Y. Koo, Chinese student here, who spoke last week.

Joe Barnett and John Shultz, delegates to the conference of international relation clubs held at Davidson last week, will make reports.

The general public is invited to attend the session, according to Bahnson. This will be the last convocation of the league this quarter.

Review Relates UNC Anecdotes About Baseball

Dr. Mangum Tells of Bathing Suit Uniforms and Faculty Doubt of Curved Balls.

Believe it or not, a University of North Carolina baseball nine, gayly attired in blue and white striped bathing suits, once performed for dear old alma mater on the diamond.

It was way back in the gay 'nineties, and the boys were playing Virginia up in Richmond.

The whole story is told by Dr. Charles S. Mangum, dean of the University Medical School, writing in the current issue of The Alumni Review, which has just been mailed to subscribers.

First Interstate Contest

Carolina had begun intercollegiate baseball in 1891, and the contest with the University of Virginia team that spring was to mark the first interstate athletic contest for the Chapel Hill boys.

The Tar Heels had played their earlier season games against Trinity and Wake Forest in their "street clothes," uniforms not having become at that time a part of their baseball equipment. On reaching Richmond, the Carolinians discovered that Virginia would appear in natty uniforms for the contest.

State's Honor Involved

"Something had to be done to meet this emergency," writes Dr. Mangum in his article. "The honor of our state was involved. Who the genius was that had the idea is not a matter of record, but the team, in a body, repaired to a department store and purchased bathing suits in va-

(Continued on last page)

PRESS RELEASES TWO NEW BOOKS

"In a Bengal Jungle" Recounts Missionary's Experiences.

W. T. Couch of the University Press, announced yesterday the release of two books, "In a Bengal Jungle" by John Symington and "Bob Taylor and the Agrarian Revolt in Tennessee" by Daniel M. Robinson.

Symington was a medical missionary in jungles of the Duars, at the base of the Himalayas for over 25 years. His book is a vigorous and vivid tale of the adventures which befell him while fighting malaria and other tropical diseases among the savages.

"Bob Taylor and the Agrarian Revolt in Tennessee" is a history of the activities of Tennessee's famous political character. Robinson shows how Taylor's rise to prominence was coincident with Tennessee's transition from an agricultural to an industrial state. He concludes with an estimate of Taylor's contributions to Tennessee politics.

REPORTERS TO MEET

The reportorial staff of the Daily Tar Heel will meet today at 2 p. m. in the University Club room in Graham Memorial.

World News Bulletins

Washington, Feb. 27.—(UP)—President Roosevelt will return to Washington tomorrow to find in addition to a deadlock over the works relief bill, a fight on the floor of the Senate over an investigation of the NRA.

Senator Gerald P. Nye (Rep., N. D.), and Senator Pat McCarran (Dem., Nev.), co-authors of the NRA investigation resolution, are prepared to ask for an impartial inquiry and an appropriation of $15,000 to conduct it.

Washington, Feb. 27.—(UP)—The New Deal will go to the Supreme Court to defend the constitutionality of section 7-A of the NRA, Attorney-General Homer S. Cummings said tonight.

Federal Judge John P. Nields ruled against the federal government in Wilmington, Delaware, today, when he decided section 7-A, in which labor is given the right to bargain collectively, was unconstitutional as applied to the Weirton Steel Company.

Rome, Italy, Feb. 27.—(UP)—Hundreds of natives from Abyssinia, Yemen on the Arabian coast, and British Somaliland flocked to the Italian colors on the "African front" today, joining the thousands of regulars and volunteers from Italy.

Raleigh, Feb. 27.—(UP)—Beer became a dead issue for the time being in North Carolina when the House of Representatives killed by a vote of 61 to 46 the committee bill which would have legalized the manufacture and sale of beer with an alcoholic content of five per cent.

LECTURE TIME CHANGED

The time of Dr. Hardin Craig's address in Gerrard hall tomorrow evening has been changed from 8 to 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. Craig, a visiting professor of English from Stanford University, will speak on "Why Hamlet?—An Attempt to Account for the Importance of Shakespeare's Play."

Playmakers Will Give Performance Tonight

Dramatists Will Present New Plays in Three-Day Run.

The Playmakers will present their second public production of new Carolina plays for the winter quarter tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Playmakers' theatre.

The bill of three original dramas, written recently in the playwriting courses, is scheduled for a three-night run.

Philip Parker's "Ancient Heritage," Patsy McMullan's "Cottie Mourns," and Ella Mae Daniel's "Yours and Mine," are included on the bill of new plays.

Graduate Students Douglas Hume, Alton Williams and Ella Mae Daniel are directing the plays under the general supervision of Technical Director of the Playmakers Samuel Selden.

Parker's play concerns New England aristocracy and McMullan's, the fisher-folk of Ocracoke Island off the sound in North Carolina.

Daniel's "Yours and Mine" was taken from actual observations made by the author of a young married couple and their marital misunderstandings.

McDonald States Stand Against Sales Tax

Divorcing the schools from the sales tax after their "shotgun wedding in 1933" was one of the prime purposes of the substitute revenue bill, Representative Ralph McDonald of Forsyth told the North Carolina Club last night.

Another purpose was to secure greater appropriations for the schools, said Dr. McDonald, who is a co-author of the revenue measure by which he is seeking to abolish the sales tax.

"There has been a shift of taxation from corporations to individuals," he declared, "and that argument has never been denied by anybody who has supported his denial with factual data. Furthermore, the incomes of corporations during the past few years have been sustained better than the incomes of individuals. And even if we were to levy the increases which I hope to see passed, the taxes for North Carolina corporations would still be lower than those in other states."

Internationally Famed Nini Theilade Gives Ballet Recital Here Wednesday

The dance recital of Nini Theilade in Memorial hall next Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock will bring here a 19-year-old girl who not only has established an international reputation as a dancer, but also holds the record of being the youngest ballet artist in the world.

The recital is sponsored by the student entertainment series committee. During last summer Mlle. Theilade was in entire charge of the ballet at the out-of-door performances given at Regents Park in London. She not only danced herself and coached all of the members of the ballet, but also created many of the dances that were presented.

She topped this by coming to the United States in September as ballet artist for Max Reinhardt in his California production of "Midsummer Night's Dream," which was presented in Los Angeles, at the open air theatre in Berkeley, and at the new War Memorial Opera House in San Francisco.

In this capacity she directed the entire dance portions of the production and also appeared as solo dancer. She was chosen for this responsible job by Reinhardt on the strength of the remarkable work she had done in four of his previous European productions.

For her own recitals, such as the one she will give here, Mlle. Theilade originates all of her own dances, basing them on the music of the great composers such as Greig, Chopin, Mozart, Liszt, Brahms, and Delibes. She also designs most of her own costumes, though they are executed by a famous couturier in Paris.

FRESHMEN NAME REPRESENTATIVES TO HONOR COURT

Students from Each School Elect Members to Serve on Newly Formed Council.

ELEVEN TO BE ON BOARD

Divided according to schools, the members of the freshman class yesterday elected the men who will form the Freshman Honor Court.

The liberal arts students, whose meeting was presided over by Joe Patterson, secretary of the freshman class, chose Jimmy Coan, Bill Hudson, Joe Patterson, and W. K. Davis to serve as their representatives.

Commerce Representatives

Clyde "Pete" Mullis, president of the class, was in charge of the meeting of the commerce students. Their representatives will be David "Red" Meroney, Bill Holland, and Ed O'Herron or Warren Haddaway.

Even after all the voting had ended, there still remained some doubt as to whether O'Herron or Haddaway had been elected. Mullis explained that this was due to a misunderstanding as to the method of the election procedure and confusion during the counting of the several ballots. As a result, a vote will be taken among the commerce students at freshman assembly tomorrow morning.

Two Engineers Named

The engineers selected Bobby Horton and Randell Byrd as their honor council members. Richard Heller acted as chairman of this group.

With Tod Cochrane presiding, the freshmen in the applied science school picked Henry Dillon for their councilman.

The pharmacy students did not elect a representative to the court yesterday, but will probably do so tomorrow.

HAMPTON SINGERS WILL COME HERE

Dr. Cooper, Charlotte Preacher, Will Lead Program Sponsored by Y. M. C. A.

Harry F. Comer, general secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., in the capacity of an examination hopes-builder, announced yesterday that the "Y" had scheduled an appearance in Memorial hall of the Hampton Negro Quartet on the night before winter-quarter exams.

Tuesday, March 12, at 7:30 p. m., according to Comer, the "old time" quartet will present a short minstrel program here accompanied by Dr. Cooper, preacher and artist from Charlotte, who will exhibit some of his art pieces.

Won First Prize

Cooper, a jolly, corpulent Negro "parson," won first prize in the Negro art division at the Century of Progress Exposition the year before last with one of his paintings.

Comer regretted the fact that the date would come at such an opportune time for study, but he indicated that the "Y" had no choice due to the fact that the popular singers were booked on every other possible date.

A. I. Ch. E. Meets Tonight

The American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in 206 Venable hall.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
George Underwood ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: DON McKEE

Thursday, February 28, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

According to Miss McMullan, the fisher folk of Ocracoke are called "bankers." Both, evidently, have watered investments.

Mac Bell advertises for a lost Scotty puppy, named Johnny Walker. Sure it's not the dog you saw the man about, Mac?

Good thing the Political Union picked March as the time to invite Huey Long to speak to 'em. It not only comes in a-lyin', but it's a very, very windy month.

The Monogrammers Take Steps Forward

With four outstanding achievements tucked under their belts, members of the Monogram Club are making rapid strides toward reclaiming for that organization its rightful place on the campus.

The athletes are definitely becoming active off the field as well as on. Every week there is a meeting of an executive committee, composed of Footballmen Shaffer, chairman, Gardner and Buck; Basketeer Blood, Trackmen Hubbard and Waldrop, Boxer Giddins, Baseballer Rand, and Double-letterites McCachren and Evins. If the Athletic Council invests this committee with the authority it wishes, the executive group will become an athletic student council, having the power to suspend athletes for breach of training rules. And it will also assume the important functions of passing on the coaches' recommendations for individual monogram-receivers by considering the athletic sportsmanship and responsibility of the candidates, and of vetoing them in the event the candidate deserves it.

The Athletic Council will also consider another proposal of the Monogram Club. This recommends that monograms be withheld from all managers until said managers turn over to the proper authorities all trophies won by the respective teams of each. This is a noteworthy objective.

A third achievement is the club's decision to allow its executive committee to spend money for entertaining prospective athletic students. There are many instances where a little attention on the part of the monogram-wearers can bring an otherwise only luke-warm Carolina prospect to Chapel Hill for his college education. This is not, of course, jeopardizing the University Club's position. It is rather supplementing it effectively.

And the fourth major action is the support which the club gives to "Doc" Lawson's plea for the renewal of recognition to gymnasium workers. The Athletic Council will have to decide this, also, and there should be no reason for its not passing.

Inasmuch as much of the club's action is contingent upon ratification by the Athletic Council, perhaps it cannot properly be termed "achievement." But that the club's stand represents a new interest and ambition on the part of the Monogrammers is achievement indeed.

The club administration is to be congratulated. Already noteworthy is the work of the executive committee in its weekly considerations of undergraduate athletic problems. If the Athletic Council agrees with the recommendations, great steps will have been taken toward an even higher type of sportsmanship in Carolina athletics.

Grace or Welfare?

It is obvious that the munition interests are going to make a desperate stand against the proposed plans to tax away their profits in time of war. Before the Senate munitions committee, Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel company, declared his expected opposition to any such plans.

"I think we should be fairly compensated for use of private invested capital," he said. That Mr. Grace had been "fairly compensated" was proved when the committee produced testimony that he had received, from his plants, bonuses totaling $12,282,000 in 18 years.

Whether or not the government will agree on a tax-munitions-plan as a requisite measure for peace remains to be seen. It is too much to expect that men like Mr. Grace, who have so much at stake, are going to sit idly by. However, the national solons should keep an altruistic viewpoint in mind and not be influenced in their decisions by a few selfish interests.

The Impossible Does Happen

The saying that "truth is stranger than fiction" is well substantiated by the recent episode of Frank Greges in New York.

Greges, a "sandwich" board man, was raised from dire poverty to comparative wealth as a result of his honesty in returning to the rightful owner $42,000 in negotiable securities which he had found on the docks. Greges decked himself out in the most expensive clothes and ate the best foods; but this orgy proved too much for the 67-year-old street plodder and he went insane.

"I am God," Greges cried out, "and can kill you with a single look." He turned his gaze on Michael Grywaizard and Grywaizard fell dead. Greges boasted he had similarly killed several other men.

Not even Horatio Alger would have submitted such a story for publication and it is certain that no publisher would, for a moment, have considered seriously such a "fantastic yarn."

Preventing Infantile Paralysis

Although many of the sciences have been virtually at a standstill during the time of depression, the medical profession has been hard at work on subjects of vital importance to mankind.

And now, under the personal supervision of Dr. John A. Kolmer, who recently startled the scientific world with the announcement of the discovery of a safe and effective vaccine for the prevention of infantile paralysis, the first known clinic for the prevention of that disease has been opened at the school of medicine at Temple University.

A professor of experimental disease at that institution, Dr. Kolmer inoculated himself, his own children, and a score of boys and girls with the serum, which is prepared from the spinal chord of primates dying of the disease.

The virus is treated with a chemical agent which renders it safe for injection, and three small doses at weekly intervals are given. So far the results have met with perfect success.

With the opening of the Temple clinic, and others all over the country, the disease can gradually be eradicated through the immunization of children with the vaccine. Especially in rural communities are children and adults susceptible to the disease, as are children from one to ten years of age in families where the disease has previously occurred.

If the governments of the various states and municipalities would heed the need for this great preventative, a broad step could be taken toward making the future generations stronger and healthier, and in ridding the country of one of the chief causes of youthful mortality. Science has again triumphed.

Bud-Nipping Of Strikes

The NRA has stepped in at an extremely appropriate time to launch a private investigation of the textile codes. Definite dissatisfaction with the present codes on the part of both employers and workers has brought about a situation which seems to call for nothing less than a complete revision of the codes.

Labor, which is hardest hit at present, is constantly threatening a walkout similar to that of last September. Leaders of the United Textile Workers, who are heading the agitation, are not only dissatisfied with the textile codes as they stand, but also claim that matters are made worse by the fact that the employers are not living up to their part of the bargain. The employers, on the other hand, are dissatisfied with the present system of wage scales, those whose factories are located in the south being unwilling to give up the wage advantage which they hold.

This investigation is of immense importance to the people who dwell in the textile centers of North Carolina. Another strike as devastating as that of last fall would in no way help bring about the prosperity which has been showing signs of coming from "around the corner."

Men Attention!!

FURTHER

Drastic Reductions

Effective THURSDAY, February 28, 9 a.m.

—ON—

ENTIRE REMAINING STOCK

In one Supreme Effort to SELL OUT We Offer Nunn Bush Shoes, Stetson 'D' Suits and Overcoats Arrow, Ide Shirts, Varsity Pajamas, Olympic Underwear, Moneto Hose, Hickok Suspenders and Belts, Puritan Sweaters, Swank Jewelry and other Famous Brands of Furnishings: : : : : :

At GIVE-AWAY PRICES

SHIRTS 88c	PAJAMAS $1.39	Shirts or Shorts 35c
Puritan Zipper and Pull Over Sweaters $1.29		Hickok Suspenders, Belts or Buckles 69c each
NECKWEAR 37c	TUX COLLARS 15c	TUX SHIRTS $1.65
F. D. Galton Shoes $3.45	Nunn-Bush Shoes $4.95	SOX 23c pr.
		RAINCOATS $3.95
SUITS Entire Stock in Two Groups $17.75 - $19.75		OVERCOATS Entire Stock in Two Groups $14.75 - $17.75

STETSON "D" Representative Will Be Here Thursday in Person (Mr. Buddy Robinson) with a New Line of Spring Woolens—New Styling—POPULAR PRICES!

STETSON 'D' STOCK

Now In Liquidation

White Phantoms Battle South Carolina Tonight In Tournament Prelims

N. C. State-VMI to Open Play at 3 O'clock; UNC-USC at 8.

Tar Heels Will Face Tough Opposition in Opener.

LINEUPS

N. C.	Pos.	S. C.
Aitken	f.	Henderson
Nelson	f.	Laurie
Glace	c.	Craig
McCachren	g.	Gooding
Harris	g.	Rowland

Carolina's White Phantoms took their last practice session of the 1935 season yesterday afternoon in the Tin Can and are now all set for the Southern Conference basketball tournament which gets underway at Raleigh this afternoon.

The Tar Heels will start their bid for the championship tonight at 8 o'clock, meeting South Carolina's big five. Eight teams are entered which means that seven tilts will be played before the title is decided. All the battles will take place in Memorial auditorium.

Eight Clubs Battle

Besides the two Carolinas, Duke, State, Clemson, V. P. I., V. M. I., and Virginia are out for the crown. State and V. M. I. will open the fireworks this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The White Phantoms appeared in top shape as they went through a fast peppy drill yesterday. Coach Bo Shepard will depend mainly on his first club to hold up all the way; the reserves can hardly stay on even terms with any likely opponent, and the initial five hardly ever runs up a big enough margin to retire safely.

In the Gamecocks, the Tar Heels take on a club that they have already beaten twice during the regular season, once by

(Continued on last page)

Tourney Schedule

TODAY

3 p. m.—N. C. State vs. V. M. I.

4:30 p. m.—Duke vs. Virginia.

8 p. m.—North Carolina vs. South Carolina.

9:30 p. m.—Clemson vs. Washington and Lee.

TOMORROW

8 and 9:30 p. m.—Semi-finals.

SATURDAY

8 p. m.—Finals.

Mural Table Tennis Entries Completed

Old East and Sigma Chi Advance In Bowling Tournament.

The intramural table tennis entries for the tournament were completed yesterday, and play will open today. Medals and mural points will be awarded the teams as in bowling. The drawing of games for this week are as follows:

Today

3:30—Sigma Nu No. 1 v. Chi Phi.

4:15—Mangum v. Battle.

5:00—Phi Kappa Sigma v. Z. B. T. No. 1.

5:30—Delta Psi v. Phi Delta Theta.

Tomorrow

3:30—Sigma Nu No. 2 v. Z. B. T. No. 2.

4:15—Ruffin v. Lewis No. 1.

5:00—Phi Alpha v. Alpha Epsilon.

5:30—A. T. O. v. Kappa Alpha.

In the bowling elimination tourney yesterday Old East and Sigma Chi advanced. The former outpointed Zeta Psi No. 2, 980-945, and the latter won over Ruffin, 930-854.

W. & L. FAVORED TO RETAIN TITLE AT MAT TOURNEY

Three Champs Back; Umstead, Ward, and Efland Meet Strong Opposition.

BONNER TO FIGHT AT 145

Coach Chuck Quinlan and four Carolina wrestlers will leave this morning from Emerson stadium at 10:30 o'clock by automobile for Lexington, Va., where the Tar Heels will compete in the Southern Conference tournament beginning tomorrow. Frank Umstead, 118, Melvin Ward, 135, Allen Bonner, 145, and Captain Sim Efland, 165, will be the representatives of the Blue and White.

The four men took their final doses of hard work yesterday and were pronounced to be in good physical shape. The group will taper off in a light session this afternoon at Lexington before the events get underway.

Generals Defend

Washington and Lee, defending champions, are sponsoring the 1935 mat tournament. Other entries are Duke, V. M. I., V. P. I., and N. C. State. The Generals, who nosed out V. M. I. by a mere three points for the Southern Conference title, boasts another strong team this season. The General aggregation is undefeated in six contests this season and among their victims have been Carolina, Duke, and State.

There will be three past conference champions in action tomorrow. Bonino, W. & L. heavyweight, easily copped honors last year in this division and is the overwhelming favorite to repeat again this week-end. Bonino, who weighs 230 pounds, has won all matches except one via the fall route in dual mat competition.

Captain Currence, sterling V. M. I. 165-pounder, was title-

(Continued on last page)

Mangum Captures Campus Cage Title; Raleigh High Five Wins State Crown

DORM KINGS TOP DEKE FIVE, 32-29, IN BRILLIANT WIN

Vick and Henson Lead Mangumites to Spectacular Victory; Moore High Scorer.

DEKE RALLY FALLS SHORT

A great first period offense and the ability to keep pace with an almost successful D. K. E. rally enabled the great Mangum No. 1 basketball team to capture the 1935 campus title by a 32-29 count, yesterday afternoon in the Tin Can.

The eventual winners broke into the scoring column first, were almost immediately tied up, then went out in front by a 12-2 margin for the first quarter and were never overtaken throughout the entire contest.

Mangum played every bit the role of a champion, starting off with a beautiful passing attack that accounted for its early lead, and then successfully combatted every desperate thrust that the opposition made for the remainder of the contest.

With Vick, Barnwell, and Henson finding the basket with uncanny accuracy, the Mangum quintet pushed its score up to 19 for the half, but the Dekes had started to come up, and with Montgomery pushing in a single field goal and Bill Moore adding three and a foul, its total was brought to 11.

D. K. E. continued to force the issue in the third period, tallying 8-6 for the period and bringing its score to within six points of the blue-clad Mangumites. The fourth period saw an abundance of rough play. Moore, Willis, and Montgomery gave 10 more points to the Deke total, but scores by Vick, Freeman, and Barnwell staved off the rally until the final whistle.

Bill Moore climaxed a season of brilliant play by taking individual scoring honors with 20 points. Vick of Mangum was runner-up with 11, while his teammate, Barnwell, came next with nine. Twenty personal fouls were handed out.

Kampus Kings

MANGUM NO. 1	FG	F	T
Henson, f	3	1	7
Vick, f	5	1	11
Fox, c	0	0	0
Barnwell, g	4	1	9
Rhodes, g	0	1	1
Freeman, g	1	2	4
Totals	13	6	32

D. K. E.	FG	F	T
Patterson, f	0	0	0
Montgomery, f	2	1	5
Willis, c	1	2	4
Warren, g	0	0	0
Moore, g	8	4	20
Totals	11	7	29

Score by periods:

Mangum	12	7	6	7—32
D. K. E.	2	9	8	10—29

Officials: McCachren, Ferguson, Markham.

High Schoolers

RALEIGH HI	FG	F	T
Fuller, f	1	0	2
Mangum, f	1	3	5
Riddle, c	0	0	0
Kelley, c	2	0	4
Page, g	2	1	5
Wood, g	4	1	9
Totals	10	5	25

H. POINT HI	FG	F	T
Whitley, f	1	0	2
Diffendale, f	2	4	8
Hilton, c	1	0	2
Spry, g	0	2	2
Meiskey, g	1	0	2
Totals	5	6	16

Score at half: Raleigh 10; High Point 4. Non-scoring subs: High Point—Hartley, f; Workman, c; Hinkle, g. Official—Knight (Durham Y.)

CAPITAL QUINTET TOPS HIGH POINT IN FINALS, 25-16

Raleigh Captures Class "A" Championship to Climax Great Cage Season.

WOOD IS HIGH SCORER

Before a crowd of several hundred madly cheering enthusiasts, the Raleigh High quintet swept to victory over the High Pointers by a score of 25-16, to win the state class "A" scholastic championship for 1935. Raleigh gained the lead after the first quarter and from then on steadily increased the pace.

The game started off with both teams appearing very much frightened and playing rather poor ball. For over five minutes neither team was able to tally any points until finally Diffendale of High Point made the initial score of the game when his long shot zipped through the net. A foul shot made good by Page of Raleigh was the only other marker made during the first quarter.

Raleigh Takes Lead

Mangum and Wood of the victors, with two well timed shots, tied the score in the second quarter, and their teammates soon placed the capital boys in the lead which they kept throughout the game. From this point on both teams seemed to have forgotten about their original stage fright and played hard, bang-up ball.

High scoring honors went to Wood of Raleigh with nine points, while Diffendale of the losers was runner up with eight. Meiskey starred for the losers by his hard fighting while the good offensive work of Page of the Raleigh five placed him in the spotlight.

Patronize Our Advertisers

On your Ups and Downs

I'm your best friend

Maybe you wonder why I appeal more than others. Listen. Do you know that the top leaves of a tobacco plant are unripe and biting? Do you know that the bottom leaves, trailing the ground, are grimy and coarse? I know all that and for that reason I am made from the fragrant, expensive center leaves . . . the leaves that give you the mildest, best-tasting smoke. Therefore, I sign myself "Your best friend."

I am your Lucky Strike

LUCKIES USE ONLY CENTER LEAVES . . . CENTER LEAVES GIVE YOU THE MILDEST SMOKE

They Taste Better

Copyright 1935, The American Tobacco Company.

Mat Tourney

(Continued from page three)

winner in the 155-pound class last season. Currence, who also has only one time decision win along with six fall victories, will be favored to retain the top ranking position. But he must hurdle such splendid competitors as Seitz of W. & L., Priode of V. P. I., Efland of Carolina and Furr of State if he expects to maintain his unbeaten record.

Thomas, W. & L. bantamweight star, was victorious in the final round in the 125-pound class in the 1933 tourney. Although absent from school last year, Thomas has returned to mat competition this year, and he will be entered in the 118-pound class. Thomas is considered to be the outstanding contestant in the bantam class but he can expect plenty of trouble from Umstead of Carolina and Stevenson of Duke.

Ward and Bonner

The two other Carolina entrants, Ward and Bonner, also must face stiff opposition if they expect to win out int heir respective weights. Ward and Bonner along with Umstead are sophomores and will be under tourney fire for the first time. Efland is the lone senior on Coach Quinlan's club.

In the 135-pound class there should be a merry scramble for the Dixie title, won last year by Nolen of State. The principal contenders are Krach of State; Witt of V. P. I.; Lowry of W. & L., and Ward. Krach is the lone member of this quartet with a perfect record. Incidentally, Krach has defeated each of these others in dual meets, but seasonal exhibits mean little at tourney time.

Bonner looks to be the best prospect in the welterweight class. The Carolinian has only one setback, losing to Captain Bernhardt of State in 155-pound division. Bonner, however, is moving down to the 145 for the tournament. Other leading threats for the crown are Ardolino of Duke and Shiverly of Washington and Lee.

Fraternity Housewarming

Alpha Epsilon will celebrate the opening of its home at 306 McCauley street with a housewarming party this week-end.

Tomorrow evening the festivities will begin with an informal gathering between the hours of 7:30 and 11 o'clock. Guests are expected from Georgia, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Carolina.

Carolina Engineer Staff

Walter King, editor of the Carolina Engineer Magazine, will hold a meeting for staff members tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock in 214 Phillips hall. Members are urged to be present.

LOST

A green Sheaffer Pencil Tuesday. Please leave at DAILY TAR HEEL editorial office.

LOST

Ladies' Sheaffer Pencil. Reward if returned to Olivia Abernethy, Spencer hall.

LET US CARE FOR YOUR CAR

Washing—Polishing—Waxing

Marfak Lubrication

Willard Battery Sales and Service

Texaco Products

University Service Station

H. S. PENDERGRAFT, Prop.

Alumni Review

(Continued from page one)

rious patterns of blue and white, and in these they played the game."

Another interesting incident of early baseball history at Chapel Hill is also related by Dr. Mangum, who himself was a star performer on the University's 1891 football team.

Weil Was Pitcher

The late Solomon Weil, in whose memory the Weil Lecture Fund at the University was established, was a pitcher on the first Carolina baseball nine to play an intercollegiate contest. Weil was the first man of the University to throw a curved ball. When news of his accomplishment reached faculty ears, the possibility of such a feat was doubted. Consequently a demonstration was arranged. Professor Graves, mathematician and Professor Gore, physics teacher, were designated to investigate.

"The two scientists," Dr. Mangum relates, "took post where they could sight along one side of the South building as a guide to the flight of the ball. Weil then pitched several balls along the side wall which turned around the corner of the building into the hands of the catcher."

The professors were convinced.

Finjan Business Staff

There will be a meeting of the entire business staff of the Finjan at 7 o'clock tonight. All members not attending will be dropped from the staff.

Basketball

(Continued from page three)

a lone point scored in the last few seconds of play and again by a big margin.

However, South Carolina, seeded number one both last year and the year before, has a good chance to come through with an upset. Captain Dana Henderson is one of the outstanding men of the conference, while Laurie, Craig, Gooding, and Rowland are all good ball players.

Coach Shepard gave his charges a short but hard workout yesterday. After a long and varied passing and shooting drill, the Phantoms took a defensive scrimmage against the freshman outfit.

The second string of Blood and Ramsey, forwards; Webster, center; and Kaveny and Minor, guards, was pushed through some hard work as Coach Shepard hopes to use this combination part of the time.

Crittenden in Raleigh

C. C. Crittenden attended yesterday in Raleigh the hearing of the joint appropriation committee on the bill to provide $10,000 for marking the historic spots in North Carolina.

Crittenden is a member of the state committee on historical markers.

Band Meets Tonight

An important band rehearsal will be held in Hill Music hall tonight at 7 o'clock, it was announced by Earl A. Slocum yesterday. All members are urged to be present.

INFIRMARY

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Leighton Dudley, E. F. Wells, R. S. Morgan, Eleanor Hammond, Fred Cates, G. A. Brown, E. C. Brantley, A. H. McLeod, Robert Ledford, R. B. Hardison, W. B. Millis, Sidney Holt, and C. H. Ballard.

Bullitt Talks Tonight

Dr. J. B. Bullitt of the University medical department will speak tonight at 7:30 to the members of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, national honorary geological fraternity, in the fraternity room in New East.

The subject of Dr. Bullitt's address will be the prehistoric man.

Library Tea Today

Students of the library school are giving a tea from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. today for all members of the library staff. Tea will be served in the staff room.

Finjan Meeting

All members of the regular editorial staff of the Carolina Finjan are requested to be present at a meeting of the staff at 7:15 o'clock tonight in the office of the publication in Graham Memorial.

The next issue of the publication will be a parody on Time Magazine, and any person on the campus who can write in the style peculiar to that journal will be welcomed to help in putting out the forth-coming number.

Photographers wishing to serve are also asked by Editor Gaskins to attend the session.

Fraternity Photos

The following fraternities must have their specified number of pictures taken immediately: Delta Tau Delta, 4; Kappa Alpha, 1; Phi Kappa Sigma, 5; Tau Epsilon Phi, 3; Zeta Beta Tau, 1.

Beta Gamma Sigma

Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary commerce fraternity, will meet this morning at 10:30 o'clock in 113 Bingham hall.

CAROLINA

TODAY

ARTHUR SOMERS ROCHE'S Sensational Murder-Mystery

"SHADOW of DOUBT"

From Collier's Weekly Serial Story with

RICARDO CORTEZ

VIRGINIA BRUCE

Constance Collier

—Also—

Charlie Davis Band—Cartoon

Midnight Show Fri.

JOE PENNER

"College Rhythm"

Doors Open 11:15 p.m.

Finchley

FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

EXHIBITION

CLOTHES OF INDIVIDUAL EXCELLENCE, CORRECTLY ATTUNED TO THE IMMEDIATE SEASON.

FORTY DOLLARS AND MORE

EXHIBITION AT

Student Co-operative Cleaners

TODAY AND TOMORROW

ROBERT GRAY, Representative

CLOTHES INDIVIDUALLY TAILORED TO ORDER :: ALSO HABERDASHERY • HATS • SHOES

RY 28, 1935
Sigma
ma, honorary
y, will meet
:30 o'clock in
INA ROCHE'S
-Mystery
OW UBT"
Weekly
with ORTEZ
RUCE llier avis rtoon
w Fri.
NER
rthm"
:15 p.m.
SHOES
NCE,

CAROLINA PLAYS
8:30 P. M.
PLAYMAKERS THEATRE

The Daily Tar Heel

HARDIN CRAIG LECTURE
8:30 P. M.
GERRARD HALL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1935 | NUMBER 117

STATE ASSEMBLY WILL HEAR PLEA FOR BUS ROUTES

Long Postponed Hearing Is Second Step in Inaugurating Bus Line Through Chapel Hill.

STUDENTS WILL ATTEND

The North Carolina Public Utilities Commission's long-postponed hearing on the proposed Atlantic Greyhound Lines' new bus connections for Greensboro, Chapel Hill and Raleigh, will be held Tuesday at 11 a. m. in Raleigh.

The first step in the movement for the new line was the meeting January 5 of officials of the bus company with a special student committee appointed by the administration of the University.

Students Aid

Since that date most of the work on the campus, which has consisted of circulating and collecting petitions to be presented at the hearing, has been done by the University Club. The club will be in charge of providing transportation for the number of students who are expected to attend the hearing.

The petitions were signed by 1,135 students and 97 townspeople, the drive for signatures being made on the campus rather than in the town.

There is reported to be considerable objection in Durham to the proposed new line, and it is indicated that the hearing Tuesday will be warm.

The Greyhound bus company will furnish transportation to and from Raleigh for the hearing. The bus will leave Chapel Hill at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Any interested in attending should get in touch with A. H. Shepard at the business office, D. E. Carroll at the Sigma Delta house, or Frank Willingham at the S. A. E. house.

CLUB TO SPONSOR HOLIDAY SMOKERS

University Club Again to Help Give Entertainments for Prospective U. N. C. Students.

The University Club at its meeting last night began extensive plans for co-operating with the alumni in sponsoring smokers for prospective students in 30 towns and cities throughout the state during the spring vacation.

This plan was conceived by the organization last year, and the present club is continuing the precedent begun with so much success at that time.

Members of the group are acting as chairmen of student committees to co-operate with the alumni in the various localities. Other students will be called upon to assist the University Club men and alumni in carrying out the plans.

To Distribute Annuals

In line with the program the organization has taken steps to have placed in each high school and outstanding prep school of the state a copy of the 1935 Yackety Yack, Frank Willingham, president of the club, announced last night.

Alumni throughout the state have already been contacted to aid in this venture, which was suggested to the group by Agnew Bahnson, last year's president, and now business manager of the annual.

Hardin Craig To Air Theory On Hamlet In Speech Tonight

Lecturer

Dr. Hardin Craig of Stanford University, a noted authority on Elizabethan literature, who is visiting professor at the University this quarter, is to lecture tonight at 8:30 o'clock in Gerrard hall on Shakespeare's Hamlet. It will be one of a series of lectures he has given in colleges of the state this winter.

Visiting Professor of English From Stanford to Speak in Gerrard Hall at 8:30.

By NELSON LANSDALE

"There are hundreds of theories about Hamlet, and I am naturally anxious to air my own," Dr. Hardin Craig, visiting professor of English at the University, and one of the country's leading authorities on the Renaissance in England, chuckled jovially. "I'm not giving the lecture with any idea of settling the question, of course," he added, filling his pipe.

The celebrated author-teacher-scholar will lecture tonight in Gerrard hall on "Why 'Hamlet?' —An Attempt to Account for the Importance of Shakespeare's Play." The lecture will be open to everybody who cares to attend and is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock.

University Affiliations

Craig's scholarly and personal affiliations with the University began when he was a student under John M. Manly at the University of Chicago, along with George R. Taylor of the University English department, the late T S. Graves, noted Carolina teacher and scholar, and Drs. Royster and Edwin Greenlaw, both former heads of the English department here. The present head of the department, George R. Coffman, began his graduate study under Dr. Craig at Chicago.

On the death of T. S. Graves here more than a decade ago, Hardin Craig took up the tremendous task of finishing the compilation of a bibliography of the literature of the English Renaissance, and his works in this field has appeared yearly in the April issues of Studies in Philology, the English quarterly issued from Chapel Hill. Beside the bibliography, he has contributed numerous articles to this and other scholarly journals in this country and abroad.

"On the basis of my association with the editors of Studies in Philology and my friendships here, I thought Chapel Hill would be a charming place to spend my vacation." He leaned

(Continued on last page)

PLAYERS TO GIVE SECOND SHOWING OF NEW DRAMAS

Three New All-Student Plays Will Be Presented Again Tonight and Tomorrow.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT AIDS

Three student authors, three student-written plays and three student directors arrived on the top of the Playmakers ladder last night when the dramatic group presented their second public production for the winter quarter, new Carolina plays.

Included on the bill which will play again tonight and tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock are Patsy McMullan's "Cottie Mourns," Ella Mae Daniel's "Yours and Mine," and Philip Parker's "Acient Heritage."

Student Directors

Graduate Students Alton Williams, Douglas Hume and Ella Mae Daniel are directing the productions under the general supervision of Samuel Selden, technical director of the Carolina Playmakers.

Co-operating with the Koch outfit, the University music department is furnishing the music for the production.

Casts for the plays are: "Yours and Mine," a modern romantic comedy, Ellen Deppe as Katherine Fox Flowers; Carl Thompson as Dr. James Flowers; Helen Hodges as Mrs. Hopper, and William Fletcher as Dad Flowers.

"Cottie Mourns," a comedy of Carolina sea-folk, Patsy McMullan, the author, as Cottie Culpepper; Mildred McMullan as Nellie Merkle Beaseley; Robert Barrett as Felix Wise; and Wilton Mason as Jerd Culpepper.

"Ancient Heritage," a play of New England aristocracy, Jane Cover as Sarah Bancroft; Mildred Howard as Carrie Bancroft; Philip Parker, the author, as Edward Kendall, and William Wang as Richard Kendall.

The stage workers include: Margaret Wallace, Henry Page, Jean Walker, John Larsen, Frances Caffey, Ralph Burgin, Willard Miller, Billie Robertson, Bill Crayton, John Shulz, and Joyce Sayre.

Chapel Hill Weekly Marks Twelfth Year Of Publication Today

Editor Louis Graves Says His Celebrated Paper Has Not Changed Since 1923.

Today is the 12th birthday of Louis Graves' newspaper, the celebrated Chapel Hill Weekly. It made its initial appearance March 1, 1923.

"How are you celebrating the event?" the editor was asked yesterday.

"Not at all—except by throwing away the Volume 12 slug on the front page and putting Volume 13 in its place. Does that sound like inviting bad luck? Well, I can't help it. I had to face the 13th year sometime, and here it is.

Every Year Same

"For a while, when the paper's birthday came around, I used to write something about my experience as editor. But I found I was writing the same stuff over and over again, and so I quit that. In the great world outside strange new things are happening, but as far as the Weekly is concerned every year

(Continued on page two)

DEPUTATION GOES TO FAYETTEVILLE

Comer's Group to Make 14 Appearances; Pool's Team Back From Winston-Salem.

In again, out again, the University Y. M. C. A. deputation team set out for eastern North Carolina last night headed for Fayetteville and a four-day set of talks, visits, and basketball.

Jack Pool, chairman of the deputation teams, and his Winston-Salem group returned to Chapel Hill last night to find that Harry Comer, general "Y" secretary, had just sent a new set of spreader-of-"Y"-cheer on to Fayetteville.

14 Appearances

Comer's group is scheduled to make 14 appearances in Fayetteville, including programs at a father-and-son banquet, at the high school assembly, at a Kiwanis club luncheon, and each of the Sunday schools, and visits to the Confederate Home and to the county home.

The Fayetteville team will appear at five schools and six churches in their four days there, returning to Chapel Hill Sunday afternoon. Members of the team include Lee Greer, Francis Fairley, Don McKee and Harry F. Comer, speakers, and the University quartet composed of Claude Ballard, James Dees, Sam Lane and Harold Gavin.

Pool recently announced that deputation trips were being arranged for every week-end between now and the end of the regular school year, except during examinations and holidays.

Theilade First Taught Dancing In Childhood By Aged Servant

Dancer's Mother at First Disapproved Strenuously of Daughter's Studying the Art.

Nini Theilade's great-grandmother, daughter of the Sultan of Java, was put to death for eloping with a Polish officer. Such a disgrace to the royal family could only be wiped out by the extreme penalty.

Nini herself was born in Java and lived there for her first nine years. It was in Java that she laid the foundation for her later career, learning native hand and body rhythms from Krama, an old servant who tended her when she was a baby.

"Krama was very, very old—no one, not even he, knew just how old," the young dancer relates. "He knew the native movements. By the time I was nine he had taught me many dances. I knew all the rhythms of Bali and Tahiti. I danced while Krama played to the weird sounds of the gammelang, which is something like a xylophone."

Off to Denmark

Then Java was suddenly left behind, and Nini was taken to Denmark by her parents. She was eager to go on with her dancing, but her mother objected, not wishing her to become a professional. So Nini bided her time until an opportune moment when illness forced her mother to spend a considerable period in the hospital. Then she went and took lessons every day.

"When mother got well," she explains simply, "she saw that I had talent and wasn't angry."

Indeed far from being angry, from this point on her mother encouraged Nini in every way,

(Continued on last page)

Dancer

Nineteen-year-old Nini Theilade, who will dance in recital here next Wednesday on the second of the winter quarter series of student entertainment programs, has established an international reputation as a dancer and also holds the record of being the youngest ballet artist in the world.

Tar Heel Circulation

Sometime today or tomorrow a boy will call at every house in town to secure the name of every subscriber to the Daily Tar Heel. Please co-operate with us by giving him the necessary information desired in order that you will receive your paper regularly.

When failing to receive your paper call 4356 between 8:15 and 9 a. m. or between 4 and 5 p. m.

ERICSON DEPICTS CHINESE AFFAIRS

Foreign Policy League Discusses Communism in Far East.

Dr. E. E. Ericson of the University English department addressed a meeting of the Foreign Policy League in Graham Memorial last night.

Using as the topic of his discussion "China," he described the power of Communism in China, and told of the strike which Communists are now waging against Chiang Kai-shek, conservative war lord now heading the Nanking government.

Dr. Ericson brought out the fact that the uprising was not of rural populations but distinctly urban.

After a few prophesies concerning the outcome of the affair, a short informal discussion followed. Tsu-Yuan Koo, Chinese student taking graduate work at the University who addressed the League last week, engaged in an impromptu debate with Dr. Ericson concerning the Eastern situation.

CREECH ELECTED HONOR COURT REPRESENTATIVE

Finally succeeding in getting enough members together to vote, the pharmacy freshmen elected Jimmy Creech to represent them on the freshman Honor Council. Kemp Nye acted as chairman of the group.

Because of misinformation, Bobby Horton was listed yesterday as one of the representatives from the engineering school on the council. The man who will serve with Randall Berg, the other engineering councilman, is John Sloop.

The election of Creech completes the membership of the Honor Court.

DEMOCRAT MADE HEAD OF SENATE INQUIRY INTO NRA

Administration Leaders in Congress Control Investigation; Harrison Heads Committee.

LABORITES STILL FIGHTING

Washington, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Administration leaders of Congress won control of the proposed investigation of the NRA today when the Senate decided to entrust it to the finance committee, headed by loyal Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi.

Tomorrow will be the Senate's second recess in a five-day week. The deadlock over the works relief bill and, until today, a threat of a fight over the NRA investigation, held up all but most of the minor business in the upper House.

The Senate insular affairs committee authorized a resolution providing an investigation into the administration of the Virgin Islands.

The House of Representatives refused to allow Secretary Ickes $10,000 to pay an under-secretary. The House postoffice subcommittee voted to report favorable to the airmail bill.

Fight Wage Amendment

Washington, Feb. 28.—(UP)—Organized labor took its fight for a prevailing wage amendment to the $4,880,000,000 work relief bill to the nation tonight as President Roosevelt failed in his first personal attempt to settle the controversy raging about an embattled proposal.

A few hours after Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson left the White House with a curt "no comment" to newspapermen, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, went on the air to declare that "the economic status of every wage earner in the country" rests on the fate of the amendment.

He described the issue as crucial, adding that it is more vital to the economic welfare of the nation than any other issue which has faced us since the inception of the recovery program.

DRAMA CONTESTS DATES ANNOUNCED

Will Hold Preliminary Contests For Carolina Dramatic Tournament Here in March.

Preliminary contests for county and city high schools entered in the production contests of the 12th annual festival and state tournament of the Carolina Dramatic Association to be held at Chapel Hill March 27, 28, 29 and 30, were announced yesterday by Mrs. Irene H. Fussler, secretary of the Dramatic Association.

All county high school preliminaries should be concluded by March 6, Mrs. Fussler said.

Contests in the county groups will be held at Whiteville for Hallsboro, Whiteville, St. Pauls and Tabor; at Paw Creek for Marshville, Paw Creek, and Cabarrus; and at Chapel Hill for Swannanoah, Pinehurst, and Zebulon.

In the city high school groups, Rocky Mount, Henderson, and Wilson will compete at Rocky Mount on March 6; Albemarle, Concord, and Shelby will meet

(Continued on last page)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
George Underwood ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: REED SARRATT

Friday, March 1, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

Current philosophy: it's a sad state when beer has become a dead issue.

Now the senators want to investigate the NRA. Maybe they think there are too many cards up the sleeves of the New Dealers.

We see where the baseball team played a game in bathing suits. It only goes to show that there's nothing nude under the sun.

For Bus Service

The much-delayed hearing before the state utilities commission of the Atlantic Greyhound Bus Line has finally been set for Tuesday, March 5. It was originally scheduled for January 22, but for some reason or other (we daresay the lobbyists were not loafing) the hearing was indefinitely postponed. At least it has come up again after most of the student body, which filled several petitions with names, had almost given up all hope.

There is no need for any reiteration of the Greyhound's case. Chapel Hill students have been vehemently advocating a better bus service for a long time.

The proposed system of the Greyhound outfit calls for a complete service from Greensboro to Raleigh, with immediate changes to all points north, south, and west at the terminals. In addition to the comforts which the big blue busses can offer, the rates will be considerably cheaper.

All students wishing to aid the inauguration of the new service can get free transportation to Raleigh and personally appeal for the improvement. Already petitions have been sent in, with virtually the entire undergraduate body having affixed its many signatures. Everything which can possibly be done should be done, that Chapel Hill may get some decent transportation facilities on North Carolina's deeply-prided highways.

The Faculty and The Honor System

The faculty has adopted the Student Council's recommendation that professors remain "readily available" while they are giving their classes quizzes and, further, that the professors drop in on the boys from time to time—to see if they need any help. The faculty cautioned the students that the ruling is not "any retreat from the high interpretation of the honor system," but is rather a step in the direction of insuring better quiz conditions.

Faculty co-operation is just as important as student integrity in the honor system. But many of the undergraduates fail to see how the new ruling is anything but the beginning of a proctor system. They demand a fuller explanation of the motives which prompted what they call an invasion of the student responsibility under the honor system. But they are laboring under a gross misconception.

The faculty ruling purports to do just exactly what the faculty spokesman expressed—to provide for more ideal conditions during tests and for full functioning of the honor system. There is no reason to believe that it will not do exactly that and subsequently actually strengthen the entire responsibility of all concerned.

Making Champions In Three Days

Whether or not Carolina goes on to win the Southern Conference basketball tournament now being held at Raleigh, our opinions as to the unfairness and unadvisability of such a tournament will remain the same. Regardless of the results of the tournament, the White Phantoms will remain the southern champions in so far as we are concerned. And we daresay most people will agree with us.

With the regular season finished, Carolina has played virtually every team in the conference, some of them twice—and has lost but one game. Why we should now be forced to test this clear superiority in an elimination tournament is not clear. The present system makes it too possible for some team which has been mediocre all season to gain the title by playing over its head for three days.

The tournament system is a hold-over from the old days when the Southern Conference embraced all of the south from New Orleans to Richmond. The system was justified then for the simple reason that it was impossible for any team to hope to play even a large majority of the other conference teams during the regular season. Now that the Southern Conference has been compressed into a workable organization comparable to the Big Ten and the Eastern Intercollegiate League, there is no reason why it should not follow their lead and determine the basketball title upon the record of games won and lost.

We realize that we are running the chance of being called "poor sports" because the change advocated would be to Carolina's benefit at this particular time. Doubtless the fact that the basic injustice of the present system may be about to hit us in the face causes us to be particularly sensitive about the situation. Nevertheless we believe that a healthier condition will prevail in the Southern Conference if immediate steps are taken to eliminate the unjust and superfluous basketball tournament.

New Life And Spirit

The eyes of the campus will soon be centered on the election of new members to the University Club who will have the enviable duty of carrying on the excellent precedents established by this group in its existence to date.

Since the inception of the organization two years ago the University Club has been one of the most potent societies on the campus and has done an incredible amount of work. It has revived a great deal of the failing Carolina spirit and has done more, probably, to interest prospective students in this school than any other undergraduate factor.

The membership of the club will be increased slightly over this year's total because of the invitations of co-ed organizations to participate in the work of the club during its next session. We hope that the women students realize the honor and distinction connected with membership in the University Club and that they take active part in all the club's activities.

It is our sincere hope that the new members will earnestly strive to carry forward the traditions and ideals which the University club has established since its inauguration. The club's importance will increase as the year's go by.

Their Goose Is Cooked

A sage piece of advice, emanating from the tongue of Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, was delivered to the Senate munitions investigating committee this week. The choice bit of wisdom was that "the only way to take profits out of war is not to have a war."

Apparently it had not occurred to Mr. Grace that the purpose of the present investigation is not to discover how to take profits out of war, but to discover how to take war out of munitions profits. While naively stating that he doesn't "think that the desire for profit coming out of the sale of war implements is a factor back of creating war," he failed to offer any suggestion as to what might be a factor or as to how to avoid having a war if not by ridding it of the profit motive. One enlightening bit of information was furnished by Mr. Grace, however, in the statement that his taxable income for 1917 and 1918 had amounted to $2,755,000—indeed a tidy little sum.

This attitude, it seems to us, is all too typical of munitions producers generally. The head of the French munitions firm, Schneider-Creusot, is reputed to have said recently that "the defense of our country has brought us satisfaction that cannot be disregarded." Whether he meant moral satisfaction of a patriotic kind, or satisfaction of a more tangible nature is conjectural.

The goose of the munitions manufacturers is no longer raw, but it is our prediction that unless there is some present action taken to see that it is done to a nice crisp brown, the result will be a disastrous conflagration similar to our last war which will leave us in a position to think no longer of cooked goose or anything else. We'd better get out our aprons and chefs' hats and go to work.

SPEAKING the CAMPUS MIND

Against the Honor Court

Editor, the DAILY TAR HEEL:

Be it understood in the beginning that this article, if it may be termed as such, is not intended to criticize my own class, because such a move would be more or less tyrannical and also it would not carry out the feeling of class spirit.

To slander something after it has been passed by the class, as a rule, is bad sportsmanship. But at this time, I think that more than sportsmanship should be considered. May I give my reasons for being against the Freshman Honor Council? In the first place, I think that such a move is an overlapping of duty. At the present time the University of North Carolina enjoys the reputation nationally of having the best form of student government and student control in the United States. Why have we received this recognition? For the simple reason that it has been perfect in the past? No! It is not that. No student council, no student prefect, nor no student government is perfect. They all have their flaws. Cases come to the Student Council of this institution, that they, themselves, are honestly afraid to pass judgment. In reality, they are not afraid, but want to give the highest type of justice, and in some cases, they do not know where to draw the line between justice and injustice. And this council is made up of men from the upper classes of Carolina, who are noted on this campus for having taken part in student government at other schools and also for their sound reason and judgment. And if these men find it difficult at times to pass judgment on cases brought before them, how can we expect a tribunal made up entirely of freshmen to handle such cases? They, in my opinion, have not been in Carolina long enough to catch the true significance of the Carolina traditions regarding the honor system. However, the Student Council does know the meaning of these traditions, and thus are representative of the honor system throughout the nation.

In the second place, all this movement amounts to is taking the power of the Student Council over to the freshman class. Is this what our class honestly wants? I have my doubts. When this Council starts to function, if it does, the students will find that this is not where they want their cases to go. It has been generally understood by large educational societies that the government of the school has to be entirely in the hands of the faculty or entirely in the hands of the students. This is because one faction can decide on matters pertaining to the students much more satisfactorily than the two factions could together. For the same reason, the politicians of today want the Congress to be as nearly the same party as the President as possible. If there is a decided mixture of Democrats and Republicans together, very little is ever accomplished. Therefore, it is also best that the honor affairs of the University of North Carolina stay in the hands of the Student Council. They are used to trying these cases and can do it more capably.

This brings me to my third and last reason for being against the said court. The freshman class is utterly incapable of handling these affairs. If President Mullis, the executive committee, a nominating committee, or the class as a whole were to select the eleven best boys of the class to act on this council, I say it would not function properly. The freshman class simply does not have the integrity. It is true that a great number of the members of our class have participated on student councils, but that is the exact ground for my plea to do away with the council. I think that such a council would operate in a very similar nature as a high school student prefect. Every one of us know how it operated when we were in high school, and what did we think of it? It was perfectly lousy. The boys did not have mature enough minds concerning student affairs to pass fair judgments. And that is the case at Carolina. That is the reason that only the upper classes are represented on the Student Council. If the board that decides what classes are to be represented thought that freshmen were capable of this responsibility, I feel sure that our class would have its pro rata of representatives. But the class is not capable in the minds of the men above us, so let's stay in our place and make the class honor conscious and safe against infringements of the honor system, but as for the council, I think we should turn over that page and start a new chapter and start something more substantial.

A FRESHMAN.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:00: George Hall orch., WBIG.

1:30: Little Jack Little, songs, WBT.

2:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

3:15: Minneapolis Sym. orch., WBT.

5:00: Joe Haymes orch., WBT.

6:45: Lowell Thomas, commentator, WLW, WJZ.

7:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

8:00: Concert; Jessica Dragonette, soprano; Bourdon orch., WEAF; Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt—talk, WBT, WABC.

8:15: Edwin C. Hill, news, WBT; musical revue; Mary Courtland, songs; Armstrong's orch., novelty quartet, WJZ, KDKA.

8:30: Court of Human Relations, WABC; Al Goodman's orch., James Melton, tenor, KDKA.

9:00: Waltz Time; Frank Munn, tenor; Abe Lyman orch., WLW; March of Time, WABC, WHAS.

9:30: Hollywood Hotel—Dick Powell; Frances Langford; Ted Fio-Rito orch., WBT, WABC; Phil Baker, comedian; Leon Belasco orch., WJZ, WENR; Wayne King orch., WGN.

10:30: 90-piece orchestral and vocal ensemble; Frank Black, conductor, WLW.

11:00: Hal Kemp orch., WJZ.

11:15: Ozzie Nelson orch., WBT.

11:30: Noble Sissle orch., WJZ, WSM; Wayne King orch., WGN.

12:00: Cab Calloway orch., WABC, WHAS; Jan Garber orch., WGN.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

Chapel Hill Weekly

(Continued from page one)

seems to be just about the same as every other."

In many of its aspects the sameness is pleasing to Editor Graves. "There, for example," he said, "is the old Huber press. It was built about 45 years ago, I think, and I got it third-or fourth-hand. I am glad the men in the shop keep it so well oiled that it stays with me. I am glad I've got an expert linotype mechanic who knows how to keep the machines in good shape, so that I don't have to replace them. I am glad that subscribers who enrolled 12 years ago still hang on. I am glad Clyde Eubanks continues to let his drugstore be used as a passageway from the main street to the shop. I am glad the two willow trees in the Weekly's front yard are still flourishing—and I wish my hair and teeth had been equally durable."

Keep Off the Grass

The congregation of the Episcopal church requests that people going through the church grounds use the walks rather than cut across the grass. Paths are being worn on the front and back lawns by careless pedestrians.

CAROLINA
TODAY
IT'S THE MOST REVEALING STORY THE SCREEN HAS TOLD IN MONTHS!

"The SECRET BRIDE"
Warner Bros' dramatic sensation starring
BARBARA STANWYCK
with WARREN WILLIAM - GLENDA FARRELL
—Also—
Comedy — News

MIDNIGHT SHOW
TONIGHT
Doors Open at 11:15 P. M.
SHE'S GOT RHYTHM!
College Rhythm! . . . Sweeping the country in a musical wonder show of collegiate guys and campus cuties!

A Paramount Picture
Directed by Norman Taurog

SONS OF CAROLINA,
At Camp Koos Koos Kwa
SPEND THAT MUCH-NEEDED SUMMER VACATION

Newly organized camp situated on the historic and great Chowan River near Edenton will be open from May 15 until September 15, 1935. The personnel of the camp consists entirely of experienced college students and college graduates. Unequalled anywhere are the attractive terms for attending this well-supervised camp, relative to the attractions it offers.

For full information and illustrated pamphlets, see

M. D. SAVIN
403 Ruffin
(Authorized Representative)

White Phantoms Wallop South Carolinians; W. & L. Upsets

Tar Heels Victors, 46-25; Aitken Leads Team-Play; Duke And State Get Wins

Nelson Tops Scoring; Good Defense; Play State Tonight

Kunkle and Rex Lead Duke and State in Victories.

Memorial Auditorium, Raleigh, Feb. 28.—Carolina's White Phantoms seeded number one team lived up to its high reputation here tonight and completely outplayed South Carolina to take their first tilt of the Southern Conference basketball tournament, 46-25.

The Tar Heels repeated their performance of a week ago against the same Gamecocks by putting on a remarkable passing offense and then tightening in top style on defense. It was the third victory of the year for the upper Carolina team out of three tries opposite these Gamecocks.

S. C. Starts Fast

Carolina had a little trouble getting warmed up at first and the losers ran up a 7-4 lead after about 10 minutes of play. Then with Jason Glace and Mel Nelson leading the way the Phantoms were soon breezing along safely ahead. The winners led at half-time, 18-9.

South Carolina got off fast in the second half with Craig and Gooding counting two baskets to cut the margin to 18-13. Here the Tar Heels put on the steam once more to run up the margin. Paul Kaveny led in this drive. With the game tucked in the bag the Tar Heels put on a great show of rapid passing during the last minutes which had the

(Continued on last page)

State Victorious

Memorial Auditorium, Feb. 28.—North Carolina State opened the playing in the 1935 Southern Conference basketball tournament here this afternoon with an easy win over a fighting V. M. I. five. The score was 42-30.

The Wolfpack took the lead early and maintained this advantage throughout. Fine floor play and accuracy on field shots marked the play of the winners. Two complete Red Terror teams saw action.

Aycock and Slythe led the scoring array of the Wolfpack with 12 and 11 points, respectively. Rex was a stand-out on the defense. Downey and Merola tied for top scoring honors for the Kaydet team, with the former being the star of the losers.

Duke Wins

Memorial Auditorium, Feb. 28.—Duke University's well-balanced cage quintet took a close, though quite decisive victory over Virginia's Cavaliers in the second game of the tournament here today. Four full teams saw action in the game which Duke won, 39-32.

The Blue Devils led from early in the first half. Half time score stood 17-11 in favor of the winners.

Kunkle was the star of the Duke offensive, scoring 9 points. The two guards, Polack and Podger, were the stars of the game with brilliant defensive play and tallying 13 points between them. Sturm led the Virginia scoring, tieing Kunkle for high scoring honors.

Male of Virginia and Polack of Duke had to leave the game for excessive fouls.

BOX SCORES ON BACK PAGE

U. N. C. over U. S. C.

N. C.:	FG	F	T
Aitken, f	3	2	8
Nelson, f	5	3	13
Glace, c	4	3	11
McCachren, g	2	0	4
Harris, g	0	1	1
Kaveny, g	4	1	9
Totals	18	10	46

S. C.:	FG	F	T
Henderson, f	3	1	7
Laurie, f	0	1	1
James, f	2	0	4
Craig, c	4	0	8
G. Taylor, c	1	0	2
Rowland, g	0	0	0
Gooding, g	1	1	3
Totals	11	3	25

Score at half: N. C., 18; South Carolina, 9.

Non-scoring subs: North Carolina—Ramsey, f; Blood, f; Webster, c; Minor, g. South Carolina—W. Taylor, g.

Officials: Knight (Durham Y.); Proctor (Richmond Y.)

W. & L. Upsets Clemson

Memorial Auditorium, Feb. 28.—Washington and Lee's defending conference champion five started the 1935 tourney as it did the 1934 meet by scoring an opening round upset. Last night in the final game on the day's program, the Generals downed the favored Clemson Tigers, 29-25.

Trailing 15-12 at half time, the Generals came back strong in the last period and piled up their short advantage.

Joe Pette led the Generals' attack with 14 points. Swails and Dillard led the Tigers.

BOX SCORES ON BACK PAGE

BADMINGTON CLUB OF CHAPEL HILL BEATS PINEHURST

Newly Formed Club Wins, 5-2, Led by Coach Kenfield and Carolina Tennis Players.

PLAY HERE WEDNESDAY

A newly-formed Chapel Hill Badmington Club, composed of professors and their wives, sent a representative team Wednesday night to Pinehurst and returned with a convincing 5-2 victory over the experienced players from the famous resort.

Coach Kenfield and Larry Flynn, members of the Chapel Hill club, formed the nucleus of the team that made the excursion to Pinehurst, and with the aid of the tennis varsity, succeeded in winning.

Return Match

All the tennis players had just recently tested the game of badmington and did remarkably well in competition. This coming Wednesday evening at the Tin Can, a return war of the "shuttle-cocks" will be waged between the two organizations.

Coach Kenfield, Eddy De Gray, and Eddy Fuller, new frosh tennis sensation, scored victories in the singles, and two of the three doubles matches also went the way of the local team.

Flynn was the sole player to suffer defeat for Chapel Hill, bowing to Tom Fidel, ace professional of the resort, by a 15-3 count. Flynn was also paired with Eddy De Gray in the other loss, losing to Fidel and his partner in the third doubles match.

Walter Levitan, tennis captain, teamed with Byron Abels to score a victory in doubles, and Coach Kenfield, paired with Eddy Fuller, scored another point in a decisive win.

Conference Mat Tournament Opens Today At Lexington, Va.

MURAL TOURNEY IN TABLE TENNIS IN SECOND ROUND

Top-Seeded Bowling Team Eliminated in First Round.

The Graham Memorial game room resounded to the clicking of the celluloid ball yesterday afternoon as the intramural table tennis tournament took form with the playing of the opening matches.

Three matches were completed in the frat division with Phi Delta Theta scoring the most decisive win. They won easily over Delta Psi at 3-0, to advance into the second round.

Chi Phi downed Sigma Nu No. 1, 2-1, and Phi Kappa Sigma scored likewise over Z. B. T.'s first team. In the dorm section, the highly rated Mangum team barely nosed out Battle, 2-1. Four more matches will be played today, and all teams are urged to be ready at the scheduled time.

Bowling

In the bowling tourney, the seeded Midnight Flyers were eliminated in the first round of play by Aycock. The score was 1178-1144.

Dave Mosier lead the Phi Delts to an easy victory over Theta Kappa Nu. Mosier averaged 154 for the three games, to take individual high scoring honors to date. The Phi Delts won 1140-844.

Grimes, seeded second, took a 1027-954 win over Mangum. Chi Psi and A. T. O. annexed close margin victories over Z. B. T. No. 2 and Zeta Psi No. 2, respectively, by the scores of 889-876 and 976-963.

SEND THE DAILY TAR HEEL HOME

Bonner Has Excellent Chance to Win; Umstead, Ward, Efland Meet Tough Opposition.

W. AND L. PICKED TO WIN

Frank Umstead, 118; Melvin Ward, 135; Allen Bonner, 145, and Captain Sim Efland, 165, are the Carolina representatives in the Southern Conference wrestling tournament, which will get underway this afternoon at Lexington, Va.

Washington and Lee, sponsor of the big meet, is the defending champion. In the tourney which was held at Blacksburg, Va., in 1934, the Generals nosed out the V. M. I. Kaydets, 21 to 18, to cop their second consecutive Dixie title.

Generals Lead

By virtue of their splendid dual season record of seven victories and no defeats, W. & L. is favored again to retain championship honors. Among their victims have been State, Carolina, Duke, and V. P. I., who have all sent entries to the tourney. V. M. I. is the lone team entered which the Generals have not met this season.

However, it must be remembered that State gave the Lexington aggregation a real scare two weeks ago in Raleigh, when the Wolfpack held the highly rated Virginians to a 14-12 score. W. & L. came from behind in the final match to win the gruelling struggle. State is hence the dark horse of the tournament.

Kaydets Strong

V. M. I. has another strong outfit this year and may overtake the Generals. The Kaydets, after losing to State 18-14, in the opening fray, journeyed to Navy and battled the classy

(Continued on last page)

CLOSE RACE FOR TEAM WINNERS IN INDOOR TRACK

North Carolina, Duke, Maryland, And Virginia to Form Four-Way Battle for Honors.

U. N. C. DEFENDING CHAMPS

A great fight for top team honors is scheduled to be a feature of the sixth annual Southern Conference indoor track games in the Tin Can, Saturday night, March 9.

Practically all of the individual events promise to be close and exciting. The likely candidates for the leading positions in all the races are well distributed among several of the conference schools.

4-Way Fight

Four of the institutions forge into a lead as pre-meet figures are reviewed. These are North Carolina defending indoor and outdoor champs; Virginia, runner-up in both meets; Duke and Maryland. Washington and Lee and South Carolina will also present strong teams, although they will not be as well-balanced as the first group.

In the recent Jay-Cee meet in Charlotte, the Tar Heel team walked away with the honors. Maryland showed up well, in fact dangerously well. Virginia was not far behind, although without the services of their star, Everett. Duke was last, but their powerful array of sophomores were absent.

All the teams line up about even on the running events, while Duke seems to hold the edge in the field. Carolina has possibly one good man in each event but lacks reserve strength to capture the lower scoring places, unless the stars double up and assume iron men jobs.

(Continued on last page)

They won't help you catch rivets —

they won't cause any ills or cure any ailments

— but they Satisfy

... when anything satisfies it's got to be right... no "ifs" or "buts" about it.

Chesterfields satisfy because, first of all, they're made of the right kinds of mild ripe tobaccos. These tobaccos are thoroughly aged and then blended and cross-blended.

It takes time and it takes money, but whatever it costs in time or money we do it in order to give you a cigarette that's milder, a cigarette that tastes better.

When in Durham
you are cordially invited to visit the Chesterfield factory and see Chesterfields made.

© 1935, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

SIGMA XI TO HEAR DONALD ANDREWS

Public Invited to Attend Lecture by Noted Chemist.

Dr. Donald H. Andrews, professor of chemistry at Johns Hopkins University, will address the North Carolina chapter of Sigma XI at 8 p. m. Monday in Phillips hall.

Dr. Andrews will speak on "Molecular Models." He will discuss the most recent work contributing to the structure of organic molecules, and will demonstrate with models the advances that have been made in this field.

The noted chemist, who received his B.S. and Ph.D degrees from Yale, was a National Research Fellow during 1924-1925, serving in Leyden, Holland.

He joined the Johns Hopkins faculty in 1927. Dr. Andrews has done consulting work for the General Motors Corporation, for the Fixed Nitrogen Laboratory at Washington, and for the Bureau of Soils of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He is especially interested in the application of thermodynamics to organic chemistry.

The public is invited to attend the lecture.

Mat Tourney

(Continued from page three)

Middie matmen to a 16-16 draw. V. M. I. also boasts an 18-10 decision over Carolina and a 29-3 win over Duke.

Although Carolina can hardly hope to win the team title, the Tar Heels have great bids for individual honors. Frank Umstead, bantamweight, should be a real threat to Thomas, considered by mat experts to be one of the most outstanding 118-pounders that the south has ever had. Thomas and Umstead met in a dual encounter earlier in the season with the former winning on a large time margin. Umstead has shown considerable improvement in the last few weeks, and he may pull an upset this week-end.

Melvin Ward should prove to be a worthy opponent for any of the 135-pounders. Ward has suffered close time decision setbacks to Krach of State and Lowry of W. & L. Krach has the best record of the trio and is favored to gain the crown won by Nolen, a team mate in 1934.

Allen Bonner is considered to be the class of the welterweight contestants. Bonner, who competed in the 155-pound division this year, has moved down a weight for the tournament. Chief among the opposition will be Ardolino of Duke, undefeated in six matches, and Conup of State, one of the leading grapplers of the West Raleigh institution.

Captain Sim Efland will have to go a long way if he expects to win out in the senior middleweight division, which is considered to have the greatest array of stars of the tournament. Captain Currence, conference champion in the 175 last year, is the favorite to come through again. Other leading participants are Priode of V. P. I.; Furr of State, and Seitz of Washington and Lee.

WILEY CO-EDITS TEXT

Dr. W. L. Wiley of the University and H. A. Grubbs, Jr., of Princeton have recently collaborated in writing a French grammar designed for students wishing to get the principles of French grammar in the shortest possible time.

A novel feature is to be found in the exercises, which form a complete and original detective story continued from chapter to chapter. The book, entitled "Minimum French," will appear early in the spring.

Basketball Tourney

(Continued from page three)

crowd in a continual roar. The second White Phantom outfit finally finished the contest.

Mel Nelson's excellent shooting again topped the scoring. The Tar Heel forward ran up 13 points. It was Captain Aitken's fighting floor game that led the victors. The littlest man on the floor seemed to be everywhere in one of the best games of his career.

Jim McCachren and Jason Glace were the top men on defense for the winners. Glace stuck to the dangerous Captain Henderson all the way, holding him to seven points while running up 11 himself. The lengthy center also came up most of the time with the backboard rebounds.

Paul Kaveny headed North Carolina during the second half dropping in four beautiful field goals and adding a foul to this for nine points. He also aided the offense with a nice passing game.

Tom Craig, center, was by far the outstanding man for the losers. He was top on offense with eight points and also starred on defense. James, going in during the final half, caused the Tar Heels a little worry with his speed and marksmanship.

State-V. M. I.

N. C. STATE:	FG	F	T
Lambeth, f	2	1	5
Aycock, f	4	4	12
Flythe, c	5	1	11
Rex, g	3	2	8
Dalrymple, g	1	2	4
C. Womble, g	1	0	2
Totals	16	10	42

V. M. I.:	FG	F	T
Downey, f	4	0	8
Hancock, f	2	1	5
Merola, c	4	0	8
Watkins, g	0	2	2
Haas, g	3	1	7
Totals	13	4	30

Score at half: N. C. State—21; V. M. I., 13. Non-scoring subs: N. C. State—Chase, f; Harris, f; S. Womble, c; Hockfield, g. V. M. I.—Raffo, g.

Duke-Va.

DUKE:	FG	F	T
Riley, f	2	0	4
Huiskamp, f	3	2	8
Kunkle, f	3	3	9
Herrick, c	0	1	1
Naktenis, c	2	0	4
Cheek, g	0	0	0
Podger, g	2	2	6
Polack, g	3	1	7
Totals	15	9	39

VIRGINIA:	FG	F	T
Sturm, f	4	1	9
Male, f	2	1	5
Abbitt, f	2	3	7
Zeisberg, c	2	1	5
Rogers, g	1	1	3
Gist, g	0	1	1
Smith, g	1	0	2
Totals	12	8	32

Score at half: Duke 17; Virginia—Booker, f; Marret, g; Duke—Bell, f; Wentz, g. Virginia—Booker, f; Harret, g; Connor, g.

W. & L.-Clemson

W. & L.:	FG	F	T
Smith, f-c	1	1	3
Pette, f	5	4	14
Richardson, c	1	0	2
Ellis, f	0	3	3
Field, g	1	0	2
Iler, g	2	1	5
Totals	10	9	29

CLEMSON:	FG	F	T
Pennington, f	1	0	2
Dillard, f	4	0	8
Dobson, f	1	1	3
Swails, c	4	3	11
Brown, g	0	0	0
Spearman, g	0	1	1
Woodward, g	0	0	0
Totals	10	5	25

Score at half: Clemson—15; W. & L.—12. Non-scoring subs: Clemson—Bryce, c.

Rah! Rah! Rah! For Romance

Five members of the cast of Paramount's "College Rhythm," playing tonight in the midnight show at the Carolina theatre, lavish their praises on the sun, moon, stars, bluebirds, and buttercups—all indispensable aids to romance. They are Joe Penner, making his feature picture debut, Lanny Ross, Jack Oakie, Lyda Roberti, and Dean Jagger. Helen Mack and Mary Brian are also members of the feature cast which was directed by Norman Taurog.

Craig Lecture

(Continued from page one)

back comfortably in his chair as he added: "I have found it so."

During his Chapel Hill "vacation" Dr. Craig has completed his bibliography of the Renaissance, an edition of the poems, stories and criticism of Edgar Allen Poe; taught English 111, a course in the non-dramatic literature of the English Renaissance; and lectured in Raleigh, Charlotte, and Greensboro on topics of general interest.

Praises University

"Being a southerner," said Craig slyly, "I don't have any particular indictment to make against the south. I think, of course, that the University of North Carolina is one of the most valuable institutions in the south, and that it has gained its splendid reputation by earning it," he continued. "It combines a progressive spirit with high standards of teaching and academic research. In spite of the depression, and losses suffered from under-financing, it has an excellent faculty, whose brillaint records as scholars and teachers are only equaled by the spirited way in which they have made a very good best of a bad situation.

"It's a great pity," murmured Dr. Craig as he buttoned his oilskin rain-cape over his grey worsted suit, "that the people of North Carolina don't realize the caliber of their own University."

Book Used Here

Craig's famous edition of 21 plays of Shakespeare is in use here at the University. Like his edition of Swift it has gained great popularity throughout the colleges of America because it is at once scholarly and interesting. The qualities of the book are the qualities of the man.

Perhaps Craig's wide range of interests within his chosen territory of English may best be accounted for by the variety of his educational background. Of Scotch descent, Craig was born in Kentucky, and received his A.B. from Center College. His M.A. he has from Princeton. After receiving this he left Princeton for more than a year, which he spent in study at Oxford. He returned to serve as instructor and assistant professor under the administration of Woodrow Wilson, then president of the New Jersey school.

In 1910 he left Princeton to become professor of English at the University of Minnesota, in which capacity he taught until the outbreak of the World War. With the rank of captain he served in the army for 20 months as commandant of an officers' military training camp.

After the war he took up his professional duties once more as head of the department of English at the University of Iowa, a position he left for an English professorship at Stanford University, in Palo Alto, California. He has remained at Stanford since 1928, and will, with Mrs. Craig, return there at the conclusion of this quarter.

Dancer

(Continued from page one)

and later took her to Paris to study for five years. Her mother, incidentally, travels with her on her tours and can even pinch hit for the electrician, if the complicated lighting required for the dances stumps the local technician. She is decidedly oriental in appearance—her Javanese ancestry being apparent in every feature.

Speaks Five Languages

Nini speaks five languages, including excellent English. She has forgotten the Javanese she knew as a child, but has mastered Danish, French, German and Dutch. She learned English practically overnight. Max Reinhardt two summers ago wanted her to go to London to arrange the dancing in his production of "Midsummer Night's Dream." His representative said:

"Of course you have to know English. Do you know English?"

"Yes," answered Nini, though that was practically the only English word she knew. By the time she got to London she knew enough of the language to get by, and now she has mastered it perfectly. On her first American tour last season, she picked up an amazing array of the local idiom.

Mlle. Theilade will appear here in Memorial hall Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock on the second program sponsored by the Student Entertainment Committee this quarter.

Drama Contest

(Continued from page one)

at Concord; and at Chapel Hill March 15 Broughton and Morson high schools of Raleigh, Southern Pines, and Chapel Hill will meet.

Curry High School of Greensboro will not participate in any preliminary.

Junior colleges, senior colleges, community clubs, and Little Theatre organizations will not hold preliminaries.

Junior colleges entered in the production contests are: St. Mary's, Raleigh; Mars Hill, Brevard, and Biltmore, Asheville.

Senior colleges entered are: Lenoir-Rhyne, Hickory; Black Mountain, Blue Ridge; Women's College of the University, Greensboro; and Catawba, Salisbury.

Community organizations entered are: Durham Community Players, Durham; Wayne County Players, Goldsboro; Twin-Village Players, Sedgefield-Jamestown; Northampton County Players, Seaboard.

Other groups entered classes as ERE, rural and community clubs, are: Durham Junior Community Players, Durham; East Flat Rock Rural Communtiy Players, and ERE groups from Concord, Charlotte, and Ansonville.

WANTED

Three copies of January 20, 1935, issue of the DAILY TAR HEEL at ten cents each. Bring to circulation manager in DAILY TAR HEEL business office between 4 and 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Indoor Track

(Continued from page three)

Maryland is particularly strong in the sprints and middle distances. The Cavaliers have a fairly well-rounded crew. Duke is the real power-threat of the coming meet, possessing the stand-outs of last year's mediocre team and all the brilliant sophomores.

COMPREHENSIVES

The comprehensive examination in English will take place tomorrow morning in Murphey hall, room 201, at 9 a. m. and 2 p. m.

Students are requested to bring two small quiz books for the morning session and one larger one for the afternoon session. The use of typewriters will not be permitted.

Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Walter Gordy, W. B. Millis, E. F. Wells, Leighton Dudley, Eleanor Hammond, Sidney Holt, C. H. Ballard, J. A. Brown, and E. C. Brantley.

Jackson to Speak to Frosh

Dean W. C. Jackson of the Woman's College will speak before freshman assembly today at 10:30 a. m.

WILL THE PERSON

—who borrowed Bunn Hearn's yellow, left-handed baseball glove from the Tin Can Tuesday evening please return it to Emerson stadium immediately.

Alfred Williams & Co., Inc.

Notebook Fillers, Quiz Books, and Stationery

VITALITY VII

a course in making good

THIS business of keeping fit is a required course in every college. Your enthusiasm and your energy in daily campus life are influenced by your physical condition. Vitality has a lot to do with your college career.

It is important that you avoid constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. This condition frequently causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy. It keeps you from being at your best.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a natural laxative cereal, provides gentle "bulk" to promote proper elimination. It also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

Two tablespoonfuls daily, served with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. Ask that ALL-BRAN be served at your fraternity house, eating-club or campus restaurant.

The most popular ready-to-eat cereals served in the dining-rooms of American colleges, eating-clubs and fraternities are made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. They include Kellogg's Corn Flakes, PEP, Rice Krispies, Wheat Krumbles, and Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit. Also Kaffee Hag Coffee — real coffee — 97% caffeine free.

ENGLISH COMPREHENSIVES
9 A. M.—3 P. M.
201 MURPHEY HALL

The Daily Tar Heel

ORIGINAL PLAYS
8:30 P. M.
PLAYMAKERS THEATRE

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, MARCH 2, 1935 | NUMBER 119

GREENSBORO DEAN LIVENS ASSEMBLY

Dean W. C. Jackson Promises to Introduce Freshmen Around At Woman's College.

Dean W. C. Jackson of the Greensboro Woman's College, was introduced to the freshman class by Dean House, and then the fun began.

The speaker won the interest of the assembly by issuing them an invitation to visit him and allowing him to introduce them at Greensboro; a statement which met vociferous approval.

Announcing his subject as "Andrew Jackson," he explained that he had received special permission to move the date of his birthday from the fifteenth to the first.

"Great Fighter, He Was"

Dates, facts, and more dates! He rattled them off with such rapidity that the best of history students would have become addled. He hurriedly traced the southerner's amazing career, showing him as a young lawyer in Tennessee, that state's first Congressman, a worker among the Seminole Indians in Florida, and finaly as president of the United States.

Dean Jackson was largely concerned with the amusing incidents in the general's life and told the freshmen of some of Jackson's experiences as a duelist. "He was a fighting man individually as well as nationally," stated the speaker.

Renowned for Epithets

"He was the greatest swearer of his day. It was wonderful. There was something magnificent about the general's swearing." But the speaker offered no examples.

Dean Jackson concluded by quoting one of "Old Hickory's" slaves who was arguing with a fellow slave on the probability of their master's going to heaven. "Massa Jackson always wanted to go to heaven," said the darky, "and if he wants to do a thing, there is nobody can keep him from it."

LOCAL ROTARIANS HEAR LEGISLATOR

Bowman Predicts Adoption of Parts of Substitute Tax Plan.

The real fights in the Legislature have just begun and there is not much chance for adjournment before April 15 at the earliest, Judge Fred O. Bowman of Chapel Hill, a veteran of legislative sessions as representative of the druggists and bottlers, told the Chapel Hill Rotary Club in an address here.

Discussing the trend of legislative events, Judge Bowman predicted that the McDonald-Lumpkin substitute revenue bill would meet defeat when it goes to the floor of the House but that certain features of the plan will be adopted.

The chances for the University and other state institutions getting what they requested and were granted by the vote of the joint appropriations committee are not as bright as they were several weeks ago, Judge Bowman said, for the reason that the appropriations bill is being held up until the finance committee makes its report.

Unless an apparent discrepancy of several millions can be eliminated by adoption of features of the McDonald-Lumpkin plan, all of the appropriations already voted by the joint committee will probably be whittled.

Coker Is Named Advisor For Biology Station

Heads N. C. Division of Department of University of Va.

Dr. R. E. Coker, professor of zoology here, has recently been honored by being appointed adviser for North Carolina of the Mountain Lake biological station, a branch of the University of Virginia under the direction of Dr. Ivey F. Lewis, a graduate of the University of North Carolina.

Dr. Coker succeeds President Emeritus W. L. Poteat of Wake Forest.

Craig Gives Theory: Hamlet Shares Fate Of All Stricken Men

Visiting Professor Says in Lecture Hamlet Teaches Invincibility of Valiant Soul.

"Hamlet struggles through and at last achieves a philosophical serenity against a background of human calamity. 'Give me that man that is not passion's slave,' he says, emerging triumphant. In a world full of grief-stricken heroes, Hamlet's lesson for us is that there is no defeat of a valiant spirit short of the grave."

Hardin Craig, distinguished Renaissance scholar and visiting professor of English at the University from Leland-Stanford, lectured last night in Gerrard hall to a large audience of students, faculty and townspeople on "Why Hamlet—An Attempt to Account for the Importance of Shakespeare's Play."

Taylor Introduces

Briefly introduced by his former classmate at the University of Chicago, Dr. George R. Taylor, of the University English department, Dr. Craig opened his 50-minute address with an anecdote of his days in London as a young student, when he was privileged to hear two of the leading scholars of the day discuss Hamlet.

"Their views," stated Craig, "were diametrically opposed." One scholar believed Hamlet to be the victim of his own indecision, and thought his delay at killing the king at prayers was based upon Hamlet's own inability to act, in its turn the result of a lack of balance between the active and contemplative sides of his nature.

Gives Theory

Craig stated that his theory of the play and character arose from his difficulty with a passage ("Thou seest the world, how

(Continued on last page)

VOLUME STUDIES 'WITCH OF ATLAS'

Press Releases Critical Work on Shelley's Poem.

The University Press has just released "The Meaning of the Witch of Atlas," a new book by Carl Grabo of the University of Wisconsin. It continues the interpretation begun in an earlier work, "A Newton Among Poets," of the intellectual background of Shelley's poetry.

In "The Witch of Atlas," Shelley dresses a fanciful composition in symbols derived from science, myth, and neo-Platonism, and gives with delicacy and beauty a philosophic interpretation of the universe.

The Press will release another critical work of Shelley's poetry, "Promethus Unbound," by the same author in April.

Dr. Edgar Knight Is President Of National Education Society

Heads Educators

Dr. Edgar W. Knight, professor of education and director of the consolidated summer school of the University, who has just been elected president of the National Society of Teachers of Education at a meeting held in Atlantic City.

University Professor Is Elected By Teachers at Conference In Atlantic City.

Dr. Edgar W. Knight, professor of education and director of the consolidated summer school, who is recognized as one of the south's outstanding educators, has been elected president of the National Society of College Teachers of Education at its annual meeting in Atlantic City. His duties begin at once.

The purpose of this organization, which was formed in 1902, is to promote and improve the teaching of education in the colleges and universities of the United States. Its work comprises three general fields: problems in the administration departments of education, in the teaching and organization of courses in education, and problems of research in the general field of education.

Membership in the society is confined to teachers and administrators in recognized colleges and universities who are engaged in teaching and research in education.

Succeeds E. S. Evenden

Dr. Knight succeeds Dr. E. S. Evenden of Columbia University. Former presidents of the society include Dr. John Dewey of Columbia University, former Dean James E. Russell, of Teachers College, Columbia University; Dr. Paul H. Hanus of Harvard; Dr. Charles H. Judd of the University of Chicago; President Lotus D. Coffman of the University of Minnesota; Dean John W. Withers of New York University, and Dr. Frank P. Graves, commissioner of education of the state of New York.

Dr. Knight is a native of North Carolina. He was educated at Trinity College (now Duke University), where he received the degrees of A.B. in 1909 and A.M. in 1911. He received the Ph.D. from Columbia University in 1913. From 1913 to 1917 he served as professor of education in Trinity College.

Here Since 1919

In 1917 and 1918 he was superintendent af the Wake County schools, and from 1918-1919 he served as assistant educational director for the southeastern states, of the committee on education, and special training for the war plans division of the

(Continued on last page)

ORIGINAL DRAMAS END RUN TONIGHT

Student-Written Plays, as Playmakers Public Production, to Be Presented at 8:30.

Their "last nighter," the Playmakers' third performance of new Carolina plays, will come off tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Written recently in the University's playwrighting courses, the original dramas which will complete their three-night run tonight are Patsy McMullan's "Cottie Mourns," Ella Mae Daniel's "Yours and Mine," and Philip Parker's "Ancient Heritage."

Student Directors

Inaugurating the policy of having the production of originals directed by students, Alton Williams, Douglas Hume and Ella Mae Daniel are directing plays on the current bill.

"Yours and Mine" and "Cottie Mourns" were written by North Carolinians and Parker's "Ancient Heritage" by a New Englander. The latter play concerns the author's own New English aristocracy.

Quaintness to Whimsy

Miss McMullan's drama attempts to disclose folk belief, superstitions and vernacular of the fisher-folk on quaint Ocracoke Island off the sound of coke Island off the sound in North Carolina.

Miss Daniel's "Yours and Mine," is a play of young married life, a whimsical comedy of marital misunderstandings. The author has drawn much of her material from close observation of friends and acquaintances.

Critics of her play indicate that Miss Daniel might possibly have included her own self in the part of the young wife.

Summer Session Catalog

The summer session catalog will be released shortly, it was announced yesterday. Those people desiring to obtain copies are asked to write to Miss Glenn McLeod at 207 South building.

Infirmary List

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: W. P. Millis, Leighton Dudley, Sidney Holt, J. A. Brown, Ben Summerlin, and J. A. Spies.

Getting Your Paper?

The circulation staff of the campus publications has made a thorough canvass of Chapel Hill.

Any subscriber who did not receive a copy of the DAILY TAR HEEL yesterday or today, because the agent found no one at that address during the canvass, is asked to call at 203 Graham Memorial at 8:30 to 9:30 a. m. or 4 to 5 p. m., or to telephone 4356.

BUDGETEERS VOTE THREE TAX PLANS

Revenue Bill Adopted Will Run More Than $30,000,000.

Raleigh, March 1.—(UP)—Moving toward the adoption of a revenue bill, which the United Press learned will total somewhat more than $31,000,000, the joint finance committee of the North Carolina Legislature today adopted three important tax schedules.

One of them was a three per cent sales tax, with all exemptions and limits removed. The other two were chain store floor taxes and chain filling station taxes.

The vote on a three per cent sales tax as against a two per cent levy was 20 to 12. Anti-sales taxers are jubilant over this vote as an indication of the expected support of a lower tax levy or no sales tax at all when the bill reaches the floor.

The House of Representatives, meeting an hour earlier than usual, snarled itself in a hot debate on a measure to set up a new board for the regulation of beauty shops.

The House also received a Senate resolution to investigate the State Hospital for Insane at Morganton and referred it to the appropriations committee because the measure provides an expenditure of $500 for the investigation.

DEAN BOST SPEAKS

Acting Dean R. W. Bost of the applied science school addressed yesterday afternoon the Carbon Club, a society of the research faculty in organic chemistry.

The subject of Dr. Bost's speech was his research work in organic sulphur compounds and their relation to petroleum chemistry.

'Mae West Has Everything,' Says Alaskan---'But There's The Wife'

(By The United Press)

Mae West gave an ex-Yukon sourdough a bad case of goose-pimples tonight, but she failed to get away with his gold-nugget watch chain.

The sourdough, Martin Itjen—now street car magnate and chief undertaker at Skagway, Alaska—came all the way to Hollywood to see the lady who played the part of Diamond Lil in the movies.

Miss West agreed to a date. It took place in the presence of a battery of news photographers and press agents at the Paramount lot. The place was not private, but this did not seem to bother Martin.

"You Got Everything"

"Say," he murmured, stroking his handle-bar moustache while he cast an admiring eye over Mae's triple-expansion chassis. "You got everything I thought you had."

"Ummm—;" Mae let her eye rove over a string of nuggets the size of broken pie plates, which Martin wore across his chest. "Pretty, ain't them?"

Martin's face got red as a dingleberry.

"My wife give me that watch," he said, with some hesitation.

"Oh, she did? And how about the nuggets—I suppose she dug them out of the ground?"

Itjen shook his head. He was sorely tried.

"Say, Miss West, I'd take off everything else I got for you—but please don't ask me for them nuggets. My wife would shore'n hell miss 'em."

Miss West sighed.

"Okay, Mr. Itjen," she said. "But the next time you come up to see me, either don't wear 'em or bring your wife."

FERA DENIES AID TO THREE STATES

Withholds Funds Temporarily to Force States to Pay Share of Relief Costs.

Washington, March 1.—(UP)—The Federal Emergency Relief Administration resorted to drastic means today, withholding government aid temporarily from 750,000 persons in order to enforce the demand that individual states pay their share of the unemployment relief costs.

Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, it was learned authoritatively, is holding up the March allotments from Minnesota, Washington, and Idaho.

Plan to Aid China

The Washington state department is studying a plan under which the United States would join other nations to give financial aid to China, the United Press learned tonight.

Such a project would prevent Japan from entering into a lone hand agreement with China and possibly gaining exclusive privileges from it.

Shanghai dispatches reported that Japan and China are close to an agreement for co-operation in the Far East.

HOUSE GRANTS REQUESTS FOR DEPT. OF INTERIOR

Washington, March 1.—(UP)—The House of Representatives today passed the $58,765,000 appropriations bill providing money to run the interior department next year, ending a week of virtual inactivity.

The Senate did not meet today. Deadlocked with the White House over the $4,880,000,000 works relief bill, the upper House has only held three sessions this week.

Next week the House ways and means committee will begin its hearings on the soldiers' bonus legislation, with prospects that the issue will be brought out on the floor ahead of President Roosevelt's social security program.

ENROLLING BEGINS MONDAY, MARCH 11

Frosh and Sophs Failing in Fall Quarter Register March 25.

The spring quarter registration period will be March 11-16 for all students except those freshmen and sophomores who did not pass all their courses in the fall quarter of this year, Associate Registrar Ben Husbands announced yesterday.

Freshmen and sophomores who failed one or more courses during the fall quarter will register March 25. Classes begin March 26.

It is planned that the spring quarter class schedules will be available in 101 South building by Thursday of next week.

Before registering all students must obtain permit cards in 8 South building. These cards may be obtained in advance beginning Thursday.

Juniors and seniors in the college of liberal arts must obtain written statements from their major heads outlining their spring quarter courses before they can register.

Having obtained permit cards, students may begin registering March 11. They first go to the offices of their deans to prepare a course of studies. The process of registration is completed in 8 South building.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
George Underwood ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: JIM DANIEL

Saturday, March 2, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"Slot Machine Ruling Issued." And that's about the only thing that ever came out of one of 'em.

Tournament officials at Lexington are hereby requested to lay down their welcome mat for our wrestling team.

When you fail to receive your paper, call 4356. Further circulation trouble will be attributed to cold feet.

In Spite of This Ruling

Like a great many things done by the Student Council, the purpose of the resolution to allow the instructor "to drop in (the examination room) from time to time" is utterly obscure to us in spite of the glib explanation that each instructor has a "positive responsibility with respect to the honor system."

Why waste your time passing such rulings, Student Council? You are not giving the instructor a permission that he already has. You can't allow each instructor to drop in from time to time when he already has that privilege. What a small interpretation of the honor system! It was never intended to exclude instructors from the classroom. They are as free to come and go as the students themselves. The only relation the question of whether an instructor should be present in the classroom has to the honor system is that the instructor should not take the position of a monitor. Under the honor system, the students are guaranteed that it is their duty to report and convict cheaters. That guarantee does not preclude an instructor's presence, nor should the honor system be so interpreted. Do we have an honor system that trusts the students, but mistrusts the faculty?

As to the other "purpose" of the ruling, that it would make the instructor "readily available to be of assistance . . . to answer questions and insure the maintenance of order," what kind of ridiculous verbiage is that? Was there ever a time when the instructor was not available, or are we grossly uninformed? Our own experience is that we have never had an instructor so inconsiderate as not to be available for either of these purposes. He has always been at hand throughout our four years at the University, and he always will to those who take the trouble to find him at his office. What more "assistance" is necessary—unless, of course, we turn over the enforcement of the honor system to the instructor.

There might be some cause for alarm if the Council's ruling involved a change in the status quo of the honor system. Fortunately, the ruling is at least powerless to hurt it if, as we believe, the instructor uses his graciously given "permission" equally as graciously. There should, by all means, be no misapprehension of the ruling, that, for instance, it is intended to give the instructor the right to ferret out cheating by keeping an ever-vigilant eye on the students.

And so we say, why waste time passing such rulings? They inevitably lead to misunderstanding. In spite of the ruling, the student must remain the keystone of the honor system. If the Student Council changes that, they should resign.

Paging
Mr. Richberg

At its last meeting, the Phi Assembly went meandering off into what the DAILY TAR HEEL reporter styled a lengthy discussion and emerged from the exploration with a bill approving the New Deal. We weren't there and we anre not at all regretful for, to tell the truth, it seems to us rather vain for a group of undergraduates to pass long periods of time in discussion of a something known as the New Deal, the nature of which has baffled every political analyst in the country. The experts admit that they are frankly puzzled as to just what the New Deal is; some of them say that nobody knows whether it is animal, vegetable, or mineral; but the Phi will stay away from the library or the movies for hours at a time to sit in solemn judgment on the chimaera and in the end come forth with a final estimate of it, showing that the nature and intent of the beast is quite certain in their minds.

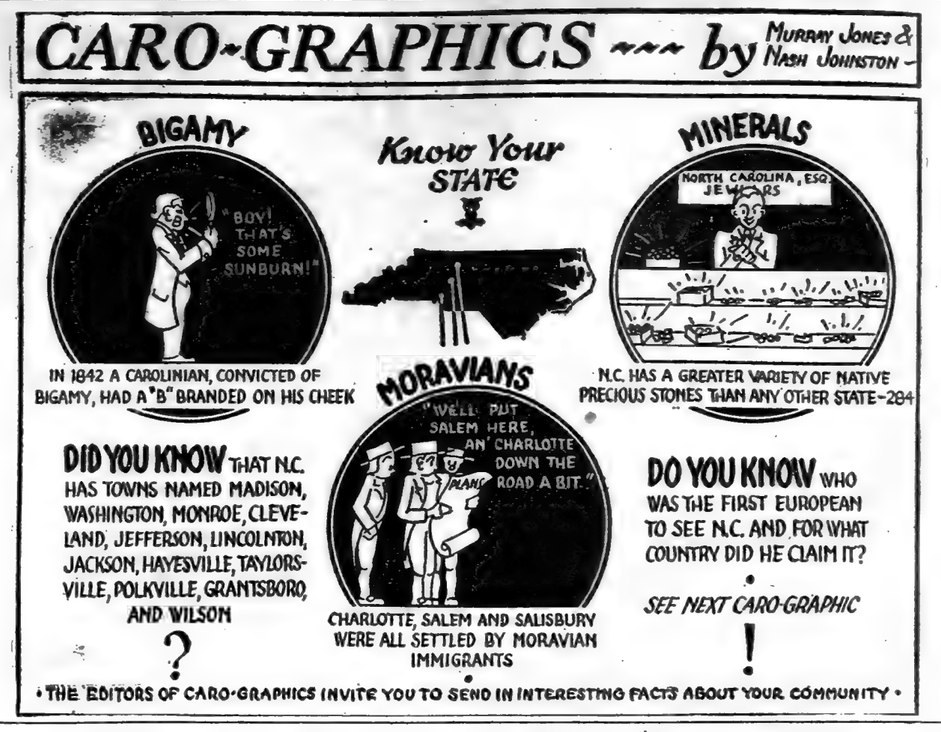
Of course we do not mean half of what we have said, and of course we are only trying, in our elephantine manner, to be playful with the Phi, a campus group whose past and potential worth we would by no means deprecate. But we do think our student forums are more than apt to take themselves too seriously, and that the Phi's New Deal bill was an example of this self-concern. After all, there is really very little the members could have said about the New Deal, since it is such a vague and enormous force in our government. It seems to us that our friends could have spent their time much better discussing less pretentious bills. There's a chance for a display of real wit in light discussions. Furthermore, it's by far warmer, more human, it seems to us, for college students to talk about a "little nonsense now and then" (which, so the old rhyme goes, is "relished by the best of men") than to sit in lengthy discussion on political forces, which are remote and problematical even to experts.

Weathering
The Storm

Dr. W. A. Jessup, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, made a prediction in the latest report of that organization which should greatly encourage the friends of the University. It is Dr. Jessup's belief that in the course of the evolution through which American colleges are passing, those which will be forced to lose ground, or to drop out of existence, will not be necessarily those with the least money.

Since the time when the University first began to feel the pinch of depression and was forced to cut its budget until nothing but an appropriation sufficient for bare existence remained, there has been circulating a belief that the University is in danger of losing much of the enviable reputation it has earned as a first-rate American college. The reasoning of those who think this must be based entirely upon the specious proposition that the chances for an institution's success vary directly with the wealth of that institution.

In the last three years Carolina has managed to weather one of the severest famines it has ever had to face. Faculty salaries were cut terrifically; the entire University felt the effects of a thin purse equally as much. Yet, by tightening its belt a few notches, the University managed to pull through and now that the state is in a position to begin the gradual return to pre-depression appropriations, it finds itself lean but alive. Appropriations are necessary to the well-being of the University, but it bears out the prediction that wealth is not necessary to its life.



Department
Of Peace

Senator Nye's statement Sunday night that the United States should have a department of peace in the President's cabinet, corresponding to the department of war, is a sound proposal.

Uncle Sam's present program of national defense is woefully unbalanced. We prepare for war, not peace. We have governmental departments that spend billions of dollars to "defend" our country when arbitration breaks down and hostilities occur. But we make no provision for a federal organization to prevent war.

Kirby Page has estimated that a national peace department, designed to build friendship between nations and to re-orientate the minds of people in this country away from war, would require a budget of approximately 100 million dollars. This seemingly prodigious amount is only the price of two and a half battleships. It is only one-seventh of the annual expenditures of our army. It is less than the annual pay of of our navy and marines. And it is only one-thousandth of the ultimate cost of the World War to this country.

Some such governmental program of peace education, as advocated by Senator Nye, is needed. Only through a federal organization, preparing for peace by developing understanding between nations and a public consciousness of peace, can the machinery of international arbitration function efficiently and the basic cause of war be eliminated.

By WALTER TERRY

It is all very well for the Carolina Playmakers to present the plays of Noel Coward, the Capek brothers, or Gilbert and Sullivan; the audiences want and expect these dramas. But the real importance and deserved fame of the Carolina Playmakers lie in their original plays, written, directed and acted by students. Hence we come to the most important production of the Playmaker season, the fortieth bill of new plays.

The present bill of plays exemplifies the worth of the experimental theatre, and presents in miniature form the same type of work done by the early independent theatres of France and Ireland.

"Ancient Heritage" and "Cottie Mourns" far surpass in dramatic intensity and in clever comedy the one-act plays of Paul Green that the Playmakers still present on tour.

"Yours and Mine," the first play of the evening is a harmless little domestic comedy, never very funny, but never dull, and that's about all that can be said for it. The acting was in accordance with the worth of the play with the exception of Miss Ellen Deppe, who, towards the end of the play, forgot her self-consciousness, and turned in a nice bit of comedy acting.

In Philip Parker's "Ancient Heritage" we find a play lacking in physical action, but potent in its stillness, a drama in which two women struggle against a pride built on 300 years of traditional emotions, and from this battle against an ancient heritage there arises a conflict between the two sisters, a conflict between want and pride. Parker has taken this tremendous conflict, and never letting it get out of his control, has made of it a one-act play, complete and unified and dramatically sound. Slowly with an ever increasing element of foreboding the play builds up to a tremendous climax, ending a tragedy that this reviewer believes to be the finest presented by the Playmakers within the last four years.

Miss Mildred Howard gave a superb characterization of Carrie. Her every move and her voice were perfect, and the difficult role of the slightly deranged but proud Carrie came to life on the stage. Miss Jane Cover's interpretation of Sarah was almost as fine as Miss Howard's. She sat in one chair throughout the play, and yet the power of her character was constantly felt. Towards the end of the play in the tensely dramatic scene with Carrie, Miss Cover gave a performance of emotional acting that never once faltered in its rise to the play's tremendous climax.

The evening came to a close with Miss Patsy McMullan's "Cottie Mourns," a riotous comedy of the fisherfolk on Ocracoke Island. The situation is amusing and the lines clever, but it is the accent of the characters that makes this play a comedy of constant laughs. Miss McMullan's characters are believable, although they are, of course, exaggerated for theatre presentation.

The parts were well played; particularly Miss Mildred McMullan, who gave a delicately asinine interpretation of the role of Nellie Merkle Beasly.

With more plays as fine as these, the Playmakers would do well to forget the already successful Broadway playwrights, and spend more time in developing the native drama, which, the reviewer believes, is the only reason for their existence.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:00: The Political Situation in Washington—F. W. Wile, WBT.

1:15: George Hall orch., WBT.

2:00: Metropolitan Opera, WPTF; Louis Panico's orch., WBT.

5:00: Little Jack Little orch., WBT.

6:00: Dick Messner orch., WBT.

6:30: Eddie Dooley's Sports Review, WBT.

7:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

7:30: Jamboree, variety music, WEAF.

8:00: Sigmund Romberg, composer-conductor; Wm. Lyon Phelps, narrator, WLW; Roxy's Gang, WABC, KMOX.

8:30: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

9:00: Richard Bonelli, tenor; Kestelanetz orch., WBT; Frank Black's Radio City Party, WPTF, KDKA.

9:30: Richard Himber's orch., Joey Nash, vocalist, WBT; Wayne King orch., WGN.

9:45: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

10:00: Minneapolis Sym. orch., WBT.

10:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

10:30: "Our Confiscatory Income Taxes"—Samuel Untermeyer, speaker, WJZ; 3-hour Dance Prgm., WLW, WEAF;

(Continued on last page)

Casual Correspondent
by Nelson Lansdale

SEASONAL NOTE

This is a lugubrious time of the year for a columnist. He is supposed to spend his time trying to drown sorrows that have already learned to swim while everybody around him complains of the monotony of the winter quarter, mournfully reviews the panorama of wasted years lying behind a comprehensive, or enters soulfully into the task of doing a full quarter's work in the remaining three weeks of it. Nobody has either the time or the inclination to tell your correspondent funny stories, and his own observations these days are pretty well limited to the area of the books just beyond his nose. More than that, the weather's been as glum as the people. As somebody agilely leaping the puddle between Old and New West remarked, it rains more in Chapel Hill for the size of the town than any place else in America.

A GOOD WOMAN, POOR THING

A young lady reports a conversation she overheard in one of the Chapel Hill beauty shops recently. One of the girls at the shack had just had a permanent, and was about to get under the drier. It seems that the drier is an electric device which makes so much noise that you can't hear anything while you're under it, but you can talk and still be heard. Just before our co-ed stuck her head under it, she noticed a frowsy country woman who had come in to ask about a permanent.

While the machine was roaring over our co-ed, the conversation between the hair-dresser and the country woman somehow switched from permanent waves to babies. Of this, of course, the co-ed was unaware. Thinking she'd boost the beauty-shop business a little, she proceeded to advise the country woman on permanents. She interrupted the conversation on babies to shout from under the drier: "The morning's the best time to have one—and they're very good if you have them here. Of course, you can't always have them in the morning, but they're a lot less trouble then. The first one's always the worst, but after you've had five or six, you don't mind it at all. I've been having them ever since I was ten."

QUEER PEOPLE

Carl Thompson happened into a student's room the other evening, to find a table prepared somewhat in the fashion of an altar. On it were three candles, lighted, and three incense burners, smoking. The boy—we don't think his name is necessary—whom Carl was looking

(Continued on last page)

White Phantoms And W.&L. To Play Basketball Finals

Carolina Rallies To Whip State, 30-28; W.&L. Upsets Duke Blue Devils, 31-27

NELSON BREAKS TIE NEAR FINISH OF GREAT GAME

Red Terrors Run up 11-1 Margin At Start; Lead at Half, 16-13; 28-28 at Final Minute.

(Special to the DAILY TAR HEEL)

Memorial Auditorium, Raleigh, March 1. — Carolina's White Phantoms were forced to stage another great uphill fight to finally overtake and beat State here tonight, 30-28. The victory sent the top seeded Tar Heels into the finals of the Southern Conference tourney.

Mel Nelson, crack shooting forward, sank a long basket during the final minute of play to break a 28-28 tie and gave the winners their margin.

The dreaded Red Terrors jumped off fast at the start with a short-passing combination that completely bewildered their opponents for 13 minutes. Led by Aycock, the Wolfpack ran up a 11-1 lead before Carolina could get a action tally.

Nelson Starts Phantoms

With Kaveny now in the game Nelson finally broke the Carolina lethergy with its first good action shot and sent his team on a spree which cut the State margin to 16-13 by halftime.

An extraordinary backhand by Captain Aitken brought Carolina within one point of the Red Terrors soon after the second half got underway. Then Jim McCachren took the ball from Flythe and dribbled the length of the floor to get a crip on a beautiful play; this put the White Phantoms in front for the first time, 17-16.

State was far from beat yet as Lambeth and Aycock counted in quick succession, putting their team ahead once more. 20-17. One free throw by Glace and two by Nelson tied the count: Captain Aitken and Paul Kaveny shot long ones and Nelson got two more fouls giving the White Phantoms a 26-20 margin.

Rex Goes Out

Captain Ray Rex was forced out of the tilt because of excessive fouls at this point with five minutes left to go.

The Carolina-State battle of a week ago was again repeated as the Red Terrors put on a closing rally in an effort to grab the contest. Headed by Lambeth, the Wolfpack tied the score at 28-28 within two minutes of the end. Aycock, Lambeth's mate at the forwards, shot the deadlocking crip.

Then came Nelson's two-pointer which concluded the scoring.

Carolina's 14 good fouls out of 20 tries accounted for the real margin of victory, as State led in field goals, 11-8. The Red Terrors were able to make only six free throws count.

Mel Nelson continued to be the big scorer for the winners, this time making 13 points; he got seven of his scores through foul shots.

The entire Carolina team played loose ball most of the game, failing to show anything like the form that carried it through South Carolina last night. Along with Nelson's scoring, Jim McCachren's floor game was the highlight.

Lambeth's speed headed State during its final rally. He and the other forward, Aycock, divided scoring honors with eight apiece.

U. N. C. over State

CAROLINA (30)	FG	F	T
Aitken, f	2	2	6
Nelson, f	3	7	13
Glace, c	1	4	6
McCachren, g	1	0	2
Harris, g	0	1	1
Kaveny, g	1	0	2
Totals	8	14	30

STATE (28)	FG	F	T
Aycock, f	3	2	8
Lambeth, f	3	2	8
Flythe, c	2	1	5
Rex, g	2	1	5
Dalrymple, g	0	0	0
Hockfield, g	1	0	2
C. Womble, g	0	0	0
Totals	11	6	28

Half score: N. C. State—16; North Carolina—13. Personal fouls committed: State—Aycock 1; Flythe 3; Rex 4; Hockfield 3; Dalrymple 1; Womble 1. Carolina—Aitken 1; Glace 2; McCachren 2; Kaveny 2. Free throws missed: State—Lambeth 2; Flythe 2. Carolina—Nelson 1; Glace 5. Officials: Menton (Loyola); Proctor (Richmond "Y").

W. & L. Upsets Duke

W. & L. (31)	FG	F	T
Ellis, f	1	0	2
Pette, f	2	2	6
Woodward, f	0	0	0
Smith, c	3	5	11
Feld, g	3	1	7
Iler, g	1	3	5
Totals	10	11	31

DUKE (27)	FG	F	T
Riley, f	0	0	0
Huiskamp, f	1	3	5
Kunkle, f	4	1	9
Bell, f	2	1	5
Herrick, c	0	0	0
Naktenis, c	3	0	6
Cheek, g	0	0	0
Podger, g	0	0	0
Polack, g	1	0	2
Wentz, g	0	0	0
Totals	11	5	27

Score at half: Washington and Lee 16; Duke 10.

Officials: Proctor (Richmond "Y"); Knight (Durham "Y").

TILT FOR CROWN WILL START AT 8

Top-Seeded Challenger to Battle Defending Champions; Phantoms Have Beat Club.

For the second year in succession the W. and L. Cagers have upset their way into the Southern Conference finals and it now is a question whether the White Phantoms can do what Duke has failed to during the last couple of years. The defender and top-seeded challenger will battle for the championship at 8 o'clock.

In the only meeting of the two outfits during the regular season, the Tar Heels just managed to whip the champions, 36-34 in a fast battle. Two guards led the attack of the respective teams, Jim McCachren topping Carolina with 12 points while Field tallied eight.

The Generals are hot again and will probably take a slight edge in betting because of Carolina's unimpressive victory over State.

Four of the ten White Phantoms represented at the tourney will be playing their last cage tilt for Carolina. Captain Snooks Aitken, Jason Glace, Bucky Harris, and Ike Minor all complete their eligibility.

SEND THE DAILY TAR HEEL HOME

GENERALS TAKE EARLY LEAD ON DUKE RESERVES

Winners Flash Fast Passing; Smith Tops Scoring with 11.

Memorial Auditorium, March 1.—Washington and Lee continued their winning ways here tonight and chalked up their second upset of the Southern Conference tournament, downing Duke, 31-27.

Paced by Joe Pette and Pivot Man Smith, the Generals took the lead from the very first minute and kept pace with the Blue Devils the whole length of the game. Duke tied the Generals several times early in the game, but the winners gradually pulled away.

Duke started their second team and the Generals immediately marked up a 5-0 lead. After about eight minutes of play the first Devil five entered the game. They outplayed the Generals for the next 10 minutes, but weakened just before the half to trail 16-10.

Washington and Lee opened strong in the second period and piled up a large advantage which was never overcome. Duke's desperate rally in the last moments netted six points but could not match the Virginians.

Smith, hefty center, was high scorer of the game with 11 points, six coming from action. He was particularly deadly on shots from under the basket. Field and Pette were the other offense stars, and Ellis and Iler came in for their share of honor on defense. The whole General team played heads-up ball, with their passing, floor-work and shooting being excellent.

Duke could not find the hoop and their passing was considerably off form. Charlie Kunkle led the offense with nine points, followed by Naktenis. Podger was the star of the defense. Both Riley and Naktenis were ejected from the game on account of fouls.

CAROLINA READY FOR MEET HERE NEXT SATURDAY

Best Trackmen of South and Nation Will Take Part in Conference Indoor Games.

ELABORATE PREPARATION

Some of the best trackmen in the south and the nation will assemble here next Saturday for the sixth annual Southern Conference indoor games, included in a spectacular field of upwards of 40 teams and 400 individual performers.

All 10 members of the Southern Conference will be represented, at least eight teams in the non-conference, 14 or more in the scholastic class, and teams from practically every conference and non-conference school in the freshman division.

The games committee, headed by R. A. Fetzer, Carolina athletic director, is speeding plans for one of the largest and most successful meets ever held. The Tin Can, Carolina's big indoor arena, is being outfitted for the games. Carpenters are laying the tracks, painters lining the floor, and a host of workmen are engaged in putting the trimmings for the classic.

Many Stars

With a contingent of feature performers including such stars as Widmyer of Maryland, Tarrall of Duke, Pritchard of Virginia Tech, and Hubbard of Carolina in the sprints, Everett and McDonald of Virginia, Slye of Maryland, and Hawthorne of Carolina in the hurdles, Williamson and McRae of Carolina, Mothershead of Virginia Tech, and St. John of Virginia in the mile, slated to lead the field and match brilliant performances, records are expected to tumble in several events.

North Carolina, defending champion, will be hard pressed to hold the indoor title in face of such teams as Virginia, Duke, and Maryland. These institutions will present full teams of

(Continued on last page)

Badmington Takes Foothold In Chapel Hill; Club Formed

Game Slipped in Here Secretly at Night but Club Now Has 25 Members; Started in United States 50 Years Ago; Badmington Is Slower Than Tennis but Requires Much Skill.

By LEN RUBIN

Did you ever put everything you had into an effort and then in dismay realize that the end did not justify the means? That was the primary impression that came to this correspondent upon his first attempt at mastering the art of badmington, the other evening in the Tin Can.

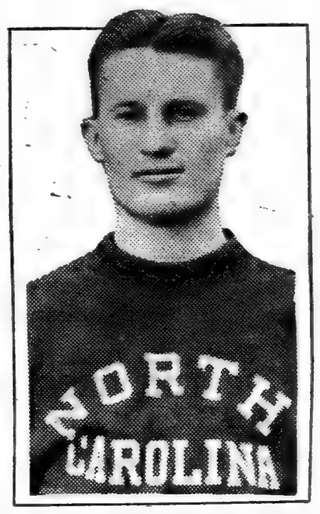
Badmington in Chapel Hill? Surely by now the school is aware of its presence for it is slowly seeping into the confines of this town. The Tin Can is the shrouded scene of Badmington's stealthy advance, for twice weekly a newly formed badmington club of Chapel Hill invades the deserted Tin Can after nightfall and in its deadly silence, the members prance about to their heart's content in earnest pursuit of a cruising pellet.

Professors, townspeople, and members of the tennis varsity have for the past month pounded the bird, or "shuttle-cock" with might and will in an attempt to perfect a game of badmington.

The club, composed of twenty-five members, including many professors and their wives, was formed early in January and has continued at a merry pace. It was only a few days ago that a team, led by Coach Kenfield, of tennis and golf fame, and Larry Flynn, both prominent members of the club, ushered the club into competitive existence by vanquishing an experienced team at Pinehurst.

To return to the game of badmington, there is no doubt that it is gaining foothold in all parts of the country. A motion picture, which was shown in Chapel Hill some time ago, entitled, "Good Badmington," gave actual proof of the height of perfection that may be attained in this sport. Students are yet gasping over the tremendous power and speed displayed by the national champion as he pounded the frail bird from corner to corner.

Originated Way Back



It took hold in the United States some fifty years ago, and the Americans, after absorbing some terrible beatings at the hands of the experienced Canadians, gradually built their games to a point that renders them on a par with the finest players in the world today.

The meager attempts of a no-

(Continued on last page)

Capt. Efland And Frank Umstead Beaten In First Bouts Of Mat Tourney

Phantom Coach

Coach Bo Shepard of the Carolina White Phantoms who is after his first Southern Conference championship tonight to add to his two Big Five titles acquired during four years of coaching. This is his second team to reach the finals.

Tournament Shorts

Mel Nelson, sharp-shooting Tar Heel forward, is leading the scoring in the Southern Conference tourney. With his 13 points Thursday and his 13 yesterday, he is far ahead of the second man. Joe Pette has totaled 20, 14 of which came Thursday to make him game high scorer.

Jason Glace has totaled 17, Snooks Aitken, and Smith of W. and L., 14 each. All these men play tonight. Of the men already eliminated, Charlie Aycock of State has 20 points.

North Carolina and North Carolina State put on the best exhibition to date, as far as closeness is concerned. Tied up at 28-all with only 60 seconds left to play, Mel Nelson got the ball, dribbled to just outside the foul circle, stopped, aimed for a second, and then flipped in the winning goal—not even touching the rim.

Sammy Bell, star midget Duke forward, has been the only man ejected from a game, other than for fouls. It happened that he and Joe Pette of W. and L. hit the floor at the same place in a mad scramble for the ball. When they got up, Pette smiled and Bell did not. Referee "Footsie" Knight called time out on himself and gave Sammy a little talk. Huiskamp came in as Bell retired.

Lath "Loud Speaker" Morris was on hand again last night, with his whole set of vocal boxes. Rooting for Carolina from start to finish, he nearly tumbled down the balcony with the vibrations of his call. He gave fifteen "rahs" (and what rahs"!) for Bo Shepard, the whole Carolina team, "Footsie," Proctor, Duke, State, this and that. He put on a show of about fifteen minutes between the games, yelling at the top of his voice the whole time. What a man!

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Elsie Lawrence of Chapel Hill and Evelyn Barker of Burlington have been elected delegates to the annual conference of the southeastern district of the Athletic Federation of College Women on March 21, 22, and 23 at the Woman's College of the University in Greensboro.

BONNER AND WARD ADVANCE ON BYES

Stevenson of Duke Conquers Umstead by 4:18 Decision; Efland Loses by 1:41.

GENERALS TAKE MARGIN

Washington and Lee College, Lexington, Va., March 1.—Two of Carolina's hopes for Southern Conference wrestling crowns fell by the wayside here today in the first round of the annual tourney as Frank Umstead, 118-pounder, lost a time decision to Stevenson of Duke, and Captain Efland, 165-pounder, went down before Seitz of W. and L.

Only four classes had enough entries to require preliminary bouts and as a result the DAILY TAR HEEL got no report on the two other Carolinians in the tourney, Allen Bonner and Melvin Ward. The finals will be held tonight.

Captain Efland put up a great scrap before dropping the match to Seitz. The General star was just one minute and 41 seconds ahead at the finish.

Umstead was greatly weakened as a result of making weight but nevertheless barely missed pinning his opponent on several occasions. Stevenson had four minutes and 18 seconds as a result of one long stay on top.

Thomas, the Generals' bantamweight, furnished the thrill

(Continued on last page)

BASEBALL SQUAD TAKES WORKOUTS

Coach Hearn Is Getting Pitchers And Catchers in Condition; Will Miss Star Hurlers.

After two weeks of daily drills baseball pitchers and catchers under the direction of Coach Bunn Hearn are beginning to take on some form and conditioning. With the winter sports coming to a close Coach Hearn will likely call out the rest of his squad within a short time.

Coach Hearn, a former big league southpaw hurler, expects to encounter the greatest amount of trouble in the pitching department as he attempts to build another Southern Conference title nine.

At the present time last spring's three mainstays, Fred Crouch, Nate Andrews, and Mack McKeithan, are all missing. There is a chance that Crouch and McKeithan will be back but Andrews, twice conqueror of Duke, has finished his career.

Norman McCaskill, last year's catcher who was signed by the New York Yankees, will also be missing. However, Jim Tatum, 200-pound football star, will probably take over the backstop duties. He turned in a fine record under Coach Hearn at Kinston last summer.

Leo Manley, a reserve last season, is the only letter twirler working out at present. The outstanding pitchers coming up from last year's freshman team are Bunn Hearn, Jr., and Wright, a Chapel Hill boy.

This year's nine will have a great record to uphold when it takes the diamond. The 1934 club won 21 tilts out of 22 and as a result was way ahead in the Southern Conference and Big Five races. Duke handed Carolina its lone setback although being defeated by the Tar Heels in two other games.

Nini Theilade Adds To Scandinavian Poise Exoticism Of Orient

Ex-Sultan of Java, Danish Clergymen, Are Among 19-Year-Old Dancer's Antecedents.

The heritage of Nini Theilade, brilliant young dancer who is coming here Wednesday evening for a recital on the student entertainment series, gives her a rare combination of the exoticism of the east, Latin grace and a touch of Scandinavian stability.

On her mother's side she is a direct descendant of the ex-Sultan of Java—in fact, she is his great granddaughter. Her mother married Hans Theilade, a Danish planter who had come to Java, and who, through two generations of Danish clergymen was descended from the French Admiral H. Thaylade.

Nini was born in Java, but at the age of nine was brought to Denmark by her parents. At Copenhagen she was enrolled in Asta Mollerup's private ballet school.

Danced for Reinhardt

She advanced so rapidly and such confidence was expressed in her future that in 1928 her mother brought her to Paris, where she continued her studies under Madame Egorowa, who has been prima ballerina of the St. Petersburg ballet. It was here that Pavlowa first saw her and arranged for her debut, which was followed by Max Reinhardt's inviting her to become leading dancer in his great productions.

In her recitals, Mlle. Theilade dances to the music of all the great composers, both classic and modern, among them Mozart, Debussy, Brahms, Liszt, Mendelssohn, Sibelius and Delibes. She has created all of her own dances.

Dr. Knight

(Continued from page one)

general staff. Since 1919 he has been professor of education in the University of North Carolina.

He was appointed Fellow of the Social Science Research Council in 1925-1926 to study rural and folk high schools of Scandinavia. He was a member of the Florida education survey staff and made a study of the rural schools of that state. In 1930-1931 he was a member of a special commission sent to China by the institute of social and religious research to study educational conditions in that country, and in 1932 he went to Iraq (Mesopotamia) as a member of an educational inquiry commission to assist that country in preparing a public school system. For several years he has given courses in the summer session of Columbia University. He is the author of a number of books concerning the history of education and modern educational practices, and is a frequent contributor to magazines on educational and social subjects.

Opera Broadcast Today

A broadcast of the popular opera "La Sonnambula" by Belini from the Metropolitan Opera House in New York may be heard in the choral room of Hill Music hall, at 1:40 p. m. today.

Kappa Sig Pledge

W. J. G. Davis of Washington, D. C., has pledged Kappa Sigma, the dean of students' office announced yesterday.

"We Got Wings"

Smiling Myrna Loy and Cary Grant, perhaps crooning "All God's Chillun" to get in the spirit of "Wings in the Dark" which plays at the Carolina theatre today.

HI-ROCKET GETS HUME CUP AWARD

Durham High School Newspaper Wins State Contest.

"The Hi-Rocket," official newspaper of the Durham high school, was announced today as winner of first place and the annual Thomas Hume cup in the annual high school journalism contest conducted by the extension division of the University.

Other high school papers competing included "Ni-News" of Goldsboro, "Pine Whispers" of the R. J. Reynolds high school of Winston-Salem, and "The Pointer," of the High Point high school.

Announcement of the winner was made by E. Ralph Rankin, secretary of the contest committee. Judges were Professors W. F. Thrall and Phillips Russell.

The contest was inaugurated in 1926-27 by an alumni committee headed by George Stephens, then one of the co-publishers of the Asheville Citizen, in memory of thela te Thomas Hume, a celebrated professor of English in the University.

The school winning the most times in 10 years will get permanent possession of the cup, and in the event of a tie the two schools standing highest will compete for another year.

Previous winners have been Greensboro (1927-28-29-30), Durham (1931), High Point (1932), and Durham (1933 and 1934).

Track Tournament

(Continued from page three)

individual stars and record holders.

The non-conference division is expected to furnish a stellar list of performers, some of whom doubtlessly will rival the conference stars in brilliancy. With a diminution in the strength of Catholic University, defending champion, William and Mary is rated the strongest in this class. Considerable opposition, however, will be supplied by Georgetown, Richmond, and Furman Universities, Presbyterian, Davidson, and Wake Forest Colleges.

Comprehensives

The English department will hold its comprehensive examinations in 201 Murphey today at 9 a. m. and 2 p. m.

Students will bring two small quiz books for the morning session and one large one for afternoon use. No typewriters will be allowed.

New Rho Chi Members

Laomie Gilbert, Jr., and H. C. Reaves, junior pharmacy students, are the latest additions to the Rho Chi fraternity, honorary pharmacy society. Membership into this society is determined by scholarship.

WITH THE CHURCHES

Baptist

10 a. m.—Student class taught by M. J. Hagood.

10 a. m.—Co-ed class taught by Mrs. E. T. Howell.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon—Dr. O. T. Binkley. Topic: "Words that Keep Men on Their Feet."

7 p. m.—B. Y. P. U. for college students.

7 p. m.—Young People's Society for high school students.

Presbyterian

10 a. m.—Student class taught by Rev. W. M. Cooper. Topic: "Is Christianity Practicable?"

11 a. m.—Service will be conducted by students from Greensboro and Chapel Hill divisions of the University. Mary Woodard, president of the Y. W. C. A., and Marion McDowell, vice-president, will speak on the topics: "Which Way Student Life?" and "A Student Looks at Christianity." Scott Hunter and Lawrence Fountain, students here, will speak as follows: "A Student Looks at the World," and "A Student Looks at Religion."

7 p. m.—Student Forum—guest speaker, Dean R. B. House. Topic: "Education and the Religious Life."

8 p. m.—Community Forum—Dr. Wm. N. Poteat of Raleigh. Topic: "Gandhi and the Policy of Non-Violence."

United

10 a. m.—Student Bible class. Topic: "Ways of Looking at New Life."

11 a. m.—Sermon—Dr. W. J. McKee. Topic: "Social Aspect of Prayer."

7 p. m.—Student Forum led by W. S. Wilder. Topic: "The Liquor Question in North Carolina."

Lutheran
(Graham Memorial)

10:15 a. m.—Sunday school discussion group led by Woodford Sink.

11 a. m.—Service—Rev. Roscoe B. Fisher. Topic: "The Divided House."

Episcopal

8 a. m.—Holy Communion.

11 a. m.—Service and sermon—Dr. A. S. Lawrence.

7 p. m.—Young People's Service League.

8 p. m.—Prayers and organ music.

Methodist

9:45 a. m.—Sunday school.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon—Rev. W. A. Jenkins. Topic: "The Secret of Successful Christian Living."

7 p. m.—Student Forum discussion led by Phillips Russell. Topic: "Report on Brussels Conference."

Mat Tourney

(Continued from page three)

of the first round by defeating Bell of State through a 50-second fall.

Three W. and L. boys, two Duke, and one State advanced by wins in the first round.

The summary follows:

118—Stevenson (Duke) defeated Umstead (UNC) time advantage four minutes, 18 seconds. Thomas (W. & L.) defeated Bell (State) fall in 50 seconds.

135—Krach (State) defeated Adkins (VPI) time advantage one minute, 20 seconds.

145—Ardolino (Duke) defeated Captain Broyles (VPI) fall, 25 seconds, first period; Shively (W. & L.) defeated Canup (State) time advantage, six minutes, 44 seconds.

165—Seitz (W. & L.) defeated Captain Efland (UNC) advantage one minute, 41 seconds.

Library Gets New Projecting Machine For "Film Books;" Device Economical

In the year 1960 you may be able to carry around a whole set of the Encyclopedia Britannica in your pocket; you may possibly read the latest best seller by pushing a roll of film beneath the lens of a film projector; you may be collecting rolls of film as you now collect books.

The occasion for the above burst of prophesy is the acquisition by the library of a new $138 film projector for use by professors and graduate students. This machine is expected to save the graduate students much money, as the photo-static process now in use for reproducing rare and valuable manuscripts is much more expensive, costing 25c per page, whereas the filming process costs only 1 1-2c per page.

Safety Film

When asked if the high inflammability of the film wouldn't endanger the library, R. B. Downs, librarian, said that a new type of film called Acetate had been developed which is much safer and more durable then the film used by movie houses. Acetate does not employ nitrate, which is used in movie film. Various ageing tests show it to last as long as any paper made today and to remain clearer than any other type film.

One great service the new "film-books" will render the library, according to Downs, is in the conservation of space. A whole volume of the New York Times can be contained in a very small roll of film and, as the Times puts out 24 huge volumes each year, the space saved would be considerable.

"It is interesting to note," said Librarian Downs, "that in form the possible book-of-the-future is a throw-back to the papyrus rolls and leather scrolls of ancient times."

Downs said that while some authorities think that this form of "book" will eventually take the place of the book as we know it, he doubts that this will take place. He said that if it does, it will be in the remote future.

Craig Lecture

(Continued from page one)

it goes . . .") from Julius Caesar. In his effort to explain to himself this passage, he stumbled upon a work by Jerome Cardan, an Italian physician of the 16th century, entitled "Cardan's Comfort," which had been translated into English by the time of Shakespeare, and which was intended to be a book of consolation for men in trouble as was Hamlet, and as are many thinking people of the modern world.

Craig proceeded to point out numerous parallel passages between the play and the philosophical work. Where Hamlet says, "There's nothing either good nor bad, but thinking makes it so," Cardan's phrasing for the same Stoical concept is: "A man is nothing but his mind." In the light of this and many other passages of which the thought and wording is closely allied, Craig believes that the individual psychology of Hamlet may have been over-stressed by modern critics, and that Hamlet's difficulties may best be interpreted as the struggles of a great universal hero caught in the toils of grief. Craig does not believe then, that Hamlet is a weakling, but that he shares the common fate of all men laden with bereavement.

Badmington

(Continued from page three)

vice to tempt the unwilling bird across the net are pitiful at first, but soon the knack comes, and after throwing heart and soul into a dreadful wallop, the bird can be coaxed to barely reach the opponent. To hit it beyond the base line seems to border upon the verge of the impossible, but soon that is also accomplished, and the game of badmington takes on the appearance of an enjoyable sport.

It lacks the clarity and smoothness of tennis but is brilliant in its own way. The arc of the bird as it ascends as a lob, and the thud of the racquet as a player kills for a point, are both music to a sportsman's eye and ear. Tennis, however, seems to have the polish to each volley that the abrupt flight of the shuttle-cock prohibits.

In conclusion, let it be said that admiration is bound to go still higher in the estimation of sport lovers. Yet, it is surprising to note that the student body as a whole slumbered while badmington, accompanied by the whining of the shuttle-cocks, took possession of the Tin Can and a large part of the faculty's sleep.

Casual Correspondent

(Continued from page two)

for was out, but his roommate explained: "This is the anniversary of the death of Keats, and he and two of his friends were communing."

OUR NEIGHBORS TO THE NORTH

John Frederic Butler, regular contributor to both the Carolina Magazine and the Finjan, reports that he saw a catalogue from Columbia University addressed to the "University of North Carolina, Durham, N. C." From one great university to another, heh-heh.

TEE HEE

On the board in the classroom where the English department's Dr. Johnny Booker teaches his Victorian Lit, he found this inscription the other day:

"Johnny B., he Sez we Gotta pernownce Idylls
To rime with victuals."

For the benefit of posterity, in the form of the class next period, "Johnny B." wrote:

"The words are my own;
The rhymes are my students."

ENTERTAINING THE ISLANDERS

In connection with Patsy McMullan's play of the fisher-folk of Ocracoke Island, "Cottie Mourns," you might like to hear a little of their dialect as referred to this department by Lonnie Dill. One of the "banker" girls asked a tall, rangy fellow-islander to buy her a "hor-rn o' cream" (in American, ice cream cone) or to set her up to something.

The rangy gentleman eyed his shifting feet, and replied: "Oi'll take ye insoid and run a pop intew ye, but that's all Oi'm a-gunna dew, fer Oi'm a married man."

Snavely, Saunders Will Visit Alumni

Coach Carl Snavely and Alumni Secretary Maryon Saunders will begin a three weeks speaking tour of alumni clubs in the state Tuesday when they go to Monroe to address a reorganization meeting of the Union County old grads.

C. M. "Tally" Redfern, a recent graduate, and C. Herndon Hasty are Monroe alumni leading the re-formation of the Union County club.

The University speakers will attend the regular winter meeting of the Rowan County alumni in Salisbury Friday.

During the following week they will visit the Lee County former Carolina students in Sanford, March 14, and Buncombe County alumni March 19 in Asheville.

State Public Works Report

In the report of the North Carolina public works projects for the week ending February 23, the following report of expenditures was sent out from the office of Dean H. G. Baity, state engineer for the PWA:

Water works	$679,220
Sewers	520,150
Streets and highways	116,370,795
Heavy engineering structures	4,771,000
Buildings (schools)	5,093,350
Buildings (all others)	3,742,877.86
Power (electricity, gas, etc.)	990,000
Airports and landing fields	860,000
Grade crossings	6,400,500
Recreation	217,500
Drainage (flood control, irrig., reclamation)	506,720
Miscellaneous	2,741,500
Cumulative totals thru Feb. 23	$142,893,612.86

These projects are being reviewed by a planning board selected by Governor Ehringhaus.

Serving on this board are: Capus Waynick, chairman of the board and state highway commissioner; R. Bruce Etheridge, director of the state department of conservation and development; Dr. H. W. Odum, member of the University faculty; Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer Magazine; Colonel Harrelson, dean of administration at State College; and Clyde Erwin, state superintendent of schools.

Radio Broadcasts

(Continued from page two)

California Melodies, WBT.

10:45: Guy Lombardo orch, WJZ.

11:00: Glen Gray orch., WBT, WABC; Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

11:30: Wayne King orch., WGN.

12:15: Cab Calloway orch., WABC, WHAS.

12:30: Hal Kemp orch., WJZ, KDKA.

12:45: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

Publication Questionnaires

All members of the Finjan and Tar Heel business staffs are asked to bring their questionnaires to the Finjan office between 5 and 6 p. m. today, whether or not they are completed. They may be given to Bernard Solomon or Bill MacDonald.

WANTED

Two copies of Feb. 14 issue of the DAILY TAR HEEL and three copies of Feb. 17 issue at ten cents each. Please bring to the Periodical Dept. of the Library this morning.

CAROLINA
TODAY
MYRNA LOY
CARY GRANT
in
"WINGS IN THE DARK"
A Paramount Picture with Roscoe Karns
Robert Cavanaugh
Dean Jagger
—Also—
Comedy — Novelty

ANDREWS LECTURE
8 P. M.—TOMORROW
PHILLIPS HALL

The Daily Tar Heel

POTEAT LECTURE
8 P. M.
PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, MARCH 3, 1935 | NUMBER 120

SCIENTIFIC ORDER TO SPONSOR TALK BY DR. ANDREWS

Noted Johns Hopkins University Chemist Will Speak in Gerrard Hall Tomorrow.

WILL CONDUCT SEMINAR

Dr. Donald H. Andrews, professor of chemistry at Johns Hopkins University, arrived yesterday in Chapel Hill to address the North Carolina chapter of Sigma Xi tomorrow at 8 p. m. in Phillips hall. After his arrival Andrews inspected the University campus and the laboratories and facilities of the Carolina science departments.

Dr. Andrews lunched with the professors of the chemistry and physics departments and in the evening Dr. Willard entertained the Johns Hopkins professor at his home with a smoker, attended by many faculty members.

To Give Seminar

Tomorrow morning, demonstrating models for the structure of molecules, Dr. Andrews will conduct a seminar for graduate students on the structure of organic compounds at low temperatures.

Tomorrow evening he will deliver his public lecture under the auspices of Sigma Xi on "Molecular Models." He will discuss the most recent work contributing to the knowledge of the structure of organic molecules and will demonstrate by the models the advances in the field of organic chemistry.

Dr. Andrews received the B.S. and Ph.D. degrees from Yale University. He has done notable research at California University, at the University of Leyden, Holland, and at the Franklin Research Institute.

In the industrial world, Dr. Andrews has done consulting work for the General Motors Corporation, for the Fixed Nitrogen Laboratory at Washington, and for the Bureau of Soils of the United States Department of Agriculture. He is especially interested in the application of thermodynamics to organic chemistry.

After tomorrow night's lecture Dr. Andrews will lecture at Duke University as the guest of Dr. Paul Gross.

HADDAWAY PLACED ON HONOR COUNCIL

Assumes Position Through Withdrawal of O'Herron.

Warren Haddaway has automatically become, through the withdrawal of candidate Ed O'Herron, the third representative from the school of commerce who will serve on the Freshman Honor Council. A vote to determine their third councilman will, therefore, not be taken among the commerce freshmen, according to Clyde "Pete" Mullis, president of the freshman class.

The eleven men who now compose the Freshman Honor Council are as follows: Bill Hudson, Jimmy Coan, Joe Patterson, and W. M. Davis, from the school of liberal arts.

Bill Holland, David "Red" Meroney, and Warren Haddaway, representing the commerce school; Randall Berg and John Sloop, the engineers.

The applied science freshmen are represented by Henry Dillon, and Jimmy Creech was chosen by the pharmacy students as their council member.

Crittenden Exposes "Boners"

University History Professor Releases Small Number of Total Collection Gleaned from Years of Experience in Grading Undergraduates' Quizzes, Exams, and Reports.

As the days for examinations draw nigh, this department feels that it is more than appropriate to present, both for amusement and as a warning, excerpts from a collection of boners compiled by Dr. C. C. Crittenden.

Dr. Crittenden has been teaching American history for several years here at the University and before that he taught at Yale University where he received his doctor's degree. With the numerous quizzes, class recitations, book reports and all the other obligations of the history department, he has had a splendid opportunity to make such a collection and apparently the students too have made good their opportunities.

In the papers on European history such things as these were found: England was the mystery of the sea. Marco Polo was the pope who drew the line of papal damnation. King James I worked very hard on the Bible and finally turned out the edition which bears his name. The pope was forbidden to propogate. Philip II sent an alma mater against England. The medieval philosophers took certain things for granite. The pope's office was hereditary.

Concerning America

Concerning American history some of the more confused students made such futile stabs as: Penn and his ancestors made big profits from Pa. When the soil lost its virginity the settlers did not know how to fertilize it. Sitting Bull started out to fight the whites; the first thing he did was to stand up. The only wild animal domesticated by the Indians was the squaw.

John Marshall was an ancestor of George Washington. The 14th amendment made citizens of those born or neutralized in the U. S. Drake prayed on many Spanish ships. The Republicans were opposed by the Democrats and No-Nothings. The Negroes were better off as slaves in America than in Africa running around eating themselves. In the election of 1844 Polk was a black horse.

The leaders of the humanist movement were called humorists.

(Continued on page two)

NEGRO PROFESSOR WILL SPEAK TO 'Y'

Joint Session of Cabinets Will Be Last Meeting of Winter Quarter.

In joint session, all Y. M. C. A. members will hear Professor J. T. Taylor of the North Carolina College for Negroes at Durham discuss "The Achievements of the Negro Race" tomorrow night in Graham Memorial at 8:30 o'clock.

The meeting, the last for the winter quarter, will be in the form of a smoker, according to Y. M. C. A. President J. D. Winslow. After the discussion of the race problem by Professor Taylor, the group will have use of the game room of the Union, Winslow indicated yesterday.

Also Speaks to Frosh

Taylor's lecture falls in line with preparation for the coming Human Relations Institute, set for March 31-April 7. The speaker will appear first tomorrow night before the Freshman Friendship Council, meeting in the "Y" lobby room at 7:15 o'clock.

Tomorrow night's joint session of the cabinets will end the winter quarter's discussion which has centered around the theme of "Social Disorganization." Much time has been devoted to crime problems of the day. Plans for the series of programs that have been carried out were drawn up by President Winslow, Don McKee, and Billy Yandell with the assistance of Dr. Harold D. Meyer of the sociology department who gave the group valuable suggestions during the past summer.

C. C. Exams Scheduled

The regular quarterly examination for the removal of composition conditions will be given Friday at 2:30 p. m. in 201 Murphey hall.

House to Address Frosh

Dean R. B. House will speak in freshman assembly tomorrow morning.

NEW BUS ROUTE TO HAVE HEARING

Public Utilities Head to Review Petitions Seeking Bus Line Through Chapel Hill.

The hearing on the Atlantic Greyhound Lines' proposed new schedule to connect Greensboro and Raleigh by way of Chapel Hill will be held before North Carolina Public Utilities Commissioner Winburne in his office in Raleigh Tuesday at 11 a. m.

At this time the petitions signed last month by about 1,200 students and townspeople will be presented. A delegation of students and Chapel Hill citizens headed by Mayor John Foushee will attend the meeting.

University Club Project

The University Club, which had charge of distributing the petition, has secured a Greyhound bus to carry interested students to Raleigh. The bus will leave Chapel Hill at 9:30 a. m. the day of the hearing.

Those interested in attending the hearing should make arrangements through A. H. Shepard at the University business office in South building, DeWitt Carroll at the Sigma Delta house, or Frank Willingham at the S. A. E. house.

POTEAT TO GIVE LECTURE

Dr. William McNeil Poteat of Raleigh will speak at the fourth of a series of five community winter forums tonight at 8 o'clock in the Sunday school rooms of the Presbyterian church.

Following the general subject of the series which is "Christianity and Contemporary World Movements," Dr. Poteat will address the group on "Gandhi and the Policy of Non-Violence."

Oliver Wendell Holmes Failing

Washington, March 2.—(UP)—Oliver Wendell Holmes' physicians after consultation tonight reported that the 93-year-old former justice of the supreme court was losing slightly in his battle against pneumonia.

MONEY DWINDLES IN FERA PROGRAM

Administration Curtails Relief Expenditures as Works Relief Bill Stays Deadlocked.

Washington, March 2.—(UP)—The administration sharply curtailed grants to 21,000,000 needy persons today as relief funds dwindled, and the new $4,880,000,000 works relief bill program remained in a Senate deadlock.

Republicans have accused the administration of crying "wolf" before, but this time officials insisted that they were within less than $87,000,000 of the absolute bottom of the federal relief chest.

Issue to Rest

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States meanwhile demanded that the embattled relief funds be cut to $2,000,000,000 or less, and that responsibility for construction and other work relief projects be left entirely to the individual states.

Both sides of the Senate battle seemed content to let the issue simmer over the week-end.

Washington, March 2.—(UP)—The government spent nearly twice as much as it took in during the first eight months of the fiscal year, the treasury department showed today.

In the eight months ending February 28, the federal government spent $4,511,935,368 and received $2,262,012,133, leaving the treasury $2,249,923,235 in the red.

Greece Faces Revolt

Estimate Four or Five Dead; Approximately 50 Wounded.

Athens, Greece, March 2.—(UP)—Government airplanes rained bombs on rebel warships of the Greek navy today in order to crush a revolution on land and sea aimed at restoring former Premier Elutherios Venizelos to power.

It was the first practical test of the much disputed problem of the superiority of airplanes over warships, and the planes appeared to be winning.

Unofficial reports, indicating casualties, set the figure at four or five dead and approximately 50 wounded.

Federal Commerce Bureau Head Will Make Address Here Friday

"You're the Top"

Maybe it's the spirit of the marble-playing Graduate Club that still lingers on. Maybe it's the spirit of spring. Maybe it's the spirit of the not-yet-forgotten childhood. Or maybe it's just plain spirits.

At any rate the walk between town and Alumni building rang with the cries of two or three small groups of delighted undergraduates, with arms swinging, faces flushed, and a guilty downcast look for every passerby.

Clutched tightly in their fists were strings; and spinning merrily on the path before them were two-cent tops. Wow! Split it for the team!

SLOCUM CHANGES UNIVERSITY BAND REHEARSAL DATE

Group Will Meet Only Once Each Week for Practice.

Altering the schedule for band rehearsals, the University Band will conduct one weekly practice period on Monday nights at 7 o'clock, beginning tomorrow night, according to an announcement from Earl A. Slocum, conductor of the band.

Heretofore the band has been rehearsing on Monday afternoons and Thursday nights, but Slocum indicated that the full practice on Monday evenings would allow more members to be present and would not "break up" the students' afternoon.

Planning for a period of public activity in the spring. Slocum urges that all former members of the band report for the Monday night rehearsal.

Individual section practice periods will be arranged later and announced at the Monday evening rehearsal, according to Slocum.

The University Band, which has not made a public appearance since the Carolina-Virginia football game at Charlottesville Thanksgiving, will give several recitals next spring and plans are made for the group to participate in a special program of band activity during the coming quarter.

Nini Theilade's Success In Dancing Predicted Five Years Ago In Paris By Pavlowa, Great Russian Artiste

Five years ago the great Pavlowa, not long before her tragic death, saw a 14-year-old girl dancing on the stage of a Paris theatre. She watched intently, obviously moved, and when the dance was finished and the audience clamorously applauding, she turned to her companions and said:

"I am the present. This child is the future."

In the intervening years the child, Nini Theilade, has become Max Reinhardt's premiere danseuse, and has given performances in every principal city throughout Europe. She has won a storm of adulation wherever she has gone—many predicting that her name will become one of the greatest the dance world has ever known.

Nini Theilade, who is barely 19, is Danish by birth. At the age when most children are going to kindergarten, she began taking dancing lessons from Russians in Paris. For five years she studied and practiced arduously, working 10 hours a day, every day. Then she began to travel, giving a few recitals.

"Discovered"

"One day a miracle occurred, the miracle that all we who have anything to do with the stage count on," she says, telling her own story. "I was 'discovered.' It happened in Stockholm where I had gone with my mother to give a recital. We were having breakfast in the hotel when I noticed that all of the other guests were looking towards a gentleman whom I recognized from his pictures in the newspapers as Max Reinhardt. Then I knew that this might be the chance of my life. I felt so certain about it that I longed to go to his table. But there were a dozen others who seemed to have the same feeling. I was despondent.

"Suddenly someone who knew

(Continued on last page)

Murchison to Speak On Restricted Trade

Professor, on Leave from Commerce Department of University, Appointed Last Year.

TO TALK IN GERRARD HALL

Director of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce Claudius T. Murchison, on leave from the University department of economics and commerce, will appear in Gerrard hall Friday evening to discuss "Restrictions on World Commerce."

Dr. Murchison, who was appointed by President Roosevelt to his present office last May, has had a leading part in carrying on the nation's negotiations under the present flexible tariff law.

To Tell U. S. Procedure

In his Friday night's lecture, he will point out the means by which the United States is attempting to combat these restrictions on world commerce, giving an intimate and detailed account of procedure followed under the present trade agreements program.

Dr. Murchison's appointment to the directorship in the department of commerce followed a nation-wide search to find a man qualified to fill the position left vacant by Dr. William Thorp.

A member of the commerce department at the University since 1921, Murchison was director of research in the school of commerce when he received his appointment to the government position.

In 1933 Murchison refused

(Continued on last page)

Chinese Minister Will Speak Here

Talkative Authority Scheduled to Appear at Relations Institute.

Chinese Minister to the United States Sae-Ke Alfred Sze will be one of the most outstanding visiting speakers to appear here next month as a part of the Human Relations Institute.

Small, black-rimmed spectacles set off the slick moustached face of his excellency, as he leans back in his swivel chair in the main office of the Chinese Legation in Washington, ready to talk at all times.

Testifying to his reputation of "outspokenness," the little black-haired man, one of China's outstanding statesmen, appears anxious to reply to any claims that we might be holding in regard to the China-Japan situation.

Japan to Blame

"The American people know that China has never disturbed the international peace of the Far East, whereas Japan has herself done so upon repeated occasions," declares the China-talker-backer. "For more than two and a half years now she has been waging an undeclared war against China . . .," points out Minister Sze.

Indicating that he and his China have always counted on America as a friendly counsel, the representative from China moves on to discuss other matters.

His excellency takes pleasure in discussing the "reconstruction" movement in his native land. Referring to the subject,

(Continued on last page)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: IRVING SUSS

Sunday, March 3, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

Dr. Andrews will speak on "Molecular Models." Wonder if they, too, are streamlined this year?

The finance committee wants a chain store floor tax. That's what we call getting down to the bottom of things.

We see where Dean Jackson promised to introduce freshmen around at Woman's College. Got any telephone numbers for an upperclassman, Dean?

An Honor for The University

The election of Dr. Edgar Knight to the position of president of the National Education Society is just another proof of the high standing of the University's faculty. Despite the low salary scale Carolina has professors who, time after time, have been given national recognition.

In the meantime, however, our only hope is that the faculty will maintain the spirit which provoked President Graham to say before the appropriations committee that they had saved the University. We cannot afford, by inadequate appropriations, to lose the faculty that we have to other institutions and other fields of endeavor.

Suggesting the Time For Student-Faculty Day

The joint committee which so efficiently ran the recent Student-Faculty Day celebration met Friday afternoon in order to make plans for the second annual affair next year and to consider the various shortcomings in the first project.

Proposals are now common for the changing of the date for the second annual Student-Faculty Day. The winter quarter, it is argued, is short enough without slicing a few days out of the schedule (and it is well known that this year's celebration actually consumed more than the single day from the student schedule). Furthermore, Founder's Day has never been a full holiday and a combination of Student-Faculty Day and this anniversary would do justice to both.

However, most students do not feel this way about it. In the first place, Founder's Day is October 12 and the fall quarter has hardly gotten underway, with fraternity rushing, football games, orientation, and other diversions consuming most of the undergraduate's time. In addition, this year's experiment showed that more than a month is required to get the exhibits in order and the program arranged. To say that these things could be done in the summer-time is taking a lot for granted.

As for the spring quarter, attention is centered on other things—politics, sun-bathing, graduation, and spring sports. Furthermore, the year would be so far advanced that the true effectiveness on the new freshmen would be lost.

We believe that the date of February 20 or thereabouts is best suited for Student-Faculty Day. There is ample time for preparation, there is the proper undergraduate atmosphere following a quarter of orientation and settlement, there is a more compact feeling of University consciousness during the winter months. If Student-Faculty Day is to become the tradition we believe it will, the date must remain fairly regular.

Time and Tide And Professors

As Casual Correspondent Lansdale remarked in his column recently, the last few days of the quarter find a goodly number of students frantically endeavoring to make up a quarter's work in the brief time that remains before exams are upon us. That is only half the story: the faculty are often caught short too.

It always has been a trait of student character to put off work until the last minute. After exams, one hears on every side the sincere resolutions of cramming-wearied students that "never again will I try to do a whole quarter's work in a few nights." Yet, despite the friendly advice of the faculty, the same thing seems to occur every quarter.

But certainly the dilemma in which many professors find themselves at the close of this quarter is no sort of example for that most astute of bodies, the faculty, to set for the students. Professors all over the campus have been awakening to the fact, rather belatedly, that this quarter is the shortest of the year, and that there remains hardly enough time to hurry through more work, we believe, than should be left to be done efficiently at this late date.

Somehow, although they are in the habit of last-minute hustling themselves, students feel that their rights are being violated when faculty members resort to such tactics. Unfair as it may seem, students are perfectly justified in feeling as they do. Professors should learn after very little experience that students will always have the poor judgment to wait until the last minute to hand in work that should have been done earlier in the quarter. That, unfortunately, is an incorrigible trait of youth. But professors can find no justification whatever for letting time sneak up unawares on them.

This business of assigning long book reviews, term papers, oral reports, themes, and what not at the last minute is something that could best be done without. The thing occurs every winter quarter without fail. The faculty must know as well as the student body that this is the shortest quarter of the year, and it should make some practicable preparation for covering the courses in the time available without having to rush through the last few weeks.

Duke Takes to A Junior Varsity

Duke University has announced that it will form a junior varsity football team to begin competition next fall—dependent no doubt upon being able to find someone to compete with. The news is particularly good to us because of the fact that we have been endeavoring to start a move for such a team at Carolina.

Duke's move helps to clear up one of the problems which puzzled us most—that of finding suitable competition. It now comes to light that Carolina once had a "B" team which played such teams as Fort Bragg, the Wilmington Light Infantry, and State's reserves.

There is no reason why Carolina should not form a junior varsity to compete, possible with these former rivals, and certainly with Duke. Duke has shown the way to action.

Taking a Crack At America's Liberty

Dartmouth's virile president, Dr. Ernest M. Hopkins, returning to America after a two-months visit to Italy and Egypt, has come to the conclusion that one of America's greatest perils lies in a blind loyalty to an idea of liberty "in which we agree that all discipline is bad."

Although not interested in military training from the point of view of preparedness for war, he is strongly in favor of it as a training in discipline, which, he says, "is the most valuable thing a young man can get." Also along this line, he is convinced that the CCC would be of more benefit to the public if it were more definitely under the military regime.

All of this is in harmony with his theory that what America needs is more organization. While hitting laissez-faire with the statement, "The theory of rugged individualism is predicated on the theory that there is no responsibility for co-operation in anything," he goes on to say that America, with its divided loyalties, has little chance to compete with nations whose populations are regimented "in a single specific loyalty to a definite government."

Although he is propounding but little more towards regimentation than is already to be found in the New Deal, we cannot help wondering just how far Dr. Hopkins' admiration of European systems, such as that of Italy's, might lead him in the direction of fascism.

It is not that fascism is necessarily the most harmful thing in the world. If it came to a choice between chaos and fascism, the latter would no doubt be highly preferable. Still there is no doubt that the college youth of today, the Dartmouth student included, earnestly believes that America can successfully compete with other nations without casting aside the ideals of freedom and liberty which form so strong a part of our tradition.

SPEAKING the CAMPUS MIND

Passing The Buck

Editor, the DAILY TAR HEEL:

"Passing the buck" seems to be the order of the day!

Within this school year numerous campus officials for one reason or another, have resigned their posts. This fact is to be lamented. It is bad enough that students who have been given positions of responsibility and who have accepted these duties should take a lot of the honor and glamor of office, and then when going becomes a bit rough, to step aside for the others who are willing to stick by their guns through thick and thin. 'Tis bad when individual students take the rosy path. But when the Student Council begins to follow suit, then the calibre of our campus leaders certainly comes into question.

For years the students of the University have prided themselves that they had complete charge of their own conduct during examination and quiz periods. It has almost become an institutional tradition here on the campus and among the alumni. It has been marveled at, commended, and followed in not a few of the more liberal colleges and universities throughout the country. It was something to be proud of.

No longer shall this be true. The members of the Student Council have admitted defeat. By a recent resolution adopted at the last faculty meeting the council members have turned over to their professors a large part of the burden of seeing that the honor system functions efficiently. By their action, the councilmen have started a movement, which if it continues, will result in the complete turnover of the honor system into the hands of the faculty. The ultimate outcome will inevitably be the institution of the proctor system—a vintage of days long-sought to be forgotten in the minds of more liberal students and faculty members.

The enforcement of the honor system has been, and should always remain entirely a student function. The students voted it upon themselves, and by that method alone should it be taken away from them. Whence comes this authority for a weak and defeated Student Council to pass on rights of the student body to the faculty? This act was beyond the authority of the Student Council to make. It is a concession with the ultra-conservative element of the faculty, which for too long has been trying to take over this authority rightfully given and justly belonging to the students, and to the students alone. It shows weakness on the part of the Student Council.

If the honor system is not working properly, it is the duty of the Student Council to call this fact to the attention of the students. They have time and time again shown their willingness to co-operate. In fact members of the freshman class were so willing that they would even suspend an offender in their midst at once. Certain such acts cannot be pointed to as unwillingness on the part of the student body to co-operate.

The members of the freshman class, who were about to suspend one of their number, had the right spirit exactly. It is to be admitted that they did not have the necessary authority to carry out their good intentions. That authority had been delegated to a pussy-footing Student Council, a Council devoid of any backbone sufficient to stand up in support of a system which they, by the mere fact that they are students, and even stronger by their acceptance of places on the Council have declared that they would uphold.

The recently adopted resolution should be repealed. If the Student Council thinks the honor system is slipping, have the president of the student body call a mass meeting, present the situation before them, and give the students themselves a right to say whether or not they want to relinquish their right to govern themselves under the honor system. If the meeting is called, and given proper publicity, there is little doubt but what the spirit shown by the freshmen class earlier in the year will be in the majority to demand the repeal of the resolution. And in all probability, to reprimand severely the spineless Student Council for "passing the buck" to the faculty.

The Student Council in particular, and the three upper classes in general, should hang their heads in shame that it has fallen to the lot of the freshman class to show the way out by their determined spirit to see the honor system enforced.

C. G. R.

Crittenden's Boners

(Continued from page one)

One of the first great American newspapers was the N. Y. Tribute. Va. was founded for economic reasons. About 1620 Jamestown was burned and this was the end of the first permanent English colony in America. In the election of 1884 Blaine accused Cleveland of being an illegitimate father. The Platt Amendment made illegal the manufacture, sale and distribution of intoxicating liquors in the U. S. "The Origin of Species" was a book on the beginning of the use of gold and silver for money. In 1896 the Democrats ran Byron. In 1832 there were 37 square miles of railroad in the U. S. America brought the Allies men, money, munitions, and a high morality.

At the conclusion of one book review some student offered this enlightening criticism: On the whole this is a pretty good book. It would have been much better, however, if someone else had written it.

During the period when western railroads were being constructed there existed small railroad camps that were moved further and further along as the building of the road progressed. And because of the character of these railroad camps they were spoken of as "Hell on Wheels." In an attempt to identify this, Dr. Crittenden has received such answers as this: "Hell on Wheels"—what somebody called Susan B. Anthony; a term used to describe the World War; nineteenth century farmer's idea of railroads; a term given to the railroads when they first began using coal because hot cinders would fly back and set the passengers on fire.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:30: Little Jack Little, songs, WBT.

2:00: Immortal Dramas; chorus; orch., WPTF.

2:30: Hammerstein's Music Hall; Abe Lyman orch., WBT.

3:00: Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra of N. Y., WBT

3:30: "The Use and Misuse of Religion," Dr. Harry E. Fosdick; music, WPTF.

4:00: America's First Rhythm Symphony; De Wolf Hopper, narrator, WPTF.

5:00: Freddie Martin's orch.; Donald Novis and Vera Van, WBT.

6:00: Wayne King orch., WGN.

6:15: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

6:45: Wayne King orch., WGN.

7:00: Alexander Woolcott, narrator; Armbruster orch., WABC; Jack Benny, comedian; Don Bestor's orch., WPTF; Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

7:30: Joe Penner, comedian; Ozzie Nelson orch., WPTF, WLW.

8:00: Opera, "Carmen," with Grete Stueckgold, soprano; Deems Taylor, narrator; Pelletier's orch., Chorus., WPTF, WLW; Eddie Cantor, comedian; Rubinoff orch., WBT.

8:30: Club Romance; Conrad Thibault, baritone; Don Voorhee's orch., WBT.

9:00: Countess Olga Albani; Previn's orch., WPTF, WLW; Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

9:30: Musical Revue; Frank Munn, tenor; Gus Haenschen's orch., WEAF, WPTF.

10:00: Wayne King orch., WABC, KMOX; Jane Frohman, contralto; Frank Black orch.; Modern Choir, WLW, WPTF.

10:30: "Behind the Scenes"—Wm. A. Brady, theatrical producer, WBT.

11:00: Little Jack Little orch., WBT.

11:15: Walter Winchell, gossip, WSB, WSM.

11:30: Emil Coleman orch., WJZ; Wayne King orch., WGN.

11:45: Leon Belasco orch., WHAS.

12:00: Cab Calloway orch., WABC.

12:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

12:30: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

Prouty Writes Paper On Chapel Hill Area

The brilliantly colored Painted Desert of Arizona and the beautiful Petrified Forest have their counterpart here in North Carolina in the Chapel Hill-Durham area, points out Dr. W. F. Prouty, head of the geology department, in a paper he has recently completed on "North Carolina's Painted Desert."

"We need not wait for the coming of desert conditions to enjoy this beautiful coloring," says Dr. Prouty. "Take a trip any day between Chapel Hill, Durham, and Raleigh. Wherever there are freshly-worked road cuts, the colors are beautifully exposed, especially while wet."

These highly colored sand and clay deposits were brought down by numerous streams descending from the western highlands, he explains, and since much of the sediment was deposited as flood material the colors are accordingly mixed and variegated.

Enjoy Our Special Sunday Dinner
Served from Noon until 8 P. M.

GOOCH BROS. & BROOKS CAFE

Come Down Town Nights and See Your Sandwiches Made

MAGAZINES SODAS SANDWICHES CANDY TOBACCOS
BEER IN BOTTLES AND ON TAP NEWSPAPERS

Carolina Cops Conference Title

White Phantoms Outclass W. And L. In 35-27 Game; Generals' Rally Cut Short

Capt. Aitken Leads Win Over Fighting Five; Great Team-Play

Glace Forced Out of Game and Webster Plays Great.

(Special to the DAILY TAR HEEL)

Memorial Auditorium, Raleigh, March 2.—The University of North Carolina's great basketball team tonight left no doubt as to who were the real Southern Conference champions, as they completely outplayed the fighting Washington and Lee General five in the tourney finals to win, 35-27.

The White Phantoms thus annexed their first basketball championship of the new Southern Conference, and their first since 1926.

Playing heads-up ball from start to finish, the Carolinians gave the scrappy Generals no chance to break into an opening. Despite their spirited fighting, the Virginians were no match for the present champions as the Tar Heels drove relentlessly through them.

Rally Short

Both teams played evenly through the first half, but the Shepard-coached five put on steam with the sound of the bell for the second half and piled up their comfortable lead. The Generals began a desperate rally late in the game, but to no avail.

Captain Snooks Aitken led the beautiful team play of the winners, with his nice passing, floor play, and accurate shooting. He was the star of the offense, with his 11 points, eight coming from action. His 11 markers were good for individual scoring honors.

Jim McCachren turned in one of his best performances here tonight as he forced the General sharpshooters to err time after time on their shots. His defense was practically impregnable as he performed to the best of his All-Southern ability. His passing was superb. He was the man who stopped the W. & L. last minute rally when they had pulled up to within five points of the Phantoms.

Play Last Games

Bucky Harris and Jason Glace, playing their last games for North Carolina, were equally brilliant in their all around playing. Harris was particularly deadly on his shooting, as he got loose for three goals and then annexed a lone free toss to take runner-up scoring honors.

Glace was pushed to the limit in holding down the big center, Smith, All-Southern last year. In doing so, he was forced to foul to excess and had to leave the game with four and one-half minutes left to play.

Neither team could scratch the scoring column for the first

(Continued on last page)

U. N. C. and Title

NORTH CAR.:	FG	F	T
Aitken, f	4	3	11
Nelson, f	2	2	6
Glace, c	0	1	1
Webster, c	3	0	6
McCachren, g	1	0	2
Harris, g	3	1	7
Kaveny, g	1	0	2
Totals	14	7	35

W. & L.:	FG	F	T
Ellis, f	0	2	2
Pette, f	4	0	8
Jones, f	0	0	0
Smith, c	3	2	8
Field, g	2	1	5
Iler, g	0	2	2
Richardson, g	1	0	2
Woodward, g	0	0	0
Totals	10	7	27

Half-time score: North Carolina 16; W. & L. 11.

Personal fouls committed: W. & L.—Jones 1; Pette 1; Field 4; Iler 4. North Carolina—Aitken 8; Nelson 1; Glace 4; McCachren 1; Harris 2.

Free throws missed: W. & L.—Smith 3; Field 3; Iler 2. North Carolina—Aitken 2; Nelson 3; Harris 1.

Officials: Menton (Loyola); Knight (Durham "Y.")

All-Southern Tourney

Three North Carolina Cagers were selected on the first All-Southern tourney team, and one on the second five, as chosen by seven of the eight coaches and the three officials.

The first and second teams are as follows:

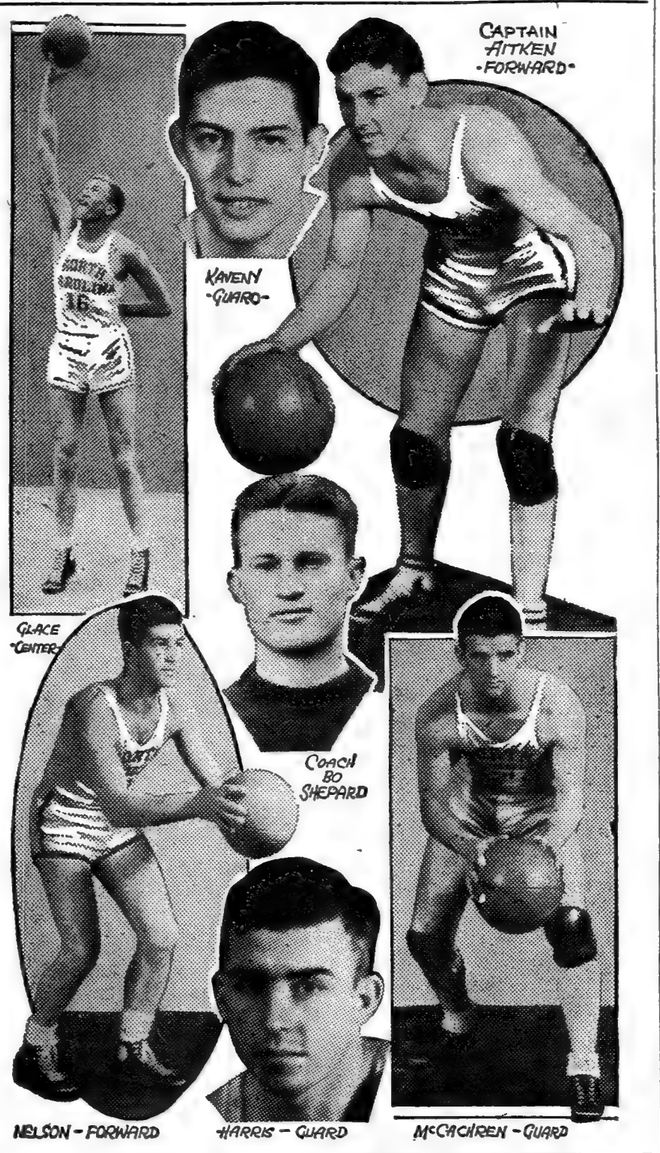
FIRST
Aitken	f.	N. C.
Pette	f.	W. & L.
Glace	c.	N. C.
Iler	g.	W. & L.
McCachren	g.	N. C.

SECOND
Nelson	f.	N. C.
Henderson or Downey	f.	S. C. or V. M. I.
Smith or Swails	c.	W. & L. or Clemson
Rex	g.	N. C. S.
Field	g.	W. & L.

Captain Snooks Aitken of Carolina was the only captain of a team to make the first string selection, which consists of only Tar Heels and Generals, the finalists in the tourney.

It is the second year in succession for Jim McCachren, while both Aitken and Jason Glace were on the second team last year. Smith of W. and L. was moved down from the 1934 first team just switching with Glace.

Co-ed Cage Game



The final games in the co-ed round-robin basketball tournament will be played this week.

The first game is between the freshmen and seniors, Monday night at 8 o'clock. On Tuesday, the juniors and sophomores square off at 7 o'clock in the last game of the year. Both games are to be played in Bynum gym.

Symphony Broadcast

A broadcast of the weekly concert by the Philharmonic Symphony orchestra from Carnegie hall, New York, may be heard in the choral room of the Hill Music hall at 3 p. m. today.

1935 Southern Conference Champs

Fast Field To Be On Hand For Big Track Carnival

FIGHT FOR TEAM, INDIVIDUAL POSTS

Several Records May Be Broken During Stampede of Southern Conference Meet.

WILL BE HELD IN TIN CAN

One of the fastest fields of southern track men ever assembled is expected to be on hand this Saturday night at the sixth annual Southern Conference indoor meet in the Tin Can.

With a close race to be run between the schools for team honors, with individual stars battling for the tape, and with several records scheduled to be broken, the indoor carnival is all set to be a classic affair. The 1935 meet seems certain to be one of the most thrilling to date.

Close Team Race

North Carolina is defending champs, but will be hard pushed for top honors. Duke, with an ace selection of brilliant sophs, will be the dark horse of the meet. Maryland and Virginia will be well in the running. Any of these holds an equal chance of coming through.

Each event from the dash through the middle distances to the field events will possess a field of brilliant competitors. No single race seems to have a real "sure" winner. In the dash, for example, Widmyer of Maryland is the natural ranked runner, but will be pushed to the extreme by Hubbard, Tarrall, Pritchard, Tayloe, Epps and Ryan.

New Records?

The records which seem on the road to a tumble are the ones in the two-mile, half-mile, mile and quarter-mile. The exceptionally fast and evenly balanced field in the longer distance may cut down the existing mark, set

(Continued on last page)

TENNIS AND TRACK MEETS SCHEDULED

State High School Athletes Will Gather Here April 11 and 12 For Sport Events.

An announcement issues yesterday by E. R. Rankin, secretary of the North Carolina High School Athletic Association, revealed the fact that the annual tennis and track competitions will be held in Chapel Hill on April 11 and 12.

These tournaments, which are annual highlights in the interscholastic ranks, have been held consistently at Chapel Hill. The tennis tourney will be the twentieth annual, and the track event will be celebrating its twenty-third year.

Tar Heel Winners

There are quite a few present Carolinians who have placed high in these events. Last year, Earl Ruth, who ran wild on the basketball court with the frosh this year, was the winner of the tennis championship. He represented Charlotte High School.

Two years ago, Jim Hutchins, football luminary, was runner-up in this same event. Both these boys, however, turned to different fields after entering Carolina.

In the track meet, two freshmen hold titles from last year's competition. Al Umstead, Durham, won the hurdle title, and George Willard, Kernersville, took the crown in the weights.

These two championships mark the fifth 1935 interscholastic tourney at Chapel Hill, the boxing, wrestling, and basketball having been held already this quarter.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

V.M.I. Upsets Generals To Win S.I.C. Mat Crown; Mel Ward Loses Via Fall

Three Other Tar Heel Matmen Fail to Reach Finals

Bonner Eliminated in Semi-Final on Time Advantage.

Lexington, Va., March 2.—Virginia Military Institute's fighting Kaydets tonight wrested from the long defending champs, Washington and Lee, the 1935 Southern Conference mat crown.

For three years the grappling Generals had had their own way on the mat in Dixie, but tonight could do no better than take a second place to the Kaydets. The combination of Sherrard, Witt, Currence, and Burgess was just too powerful.

Ward Loses

Melvin Ward, the only University of North Carolina finalist, was defeated via the fall route by Witt of the V. M. I. club, after a hard battle.

The Generals entered the final round of fighting the favorites, because of their placing five men in the scoring column. The Kaydets followed with four.

The other North Carolinians fell before the final round-up. Umstead in the bantam lost a time advantage to Duke's Stevenson of 4:18 minutes. Captain Efland was behind on a 1:41 minute time decision to Seitz, of W. and L.

Allan Bonner in the 145-lb class was victim of another time advantage in the semi-finals to Shipley of W. and L. The time advantage was 5:07 minutes.

The Generals had held the title for three years and were undefeated in dual meets for several years. The replacing of them by the Kaydets was one of the big upsets of the season.

Final Standings Listed For Mural Basketball Year

Highly Successful and Interesting Year of Intramural Court Play Comes to a Close.

With Mangum's title win over D. K. E. last Wednesday, a most successful intramural basketball season was brought to a close. Besides these two teams, Swain Hall, S. A. E., and Phi Kappa Sigma all came through the regular league schedules with clean slates.

On January 10, 42 teams set out in the annual campaign toward the campus title, and during the season only four dropped out—an excellent example of the ever growing interest in the intramural program on the campus.

The Leaders

Mangum No. 1 and D. K. E. each won ten straight victories, while the other undefeated teams of the regular schedule, of course, made eight. Lambda Chi Alpha and Kappa Alpha both went on streaks of six straight, while in the dorm division Ruffin, Aycock, and Everett took five, four, and four, respectively.

Z. B. T. and Phi Kappa Sigma were the only ones to lose eight, S. P. E. came next with seven, and Chi Psi, Delta Psi, Kappa Sigma, and A. T. O. were all bunched with six.

The season marked the entrance of a new member into the realm of intramural play—Alpha Epsilon. This fraternity exhibited keen competition and fine sportsmanship, and promises to become in the future a dangerous contender in all activities.

(Continued on last page)

Coach Bo Shepard

Coach Bo Shepard has led one of the greatest parades of North Carolina basketeering this winter. His White Phantoms have played some real ball this year, having taken everything which has come within their reach. Going through the regular season with 20 wins out of 22 starts, they entered the Southern Conference tourney seeded number one. Toying with South Carolina, downing North Carolina State, and at last outclassing Washington and Lee's Miracle Team, the 1935 Phantoms are conference champions. Coach Bo has won his first S. I. C. title. To go with that, he has a pair of state titles and a winning percentage of well over .800. Hats off to Bo Shepard and his White Phantoms.

Scoop—Error in Paper!

That game which is played with the racquets and the shuttle-cock is not "Badmington," as was stated in recent issues of DAILY TAR HEEL had it, but cording to Mr. Webster and other quite reliable sources, "Badminton." Or just like the DAILY TAR HEEL had it, but without the "g." Aw, gee!

HEARNMEN TAKE SHORT PRACTICE

Crouch Works Out with Other Pitchers and Catchers Yesterday in Tin Can.

Coach Bunn Hearn sent his diamond protegees through a light workout yesterday afternoon in the Tin Can, with the pitchers and catchers taking turns at flinging and receiving the horsehide.

Freddie Crouch, star of last year's ace team, was on hand and tossed over a few, along with Leo Manley and several others. Crouch will more than likely be ready for the opening of the season next quarter.

Catchers Work

Jim Tatum, Ed Shapiro, Mac Cook, and Paul Pendergraft handled the biggest part of the catching duties in the short workout. Numerous freshman candidates also participated in the informal drill.

Coach Hearn will find many problems in filling several vacant positions left by graduating stars. Last year the Tar Heel nine captured both state and Southern Conference championships, losing only one of 21 contests. But graduation robbed the 1935 team of such standbys as Captain George Brandt, at first; Virgil Weathers, at second; Dutch Leonard, at third; Tim McKeithan and Nate Andrews, pitchers, and Norm McCaskill, catcher. It will be quite a job to replace such stars.

ASSEMBLY RESTS FOR HEAVY WEEK

State Legislature Prepares for Mountain of Legal Work.

Raleigh, March 2.—(UP)—With eight weeks behind, the North Carolina General Assembly today rested briefly before tackling a mountain of work set for next week.

The week just ended saw much smoke and little fire. The Senate cleared the last obstacle before the drivers license bill by concurring in all the House amendments, while the House voted to require vaccination of dogs and passed a Senate bill to appoint a new board for the regulation of beauty shops.

In the House storms raged over almost every measure brought out on the floor, with the judicial committee beer bill killed and then revived to be recommitted to the committee.

Today's session required only eight minutes in the House and 16 minutes in the Senate. Local bills only were considered with six measures introduced into the lower House and none in the Senate.

Basketball Tourney

(Continued from page three)

five minutes. Bucky Harris broke the ice with a field goal to give Carolina the early lead. Several minutes later with the scores 5-4 Carolina, Field, General guard, sank a goal to give his team a 6-5 lead. Harris tied things up with a free toss and then put the Phantoms ahead with a field goal. From there on the winners were never headed.

Aitken got two goals in quick succession, and here Glace was substituted for having three fouls. Harris dropped one in and was matched by Field. Smith sank a free one, and Aitken did likewise. Latch Webster was open for a successful crip as the half ended, with North Carolina in the van by 16-9.

Webster Gets Hot

Webster opened the second half in fine manner, getting a pair of field goals in rapid fire, followed by Aitken. Field annexed a one-pointer in the meantime.

Mel Nelson, high scorer of the tourney, here scored for the first time in the game with a field goal and a pair of gratis tosses to give Carolina a big 26-12 lead. The Generals opened up at this point and staged their near successful rally.

Smith started the guns with a goal and Joe Pette annexed a beautiful long shot. Glace reentered the game for Carolina. Aitken got the ball and dribbled down the floor, passing beautifully to Nelson who sank the shot. Iler made his final foul here.

Late Rally

With only 4 1-2 minutes left, Glace was removed for fouls. Smith made the first throw and then tapped in the second which he had missed to make the count 30-21 for Carolina. Pette and Richardson sank shots to pull the Generals up to within five points of the Tar Heels. Kaveny entered for Carolina. A fine play Kaveny to Aitken to McCachren netted a goal. Field fouled out and Aitken made the shot. Kaveny tapped in the last Tar Heel points, which Smith matched to run the final score to 35-27.

The entire White Phantom team played smart ball, outclassing the Washington and Lee crew, which was probably the hardest fighting and scrappiest basketball five ever to play on North Carolina courts. Field and Smith led the losers in the rough and fast contest. Pette led the scoring with eight.

Ballet Russe

Irena Baranova, 17-year-old Russian blonde, appearing with Colonel W. de Basil's Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo at Duke University tomorrow.

LIBRARY GIFT

Dr. L. J. Battle Presents Rare Civil War Volumes.

Dr. Lewis J. Battle of Washington, D. C., has presented the University library with a medical and surgical history of the Civil War. This work is in two volumes and printed during that war, is a rare and valuable edition.

The volumes are profusely illustrated and contain the names of many Confederate soldiers.

Nini Theilade

(Continued from page one)

me came to my table and asked if I would like to meet Mr. Reinhardt. After that everything went beautifully. He asked me to dance for him, and a stage was improvised in the dining room. I was nervous and did not dance well but much to my surprise he immediately invited me to join his company. I was beside myself with joy and excitement. I appeared under his personal direction in 'The Tales of Hoffman.' I shall never forget it. And later I returned to Berlin to dance in 'The Student Prince.'"

Mlle. Theilade has traveled with Max Reinhardt productions all over Europe in addition to giving her own recitals. She dances to the music of Grieg, Chopin, Mozart, Debussy, Albeniz, Brahms, Liszt, Mendelssohn, Delibes. As one critic described her performance, "She dances like the sunrays shining through drops of a fountain. Her dances are not just interpretations of music. Here music is reborn in the dance. Her technique is exquisitely perfect, yet one does not think of technique when watching her. She can do every kind of dancing. Each dance brings new surprises. Her grace, her charm are not acquired by study—they are inborn."

PHI TO MEET

The Phi assembly will meet for the last time during the winter quarter Tuesday night at 7:15 o'clock in New East.

The following bills will be discussed: Resolved, that textile labor in the south is unfairly exploited; Resolved, that the New Deal is leaning toward fascism; and Resolved, that the Republican party is defunct as a rival national party.

Employment Interviews

George V. Packard, a representative of the W. T. Grant Co., will hold interviews tomorrow morning in Dean Bradshaw's office with seniors interested in obtaining positions with the company, which operates a chain of 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1 stores.

Ballet Russe to Show At Duke Tomorrow

A performance of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will be given in Page auditorium at Duke University tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock.

The program includes the following numbers: "La Concurrence" (Competition), "Les Presgaes" (Destiny), and "Prince Igor."

It is advisable to be strictly on time for the performance of this well known company.

Chinese Minister

(Continued from page one)

he says, "I believe that it is one which is not so well known outside of China as it should be."

After citing a long list of recovery prophecies among the industries and government of his people, the Chinese statesman leans forward. "But this does not mean that China no longer requires aid from outside," he says. "In order that her progress may be as rapid as is desired, China still needs and will welcome, expert advice from abroad and the investment of foreign capital in her enterprises.

"But most of all, she hopes for the sympathetic good-will and understanding of the other peoples of the world. From Americans she knows that this will be received."

A smile on his usually pursed lips, the ready-to-talk authority on international affairs from the Chinese standpoint, dismisses his visitors; we take leave of one of China's greatest statesmen: twice Chinese minister to Great Britain, at various times minister of foreign affairs, acting minister of finance, delegate to the Paris peace conference, and chief of the Chinese delegations to the Washington conference in 1921, to the Geneva international opium conferences, 1924-25, and to the 12th assembly of the League of Nations.

Sze is a graduate of Cornell, member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi, and the holder of several LL.D.'s from universities in China and the United States.

Murals

(Continued from page three)

Following are the regular schedule rankings:

Dormitory League

Team	W.	L.
Mangum No. 1	8	0
Swain Hall	8	0
Law School	5	2
Aycock	5	3
Everett	5	3
Ruffin	5	3
Lewis	4	2
Kluttz	4	3
Grimes	3	4
Pharmacy	3	4
Mangum No. 2	2	4
Manly	2	5
Mayflower	2	5
Locals	2	6
Smithsonians	2	6
Old West	1	6

Fraternity League

D. K. E.	8	0
Phi Kappa Sigma	8	0
S. A. E.	8	0
Lambda Chi Alpha	7	1
Zeta Psi	6	1
Kappa Alpha	6	2
Alpha Epsilon	6	2
Delta Tau Delta	6	2
Beta Theta Pi	5	2
Phi Chi	4	3
Theta Kappa Nu	4	4
Phi Delta Theta	4	4
Sigma Nu	4	4
Phi Gamma Delta	3	4
Phi Alpha	3	4
Sigma Chi	3	5
Chi Psi	2	6
Kappa Sigma	2	6
Chi Phi	2	6
Delta Psi	2	6
A. T. O.	1	6
S. P. E.	1	7
Z. B. T.	0	8
Phi Sigma Kappa	0	8

"LITTLE COLONEL"

Above is pictured Shirley Temple who co-stars with Lionel Barrymore in "The Little Colonel," taken from the famous book of the same title. The picture plays at the Carolina theatre today and tomorrow.

Indoor Track

(Continued from page three)

by Young of Georgia at 9:57.4 minutes in 1930. Harry Williamson will more than likely beat both the half and the mile marks. He has done both deeds in practice this past week. He will, however, be pushed to the limit by Colman Headley, brilliant soph from Maryland. The quarter-mile likewise possesses a fast field which may break the existing 54.1 second record.

Application for Degrees

All seniors in the liberal arts college and in the department of education who have not yet made application for degrees are to report Monday at the office in South building of the dean of the college of liberal arts.

SEND THE DAILY TAR HEEL HOME

Murchison

(Continued from page one)

the offer to become senior economist for the AAA, although at the time he indicated that he was in favor of the administration's recovery program.

The economist received his doctorate at Columbia University and was a member of the class of 1911 at Wake Forest. He has held positions on the faculties of Columbia University, Hunter College, New York University, and the University of Miami.

Murchison is the author of numerous technical articles and the popular book, "King Cotton Is Sick." He lists memberships in the American Economic Association, the American Statistical Association, the Academy of Political and Economical Science, and others.

Music Students to Give Recital Wednesday

Junior and Senior Majors to Be Soloists on Program.

The University department of music will present a student recital in Hill Music hall, Wednesday, at 4 p. m. The soloists participating in the concert will consist of music-majoring juniors and seniors.

The program is as follows: "Ballade in G minor" by Brahms, played by W. Bracy at the piano; "Album Leaf" by Wagner, played by Miss Jane Ross, violin and Miss Jane Forgrave, piano; "A Chorale," by Bach, with Virginia Buckles at the piano; "Serenade" by Lavignac, played by D. Bennett on the flute.

Finale from the "Fourth Symphony" by Widor, played on the organ by L. Sistare; "Walter's Prize Song" by Wagner, played by Miss Isabelle Buckles, violin, and Miss Virginia Buckles, piano; Aria from "Magic Flute" by Mozart, played on the horn by J. White; two waltzes in A flat and E minor by Chopin, played by Miss Jane Forgrave on the piano; "Lamento and Tarentelle," by Grovlez, played by H. Hazelman on the clarinet and Miss Jane Forgrave on the piano; and two etudes by Chopin, played by V. Mason on the piano.

Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: W. B. Millis, Walter Gordy, L. A. Monica, J. M. Geary, Leighton Dudley, J. C. Peele, J. W. Carmichael, Ben Summerlin, J. A. Brown, Henry Bluestone, Eddie Kahn, and J. A. Spies.

LOST

A gray, raglin overcoat, Thursday at the Crescent Cafeteria. Would the person who took it by mistake please return it as soon as possible to S. Roberts, 308 Lewis. Reward.

Don't Be Afraid To Laugh and Cry!

For you and everyone else will be caught in the tender spell of this deeply-moving drama . . . chuckling at this mischievous sprite . . . sharing her sadness . . . rejoicing when the greatness of her love re-unites the two who are her world!

Shirley TEMPLE Lionel BARRYMORE

in 'The LITTLE COLONEL'

—OTHER FEATURES—
Color Cartoon, "Japanese Lantern"
Musical Act, "Hollywood Rhythm"
Paramount News

SUNDAY MONDAY

CAROLINA THEATRE

MARCH 10-11
FRED ASTAIRE
GINGER ROGERS
in
"ROBERTA"

Kay Francis, George Brent in "Living on Velvet" TUESDAY
Helen Hayes, Robt. Montgomery in "Venessa" WEDNESDAY
GEORGE ARLISS in "The Iron Duke" THURSDAY
Mary Ellis, Carl Brisson in "All The Kings Horses" FRIDAY
William Haines, Esther Ralston in "The Marines Are Coming" SATURDAY

MID-NITE SHOW FRI.: Chester Morris in "I've Been Around"

DEBATE SQUAD
8:30 P. M.
209 GRAHAM MEMORIAL

The Daily Tar Heel

DI AND PHI SOCIETIES
7:15 P. M.
NEW WEST AND NEW EAST

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, MARCH 5, 1935 | NUMBER 121

ANDREWS SHOWS ATOMS IN MOTION BY MODEL FORMS

Johns Hopkins Professor Talks on Molecular Action, Sponsored by Sigma Xi.

AUDIENCE ENTHUSIASTIC

Dr. Donald H. Andrews, the noted Johns Hopkins professor of chemistry, delivered his somewhat technical lecture on "Molecular Models" to an enthusiastic and interested audience last night under the auspices of the North Carolina chapter of Sigma Xi.

As an introduction to the talk the professor gave a short history of the molecule from the early conception of the Greeks which bears striking similarity to the theory advanced by our modern scientists.

Demonstrates Structure

By mechanical constructions of various chemical compounds Dr. Andrews demonstrated the nature of the different forces between the atoms of a molecule and the structure of different chemical compounds.

With the aid of lantern slides of the motion and spectra of chemical compounds Dr. Andrews pointed out that the force of attraction between the atoms of molecules is proportional to the number of chemical bonds between atoms.

By using a demonstration machine the Johns Hopkins professor produced the actual motions that molecules undergo under the influence of forces of different frequencies. Pictures of the motions of atoms were more clearly shown by slides.

Dr. Andrews will deliver another lecture tonight at Duke University as the guest of Professor Paul Gross.

DIRECTORS NAME ORIGINALS' CASTS

Playmakers Will Present Seven New Plays Thursday on Second Bill of Quarter.

Casts for the seven new plays which will be presented by the Carolina Playmakers on their second bill for the quarter at 4 o'clock and at 7:30 o'clock Thursday were announced yesterday.

More than 45 character parts were filled at the tryouts last week for the plays, which were written this quarter in the University's playwriting courses.

The Casts:

Included in the casts for the new dramas are: for "I Sing Forever," a tragedy of the Carolina mountains by Mildred Moore —Josephine Oettinger, Robert duFour, Katherine Threlkeld, and Dan Hamilton.

"The Settin'-Up," a country wake by Sarah Seawell—Dave Lewis, Dwight Brown, Mary Armbruster, Hester Barlow, David Richardson, Dan Hamilton, Annie Lee McCauley, Juanita Greene, Lawrence Cheek, William Wang, and Billy Robertson.

"Tsalagi," a historical drama of the Cherokee Indians by Billy Greet—Dwight Brown, Herbert Kane, Billy Robertson, Douglas Hume, Dancy Hawes, Donald Pope, A. C. Blalock, Lawrence Cheek, David Richardson, Mary Armbruster, Margaret Wallace, Gretchen Goris, and Hazel Beacham.

The Evening Bill:

On the evening bill: "And So They Grow," a play of little

(Continued on last page)

Student Council Suspends Two Since Taking Office Last May

Phi Assembly

In a farewell session for the winter quarter, the Phi Assembly will meet at 7:15 tonight in New East.

Bills will be:

1. Resolved, that the Phi favor the passage of the Hill liquor bill. Representative Smithwick will explain the Hill measure.

2. Resolved, that comprehensive examinations in the University should be abolished.

3. Resolved, that the Republican party is losing the status of a rival national party.

Treasurer Francis Fairley asks that members of the assembly who have not paid their dues make arrangement for immediate payment.

NEGRO OUTLINES HIS RACE'S WORK

Freshman Council Hears Talk by Professor Taylor of Durham College for Negroes.

As a preparation for the phase of the coming Human Relations Institute dealing with inter-racial and class relations, the members of the Freshman Frendship Council heard Professor J. T. Taylor of the North Carolina College for Negroes at Durham, who talked to them last night on "The Achievements of the Negro Race."

Professor Taylor later delivered the same address to the smoker of the sophomore and junior-senior "Y" cabinets in Graham Memorial.

"If you are really going in for a practical application of your idealism, you are picking a hard road to travel," said Professor Taylor preliminary to his main address. "You can get along very easily without worrying about our problem, but I can't conceive of anyone who could do this and still have complete happiness."

Negro's Achievements

The speaker cited some useful achievements of the colored race in Africa and later in other countries of the world. He dealt largely, however, with the work of the Negro in America, "their adopted country."

Discussing the cultural development and general improvement of the Negro race, Taylor gave some enlightening stasistics pertinent to education and to the Negro's place in the United States. He offered the fact that 89 Negroes were listed in Who's Who and that 116 were Phi Beta Kappa initiates.

Professor Taylor mentioned many illustrious Negro musicians, novelists, and poets, reading several poems.

Before concluding, Professor Taylor mentioned George Horton, a janitor at the University back in the '40's, who used to compose love lyrics for the students and finally decided to get an education as best he could.

This meeting marked the close of the Council's meetings for the winter quarter.

Tau Beta Pi

Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, will meet at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in 214 Phillips hall.

Deals More Lightly With 30 Other Cases

Offenses Include 12 Breaches of Honor System and 12 Violations of Campus Code.

"DUTIES ARE CORRECTIVE"

Thirty-two cases were heard by the present Student Council from the time it assumed office in May, 1934, to February 1 of this year, according to a report rendered yesterday by Francis Fairley, secretary and junior representative.

Two cases carried the penalty of suspension unrevoked by subsequent action of the Council.

Of the 32 cases, four were reopened and re-heard, four were bad check cases, 12 concerned violation of the campus code, and 12 were trials for breaches of the honor system.

Six Cheating Cases

Six of the honor system cases were for cheating.

Cheating penalties were as follows: (1) grades withheld, indefinite suspension; (2) "F" on English 1 for plagiarism, general conduct probation; (3) general conduct probation for plagiarism; (4) credit for quarter's work denied, "F" on course; (5) suspension for cheating and lying to the Council; and (6) "F" on course, Student Council probation.

The Buccaneer was tried for disorderly conduct for lack of more specific terms by which to describe the offense of obscene publication that led to its abolition and the establishment of the Finjan.

List of Cases

The list of cases follows:

Campus code violation: Nine for dormitory disturbance, six of which carried penalty of general conduct probation and three dormitory probation; three for disorderly conduct, which included one warning to a fraternity, one dormitory probation, and "one Buccaneer."

Honor system violation:

Three for theft, dismissed for lack of evidence; three for lying, one of which carried Student Council probation and two acquittal; six for cheating.

Cases re-opened: In three of these the student was either readmitted or given credit for a quarter's work previously denied him; the remaining case was granted re-admission but was put on general conduct probation.

Bad check cases: one, Student Council probation; one, denied credit for work; two, made to pay debts incurred.

The Council reviewed briefly in the report its work during freshman week when it sponsored lectures on the honor system. The report stated that it conceived of its duties as of a "corrective rather than punitive nature in so far as possible."

SENIOR EXECUTIVES

The last meeting of the senior executives for the winter quarter will be held in the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 7 o'clock, Class President Jack Pool announced yesterday.

This formal session will be the most important of the year, Pool said. Plans pertaining to senior week and other class activities will be discussed. Pool urged all senior executives to attend.

University Club to Get Rooms for Visitors

Dorms and Fraternities Are Urged to Place Track Men.

The University Club is still campaigning to find places on the campus for all visiting track men who will be here this weekend for the annual Southern Conference indoor track meet.

Thus far, most of the visitors have been placed by the club members. However, more places are still needed.

The buildings department will put an extra bed in every dormitory room in which the occupants would like to take care of a visiting track man. Students wishing to help are asked to get in touch with Frank Willingham at the S. A. E. house or "Bo" Shepard in the athletic office as soon as possible.

The visitors will spend two nights here in most cases, Friday and Saturday. Meals, of course, will be furnished at the regular training tables by the University.

HOUSE CONCLUDES SERIES OF TALKS

Dean Speaks on "Desire" in Message to Freshmen.

Concluding his series of talks on the "Intellectual Life," Dean R. B. House talked to the freshman assembly yesterday on "Desire."

Before dealing with his last subject, Dean House gave a brief summary of his previous addresses. He reminded the freshmen of the value of building strong characters, the necessity of hard work, and the use of the imagination as a forerunner of constructive thought.

"Desire," stated Dean House, "is the one thing which dominates a man's life and gives him a sense of direction." Stressing the importance of understanding one's own desire, "one's philosophy of spirit," he recommended a study of the philosophies of other men, advising that it is not too early to start such a study.

"Your university career rests with you," concluded Dean House. "Always remember that anything of worth that has ever been done required conscientious effort."

BUS LINE HEARING POSTPONED AGAIN

Greyhound's Petition to Be Considered March 18 or 20.

The Atlantic Greyhound Lines' hearing before Public Utilities Commissioner Winburne, scheduled for today, has been postponed until March 18 or 20, according to a letter received yesterday by Phil Hammer, chairman of the student committee which has been co-operating with the bus company, from J. L. Gilmer, vice-president and general sales manager of the company.

This makes the second time that the hearing has been put off. It was first postponed from January 22 until today because of the illness of a member of the commission.

The reason for the latest delay is that one of the interested attorneys has a case in court which cannot be continued.

This will throw the hearing into the holiday period, so that the mass student attendance planned for the hearing by the University Club will be made harder of attainment. Despite this additional difficulty, however, the club will make an effort to have a number of students present.

"Y" TEAM RETURNS

The Y. M. C. A. deputation team composed of Lee Greer, Francis Fairley, Don McKee, and Harry F. Comer returned Sunday from a trip to Fayetteville.

They were accompanied by Harold Gavin, vocalist, and Budd Weltscheff, guitarist, instead of by James Dees' quartet, as previously scheduled.

Di Senate

In an executive session tonight the Di Senate will discuss no bills, but will elect officers for the spring quarter.

The Senate will convene at 7:15 in New East.

All officers but president will be named. Charles Rawls was elected to that office at the last meeting in the fall quarter.

Other business will include hearing committee reports.

Herr Metzenthin Bombards Students With Good-Natured Sarcastic Wit

Squeak, squeak, here comes the professor's brogans. Duck your cigarette or be greeted with "You, you sir, you smoke like a smoke stack!"

"Guten Tag, meine Damen und Herren"—at least that is what it sounds like. A chorus of "Guten Tag, Herr Professor" echoes back. "Hey, you crazy fellow, march as fast as you can to your seat," commands Herr Doktor Pastor Professor Metzenthin.

Quietness prevails until some late straggler comes quietly into the door and pauses and greets the professor in a cordial but pathetic tone with the same words every time, "Good morning, Herr Professor. It gives me great pain to disturb"—in German, of course.

He's a Married Man

Deathlike silence reigns until the regular morning program begins with verbs. A girl responds before being called upon —explanation: Herr Spann's class last quarter. She is answered with "Shut up, I am a married man! A lady never speaks until she is spoken to in Germany." Moral: when in German class, do as the Germans do.

"You, you sir, give the principal parts of the verb 'to lie' in English. This English language is a queer language, but so are all the rest and you only know this one so I have to talk about it. Let me ask you a question, do you have to lie in order to lie? Certainly not, I can lie just as well standing up. My chickens, although of superior intelligence, do not know the difference between the word to lie and lay, so I always talk German to them."

The informality is still carried on when a student reaches the word "grandson" in the reading. The German does not see the logic in calling an eighteen-inch baby a grand son. He explains this on the basis that no language is divinely inspired and

(Continued on page two)

VENIZELOS ARMY SUFFERS DEFEAT FROM LOYALISTS

Greek Government Announces Decisive Defeat of Rebels; Blows Up Cruiser.

VICTORY EXPECTED SOON

Athens, Greece, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Loyal government troops delivered a decisive defeat to the insurrectionists at Nirita, Macedonia, the Greek government officially announced today.

The majority of the rebels, the government said, threw down their arms and surrendered, while the others were dispersed and put to flight.

Bomb Rebel Warship

Meanwhile, it was learned that government aviators scored two direct hits with 230-pound bombs on the prow of the rebel cruiser Averoff Saturday, setting the warship afire and killing or wounding an undetermined number of the rebelling sailors.

The government made it clear that it expected an early victory for the loyal forces. The rebels have the support of the aged but fiery former Premier Venizelos who has long been opposed to the present Greek government.

SPEAKERS AWAIT STANFORD DEBATE

Oliver Cross, Harry McMullan To Defend New Deal Against Visitors Here Thursday.

Professor William Olsen, faculty adviser of the debate squad, announced yesterday that a debate team composed of Oliver Cross and Harry McMullan will meet a team from Stanford University at noon Thursday in Gerrard hall.

Cross and McMullan will support the affirmative of the query: Resolved, that this house favor the New Deal.

Squad Meets Tonight

Professor Olsen also urged all men who have participated in University debates or attended the debate squad meetings to be present tonight in 209 Graham Memorial at 8:30 o'clock for a discussion of trade unions, company unions, and current labor problems.

Announcements will be made concerning debate trips for the spring holidays. The Yackety Yack will take a picture of the entire debate squad at 10:30 tomorrow morning at Gerrard hall.

The Stanford University debate team is now on an extended tour of the south and other sections of the country.

ODUM COMPLETES TOUR

Dr. H. W. Odum of the institute for research in social science has just returned from a lecture tour to Furman University and the Greenville Woman's College of the University of South Carolina.

Dr. Odum addressed assemblies at Furman University and the Woman's College.

TAR HEEL APPLICATIONS

Applications for the position of managing editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL will be received by the P. U. Board tomorrow.

The time of the board's meeting will be announced in tomorrow's issue.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: WALTER HARGETT

Tuesday, March 5, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

Dr. Prouty, the geologist, compares the area around Chapel Hill to a desert. Yeah, we agree, thanks to the prohibitionists.

The most effective "bus hearing" would be to let the commissioners ride in 'em and listen to the rattles.

The only objection the practical students have nowadays to top-spinning is that there're too many strings attached to it.

The Bus Has A Flat Tire

Chapel Hillians and University students are becoming a trifle peeved about the persistent efforts of someone to postpone the hearing which will be conducted before the state utilities commission for the Atlantic Greyhound Lines.

Greyhound officials state that the hearing has been postponed this time to March 18 or 20, because "one of the interested attorneys had a case in court that could not be continued." But connecting the latest postponement with the fact that the University will be closed for spring vacation makes a nice story for industrious newspapermen like ourselves. Obviously, the rather large delegation of University students which was planning to attend the Greyhound's proposed Greensboro-to-Raleigh-via-Chapel Hill line will not be able to get to Raleigh during the holidays.

And putting two and two together, many of us would conjecture that the Carolina Coach Company has done a good job of lobbying.

Whatever the circumstances concerning the postponement—and by rights the Greyhound outfit's excuse about an "interested attorney" should be accepted on the face of things—the proponents of the measure will lose a lot of enthusiastic support by the change in date. Nevertheless, the campus is still highly in favor of the new transportation facilities offered by the Greyhound folks and we may rest assured that local students will exert whatever influence they possess as strenuously as possible.

New Tax or Newport

Columnist O. O. McIntyre points out the gross unfairness by which the state and local taxes are levied in accordance with the ability to pay. The wealthy, he says, find it convenient to go to Newport or Florida in order to evade their assessments and leave behind the "little fellow" to bear the bulk of the ever-increasing taxation.

Adding to the obnoxiousness of the present system, Mr. McIntyre believes, are several things: the incompetency of the assessors, political favoritism, and the reluctance—or rather refusal—of the assessment commissions to make adjustments in case of errors.

Relevant are statistics which show that the larger the income, the smaller is the fraction taken by the states and local governments. Whereas, more than 16 cents out of every dollar received by those with incomes of less than $1,000 a year is taken for taxation, less than a cent and a half out of every dollar received by those with incomes of $5,000,000 a year goes to the state or county coffers.

"In the Spring A Young Man's Fancy—"

Turns gaily to thoughts of love, exams, and bicycles. Yes, the bicycle man is in town, this time with as fine an assortment as you will ever see.

Gaily colored moto-bikes, racers, comfortable widesaddled wheels for the ladies, and one or two tandems, the "old bicycle built for two," are among the possessions of the bicycle man.

For the moderate sum of twenty-five cents an hour the pedal-minded student may tour his alma mater "a la wheel," and they say that the night riding is delightful, what with little wisps of wind-wafted co-ed tresses gently caressing the side of your neck as you pedal deligently from the rumble seat of your tandem.

But there is one thing that should be looked into by the gentleman who undertook the renting of the bicycles. Only a small percentage of the bikes are equipped with lights for night driving, and it is both dangerous and risky to ride the poorly lighted streets of the village without some means of seeing "whither thou goest."

Three students narrowly missed being run down a night or so ago by a daring young man on a flying bike. Others riding the wheels have found themselves nursing bruised knees and elbows after falls brought about by there being no lights and deep holes in the pavements.

Equip the bikes with lights, front and rear, and there will be no end to the fun and exercise that students of the University may enjoy.

Another Quarter

As the fall quarter neared its end, we became prescient publicists long enough to foretell an extremely active and interesting winter quarter in Chapel Hill. And we don't think we missed our guess, if it was a guess.

For the spring quarter, we have just as high hopes of spirited undergraduate activity. The Human Relations Institute will match student-faculty day in uniqueness and educational advantages, though they are, of course, dissimilar events. For our sports there will be a mighty track team, with some of the nation's fastest performers, upholding Carolina's reputation on the cinder path; there will be a national championship tennis team, a Southern Conference championship baseball outfit.

Elections and the subsequent beginning of new terms of campus administration; honorary tappings; dances and spring houseparties; a brilliant set of student entertainments; these and many other features foretell an interesting term ahead.

The school year at Chapel Hill has thus far been an active one and a progressive one. There should be no discontent on the part of the campus with the "humdrum life of college." At Chapel Hill, there "ain't no such animal."

The End Of Rah-Rah

The "Rah-rah playboy" who regarded college as a glorified country club and who spent his time cheering for dear old Alma Mater and acquiring the social graces is rapidly disappearing from the campus. He is being replaced by a student interested in world affairs, government, and social and political economy. So says Dr. W. A. Jessup in his first report as president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

This announcement of Dr. Jessup is substantiated by the editors of numerous college papers who were questioned by the Literary Digest. J. B. Fingham, chairman of the Yale Daily News, offered as evidence the fact that "rah-rah" is now generally a term of derision.

No less true is this of Carolina than of Yale, Chicago, Harvard, and Princeton. To all close observers of the undergraduate on this campus this trend is apparent. Within the past few years there has developed greater interest in the social sciences, economics, and sociology. This campus enjoys very sane and rational athletics, as evidenced by the participation of the greater part of the student body in intramural athletics. An even more definite and positive step in this direction is the recent organization of the Political Union. This is indicative of the rising student interest in the world in which he lives, rather than in a narrow and artificially isolated college life.

Engineers And Exams

Undergraduate engineering students have hard examinations, there is no doubt about that. But it seems that an equally upsetting feature of the engineers' exam situation is the fact that the schedule is not announced until a week before the holidays begin.

We know little or nothing about the mechanics of arranging an exam schedule but we do know how it feels to wait for one, with rides home and elsewhere at stake, depending upon the schedule. It works a hardship on engineers who already have enough to think about and would like to get the little things straightened out before the tests.

We believe there could be more consideration on the part of the Phillips hall officials.

SPEAKING the CAMPUS MIND

The Hell You Say

Editor, The DAILY TAR HEEL:

I agree with your editorial in Saturday's DAILY TAR HEEL, that the Phi Assembly exceeded its ability in attempting to pass judgment on the New Deal. Quite so—painfully obvious. But you go on to imply that the Phi exceeds its function in discussing the New Deal at all, because the boys don't come out with a typewritten solution to all our troubles. You think it would be nice if college students would indulge in more "light discussions," giving play to "real wit." That's a swell idea. We could form a "Society of Wits," and have regular orgies of playful punning and scintillating repartee. And while we were busy being "warm and human," those "remote and problematical political forces" would determine whether we would get a job after graduation, how much we'd be paid for it, what would happen to us in sickness, unemployment, old age, what taxes we'd have to pay—in short, to a large degree, whether our lives would be happy or miserable.

Without denying the value of wit—natural or synthetic, and of "light discussion," your editorial seems to me thoughtless if not witless. The trouble with college students is not that they take themselves too seriously (though they frequently do), but that they don't take the issues of the day seriously enough. I think that the purpose, if not the result, of the Phi's discussion, was wholly admirable.

Perhaps you didn't notice, but in the next paragraph but one below the one on the Phi, you gravely propose an extremely "remote and problematical" political project—a federal department of peace! Furthermore, you sponsor the Carolina Political Union, whose purpose is to discuss such things as the New Deal. On the other hand, you deplored the student meeting on the Burlington dynamiting case. That case involves the right to fair trial and the whole question of union recognition and collective bargaining, issues of the widest importance. You are theoretically interested in them, but you objected to the meeting in the belief that it might further prejudice the mill-owners against the University. Perhaps you are correct in that belief. But, if you are starting the policy of repressing all opinion which might be distasteful to the industrialists and die-hard conservatives of this state, you had better withdraw your support from the Political Union, the Phi, and even the Di; censor all the speeches you publish, fire about half your editorial board, and (very important) burn this letter. If you are not entering upon such a policy, it would be to your credit, and of benefit to the student body, for you to support, more consistently than in the past, the study of social and economic problems of the day.

DAVID MYERS.

House Clears Bills

Raleigh, Feb. 4.—(UP)—Back from a week-end at home, the House of Representatives took a healthy swing at its formidable calendar and practically cleared it of bills.

Among the new measures introduced into the House was a joint resolution by Representative Gardner of Cleveland to ratify the federal child labor amendment to the constitution. The motion was deferred to judiciary committee number one.

Metzenthin

(Continued from page one)

the German language has the same defects.

No One Offended

No one is ever offended at the professor's good natured slams. He keeps his good humor even when he storms at him after making too many errors on the blackboard with "Mister, are you crazy?" and encourages his neighbor with "Here, you, give this lazy fellow a kick!" It is time for seriousness now, or be reminded that if you don't pay attention he will make the chalk fly through the air in your direction. No wonder the state legislature has to make extra appropriations!

When asked what he thought of North Carolina, he promptly replied, "The sticking mud of the soil is somewhat of an indication of the hundred per cent provincialism of the average Tarheelian, but let us not forget that N. C. is better than some of the surrounding states. Thanks to the University."

Sometimes he becomes worried and thinks perhaps we will take some of his remarks seriously and often adds, "Don't ever take anything I say seriously except what I say about the German language—for ninety-five per cent that I say is nonsense and the other five per cent is sense."

By Chance Theilade Met Max Reinhardt Who Gave Her Fame

Only 19 years old—and behind her four years as Max Reinhardt's leading dancer.

This is the record of Nini Theilade, brilliant young dancer who is coming to Memorial hall for a performance tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock.

Reinhardt first selected her in 1931 to dance in his production of "Hoffman's Erzahlungen" at the Grosses Schauspielhaus in Berlin. He had discovered her almost by accident in Stockholm. Fate brought them together at the same hotel and by chance into the dining room for breakfast at the same hour.

Chance Meeting

"While I was breakfasting in the Stockholm hotel with my mother," says the young dancer, "we noticed that all the guests seemed to be looking towards a certain gentleman. I recognized him as Max Reinhardt. I longed to go to his table and talk to him."

"And did you?"

"Oh, no,," she replied. "But a little later I was asked if I should like to meet Mr. Bax Reinhardt. He wanted to see me dance. In the dining room a stage was improvised. I danced—but I was nervous and did badly.

Receives Offer

"However, much to my surprise he seemed pleased and invited me to appear the following fall in his production of 'Tales of Hofmann,' then 'Die Schone Helene' and 'Jederman,' and this last season in 'The Student Prince.'"

Student entertainment tickets for the recital may be obtained at the business office next to the cashier's window in South building, tomorrow morning from 10 to 1 o'clock and tomorrow afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Farley Probe Deferred

Washington, Feb. 4.—(UP)—The Senate postoffice committee decided late today after a lengthy secret conference to postpone for 24 hours the action on Huey Long's resolution calling for full investigation of Postmaster-General "Big Jim" Farley.

SEND THE DAILY TAR HEEL HOME

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:00: George Hall orch., WBIG.

2:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

2:15: Operetta, "Ruddigore;" concert, WPTF.

3:00: Columbia Variety Hour; Freddie Rich orch.; Do Re Mi Girls Trio, WBT.

4:45: Dick Messner orch., WBIG.

6:45: Lowell Thomas, commentator, WLW.

7:15: Morton Downey, tenor; Sinatra orch.; Guy Bates Post, narrator, WJZ, KDKA.

7:30: Edgar A. Guest; Koestner orch.; Charles Sears, tenor, WJZ, KDKA.

8:00: Leo Reisman orch.; Phil Duey, vocalist, WPTF; Frank Munn, tenor; Gustav Haenschen's orch., WABC

8:30: Wayne King orch., WEAF, WSB; Lawrence Tibbett, baritone; Pelletier's orch.; John B. Kennedy, narrator, WJZ, KDKA; Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

9:00: Ben Bernie orch., Walter Winchell, guest, WEAF, WSB; Bing Crosby; Mills Bros.; Stoll orch., WBT; Grace Moore, soprano; Jackson orch., WJZ, KDKA.

9:30: Ed Wynn; Duchin orch., WPTF, WLW; Isham Jones orch., WBT; Cleveland Symphony orch., WJZ.

9:45: Glen Gray orch; Walter O'Keefe; Annette Hanshaw, singer, WBT; Beauty Box Theatre; "The Rogue Song," with Gladys Swarthout, soprano; John Barclay, baritone; Al Goodman's orch., WPTF, WLW.

10:30: Capt. Dobbsie's Ship of Joy, WBT.

10:45: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

11:00: Abe Lyman orch., WJZ.

11:30: Wayne King orch., WGN.

11:45: Johnny Green orch., KMOX.

12:00: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

12:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

More Than 400 Expected In Track Meet Saturday

TRIO OF CHAMPS WILL RACE IN 440

Reichman of Duke and Drake And Montgomery of Carolina Have All Turned in Wins.

41 TEAMS ARE ENTERED

All indications point to the largest group of athletes ever assembled in the south for the sixth annual Southern Conference indoor track meet here Saturday night.

Reports from 41 teams have been accepted and the number of men is expected to top the new high set last year at well over 400. Teams from Newark in New Jersey to Atlanta in Georgia are to be on hand, to participate in the grand sport carnival.

The meet will be packed and jammed with feature races. From the dash on up to the two-mile and in the field events the competition will be very close.

440 to Feature

Possibly one of the biggest fights for first place or even the scoring places will be in the quarter mile. No less than three conference champs will be battling for the high honor, and the race that will result from this trio may bring about a new record.

The standing mark is 54.1 seconds, set by Al Reichman of Duke in 1930. And the Blue Devil captain is back again this year, standing an excellent chance of lowering his own time.

But he will be pushed to the limit to beat the rest of the particularly fast field. The other champs are Tar Heels, Red Drake, outdoor quarter title-bearer, and Red Montgomery, indoor quarter champ.

Reichman Beaten

Both the Carolinians beat Reichman last year in the outdoor and indoor meets, respectively. Drake set a new school mark of 49.3 seconds in the outdoors, barely beating Reichman and Evans of Maryland. Montgomery was only .5 of a second back of the record in his win.

Warren Evans of Maryland is the other potential power in this event. This year he is considerably improved over last. He holds the school record for Maryland, and is a member of the fast Old Liner mile relay team, which holds the N. Y. A. C. record.

Each of these men stands an equal chance of coming through first to break the tape. It promises to be the "battle of champions," with the fast Old Liner thrown in to make the race even more interesting.

COACH KENFIELD ISSUES CALL FOR VARSITY GOLFERS

Tar Heel Linksmen Will Work Out on Hope Valley Course.

The golf team has also felt the call of summer and will again take its place in the field of sports. Coach Kenfield has issued a call for varsity players and is looking forward to another successful season with the Carolina golfsters.

All players desirous of practice are requested to ask at Emerson Stadium at any time and obtain tickets, which will permit them to play on the Carolina courts, situated at the Hope Valley Country Club. The tickets must be returned the following day, as only six Carolina students are given access to the grounds.

In spite of this handicap, Coach Kenfield has nevertheless turned out fair teams, and has brought the Tar Heels into competitive play with many southern universities.

Patronize Our Advertisers

Harry Williamson Will Race In N. Y. City On March 16

Harry Williamson, star Carolina miler, is to take another jaunt to Madison Square Garden and an indoor track meet. This fifth and last trek of the year to New York will be to participate in the "Columbian Mile," a feature event of the 16th annual Manhattan Knights of Columbus Indoor Games to be held March 16.

Williamson will find stiff competition in the "Columbian Mile" from such performers as Cunningham, Venzke, Dawson, and Sweet.

The Tar Heel flyer has already participated in four meets this year in Madison Square Garden. In the National A. A. U. Games he ran third to Dawson and Sweet in the 1000 meter race, in the Brooklyn K. of C. Games fourth to Cunningham, Venzke and Ray in the mile, in the Millrose Games fourth to Hornbostel, Dawson, and Sweet in the 1000 yard run, and in the N. Y. A. C. Games fourth to Cunningham, Venzke and Bonthron in the feature "Baxter Mile."

Williamson is now preparing for an assault on the Southern Conference 880-yard and mile indoor records in the indoor games to be held here Saturday. In practice he has bettered both marks.

AYCOCK ENTERS BOWLING FINALS

"A" Team, Rated But Seventh, Drops Chi Phi; Table Tennis Tourney Continues.

Aycock "A," wonder team of the bowling tournament, continued its mad path last night by dropping Chi Phi from the running. This sent Aycock into the finals and it has now but to wait for the other three teams to settle the issue as to who will be the opponent.

Phi Delta Theta is already in the semi-final, having won over Sigma Chi by a 1097-879 count the other evening. Grimes has yet to meet A. T. O. in a quarter-final contest to decide who shall meet the Phi Delts.

Aycock, composed of Schiffer, Onasch and Herdirich, had only been seeded seventh before the tourney opened and caused a furor when it eliminated the Midnight Flyers in the first round. It will probably clash with Phi Delta Theta, represented by Mosier, Blount, and Potts, in the finals. The Phi Delts had finished third in the qualifying round.

Table Tennis

The delayed intramural table tennis tournament swings back into action today with the playing of three quarter-final matches in the fraternity division.

Z. B. T. No. 2 stepped into the van of the elimination tournament by winning twice on Friday and moving into the semi-final. Sigma Nu No. 2 went down before them 3-0 and then Delta Tau Delta toppled by a 2-1 count.

Alpha Epsilon celebrated its intramural bow in table tennis by nosing out Phi Alpha in a thrilling 2-1 victory. Morty Singer's win with the score 1-1 was the margin of victory.

The other event on Friday was the 3-0 success of Kappa Alpha in its contest with A. T. O. Tomorrow the fraternity section goes into the quarter-finals.

STRONG RACQUET OUTFIT EXPECTED AGAIN THIS YEAR

Captain Levitan, Harris, Willis, Minor, and Jones All to Return for Varsity Play.

FIVE STAR SOPHS READY

With the breath of spring in the air, tennis returns to the fore in the athletic world as a representative of the outdoor sports that are due to appear in the near future. Practice is again under way and early signs indicate that Carolina is once more headed for sectional supremacy in the racquet sport.

Five veterans of last year's varsity and a like number of brilliant sophomores are toeing the line in preparation for opening hostilities in the annual battle for positions.

Returned from 1934's team that dropped but one match, are Captain Walter Levitan, Harvey Harris, Larry Jones and Ike Minor. The probable return of Ricky Willis to school next quarter will complete a quintet of powerful veterans.

Three Top Men

There is little to choose between Levitan, Harris and Willis. Harris was one of the best on the squad last year, but Levitan led the trio throughout the fall term, before yielding to Willis near the end of play. This gave the three a taste of top honors and it will be interesting to discover who will rank on the top this coming season.

A glance at the up and coming sophomores lends thought to the question, as two real possibilities loom among them. Eddy De Gray and Frankie Shores need little introduction as both were brilliant as freshmen last year. Either of these two may top the other three in the fight for places on the team.

Other Fine Sophs

Byron Abels, Archie Henderson and Sid Weinstein, also yearlings of the past season, will likewise have a lot to say before the 1935 varsity is selected.

From the above mentioned ten, Coach Kenfield is sure to

(Continued on last page)

FIRST BADMINTON MEET POSTPONED

Encounter with Pinehurst Club Called Off Due to Track.

The debut of competitive badminton, scheduled for tomorrow evening, has been forced to concede the scene of combat to the sport of the cinder path and has therefore been postponed.

The Tin Can, where the Chapel Hill badmintoners were due to battle the Pinehurst Country Club, has been taken over by the Southern Conference indoor track meet, and temporary structures upon the badminton courts have caused the postponement.

Coach Kenfield, leader of the unbeaten Badminton Club of Chapel Hill, doubts if the contest can be arranged for this quarter, but will surely have it staged during the spring term.

On its recent trip to Pinehurst, the Chapel Hill club surprised the members by trouncing its opponents by a 5-2 count. Members of the tennis varsity competed for Chapel Hill and it was their inherited strokes from tennis that enabled them to crush the badminton players of the resort.

Table Tennis Card

3:30—Chi Phi vs. Phi Kappa Sigma.
4:15—Sigma Chi vs. Phi Delta Theta.
5:00—Alpha Epsilon vs. Kappa Alpha.
5:30—Ruffin vs. Lewis No. 1.

Carolina's Champion Cage Team Is Made Up Of Versatile Boys

All of White Phantoms Do Things in Addition to Winning Southern Conference Title; McCachren, Nelson, and Blood Are All Swain Hall Waiters; Captain Has Also Handled Tray.

An intimate glimpse of the cagers who composed the Carolina basketball team, winner Saturday night of the Southern Conference title, discloses a group of boys outstanding in their extra-curricular activities and leaders of student life and thought on the campus of the University of North Carolina.

Captain Stuart Aitken is perhaps the most prominent. In addition to his basketball duties he has found time to take such a part in student activities that he was elected member of the Golden Fleece, topmost college honorary society through which very few students ever pass. He was president of the junior class last year, is a member of the dance committee of the University Club, and the Grail. And in addition to this he is a self-help student. His home is in Charlotte.

J. Mack Also Works

Jim McCachren, All-Southern guard for the last two years, a brother of the famous David of basketball during the past several years and incidentally also an All-Southern guard, hails from Charlotte. He is a recognized leader on the campus, star on the grid team, and self-help student. His time with this work reduces the chances for campus honors.

Ivan "Jason" Glace, 76-inch center, is a student of civil engineering, a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, a member of the Minataurs, a sophomore order, and a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. To anyone familiar with an engineering course, no further explanation as to how he spends his time is needed. His home is in Harrisburg, Pa.

Melvin Nelson, forward, who led the Tar Heel scoring this year, is a Yonkers, N. Y., boy. He is a self-help student and one of the most popular men on the campus. He was a corking good back on the freshman grid team of three years ago, but upon starting basketball he dropped all ideas of further football participation.

A Lawyer

William "Bucky" Harris, guard from Raleigh, is now in his fifth year at Carolina—in the second year of law school after three years undergraduate work. The aspiring barrister is a member of the S. A. E. fraternity. He is one of the cagers who has been with Coach Shepard during all five years of his coaching here. Starting with the Tar Heel mentor in 1930 as a member of the state championship freshman quint, he has followed through four years of varsity work, capping his record with stellar play this season.

Paul Kaveny, guard, who alternated with Harris during the season, is from Montclair, N. J. He is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, and was a member of the football squad during the past several years.

Among the reserves, Latcher Webster of Leaksville, is a self-help student, and is a fine prospect for pitching honors on the 1935 baseball team. Ben Blood,

(Continued on last page)

NO MORE FENCING

There will be no more fencing practice for this year in the Tin Can, according to John Elmendorf of the squad. Only one meet was fought this winter, and that resulted in a loss to William and Mary. No coach was available for the Tar Heels, and hence they attempted to work among themselves.

BASEBALL TEAM TO OPEN SEASON HERE ON APRIL 8

Southern Conference Champions Will Battle Michigan; Irwin And Crouch May Be Back.

PITCHERS STILL NEEDED

Carolina's 1935 baseball team will take the diamond for the first time April 8, meeting Michigan University on Emerson field. Coach Bunn Hearn is now sending his batterymen through light workouts in the Tin Can.

Tommy Irwin, brilliant shortstop, and Fred Crouch, pitcher, who turned in half of the Tar Heel wins last spring, both have reported for work and are expected to be in school next quarter.

This will raise the Carolina hopes somewhat for a third Southern Conference championship nine in a row but there are still several vacant positions that must be filled.

Outdoors Soon

Coach Hearn announced that he hoped to call the entire squad out within a few days if the weather continues to be nice. It is expected that Emerson field will be put in shape by the end of this week.

Although he has a large group of hurlers drilling, Coach Hearn does not see much chance in getting men to replace Nate Andrews and McKeithan. Andrews probably ranked higher than any other pitcher in the state last year. He had a perfect record and defeated Duke twice during a critical three-game series. It was this boy that twirled a no-hit game for Carolina in 1933.

Among the outstanding candidates for the open mound positions are Manley, a letterman, Spiers and Webster, reserves last season, and Wright and Bunn Hearn, Jr., up from the freshman club.

Another important position

(Continued on last page)

Fussed by a Faux Pas?

light an Old Gold

When Uncle Elmer steps on your bridal train just as you are about to ankle down the aisle . . . don't let the episode upset you. Take time out for a sunny-smooth Old Gold. And presto! . . . You'll feel serene again. Darn clever . . . these O. Gs

AT TRYING TIMES . . . . TRY A Smooth OLD GOLD

MARIONETTES ACT FOR 9,000 PUPILS

Tots Enjoy Puppet "Tooth Drama"; But Some Ask, "Where Are Puppies?"

More than 9,000 little Carolinians saw and heard the Playmakers' "tooth drama" last week, according to an announcement from Professor Frederick H. Koch, director of the dramatic group.

The puppeteers who are touring the grammar schools of the state under the auspices of the state board of health and the Good Tooth council appeared in seven counties last week and plans are being made for the marionette show to be presented in 20 counties in the next 20 days.

Delayed by Accident

Setting out yesterday morning, the puppeteers—Louise McGuire, William Long, and Director Catherine McAndrews—discovered that part of the stage outfit had fallen from the troupe's trailer. Canceling all their yesterday's engagements the group returned to Chapel Hill and spent the day in the Playmakers scene shop, repairing their losses.

According to the producers, the little boys and girls who have seen the drama were at first disappointed because the puppet show did not have a cast of puppies.

"Are you the Bulldog?" demanded a bold little boy one day last week while Miss McGuire was preparing the sets for a new performance in the little fellow's school.

Patronize Our Advertisers

Tennis

(Continued from page three)

weed out a strong team that will maintain the high reputation that Carolina holds upon the courts.

A schedule has already been outlined and appears to be a more attractive one than the ones that have graced the tennis teams of recent years. That is saying a great deal for the tennis team has played more intersectional matches and has faced more large schools than any other athletic squad at the University.

At present, the greatest addition is the coming of Dartmouth College to Chapel Hill in early April. Harvard and Ohio State may also make the long trip to Carolina.

On the northern tour, which is an annual feast for the racqueteers, Princeton, Yale, Army, Navy, Williams and Amherst will be met in that one hectic week. Two other matches are also being looked for on this trip to complete eight days of active competition.

Before meeting defeat at the hands of Princeton last year, Carolina had amassed a winning streak of well over 70 matches. This was a remarkable record and Carolina has little Bitsy Grant and Wilmer Hines to thank for their splendid work while on the Tar Heel varsity.

CORRECTION

In Sunday's issue of the DAILY TAR HEEL, Z. B. T. fraternity was credited with eight games lost in intramural basketball. The correct standing is seven games lost and one won.

The DAILY TAR HEEL is glad to make this correction.

FERA WORKERS

All FERA workers who are connected with the athletic division of the work are asked to report to the Tin Can this afternoon, just after lunch, to begin preparations for the indoor meet Saturday. Please report to Dale Ranson.

Playmakers

(Continued from page one)

ladies by Ellen Deppe—Ruth Burch, Valeska Hayden, Elease Pittman, and Dorothy Dashiell.

"Wait a While," the first act of a full-length domestic drama by Kenneth Bartlett—Urban T. Holmes, Robert Nachtmann, Bob Hecht, Reed Cheek, Dancy Hawes, Ralph Lyerly, Herbert Kane, and William Crayton.

"Goldie," a comedy of a Negro Saturday night by Wilbur Dorsett — Eloise Sheppard, Burr Leach, Bob Nachtmann, and Malcolm Wall.

"Crazy-Patch Quilt," a play of the Carolina tobacco country by Anne Hyman Moore, Hester Barlow, Dave Lewis, Ruth Mengel, Robert duFour, and William Crayton.

Making Time

For the quasi-Time issue of the Finjan the deadline is tomorrow, quoth Editor Pat Gaskins yesterday.

"If anybody objects to anything that has been written in previous issues," he bragged, "I will answer the objections in person." Incidentally, Gaskins may be found at the Sigma Delta house.

Editor Gaskins did say, however, that he will not take responsibility for distributing the funny magazine.

Carolina Champs

(Continued from page three)

who has been used at both forward and guard, is from Passaic, N. J. He is a son of Ernest Blood, former Army coach and now mentor at St. Benedict's School at Passaic, N. J.

William "Ike" Minor, another Charlotte product, is a second year law student. He was president of his class during his freshman year and also a tennis player.

Virginia's sole representative is Frank Ramsey of Danville, a sophomore who has shown quite a bit of promise for future years.

McCachren, Nelson and Blood—it is odd to note—are all waiters in the University dining hall. Captain Aitken is an ex-waiter there. Even during the strenuous days of the tournament, they attended to their thrice daily duties.

Captain Aitken, Glace, Harris, and Minor have ended their years of eligibility for cage service.

Infirmary List

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Walter Gordy, L. A. Monica, J. F. Blue, Leighton Dudley, A. H. Jarrett, G. W. Wilson, Charlie Shaffer, T. A. Apple, and H. B. Ressler.

Feature Board Meeting

There will be a meeting of the DAILY TAR HEEL feature board in 209 Graham Memorial at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Debate Squad Picture

The Yackety Yack picture of the debate squad will be taken at 10:30 tomorrow morning in front of Saunders hall.

Philology Club

There will be a joint meeting of the Philological Club and the Erasmus Club at Duke next Monday at 8 p. m. in the Union building of the West Campus.

Dr. George M. Gregory will speak on "The Authorship of Shirley's 'The Traytor';" Dr. N. B. Adams, on "Sir Walter Scott and the Spanish Romantic Novel."

Baseball

(Continued from page three)

left open is the backstop. Norman McCaskill made all-state and after finishing his career signed a contract with the Yankees. Coach Hearn may shift one of his letter outfielders, Jim Tatum or Eddie Shapiro, to the catching post if the recruits do not come through.

The likely looking receivers out now are Strayhorn, a reserve two years ago, and Cook, who caught for the yearlings last year.

Deans Confer on Course

Dr. C. Currien Smith, of the joint committee for the study of the curriculum of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, was in Chapel Hill yesterday conferring with Deans House and Hobbs and Professor N. W. Walker.

Bradshaw's Class

Dean Bradshaw's vocational guidance class will meet in Memorial hall this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Grail to Meet

The Order of the Grail will convene tonight at 10 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

HAMER, SCOUT EXECUTIVE

George Hamer, who has worked in the general alumni office here this year, moved to Goldsboro last week-end to become executive of Tuscarora Council, Boy Scouts of America, succeeding W. E. Pennington, resigned, of Goldsboro.

Hamer has served very successfully as scoutmaster of the Chapel Hill troop of Boy Scouts this year.

LOST

A heavy yellow gold crescent-shaped pin. Finder will please communicate with the DAILY TAR HEEL.

BRIDGE LECTURE

J. L. Brown announces a lecture on no-trump bidding and play, to be followed by a duplicate game—Graham Memorial, 8 p. m., Fri., Mar. 8. Fee, 30c.

CREDITS...both academic and HUMAN

MOSCOW Summer School

Study in MOSCOW—and PLAY as well. A momentous opportunity! Last year students and graduates of 60 universities from 20 states and 4 foreign lands enrolled in the Anglo-American Section of Moscow University . . . traveled and lived as they learned!

Registration now open. 1935 session July 16-Aug. 25. Instruction in English by Soviet faculty. 12 courses surveying contemporary Soviet life. University credit possible. American Advisory Organization: Institute of International Education. Write for booklet NC-3.

EDUCATIONAL DEPT. INTOURIST, Inc.
545 Fifth Ave., New York

When strangers meet
I break the ice

I'm your best friend

I am your

Lucky Strike

You like me best because I am so mellow, rich, flavorful. She chooses me in preference to other cigarettes for another reason; because I am so mild and easy on her throat. But you both prefer me because I am made exclusively from fragrant, expensive center leaves. That's why I'm milder. That's why I taste better. No top leaves, unripe and stinging; no bottom leaves, coarse and sandy, are permitted to destroy my uniform mildness and good taste. I'm your best friend. I am your Lucky Strike.

LUCKIES USE ONLY THE CENTER LEAVES
CENTER LEAVES GIVE YOU THE MILDEST SMOKE

They Taste Better

Copyright 1935, The American Tobacco Company.

NINI THEILADE
8:30 P. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

The Daily Tar Heel

P. U. BOARD
2 P. M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1935 | NUMBER 122

SENATE CHOOSES SPRING OFFICERS IN FINAL SESSION

Phi Passes Motion to Reprimand Durfee for Tampering with Wording of Bills.

DECLARED "NOT IN ORDER"

The Di Senate wound up its winter quarter business last night in an hilarious executive session in which reports of outgoing officers were heard and spring quarter elections for all the offices except president, already filled by the earlier election of Charles Rawls, took place.

Senator Weaver was chosen president pro-tem without a dissenting vote. By a 13-12 vote, Senator McKee was elected critic over Mason Gibbes. In two other close elections the Di chose Senators Stein and Yeatman, clerk and sergeant-at-arms, respectively.

Lee Names Committee

Out-going President Virgil J. Lee appointed a membership committee composed of Senators Kind, chairman, Howard, and Kendrick.

The chairmen of the finance, entertainment, and ways and means committee gave the reports customary at the end of the quarter. The treasury of the organization is very low, and little entertainment is in sight.

The ways and means committee report was a resumé of all the business of the Senate during the quarter. Of the 12 bills introduced, three were tabled indefinitely and two until the spring quarter.

One of the most important meetings of the quarter was the one in which Robert Griffin, North Carolina Negro working here with the institute for research in social science, spoke on the race problem.

PHI STORMS

Back within the familiar walls of their fourth floor lair in New East, Phi Assemblymen last

(Continued on last page)

GRADUATES HAVE COURSE IN MUSIC

University Is One of Few Schools Offering Course Leading to Master of Arts Degree.

The graduate school of the University announced yesterday the establishment of a curriculum in musicology leading to the degree of master of arts in music.

A survey of catalogs indicates that this is the first institution in the south to inaugurate such a course, although within the last few years a number of leading universities in this country, following the long established practice of great European universities, have developed their graduate work in music in this direction. Harvard, Cornell, and Columbia are among institutions which have made respectable beginnings with such courses.

Scientific Music

Musicology, which has been described as the scientific knowledge of music, theory being the prime requisite for research, is said to be an intellectual activity which goes far beyond the needs of the actual composer or performer. There is no limit, it is said, to the scientific work which can be done in this field. Professional musicologists in Europe have won equal rank in

(Continued on page two)

STUDENT PERMITS FOR REGISTRATION READY TOMORROW

Spring Enrollment to Begin Monday; Schedules Available.

Permit cards and class schedules for the spring quarter will be available tomorrow for use when spring quarter registration begins Monday. The cards may be obtained in room 8 South building.

All students will be eligible to register in the pre-holiday period of Monday through Saturday except those freshmen and sophomores who failed one or more subjects during the fall quarter. The latter group will enroll March 25. Classes begin March 26.

It is necessary to obtain permit cards before registering, and juniors and seniors in the college of liberal arts must have courses outlined by their major heads.

EXHIBIT TO COME HERE MARCH 25

Museum of Modern Art in New York to Lend 300 Photographs of Theatre Art.

An exhibit of 300 photographs of theatre art from the Museum of Modern Art in New York City will be in Chapel Hill the week of March 25 as the fifth event on the University of North Carolina program of the Southern Art Projects.

In connection with the exhibit, Lee Simonson, director of the exhibit and scenic director of the New York Theatre Guild will deliver a lecture March 27 on "Stage Settings from the Seventeenth Century to the Present."

Exhibit Inclusive

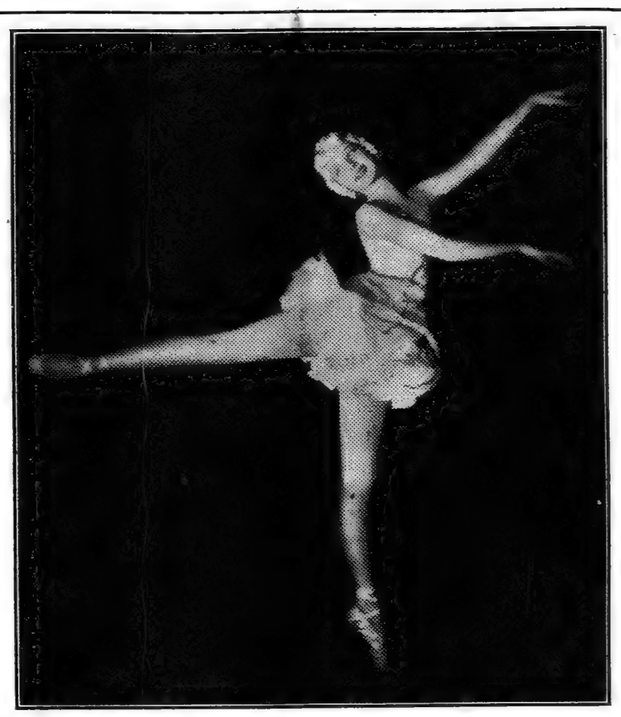
The exhibit, which includes stage settings and costumes designed by famous dramatic artists from the sixteenth century up to the present, is expected to be especially interesting to the participants in the annual dramatic festival and tournament which takes place here March 28, 29, and 30.

Graham Memorial will be the location of the exhibit. Pictures will be on display there in the foyer, the lounge, and on the second floor.

The photographs are taken, not actually from the costumes and stage settings, for it is impossible to find many of them, but from the artists' own sketches of them.

Another Southern Art Projects-sponsored exhibit will also be on the campus during the dramatic exhibit and until April 15; the watercolor collection of Eliot O'Hara, who is to give a three-weeks course in watercoloring here beginning March 26.

Holmes Is Worse



Washington, March 5.—(UP)—Oliver Wendell Holmes, former justice of the United States Supreme Court, took a turn for the worse tonight.

Dr. Thomas A. Clayton was summoned hastily, but said that death was only a matter of hours, probably a few.

Greek Rebels Retreating

Athens, Greece, March 5.—(UP)—Loyalist Greek armies appeared tonight to be driving the rebel forces ahead of them into Macedonia; and the naval situation of the Aegean Islands, headquarters for the revolt, appeared desperate for the insurrectionists.

PREMIERE DANSEUSE

Nini Theilade who appears tonight on the second of the winter quarter Student Entertainment series in Memorial hall at 8:30 o'clock. Mlle. Theilade will be accompanied by the famous Whitney Ensemble.

Theilade Will Appear Tonight On Entertainment Series Here

Nini Theilade, premiere danseuse of the Max Reinhardt theatre, will appear at 8 p. m. today in Memorial hall under the auspices of the Student Entertainment Committee, with music by the famous Whitney Chamber Music Ensemble.

Nini Theilade, who is barely 19, is Danish by birth. She began taking dancing lessons at the age of five under Russians in Paris. For five years she studied and practiced religiously, often working ten hours or more every day. Her reward came in the form of an offer by Max Reinhardt to join his company.

The appearance of the dancer was originally scheduled for February 12, but had to be postponed because the movie magnates, Warner Brothers, insisted on extending her engagement with them.

Musical Accompaniment

She will be accompanied by the Whitney Chamber Music Ensemble, composed of Noreen Whitney, first violin; Edith Whitney, second violin; Edna Whitney, viola; Robert P. Whitney, double-bass; Grace Whitney, 'cello; and Robert S. Whitney, piano.

The first half of tonight's program will include two presentations of the ensemble and three dances by Mlle. Theilade. The ensemble will play Opus 33 of Weingartner's "Sextet," and Opus 114 of Schubert's "Quintet." The first of Mlle. Theilade's dances is entitled "Danish Porcelain," in which she represents a little statue in the gray blue colors of the famous Royal Copenhagen porcelain which comes to life. It will be done to the music of Debussy.

The second dance will be "Diana," also to the music of Debussy. The third dance will be in the classic style, showing the different moods of a very young girl.

Her first number after intermission will be "Angel at the Tomb," a dance especially created for her and first presented by her in Reinhardt's production of "Everyman" during the Salzburg Festival of 1932. Following this, she will give a portray-

(Continued on last page)

Rooms for Visitors

University Club Sponsors Campaign for Lodging Trackmen.

Students wishing to play hosts to the visiting Southern Conference trackmen who will be here Friday and Saturday nights for the annual indoor meet, are requested to call "Bo" Shepard at the athletic office or President of the University Club Frank Willingham at the S. A. E. house.

The University buildings department has agreed to furnish an extra bed for every dormitory room whose occupants would like to take care of a visitor.

Under the direction of Willingham and his club, an extensive campaign is being carried out to find places for all the track men. Much progress has been made in placing the visitors, according to Willingham, but more places are still needed to accommodate all.

Meals will be furnished at the regular training tables by the University.

P. U. Board Meeting

The P. U. Board will meet to interview applicants for the position of managing editor of the Daily Tar Heel this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

The committee on publication keys will meet at 3 o'clock to continue its investigation. The members of the committee are: J. M. Lear, W. F. Ferger, Jim Daniel, Lonnie Dill, Joe Sugarman, Bernard Solomon, Claude Rankin, and Henry Lewis.

GLEE CLUB PHOTO

Members of the Glee Club will meet at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium of Hill Music hall to have the Yackety Yack picture made. Every member is urged to be present on time and in tuxedo.

There will be ample time to change before the Theilade performance in Memorial hall.

Those members who have not paid their dues are asked to do so at this time.

FILIBUSTER HALTS HILL LIQUOR BILL IN STATE SENATE

Measure Will Be First on Calendar for Today.

Raleigh, March 5.—(UP)—The Hill liquor control bill was blocked in the Senate by the first filibuster of the session, led by Senators Griffin of Franklin, and Gravely of Nash.

The measure will be reached the first thing on the calendar tomorrow when the upper House meets at 11 a. m. The filibuster centered around a bill to regulate the practice of optometry.

The House furnished a furore when it reached the bill of Representative Cherry of Gaston, permitting the governor to borrow money in anticipation of revenue. Representative Bowie of Ashe led the attack on the measure. The bill finally passed on the second reading by a vote of 86 to 15.

RED CROSS PLANS FOR COMING YEAR

Group to Request Combination Anatomy, Physiology, and First-Aid Course Here.

The executive committee, composed of officers and committee chairmen, of the local chapter of the American Red Cross, held its annual meeting Monday night to lay plans for the coming year and to hear committee reports and the report of Treasurer G. Maurice Hill for the year March, 1934, to March, 1935.

The chapter plans to request University authorities to have included in the University curriculum a course in anatomy and physiology combined with first aid.

Life Saving Club

The most important student activity of the Chapel Hill chapter during the last year has been the life saving club formed under its auspices. Members of the club include Red Cross examiners among the students, holders of life saving certificates, and others interested in life saving work.

An attempt is being made by this group to enter a Carolina swimming team in the Southern Conference meet at Duke University Friday. This team would be co-captained by R. R. Williams and John A. Brabson, leaders of the club. Whether the team enters the meet this year or not, there will be a swimming team next year.

Tests During Holidays

Lee Greer, chairman of the life saving committee of the chapter, has arranged for Red Cross tests to be conducted at Duke during the holidays by a Red Cross examiner from Washington, D. C.

Other business at the meeting included the planning of the budget for the coming year and the discussion of the feasibility of having a short course for volunteer chapter workers during the summer session.

Among the activities of the Chapel Hill chapter at present are the courses in first aid being given in several schools in the county by W. B. Stevenson, executive secretary of the chapter.

Tau Beta Pi Meeting

The North Carolina chapter of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in 214 Phillips hall, according to an announcement made yesterday.

FOURTH-YEAR MEN VOTE TO ABOLISH REMAINING LEVIES

Last Year's Reserves Plus Fall And Winter Dues Make Additional Fees Unnecessary.

PLAN FOR SENIOR WEEK

No additional fees will be levied on the members of the senior class, according to the provisions of the budget drawn up by the senior class executive committee at its meeting last night.

Due to a reserve brought over from last year, the treasury holds ample funds, including the fall and winter quarter fees, to cover all activity expenses.

Senior Week Plans

Plans for Senior Week were drawn up by the committee and the date for the affair was set for the second week in May. Beginning on Tuesday with the class smoker and free show, the week will proceed through Wednesday's stunt night, Thursday's tapping for the Golden Fleece, and Friday and Saturday's junior-senior dance.

Plans are also under way for selecting the customary senior class regalia.

A special committee was appointed to investigate the matter of electing the senior class superlatives during Senior Week.

Billy Harrison, Ralph Gardner, and Dick Haynes were placed on the committee to arrange for the annual class gift to the University.

Billy Pitt, head of the trophy committee, informed the class that his committee had succeeded in contacting many members of the alumni and captains of former athletic teams to recover many of Carolina's trophies that have been lost during the past decade.

Pool called a special meeting for Sunday night in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. for the executive committee to work out details for Senior Week.

PLAYERS TO GIVE ORIGINAL DRAMAS

Seven Plays on Playmakers' Second Bill of Experimentals; to Be Presented Tomorrow.

Seven original dramas are included on the Carolina Playmakers' second bill of experimentals which will be presented tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and again tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

Representing the second half of the winter quarter's work, the new experimental plays complete the list of 12 dramas that have been selected on the basis of merit by the University's playwriting department for presentation. Five experimentals have already been presented this quarter.

State Students Lead

North Carolina students again carry away most of the writing honors. Six out of the seven dramas for tomorrow's bill were written by Carolinians and one by Kenneth Bartlett, a Californian. Bartlett will have the first act of his full-length play presented.

Author Sarah Seawell and Joseph Lee Brown are directing three of the dramas and the respective authors, the remaining four. Miss Seawell will assist Mildred Moore, the author, in

(Continued on last page)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: IRVING SUSS

Wednesday, March 6, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"Your University career rests with you," Dean House told the freshmen. It sounds like spring fever to us.

The old Buccaneer was tried for "disorderly conduct." Why not "vagrancy"—from the straight and narrow path?

So Ickes is withholding Idaho's FERA grant for the month. Not pending Senator Borah's becoming a very, very good Democrat, by any chance?

The Danger of A Lax Council

It is highly important that the Student Council should not be lax in its duty toward campus offenders. The honor system depends on that.

From the time it took office until February 1 of this year, the present council heard 12 cases for violations of the honor system. Only two cases of the entire 32 that were tried for all offenses resulted in suspension. These 32 cases include not only honor system offenses, but breaches of the campus code, of bad check regulations, and appeals.

How does this compare with former years? In the five years previous to this council's time, there were tried 117 cases of honor, exclusive of all others. Of that number 52 resulted in suspension, or nearly half.

We are not attempting to figure any percentages of how many cases should result in suspension from the number of honor system violations heard by a council. That would be unfair as each case varies according to circumstances.

Nevertheless, it is clear that if the present Student Council suspended only two cases out of a total of 12 while during the past five years the Student Councils have suspended 52 out of 117, either the number of honor system violators is rapidly decreasing or this year's Student Council has been soft in imposing the penalty that eliminates undesirable citizens from the student body.

If the latter is the case, that situation would soon undermine the honor system which the University has maintained for nearly half a century.

It is not easy to judge what the situation actually is. On the one hand, a freshman who has been in the University one month is brought before the council on a charge of plagiarism. There may be mitigating circumstances that justify some sentence other than suspension.

On the other hand, an upperclassman is brought before the council on a charge of cheating, of which he is convicted. The council which convicted him was last year's council. That upperclassman appeals his case to the present Student Council. His sentence is revoked.

Those cases are typical of both sides of the question. We have not heard all the cases, and we are giving the present Student Council the benefit of the doubt. But that doubt has been raised. It is that the present Student Council has been lax in imposing the full penalty for breaches of the honor system.

Needless to say, it is imperative that if that doubt has been well founded, the Student Council must acquit itself well during the remainder of its term of office. Otherwise, the honor system is suffering from a danger more pernicious than it ever has before.

About Debating

When the student advisory committee recommended that student fees be re-allocated, it had in mind some definite changes in the channels of fee distribution.

One was that the present fee collected for the debate council and debating activities should be materially reduced and a new fund created from the same fee to be termed "the permanent campus improvement fund." This money so allocated would be used throughout the school year in improving dormitory facilities, campus walks and lawns, building rehabilitation, and other such projects.

Last week we peeked in at an intercollegiate debate in Gerrard hall and saw only 10 persons. We know where student debaters have made extended trips to address such small audiences. We also know that one member of the student advisory committee which recommends a reduction in debate fees is a debater himself and has made similar tours.

We do not mean to underrate or deprecate debating at the University. But the fact is undeniably present that debating is no longer an activity of all-campus interest. It used to be, but the undergraduate mind is no longer running in the channels of student oratory. And that fact, however much it is to be lamented, emphatically denies the efficacy of continuing a student compulsory charge to support local declamation.

Unless Carolina debaters can offer something different in the line of platform-oratory in order to recapture undergraduate interest, it is obvious that debating does not deserve support in the form of compulsory student fees. We are not at this time arguing that a new fee should be created, although the idea is a sound one. What we say is that student fees must result in benefits to those who pay them. Debates are not at present interesting the undergraduate body and until they do, the compulsory fees are misappropriated.

* * * *

The differences between English and American debating are called to our attention by Everett Hunt in a letter in the Forum of the current issue of the Quarterly Journal of Speech. American debating is characterized as the cultivation of discipline, English debating as the pursuit of pleasure.

In England undergraduate debating at Oxford and Cambridge is more a clash of minds and wits than a contest of facts and figures. It must not be deduced from this that the Oxford and Cambridge debaters do not discuss any serious subjects. They merely intersperse their serious debates with light, humorous subjects. These non-technical and amusing topics give the speakers free rein for the display of their ability and wit untrammeled by heavy, factual material.

Just to illustrate the topics that are debated in addition to the more pertinent subjects we will cite a few of the debate topics which Mr. Hunt mentions. "The University polishes the pebble and dims the diamond." "The Lounge Lizard is preferable to the Cave Man." "A ring on the hand is worth two on the phone." "The modern girl could teach her grandmother to suck eggs." These topics are developed by the English debaters with brilliant wit, sparkling repartee, and pleasing rhetoric.

The inauguration of such subjects in the intercollegiate debates of this University would do much to popularize debating. More people would participate in debating and more people would go to hear the debates. The many heavy, technical, dry debate subjects would be relieved of their monotony by occasional brilliant clashes of wit.

Reading Course for The Lower Classes

There is need for an undergraduate directed reading course in our English department. We need a course that would be up to date, a course that would instill and develop the habit of reading by the students.

The undergraduate is subjected to a bombardment of Chaucer, Burke, Carlyle, Milton, and the rest of the familiar list. By the time that the average student has completed his requirements in English he is so sick and tired of the subject that he does not want to have anything to do with it.

Rarely do we find people who after they have completed their college work, sit down and read the so-called classics. A great percentage of the college students and college graduates do not even sit down and read anything. This condition may be partly credited to our system in teaching English.

In the English department a directed reading course should be arranged for the purpose of interesting the undergraduate in modern biography and modern poetry. The creation of such a course could give the undergraduate a life-long gift which in turn would lead no doubt, to a spontaneous interest in the classics. The classics in this way would not be forced, but would be taken with a spirit of enjoyment.

Students like to read, not cram. If they were directed, not forced, they would read.

Casual Correspondent
by Nelson Lansdale

ENCOURAGEMENT

And since we're told that somebody connected with the Finjan takes this department to task in the current issue for telling a story before it happened, perhaps nobody will mind if we're a week or two late with one about Senator Nye and a freshman. After the distinguished speaker had concluded his address, and was hurrying into his coat in an effort to get away in time to make his train for Washington, a freshman barged up to ask if the investigation was still going on.

"Why, yes, it is," replied the Senator. "We're having ——— down from New York tomorrow at our request to investigate further."

"Atta-boy, Senator," said our Freshman, giving the broad legislative back a hearty thump. "Give 'em hell, give 'em hell."

BUT IF YOU'RE THE BOTTOM

If you are as thoroughly sick by now of hearing "You're the Top" as this department, you're probably just in the mood for a little Valentine received by Bill Hudson, crack reporter for the DAILY TAR HEEL. Bill says he doesn't know who sent it, but he suspects on old girl. Here it is:

"You're a flop,
You're a Hauptmann rooter,
You're a flop,
You're a church-box looter,
You're a ham's conceit,
A clerk who'd cheat
On change,
You're stale night-club air,
An old grey mare
Who has the mange.
You're the guy
Who'd take sweets from babies,
You're a lie,
You're a mutt with rabies.
I'm payless toil,
Just castor oil,
Warm pop.
But if, Billy, I'm the bottom
You're a louse."

COMEBACK

You may or may not know that Beatrice Lillie, the singer-actress currently appearing on the New York stage, is in private life, Lady Peele, a favorite of London society. Ed Moyer tells one about her recent visit to a Chicago beauty shop. While the actress was undergoing her treatment, the wealthy Mrs. Ogden Armour, wife of the head of the great meat packing concern, blew into the shop and demanded her favorite attendant. The head of the establishment, all deference and apologies, was sorry, but the attendant was occupied, and could not be interrupted, even for Mrs. Armour.

"And with whom," Mrs. Armour demanded, was her attendant so busy? With Miss Beatrice Lillie, she was told.

"Humph," snorted Mrs. Armour, "this is some establishment if Mrs. Ogden Armour has to wait for a common vaudeville actress." So saying, she plopped into a chair to wait.

A few minutes later the svelte, well-groomed star appeared. Ignoring Mrs. Armour completely, she addressed her icy parting remark to the manager: "You may tell the butcher's wife that Lady Peele has finished."

AWFULLY STRANGE

We had nothing but sympathy for a middle-aged man who was drinking himself into a stupor in the politely atmospheric Tavern of the Washington Duke the night of the Ballet Russe. He sat alone in a booth, staring at the bottles of White Rock which littered the table, and looking vacantly at his bottle of Seagram's beside him on the seat, while the Tavern filled up with the noisy, evening-clad crowd who'd just come from the recital. Inevitably all the tables filled up, and our drunk poured himself another drink and stared morosely at the crowd, not quite comprehending the uproar. About this time two of the performers, a lady and a gentleman, very sleek and Russian-looking, roved in to find a table.

The lady spied the man alone at the booth, and approached the table. She slid into the seat opposite him, asking him in Russian if she might do so. Her companion joined her, also politely begging his pardon—in Russian. Our drunk stared at them, then out the window sadly, and said in a loud mournful voice: "I hardly know what to say." He offered them a drink, pointing to his bottle. They refused, and since there didn't seem to be any possibility of a conversation, began talking in very animated Russian to each other.

The drunk stood it as long as he could. Finally, he put the bottle in his inside pocket, edged out of the booth, and wobbled uncertainly away from the table, shoved his way through the crowd, and wandered muttering out into the night.

PROGRAM NOTE

On the back of the program for the Ballet Russe in Duke's Page Auditorium the other night was an ad calling for a coming Musical Clubs Concert. At the bottom was this legend: "Students 25c—Adults, 50c."

Musicology

(Continued from page one)

academic life with thinkers in other fields of research and activity.

In announcing the new curriculum, Dean W. W. Pierson said: "During the past several years the study of music in this institution has experienced notable advancement, and the graduate school has received many inquiries as to the possibility of graduate instruction in the field. With the appointment of Dr. Glen Haydon as the new head of the department, and with the acquisition of new research materials in musicology, this new curriculum was projected. The graduate school welcomes the opportunity of making the announcement."

Purpose

Explaining the purpose of the new course, Dr. Glen Haydon, head of the University music department, said: "The study of music has commonly been thought of as simply learning to play an instrument. If a person were very serious he might take some lessons in harmony and perhaps a course in music history. Music in the American colleges and universities has in the past been largely a matter of working in these fields. In recent years, however, educators have come to realize that musical knowledge itself might be a fruitful field of study particularly in view of the specific aims of graduate work in general, especially in the training of scholars and in the advancement of learning. Accordingly the subject of musicology, which denotes simply a rational, systematized, scientific formulation of what we know about music, has come to the fore as the most appropriate field of graduate work in music."

Among the courses to be offered at the University is an introductory course in musicology, which is a study of the problems and methods in the various fields, historical and systematic, of musical research. A graduate seminar affords opportunity for research in special fields. Advanced work in musical history and theory complete the curriculum.

SEND THE DAILY TAR HEEL HOME

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

5:30: George Sterney's orch., WPTF.

6:45: Lowell Thomas, commentator, WLW.

7:00: Jack Denny, orch., WEAF; Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

8:15: Edwin C. Hill, news, WABC.

8:30: Wayne King orch., WEAF, WSB; Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

9:00: Town Hall Tonight: Fred Allen, comedian; Lennie Hayton orch.; quartet, WLW.

9:30: Burns and Allen, comedy, WBT; Ted Weems orch., WGN.

10:00: The Family Hotel: Jack Pearl; Freddie Rich orch., WBT.; Guy Lombardo orch., Ricardo Cortez, narrator, WLW, WPTF.

10:30: Ray Noble orch, WLW, WEAF.

11:00: Hal Kemp orch., WJZ.

11:15: Leon Belasco orch., WBT.

11:30: Eddy Duchin orch., WEAF, WLW; Wayne King orch., WGN.

11:45: Ozzie Nelson orch., WBRC; Jan Garber orch., WGN.

12:00: Art Jarrett orch., WLW.

12:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

12:30: George Hall orch., WABC.

Lutherans Will Present Broadcast Today

Program Will Be Given at 2 O'clock over WDNC.

Continuing the Religious Workers' Couicil series of radio broadcasts the Lutheran Student Congregation will present today's program over station WDNC in Durham at 2 o'clock.

Today's program will consist of four hymns, two solos, and two short speeches.

The quartet will be composed of Miss Margaret McCauley, Andrew Mahler, Woodford Sink and Cornell Wagner. The soloists will be Miss McCauley and Mr. Mahler. Mr. James Byerly will play the accompaniment.

The short speeches are to be given by Eugene Bricklemeyer and Rev. Roscoe B. Fisher.

Pledging

G. E. Merryfield, Jr., of Cleveland, Ohio, and Franklin Harward of Raleigh, have pledged Chi Psi, it was reported yesterday from the office of the dean of students.

Announcing the RE-OPENING of the University Shoe Shop EXPERT REPAIRING at the same
MODERATE PRICES
Phone 3171

CAROLINA
—Today—
ROBERT MONTGOMERY
HELEN HAYES
in Vanessa
HER LOVE STORY
with
Otto Kruger May Robson
Lewis Stone
— Also —
Comedy — Novelty

Midnight Show Friday
CHESTER MORRIS
ROCHELLE HUDSON
in
"I've Been Around"

Numerous Teams Enter In Non-Conference And Scholastic Track Meets

Frazier and Bullard to Meet in the Feature Half-Mile Run

High and Prep Schools Sign Up 15 Teams from N. J. to Ga.

With all the Southern Conference division entrants already lined up, entries were still coming in from the non-conference and scholastic schools yesterday. All indications point to the biggest and best indoor track carnival ever held in the Tin Can.

At present five institutions have signed up teams for the non-conference, with Catholic University's entries expected today. The present entrants are Davidson, Georgetown, Richmond, Wake Forest, and William and Mary. Catholic U. is assured of coming, and if so, will be defending champs.

Scholastic Group

Fifteen schools have already signed up in the scholastic division, with last minute notices from Durham High and Boys' High of Atlanta. The territory represented by these schools includes the whole mid- and south-Atlantic coast, from New Jersey to Georgia.

Schools entered this year for the first time include Carlisle Military Academy of South Carolina, Georgia Military Academy, McKinley Tech High of Washington, D. C., Newport News High, Va., and Seton Hall High, South Orange, N. J. Oldtimers include Boys' High and Tech High of Atlanta, Newark Prep, Durham High, Goldsboro High, Greensboro High, John

(Continued on last page)

HEARNMEN SHOW LOTS OF 'HUSTLE' IN EARLY DRILLS

Baseballers Suffer from Lack of Letter Material in Infield And Batteries.

VETERAN OUTFIELD BACK

Coach Bunn Hearn will have a lot of "ifs" and only one sure thing when he starts getting his 1935 baseball team together. The certain asset is "hustle." The four nines, coached by Hearn during the past four years, have all shown this important quality and the batterymen working in the Tin Can now are already demonstrating this characteristic pep.

Only the outfield of last year's great team is left; the rest of the departments are shot full of holes. An all-state catcher, two of the leading pitchers, and possibly the entire infield will be missing. Despite this Coach Hearn promises to have a fast team which will give a good account of itself.

Veteran Outfield

Captain "T" Vick, Jim Tatum, Yank Shapiro, and Gus McIver are all back for the outfield, so one or more of these men might be shifted to the infield or backstop.

Norman McCaskill, catcher; Nate Andrews and Tim McKeithan, pitchers; George Brandt, first baseman; Virgil Weathers, second baseman; Dutch Leonard, third baseman; and maybe Tommy Irwin, short-

(Continued on last page)

Table Tennis Card

2:30—Mangum vs. Old East.
4:15—Lewis No. 3 vs. Aycock No. 2.
5:00—Aycock No. 1 vs. Lewis No. 2.
5:30—Ruffin vs. Grimes.

Sir Malcolm vs. Number 13--Can The Briton Win?

English Speedster Is Racing in 13th Year of Career, But Is Not Concerned at All.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 5.—(UP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell, the hard muscled little Briton with a sun squint in his eyes, is notorious for his utter disregard for personal safety in his monster pet, called "Bluebird."

Through all his career as a seeker of higher speeds, he has managed to garnish his attempts with some act involving a gamble.

This year, if you believe in black cats, rabbit feet, horseshoes and not walking under ladders and fooling with the number 13, he had two strikes on him before he left the bench.

No. Thirteen

This is his 13th year behind the wheel on record runs.

Sir Malcolm probably hasn't given it a thought. He is a complex individual who is, among other things, a profoundly superstitious fatalist.

"It doesn't matter where you are, behind the wheel or elsewhere. When your time comes, it simply is all over. That's all."

That seemed to explain away No. 13 and everything else that the rest of us might consider before going for one of Sir Malcolm's special kind of joy rides.

Opened Speed Career

He began this mad hobby of his in 1922 at Saltburn-on-Sea, Yorkshire. That he isn't always lucky is shown by the records. He ran faster than anybody else at least twice, but was ruled out because of improper timing.

Once at Fanoe, Denmark, a tire wrenched loose, hurtled into a crowd and seriously injured a spectator. He kept on running.

Here at Daytona Beach he

(Continued on last page)

MURAL TOURNEY IN FINAL ROUND

Table Tennis Nears Close; Phi Kap Sigs and Phi Delts in Fraternity Finals.

Phi Kappa Sigma, defending champions in intramural table tennis, continued their march toward repetition of last year's feat by stopping the trio from Chi Phi, 2-1, yesterday afternoon at Graham Memorial.

Phi Delta Theta also moved into the semi-final by trouncing Sigma Chi, 3-0. This brings together the Phi Delts and Phi Kappa Sigma for the right to enter the fraternity final.

In the only other match played yesterday Kappa Alpha succeeded in doing away with Alpha Epsilon's challenge and entered the semis on a 2-1 victory. They will meet Z. B. T. No. 2 in the other semi-final contest.

Ruffin also was given a victory by default over Lewis No. 1, when the latter failed to appear. Ruffin plays today against Grimes in one of the four quarter-final matches scheduled. Mangum and Aycock No. 1, top-rated teams, are also due to see action.

Mangum will trade shots with Old East, and Aycock clashes with Lewis No. 2. The other encounter is another Aycock-Lewis clash, the second team of Aycock facing the third outfit from Lewis.

TRACKSTERS COMING TO INDOOR GAMES SATURDAY

Hurdle Races Promise To Be Exciting; Fast Field May Topple Present Records

Everett, Virginia, Leads Timber - Leapers As Defending Champ

Schuhle, Hawthorne, Slye, McDonald Also Good Hurdlers.

The hurdle races of the Southern Conference will be one of the most closely contested events in the coming indoor track meet, to be held in the Tin Can Saturday afternoon and night.

The same group of timber-leapers who placed in the top ranks last year, both indoor and outdoor, will be back. And when this select group of athletes get together, the fans can just naturally look for a battle royal.

Defending Champ

Leading the array of stars is the defending champion and record holder, Grover Everett, captain of the Virginia squad. He was winner in both lows and highs in both indoors and outdoors last year. He holds the conference record in the highs, and is co-holder of the mark in lows. He is a Penn Relay winner, and last year tied the world's record for the highs.

Quite naturally this Cavalier hurdler should receive the number one ranking, and will be the favorite to cop the honors. But he will not be without competition; in fact, he will be pushed to the very limit to win and possibly to new records.

Fast Field

Leading the fast field are Schuhle of Washington and Lee, Hawthorne of North Carolina, Slye of Maryland, and McDonald of Virginia. All of these men have been stars of their respective teams, and have turned out to be consistent winners in both lows and highs throughout the year.

The General pushed Everett last year in the indoor carnival in the highs, while Everett's teammate, McDonald, gave him a fight in the lows. And each time the Cavalier star was forced to come through with a record-breaking or equalling time.

Duke also has several outstanding hurdlers who should be well in the race, including Atkinson and Martin.

PI PHI-CHI O. GAME

The annual Pi Phi-Chi Omega sorority basketball game will be played Friday night, March 8, in Bynum gym. Admission will be 15 cents, and tickets may be bought from any member of either sorority.

Hill and Dale Champs

Three former Southern Conference cross country champions will match speed and stamina in the feature two-mile race at the indoor games here Saturday night. Dunaj of W. and L. won the hill and dale run in 1932, Bird in 1933, and McRae of North Carolina in 1934.

FROSH NET SQUAD STRENGTHENED BY TWO NEWCOMERS

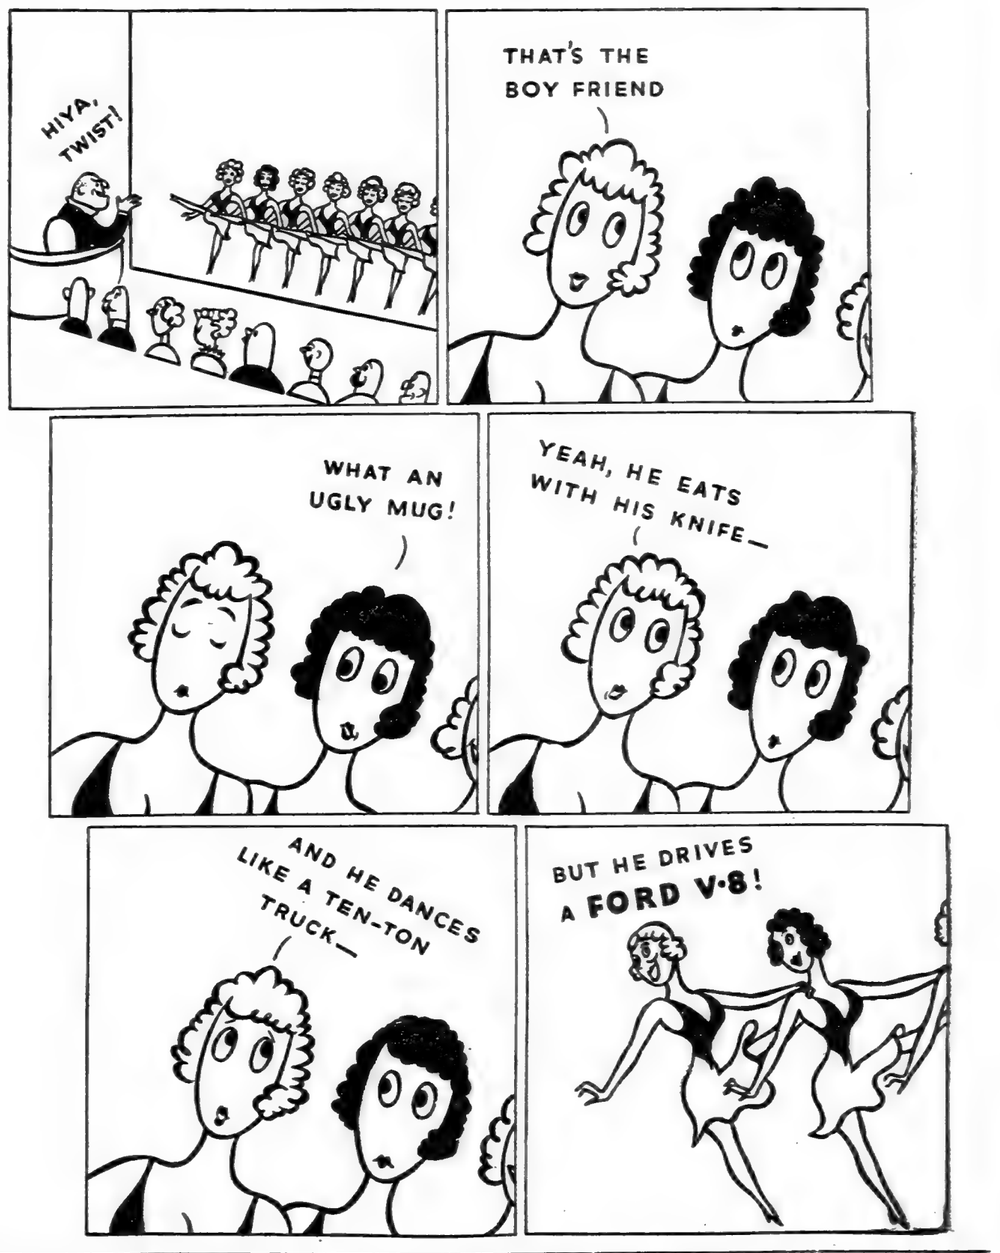
Loss of Eddy De Gray from Fall Team Nullified by Addition of Potts and Fuller.

TEAM LOOKS POWERFUL

Keep an eye on the freshman net squad! Bolstered by the addition of Ramsay Potts and Eddy Fuller, the yearling netters are out to make history on the courts.

Potts, Fuller, Gene Robinson and Johnny Foreman shape up as the four "invincibles" that will carry the fate of the frosh tennis team in their hands.

Potts, placed fourth in the 1934 junior national ranking, will be the sparkplug of the team. Hailing from Memphis, Tenn., Potts has led the younger tennis stars in the south for the past few years and is a threat for national honors in the near future.



New Englander

Fuller, who has just entered the University this winter, also holds a ranking, and his performance on the court this spring will be under critical observation. This youth has shown class in his home section and is ranked fourth in New England. Fuller comes from Salem, Mass., and is not a stranger in these parts, having eliminated Ricky Willis last year in the Pinehurst invitation tournament.

Next is Gene Robinson, Canadian youngster, who was runner-up to Eddy De Gray in this fall's freshman championship. He was no match for De Gray, but has proven his supremacy over the other yearlings, and will give both Potts and Fuller quite a battle before conceding the top positions. Robinson was at one time Canadian junior champion.

Johnny Foreman, Illinois powerhouse, is another due to

(Continued on last page)

STROWD MOTOR CO.

"Ford Products Since 1914"

MAJORS IN MUSIC TO GIVE RECITAL

Program to Be Today at 4 P. M. In Hill Music Hall.

Presented by the University deparament of music, music-majoring juniors and seniors will appear in recital today at 4 p. m. in Hill Music hall auditorium.

Included on the program are the following numbers: "Ballade in G Minor," by Brahms, played by W. Bracy at the piano; "Album Leaf," by Wagner, played by Miss Jane Ross, violin, and Miss Jane Forgrave, piano; "A Chorale," by Bach, Virginia Buckles, piano; "Serenade," by Lavignac, played by D. Bennett on the flute.

Finale from the "Fourth Symphony," by Widor, played at the organ by L. Sistare; "Walter's Prize Song," by Wagner, played by Miss Isabelle Buckles, violin, and, Miss Virginia Buckles piano; Aria from the "Magic Flute," by Mozart, played on the horn by J. White; two waltzes in A Flat and E Minor by Chopin, played by Miss Jane Forgrave, piano.

"Lamento and Tarentelle," by Grovlez, played by Herbert Hazleman, clarinet, and Miss Jane Forgrave, piano; and two etudes by Chopin, played by V. Mason on the piano.

Cinema on Insulin To Be Shown Here

Thursday, March 7, at 7:30 p. m., there will be shown in the auditorium of the pharmacy building a seven reel moving picture entitled "Milestones in Medical Research," that is sponsored by Eli Lilly and company.

The material for the picture was prepared by Dr. Howard W. Haggard, professor of applied science at Yale, and by Dr. G. H. A. Clowes, director of the Lilly research laboratories.

The first three reels are devoted to the production and standardization of insulin, while the last four reels portray a diabetic clinic in a large Indianapolis hospital where all characters shown are doctors, nurses, dieticians, and actual patients. There are no professional actors in the picture and the tone of the picture has no commercial aspects. Sixty-five minutes are required for the showing.

Malcolm Campbell

(Continued from page three)

tore the underpan loose one year and broke his snubbers. On another occasion his gear shift lever slipped out and wrenched his arm.

A few days later he made 272 with one arm. Perhaps, viewing it from another angle, he's lucky it was only a wrenched arm, after all these years.

On this, his 13th anniversary, he is shooting the works for 300 and will not be satisfied with less. That looks like a tough combination.

A. I. E. E. MEETING

A meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in 206 Phillips hall. Professor J. E. Lear of the University engineering department will speak on the "Application of Electric Motors to Sewerage Disposal and Water Filtration."

J. G. Farrell will speak on the subject of "Induction Voltage Regulators." Attendance invitations are tendered to members of the society only.

Freshmen Meet Deans

Freshmen of the schools of applied science, commerce, and the college of liberal arts will meet with their deans at assembly period today in Venable, Memorial, and Gerrard halls, respectively.

Nini Theilade

(Continued from page one)

al of "The Flute Player," and her last number on the second part of the program will be "Ballett." The music for the three dances is from Bach, Chopin, and Debussy, respectively.

The ensemble will then render three compositions: "Rondo," by Boccherini; "Cavatina," by Borodin; and "Rondo a la Zingarese," by Brahms.

Final Dances

The final portion of the program includes: "Impression from Tahiti," with music from Sherwood, a portrayal of a young half-cast girl trying to express herself in dancing to unfamiliar music in the rhythmic native style; "Lotus," a depiction of the lotus flower which blooms but once in the moonlight and dies at sunrise; and "Presto," done to Mendelssohn's music.

Nini Theilade's heritage gives her a rare combination of the exoticism of the east, Latin grace, and a touch of Scandinavian stability. Her mother is a direct descendant of the ex-Sultan of Java; her father, through two generations of Danish clergymen, a descendant of the French general Thaylade.

In her recitals Mlle. Theilade dances to the music of all the great composers. Since her debut as a protege of the great Pavlowa she has created all of her own dances.

Student Entertainment tickets for the recital may be secured at the business office next to the cashier's window in South building today from 10 to 1 and from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Experimental Plays

(Continued from page one)

the direction of "I Sing Forever," a tragedy of the Carolina mountains.

Brown will direct Billy Greet's "Tsalagi" and Anne Hyman Moore's "Crazy-Patch Quilt," a play of the Carolina tobacco country. Miss Sarah Seawell will direct her own drama, "The Settin'-Up"; Ellen Deppe, her "And So They Grow"; Kenneth Bartlett, his "Wait a While"; and Wilbur Dorsett, his "Goldie."

The staging and stage management of the bill of plays will be under the direction of Samuel Selden and Alton Williams, respectively.

Stage workers for the production include Ralph Burgin, Mary Armbruster, Henry Pierson, Billy Roberson, Willard Miller, Sarah Seawell, Ellen Deppe, and Ralph Lylerly.

ECONOMICS LEADER SEEKING REST HERE

Chicago University Professor H. A. Millis, now serving on the National Labor Relations board and acting president of the American Economic Association, is spending two weeks here at the Carolina Inn.

After his rest in Chapel Hill, Dr. Millis will go to Washington where he is to appear before the Senate committee on the Wagner bill, and then he will return, with Mrs. Millis who is accompanying him on his southern trip, to Chicago to resume his professorial duties as chairman of the department of economics.

VANCE TO NEW ORLEANS

Dr Z. B. Vance of the institute of research in social science left yesterday for New Orleans where he will lecture on "Is the Property and Tenant System Inevitable in the Cotton Economy of the South" before a meeting of the Southern Regional Committee Friday.

From there he will go to L. S. U. at Baton Rouge at the invitation of Dr. C. W. Pipkin, dean of the graduate school, to speak on planning the southern economy.

LOVE STORY

Otto Kruger, Robert Montgomery and Helen Hayes in "Vanessa: Her Love Story," which plays today at the Carolina theatre.

Tennis

(Continued from page three)

go some where this spring. His constant bombardment was a feature of the fall play. Johnny likewise holds national recognition, having been ranked 23rd in the junior ranking.

These four are not the only frosh standouts. Ray Bartelman, another one from the vicinity of Chicago; Ted Elwell, Seymore Fast and others have to be considered in the running for positions on the frosh team.

At first the loss of Eddy De Gray, who is now varsity material, was thought to be the final say in the frosh prospects for this year. However, the return of Potts to competition and the unexpected addition of Fuller has added new strength to the squad.

A schedule is in the process of formation for the yearlings, and although no matches are yet definite, a tour of the Big Five will surely be included. The frosh will also face many prep and high schools throughout the state.

DEBATE SQUAD PICTURES

Professor William Olsen, faculty adviser of the debate squad, announced yesterday that the Yackety Yack would take pictures of the entire squad at 10:30 o'clock this morning at Gerrard hall.

All men who have participated in University debates or attended the debate squad meetings are expected to be present.

Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: J. F. Blue, Walter Gordy, B. W. Millis, Louis Monica, T. A. Apple, Leighton Dudley, R. L. Bolton, A. H. Jarrett, Charlie Shaffer, H. B. Ressler, William Davis, J. T. Love, and Jake Snyder.

Indoor Track

(Continued from page three)

Marshall High of Richmond, Va., Morristown High, Tenn., Old Town School, and Winston-Salem High.

Frazier vs. Bullard

The feature race of these outer-conference divisions will be the half mile between Frazier of Davidson and Bullard of W. and M. Last year the Virginian won the event with Frazier in the field. But the Wildcat is said to have improved greatly. It is to be remembered that he is the man who set both mile and two-mile state records here last spring on the same day. But he will have a hard time if he ekes out a win over Bullard.

Monk Little, also of W. and M., will be on hand for the sprints. He has run the century outdoors in less than 10 seconds many times, and is one of the best broad jumpers in the nation.

COURSE IN MARRIAGE TO COUNT FULL CREDIT

Counting as a full course, Sociology 62, marriage, will be offered to senior men students in the spring quarter, according to an announcement from Professor Ernest R. Groves of the University sociology department.

The class will be taught at 12 o'clock. Students who are taking A.B., LL.B., and B.S. in medicine may register for the course with the permission of the sociology department.

Slapstick

Through the medium of the DAILY TAR HEEL, the golfing historians of Saunders hereby issue a public and verbal glove slap to the golf team of the English department to participate in a match to be held in the near future, the winners of said match to meet the commerce department.

Phi Assembly

(Continued from page one)

night hitched up their pants, cleared their throats, and joined in making the last meeting for this quarter the most tempestuous of the year.

Hardly had Speaker Clarence Griffin taken the chair when a vicious controversy over bills entered for discussion in the DAILY TAR HEEL broke out. A motion that Winthrop Durfee be reprimanded for interference with the bills was passed, and later declared "out of order" by Speaker Griffin. Durfee had resented the wording of the bill in which the Republican party was described as "defunct," and took it upon himself to alter it.

The assembly voted, however, by a count of 10 to 9 that the Republican party is losing its status as a rival national party. It was during the voting on this measure that Representative Frank McGlinn and Speaker Griffin exchanged arguments of a heated nature as to the eligibility of visitors to vote.

The assembly voted unanimously in favor of membership in the Carolina Political Union. A motion was passed by the assembly for the appointment of a committee to investigate the possibility of a peace movement on the campus with principles as outlined by Senator Gerald Nye in his recent speech here. Representatives James Mizelle, Robert Magill, and Stuart Rabb were appointed to the committee.

Baseball

(Continued from page three)

stop, will be gone. There is still a question whether Irwin can become eligible to enter school next quarter.

In addition to Irwin, Trip Rand is the only other veteran infielder left. Rand took turns with Leonard at third, seeing action most of the time against left-handed pitching.

No lettermen are back for the receiver unless Tatum is shifted there. He caught some this summer and will probably return to the post if one of the rookies do not come through.

Freddie Crouch, who lost only one tilt in 13 tries last spring, will be depended on to carry the burden of the hurling department. Leo Manly is the only other lettermen back, and he turned in just one victory last season.

Yackety Yack Staff

The following members of the Yackety Yack staff must report to Henry Lewis at the office at 2 o'clock tomorrow or else be dropped from the staff: C. Walter Brown, Bill Jordan, Alex Gover, Roy Crooks, George Allen, and Ferdinand Weisbrod.

Film Folk Gloomy

Time for Filing Income Tax Returns Draws Near.

Hollywood, March 5.—(UP)—Hollywood stars will soon be feeling the pinch of poverty again.

Time for filing income tax returns always casts a pall of gloom over the film folk who draw upwards of $50,000 a year and are asked to part with a sizeable portion of it in one chunk.

Kay Francis, for one, must hand over $20,000 to the treasury department. Carole Lombard will write a check for a similar amount.

Not all of the stars are in a condition to meet the tax. Many must borrow. Others will drain cash reserves of their last penny. Distraught business managers who seek to keep their clients within spending bounds throughout the year are doing some tall figuring to try to make both of the proverbial ends meet.

Will Rogers probably will pay the highest tax of the stars. Among the executives, Louis B. Mayer, Irving Thalberg, the Messrs. Warners, and Joseph Schenck will write their returns in large figures.

Schnell Ill

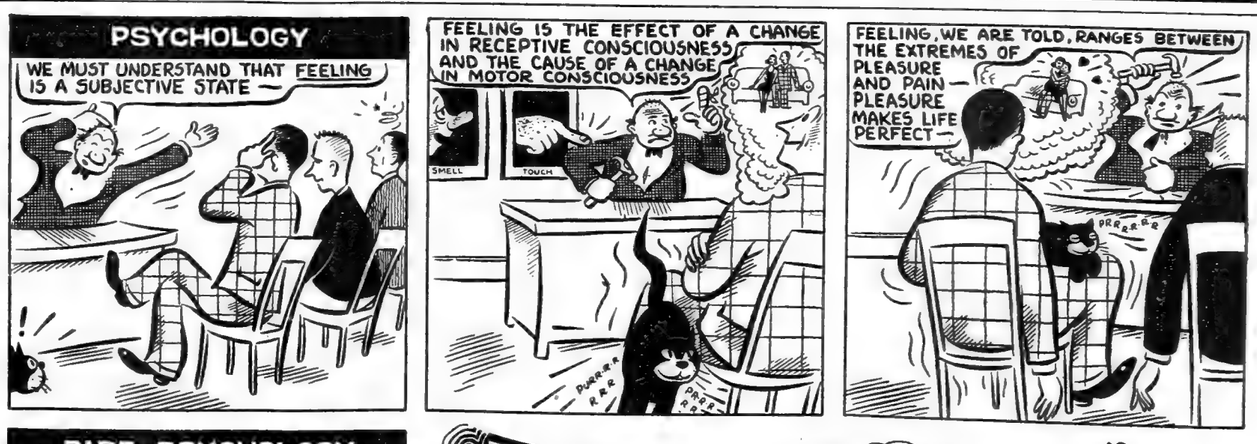
Herman Schnell, assistant to the director of the extension division, has been in Watts hospital, Durham, under medical observation since last Friday.

Kellogg's COLLEGE PROM

PEP ON THE AIR

Ruth ETTING and her melody

Red NICHOLS and his rhythm



Join the fun every Thursday night—Kellogg's College Prom night! Every week this Prom is broadcast with all the thrills and merriment of a different college campus. Wonderful music to dance. Beautiful songs. Excitement of athletics.

It's just like going to a different college every week! Don't miss a single Kellogg Prom.

EVERY THURSDAY NIGHT

7:45—Eastern Standard Time

WJZ Network—N. B. C.

STUDENT DRAMAS
4 AND 7:30 P. M.
PLAYMAKERS THEATRE

The Daily Tar Heel

SIGMA GAMMA EPSILON
7:30 P. M.
NEW EAST

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1935 | NUMBER 123

MURCHISON TALKS TOMORROW NIGHT IN GERRARD HALL

University Commerce Professor to Discuss Present Restrictions to World Trade.

WILL SPEAK AT 8 O'CLOCK

A Gerrard hall audience will learn about "Restrictions on World Commerce" tomorrow night from one who knows, Claudius T. Murchison, University commerce professor on leave to carry out the duties of director of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

The address is at 8 p. m.

Dr. Murchison will describe in detail the tariffs, duties, and trade agreements which at present limit world commerce. He will also tell the story of the United States' fight against these restrictions.

Lived Here

The federal commerce bureau head has many friends in Chapel Hill. He and his family moved from here to Washington at the end of last summer after his appointment in May to his government position.

Dr. Murchison had been a member of the University faculty since 1921. He was director of research in the school of commerce when he received his appointment.

VARIETY KEYNOTE OF NEW DRAMAS

Second Bill of Experimentals Today Shows Wide Range of Subject Matter.

Variety is the keynote of the Carolina Playmakers second bill of experimental dramas for the winter quarter. They will be presented this afternoon at 4 o'clock and again tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the theatre.

Included on the bill of seven original plays written this quarter in the University's playwriting courses are representatives of various "local color" fields.

Greet's Play

Billy Greet, a North Carolinian, will have his "Tsalagi" presented; and the Playmakers, in presenting it, will show for the first time at Carolina a drama of the Cherokee Indians of western North Carolina.

Also, Ellen Deppe's "And So They Grow" will be something relatively new in the Playmakers line. The drama of "little ladies," as Miss Deppe has called it, will be one of the few completely juvenile plays ever presented by the Playmakers.

Included in the cast for "And So They Grow" are little Misses Ruth Burch, Valeska Hayden, Elease Pittman, and Dorothy Dashiell. Today's bill of plays will be the "little ladies' " debut with the Playmakers.

Wilbur Dorsett's "Goldie" adds further variety to the bill with the tale of a Negro Saturday night, a favorite Dorsett theme. The Carolina tobacco country is represented by "Crazy-Patch Quilt" by Anne Hyman Moore.

"I Sing Forever," by Mildred Moore, tells of a tragedy of the Carolina mountains and Sarah Seawell's "The Settin'-Up," has been called "a country wake."

The new bill of plays is completed with Kenneth Bartlett's "Wait a While."

Rooms Not Yet Found For All Trackmen

University Club President Frank Willingham is still campaigning to find rooms for accommodating the visiting Southern Conference trackmen who will be here tomorrow and Saturday nights for the annual indoor track meet.

Students wishing to play hosts are asked to get in touch with Willingham at the S. A. E. house or "Bo" Shepard at the athletic office. The buildings department will furnish extra beds for the visitors.

World News Bulletins

U. S. Mourns Holmes's Death

Washington, March 6.—(UP)—Close associates of Oliver Wendell Holmes joined those who knew him only through newspapers tonight in mourning his death.

Roosevelt, friend and admirer, said that he would attend the funeral Friday in Arlington cemetery. Friday would have been the former justice of the United States Supreme Court's 94th birthday. After resting in a coma since Monday, he died at 2:15 a. m.

Dollar Still Out of Line

Washington, March 6.—(UP)—The dollar hasn't yet reached a level sufficient to relieve the country's debt burden, Roosevelt said today, but he denied contemplation of further devaluation.

When asked at a press conference whether commodity prices had been stabilized, Roosevelt said that he felt the dollar was still out of line with the country's debt structure, although great progress had been made in readjustment.

Hill Storms in Senate

Raleigh, March 6.—(UP)—Senator Hill told the Senate today that "the best people of North Carolina are violating the Turlington act" as he urged enactment of his bill providing state controlled sale of whiskey.

In an impassioned plea, the mild spoken Durham Senator stormed as he quoted statistics, reviewed his 30 years' fight against liquor, and called on the Senate to quit "shutting their eyes to the facts in the case."

Richberg to Be Questioned

Washington, March 6.—(UP)—The first detailed picture of what the new NRA will look like is expected tomorrow when the Senate finance committee begins its investigation of the NRA by questioning Donald Richberg.

He has been asked to explain the details of the administration's plans for the recovery agency, which is due to expire on June 16.

FERA CHECKS

All students on the FERA payroll may get their checks for the month of February by calling at the University business office sometime today.

Those students expecting checks are requested to call for them as soon as possible so that the business office may be cleared for the registration rush.

Ex-Carolina Football Coach Runs Negro Transient Camp Near Here

Al Howard Is in Charge of Reclaiming 250 Acres of Land In Chatham County.

WILL DIRECT 400 WORKERS

By NICK READ

The United States government is going in for farming in a big way. Eleven miles from Chapel Hill, just over the Chatham county line, 250 acres of North Carolina soil owned by Uncle Sam is being reclaimed from the wilderness.

The work is being done by Negro transients. A camp now capable of handling 39 men is being enlarged to take care of the 400 workers expected to be on the job by next summer. In charge of the camp is Al Howard, ex-Tar Heel football coach and one-time movie actor.

Craps on the Sly

Director Howard was asked how the men behaved themselves and whether they craved a little crap game now and then. "It's against camp regulations to drink and gamble," Howard replied, "but," he went on, "you can't stop a little drinking and crap shooting done on the sly. It's just an urge that they have to satisfy."

Howard said that there had been few trouble-makers. "The disorderly men either leave after a short time of their own accord or we dismiss them," he explained.

The director commented favorably upon the willingness of the men to work when questioned on this point. "I am not a native southerner," he said, "and before I came here I always had the impression that the Negro was lazy, but these boys don't have to be made to work."

Wages Paid

Howard explained that the men are employed 30 hours a week for wages varying from 50 cents to $2.00 per week. "There has been so much to do," he said, "some of the men have voluntarily worked overtime for extra pay."

The transient bureaus in Durham and Raleigh, Howard stated, are co-operating with the Federal Rehabilitation Project,

(Continued on last page)

GASOLINE EXPERT TO TALK TONIGHT

J. B. Taylor to Show Anti-Knock Tests in Venable Hall.

J. B. Taylor of the Ethyl Gasoline Corporation will give a lecture-demonstration on the properties of gasoline tonight at 7:30 o'clock in 206 Venable hall.

This lecture is under the auspices of the local student chapter of the A. I. Ch. E. Taylor is bringing with him a special test engine with which actual anti-knock tests will be performed. He will demonstrate that the addition of certain types of compounds to gasoline cause a great increase in engine knock, whereas other substances reduce or eliminate the phenomenon.

The test engine is equipped with instruments so the audience may observe directly the speed of the engine, its knock intensity, its power output, and the temperature of the cylinder head.

In addition to the experiments with the test engine, the lecture will be illustrated with slides which report the results obtained in studies on several makes of passenger cars and busses.

Window Display To Honor Games Here This Week

Co-op Store Plans Exhibit of Trophies in Connection with Conference Track Meet.

An elaborate window display in honor of the Southern Conference indoor games this week-end will be presented by the Student Co-operative Association, the managers announced yesterday.

Most of the display will be given to the forthcoming games, with the 1935 winner's trophy as the main attraction. The background will be U. N. C. blankets upon which will be pinned the individual medals. Last year's trophy, won by the Tar Heel runners, will also be on view.

Two other large awards will be in the window. The first was won this past week by the Carolina basketball team as a symbol of the Southern Conference title. It is accompanied by the annual placque which must be won three times for permanent possession.

The other trophy is the mile championship cup won by Harry Williamson at the recent Jay-Cee meet in Charlotte. Williamson's junior national A. A. U. 1500-meter medal is also in the window.

INSTITUTE COMMITTEE

Chairman of the Human Relations Institute Committee Charles Poe requests a full attendance at the meeting of the Institute committee tonight at 7 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A.

According to Poe, tonight's meeting will be the last for the winter quarter.

Fussler to Make Address

Dr. Karl H. Fussler of the University physics department will speak tonight at the meeting of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, honorary geology fraternity, at 7:30 o'clock in the geology fraternity's room in New East.

Dr. Fussler's topic for discussion will be the age of the earth.

DANSEUSE THRILLS STUDENT AUDIENCE

Nini Theilade Wins Hearts of Enthusiastic Gathering with Varied Dance Program.

Beautiful 19-year-old Nini Theilade danced her way into the hearts of an enthusiastic Memorial hall audience last night.

Mlle. Theilade appeared here on the last program of this quarter on the Student Entertainment series.

Received with Acclaim

Received with equal acclaim was the Whitney chamber music ensemble, which played between Mlle. Theilade's appearances and rendered the music which she so gracefully interpreted.

The premiere danseuse presented a varied program, having held her audience spellbound as she danced to Debussy's Diana and Lotus, and sending them into delighted laughter when she rendered a caricature of an inexperienced ballet dancer in dancing Debussy's Menuet, or "Ballett."

MEDICAL MOVIE TONIGHT

A seven-reel moving picture entitled "Milestones in Medical Research," sponsored by Eli Lilly and company, will be shown at 7:30 tonight in the auditorium of the pharmacy building.

The first three reels tell the story of the production and standardization of insulin, and the last four give a picture of a large Indianapolis hospital's diabetic clinic.

The characters in the movie are all doctors, nurses, dieticians and actual patients. Sixty-five minutes are required for the showing.

Five Students Seek Managing Editorship Of University Daily

Five DAILY TAR HEEL staff members submitted applications to the Publications Union Board yesterday for the position of managing editor of the campus daily.

Applicants were Walter Hargett, Irving Suss, Don McKee, Reed Sarratt, and Bob Page.

With the exception of Page, who is the present managing editor of the daily, all those applying for the position are city editors on the publication.

The applicants were interviewed at yesterday's meeting, but the final decision will not be made until at a special session Monday.

The request of the editor of the Finjan that the next issue of the funny magazine, the parody on Time, be printed in a smaller and more expensive type was granted by the board.

U. N. C. TO DEBATE STANFORD TODAY

McMullan and Cross to Support New Deal Against Bright-Bold California Team.

Representatives of Stanford University will attack the New Deal in a debate with the University at high noon today in Gerrard hall.

The contest will commence at 12 o'clock and will last approximately a half-hour.

Carolina Team

Harry McMullan, Jr., and Oliver Cross, University debaters, will support the affirmative of the query which reads, Resolved, that this house favor the New Deal.

The Stanford team is composed of Fred Charles Bold, Jr., and Andrew W. Bright.

According to Professor William Olsen of the University English department and faculty advisor of the debating group, the Californians will defend Herbert Hoover. He says that it will take a Bright-Bold team to do it.

REGISTRATION

Permit cards for registration for the spring quarter will be available in room 8 South building beginning today. Spring quarter class schedules may be obtained in room 101.

Registration begins Monday for all students except freshmen and sophomores who failed to pass all their courses in the fall quarter.

NATHANAEL ENGLE TO LECTURE HERE TUESDAY EVENING

Housing Conditions in U. S. to Be Subject of Third Address of Series.

ASSISTANT TO MURCHISON

Dr. Nathanael H. Engle, assistant director to Claudius T. Murchison of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has been secured to speak here Tuesday evening by the lecture committee of the department of economics and comcerce. Dr. Ferger is chairman of this group.

Dr. Engle will deliver the third of a series of lectures on current economic and business subjects. The meeting, which is open to the general public, will be held in 202 Bingham hall at 7:30 p. m.

Speaker's Subject

Dr. Engle's subject is "Housing Conditions in the United States." He is particularly well qualified to discuss this timely topic as he was in charge of a nation-wide survey of urban housing made by the department of commerce in 1934. This was the first large scale investigation into housing conditions ever conducted in this country. In the course of this survey housing conditions in 64 cities were studied in detail, among them being Asheville and Greensboro in this state.

The assistant director received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Michigan. He has taught economics at the University of Washington, the University of Michigan, and at Brown University. He was economist at the Brookings Institution of Washington, D. C., at the time that he accepted his present government position.

Widely known for his writings on business subjects, Dr. Engle is a member of the National Distribution Council of Washington, D. C. He is chairman of the editorial board of the National Marketing Review, the official quarterly publication of the National Association of Marketing Teachers.

HAMPTON SINGERS TO APPEAR HERE

University Y.M.C.A. to Sponsor Presentation of Negro Quartet Tuesday Night.

Sponsored by the University Y. M. C. A., one of America's really old-time quartets, the Hampton Four from Hampton Institute in Virginia, will appear in Memorial hall Tuesday evening at 7:15 to present a short program of spirituals.

The quartet is on tour again after making a notable record several seasons ago with their pure versions of Negro songs.

To Show Paintings

Traveling with the quartet will be Dr. Cooper of Charlotte, the Negro preacher and artist, who will have on display here several of his paintings.

According to an announcement by Harry F. Comer, general secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., all students and townspeople are invited to attend the song program. Comer indicated that the singers would present only a short program in order that students may be allowed time to prepare for the Wednesday examinations.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: DON McKEE

Thursday, March 7, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"Anniversary of New Deal Apparently Fruitless." What, no raspberries?

According to the drys, the wets kept only one of their pledges. We know several frats here would like to get those they didn't keep.

We see where Sir Malcolm Campbell "hurtled into a crowd and seriously injured a spectator. He kept on running. . . ." Who—the spectator?

Getting to Be a Habit?

Nearly two months ago the seniors met in Gerrard hall to decide whether they would pay an extra assessment. It was claimed at the time that the fourth-year men could not stage all the functions they had planned unless an additional fee were levied. Fortunately, not enough seniors were present, and the matter was deferred until class finances could be investigated.

Now—the seniors announce that no additional fee is necessary. They have provided an ample budget because they have found enough revenue from a reserve brought over from last year. For that we rejoice and are exceeding glad, and only wish we had known it before.

Apropos of this, however, is our wonder whether it is not getting to be a habit, this assumption by the classes that they must vote extra fees on themselves. And we are not particularly speaking of this year's senior class, but of all classes.

Let's not make it a habit. It would not be a sensible one. Let's spend what we've got. Let's refuse to make it conventional to spend more.

Students Can Spare a Room

Undergraduate response to the call issued by the University Club in an effort to secure places for the visiting trackmen has been weak.

The buildings department has offered to put a bed or so extra in every room if the occupants will co-operate with the club and athletic officials in providing quarters for some of the visitors. This emergency means of caring for the visitors has been made necessary this year because all available dormitory space is being utilized. Formerly, a whole section in one of the lower rooming houses was offered to the visitors.

Carolina has a virtual monopoly on Southern Conference indoor track meets, as Virginia has on boxing, Washington and Lee on wrestling, Duke on outdoor track, and so forth. It is obligatory that the student body take advantage of the opportunities for spreading the Tar Heel sportsmanship by co-operating with the officials.

Paging Mr. Long

The Carolina Political Union, most recent undergraduate organization, is making special efforts to get His Honor, the Kingfish, Senator Huey P. Long, in Chapel Hill for an address early in the spring quarter.

We think it would be a whiz-bang show. If the political union is after political intelligence, we daresay Mr. Long can tell a few Congressional tricks if anyone can. And if the campus is after an evening of ribald entertainment, we know the Kingfish would not be a mite disappointing.

Consider Our Pelvis

The local Red Cross chapter, we understand, plans to request University authorities to have included in the University curriculum a course in anatomy and physiology combined with first aid.

Several years ago we daresay such a proposal by the Red Cross or any other organization would have been disregarded, simply because the ideas of curricula did not reconcile themselves with such plans for social amelioration and interest.

But the revised curriculum which is still in its first stages of being hatched up in Chapel Hill approaches student education from a different viewpoint. No longer is the educational philosophy apart from the social philosophy of the day; instead, it is identical.

Therefore, any teaching which purports to train more intelligent citizens, more alert Americans, and more educated people of affairs would include such subjects as first aid. However, much as we like the idea of teaching life saving and first aid, we can't sympathize with the suggestion of the Red Cross that the University include in the curriculum a course in anatomy and physiology.

We've got enough courses now for anybody's education and enlightenment. The trouble is we haven't enough money to maintain adequately those we do have.

And, besides, we suspect if our first aiders get too much larnin' they are apt to get tangled up in the intricacies of the pelvis—while we innocent by-standers who dodge automobiles on Franklin street lie a-groaning fit to die.

Two-Faced Science

According to the figures presented to President Roosevelt by the committee on economic security, more people in America are reaching the vicinity of the Biblically allotted three-score-and-ten than ever before.

In 1900, America had just a fraction over 4 per cent of her population in the age group over 65 years. By 1930, this proportion had increased to 5.4. It is the expectation of the committee that the percentage will reach 10 by 1970.

Obviously, there have been many social changes since the early English period in which a man was considered a patriarch at 40. Today, a popular writer declaims that life begins at that age.

A review of history reveals that science has played a major role in the prolongation of human life. We need only mention the abolition of dreaded plagues, the remarkable medical discoveries, and the teachings of sanitation to recall the altruistic part which science has continually practiced.

But there is another side; science, at the same time, has given us devices and poisonous gases which are more powerful and effective in wiping out human life than the worst of the Old World plagues.

Negro Problem

Professor J. T. Taylor of the North Carolina College for Negroes at Durham spoke to the Y. M. C. A. councils Monday evening in regard to the Negro problem which is now coming to light with more persistence than at any time since the Civil War in so far as efforts to ameliorate existing conditions are concerned.

Professor Taylor said: "If you are really going in for your idealism in a practical way, you are picking a hard road to travel."

We have every reason to agree with this statement because in using the word "idealism," he means that sense of responsibility prevalent in the minds of social reformers throughout the country who have been and are attempting to provide better education facilities, and create better living conditions generally for the Negro race in the United States.

Those of us who reside in the land of Dixie or have any connection whatsoever with the social order here, know without question that those factions interested in the welfare of the Negro meet with too little encouragement and assistance. Southern generations since 1870 have been bred on the belief and fed on the precedent that the Negro is an act of God, after a fashion, and to be held strictly to his "place." So strong has this sentiment been that even now, some 75 years after the slaves were freed, a southern white can hardly bring himself into accordance with the principles championed by the aforementioned reformers.

It is indeed the problem and the duty of the youth in the south to tutor his mind to such a degree that he can offer himself to the work of reconstructing the now deplorable lot of our former slave friends.

The problem will take a long time to work out. It is one which must be overcome by intelligence, because prejudice can only be conquered by an understanding of the circumstances on both sides.

SEND THE DAILY TAR HEEL HOME

SPEAKING the CAMPUS MIND

Defense of Honor Council

Editor, The DAILY TAR HEEL:

The purpose of this article is to clear up the questions raised by a criticism of the Freshman Honor Council appearing in this column March 1.

The main point of criticism made by my anonymous classmate is that the Freshman Council lacks experience and so is unfitted to conduct trials. The critic went on to say that the trials will be so involved and difficult that only a mature and experienced tribunal can pass judgment on them.

I grant you that the Freshman Council is inexperienced, but I do not believe that the cases which will come before the council will be of such an intricate and distracting nature. It should be borne in mind that before a freshman is reported to the council for cheating he is first warned by one of his classmates. Besides, before he can be brought to trial for his offense, he must be apprehended in the act by two witnesses. It seems to me that if a freshman is reported for cheating by two witnesses, having first been warned, the council will have ample evidence. Most of the cases brought before the honor council will be clear-cut cases of cheating. The members of the council do not have to be steeped in Carolina tradition, nor do thew have to be over 20 years old to pass judgment on such cases.

To insure absolutely fair, undefective decisions, however, precautions have been taken. The plan of the council calls for an experienced advisor from the Student Council. Moreover, the decisions of the Freshman Council will be presented to the Student Council for sanction. If the facts of the case are not clear, or if there is some discrepancy the Student Council may have a re-hearing. If the decision registered by the freshmen on the Honor Council seems lacking in good judgment in the eyes of the upper-class men, the freshman decision can be modified or revoked altogether after the two Councils have co-operated on the case.

This brings us to another point raised by the critic. He states that all the movement amounts to is taking the power of the Student Council over to the freshman class. Again, he says, "Is this what our class honestly wants?" In the first

(Continued on last page)

UNIVERSITY MEN ATTENTION

Did You Ever SEE, Ever HEAR, Ever BUY NATIONALLY ADVERTISED Men's Wear at Absolutely GIVE-AWAY PRICES?

— There's A Reason —

Our Stock is Broken---Sizes Incomplete. Therefore We Say Right Here and Now---If LOW PRICES Will Move This High Grade Stock We Will Sell To The BARE WALLS and EMPTY CABINETS!!

See these VALUES, these PRICES, BE HERE!

Doors Open THURSDAY 9 IN THE MORNING

SHIRTS
Entire stock of Shirts in two groups
79c & $1.19

Shirts or Shorts
29c

Any Pair of Hose
19c

Hickok Belts or Suspenders
55c

Choice of Our Entire Stock
SUITS $14.40
Formerly priced up to $39.50—Going at—

Tux Collars
13c
2 for 25c

Pajamas
$1.19

Hickok and Swank Jewelry
½ PRICE

Raincoats
$3.45 and up

OVERCOATS
Choice of Our Entire Stock
$9.90
Formerly priced up to $29.50—Going at—

Any Sweater
97c

Neckwear
34c
3 for $1.00

Tux Shirts
$1.49

Pajamas
$1.89

Nunn-Bush Shoes
$4.40

Edgerton Shoes
$3.30

Hats
$2.95

STETSON 'D' STORE
Liquidating Entire Stock

Carolina To Have Strong Outfit In Track Games

Tar Heels Will Defend S. I. C. Championship Here Saturday

Carolina's track team will have possibly its full strength to throw into the Southern Conference track meet Saturday, in defense of its indoor title. However, several valuable men will be missing.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Tin Can all members of both the varsity and frosh squads will meet with Coaches Fetzer and Ranson in a very important meeting. Plans and other discussions for the indoor meet will be taken up in full.

Those stars who will not be on hand to participate will include Bob Reid, co-champ high jumper; Frank Abernethy, ace hurdler out with a bad leg, and Odell Childers, star sprinter and broad jumper.

Tar Heel Captains

Charlie Hubbard and Tom Hawthorne will captain this year's team. The former leads the sprinters and broad jumpers, finishing fourth in the indoor dash last year and winning the leaping event. Hawthorne runs in both low and high hurdles.

Backing up Hubbard in the sprints will be Higby, star year before last; John Farmer, brother of Charlie Farmer, and Connell. The former will also take his turns in the broad jump. Assisting Hawthorne in the hurdles will be Finlay in the lows.

Drake, Montgomery, Rosser, and Gardiner will race in the fast field of quarter milers. Williamson and Gammon will participate in both half and mile runs, with Gardiner and Goldman assisting in the first and Gaberi and Haywood in the latter.

McRae, Waldrop, Allen, and Conte will carry on the two-mile, while the one-mile relay will be chosen from the following: Drake, Rosser, Montgomery, Gaberi, McRae, Gammon, and Connell.

Parker and Efland will do the high jumping, Ewins and Wrenn the shot putting, and Bear and Jackson the pole vaulting.

The freshman entrants will be as follows: Ullman and Bluestone in the dash; Umstead, Graham, Lambert, and Davis in the high hurdles; Garland, Gove, Brumsky, Rowley, Manning, and Anderson in the 3-4-mile run; Bannon and Meroney in the high jump; and a one-mile relay team from Ullman, White, Alderley, Gunn, Bluestone, and Lambert.

Juniors Crowned Co-ed Cage Champs

The co-ed basketball round-robin tourney is over and the juniors have been crowned the champs. They survived the play without meeting a defeat. The frosh were runners-up.

The other night the frosh bowed out a close 26-20 victory over the seniors. Helen D'Anna and Geneva Surratt led the seniors, while the Bush twins starred for the winning yearlings. In the final scheduled game, the juniors won by forfeit from the sophs.

Speedy Old Liners

Maryland is reported to be bringing one of the fastest mile relay teams in the east to the Southern Conference indoor games here Saturday night. At the N. Y. A. C. games recently the Old Line quartet of Archer, Evans, Sonen and Headley, beat the best from N. Y. U., Yale, and Pennsylvania, setting a new record of 3 minutes, 26 seconds.

Norment Quarles Pays Visit Here; He's Still Boxing

Norment Quarles, plus a new Chrysler sedan, visited Chapel Hill yesterday and Tuesday. Norm is one of the greatest boxers ever to attend the University and is still very much in the same game as a professional.

The blond 135-pounder is on his way to Norfolk, Va., to look for a ring encounter. He has spent the winter at Palm Beach, Fla., taking on first class opponents in top attractions.

The last setback received by Quarles was last summer. his record having been marred only by one or two draws since that time. He now weighs in the low thirties and looks even better than when he was fighting for Carolina. If his plans mature the Hendersonville man will resume his studies at Carolina next quarter.

Fighting one year on the freshman team and two on the varsity, Quarles turned in a perfect record. He won the Southern Conference featherweight title in 1933 and the lightweight crown in 1934.

Norm was especially noted during his final year as a Tar Heel boxer because of his knockouts. None of his fights lasted two rounds.

tracking 'em down

by smith barrier

Big Event

This week-end probably the biggest sport event of the year here on the Hill will take place. That is—the sixth annual Southern Conference Indoor Track Carnival. Forty-two teams, with over 375 men participating, will battle it out on the boards of the Tin Can for honors in the field of track. The cream of the Dixie crop will be on hand—the largest single gathering of athletes in the south.

It is up to the University students to put this big carnival across. State and Raleigh have their basketball tourney, Virginia its boxing (?) tourney, W. and L. its wrestling tourney, and North Carolina its track games. These other schools make these tournaments the big day on their sport calendar—and we Tar Heels are going to do the same.

Coach Bob Now Speaking

Let us have a word from the dean of southern track, chairman of the games committee for the conference, and athletic director for our school—Coach Bob speaking:

Gentlemen:

May I call your special attention to the sixth annual Southern Conference Indoor Games, to be staged in our own Tin Can Saturday afternoon and eve-

(Continued on last page)

REFEREES PICKED FOR TRACK MEET

J. V. Mulligan Will Call Things at Games; Governor Ehringhaus Honorary Referee.

J. V. Mulligan of Washington, D. C., has been secured to serve as referee for the Southern Conference indoor games Saturday, R. A. Fetzer, chairman of the games committee, announced yesterday.

Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus has accepted an invitation to serve as honorary referee. Among those who will sit with Governor and Mrs. Ehringhaus will be Forest Fletcher, president, and William Couper, secretary, of the Southern Conference; Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the Greater University of North Carolina; the three administrative heads of the divisions of the University; Deans House, Harrelson, and Jackson; Dean A. W. Hobbs, chairman of the University Athletic Council; Col. C. P. Miles of V. P. I., and wives.

Acceptances are expected from other notables.

Table Tennis Card

2:00—Lewis No. 3 vs. Aycock No. 2 (quarter-final).
3:00—Mangum vs. winner of Lewis No. 3-Aycock No. 2 (semi-final).
5:00—Z. B. T. No. 2 vs. K. A. (semi-final).
5:30—Aycock No. 1 vs. Grimes (semi-final).

Barclay Will Be Fed And Feted By Home-Town

A banquet for a home-town boy who happens to be All-American—that's what George Barclay is due to receive when he returns to Tarentum, Pa., for the spring holidays.

The date will either be March 18 or March 21, depending on Barclay's choice, and the banquet will take place at Brackenridge Heights Country Club.

Coach Snavely has been invited to attend, and a number of football mentors from the east are also expected to be present. Harry Montgomery, who lives at Tarentum, will probably be there as captain of next year's Tar Heels.

Barclay's home is, strictly speaking, Natrona, Pa., but the town is so close to Tarentum, both being in Harrison township, that the distinction does not matter.

Tarentum's "sporting" dinners are well known about Pittsburgh and that section of western Pennsylvania. Last year the town gave a testimonial banquet for Cliff Montgomery, All-American quarterback of Columbia, who is another home-town boy who "made good." Among other coaches present at the banquet last year was Jock Southerland of Pitt.

Barclay, who has not been home since he was named on the mythical eleven, will be given the key to the city.

PHI KAPPA SIGMA GOES INTO FINALS OF TABLE TENNIS

Defending Champs Defeat Phi Delts, 2-1, as Odum and Coker Score Individual Wins.

Phi Kappa Sigma, 1934 table tennis champions, moved into the fraternity final yesterday afternoon with a hard fought victory over Phi Delta Theta, the final score reading 2-1. Aycock No. 1, Mangum and Grimes also scored wins, all three moving into the semi-finals of the dormitory group.

Gene Odum and Jack Coker, defending champions of last year, brought Phi Kappa Sigma through to the final. Odum found the going against Ramsay Potts rather rough after a good start but managed to win in three straight games.

Coker found less trouble with Grier, and scored pretty much at will to annex the needed victory.

Wolslagel, Phi Delts, downed Decker in a thrilling five setter to end the match.

Other Matches

Aycock scored easily over Lewis's second team: Rubin, Goodes and Fuller each winning in two straight games for a 3-0 victory. Grimes topped Ruffin 2-1 after Leiberman dropped the opening singles, while Mangum moved into the semi-final when Old East failed to appear for its match.

All quarter final and semi-

(Continued on last page)

Speaking Campus Mind

(Continued from page two)

place, we all know that the Student Council has approved the move for establishing an Honor Council in our class. In my opinion, the more directly the power of the Student Council relates to the freshman class, the more efficiently the Honor System will function in our class. In the second place, if our class did not want an Honor Council why did it vote for one? The pros and cons of the Freshman Council subject had been flying back and forth on the campus for some weeks before the issue was decided upon. We had plenty of time to make up our minds.

The critic gives as his second reason for being against the Honor Council the discord which would arise from having two councils, the Freshmen Council and the Student Council.

He compares the situation to that which prevails in Congress when the Democratic and Republican parties, wrangling with one another, hinder the legislation of our country. I do not think we should draw this comparison. On the one hand, our state representatives in Washington have their party ties and home interests to look out for. On the other hand, the Freshman Honor Council and the Student Council are drawn together into unity and harmony by a common code which it is their duty to preserve—the honor system. I have already said that the final decisions will be left in the hands of the Student Council. In the last analysis this means that ultimate authority rests in the hands of one council. There will be no grounds for discord.

"This article . . . is not intended to criticize my class," the critic said. Subsequently he made this statement: "The freshman class simply does not have the integrity" for the council to function properly. As to this contention, I can only say that I disagree with the critic. I believe that the boys who have been elected to the Honor Council have a great deal of integrity. The responsibility of their position will influence them not a little to carry out their duties fearlessly and conscientiously.

My classmate, who disapproves of the Honor Council, says that our class lacks integrity, yet he frowns upon a move designed to instill us with integrity. The Honor Council is designed to do this and I believe it will succeed.

A FRESHMAN.

Al Howard

(Continued from page one)

with the transient bureaus supplying the labor for this development. "The purpose of the work," he said, "is to get this wasted land ready for settlement."

Howard exhibited the different units of the camp and pointed out the work done since the project was begun last January. The camp now boasts a number of mules, cattle, pigs, a feed barn for the stock, a mess hall, barracks for the Negroes, and a neat, comfortable office and sleeping quarters for the staff of four white men.

Bull Is Unruly

The outfit recently acquired a well-bred, but rather ill-mannered Guernsey bull. With a twinkle in his eye Howard told how he had unwittingly terrified one of the Negroes nearly to death when, as a matter of precaution, he warned the men of the bull's unruly disposition. "I told them that the former keeper of the bull had been sent to the hospital with a gored stomach, and it frightened one of the boys so he wanted to leave the country," the director said with a grin.

Mention was made of the terrible condition of the road connecting the camp with the good gravel road two miles away. Howard's face grew serious. "Yes," he said, "the road problem has handicapped us greatly." He pointed out that the government's property is not adjacent to the main road. The trail (for that is all it can be called now) which has been built to the camp reminds one of descriptions of old pioneer roads. A wagon is the only means of transportation suited to the up-and-down corduroy construction laid down because of the mud.

In spite of the difficulties to overcome and the great amount of work which lay ahead of him, Director Howard seemed enthusiastic for the future. "The completed camp will be largely independent and self-supporting," he said.

"We haven't had time to do anything in this line yet," the director said, "but a feature of the completed camp will be the educational facilities—the classes for the men." Mention was made of the two home-made basketball back boards and cages nailed to trees. Howard's face beamed. "Oh, we are working on a recreational program," the ex-coach exclaimed enthusiastically. A pair of football shoes noticed in his office bear witness to Howard's assiduous interest in sports.

Infirmary List

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: J. F. Blue, B. W. Millis, Louis Monica, Leighton Dudley, R. L. Bolton, A. H. Jarrett, Glenn Barnwell, Thurman Innis, Charlie Shaffer, William Davis, C. W. Wilson, J. H. Love, Jake Snyder, and H. B. Ressler.

Finjan Distribution

All students who have not received their copies of the March Finjan may get them by calling today between 3:30 and 5 p. m. at 204 Graham Memorial.

Yackety Yack Junior Staff

Members of the junior staff of the Yackety Yack must report to the office today at 2 o'clock.

Tracking 'em Down

(Continued from page three)

ning, March 9.

About 350 of the south's most able athletes from college, preparatory, and high school will be our guests for these Games. Many University organizations have already shown their appreciation of the importance of this event by providing rooming accommodations. Every student in the University can prove himself a worthy host upon this occasion by showing especial courtesies to the visiting athletes and by making them feel at home on our campus. Such courtesy by our students will reflect credit upon our student body and upon the University.

The indoor meet is one of the finest conference championships. Carolina has been the pioneer in developing this event, which has gained widespread reputation and is recognized as the track classic of the south.

It is the rare privilege of this institution to be sponsor of such an event, and it is a rare opportunity that Carolina's students have to witness the splendid competition which will occur when the forty teams, including ten out of twelve of the 1934 indoor champs and eleven of the fourteen of the 1934 outdoor champs, go into action Saturday.

While showing courtesy to our visitors you can also support and provide an inspiration for our own team, which is an important psychological factor in their efforts to capture the Conference title again this year.

Sincerely yours,
R. A. FETZER,
Director of Athletics.

Same Ole Rates

And let the writer add a word to the above. The admission for students is only 40 cents. For a while it was thought that the officials would be forced to raise this price which has stood intact for several seasons. Should the admission price be 50 cents or above, a tax of 10 per cent must be enacted; thus raising the present price to 55 cents. But the conference and University authorities decided that with the tax the admission would be too much, so the students retain their standard admission rates. Thanks to someone, somehow.

Tickets are on sale at the Book "X"—buy now and avoid the rush—only 2½ more shopping days!

Table Tennis

(Continued from page three)

final matches will be completed today and Friday will find the dorm and frat finals being waged.

Phi Kappa Sigma, 2; Phi Delta Theta, 1. Odum (PKS) over Potts, 21-9, 21-18, 21-17; Coker (PKS) over Grier, 21-10, 21-10, 21-19. Wolslagel (PDT) over Decker, 17-21, 21-13, 19-21, 21-7, 23-21.

If You Are a
MAN, BOY, or GIRL
Get What You Need
at BERMAN'S
Different Specials Each Day.
BERMAN'S
Dept. Store

CAROLINA
Today
GEORGE ARLISS
in
"The Iron Duke"
— Also —
Comedy — News

Midnight Show Friday
CHESTER MORRIS
ROCHELLE HUDSON
in
"I've Been Around"

Who...? is
THE SCARLET
PIMPERNEL
masking his identity behind the name of a roadside flower... beloved by a thousand women...feared by a bloodthirsty mob.
(Watch The Papers For More Details)

Stanford University
Will Attack
The New Deal
In a Debate with U. N. C.
At High Noon Today
GERRARD HALL
12:00 to 12:50 O'clock
STANFORD SPEAKERS: Fred Chas. Bold, Jr.
Andrew W. Bright
U. N. C. SPEAKERS: Harry McMullan, Jr.
Oliver Cross
Believe It or Not, Stanford Will Defend Herbert Hoover.
It Takes a Bright-Bold Team to Do It.

TAKE ME ALONG

I'm your best friend
I am your Lucky Strike

Choose me for your companion. I don't tolerate the bitterness, the acrid sting of undeveloped top leaves. Why should you? I don't tolerate the harshness of gritty, tough, bottom leaves. Neither should you. I give you exclusively the fragrant, expensive center leaves—the mildest, the best-tasting of all. They permit me to sign myself "Your Best Friend."

LUCKIES USE ONLY CENTER LEAVES
CENTER LEAVES GIVE YOU THE MILDEST SMOKE

They Taste Better

Copyright 1935, The American Tobacco Company

FINJAN BUSINESS STAFF
2 P. M.
FINJAN OFFICE

The Daily Tar Heel

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

MURCHISON LECTURE
8 P. M.
GERRARD HALL

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, MARCH 8, 1935 | NUMBER 124

TRADE DIRECTOR C. T. MURCHISON SPEAKS TONIGHT

Former University Professor to Lecture on World Commerce in Gerrard Hall.

HEADS FEDERAL BUREAU

Director of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce Claudius T. Murchison, on leave from the University department of economics and commerce, will appear in Gerrard hall at 8 o'clock this evening to discuss "Restrictions on World Commerce."

He will point out the means by which the United States is attempting to combat the restrictions on world commerce, and will give an intimate and detailed account of procedure followed under the present agreements program.

Nation-Wide Search

Dr. Murchison's appointment to the directorship in the department of commerce followed a nation-wide search to find the man qualified to fill the position left vacant by Dr. William Thorpe.

A member of the commerce department at the University since 1921, Murchison was director of research in the school of commerce when he received his appointment to the government position.

The economist received his doctorate at Columbia University and was a member of the class of 1911 at Wake Forest. He has held positions at Columbia, Hunter College, New York University, and the University of Miami.

Murchison is the author of several technical articles and the book, "King Cotton Is Sick." He is listed in the membership of the American Economic Association, the American Statistical Association, and the Academy of Political and Economical Science.

Economist

Claudius T. Murchison, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce and University professor on leave, who will lecture here tonight.

UNIVERSITY CLUB TO HELP IN MEET

Group Completes Its Plans for Lodging Visiting Trackmen.

The University Club made final plans last night to take care of the visiting trackmen who will arrive late this afternoon for the annual Southern Conference indoor meet tomorrow.

Arrangements were made for beds for all of the 200-odd track members in the various fraternity houses and dormitories. The problem has been made exceedingly difficult this year because no untenanted dormitory space is available.

The club also volunteered to usher at the meet. Twelve members will be on duty all day.

Due to the fact that there are very few sophomore co-eds on the campus, the club voted to accept rising seniors into membership representing the various women's rooming houses and dormitories.

Final plans were announced regarding the 18 alumni-high school senior smokers to be held during the spring vacation.

MARCH MAGAZINE TO APPEAR TODAY

Article by University of Virginia Student Featured; Percy Probes Movie Magazines.

Featuring an article by Murat Williams, editor of the University of Virginia's tri-weekly newspaper, College Topics, the March issue of the Carolina Magazine makes its appearance on the campus today.

Williams' article, "Virginia Don't-Give-a-Damnedness," is a study of the attitude of the average Virginia student towards extra-curricular activities, indicating one of the chief differences between that university and Carolina.

Movie Magazine

Walker Percy, University sophomore, has contributed an investigation of movie magazines, one of the most lucrative and prolific divisions of modern publication. In "The Movie Magazine: A Low 'Slick'," he presents a comprehensive picture of that field.

"The Public Writes Its Own Comics," by Charles A. Poe, is a collation and analysis of letters written to editors of North Carolina newspapers, collected from publications of the rank

(Continued on page two)

LIQUOR OUTLAWED IN ORANGE COUNTY

Public Drunkenness May Be Punishable by $50 Fine; Bill Passed by House.

A bill which would make public drunkenness unlawful and an offense subject to fine in Orange county has been passed by the House of the State Legislature, it was learned from Mayor Foushee yesterday.

The bill was presented by B. J. Howard, Orange county representative at the request of the Chapel Hill board of aldermen, the mayor explained.

"I don't know whether the bill is on the floor of the Senate yet or not," said Mayor Foushee. "I think it is before the Senate committee now," he added.

State Jurisdiction

The mayor said that two years or so ago a state law was passed prohibiting public drunkenness. "If the bill is adopted," Mayor Foushee continued, "it will simply amount to putting Orange county under the jurisdiction of this state law from which it has been excepted."

It was learned from the town mayor that under the present law a person cannot be arrested

(Continued on page two)

Registration Permits

Spring quarter registration permit cards may be obtained in room eight, South building, all this week and next. These cards are necessary before the process of registration may be begun.

Students will find copies of the spring quarter class schedule, available in room 101 South, valuable in planning their courses.

The registration period will last from Monday through Saturday. All students must register in this pre-holiday period except freshmen and sophomores who failed one or more subjects during the fall quarter.

Those students who are among this group will register Monday, March 25. Classes will begin at 8:30 o'clock the morning of March 26.

STUDENTS TO PAY DEBT FOR AFFAIR

$40 Needed to Pay Off Expenses of Student-Faculty Day.

The student-faculty committee is endeavoring to clear up a slight debt incurred in arranging the recent student-faculty day by receiving donations from various organizations on the campus.

The Order of the Grail, undergraduate honorary group, has become the first to respond. It recently voted to give $10 to be applied toward the defraying of the expense.

Slightly over $40 is needed to pay the expenses, according to a report issued by the committee recently. Officials feel that the student organization should bear the expense rather than the University administration, as the project was strictly a student-faculty affair sponsored by the students, with faculty co-operation.

Organizations wishing to help may see Ed Lanier in the Y. M. C. A. or any member of the committee.

STATE SUSPENDS PRISON OFFICIALS IN NEGROES' CASE

Feet of Two Negroes Frozen in Prison Camp When Being Punished Amputated.

LIQUOR BILL DEFERRED

Raleigh, March 7.—(UP)—Prison Camp Superintendents T. S. Brown, H. C. Little, and Dr. C. S. McLaughlin, camp physician, all of Mecklenburg county, were suspended today and ordered to appear before the penal institutions committee of the legislature here tonight.

The officials have been summoned as a result of alleged cruelty to two Negroes in Mecklenburg penal camps.

The lower portions of the Negroes' bodies were frozen while imprisoned in a brick guardhouse at the Mecklenburg prison camp. Their feet were amputated here today.

Scholl Introduces Bill

The penal committee was empowered to summon the officials by a bill introduced by Scholl of Mecklenburg into the Senate and passed under suspension rules. The bill had formerly passed the House.

The measure authorizes the penal committee to investigate conditions in convict camps, and empowers the group to subpoena witnesses and compel attendance. It appropriates $500 for the investigation.

The Senate also voted today to carry over the Hill bill for the legislation of liquor until Thursday.

Meanwhile, in the House a hot debate broke out on the Browning bill to permit the State Bar Association to pass on cases dealing with lawyers disbarred before 1933. The measure finally passed.

The bill to establish a tuberculosis sanitorium in western North Carolina was passed on the third reading.

OFFER MANY NEW ENGLISH COURSES

Courses in Interpreting Literature, Contemporary Poetry, Composition to Be Given.

Announcement was made yesterday by Dr. George R. Coffman, head of the English department, of a new series of courses in English to be given during the spring quarter.

English 42 will be on the oral interpretation of literature. This course is given this year for full credit instead of half credit, as has previously been the case. Because of the fact that the course represents an attempt to interpret literature through reading it aloud, it should appeal to students who are interested in the enjoyment of literature as an end in itself.

English 51 for Seniors

The second of these courses, English 51, a course in composition offered by Dr. Howell, is designed especially for the senior students in the schools of applied science, commerce, and pharmacy.

Professor Selden expects to limit the registration in English 63, play direction, to 10 students. This means that those expecting to register for the course should confer with him.

In the same class with English 42 comes English 98, contemporary poetry. This consists of a study in reading of a selected group of American and English poets since 1918. This course is offered for the first time this coming spring. Professor McClamroch will teach it.

The last of the new courses, English 100, is a course in directed readings. This course is open to a limited number of advanced students in any department who desire to read in the field of their literary interests. They should be students whose records indicate that they can proceed on their individual initiative. Students wishing to register in this course must have the permission of the instructor. Professor Coffman will teach this course.

FESTIVAL PLANS NOW BEING MADE

Special Displays of Work of CCC And of Chapel Hill Garden Club Are Scheduled.

The arts and crafts committee is making tentative plans for many new features in the annual Dogwood Festival to be held here April 26, 27, and 28, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. George Howe, chairman of the committee.

Among the features this year will be exhibits, both in arts and craft, by Boy Scouts, who will meet here in a regional conference at the time of the festival, and special displays of the works of youth, of the work of CCC, that of regional hospitals for disabled veterans and state institutions, and in addition public showings of all Chapel Hill gardens, a special exhibition, supervised by William Hunt of the Chapel Hill Garden Club. Demonstrations by artists and craftsmen in their various activities will be held.

Poem, Photograph Contest

The Dogwood poem and photograph contest will be held again to stimulate public interest in dogwood tree preservation. The poetry contest, previously restricted to residents of North Carolina and to the subject of dogwood, has been opened to any resident of the south and may be on any subject pertaining to springtime. The photos must be made of dogwood in its native setting (no cut dogwood eligible).

The number of awards to be given this year has been reduced. Pewter and wooden dogwood design medals will be awarded in best original dogwood design and best in general excellence design, one only offered in each classified exhibit (such as pewter, wrought iron, weaving, etc.). "Honorable mention" awards will be offered in exhibits by Boy Scouts, the CCC, and the work of youth. The dogwood motif contest and general excellence awards will be open to all exhibitors.

Soda Jerkers And Missionaries Are Among Correspondence Pupils

Wide Variety of Occupations Represented in Enrollment of University Extension Division; Even Carolina Instructor Studies by Correspondence.

"An athletic coach, a missionary, a news agent, a soda jerker, a cosmotologist, a housekeeper, a technical assistant . . ." So run the list of students enrolled in the extension division's correspondence courses, students living in Florida, California, Oregon, Maine, Africa, not to mention all of North Carolina's 100 counties.

Ambition? Curiosity? What is it that makes a hotel clerk, an assistant Salvation Army leader, a tree surgeon, an ambulance driver spend his spare time writing lessons for a professor he probably has never seen and never will see? He never knows how big his class is, he never puts a class, and he never gets a grat. .

Course Inspiring

A minister from Wisconsin received so much inspiration from the short story course given some years ago by Dr. Raymond Adams, member of the English department now on leave of absence, that he has written and published a book of stories of pioneer life in the middle west.

A physician who in the past has written scenarios with some success has continued his hobby of playwriting by enrolling in the dramatic composition course taught by Dr. J. O. Baily.

A correspondence course in music was found by a busy housekeeper to be the best way of indulging her desire to better her piano playing.

Right here on our own campus is an instructor, a graduate of a professional school, who is taking an academic course by correspondence because he finds that his schedule will not permit his enrolling in a regular class.

Failing Students

Often college students who have flunked out and whose sob stories have not been accepted by their college readmittance boards make up their deficiencies by taking correspondence courses.

Many former college students who have had to drop out of school for financial or other reasons, keep up with their work by mail. In recent years there has been a marked increase in this type of student, according to correspondence officials.

An important service of the correspondence bureau, which is headed by Miss Mary Cobb and

(Continued on page two)

"Christian Of Denmark" Always Present At Nini's Performance

With Her Doll as Mascot, Danseuse Has Superstitions Like All Ballerinas; She Feels Reaction of Audiences Keenly, Thinks Light Numbers Successful.

After applause from an unusually large crowd had rung throughout Memorial Hall, 19-year-old Nini Theilade charmingly protested the compliments murmured by autograph-seekers. Max Reinhardt's premiere danseuse, Anna Pavlowa's protege, and one of the most enthusiastically received ballerinas in America, she nevertheless said of a Chapel Hill audience, "But they are so critical."

Coming from the usual artist on tour that would have sounded purely polite and faintly hypocritical. Not so with Miss Theilade. She was speaking of her reaction to every audience for which she has performed.

That impulsive "But they are so critical"—bursting out as it did and so delightfully displaying the trickling "r" of a tongue more accustomed to continental languages than to English—was evidence of the artist's anxiety that her efforts should be only the best. Perhaps it explains partly her universal success.

"Yes, I feel that way about all audiences," she said. "When I dance up there on the stage, I am so fearful. I know all eyes are on me, and I can feel the reaction of the audience completely," said Miss Thielade with a smile.

The Long-Legged Doll

All ballerinas have their superstitions, and she is no exception. She makes no secret of her sine qua non for a successful performance, and, to say the least, it is unusual. "Look!" she said, "there he is." The "he" referred to was a nearly shapeless little long-legged doll (though Miss Theilade would probably resent that description of "him").

"I call him 'Christian'," she said eagerly, "after King Christian of Denmark, you know." She explained that she bought 'Christian' 10 years ago. Reminiscent of her Copenhagen days as a student in a private ballet school, "he" has not left her dressing table for the entire time. Asked what would happen to the performance if "Christian" were misplaced, she gestured that she would be utterly lost, adding with a laugh that she was afraid sometimes that "he" would be kidnaped.

The young ballerina, who holds, in fact, the record for be-

(Continued on page two)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: REED SARRATT

Friday, March 8, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

So an ex-football coach runs a transient camp for the government. Looks like the government should run one for the ex-football coaches.

Roosevelt claims the dollar is still out of line with the country's debt structure. Probably got out of step at the bottom of the curve.

"The best people are violating the Turlington Act," says John Sprunt Hill. Thanks, Senator, decent of you to say that about us collegians.

Human Relations

Thirteen featured speakers, of national fame, have already definitely accepted invitations of the local Human Relations Institute committee and will be presented in the 1935 program of this quadrennial festival of educational alertness.

Like Student-Faculty Day, the institute will be of an unknown value until it is under way, as far as the student body is concerned. Student interest in the forthcoming event, or events, has not been aroused by the early announcements. But, knowing student interest as we do, we predict that there will be manifestation of intense interest when some of the famous educators and men and women of affairs begin delivering their opinions on the most pressing problems of today.

Undergraduates are seldom interested in newspaper reports of what the men higher up think about certain economic and social questions; but there are few of them who will not listen to the words-of-mouth directly fired at them from the rostrum. We daresay there were few students who actually had the facts of Senator Nye's investigations, despite the popular interest in the affairs, but the packed Memorial hall testifies to the appeal which Senator Nye himself had.

Particularly is the institute pertinent in view of the new conception of the college curriculum on the part of modern educators. Current social and economic changes are the order of the day in higher education and the curricula have been revised to fit the youth for its fling in the new world. The institute's program fits admirably into this changing educational philosophy as an additional force in preparing today's college men and women for their part in the new order.

Paying for A Success

The Student-Faculty Day committee incurred a slight debt in arranging and running off this first annual event and is making an appeal for donations to defray this expense.

The debt is a legitimate one and was incurred through necessary expenditures. The administration hinted that it could take care of the debt, but in order that the day be a student-faculty affair as nearly as possible and because University financial conditions aren't encouraging, the campus should share the expense.

The Order of the Grail, a free-spending and one of the most outstanding undergraduate orders, has already contributed ($10). It is highly desirable that other organizations—fraternities and dormitories, too—join in and help pay the nominal costs of an extremely worthwhile and successful venture.

We Keep Very Quiet

Somebody will probably be taking us to task soon for not editorializing against the unnecessary and somewhat boorish demonstrations which interrupted Nini Theilade all too often the other night. We hope to forestall the indignation of sensitive souls by stating our reasons.

Here they are: We long ago became hardened to defeat in the matter of editorial crusading, especially crusading against the campus' mass-violations of good manners; we know before we begin that no good would be accomplished if we lifted our editorial hands in scandalised horror and called the naughty boys names. And besides, if a campus audience feels pleasurably impressed by a display of female doin's, however inappropriate its boyish ardor may be, we had far rather hear them express it with whistles than to see them sit in hypocritical restraint, like somebody's "seven souls in a parlor, all silent, and all damn'd.

We should like to behave better in public, but after all, we have a long road to travel to the staid sobriety of forty, and we really believe we shall have ample opportunity to grow quiet (not to say stagnate) between now and then.

A Man of Low Tastes

The death of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes has profoundly shocked and grieved the nation.

Holmes' philosophy long placed him in the minority on the bench. His dissenting opinions make a volume. The phrase "Holmes and Brandeis dissent," both great liberals and close friends as they were, became a legal by-word.

Yet the popular conception, due no doubt to his friendship with Brandeis, was not pleasing to the great jurist. In reality he dissented on the average fewer times than many other justices, yet his opinions were always noticeable for the brilliance that they displayed. Practically all his writing was confined to the law, though he wrote poetry in his youth, and it doubtlessly has had a greater influence on the lives of men wholly unaware of its influence at all than the writings of his famous father. Credit should go to him for being one of the founders of that bloc of liberals on the Supreme Court bench which did so much to keep the law fitted to the time. He once remarked that the constitution was made for man, not man for the constitution.

Strange it was that he resented the conception of him as a dissenter. Perhaps it was due to the aristocratic environment in which he was reared. Whatever the reason it shows the very human contradiction within himself, of idealism and healthy reality, that made him so beloved.

On one occasion he could write, "If a man has the soul of a Sancho Panza, the world to him will be Sancho Panza's world, but if he has the soul of an idealist, he will make—I do not say find—his world ideal."

On another, after an unusually risque performance at the Washington burlesque theatre which he regularly attended, according to the biography written by Silas Bent, Holmes turned to a total stranger sitting beside him to remark, "Thank God, I am a man of low tastes."

Is Roosevelt After a War?

In the February issue of Scribner's Magazine, Charles A. Beard, the eminent historian, made a statement with regard to President Roosevelt's foreign policy which should set every able-bodied young man to pondering and thinking. Mr. Beard's idea is merely this—that if Uncle Sam doesn't soon stumble out of the slough of depression, Mr. Roosevelt will pull a nice little foreign war out of his hat in order to take Uncle's mind off his troubles.

And it wouldn't be the first time statesmen have been known to use such a trick to keep their popularity from dwindling. Louis Napoleon tried it against Prussia (much to his embarrassment), and it is often said that President McKinley had something of the sort in mind when he let us slip into a war with Spain. Often if an actual war seems a little too dangerous, a strong, aggressive foreign policy will do just as well; for example, President Cleveland's attitude in the boundary dispute between Great Britain and Venezuela.

Mr. Beard seems to have reached the conclusion that Roosevelt is about to try the same trick, and bases his conclusion upon the fact that our present naval program is America's biggest peace time effort to date. To us it seems difficult to determine whether Roosevelt's policy is intended to lead us into war or whether it is merely intended to put us on a just equality with Great Britain and Japan.

At present we retain the utmost confidence in the President's sincerity and good intentions, but the mere possibility that Historian Beard's prophecy may come true is enough to set us shivering in our white flannels. The idea of having to fight any kind of a war is bad enough, but the idea of fighting a war to keep any man or any party in power is almost beyond our humble comprehension.

Liquor Outlawed

(Continued from page one)

merely on drunkenness. The law specifies drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Mayor Foushee stated that he did not know just what the fine under the new law will be, if the bill is accepted. "I don't know whether it will be $50 or not. It won't be over $50," he said.

Magazine

(Continued from page one)

of the Raleigh News and Observer to the small rural weeklies.

Other articles and fiction by Phil Hammer, Nelson Lansdale, John Butler, and W. W. Smiley also appear in the current issue.

Poetry by Bill Hudson and John Coulter, book reviews and editorials complete the issue.

The magazine will appear on news-stands throughout the state in accordance with a recent resolution of the P. U. Board.

Correspondents

(Continued from page one)

is under the supervision of R. M. Grumman, director of the extension division, is the extension library, which makes many reference books available for its students.

A recent development in correspondence work has been the group study plan, by which a number of students hold lessons together according to directions from their instructor.

This department of the extension division has been organized since 1921, and at present offers 129 courses taught by 64 instructors.

Theilade

(Continued from page one)

ing the youngest, is keenly sensitive to an audience's reception of her numbers. She thought, she said, that the humorous ones have most appeal and mentioned "Pizzicato Arabesque" and "Ballett," a caricature to the music of Debussy, as examples. Both were on her program last night and drew prolonged applause.

Dance of the Tropics

She said she could not understand why "Impressions from Tahiti," an interpretation of a Hawaiian sunset, was not better liked by her audiences. Asked whether it might not be due to the fact that the accompanying music, by Sherwood, was so well known, she replied with a simple and characteristic, "Perhaps."

But there was a trace of wistfulness in the way she spoke. "Perhaps" it was longing that the audience should share her love for the tropical exoticism of the "Impressions." For she herself was born in Java and there, in a manner of speaking, began her dancing career, being taught native rhythm by Krama, an old servant who tended her when she was a baby.

The next booking on her tour is at Danville, Va.; and Miss Theilade left for her destination yesterday morning.

Patronize Our Advertisers

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

12:45: Allan Leafer orch., WBIG.

1:00: Geo. Hall orch., WBIG.

2:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

3:15: Minneapolis Sym. orch., WBT.

6:45: Lowell Thomas, commentator, WLW.

7:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

7:15: Dick Messner orch., WLAC.

7:45: Plantation Echoes; Robison orch.; Southernaires Quartet, WPTF.

8:00: Concert orch.; Lucille Manners, soprano; Bourdon orch., WEAF; Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, talk, WBT.

8:15: Edwin C. Hill, commentator, WBT.

8:30: Court of Human Relations, WABC; Al Goodman's orch., gusets, WJZ.

9:00: Abe Lyman orch.; Frank Munn, tenor, WEAF, WLW; March of Time, WABC.

9:30: Hollywood Hotel; Dick Powell; Frances Langford; Ted Fio Rito orch, WBT; Phil Baker, comedian; Leon Belasco orch., WJZ., KDKA.

10:00: Circus Night in Silvertown; Ted Lewis orch.; Phil Duey, baritone, WJZ.

10:30: The Pause That Refreshes; Frank Black, vocal, and instrumental ensemble, WLW.

11:15: Ozzie Nelson orch., WBT.

11:30: Wayne King orch., WGN.

11:45: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

12:00: Cab Calloway orch., WABC; Jan Garber orch., WGN.

12:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

High School French Contest to Be Given

The annual state high school French contest, sponsored by the University extension division, will be held today in 58 schools, with 600 pupils competing. The test was made out by Dr. J. C. Lyons of the University French department and will be graded by members of that department.

The scope of the contest will include a vocabulary test, the conjugation of several representative verbs, the composing of French sentences illustrating different grammatical points, and a reading test.

From each school the three best papers will be sent to the University for consideration. Announcement will be made of the three best individual papers, in order of excellence, with honorable mention for the next 12. Announcement will also be made of the three schools whose three-student teams make the best showing.

Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Louis Monica, B. W. Millis, J. F. Blue, R. L. Bolton, Leighton Dudley, Therman Ennis, J. L. Matthews, W. R. Groover, B. H. Barnes, C. C. Bennett, and J. T. Love.

CAROLINA THEATRE

— Now Playing —
CARL RISSON
MARY ELLIS
EDWARD EVERETT HORTON
in
"All the King's Horses"
— Also —
Comedy — News

You may never

PUT THE SHOT

but rushing around to classes and working in the lab burns up energy too. You need nourishing, easy-to-digest food.

Try a bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes for breakfast tomorrow. You'll like these crunchy, golden flakes. And you'll feel better during the day.

They're right, too, for that snack before you retire. After a dance, or a long session with the books. They help you sleep, because they digest so easily.

Always fresh and crisp, in the inner WAXTITE bag. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

OVEN-FRESH FLAVOR-PERFECT

Track Carnival Named As Battle Of Champions; Fight For Team Honors

Ten of Twelve Indoor Champs Return to S. I. C. Division

N. Carolina, Duke, Virginia, and Maryland Battle for Lead.

With the sixth annual Southern Conference indoor track games not far off, the final elaborate preparations for the meet neared an end yesterday. Everything pointed to one of the biggest and fastest carnivals ever to be held under the conference auspices.

North Carolina, Duke, Virginia, and Maryland will be battling on quite even terms for the top post in the S. I. C. division. William and Mary seems to possess enough power to wrest the title from Catholic University, defending champs. The frosh field is always open, as none of the teams have any trials in collegiate competition to date. Boys' High of Atlanta looks good to retain its scholastic crown.

"Battle of Champions"

The meet as a whole lines up to be the "battle of champions." Champs from here and there will make their annual trek to the Hill to give the track fans a most exciting meet. Ten of the 12 indoor champs are back on hand; 11 of the 14 outdoor crown-bearers will again see action. And the other divisions will also furnish their supply of former winners.

Widmyer of Maryland and Everett of Virginia represent

(Continued on last page)

tracking 'em down

by smith barrier

All Of Them

Everything is ready. The big track carnival is about ready to go off in the Tin Can. Teams from Joisey to Georgia will be on the boards. Individual athletes from Smith, Jones, Brown, and White to Walkauskas, Szumigala, Nitschke, and Lochstampfor.

The afternoon session begins at 1:30 o'clock and the night work starts at 7:15. Student tickets are on sale at the Book 'X,' Co-ops, and Pritchard-Lloyd. Only 1,000 at 40c per. Buy now.

* * *

Packed With Thrills

From the first event to the last, the races will be so very closely contested. The hurdles are good examples of this. Everett will be back, the champ and the record-holder in both lows and highs. But, he will meet probably the strongest timber-leaping field he has ever met. Hawthorne, Martin, Schuhle, McDonald, and Slye are the leaders. The Cavalier may come out, but the writer knows of one prominent southern track official who is picking W. and L.'s Schuhle to beat the field, including Everett.

And watch those dashes. With the record only one-tenth of a second behind the world mark, maybe that world time will be equalled or bettered. Widmyer is like a greased streak of lightning, and so far has beaten the best in Dixie with ease. But our Hubbard gave him one real race in the recent Charlotte meet, and should do it again.

* * *

Harry After Two

Harry Williamson will attempt the iron man stunt tomorrow night, in competing in both half and mile events. Billy Lauck of Virginia in 1933 has been the only man to ever win two distance events in one night. He set a record in the mile, but failed in the two-mile.

The ace Tar Heel stands an excellent chance of being a two-fold winner this week-end—and also of setting new records in both. In fact, Harry has already beaten both marks in practice. He has a time three full seconds less than the half mark, and nine seconds less than the mile. Luck to you, Harry.

* * *

O, This Quarter

What a race this quarter mile is going to be! Drake, outdoor champ; Montgomery, indoor champ; Reichman, indoor record-holder; Evans, another crack runner, will match wits, speed, and stamina on the boards tomorrow night. Both the Tar Heels beat Reichman last year, but this year the Duke captain is out for revenge. While watching for the winner, count the seconds for the old Reichman record is almost sure of toppling.

* * *

Big Field

Duke has the biggest team entered, numbering 32. Carolina follows with 23. Richmond U. leads the non-conference group with a team of nine, and Carolina tops the yearling entries with 17. Boys' High of Atlanta, in defense of their crown, brings a team of 18 men, just three more than McKinley Tech High of Washington, D. C., is sending down.

One hundred twenty-nine are entered in the conference division, and 119 in the scholastic. A total of 360 actual entrants were listed yesterday.

The enormity of the thing is shown in the scholastic sprint event, in which only 36 men are entered—of which only one can be winner.

FINALS MATCHES IN TABLE TENNIS TODAY AT 4 P.M.

Dorm Finals Bring Together Aycock and Mangum; Frat, Phi Kap Sigs-Z. B. T.

SEMI-FINALS YESTERDAY

4 P. M.—DORM FINAL

AYCOCK		MANGUM
Rubin	1.	Cartland
Goodes	2.	Gabori
Fuller	3.	Levitan

5 P. M.—FRAT FINAL

Z. B. T.		PHI K. S.
Kind	1.	Odum
Strauss	2.	Coker
Kalmanoff	3.	Decker

That is the setup for today's big games in the intramural table tennis tournament! The cream of the crop are due to come together in the dorm and frat finals.

In the Aycock-Mangum match, the school's recognized best players will clash, when Len Rubin meets Doug Cartland. This feature match as well as the others between Gene Goodes and Dick Gabori, and Eddy Fuller and Walt Levitan are all very evenly matched, and the result of the afternoon's play is definitely a toss-up.

Frat Final

The frat final will bring the defending champions, Gene Odum, and Coit Coker into action against the evenly balanced Z. B. T. combination that had such a hectic time yesterday. Z. B. T. is given a good chance to come through.

Yesterday's matches saw Mangum, Z. B. T., and Aycock move into the finals, joining Phi Kappa Sigma in the coveted positions. Mangum was the first to win, topping Aycock No. 2 by a 2-1 score.

Out of the Fire

Later in the afternoon, Kalmanoff, third singles for Z. B. T., pulled a fiction story match out of the fire to send his team into the finals. The match was tied

(Continued on last page)

FEATURE STARS FOR TRACK CARNIVAL TOMORROW

Indoor Games Track and Field Records

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE

EVENT	RECORD	HOLDER	SCHOOL	YEAR
60-yard dash	6.3	Widmyer	Maryland	1933
		Widmyer	Maryland	1934
70-yard low hurdles	7.8	Brownlee	Duke	1933
		Everett	Virginia	1934
70-yard high hurdles	8.7	Everett	Virginia	1934
440-yard run	54.1	Reichman	Duke	1933
880-yard run	2:01.8	Bradsher	Duke	1933
One mile run	4:24.7	McRae	U. N. C.	1934
Two mile run	9:57.4	Young	Georgia	1930
One mile relay	3:36.2	Duke (Crist, Reichman, Brownlee, Fulmer)		1933
Shot put	46 ft. ½ in.	Coleman	Auburn	1931
Pole vault	13 ft. 3 in.	Zimmerman	Tulane	1932
High jump	6 ft. 0 in.	Turner	V. P. I.	1933
Broad jump	23 ft. 7 in.	Owens	Georgia	1932

NON-CONFERENCE

60-yard dash	6.6	Fleagle	Davidson	1931
		Smither	Wm. & Mary	1932
		Evans	Davidson	1934
70-yard high hurdles	9.1	Norton	Catholic U.	1934
880-yard run	2:02.5	Bullard	Wm. & Mary	1934
One mile relay	3:38.6	Wm. & Mary (Smither, Hemingway, Hart, Johnson)		1932

FRESHMAN

60-yard dash	6.5	Evans	Davidson	1933
70-yard high hurdles	9.2	Everett	Virginia	1932
¾ mile run	3:16	Meade	U. N. C.	1931
One mile relay	3:38.7	Duke		1934
High jump	5 ft. 11¾ in.	Navin	Georgetown	1934

SCHOLASTIC

60-yard dash	6.5	Stevens	Atlanta Boys' Hi	1934
70-yard high hurdles	9.1	Horter	Newark Perp	1933
1000-yard run	2:22.9	Overholt	Morristown, Tenn., High	1934
One mile relay	3:35.9	Newark Prep (Stone, O'Keefe, Lautenschlager, Dillon)		1934
High jump	6 ft. 0 in.	Arnold	Atlanta Boys' Hi	1934

All-Around Star

Tom Craig of South Carolina is rated possibly the best all-around athlete in the Carolinas. He is coming up here tomorrow to participate in both the shot put and the high jump. Both events going on at the same time, he is forced to make his put at one end of the Tin Can and then go to the other to make his jump.

Craig was captain of football, an excellent end. At basketball he was the stand-out center. He is also quite a trackster, scoring 30 points in one dual meet last spring with six first places.

Best Speedsters Back

Speed and dash will mark the 60-yard sprint at the Southern Conference Indoor Games here tomorrow night. Widmyer of Maryland, Tarrall of Duke, Pritchard of V.P.I., and Hubbard of N.C., who finished one-two-three-four last year. Widmyer, who has thrice beaten the world record-holder, Metcalfe, holds the meet record of 6.3 seconds.

Pi Phi's and Chi O's Tangle in Cage Tilt Tonight at Bynum

Lassies Mingle in Poisonal Battle of Hoops (No Skirts).

Chi Omega supporters! Come see the Pi Phi's licked!

Pi Phi supporters! Come see the Chi O's licked!

The annual classic—the basketball game between the two friendly rivals, the Pi Phi and the Chi O sororities—is here again. This evening from 7 to 8 o'clock, the roughest game of the season will be held in Bynum gym as the lassies, clad in socks and rompers, will drop their dignity and put on the best brand of basketball ever seen in these parts, before the usual enthusiastic throng.

A small charge of fifteen cents will be made to keep out the undesirables and leave plenty of room for the true Chi O-Pi Phi supporters to watch the game and cheer for their side.

So, come on, all Phi Pi-O Chi fans, get your tickets from any of the girls or at the door, and watch the co-eds do their stuff!

FROSH BASKETBALL

All members of the 1935 freshman basketball squad are to report at Emerson field at 2 o'clock this afternoon in uniform, in order to have their picture taken for the Yackety Yack. After the taking, the men are to turn in their equipment to Sarg Kellar at the supply room.

SEND THE DAILY TAR HEEL HOME

BASEBALL SQUAD WORKS OUTDOORS FOR FIRST TIME

Coach Hearn Gives Boys First Open Air Drill of 1935 Diamond Practice.

SEASON TO OPEN APRIL 8

Carolina's 1935 baseball squad took its first light workout of the season yesterday afternoon on Emerson field. The diamond is still a little muddy and not in top shape so the players limited their work to short hitting and fielding practices.

Coach Bunn Hearn sent the boys on a conditioning trot at the conclusion of the work. There will be no required practice until after exams but Coach Hearn wants as many out as possible every day.

The season does not open until April 8 so no practice will likely be held during the spring holidays.

All indications point to a large squad, although not veteran, so maybe Coach Hearn can get the right combination together. Freddie Crouch will be depended on to carry the pitching burden as he is the only regular back in this department.

Unless some of the rookies come through in a big way the veteran bats of Captain Thurman Vick, Jim Tatum, Gus McIver, Eddie Shapiro, Trip Rand, and maybe Tommy Irwin will be banked on to furnish the needed runs.

The Tar Heels will have a great two-year record to uphold. Starting in the middle of the 1933 season the Carolina nine went on a winning spree which lasted until nearly all of last year ended. Over 25 victories in a row were marked down plus two Southern Conference and two Big Five championships.

The 1934 record read 21 wins and only one loss. The defeat, at the hands of Duke during a night game at Greensboro, finished the long streak. Carolina beat these same Blue Devils in two other starts.

Jim Mack Awarded

Jim McCachren was placed on the All-Southwest basketball five, selected by 60 leading coaches throughout the United States in a poll conducted by Kelloggs of Battle Creek, Mich.

Next Thursday night the Kelloggs program will announce the All-America quintet, and also the four sectional teams, east, south, west, and southwest. Ward Lambeth of Purdue will announce the choices.

This national recognition given to Jim Mack was awarded for his all-around play and brilliance throughout the whole season.

Newark Prep First

Newark Prep was the first arrival for the big track carnival tomorrow, getting in late last night. The other out-of-state schools will arrive tonight and early tomorrow morning.

EXHIBITION

CLOTHES OF INDIVIDUAL EXCELLENCE, CORRECTLY ATTUNED TO THE IMMEDIATE SEASON.

FORTY DOLLARS AND MORE

EXHIBITION AT

Student Co-operative Cleaners

TODAY AND TOMORROW

ROBERT GRAY, Representative

Finchley

FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

CLOTHES INDIVIDUALLY TAILORED TO ORDER :: ALSO HABERDASHERY • HATS • SHOES

MEDICAL PICTURE PRESENTED HERE

Large Group Sees Film of Preparation of Insulin.

An interesting and educational sixty-five minutes featuring a seven-reel sound moving picture entitled "Milestones in Medical Research" was spent last evening by a large group of students and professors in the auditorium of the Pharmacy building.

The film was sponsored by Eli Lilley and company, a medical research company in Indiana, and showed the chemical stages required in the production of insulin. The process was traced from the introduction of the frozen pancreas glands of animals down through the stages of treatments and filterings to its final standardizations and bottlings. Ten thousand pounds of the glands are required to obtain one pound of powdered insulin.

The second half of the film was devoted to illustrations of the use and benefits of insulin in hospitals for diabetic cases. The characters in the movie were doctors, nurses, dieticians and patients of a large Indianapolis hospital.

Track

(Continued from page three)

champions of the truest form. The former has threatened the world mark many times and has beaten Metcalfe thrice. The Cavalier tied the world record last year in the high hurdles and is Penn relay champion. Both are conference record-holders.

Williamson of North Carolina is national junior A. A. U. 1500-meter champ and ranks among the four best milers in the country. He is conference outdoor half-mile crown-holder.

McRae, also of North Carolina, is conference indoor mile record-holder and outdoor mile champ. He is also cross country titler. Reichman of Duke holds the indoor quarter-mile record.

Other 1934 indoor champions who will seek to repeat this week-end include Montgomery of North Carolina, quarter; Bird of Duke, two-mile; Maryland relay team; Craig of South Carolina, high jump; Hubbard and Jackson of North Carolina in broad jump and pole vault, respectively.

Outdoor crown-wearers back tomorrow are Drake and Waldrop of North Carolina, quarter and two-mile, respectively, and Zori, N. C. State, discus record-holder who participated in the shot indoors.

AND WE THANK YOU!

The DAILY TAR HEEL is proud to acknowledge receipt of one brand-new five-cent pencil.

This token of esteem was presented by Miss Mabel Mallett, who runs the office of the dean of students, to a reporter, in appreciation for the accuracy with which the DAILY TAR HEEL has carried assembly notices this year.

Graduate Exam

Graduate students who wish to take the reading knowledge of Spanish examination for the master's degree should register with the graduate school office today. The examination will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. in Dr. S. A. Stoudemire's office at 304 Murphey.

Knight to Speak

Dr. E. W. Knight will speak to freshman assembly at 10:30 a. today in Memorial hall.

Chi Omega Pledge

Chi Omega sorority announced yesterday the pledging of Louise Davis of Goldsboro.

ATTRACTION TONIGHT

Scene from "I've Been Around," playing tonight at the midnight show at the Carolina theatre.

Table Tennis

(Continued from page three)

at 1-all, and Kalmanoff seemed hopelessly out of the running when he dropped the first two games to Ed Everett. However, he staged a brilliant comeback to win in five games and give Z. B. T. a 2-1 victory over Kappa Alpha.

The last match of the day saw the strong Aycock No. 1 team crush Grimes, 3-0.

The semi-final results:

Mangum, 2; Aycock No. 2, 1

Levitan (M) over Mehlman, 21-14, 17-21, 21-17, 21-14.

Lipshutz (A) over Gabori, by default.

Cartland (M) over Kornegay, 21-4, 21-17, 21-23, 21-16.

Z. B. T., 2; K. A., 1

Kind (ZBT) over Waller, 21-12, 21-19, 21-15.

Yeomans (KA) over Strauss, 25-23, 21-11, 21-18.

Kalmanoff (ZBT) over Everett, 19-21, 15-21, 21-18, 21-17, 21-16.

Aycock No. 1, 3; Grimes, 0

Rubin (A) over Lieberman, 21-14, 21-4, 21-8.

Goodes (A) over Drapier, 21-10, 21-8, 21-11.

Fuller (A) over Jimison, 21-13, 21-9, 21-12.

Bridge Demonstration

Bridge Master J. L. Brown will conduct a duplicate game of bridge tonight at Graham Memorial for the purpose of "enlightenment" to those bridge players who never hold decent hands.

Brown will give instruction in trump bidding and play. Students bringing their own cards may take the course upon payment of a 25-cent fee.

DR. ROBERT SHAFER HERE

Dr. Robert Shafer, professor of graduate English at the University of Cincinnati, is spending a few days with Dr. J. P. Harland.

Dr. Shafer is one of the leaders in the field of modern humanism. He is, also, the author of the book, "Paul Elmer More and American Criticism."

UNIVERSITY TEAM MEETS STANFORD

Representatives of California University Attack New Deal

Before an audience of approximately 125 people yesterday in Gerrard hall, a debate team from Stanford University composed of Charles Bold and Andrew Bright, attacked vigorously the New Deal, which was stoutly defended by Oliver Cross and Harry McMullan, Jr., for the University of North Carolina.

The query was, Resolved, that this house favors the New Deal. No decision was rendered.

The Stanford team of four men is now on a tour of the leading universities and colleges of the United States. This is their first venture east of the Rocky Mountains.

Don Seawell presided over the debate. Afterwards the Stanford boys were honored with a luncheon in Graham Memorial at which 25 people were present.

COMPOSITION CONDITIONS

Regular quarterly examinations for removal of composition conditions will be given this afternoon at 2:30 in 201 Murphey hall.

Finjan Copy Deadline

According to F(unny) Patrick Gaskins, all copy (jokes, too) for the next issue of the Carolina Finjan must be in his office before 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Woosley to Give Talk

Professor J. B. Woosley will address the Charlotte chapter of the American Institute of Banking tonight in Charlotte.

HUEY CALLS NEW DEAL "SAINT VITUS' DANCE"

Washington, March 7.—(UP)—Huey Long told his radio audience tonight that the New Deal was more like "Saint Vitus' Dance" than a government.

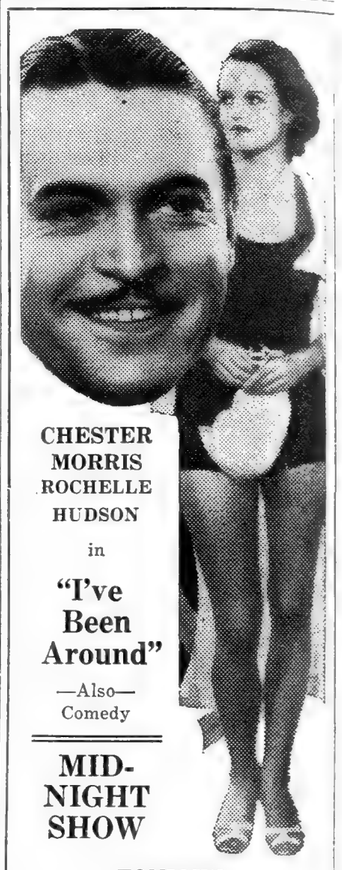
The Muddy Mullah accused Roosevelt of taking many policies from the unsuccessful one of Hoover. The NRA, he said, had parades and fascist signs just like the governments of Hitler and Mussolini.

Peabody College Man Here

Dr. C. Currien Smith of Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn., who is a member of the joint committee for the study of the curriculum of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, was in Chapel Hill recently conferring with Deans R. B. House and A. W. Hobbs and Professor N. W. Walker.

Finjan Business Staff

The last meeting for the winter quarter of the business staff of the Carolina Finjan will be conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Graham Memorial office.



How...? did THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL talk his way out of death a thousand times . . . how did he escape thru a cordon of a thousand assassins . . . to save a nation . . . to protect women.

(Watch Tomorrow's Paper for more)

VANCE IN NEW ORLEANS

Dr. Rupert B. Vance of the institute for research in social science has gone to New Orleans where he will lecture on "The Property and Tenant System and the Cotton Economy of the South" before a meeting of the Southern Regional Committee Friday.

From there Dr. Vance will go to Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge at the invitation of Dr. C. W. Pipkin, dean of the graduate school, to speak on planning the southern economy.

CHESTER MORRIS
ROCHELLE HUDSON
in
"I've Been Around"
—Also—
Comedy

MID-NIGHT SHOW
TONIGHT
CAROLINA

CH 8, 1935
ORLEANS
ance of the ch in social
New Orleans
re on "The ant System nomy of the eting of the Committee
ance will go
University
he invitation dean of the o speak on rn economy.

HT
LINA

INDOOR TRACK MEET
TIN CAN
1:15 AND 7:15

The Daily Tar Heel

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

INDOOR TRACK MEET
TIN CAN
1:15 AND 7:15

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, MARCH 9, 1935 | NUMBER 125

UNIVERSITY CLUB PICKS STUDENTS TO HELP ALUMNI

Committees Are Named to Aid Graduates in 18 Cities In Giving Smokers.

GROUPS TO MEET MONDAY

Frank Willingham, president of the University Club, yesterday announced the committees for a number of towns in North Carolina which will co-operate with the local alumni chapters in sponsoring smokers for high school students.

There will be a meeting of all the men on these committees Monday night at 7:15 in 209 Graham Memorial for about one-half hour. Any other students from the towns and cities listed are invited to attend the meeting.

Not First Time

The committees will work with the alumni chapters in putting on "get-togethers" between present Carolina students, alumni and high school seniors in their respective towns. These "get-togethers" will follow up last year's work, when about 12 were held throughout the state. All of the banquets last year "went over big" with the high school seniors.

The purpose of the meeting Monday night is to formulate plans for meetings in the towns listed below. It has been found that the gatherings not only interest high school students in the University, but keep alumni interest alive and form better contact between former and present Carolina students.

The committees and chairmen following have been selected to conduct the "get-togethers" in their respective towns:

Winston-Salem: Frank Willingham, Louis Shaffner; Goldsboro: Wilburn Davis, ch., Ernie Eutsler; New Bern: Albert Ellis, ch., Simmons Patterson, Joe Patterson; Monroe: - Francis

(Continued on last page)

DR. KNIGHT GIVES TALK ON TRAVELS

Education Professor Relates to Freshmen Anecdotes of His Trip to Mesopotamia.

Dr. E. W. Knight, of the department of education and director of the coming session of summer school, entertained the freshman class at their regular assembly period yesterday.

After giving a brief resume of the organization and advantages of the next summer school, Dr. Knight related several amusing incidents which occurred during his trip to Mesopotamia and the Holy Land.

"Insha'llah"

Knight's impression gained from his experiences with the Mohammedans centered around their expression, "Insha'llah," meaning "if the Lord, or Allah, is willing." According to him, these people of the East base most of their actions on that one phrase.

Speaking now in a more serious vein, Dr. Knight described the improvements which the introduction of the science of travel had wrought in that part of the world. "It is now possible to make an automobile trip across the desert in 28 hours; a trip which formerly took 35 days even when traveling with a fast camel."

Nomad Painter Offers Course In Watercolor Spring Quarter

Eliot O'Hara, the first American painter to take a comprehensive painting trip through Soviet Russia, will conduct a course in watercolor painting here next quarter under the auspices of the Southern Art Projects.

The visiting instructor first thought seriously of devoting his entire time to art in 1928 when he won a Guggenheim fellowship and immediately moved with his family to Europe for two and a half years of study. Before that he had been at the head of an enamel factory in Massachusetts.

Up until his period of study in Europe he had considered painting purely as a hobby, but various one-man shows of his works encouraged him to devote more and more time to the art.

Technique His Own

Although he sampled, briefly, the methods of several masters in this country and in Paris, he found that he progressed more satisfactorily by solving his own problems. Gradually he discovered his own means of expression and is still making discoveries, just as he used to find ways in which to improve factory processes, 14 of which are now patented.

While O'Hara is usually known as a nomad painter, he has made his home for the last three years in Washington and next summer he will open for its fifth season his school of watercolor painting at Goose Rocks Beach, Maine. There in his watercolor gallery the invited exhibition of watercolors attracts thousands of visitors from all parts of the country.

This artist has traveled to many far corners of the globe to study his art and paint new subjects. His latest trip was to

(Continued on last page)

Track Meet Ushers

The following University Club men are requested to report to the Tin Can at 1:30 this afternoon to usher at the track events: Ivey, Carroll, Hudson, Lowe, Campbell, Hicks, Hammer, Taylor, Parrott, and Gordon.

The same men will usher at the events tonight and are asked to be at the Tin Can at 6 p. m. in formal dress.

PI PHI'S, CHI O.'S LEADING CAMPUS SCHOLASTIC RACE

S. A. E.'s and Beta's Follow in Fall Quarter Average.

Today is co-ed day, for today is published the announcement of fall fraternity quarter averages; and Pi Beta Phi and Chi Omega top the list. S. A. E., gallant toward the ladies but relentless to male scholastic foes, placed third to get off to a good start toward winning the men's fraternity cup for the second year in succession.

The smartest boys of fraternity court were followed in order by Beta Theta Pi, Theta Kappa Nu, Sigma Delta, Zeta Beta Tau, and D. K. E. It is expected that about eight of the twenty-seven fraternities will fall below the academic average, which has not yet been compiled.

Chi Omega led the fraternities for the year 1933-34, and came very close to the Pi Phi's this fall. The Chi O's were followed last year by Sigma Delta and S. A. E. Sigma Delta was not eligible for the cup because it is not a national fraternity.

The fraternity average this fall is 3.02, as compared with the 3.09 scored for the whole school year of 1933-34. Scoring is on an inverse basis, beginning with one point for a grade of "A" and going to six points for "F;" so that the higher the grade, the lower the scoring.

The number of fraternity members counted in the scoring was 410, as compared with 397 for last year.

Keys Not Here

The keys ordered by the University Club have been delayed and will not arrive until the latter part of next week, it was announced yesterday by Frank Willingham, president.

'Y' WILL SPONSOR HAMPTON SINGERS

Negro Quartet, with One of World's Deepest Basses, to Render Old Spirituals.

Singing away the examination blues, the famous Hampton Quartet from Hampton Institute for Negroes in Virginia will appear in Memorial hall Tuesday night at 7:15 for a short program of Negro spirituals sponsored by the University Y. M. C. A.

Bringing with them on their southern tour one of the deepest basses in the world, the Hampton quartet holds the reputation of giving real old-time versions to their spirituals.

Crowded Tour

One of the oldest quartets in the country, it is famous all over America and the present tour was so crowded that, according to "Y" Secretary Harry Comer, Tuesday night was the only available date.

Traveling with the quartet this time will be Dr. Cooper of Charlotte, the Negro preacher and artist, who will have on display in Memorial hall some samples of his paintings.

Students and townspeople are invited to attend the program which will be abbreviated in order that desperate professors may have time to prepare their next day's exams.

March 26 Is First Day of Spring Quarter

Registration Begins Monday; Permit Cards Available.

Registration begins Monday for all students except those sophomores and freshmen who did not pass all their subjects during the fall quarter. All those eligible must register before the following Sunday.

Permit cards and spring quarter class schedules are available in rooms 8 and 101, respectively, of South building. All students must secure permit cards before they will be allowed to register.

Before registration liberal arts college juniors and seniors must obtain from their major heads an outline of courses to be followed during the coming quarter.

Freshmen and sophomores not eligible to register in the pre-holiday period must do so March 25. Classes begin at 8:30 a. m. March 26.

ENGLE TO RELATE HOUSING FINDINGS

Director of National Survey Will Discuss National Housing Conditions Tuesday.

Dr. Nathanael H. Engle, assistant director to Claudius T. Murchison of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestice Commerce, will speak to the economics seminar next Tuesday evening on "Housing Conditions in the United States."

This will be the third of a series of lectures on current economics and business subjects.

As Dr. Engle was in charge of a nation-wide survey of urban housing made by the Department of Commerce in 1934, he is particularly well qualified to discuss the topic.

Studied State Cities

His was the first large scale investigation of housing conditions made in this country. During the course of the survey, housing conditions in 64 cities, among them Asheville and Greensboro, were studied in detail.

For his writings on business subjects Dr. Engle is widely known. He is a member of the National Distribution Council of Washington and is chairman of the editorial board of the National Marketing Review, the official quarterly publication of the National Association of Marketing Teachers.

Rebel Ranks Routed

Athens, Greece, March 8.—(UP)—Their ranks weakened by wholesale desertions, and their commander-in-chief, Eleutherios Venizelos reported wounded, forces of the Greek revolutionists fled on all fronts tonight.

The cause of the insurrectionists appeared desperate. The government declared that the rebel forces had been broken and demoralized.

Honor Council

The freshman honor council will have an organization meeting at 10:30 a. m. today in Memorial hall. It is expected that a chairman will be elected and further plans made.

Editor Of New Theatre Magazine Will Lecture At Dramatic Festival

"Vigorous, stimulating, an interesting talker," said Engineering Professor of English J. O. Bailey yesterday afternoon. He was speaking of his famous friend, Herbert Kline, editor of the New Theatre, who will lecture here at the twelfth annual festival and tournament of the North Carolina Dramatic Association when it is held at the Playmakers theatre March 27-30.

According to Bailey, Kline is one of the leaders in the movement toward the revolutionary theatre. His magazine is an organ of this "workers" theatre which has as its aim the reducing of the stage to a more practical, "meaty" basis.

Kline, a young man, has been very much interested in visiting the home of the Carolina Playmakers and Bailey indicated that the editor's desire to study the plant here was one of the main reasons he accepted the association's invitation to appear on its festival program.

Also, Bailey pointed out, Kline will have an opportunity to tell the drama-minded people of North Carolina of the movement which he is leading. He is one who proposes to take the "quaintness" out of our folk drama and replace it with more solid aspects of folk life. Outstanding among his supporters in this respect is the Group Theatre in New York, an offspring of the Theatre Guild. The Group Theatre has produced several of Playmakers-son Paul Green's dramas.

The "workers" theatre movement has gained a strong foothold in this country but, up to now, has not affected the North Carolina stage. Kline will make a short tour of the state next month when he will make his first trip south, according to Bailey.

Included on the festival's program is an illustrated lecture by Lee Simonson, the distinguished scenic director of the New York Theatre Guild, on "Stage Settings from the Seventeenth Century to the Present."

Murchison Describes Movement To Curtail International Trade

Relations Institute Personalities

Robert Russell Wicks

Author, theologian, speaker, World War Y. M. C. A. service worker, and dean of chapel at Princeton University, Robert Russell Wicks will open the third Human Relations Institute here March 31 with his address on "The College Student in a Sacred World."

Fifty-two-year-old Mr. Wicks is a graduate of Hamilton College and Union Theological Seminary and has three times been given the degree of doctor of divinity, from Hamilton, Williams and Yale.

During the World War he performed "Y" services for over six months and in 1929 he became dean of chapel at Princeton.

Widely known for his liberal views, he published his "Reason for Living" last year through Charles Scribner and Sons.

Course Is Offered In Oral Literature

Subject Suggested by Hardin Craig for English Majors.

The department of English is offering a new course in the oral reading of literature during the spring quarter to be held at 12 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

This course is an outgrowth of the belief that it is important that all teachers of literature should be able to read well and to understand the fundamental principles of oral reading.

It is desirable that all English majors who are taking the teachers' certificate should take a course made up partly of speech fundamentals and partly of the principles of the oral interpretations of literature.

The course, English 42, was recommended by Professor Hardin S. Craig, though he recommended that such a course not be obligatory for those English majors who have taken a considerable amount of speech work.

While attention will be given to the various forms of literature, the emphasis of the work will be on oral expression.

Tendency Due to Wish For "Self-Sufficiency"

Speaker Says Five Methods Are Being Used to Create Barriers to Foreign Exchange.

U.S. OPPOSING RESTRICTION

Never in the history of the world, said Dr. Claudius T. Murchison to a large audience in Gerrard hall last night, has there been such a period as today "in which such a conscious and concerted effort has been made universally to bring about the destruction of the exchange of commodities."

The director of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, on leave from the University, went on to show the efforts which nations throughout the world have made to curtail international trade.

Describes Work

Speaking on the general topic of "Restrictions on World Commerce," Dr. Murchison included a brief description of the work in Washington in which he is engaged, purported to break down these trade barriers and promote international co-operation.

The new school of thought which has pervaded most nations, advocating the theory of "economic self-sufficiency," has five definite plans which destroy international trade as such and create barriers of nationalistic hue.

The five means which nations are using are: the high tariff policy, a system of "foreign exchange control," specific commodity control by the governments, "bilateral agreements," and various administrative devices.

Dr. Murchison then explained

(Continued on last page)

SENATE PASSES HUGE WAR BILL

Largest Peacetime Army Measure Goes to House for Concurrence Amendments.

Washington, March 8.—(UP)—The Senate today passed a $400,000,000 war department appropriations bill, the largest allotment ever called for in peacetime legislation on Capitol Hill. The bill now returns to the House for concurrence amendments.

The passage of this measure clears the way for the Senate to resume debate on the works relief bill Monday.

A desperate battle is expected in the House next week over the income tax publicity repeal and soldiers' bonus issues. House leaders fought to force a vote today on a bill increasing bond authorization of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, but parliamentary tangles and the departure of members from the floor forced adjournment.

President Roosevelt revealed in a press conference today that he plans to prepare another message to Congress on transportation over the week-end.

ENGLISH REGISTRATION

Dr. George R. Coffman will be in his office to register graduate students in English Tuesday from 2 until 4 p. m.; Wednesday morning from 10:30 to 1; Thursday morning from 10:30 to 12:30, and Friday morning from 10:30 until 12:30.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: JIM DANIEL

Saturday, March 9, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"Students to Pay Debt for Affair." Be sure your sins will find you out.

Huey Long says the New Deal is a Saint Vitus dance. Meaning, of course, that the whole country has got the shakes, but won't hop to Huey's tunes.

It has been disclosed that even an instructor here takes his courses by correspondence. Probably got bored with his own lectures.

Taxing the University

Professor Clarence Heer's latest article on taxation, this time connecting it with North Carolina's educational system, is pertinent and illuminating.

Mr. Heer pointed out that while the school program of 1933 extended the privileges of an eight-months term to 196,000 school children, it at the same time reduced the school term of 39,000 children from one of nine-months to one of eight. Consider these statements: "The extension of the state-supported term from a length of six months (in 1931 when the state took the schools from the counties) to one of eight was accomplished at no additional costs to the taxpayers. The cost was borne by the people themselves in reduced teachers' salaries and in other economies effected by the state.

"As a matter of fact the state spent about $165,000 less on its eight-months term in 1933-34 than it had spent on its six-months term in 1931-32. On its six-months term the state spent $15,608,000 in 1931-32. On its eight-months term it spent $15,444,000 in 1933-34, and is expected to spend $16,455,000 during the present year."

The shift to state support brought about a 44 per cent reduction in the state's property tax bill since 1930. The schools are supposed to be supported by some other means of taxation, the sales tax in particular, which has done a valiant job but which has fallen short a few million dollars in adequately supporting the schools. Hence, the many new methods of taxation are being considered in Raleigh today.

Mr. Heer clearly links the problems of taxation, education, tax relief, equalization, and state governmental administration in his article. It clinches several points which we in these columns have consistently set forth, especially by creating a picture from which we can definitely draw our conclusions of the University's part in the legislative imbroglio.

For instance, we have held that the state's action in underwriting a standard state-supported school term in 1931 not only hit the University by slicing its budget 58 per cent, but also by so hampering the efficiency of the state school teachers by slicing their wages that the University suffers educationally.

Dr. Frank Graham has repeatedly said that the institutions of higher learning rise and fall with the public schools. The University, run by the state, must take graduates of North Carolina high schools. If they are ill-prepared—and we can little hope for their being adequately trained—then the University's standard must be lowered. No wonder we're tax-conscious.

Flivver or Fireside?

Recent statistics show that 80 per cent more automobiles were sold in America during last year than in the preceding year. With the upward swing of the business cycle, John Q. Public has deemed it advisable to purchase the car for which his family has long craved.

According to population, North Carolina is at the top of the list in the number of cars purchased within the last few months. Better prices for cotton and tobacco, undoubtedly, accounts for the meteoric rise in demand for autos from the agrarian sections of our state.

Lamentable is the fact that, while this enormous purchasing of carriers has been going on, there are very few homes being built. Additional statistics will serve to make this situation less opaque.

A leading newspaper informs us that the average cost of an automobile in 1909 was $1,662. In 1934 the average cost per car was only $678. The latter car is, of course, far superior to the earlier model.

In 1909 the average cost of a one-family house was $2,173. Whereas, in 1934 the average for a one-family house had risen to $4,020. The latter house is a better structure from the standpoint of heating, insulation, plumbing, etc., than the 1909 building, but the difference in cost cannot be attributed to that.

It is obvious that the automobile industry has been able to reach the masses but new and adequate homes still remain out of reach for a large proportion of the people. While the results of the housing commission, under the present administration, have been comparatively negligible, the plan is a definite step toward bringing about a more-nearly-equilibrium between cars and homes.

It's the Co-eds' Play

Last night saw the end of the co-eds winter athletic program, a most successful venture.

Women's athletics is expected to take on a much more important hue during the spring quarter. There will be more sports and more competition. There should be even more interest.

The next step, we hope, will be a mild sort of intercollegiate competition for our co-eds.

Scholars in The Narrow Street

We have seen charts showing how the salaries of University professors have dropped and how living expenses have shot up. Professors need money to live. This we know and realize, but we do not realize that these same professors need money with which to carry on their work.

When professors slip off to conferences and conventions, they have to pay out of their own slender pocketbooks. When they engage in research, unless such research is supported by some fund (and there are few of these), they have to spend their own money obtaining books and materials not found at the library.

It is important that our faculty attend conferences, do research, and travel. At conventions they meet men from other colleges and universities—the most prominent authorities in their respective fields. These men learn about North Carolina. The various contacts which our professors make at conventions are invaluable to graduates who apply for positions at other colleges.

Research is important not only to the advance of education, but to the reputation of North Carolina. Research work done by University professors affects the student undergraduate in that it supplies him with additional information. It enhances the prestige of the University in the eyes of other institutions.

The great pity is that under the present conditions other institutions benefit by reputation from much of the research done in Chapel Hill. This is because local professors usually cannot afford to publish their work through the University Press, which requires that the cost of publication be defrayed in advance. Consequently, University professors naturally turn to other publishing houses, the Harvard Press and the Columbia Press, for example, which will stand the costs of publication.

Travel, also, is extremely valuable to all University professors, especially to those in the language departments. The salaries or some local funds should allow extensive, well-directed travel in order to provide new backgrounds for teaching the modern tongues.

If the faculty is to be paid only subsistence-level wages, the advantages mentioned will be denied them. The 15 per cent restoration will hardly be of much aid outside of paying off back debts. For the time being, then, it looks as though the University professor will stick strictly to classes or else do research of a mediocre sort. We do not propose to underestimate the importance of classroom teaching, which the DAILY TAR HEEL puts first in its appraisal of a university, but since national reputation depends upon the scholar, and the scholar upon national reputation, research is also an important aspect of higher education.

CARO-GRAPHICS --- by MURRAY JONES & NASH JOHNSTON

SPEAKING the CAMPUS MIND

Again the Honor Council

I think it only fair that with voice given adversely to the Freshman Council there also be someone to speak in defense of it. Recently there appeared in the DAILY TAR HEEL a freshman's criticism of the new honor council plan, and I, also as a member of the freshman class, would like to answer that man's arguments.

From our very invasion of the Carolina campus the challenge of honor and integrity has been before us. For two quarters, now, we new men have been acclimating ourselves to the activities and traditions of the University. I ask then, if it is not high time that that challenge be answered! It is easy enough to sit back and let affairs run on, but our class is doing more. It is assuming an intelligent initiative; it is responding to that challenge.

It is we who before long will be upperclassmen, who must set the pace and establish a criterion for those incoming freshmen. They, too, will need to orient themselves and come to appreciate and love all that Carolina stands for. The honor system is one of these traditions that freshmen must and will support. How better can they support it, then, than to be more responsible under it? If nothing else, the freshmen will sooner come to see, with an honor council of their own, their importance and their niche in undergraduate life. Certainly this added responsibility will make them more seriously appreciative of themselves and of their conduct.

It is always easy for a contemporary to indict; but there is only one test of usefulness and efficiency, and that is the test of time. Let the Freshman Honor Council and the freshman class prove themselves before its plans be destroyed. It is too easy to condemn even the most altruistic moves; let those freshmen who follow this class be the judges of our action. To them will fall the power to build or destroy.

Why should it be argued that the freshman class is no more responsible and no more capable than they were in high school? An honor council in the freshman class should prove successful among these men. Although only a bit more mature than when in high school, the freshmen are "on their way." To them comes the opportunity and the need for living an independent, self-ordered life which they have not done under secondary education. Why should they be deprived of such an opportunity of self-expression, of desired responsibility, and most of all, of the chance to actively support the hallowed tradition of the University?

At any rate it must be remembered that the voice of the Freshman Council is not ultimate. What if a mistake is made, what if a decision is not wholly just? The case will still revert to the Student Council and no one will have suffered injustice. Indeed, then, if the freshmen cannot decide cases properly, it is shown that they need just this experience, just this elementary training to make them more capable when they do become upperclassmen and members of the higher Student Council. The Freshman Honor Council is the needed laboratory for trial, experience and training.

If this is not a "substantial" plan, as he who condemned this council said, what is? What more can be done to express active support by the freshmen of the conditions that exist on the campus? Instead of meekly following what seems to be imposed upon them, the freshmen now are an active voice burning with enthusiasm. They are no longer a sullen, apathetic group who mildly accept but who still wonder what it all may mean. If the Freshman Council can continue to mean all that it stands for, then will the University of North Carolina have a more potent and stronger honor system than ever before.

It is argued that the University enjoys a national reputation for its successful honor system and for its student government. Let the freshmen play their part in this great system, let them more ardently support it, and let them prepare for future usefulness to student government in the upper classes. In this way, it seems to me, a good system can be improved.

Nor is it analogous to point out the Student Council and the Freshman Council as differing as Republican and Democrat. The intention of the freshman is not to impose, not to infringe upon higher authority, but merely to support the system, to aid it, and to acquire experience.

I do not say that such a council will be perfect, nor that there is no argument against it. There are, however, great possibilities, and strong arguments for it. No argument brought against it is infallible. Just as those arguments of its critics can be disputed, others can be proven fallacious or biased.

All I do is plead for a chance to let all freshmen prove that the charges against them are unfounded. It would be hard for the freshmen to better evidence their loyalty and staunch support of the tradition of Carolina than in such an organization as the Freshman Honor Council.

W. H.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:00: "The Political Situation in Washington"—F. W. Wile, WBT.

1:15: George Hall orch., WBT.

2:00: Metropolitan Opera, WPTF.

2:30: Philharmonic Symphony Society of N. Y., WBT.

5:00: George Sterney's orch., WPTF.

6:15: Little Jack Little orch., WBT.

6:30: Eddie Dooley's Sport Review, WBT.

7:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

7:15: Whispering Jack Smith's orch., WEAF; Henry King orch., WJZ.

7:30: Gladys Baxter; Walter Preston; Arden orch., WABC.

8:00: Sigmund Romberg, composer-conductor; Wm. Lyon Phelps, narrator, WLW; Roxy's Gang, WABC.

8:30: Art Jarrett's orch., WPTF; Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

9:00: Rose Bampton; Nathaniel Shilkret orch., WLW; Richard Bonnelli, vocal ensemble; Kostelanetz orch., WBT; Radio City party; Frank Black's orch.; John B. Kennedy, WPTF, KDKA.

9:30: The Gibson Family; Conrad Thibault; Don Voorhees orch., WEAF, WLW; Studebaker Champions; Richard Himber orch., Joey Nash, vocalist, WBT.

10:00: Minneapolis Symphony orch., WBT.

10:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

10:30: Guy Lombardo orch., WJZ; California Melodies, WBT; "Let's Dance," 3-hour dance program, WLW.

11:00: Glen Gray orch., WBT; Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

11:30: Wayne King orch., WGN.

12:00: Cab Calloway orch., WABC.

12:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

12:30: Hal Kemp orch., WJZ, KDKA.

12:45: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

1:15: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

What...? was the strange power of THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL
over women... what made him the idol of millions... what saved him from death at the behest of ravishing lips, trapped by the snare of a woman's smile!

Indoor Track Meet This Afternoon And Night, Tin Can

Starts, 1:15; Night, 7:15; Thrills In Every Event; Four Teams Rated Equal

Gov. Ehringhaus to Be Honorary Referee; Large Crowd.

One of Fastest Fields Ever to Be Assembled in Dixie.

Tonight is the night, and the Tin Can is decorated in its most elaborate attire for the occasion. Nearly 375 athletes of the whole south will meet on the boards, matching wits, speed, strength, and stamina. The sixth annual Southern Conference Indoor Track Carnival opens this afternoon at 1:30 and again tonight at 7:15 o'clock.

Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus will serve as honorary referee and will sit with Forest Fletcher, Southern Conference president, and William Couper, conference secretary.

Mulligan Referee

J. V. Mulligan of Washington, D. C., has been secured as official referee of the games, and Capt. N. G. Pritchett of Davidson as announcer. Frank Dobson of Richmond will be starter.

The first events on the full day's program are the conference broad jump and the trials of the frosh, scholastic, and non-conference dashes, at 1:30 o'clock. The night program begins at 7:15 with the conference pole vault finals and the conference dash trials.

A brief summary of the Southern Conference events with the leading participants according to past performances is as follows:

60-yd. dash: Widmyer of Maryland naturally leads the field as defending champ and record-holder. Strong competition will be afforded by Tarrall of Duke, Pritchard of V. P. I., and Hubbard of North Carolina, who finished in that order last year. Tayloe of V. M. I., outdoor place winner, failed to come, due to a bad foot. Very close race expected with Hubbard pushing Widmyer.

Hurdles: Everett of Virginia, defending champ and record-holder in both highs and lows, is ranked No. 1 man, but will be forced to the limit by Schuhle of W. and L., McDonald of Virginia, Hawthorne of North Carolina, Martin of Duke, and Slye of Maryland.

440-yd. run: Race of champs brings together Reichman of Duke, Montgomery and Drake of North Carolina, all former winners. Evans of Maryland and Robinson of Clemson are also strong. Record quite sure to topple when the former trio opens up around the circle.

880-yd. run: Williamson of North Carolina leads by a long shot and is picked to break the existing best time by several seconds. His own teammate, Gammon, will push him and battle with Headley, Maryland soph, is a feature dual match.

Mile run: Williamson again is

(Continued on last page)

Navy Quintet Sinks Duke Devils, 44-38

Duke Gym, March 8.—Navy's powerful basketball team was forced to put on all its real strength here tonight, before downing the inspired Duke Blue Devils, 44-38, in an extra-period battle.

The Dukesters turned in one of the best games of the season in playing on even terms with the Middies. The Navy crew thus completed a most successful season, losing only to North Carolina, N. Y. U. and Army.

tracking 'em down

by smith barrier

You're Welcome

Welcome to the athletes who have made the trek to Chapel Hill for the big indoor track carnival!

Cars packed to capacity pulled up at Emerson field house yesterday afternoon and evening. Coaches, managers, and athletes climbed out and stretched. They were tired, BUT they will be ready tonight to give the fans the closest and fastest track races ever witnessed in the south. Luck to each and every trackster!

* * *

We Can?

Can North Carolina's "Flying Tar Heels" successfully defend their indoor title? Can the Blue and White fight off the formidable attacks of Duke, of Maryland, of Virginia, and of the others?

Records will topple no doubt and champions will be beaten no doubt. But the Tar Heels seem to be able to remain untoppled; and beaten or not beaten, the fans will see a fighting bunch of Carolinians.

* * *

Let's Go, Mac

Ed McRae, co-captain last year, will be running his last race for the University tonight, and we hope he will make it the best. Pitted against the best the south can offer in the two-mile, Mac will come through. His recent running in practice has been as much as anyone can ask for. The present record of 9:57.4 will fall, and this writer is picking none other than Mac to break the record tape.

He won the indoor mile last year with a new record. He is outdoor mile champ and is 1934 cross country champ. Just one more title will not hurt, so—

* * *

Co-Captains

Charlie Hubbard and Tom Hawthorne will be captaining the team tonight, in their last indoor meet also. Charlie will have quite a day's work on his hands. In the afternoon he has to leap with Hanes, who has jumped as far as 23 feet 9 inches. Charlie has leaped about an inch less, but today—that is another story. Possibly the record of 23 feet 7 inches will go under.

Tom is one of the exceptionally fast field of hurdlers. The timber boys this year are faster than usual, and Tom will really have to step. Good luck to both captains!

* * *

Sophs On Parade

Watch the sophs shine this year. Duke has them, Maryland has them, North Carolina has them. Watch Gammon hook up with Headley of Maryland in either the half or mile or both. In Charlotte they raced a dead heat in the 1000 yards. Watch Gardiner and Gabori and Allen and Finlay and Wrenn. And those power-plants from Duke who ran rough-shod last year.

Most of the out-of-state track teams arrived yesterday and late last night. These include Boys' Hi, Georgetown, W. and M., and seven of the S. I. C. teams.

W. & M. Ruled Favorites Over Fast Opponents; Past Two Champions Back In Scholastic Unit

BULLARD-FRAZIER BATTLE IN HALF MILE TO FEATURE

Monk Little and Bullard Lead William and Mary Squad In Seeking Title.

RICHMOND BIGGEST SQUAD

With the failure of Catholic University to come south this year, the William and Mary team will more than likely take the role as favorites for the non-conference division tonight. However, much competition will be expected from the others, including Davidson, Georgetown, Richmond, and Wake Forest.

Catholic U. had indicated early in the week that they would probably not be on hand in defense of their title, and late last night no other report had been received.

Little and Bullard

The Virginians possess such stars as Monk Little and Bullard. The former is an ace dash man who is looked to give the existing mark of 6.6 a slash in his performances tonight. Bullard is the defending half-mile champion and record-holder.

The feature race of this division will pit Bullard against Davidson's Frazier in the half-mile. Last year the Wildcat finished third in the same race. He is acclaimed to be better on longer distances, but tonight is aiming to win this 880 run. Bullard, however, is favorite to cop first honors.

University of Richmond has the largest team entered with a total of nine men.

Pi Phiers Topple Chi Oers, 27-21 In Caged Battle

Misfortune's Misses Miss Winning over Rivals in Hectic Hoop Scrap.

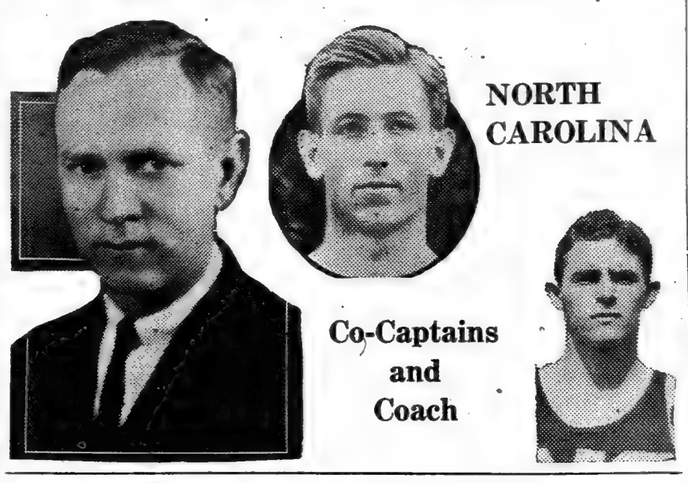
Thronged Bynum gymnasium again witnessed deah ole Pi Phi's estoppel of upstarting Chi Omega last night to the tune of 27-21, prejudiced tabulators to the contrary notwithstanding.

Presenting a smooth working offense, Pi Phi finally overcame its hapless opponent, whose evident weakness was reputedly due to an overtrained condition. Both teams played close, conservative ball during the first half, ending with a fast final quarter.

Miss Gordon Leads

Standing out above both opponents and mates was Miss Nancy Gordon, whose 16 points led all scorers. Though guarded closely during the major portion of the game, Miss Gordon broke loose to sink five rapid, difficult shots as date-time drew near. Pi Phi's Nine Henderson, an impassible barrier, successfully detained all Chi O. scorers except Captain Harriet Taylor, whose 12 points came as the result of an exceedingly poised performance.

Miss Caffey, chief Chi Omega defense, held high-scoring Miss Gordon to three goals during the first half, only to weaken steadily during closing minutes of play. Yet, Miss Caffey remained good to the last drop. Deacon Cruikshank's contribution of 8 points rounded out the P. P. scoring save a lone goal of Miss Lawlor's.



Miss Hester Campbell and Miss Joyce Killinsworth both bolstered the C. O. count considerably, with presentation of fine floor work.

The score at half was 13-12 in favor of the winning club.

Pi Beta Phi	Chi Omega
Cruikshank, f (8)	Campbell (2)
Gordon, f (16)	Taylor (C) (12)
Lawlor, c (3)	Killinsworth (7)
Lawrence, g (C)	McCauley, g
Rose, g	Caffey, g
Henderson, g	Davis, g

Officials: Petea and Wright; timers: Wilkerson and Skinner; score-keepers: Ross, L., and Ezzard, Va.; Misc.: Moore.

Let's Go, Carolina!

NORTH CAROLINA Co-Captains and Coach

COOLNESS FORCES SHORT DRILL FOR BASEBALL SQUAD

Coach Bunn Hearn Gives Diamonders Batting Practice Only Yesterday.

FROSH TWIRLERS TODAY

Coach Bunn Hearn sent his 1935 baseball squad through another informal drill yesterday afternoon on Emerson field but had to cut the practice short as a result of the cool weather.

The outfit will go through a long workout this afternoon starting at 2:00 o'clock. Coach Hearn especially wants his freshman pitchers out as he will give them special instructions.

Yesterday's drill was limited to batting practice, all the players taking their cuts. The hurlers who have been warming up for the past few weeks in the Tin Can held the advantage over the batters although they did not bear down.

Leo Manley was the only letter-twirler to work in the box. Taking it rather easy, he did not have a chance to demonstrate much ability.

As a result of their studies, very few of last year's stars reported. Eddie Shapiro, veteran leftfielder, got in a number of nice blows during his turn at bat.

Babe Daniel, 200-pound football center, was out. He looked like an excellent prospect as he caught during most of the practice.

It is not definite yet whether the players will practice baseball while the holiday period is on. If the extra drill is held Coach Hearn will only be able to call a small part of the squad back.

Coaches! Officials!

All contestants, coaches, officials, and managers may obtain passes at Emerson field house this morning from 10:30 to 12; at the Tin Can window from 1 to 2 this afternoon, and from 6 to 7 tonight. Please call at any of these specific times.

Grimes Bowlers Top Phi Delts to Reach Intramural Finals

Win by Only 13 Pins; Leiberman Takes Scoring Honors.

Grimes dormitory continued its way toward bowling honors yesterday afternoon, barely nosing out Phi Delta Theta in a very interesting match. Grimes won out by a mere 13 pins, scoring 1059-1046 over the Phi Delts to enter the intramural final.

Irv Leiberman was instrumental in Grimes' win, bowling 182 in one of the games. This marks the highest score made in the present tourney.

Drapier and Parker completed the winning combination, and this trio, which placed second in the qualifying round, comes up against Aycock in the final on Monday afternoon.

Student Tickets

Student tickets for the track meet tonight are on sale at the Book Ex, Co-ops, and Pritchard-Lloyd's. Or may be obtained at the Tin Can window. Price is only 40 cents.

Pi Beta Phi Pledge

Pi Beta Phi Sorority announces the pledging of Miss Betty Mansel of Williamsport, Pa.

BOYS' HI, ATLANTA, AND NEWARK ARE DEFENDING TEAMS

Washington, Richmond, and Newport News Bring Other Largest School Teams.

STEVENS RECORD HOLDER

In the scholastic division of the indoor track meet tonight, the past two winners will be on hand to lead the fight for the 1935 top honors. These are Boys High of Atlanta, 1934 champion, and Newark Prep, 1933 crown-winner.

The Georgia school brought up around 20 men in defense of their title, while Newark only have four men. But year before last, this same school brought down just a handful of men, only to have this group run wild in all events.

Out-of-Staters

Other out-of-state scholastic teams which will enter large teams tonight include McKinley Tech High of Washington, D. C., John Marshall High of Richmond, G. M. A. of Georgia, Newport News High of Virginia, and Tech High of Atlanta. Morristown High of Tennessee, and Carlisle M. A. of South Carolina also have several men entered. Seton Hall of South Orange, N. J., may arrive.

North Carolina high schools who will be in the running are Durham, Goldsboro, Greensboro, Old Town, and Reynolds of Winston-Salem.

Stevens of Boys' High is the only record-holder to return in defense of his crown. The Atlanta youth holds the 60-yard dash mark at 6.5 seconds, set last year.

Two Red-Head Champs

Two red-heads and champions both are "Red" Montgomery and "Red" Drake, who will carry North Carolina's colors in the quarter-mile at the Southern Conference track meet. Montgomery won the event in the 1934 meet, while Drake captured the Conference championship outdoors, setting a new school record of 49.3 seconds.

Aycock And Phi Kappa Sigma Win Titles In Intramural Table Tennis Play

Two Teams Blank Mangum and Z. B. T. for Dorm and Frat Championships, Respectively; Rubin, Goodes, and Fuller Take Dorm Wins and Odum, Coker, and Decker for Frat.

Aycock in the dormitory section and Phi Kappa Sigma in the fraternity division were the newly crowned champs of the intramural table tennis finals yesterday.

Aycock defeated Mangum, 3-0, in the afternoon match and Phi Kappa Sigma followed with another decisive 3-0 win over Z. B. T.

Itchy Goodes Wins

The Aycock-Mangum match opened with a thrilling five-set victory for Gene Goodes over Dick Gabori. Goodes took the first set easily, but Gabori went into the lead by taking the next two. Goodes tied it up and then won the last set with a sparkling rally from a 15-10 deficit. The score went to 27-25 before Goodes put the final ball away.

With this victory under its belt, Aycock continued its winning way when Len Rubin, playing first singles, toppled Doug Cartland, last year's individual champion, in three straight sets in the feature match of the day.

Eddy Fuller finished it off by taking the measure of Walt Levitan in four games to give Aycock the dormitory championship.

Frat Winners

In the other final, the championship of the fraternity division went the way of Phi Kappa Sigma by a 3-0 count. The defending champs had no trouble in setting back the Z. B. T. trio, Odum, Coker, and Decker winning in straight games.

Gene Odum started it off by downing Strauss. Odum was pressed to 27-25 in the opening setto but steadied to win the next two games. Coit Coker administered a decisive beating to Phil Kind by 21-18, 21-15, 21-6 scores. The going was tight the first two games, but Coker ran out the last game without the slightest trouble.

Decker made the victory complete, winning likewise in three straight games over Irv Kalmanoff. This sent the Phi Kap Sigs into the final for the campus championship against Aycock.

(Continued on last page)

RELIEF STUDENTS AVERAGE C-MINUS

Survey Shows 13.4 Per Cent Made Honor Roll; Carolina Is Below Average.

A survey of the records of FERA students in the University of North Carolina has revealed that out of the 350 employed, 47, or a percentage of 13.4, made the honor roll during the fall quarter. The average grade of the FERA students was "C-minus."

The original quota for the University was 289 FERA students, but at the present that number is exceeded by 61.

State Average "C"

In all the colleges throughout the state there were 509 more students employed during the fall session than the original quota called for. The average grade of the 2,949 employed in the state was C. Of the total, 1.4 per cent was placed on academic probation and 2 per cent were dropped from the FERA due to low scholastic work.

These facts reveal that the colleges as a whole exercised excellent judgment in the selection of students capable of high grade scholastic achievemnt and that the students reciprocated by devoting themselves seriously to their work.

In addition to the statistical data, C. E. McIntosh of the North Carolina FERA Bureau, reports that he has received many letters from colleges attesting to the same facts. He pronounces the student aid program a scholastic success.

Criticized

One of the chief criticisms of the colleges seems to be of the original requirement that half of each monthly allotment go to "new" students (mostly freshmen). This made the finding of socially desirable projects very difficult. Another criticism was that since many students had to work at tasks in addition to those assigned under the FERA much desirable extra-mural work had to be ignored.

In some college communities it was impossible to secure the co-operation of outside agencies in setting up and supervising extra-mural projects and the lack of travel expense limited the type of projects which could be undertaken.

On the whole, however, the program has met with the approval of college officials, and a state-wide conference on February 12 voted to request its continuation for 1935-36.

GEOLOGICAL GIFT

Graduate Presents Specimens from Texas to University.

The arrival of a valuable shipment of specimens assembled and presented by Erik K. Waering, formerly Erik N. Kjellesvig, a graduate of the geology department of the University, was announced today by W. F. Prouty of the geology department.

The collection is largely from Texas and includes fossils, rock specimens, and drill cores from the Pennsylvanian and Permian systems.

Waering is a micro-paleontologist for the Texas Petroleum company.

UNIVERSITY OF COLOGNE PROFESSOR TO LECTURE

Leopold von Wiese, professor of sociology in the University of Cologne, will lecture under the joint auspices of Duke University and the University of North Carolina, Monday evening, at 7:30.

The lecture will be in room 210, School of Religion building, on the Duke campus, and the general subject will be "German Sociology."

WITH THE CHURCHES

Baptist

10 a. m.—Student class taught by M. J. Hagood.

10 a. m.—Co-ed class taught by Mrs. E. T. Howell.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon—Dr. O. T. Binkley. Topic: "First Hand Religion."

7 p. m.—B. Y. P. U. for college students.

7 p. m.—Young People's Society for high school students.

Episcopal

8 a. m.—Holy Communion.

10 a. m.—Bible class.

11 a. m.—Service and sermon—Rev. A. S. Lawrence.

8 p. m.—Prayers and organ.

Service every day in the week except Saturday at 5:15 p. m.

Lutheran

10:15 a. m.—Sunday school discussion led by Eugene Bricklemeyer.

11 a. m.—Service—Rev. Roscoe B. Fisher. Topic: "The Tempted Jesus."

Methodist

9:45 a. m.—Sunday school.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon—Rev. W. A. Jenkins.

7 p. m.—Student Forum.

Presbyterian

10 a. m.—Student class taught by Rev. Watt Cooper. Topic: "Is Our Religiou Worth Exporting?"

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon—Rev. Donald Stewart. Topic: "The Religious Experience."

7 p. m.—Student Forum led by Dr. L. M. Brooks. Topic: "Our Religion and Revived Moral Code."

8 p. m.—Community Forum—Professor Shelton Smith of Duke University. Topic: "The Barthian Road to Reality."

United

10 a. m.—Student Bible class. Topic: "Socially Regenerated."

11 a. m.—Sermon—Dr. W. J. McKee. Topic: "India Speaks."

7 p. m.—(There will be no Student Forum this Sunday.)

Catholic

Catholic church services—Gerrard hall.

8:30 a. m.—Mass, every Sunday. Rev. F. J. Morrissey, Chaplain.

University Club

(Continued from page one)

Fairley, ch., Bonner Hasty, Herman Snyder, John Bowles.

Mt. Airy: Tom Fawcett, ch., Drew Martin, Stewart Leake; Statesville: Butler French, ch., Paul Deaton; Sanford: Charlie Hubbard, ch.; Kinston: Jim Parrott, ch., Harry Wootten; Fayetteville; Claude Rankin.

Charlotte: Billy Yandell, ch., Joe Shull, Roger Holman; Lexington: Stuart Rabb; Wilson: Fred Eagles, ch., Herb Harris, Paul Darden; Asheville: John Dacy, ch., Charlie Rawls, Brainard Rorison, Phil Russell; Salisbury: Pitts Hudson, ch., Al McAnally, Harry Williamson.

Greensboro: John Barney, ch., Frank Abernethy; Rocky Mount: Jim Craighill, ch., Tom Hicks; Oxford: Dick Lewis, Tom Evins.

Table Tennis

(Continued from page three)

This match will be staged at Graham Memorial this Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Results of the finals:

Aycock (3), Mangum (0): Rubin (A) over Cartland, 21-14, 21-10, 21-18; Goodes (A) over Gabori, 21-10, 19-21, 18-21, 21-16, 27-25; Fuller (A) over Levitan, 21-11, 21-16, 18-21, 21-12.

Phi Kappa Sigma (3), Z. B. T. (0): Odum (PKS) over Strauss, 27-25, 21-15, 21-19; Coker (PKS) over Kind, 21-18, 21-15, 21-6; Decker (PKS) over Kalmanoff, 21-16, 21-11, 22-20.

State Drama Contests

Preliminary contests for the state dramatic tournament here March 28, 29, and 30, are being held in various places throughout the state.

John Parker, Dorice Jackson, and Dr. J. O. Bailey left Thursday night for Whiteville to judge triangular plays there. Dr. A. C. Howell, Mrs. F. W. Hanft, and Mr. Parker will act as judges in Rocky Mount tonight.

In preliminary contests last week Bethel High School (at Cabarrus) won over Marshville and Paw Creek in the county high schools division; and Albemarle eliminated Concord and Shelby in the city high school division.

Track Carnival

(Continued from page three)

picked to drop the record by at least eight seconds, with the same two as in the half affording great competition. Heritage of Duke, Mothershead of V. P. I., and St. John of Virginia are also strong.

Two mile run: This will be the feature race of the night as far as closeness is concerned. Such stars as McRae and Waldrop of North Carolina, Bird and Morse of Duke, and Dunaj of W. and L. will enter for a battle royal. McRae, Bird, and Dunaj have all been cross country winners; Waldrop is outdoor two mile champ; and Morse is a soph. The record is quite sure to topple as the man who wins over this fast field will be forced to run his legs off.

One mile relay: Maryland's champ team is back. The Old Liners set the N. Y. A. C. record this winter and seem to be the strongest team entered. But North Carolina and Duke may be looked to for fast quartets, and if the team scoring is close, exceptionally good baton teams will battle for the latter schools.

High jump: Craig of South Carolina and Wilkin of Virginia are the cream of the crop, with Myers of Duke next possibly.

Shot put: This battle of power will be very close this year. The leaders are Evins of North Carolina, Craig of South Carolina, Rex of N. C. State, and Luther and Mel Williams of Duke. All these men, with the exception of Craig, have at one time or another beaten each other and been beaten by each other. Craig and Evins stand out.

Pole vault: Duke's powerful quartet of vaulters is the best team combination, but may be matched by Bear and Jackson of North Carolina.

Broad jump: Hubbard of North Carolina and Hanes of Duke will leap for first honors. Both have exceeded the existing record by an inch or more, but outdoors. Other leaders are Higby of North Carolina, Everett of Virginia, and Slye of Maryland.

Infirmary List

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Louis Monica, Leighton Dudley, R. L. Bolton, Therman Ennis, J. L. Mathews, C. C. Bennett, B. H. Barnes, and W. R. Groover.

Opera Broadcast

A broadcast of one of the greatest operas of all times, "Tristan and Isolde," by Richard Wagner, may be heard in the choral room of the Hill Music hall at 1:40 this afternoon.

Spanish Graduate Exam

The examination on reading knowledge of Spanish will be given to graduate students working on their master's degree this morning at 9:30 o'clock in Dr. S. A. Stoudemire's office at 304 Murphey hall.

EXTENSION PLANS WRITERS' COURSE

Conference to Be Held in North Carolina Mountains; Phillips Russell to Be Director.

A writers' conference to last from August 5 to 17 will be held in the mountains of North Carolina this summer under the sponsorship of the University extension division, it was announced yesterday by R. M. Grumman, director of the division.

The conference will be open to all persons interested in writing whether for professional, diversional, or cultural reasons.

Blue Ridge, two miles from Black Mountain, N. C., has been chosen as the place at which the conference will be held. On this 1600-acre estate ample hotel, classroom, and recreational facilities are promised.

Phillips Russell Director

Phillips Russell, associate professor of English and teacher of creative writing at the University, will be the director.

The proposed conference will be informal in its nature, and although not having organized courses or formal classroom exercises, will provide lectures, round-table discussions, criticisms and readings, and will promote meetings between professional writers, amateurs, publishers and booksellers.

Although the conference is not to be sectional in its aim, it will extend a special welcome to writers living in or interested in the south, and one of its purposes will be a free discussion of the regional aspects of modern writing and contemporary literature.

A number of prominent writers, both from the south and other parts of the country, have promised to attend. The fees and necessary expenses are to be kept at a minimum.

Murchison

(Continued from page one)

each of the methods and showed how the present United States administration, working to re-create international markets, is trying to overcome the barriers which are thrown up by these means.

This American policy, said Dr. Murchison, employs bargaining with each and every country, a mutual "give-and-take" around the counsel table, with the economic considerations of the countries involved taken in the formation of agreements.

The American policy is free from the discrimination which pervades the "bilateral agreements" and "exchange controls" commonly employed, stated Dr. Murchison, because it extends trade concessions to every nation on the basis of reciprocal action by those nations.

Dr. Murchison pointed out the machinery involved in this work and presented a clear picture of America's part in the international trade field. His address was heartily received.

Dean D. D. Carroll of the school of commerce introduced the speaker. The speech was repeatedly interrupted by the shuffling-in of tardy arrivals, the last of whom arrived exactly one hour and 18 minutes late.

Philosophy 64

Philosophy 64 as numbered on the spring quarter class schedule is listed in the current catalogue as Philosophy 61.

It is a course in contemporary philosophy with one course credit and is open to juniors and seniors. A study is made of idealism, pragmatism, and realism. It is given five hours a week during the spring quarter at 11 a. m. by Professor Stephen A. Emery.

Ahoy!

This is the girl who has a curl
In the middle of her forehead.
When she is good she is very, very good;
But when she is bad—she is torrid.

"Marines Are Coming," Carolina theatre today.

Watercolor Course

(Continued from page one)

Labrador where he found opportunity to contrast the warm southern glare with the pale sunlight of the north.

World His Workshop

His one-man shows have been written up in Georginian, when O'Hara was invited to exhibit in Tiflis; and in Spanish, when the southernmost port of Chile gave him an exhibition. Many galleries now have permanent possession of some of his better pictures. Among these galleries are the ones in Bolivia, England and the United States.

When Artist O'Hara is asked why he doesn't try his talents with the oils, he answers, "Because I haven't yet got to the endox of watercolors." Besides painting O'Hara has included among his activities writing, and has had published the book, "Making Watercolors Behave," in which he expresses some of his theories about watercolor painting.

DR. L. R. WILSON HONORED

Dr. Louis R. Wilson, formerly librarian of the University and now dean of the graduate library school of the University of Chicago, has been chosen president of the American Library Association for the coming year.

Dr. Wilson has been twice elected first vice-president of the association and he is now given the highest honor by the country's librarians.

BAGBY TO SPEAK

Dr. English Bagby, professor in the department of psychology, will address the Current Events Club of Rocky Mount March 11. His talk will concern the "Psychology Personalities." This speech is the second in a series of lectures that Dr. Bagby is giving to the Current Events Club.

NEW ARRIVALS FOR SPRING
at the
Young Men's Shop
126-128 E. Main St.
Durham, N. C.

SPORT SHIRTS
The smartest models of the season—about twenty different styles—all one price—
95c

SMART SLACKS
You will agree with us that we have assembled one of the smartest selection of slacks you have ever seen—Priced from—
$3.95 thru $6.50

Crepe Sole
BUCKSKIN OXFORDS
By Freeman
$5

—and many other styles in Sport Oxfords in solid colors or combinations.

Drop around and look at the many new things arriving daily. It doesn't matter whether you buy or not, you are always welcome at

The Young Men's Shop
126-128 East Main Street
DURHAM

Alfred Williams & Co., Inc.
Quiz Books and Supplies

NOW CAROLINA THEATRE PLAYING

Moonlit Tropics . . . the lilting strains of the rhumba, flashing dark eyes of irresistible senoritas . . . romance . . . the Marines are coming!

WILLIAM HAINES
Esther Ralston
Conrad Nagel
and ARMIDA
in
"The Marines Are Coming"

— Also —
Comedy: "Palooka from Paducah"
Novelty: "Manhattan Rhythm"

RCH 9, 1935
N HONORED
lson, formerly University and raduate libra-
University of chosen presirican Library
e coming year. s been twice resident of the
is now given by the coun-
SPEAK
gby, professor of psychology,
Current Events
unt March 11.
cern the "Psy-alities." This ond in a series
Dr. Bagby is urrent Events
RIVALS PRING
e n's Shop
Main St.
N. C.
SHIRTS models of the venty different rice—
c
SLACKS
e with us that led one of the n of slacks you
-Priced from—u $6.50
Sole OXFORDS
eman
ther styles in in solid colors
d look at the ings arriving matter wheth-
not, you are at e
Men's op
Main Street
HAM
., Inc.

DR. SHELTON SMITH
8 P.M.
PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Daily Tar Heel

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

DR. SHELTON SMITH
8 P.M.
PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, MARCH 10, 1935 | NUMBER 126

H. E. RONDTHALER IS VOTED ALUMNI ASSOCIATION HEAD

J. H. Erwin, Jr., and R. C. deRosset Become Vice-Presidents for Next Year.

GRAY, ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler, president of Salem College, has been elected president of the University Alumni Association for 1935, it was announced here yesterday following a tally of the mail ballots cast by alumni during the past several weeks.

Dr. Rondthaler was alected over William C. Woodard of Rocky Mount.

The announcement of the officers for 1935 was made at the office of J. Maryon Sounders, executive secretary of the association.

Vice-presidents elected were J. Harper Erwin, Jr., of Durham and Robert C. deRosset of Raleigh who were named over Leo H. Harvey of Kinston and Dr. George L. Carrington of Burlington, respectively.

Gray on Council

Bowman Gray, Jr., of Winston-Salem won out over James S. Ficklen of Greenville for a three-year term as alumni representative on the University Athletic Council.

Dr. Rondthaler succeeds as president of the University alumni Dr. Hubert B. Haywood of Raleigh, who will continue to be a member of the executive board as immediate past president. Dr. Rondthaler is a graduate of the class of 1893. As a student at Chapel Hill he was active in campus affairs. Since 1909 he has served as president of Salem College.

Erwin is a cotton broker in Durham. He was graduated in 1921, and as an undergraduate won considerable reputation for his basketball prowess.

DeRosset, a native of Wilmington, has lived in Raleigh

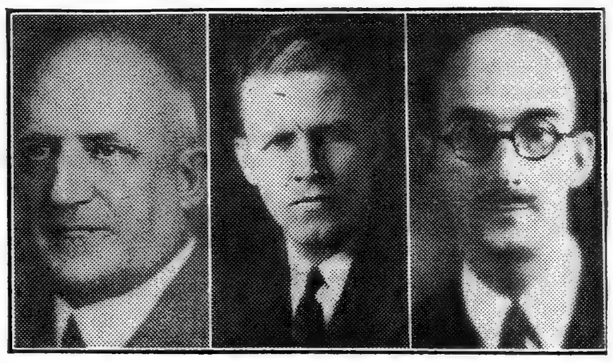
(Continued on page two)

SYMPHONY PLANS CONCERT SERIES

State Symphony Orchestra Will Feature King-Smith Singers In Durham Program.

The North Carolina Symphony Orchestra, presenting a series of five symphonic concerts in Durham, will offer as a special attraction several features among the outstanding being the King-Smith Singers of Washington, who will appear with the orchestra at its Tuesday night performance.

The first concert of the festival will be given tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock and will feature a flute solo by Lamar Stringfield, conductor of the orchestra.



Children's Matinee

A part of the children's matinee which will be presented Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock will be conducted by M. T. Cousins of Durham, a well-known member of the orchestra.

The King-Smith Singers who will be the special feature of the Tuesday night performance consist of 12 voices selected from all parts of the United States.

The feature attraction of the final concert which will be played Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock, will be a violin concerto, "Romance," by Beethoven, played by Miss Kay Rickert, a former member of the orchestra.

NEW ALUMNI OFFICERS

Pictured above are the new officers of the General Alumni Association of the University, elected by mail ballots which have just been tabulated. Left to right, they are Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler of Salem College, president, and J. Harper Erwin, Jr., of Durham and Robert C. deRossett of Raleigh, vice-presidents.

Summer Session To Feature Galaxy Of Noted Lecturers

Talks to Be Course in Instruction and Administration For Summer School.

FIRST OF KIND IN SOUTH

Plans for the summer session's headliner, the course in higher education, the first of its kind in the south and one of three or four in the whole country, are very nearly complete. Most of the distinguished group of guest lecturers have been definitely engaged and their topics chosen.

This course, the successor to an institute on higher education held here successfully last summer, will deal with problems of instruction and administration in higher educational institutions. Members of the regular University staff will direct the course, in co-operation with the visiting teachers.

Minnesota Dean First

The first guest lecturer will be Dean M. E. Haggerty of the University of Minnesota, who will be here June 14 and 15. He will discuss the question "What Constitutes a Good College Faculty?" and will report on his study of colleges in the North Central Association. This report will be published soon.

He will be followed by President James W. Wood of Stephens College, who with Professor F. L. Hovde of the University of Minnesota, will speak during the week of June 17. President Wood will discuss the problem of improvement of college instruction. Professor Hovde's topic will be the work of the University of Minnesota's General College, where an attempt is made to provide for the individual needs of students.

Columbia Dean One Week

The entire week of June 24 will be at the disposal of Dean H. E. Hawkes of Teachers College, Columbia University. The topics of the discussion he will direct are:

1—Motivation. How may the college experience stir the individual to his best endeavor?

2—The survey course for freshmen and sophomores; what educational purpose does it serve?

3—Measurement of college accomplishment; various types of examinations and methods of evaluation of college work.

4—College discipline as one aspect of personnel service.

Dean Paul C. Pecker of Iowa State University, will discuss the work of that school in providing for the guidance of students, in lectures July 1 and 2.

College curriculum revision, the purpose of survey and orien-

(Continued on page two)

Duke Professor Speaks At Forum Tonight

Dr. Shelton Smith Presents Last of Inter-Church Lectures.

The last of a series of five community church lectures will be held in the Sunday school rooms of the Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock. Dr. Shelton Smith of Duke University will be the principal speaker on the program. His subject will be "The Barthian Road to Reality."

The general subject of the series has been "Christianity and Contemporary World Movements." The meetings have been informal and inter-denominational undertakings.

LONG WILL FLAY RELIEF MEASURE

Work Relief Bill and Long-Fairley Feud May Embroil Senate Already in Tatters.

Washington, March 9.—(UP)—The administration's work relief bill, already subjected to a week of rough treatment, tonight headed into another trouble zone with Huey Long getting ready for new assaults and alarms.

The resumption of Long's war on Postmaster General Farley promised a hectic week for an already badly disorganized Senate. The Long-Farley feud and the work relief bill developed side by side. Now they are thrown together with explosive possibilities.

Washington, March 9.—(UP)—The final action of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation extension bill was delayed again tonight when a revolting House forced adjournment before a vote was reached.

The bill is expected to come up again Tuesday because the pink slip income tax publicity of the repeal bill has legislative right of way.

Registration Period Is Tomorrow-Saturday

Frosh and Sophs Failing in Fall Will Enroll March 25.

The spring quarter registration period begins tomorrow and lasts through Saturday. All students are expected to enroll during this time except those freshmen and sophomores who did not pass all their courses in the fall quarter.

All freshmen and sophomores who failed one or more courses in the fall must register March 25.

REBELS PROSPER IN CUBA, GREECE

Cuban Revolutionists Join Hands With Greeks Across Seas as Insurrection Arises.

Revolutions are riding the crest of a militaristic wave in two parts of the world tonight as insurrectionists in the island republic of Cuba joined hands with Greek revolutionists in attempts to overthrow their respective governments.

Havana, Cuba, March 9.—(UP)—Acting swiftly under almost dictatorial powers, the government here established rigid military control throughout Cuba tonight in a determined effort to smash a serious revolutionary strike.

The Mendieta-Bastita regime, suspending all constitutional law, placed organized army reserves under military governors commanding the island's six provinces.

Athens, Greece, March 9.—(UP)—The Greek government opened a smashing drive today against rebels in Macedonia, expected to decide the outcome of the civil war now in progress.

General George Condylis, personally commanding the government forces in the field, threw a full force of artillery, planes, and troops across the mountainous country around the Struma river down upon the rebels in the valleys.

UNC Will Hear 'Deepest Bass In The World'

Hampton Quartet's Profound Vocalist Once Won Fund for School by Demonstration.

Carolina students will hear the deepest bass in the world, according to General Y. M. C. A. Secretary Harry F. Comer, when the Hampton quartet appears in Memorial hall Tuesday evening.

The low man on the Hampton outfit, which books out from Hampton Institute for Negroes in Virginia, has had much to do with the quartet's wide popularity over the country.

Appearing at Culver Military Academy several years ago, the quartet was heard by a very wealthy Hoosier who offered to endow a special scholarship at the Hampton school if, at the next evening's performance the quartet's bass would go one note lower than ever before.

In the audience was a group of noted musicians who were to judge the depth of the Negro's bass. The quartet started "Old Black Joe." At the end the tenors and baritone sounded their last note—the bass had the air and, with eyes shut, he started to carry the whole Culver audience down into the lower regions of human tone range.

Down, down, on the last cadenza to "Old Black Joe." When the performance was over and the crowd stopped cheering, the judges announced that the colored man had gone almost two and a half notes below his previous record. Hampton won her scholarship.

Senior Executives

An important meeting of the senior class executive committee will be held in the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 7 o'clock to consider detailed plans for senior week.

Athletic Councilor

Bowman Gray, Jr., of Winston-Salem, who has been elected by the University Alumni Association to represent alumni on the University Athletic Council for a term of three years.

STATE ASSEMBLY CONCLUDES TERM

Committee Chairmen Struggle With Huge Difference Between Revenue and Bills.

Raleigh, March 9.—(UP)—The North Carolina General Assembly ended the last week of its constitutional term today with none of its major problems remotely near a solution.

The work from now on until official adjournment will be carried on by the legislators without pay.

While members rested, four chairmen of the Senate and House appropriations and revenue committees struggled with the $1,650,000 difference between the revenue and the supply bills with the view of reporting on both next week.

Prisons Investigated

Another joint committee, on penal institutions, bore down on the prison system today. A subcommittee was appointed to investigate conditions in the Mecklenburg county camp where two Negro prisoners whose feet have been amputated were confined.

Among the new bills in the House, two were by McDonald of Forsyth, to permit judges to substitute life imprisonment for death upon conviction for burglary and arson. They were referred to judiciary committee number one.

No new bills were introduced in the upper House.

INSTITUTE PLANS CLASS SEMINARS, PUBLIC LECTURES

Lectures to Be Given at 10:10 A.M. and 8 P.M.; 9:30 Classes Will End at 10 O'clock.

TO COVER THREE FIELDS

More than 80 classroom seminars, 12 public lectures in Memorial hall and a complete exhibit in the lobby of Memorial hall are included in the gigantic outlay for the coming Human Relations Institute, according to Charles Poe, chairman of the institute committee.

An imposing group of speakers has been secured to represent the fields of business and industry, governmental and international relations, and interracial and class relations, the three fields which the institute will cover.

To Curtail Classes

Two lectures in Memorial hall are scheduled for each day during the week. All 9:30 classes will be dismissed at 10 o'clock to attend the morning address which will begin at 10:10 o'clock, according to Poe.

Everything connected with the institute will be open to the public. The evening address hour will be 8 o'clock.

Besides the platform speeches in Memorial hall, visiting institute speakers will conduct over 80 classroom seminars. The regular University classes will digress from their text assignments and hear an institute speaker present his subject during the first half of the hour, leaving the last part of the period for questions and discussion.

Technical Studies

According to Chairman Poe, the object of the seminars is to give the speakers a chance to thrash out more technical problems than they are allowed to in the public platform addresses.

The Memorial hall exhibit will be open all week and will include an attractive collection of books, posters, pamphlets, and literature of various sorts relating to the three fields covered in the institute's study.

Several important speakers who have been invited have not been heard from, indicated Poe, but the list of those who have al-

(Continued on page two)

Fount Of Wisdom, Second-Hand, Is Library's New Book Of Saws

Trying to think of a good quotation?

The library has just acquired a new book—"Stevenson's Home Book on Quotations"—in which you can find sayings "from the cradle to the grave," from Adam to Charles A. Lindbergh, from good to evil, from heaven to hell. And they are all listed alphabetically by subjects—love taking up a goodly share of the space.

If, in writing a letter to your heart of hearts, you drain of sugary discourse you can turn to the section on love. There you will find some of the famous love poems of the world, along with love's causes, effects, joys, sorrows, and all the other phases.

"Love is a fiend, a fire, a heaven, a hell,
Where pleasure, pain and sad repentence dwell."

Another author calls it "that reason for all unreasonable actions." One says, "Love is a beautiful dream." And still another adds, "Love is a kind of warfare." You can take your choice. But remember, "Absence makes the heart grow fonder—for the other fellow."

Then there is a section devoted to prudence. "One has no protecting power save prudence." However, "Prudence keeps life safe but does not always make it happy." Others of more witty nature are also found. "A proper place for men to sow their wild oats—where they will not spring up." "Many a one goes for wool and comes back shorn."

The book is filled with wisdom, wit, satire, humor—in fact the frontispiece sums up the work in quoting, "I can tell thee where that saying was born."

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: WALTER HARGETT

Sunday, March 10, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

So the United States president is going to give a message on "transportation over the week-end." We thought the New Deal was against bumming.

The world's deepest first bass, coming Tuesday night with the Hampton Quartet, should hang around and help us get to second the next morning.

When Dr. Engle talks about housing conditions in the United States next week, we hope he lets us in on the ground floor.

Fraternal Scholarship

Yesterday's publication of the scholastic averages of local fraternities was truly "co-ed day," with the two national sororities, Pi Beta Phi and Chi Omega, leading the other 27 lodges in excellence of class-room attainment.

Not being familiar enough with the inner workings of the sororities after dark, we will avoid any pedantic analysis which we might attempt regarding the superiority of the young ladies in scholarship. The least we can do is to take off our hats and give a manly bow to the ambitious students in the fair ranks.

What is even more interesting, however, is the fact that again the fraternity average is higher than the general school academic average, with the grade 3.02 against 3.09. The University is the only school in the southeastern part of the United States where the fraternity average is higher than the school average, and therein lies a matter of some importance.

The recent analyses of fraternities the nation over have driven the analysts to conclude that fraternities are on the down slide, because they do not offer more than the school offers in its dormitory plan. This conclusion is based in large measure on the fact that fraternity scholastic averages on the whole are no higher than the school averages and that rooming quarters in the lodges are no better than afforded in the new school set-ups.

Obviously, this does not apply to this University. That fraternity scholarship is above the general school average shows not that fraternity men are more intelligent, but that the conditions surrounding their scholastic efforts are more conducive. Studying in a home-like atmosphere with congenial companions is easy and more effective on the whole than in the dormitories. This may not go for every fraternity but it can indubitably be applied to the general system here.

This condition is especially noticed in the case of sororities. Apparently more effort is expended by the women's groups to develop scholastic proficiency and it is in that light particularly where they show their intellectual superiority to the males. It does not show that the women are smarter students, but that they know better what they came to college for and make the best of their opportunities. And it cannot be said they miss any of the campus fun either.

Our fraternity system, like our entire campus set-up is something to be proud of. It is fulfilling its purpose as well as any such system in the country. And it has taken the co-eds to show the way toward utilizing the advantages which a fraternity can offer the students.

Bargaining With Trade

Dr. Claudius Murchison in his address here Friday night mentioned that it took only common sense to shape in our minds the American trade policy, and not economic intelligence. Nevertheless, for all of our common sense, we were a bit puzzled in differentiating between the bargaining procedure of the American government and the bilateral agreements and foreign exchange control plans which Dr. Murchison attacked.

However, perhaps it is our lack of common sense that prohibits our grasp of the subject and we will take Dr. Murchison's good word that the American policy is different and tends to break down the international barriers which face American trade today.

We were particularly impressed with the tremendous scope of the task which Dr. Murchison and his partners are undertaking. A high-geared American industrial and agricultural system demands foreign outlets and now that President Roosevelt is straightening out the internal chaos, it is even more incumbent upon our international trade officials to direct American goods into the proper channels of distribution and reciprocal exchange.

An encouraging note ran through Dr. Murchison's discussion. Although only three "bargaining agreements" have been made with foreign countries, American trade has already substantially increased and the disparity between exports and imports is rapidly becoming smaller.

During the early years of Rooseveltianism, when internal reforms occupied our attention, foreign nations in the form of European and Far Eastern capitalists, made appalling indentations of our markets in South America and Africa. To regain some of these markets and to remove the obstacles clogging the free flow of American goods to these southern nations is one of the important functions of the New Deal foreign trade administration. And there is much to be done in that field, judging from the increased business which England and Japan has succeeded in extracting from these southern markets.

Is Mars Knocking?

The Senate has passed a four hundred million dollar appropriations bill for the War Department. This, like the bill for the navy, is the largest peacetime allotment that has ever been made and it leads us to ask the question—why?

It is not that we are of the opinion that the army doesn't need these extra appropriations. The army has been under-paid and under-budgeted ever since the World War. In fact, in size it is comparable only to the armies of the third-rate European powers and Germany under the Treaty of Versailles. At first thought it would seem appropriate to congratulate Congress for at last waking up to the facts of the case.

Yet the significance of the change in Congressional attitude can not so easily be pushed aside. Why should a group of men who have for the last fifteen years regarded the army merely as an unnecessary hang-over from the Great Crusade so suddenly have a change of heart and purse strings? Is it merely because they are trying to compete impersonally with the other nations of the world who are skyrocketing their military budgets? Is it because they have definite reason to expect aggression by some foreign power or because they plan to lead the United States into an imperialistic or aggressive war? Or, on the other hand, is it because Americans are coming to have a growing fear of internal disorders and revolution?

We are beginning to smell a rat somewhere. There is too much talk of wars and rumors of wars and too much interest taken throughout the world in the size of armies and navies. When the United States Senate begins to cry for armament because of the possibility of wars with Japan, Russia, and even Great Britain, there is reason for us to stop, look, and listen.

Smokers for The High Schoolers

Plans of the University Club for 18 smokers throughout North Carolina during the spring vacation show an increase in activity in this field of legitimate University bally-hoo.

These smokers, tendered to high school seniors and sponsored jointly by the University Clubites and local alumni groups, are a powerful influence in making the youth of the state "University-conscious." Personal contact, unaffected explanation, and subconscious inspiration on the part of University students are the most effective means of interesting the high schoolers in Chapel Hill and what it has to offer in the way of life and education.

The results of such projects cannot be measured by charts and graphs, but in the spirit which they create. The University Clubites must bear this in mind: their duty is not to high-pressure the high school students, but to effect a realization that Chapel Hill can and will offer a wholesome college atmosphere where, despite the glamor of its athletics and campus activities, real honest-to-God learning is possible and a cherished reality.

Institute Plans

(Continued from page one)

ready accepted is outstanding.

The program of public addresses will probably be as follows:

Sunday, March 31, at 8 p. m.: Dr. Robert R. Wicks, dean of chapel at Princeton, on "The College Student in a Scared World."

"Origin of Dictators"

Monday morning, unannounced yet; Monday night, Dr. Emil Lederer of the New School for Social Research on "The Background of European Dictatorships."

Tuesday morning: Sanford Bates, director of the United States Board of Prisons. Tuesday evening: Dr. John Hope, president of Atlanta University and a great inter-racial worker in the south.

Wednesday: Donald Comer, the outstanding textile man in the south, on "The Manufacturers' Side of the Textile Question."

Thursday morning: Frances Perkins, secretary of labor (date tentative).

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights: George Soule, edi- of the New Republic, delivering the Weil Lectures as a part of the institute. According to Poe, Soule will be the featured speaker of the series.

Friday morning: Dean Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago on the subject of peace.

Mr. Sze, of China

Saturday morning: Chinese minister to the United States Sao-Ke Alfred Sze on the matter of international relations.

Sunday morning: pulpits of Chapel Hill churches will be filled by visiting institute speakers.

Seminar leaders invited include Dr. Calvin B. Hoover, Dr. Broadhurst Mitchell, Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, Professor J. F. Rippy, and Dr. W. W. Alexander.

Norman Thomas has also accepted the institute's invitation and will probably talk on "America's Trend Toward Fascism," provided his schedule will be so arranged that he can make Chapel Hill during the week.

LaGuardia, Maybe

Other prominent leaders who have been invited but who have not been heard from include Mayor LaGuardia of New York City, sponsored by the Order of the Grail, James Landis of the Federal Trade Commission, Matthew Woll, and Stuart Chase.

The Human Relations Institute is sponsored jointly by the Y. M. C. A., the senior class, the Order of the Grail, the University administration, the departments of history and government, economics and commerce, sociology and public welfare, and the Weil committee.

Contributions to the budget have been promised by the Grail, Y. M. C. A., the Student Union, the administration, the McNair Lecture fund, the Weil Lecture fund, and the Phelps-Stokes and John F. Slater Foundations.

Summer Session

(Continued from page one)

tation courses and the obligation of the college in the matter of student health will be the topics July 3, 4, and 5, of President J. L. Meader of Russell Sage College, Troy, N. Y.

Acting President C. H. Gray of Bennington College, Vermont, will be the last guest lecturer. He will participate during the week of July 8 in discussions to be entitled "Interest, Discipline, and a Liberal Education," and "The Curriculum of a Student-Centered College."

Members of the University faculty who will direct and participate in the course include Deans Pierson, Hobbs and Bradshaw, and Professors Walker, Knight and others.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

12:30: Radio City Music Hall, WJZ, WLW.

1:30: Little Jack Little, songs, WBT.

2:00: Lazy Dan, minstrel man, WBT.

2:30: Hammerstein's Music Hall; Abe Lyman orch., WBT.

3:00: Philharmonic - Symphony orch. of N. Y., Arturo Toscanini, conductor, WBT.

5:00: Open House; Freddie Martin's orch.; Donald Novis, Vera Van, guests, WBT.

6:00: Wayne King orch., WGN.

6:30: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

6:45: Wayne King orch., WGN.

7:00: Jack Benny, comedian; Don Bestor orch., WJZ, KDKA; Alexander Woolcott, town crier; Armbruster orch., WABC.

7:30: Joe Penner, comedian; Ozzie Nelson orch., WLW.

8:00: Opera, "Bartered Bride," all-star cast; Pelletiers orch., WLW; Eddie Cantor, comedian; Rubinoff orch., WBT.

8:30: Club Romance; Conrad Thibault, baritone; Don Voorhees' orch., WBT.

9:00: Manhattan Merry-Go-Round, WEAF; Countess Olga Albani; Charlie Previn orch., WLW; Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

9:30: Walter Winchell, gossip, WLW; Musical Revue; Frank Munn, tenor; Gus Haenschen's orch., WEAF, WSM.

9:45: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

10:00: Wayne King orch., WABC; Jane Froman, soprano; Modern Choir; Frank Black's orch., WLW.

10:30: "Behind the Scenes," Wm. A. Brady, theatrical producer, WBT.

11:00: Henry King orch., WEAF, WSM.

11:15: Little Jack Little orch., WBT.

11:30: Leon Belasco orch., WBT.

11:45: Emil Coleman orch., WENR.

12:00: Cab Calloway orch., WABC; Art Jarrett orch., WENR.

12:30: Joe Haymes orch., WABC.

1:00: Ted Lewis orch., WLW.

Rondhaler Elected

(Continued from page one)

for several years, where he is vice-president of the Security National Bank. He is a graduate of the class of 1918.

Gray, who succeeds Ben Cone of Greensboro on the athletic council, is a member of the class of 1929, and in his senior year managed the varsity football team. He has been engaged since graduation in promotional sales work for the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, with which firm he is located in Winston-Salem.

Miss Beust to Write Paper

Miss Nora Beust of the school of library science at the University has been chosen by the National Education Association to write a paper on "Book Selection for School Libraries."

This article will appear in the association's yearbook which will be devoted to papers on school libraries.

Professor Visits Here

Dr. Robert Shafer, professor of graduate English at the University of Cincinnati, is spending a few days with Dr. J. P. Harland, professor of archaeology in the University.

Dr. Shafer is one of the leaders in the field of modern humanism. He is the author of "Paul Elmer More and American Criticism."

Blond Miss Sings, Dances On Table, Captivates Swain

Little Miss Sara Elen Deitz of Charlotte kept Swain hall packed well after supper last night with a song and dance act which brought for her round after round of applause.

The cute little lady, not much over four feet tall and dressed from head to foot in red, climbed upon one of Obie Harmon's tables and gave a highly popular performance before an audience composed for the most part of men.

Billy Knauf and his orchestra, which plays each night at the campus eating place, accompanied Miss Deitz.

The Charlotte girl first sang "I Saw Stars" and had to repeat the song as an encore a moment later. She next put on her top performance of the evening, both singing and dancing "O You Nasty Man." "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," was her concluding number.

In case any ambitious Carolina boys would like to know where the curly-blond-haired girl lives, it's 933 Herrin Avenue, Charlotte.

Course in Opera

The topic for Music 53, which will be offered during the spring quarter, will be "The Development of the Opera" with emphasis on the music-drama of Richard Wagner.

The course is open to juniors and seniors and requires no technical knowledge of music. It will be illustrated by means of phonograph recordings of the masterpieces of operatic literature. Outside reading and listening to records will be required in addition to the regular class work.

Notice: Logic Class

Professor Horace Williams will meet his class in logic at 9 a. m. tomorrow in his study at home, he announced yesterday.

WILL PAY CASH

For All Kinds

SECOND-HAND CLOTHING

Suits, Pants, Sweaters, Caps, Hats, Shirts, Ties, Socks, etc., Wanted.

Will Be at

LACOCK'S SHOE SHOP
All Day Tuesday, March 12

CHAPEL HILL MOVIE GUILD
Presents

Leslie HOWARD
Merle OBERON
in
THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL
SUNDAY ONLY
Hours of Shows: 1-3-5 P.M.

Carolina Tracksters Win Title

Williamson Breaks Two Records, Hubbard One; Six Marks Fall In Meet

Tar Heels Score 45½; Duke Second with 27

Evans, Maryland; Old Liner Relay Team, and Dunaj, W. And L., Set Records.

SECOND CROWN IN ROW

The University of North Carolina's great track team successfully defended its Southern Conference indoor title last night in the Tin Can before a capacity crowd. Taking the lead from the first event of the night and gradually increasing that lead, the "Flying Tar Heels" proved themselves the supreme masters of Dixie trackdom.

Ten new records fell before the speeding onslaught of the tracksters to make the meet one of the fastest ever witnessed in the Tin Can. Six new marks were chalked up in the conference division, three in the non-conference and one in the freshman.

The final scoring is as follows: North Carolina, 45 1-2; Duke, 27; Maryland, 24; Virginia, 17; Washington and Lee, 10; V. P. I., 6 1-2, and V. M. I., one.

Williamson's Great Work

Harry Williamson proved himself the star of the meet and of the winning Tar Heels. His performance has never been equalled in previous meets. Williamson won both the half-mile and the mile, and also set new records in both races. Lauck of Virginia has been the only other man ever to win two distance records, but never has one man broken two distance records in one night.

Charlie Hubbard, co-captain, turned in the other Carolina record as he leaped 23 feet 8 1-4 inches for the new Southern Conference mark, beating the old distance set by Owens of Georgia at 23 feet 7 inches. Hubbard also set a new University record with this leap. In the sprints, he won his heat with ease, but in doing so turned his ankle and was forced to withdraw from further competition.

Dick Bear showed the most improvement of any of the Tar Heels as he vaulted to the height of 12 feet 6 inches and barely missed 12 feet 10. His performance was the best he has ever turned in and he looked extremely good. Only Leidy of Duke could match the Tar Heel's vaults and tied for the first honors. Don Jackson, defending champ, tied for third with a vault of 12 feet 2 inches.

Duke Leads at Start

Duke started the sixth annual games off by pushing its way into an early lead. Scoring eight points in the shot put, the Devils held a 13-8 advantage

(Continued on last page)

South's Greatest

Harry Williamson, Carolina's mighty runner, who returned home last night after a number of fine performances in special indoor meets at New York and Charlotte. He did something new in Southern Conference meets by breaking two records. He clipped 4.7 seconds off the old mile mark and .9 second from the half mile.

YEARLING TRACK TITLE CAPTURED BY GEORGETOWN

Champions Come from Behind in Relay to Nose Out W. & L. And W. & M., 14-10-10.

TAR BABIES SCORE SIX

The Georgetown freshmen rode into the championship of their division last night on the crest of a record-breaking relay performance, that brought them from behind to nose out the Washington and Lee and William and Mary frosh clubs.

Georgetown had a total of 14 points and both William and Mary and Washington and Lee took runner-up honors with 10 points each. North Carolina placed next with 6 points in a deadlock with the Duke Baby Imps. State had 4, V. P. I. 3, and Virginia 2.

Hanks Wins Long Race

Outside of the fast relay, the 3-4-mile test provided the thrills in the frosh events. Hanks of Georgetown was forced to the extreme in staving off the powerful finish of Roller from William and Mary. Hanks, however, proved equal to the task and answered with a thrilling spurt that carried him to the tape in the lead.

Washington and Lee's points came through two victories by individual men. Taylor jumped 5 feet, 10 and 1-8 inches in the high jump to win with ease. Three other yearlings tied at 5 feet 9 inches in this event.

Rogers was the other W. & L. runner to cop a first, winning the 70-yard hurdles over Steckel, Duke, and Lambert, Carolina, in a close finish.

The only other Carolina points were scored when Umstead took fourth in the hurdles and Bannon tied in the high jump. No Tar Baby approached scoring in the dash or long run and a tumble in the relay sent the chances there glimmering.

W. & L. Wins Title

Duke Gym, March 9.—Washington and Lee's swimmers tonight outpointed the defending champions of the Southern Conference waters, Duke, to win the 1935 title. The final scoring gave the Generals a 36-33 advantage over the Devilfish.

Newark Prep, McKinley High Tie In Scholastic; W. & M. Has Margin In Non-Conference Event

W. AND M. GETS 21 POINTS, RICHMOND FOLLOWS WITH 9

Frazier of Davidson Sets New Mark in 880 Run.

As expected, William and Mary's track team took advantage of the absence of Catholic University, last year's champions, and ran away with the non-conference section of last night's gala track games. In the four events, three records passed into history as new ones were set up.

The winners had a grand total of 21 points and were followed by Richmond College with but nine points. Davidson was a close third with 8, Georgetown was fourth with 3, and Wake Forest with 2 completed the scoring for the night.

Frazier in Record

The feature match of the non-conference battles was the brilliant showing of Earl Frazier, Davidson star, in the 880-yard run, when he shattered the old record and nosed out Bullard of William and Mary in a thrilling finish. The new time was 2:01.8, almost a clear second lower than the old time.

The 60-yard dash was all William and Mary with Little

(Continued on last page)

TWO DORM CLUBS IN BOWLING FINAL

Grimes and Aycock Will Meet For Campus Championship Tomorrow Afternoon.

Two dormitories, Aycock and Grimes, will meet tomorrow afternoon on the Graham Memorial alley for the campus intramural bowling championship.

The last fraternity outfit, Phi Delta Theta, was eliminated by Grimes Friday by a narrow 13-pin margin; it was a semi-final meet. Aycock reached the finals the first part of this week as a result of a victory over Chi Phi.

Both Upset Teams

Neither of the two championship contenders was seeded first. Grimes finished second in the qualifying round while Aycock could get no better than seventh.

Irv Leiberman will lead the Grimes team. He has turned in a score of 182 during one game which is individual high score so far in the tourney. Leiberman will be assisted by Drapier and Parker.

The lower quadrangle trio is made up of Schiffer, Onasch, and Heiderich.

PHI K. S., AYCOCK PLAY FOR TITLE

Battle for Table Tennis Crown Will Take Place Tomorrow Afternoon at 4 O'clock.

AYCOCK		PHI K. S.
Rubin	1.	Carson
Goodes	2.	Odum
Fuller	3.	Coker

Aycock, dormitory champion, and Phi Kappa Sigma, title-winner in the fraternity tourney, will clash tomorrow afternoon for the table tennis championship of the campus. The matches in Graham Memorial game room will start at 4 o'clock.

Led by Gene Odum and Coit Coker, Phi Kappa Sigma was big winner last year and had little trouble getting to the finals this year. In the last meet Friday it swept over Zeta Beta Tau 3-0, winning in straight games.

Aycock Whips Mangum

The Aycock group had a little more trouble going through the dorm competition. Aycock downed Mangum in the final meet 3-0 but not until a tough battle had been waged.

Len Rubin, Aycock leader who has taken everything so far with ease, including a victory over the defending individual champ, Doug Cartland of Mangum, is expected to give his team one point; he will battle Merl Carson. Carson hasn't played previously.

This means the final result will probably depend on the two lower matches. Both of these clashes are expected to furnish real games between even opponents.

DEADLOCKED CLUBS SCORE 15 APIECE; THREE NEW MARKS

Northern Title Team Uses Only Four Men.

The iron team of Newark Prep and the strong McKinley Tech High from Washington deadlocked with 15 points each in the scholastic division of the Southern Conference track games last night.

Newark Prep, winners in 1933, again attempted to pull the miracle stunt by copping the meet with but four men, but failed by the narrowest of margins.

The defending champions from Atlanta, Georgia, Boys' High school, failed to retain their title, scoring only three points when Perry placed second in the afternoon high jump.

Other Scores

John Marshall High from Richmond, Virginia, finished in third place with 7 points and was followed by Boys' with 3; Newport News, 2; Durham 2; Goldsboro, 2; High Point, 2, and Old Town with 1.

The greatest feat of the evening was the decisiveness with which Newark Prep walked away from the field in the mile relay. Duffey opened the grind by taking a comfortable lead, and then Cocuzza hit the high spots in lengthening the gap. Movitch and Wilson kept up the pace and Newark breezed in well ahead of the McKinley representative.

Wilson and Cocuzza had both taken titles earlier in the meet before going places in the relay. Wilson split 1-5 of a second from the 60-yard S. I. C. scholastic record when he broke the tape in 6.7.

Cocuzza, winner of the second division in the 1000-yard run, was winner of the entire event due to his time of 2:26.4, which bettered the one made by Hardy of John Marshall in the first heat.

The other firsts went to McKinley Prep; McKenna reaching 5 feet, 9 inches in the high jump to beat Perry, and Emmerich leading the pack in the 70-yard high hurdles with a time of 9.8.

Summaries of Indoor Games

Conference

Shot put: L. Williams (Duke), 43 ft. 5½ in.; W. Williams (Duke), 42 ft. 5⅛ in.; Evins (UNC) 42 ft. ¾ in.; Ryland (VMI), 42 ft. ½ in.

High jump: Wilkins (Va) and Myers (Duke), 5 ft. 10⅞ in.; Boucher (Md), Rollins (VPI), and Atkinson (Duke), 5 ft. 10 in.

Broad jump: Hubbard (UNC), 23 ft. 8¼ in.; Everett (Va), 22 ft. 6¼ in.; Beers (Md), 22 ft. 1½ in.; Higby (UNC), 21 ft. 11½ in. (New record.)

Mile run: Williamson (UNC), Gammon (UNC), Gabori (UNC), Banta (Va). Time: 4:20.0. (New record.)

60-yard dash: Widmyer (Md), Tarrall (Duke), Pritchard (VPI), Shehan (Duke). Time: 6.5.

70-yard high hurdles: Everett (Va), Hawthorne (UNC), Slye (Md), McDonald (Va). Time: 9.0.

Pole vault: Bear (UNC) and Leidy (Duke), 12 ft. 6 in; Jackson (UNC) and Shafer (VPI), 12 ft. 2 in.

440-yard run: Evans (Md), Drake (UNC), Pruitt (Duke), Montgomery (UNC). Time: 52.5. (New record.)

Two-mile run: Dunaj (W & L), Waldrop (UNC), McRae (UNC), Bird (Duke). Time: 9:44.8. (New record.)

70-yard low hurdles: Schuhle (W & L), Everett (Virginia), Hawthorne (UNC), Slye (Md). Time: 7.9.

880-yard run: Williamson (UNC), Headley (Md), Mothershead (VPI), Gardiner (UNC). Time: 2:00.9. (New record.)

Mile relay: Maryland (Archer, Sonen, Headley, Evans), Duke, Carolina. Time: 3:34.6. (New record.)

Non-Conference

60-yard dash: Little (W & M), Zable (W & M), Dixon (Davidson), Bristol (Wake Forest). Time: 6.5. (New record.)

70-yard high hurdles: Leverton (Richmond), Smeltzer (W & M), Dickinson (Richmond), Deyerle (Davidson). Time: 9.2.

880-yard run: Frazier (Davidson), Bullard (W & M), Plummer (W & M), Drake (Wake Forest). Time: 2:01.8. (New record.)

Mile relay: William and Mary (Little, Crutchfield, Zable, Smeltzer), Georgetown, Richmond. Time: 3:36.6. (New record.)

Freshman

High jump: Taylor (W & L), 5 ft. 10⅛ in.; Chipman (Georgetown), Bannon (UNC) and Dayton (Va), 5 ft. 9 in.

60-yard dash: Mingree (W & M), Jenkins (VPI), Curry (Georgetown), Ullman (UNC). Time: 6.6.

Three-quarter run: Hanks (Georgetown), Roller (W & M), Fogleman (N. C. State), Baker (W & M). Time: 3:26.2.

70-yard high hurdles: Rogers (W & L), Steckel (Duke), Lambert (UNC), Umstead (UNC). Time: 9.4.

Mile relay: Georgetown (Warder, Hogue, Hanks, Brown), Duke, State, W. & M. Time: 3:38.0. (New record.)

Scholastic

High jump: McKenna (McKinley, Wash.), 5 ft. 9 in.; Perry (Boys' High), March (McKinley) Sams (High Point).

60-yard dash: Wilson (Newark Prep), Hopkins (John Marshall), Southerland (Durham), Lynch (McKinley Tech). Time: 6.7.

1000-yard run: Cocuzza (Newark Prep), Hardy (John Marshall), Davis (Goldsboro), Holt (Old Town). Time: 2:26.4.

70-yard high hurdles: Emmerich (McKinley High), Thrash (Boys' (High), Wilson (Durham), Knight (Boys' High). Time: 9.8.

Mile relay: Newark Prep (Duffy, Cocuzza, Movitch, Wilson), McKinley High), Wilson (Durham), Knight shall High. Time: 3:40.3.

English 54 Interviews

Since regulations require that juniors and seniors wishing to take English 54, advanced class in creative writing, must have the permission of the instructor, Phillips Russell will be at 210 Murphey hall tomorrow, Tuesday, and Wednesday from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. to interview applicants.

Toscanini's Broadcast

A broadcast of the Brahms "A German Requiem," as played by the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Arturo Toscanini, may be heard in the choral room of the Hill Music hall at 3 p. m. today.

NINE TAKES LONG HITTING PRACTICE

Tatum Cracks Out Long Blows; Exams and Poor Field Interfere with Progress.

Carolina's baseball squad completed the first week of practice yesterday afternoon with a long hitting drill on Emerson field.

Coach Bunn Hearn sent some half-dozen pitchers, both varsity and freshmen, to the mound during the workout but long and hard blows featured most of the time.

Big Jim Tatum, regular right-fielder last year, did the biggest knocking. He cracked a number of balls deep into left and centerfield.

Three Other Lettermen

Three other boys who played in the outfield last season, Captain Thurman Vick, Eddie Shapiro, and Gus McIver, were also out and all got in some nice blows. McIver bats from the south side while Captain Vick is a switch-hitter.

Coach Bunn Hearn has had little chance as yet to see how his team will shape up on defense. The diamond is not in good enough shape for fielding practice, while several of the top

(Continued on last page)

DRAMA EXAMS

Part of Rehearsing, Lighting Finals Will Be Tomorrow.

Students in English 62, a course in rehearsal and performance, and English 65, a course in stage lighting, will be given part of their final examination tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Playmakers theatre.

According to Professors Selden and Davis, the students will produce 12 short scenes with the acting and directing done by students in 62 and the lighting by those in 65.

The exercise will be open to all students in the University dramatic courses.

Patronize Our Advertisers

You Must Satisfy Your Appetite If You Wish to Do Good Work

GOOCH BROS. & BROOKS CAFE

Our Special Sunday Dinner Contains All the Necessary Ingredients for a Healthful Meal

MAGAZINES SODAS SANDWICHES CANDY TOBACCOS

BEER IN BOTTLES AND ON TAP NEWSPAPERS

CAROLINA ENJOYS WILSON'S HONOR

Dr. L. R. Wilson's Election to Head National Association Tribute to University.

Election of Dr. Louis Round Wilson to the presidency of the American Library Association, one of the highest honors awarded by the academic world, is celebrated by North Carolinians as another tribute to a former member of the University faculty.

Dr. Wilson served the University for more than 30 years as librarian and in numerous other capacities.

When he left here three years ago to go to the University of Chicago as dean of the graduate school of library science, the library at Chapel Hill had on its shelves more books than any other in the south except that at the University of Texas. It has grown in 30 years from a poorly equipped library of 32,000 volumes in 1901, when he took charge, to a handsome new building housing more than 200,000 volumes.

Twice Vice-President

Dr. Wilson served the North Carolina Library Association as president. He had been a leader in organizing the Southeastern Library Association and had served it as president, and he had served the American Library Association twice as vice-president and as adviser in many capacities.

It was during Dr. Edward K. Graham's administration that Dr. Wilson did pioneer work in a number of fields that later brought him distinction as an organizer of library service throughout the state, as organizer of the University's Extension Division, as editor of the Alumni Review, and as organizer and first director of the University Press which has won for the University an enviable position in the publishing world.

Dr. Wilson continued to be the confidential adviser of University administration when Dr. Harry W. Chase and Dr. Frank P. Graham came into office, and it was due mainly to Dr. Wilson's persistent and convincing efforts that funds for the construction of the University's handsome new library were finally granted.

MULLIS TO HEAD HONOR TRIBUNAL

Freshman Court Continues Organizing This Morning.

Meeting in 214 Graham Memorial this morning at 10 o'clock, the Freshman Honor Court will continue the work of organizing begun at a session yesterday in which Pete Mullis, class president, was chosen chairman ex-officio; Warren Haddaway, vice-chairman, and Bill Hudson, secretary.

The court voted yesterday to hold regular meetings on Wednesdays at 7:30 p. m. and to have special meetings immediately upon being presented with cases.

The first regular meeting was set for March 27, when plans will be made for Honor Court activities, such as steps to prevent violations of the honor code, when any freshman cases arising during exams will be taken up.

The court will select an adviser from former or present members of the Student Council at the session this morning.

Engineering Registration

All engineering students must obtain their registration permit cards from the registrar's office, 8 South building, and present them to the Dean's office, 302 Phillips hall, tomorrow and Tuesday.

Relations Institute Personalities

Emil Lederer

World-renowned Economics Authority Emil Lederer, dean of the graduate faculty of political and social science in the New School of Research, will address the Human Relations Institute Monday night, April 1, on "The Background of European Dictatorship."

Also during the week of the Institute, Dr. Lederer will conduct seminars on "The Principles of Planning" and "Trade Policy and International Peace."

World-wide traveler and author, Lederer was professor of economics at the University of Heidelberg, 1920-31, and at the University of Berlin, 1931-33. From 1923-25 he was visiting professor at the Imperial University of Tokio.

A member of the Socialism Commission, he was at one time editor of "Archiv fur Sozialwissenschaft and Sozialpolitik."

Lederer has traveled and lectured in China, Europe and throughout other parts of the world.

DEAN HARRELSON TALKS TOMORROW

Head of State College Will Deliver Address to Freshmen.

Col. John W. Harrelson, dean of State College, will speak before the freshmen in Memorial hall tomorrow at 10:30 a. m.

Col. Harrelson was valedictorian of his graduating class at State and became a math teacher there in 1909. Except for two years during the war, in which he received his military title, and three and a half years as head of the state department of conservation, has taught at State ever since.

He was chairman of the mathematics department at the time that he was called upon to become dean of administration.

Athletics and other extra-curricular activities have especially interested Dean Harrelson throughout his teaching career.

Non-Conference Track

(Continued from page three)

and Zable placing first and second, respectively. Little also set a new standard in non-conference circles with his fast time of 6.5.

In the other individual event of the meet, Leverton of Richmond out-hurdled Smeltzer of William and Mary in the 70-yard high hurdles.

The third record to go into oblivion was broken in the mile relay as Little, Crutchfield, Zable and Smeltzer carried the emerald of William and Mary to victory in the record time of 3:35.6. Georgetown trailed the winners and Richmond was third.

Varsity Baseball

(Continued from page three)

players are not out at present as a result of exams.

The nine will get in as much work as possible this week without interfering too much with the exams. Because of the little amount of practice had so far, Coach Hearn will probably call part of the squad back for drills during the spring holidays.

SLIDE-RULE WILL BE SCHOLARSHIP AWARD

For the first time, Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, will present an award to the engineering freshman making the highest average, it has been announced.

The scholarship gift will be a slide-rule, and it will be presented at the fall tapping of the order.

WAITING FOR A CAR, EH?

Lady Blakely and Chauvelin, apprehensive because they are being apprehended in the midst of a plot by the Lady's husband, who bursts in and comprehends the whole reprehensive situation. "The Scarlet Pimpernel," at the Carolina theatre today.

Conference Track

(Continued from page three)

over the defending champions when the night program opened. In the first final of the night, the mile, three Tar Heels finished in order to give Carolina the lead which they never relinquished.

Evans of Maryland was forced into a new record in winning over Drake of Carolina in the quarter-mile run. The new time was 52.5, beating the old mark of 54.1 set by Reichman in 1933. Reichman failed to place in the race last night.

The Old Liners captured another title in the final event of the night. Their one-mile relay team got hot in setting the new mark at 3:34.6 minutes, beating Duke's old mark by two seconds. The quartet composed of Archer, Sonen, Headley, and Evans really stepped out.

Dunaj Whips McRae

Dick Dunaj is the possessor of the other record set in the stampede on the Tin Can boards. Trailing McRae until the final half lap, the General ace put on one of the prettiest and most brilliant spurts at the finish to beat the Tar Heel star. His time was 9:44.8, breaking the mark set by Young of Georgia back in 1930. He lowered it 13 seconds. Ed Waldrop of Carolina beat McRae to the finish, as the latter faltered down the home stretch.

Schuhle of W. and L. pulled one of the major upsets of the meet in downing Everett, defending champ and record-holder, in the finals of the low hurdles. He barely trimmed the Cavalier favorite in 7:9 seconds, one-tenth of a second from the record.

Grover Everett, Virginia captain, was for the second straight year the high scorer of the meet. He tallied 11 points last night, barely nosing out Williamson's 10.

Luther and Mel Williams of Duke captured the first two places in order in the shot put, the former putting to the distance of 43 feet 3-4 inches. Tom Evins of Carolina was off form and finished third.

Wilkins of Virginia and Myers of Duke matched each other's clearings of the bar in the high jump to finish up even for first at 5 feet 10 7-8 inches. In the trials for a new conference record, both men faltered.

Harry Takes Mile

Williamson led the field by 75 full yards in winning the mile. His easy, beautiful stride carried him far ahead as he breezed over with a new mark of 4:20 minutes. Graham Gammon was in second and Dick Gabori turned in a brilliant home-stretch spurt to nose out Banta of Virginia.

In the half-mile Headley of Maryland held the lead from the start to about five yards from the finish. Headley led by about two yards rounding the last curve, but could not match the withering finish sprint which the Tar Heel star turned out. The new time is 2:00.9. Bob Gardiner came in fourth just behind Mothershead.

Earl Widmyer, the Maryland streak, lived up to his name in winning the dash without being pushed. Tarrall and Pritchard followed in order as last year, while Hubbard, one of the pre-dope leaders, was forced out from a leg injury. The time was 6.5.

Everett won the high hurdles and Tom Hawthorne finished second. The Tar Heel co-captain also captured a third in the lows to take runner-up scoring honors for the championship team.

AYCOCK DEBATES BEGIN MARCH 22

State High Schools to Conduct Triangular Preliminaries.

The triangular debates of the High School Debating Union of North Carolina will be held throughout the state on March 22, it was announced yesterday by E. R. Rankin, secretary of the Union.

The query is: Resolved, that the United States should adopt the policy of extending federal aid to general public education.

The schools which win both of their debates will send their teams to Chapel Hill to compete April 11 and 12 in the final contest for the Aycock cup, the trophy awarded the High School Debating Union by the intercollegiate debaters of the University.

The youthful debaters have made diligent preparation, and all indications, it was said, point towards one of the most successful contests in the history of high school debating in North Carolina. This marks the 23rd annual contest, since the High School Debating Union was organized in 1912-13.

The subject of federal aid to education is the national high school debate topic for the current year. Thirty-two state high school leagues will discuss this subject in their spring contests.

Patronize Our Advertisers

CALENDAR

TODAY

Senior executive committee.
Y. M. C. A. ..... 7 p. m.

Frosh honor court.
Graham Memorial ..... 10 a. m.

TOMORROW

Drama exams.
Playmakers theatre ..... 4 p. m.

Philological club.
Union building, Duke ..... 7 p. m.

Philological Club

The Philological Club will meet with the Erasmus Club of Duke at 8 p. m. tomorrow night in the Union building of the west campus of Duke University.

Infirmary List

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Leighton Dudley, Louis Monica, Therman Ennis, G. W. Matthews, Harry McMullan, and A. C. Walters.

Beautify Your Watch
WITH THE LATEST STRAP
Expert Watch and Jewelry repairing. We pay the new prices for old gold.
L. R. Dekle
JEWELER & WATCHMAKER
2nd floor, over Andrews-Henninger Store

Have Your Haircut Before Going Home
Carolina Barber Shop

THE QUEEN OF MUSICAL ROMANCES BROUGHT TO THE SCREEN SPLENDOR!

CAROLINA THEATRE

The golden girl with the silver song . . America's dancing stars . . . A heart-load of maddening beauties draped in fashion's most ravishing creations . . . in a dream-drenched story of love in Paris.

MONDAY
TUESDAY

FRED ASTAIRE
GINGER ROGERS
IRENE DUNNE

—Also—
PARAMOUNT NEWS

ROBERTA

With JEROME KERN'S music from the stage production . . . and two NEW melody hits by the same composer.

WEDNESDAY
ANN STEN
GARY COOPER
in
"The Wedding Night"

THURSDAY
VIRGINIA BRUCE
in
"Times Square Lady"

FRIDAY
MR. & MRS. MARTIN JOHNSON'S "Baboona"

SATURDAY
RANDOLPH SCOTT
in
"Rocky Mount Mystery"

HAMPTON QUARTET
7:15 P. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

The Daily Tar Heel

ENGLE'S LECTURE
7:30 P. M.
202 BINGHAM

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, MARCH 12, 1935 | NUMBER 127

STUDENTS READY TO HOLD HOLIDAY ENTERTAINMENTS

Smokers Will Be Held Under Sponsorship of University Club And Alumni Association.

PROGRAMS ARE SUGGESTED

Plans for the holiday "get-togethers" to be conducted throughout the state were completed at a meeting last night of students representing the various cities in which meetings will be held.

Frank Willingham outlined the procedure for the committees which have been appointed to arrange the informal meetings for each city. J. Maryon Saunders also made suggestions as to the programs for the meetings.

For High Seniors

The "get-togethers," sponsored by the University Club and the General Alumni Association, will take place in 17 cities in the state. The dual purpose is to promote interest in the University among high school seniors and to secure closer relationships between the University students and the alumni of their respective towns.

The affairs will be presented in each town by the local alumni associations and the student committees, for the benefit of high school students. All students in the University in whose home cities meetings are being planned are urged to co-operate in arranging programs and securing wide attendance among high school students.

Informal Programs

The meetings will take the form of smokers, and the programs may include brief talks by students and alumni. Refreshments and stunts were suggested.

Chairmen of the committees in their respective cities are: Frank Willingham, Winston-

(Continued on page two)

HOUSE REPEALS PUBLIC TAX LAW

In Senate Long Blocks Work Relief Bill with Warnings of Possible Campaign Uses.

Washington, March 11.—(UP)—While millions of citizens throughout the republic struggled with income tax returns and the accompanying pinkslips, the House voted 304 to 99 to repeal the law authorizing the treasury to make public the tax information on a pinkslip measure which is expected to meet stiff opposition also in the Senate.

Administration leaders fought vigorously tonight to stop a determined attempt to earmark the $4,880,000,000 works relief bill as Huey Long warned that a part of it would be used for political purposes in 1936.

Huey Gums Works

Although he occupied the floor less than 20 minutes, Huey effectively blocked any real action on the relief bill which has been deadlocked in the Senate for six weeks.

He cautioned the Senate against giving Roosevelt five billion dollars to spend to get reelected, and informed colleagues that cotton prices dropped 200 points today.

The relief bill then ran into a storm of debate, which indicated that the Senate will spend at least another week on it.

Readmission Rules

The ruling for readmission for the spring quarter, given yesterday by Dean A. W. Hobbs of the college of liberal arts, is as follows:

"For readmission the spring quarter, freshmen who have been in the University for two quarters must have passed at least two courses or the equivalent during these two quarters.

"All other students must have passed two courses during the winter quarter or during their last quarter in attendance. After the second quarter, freshmen also must pass two courses each quarter."

HAMPTON SINGERS PERFORM TONIGHT

Quartet with Famous Deep Bass Will Present Brief Program of Old-Time Spirituals.

Presenting a short program of old-time Negro spirituals in their famous style, the Hampton Quartet will appear in Memorial hall tonight at 7:15 o'clock under the sponsorship of the University Y. M. C. A.

With the quartet will be Dr. Cooper of Charlotte, preacher and artist, who will bring with him some of his paintings.

According to Harry F. Comer, general secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., the Hampton outfit of the Hampton Institute for Negroes in Virginia, has the deepest bass singer in the world.

Singers Touring

The quartet has toured widely in this country and appeared at Carolina several years ago, according to Comer. Tonight's appearance was the only date available for a Carolina performance on their heavy schedule, indicated the "Y" director.

Particularly famous for their old-time renditions of the famous spirituals, the quartet has achieved a distinctive style. The Hampton singers are one of the few touring Negro quartets willing to sing some of the outstanding spirituals which feature the word "nigger" and the idea of the southern black man "bending low."

Appearing recently at Culver Military Academy, the quartet's bass so impressed a wealthy Hoosier that he endowed a special scholarship at the Hampton school.

BUS LINE HEARING DATE IS UNKNOWN

Students Asked to Watch Developments, Attend Meeting.

No notice has yet been received as to exactly when the hearing on the proposed new Atlantic Greyhound Lines bus schedule, connecting Greensboro and Raleigh directly by way of Chapel Hill, will be held.

First set for January 22, the hearing was postponed to March 5 and again to either March 18 or 20. The University Club planned to send a delegation of University students to the hearing, but the last postponement placed the hearing in the holiday period, making a mass trip to Raleigh, scene of the hearing, impossible.

It is hoped, however, that a number of students will watch their newspapers for the date and attend the meeting independently.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

WEDNESDAY

9:00 a. m.—All 8:30 classes except History 2 and Economics 31 and 32.

2:30 p. m.—All 2 o'clock classes, all sections of History 1 and 2 meeting at 8:30 and 12 o'clock, and all sections of Economics 32.

THURSDAY

9:00 a. m.—All 9:30 classes except English 1 and 2 and Economics 31 and 32.

2:30 p. m.—All 3 and 4 o'clock classes, all sections of English 1 and 2 meeting at 9:30, and all sections of Economics 31.

FRIDAY

9:00 a. m.—All 11 o'clock classes except English 1 and 2 and Economics 31 and 32.

2:30 p. m.—All sections of English 1 and 2 meeting at 11 o'clock.

SATURDAY

9:00 a. m.—All 12 o'clock classes except History 1 and 2 and Economics 31 and 32.

2:30 p. m.—All examinations which cannot be arranged otherwise.

Eight O'clock Class Proposal Passes Board With One Protest

AU REVOIR

With this issue the DAILY TAR HEEL ceases publication for the winter quarter.

Members of the staff will report to the office for work Tuesday afternoon, March 26, and the first issue of the spring quarter will appear Wednesday morning.

LAND GRANT AID FOUNDED STATE

Dean Harrelson Tells How Funds From 270,000 Acres Established State College.

Col. John W. Harrelson, dean of State College, yesterday spoke to the members of the freshman class, assembled for their last meeting of the winter quarter, on "Land Grant Institutions of America."

Discussing the reasons for the establishment of such schools, Dean Harrelson sketched the growth of the national sentiment favoring a movement to train the masses in the fields of applied sciences and dealt with the hardships that the movement met.

State Founded

A bill providing for land grant state colleges was passed by Congress, and North Carolina received 270,000 acres. With the funds realized from this donation, the state legislature provided an appropriation for an agricultural and engineering college. This school became the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering.

Following the purpose of his address, that of acquainting the freshmen with the function of the University of North Carolina's division at Raleigh, Col. Harrelson gave its organization and described the work of the four schools: agriculture, engineering, textiles, and the department of education.

Col. Harrelson once served as head of the state department of conservation and development, and as a sideline topic he counseled the freshmen "to support, as their civic duty, the conservation program.

Library Hours

The University library will be open every day except Sunday and possibly Saturday afternoon from the hours of 9 a. m., to 5 p. m.

Editor Dill Objects To Bradshaw's Plan

New Schedule Would Allow Five Classes in Morning, Fewer In Afternoon.

FACULTY WILL DECIDE

Standing out fearlessly for the rights of the student-who-sleeps, one student protested yesterday against the mob-mad action of the Student Welfare Board in approving Dean Francis Bradshaw's proposal for beginning all Carolina classes at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Presenting the plan which has met with wide approval in the Southern Association of Colleges, Dean Bradshaw pointed out that the new schedule would allow five classes in the morning and would reduce the necessity for afternoon classes.

One lone voice pleaded for the true Carolina spirit. One lone student saw that such a schedule, forcing Carolinians to turn over in their slumber at 7:59 a. m. would never meet with the approval of the subjects who would be subjected to its tyranny.

Advocated Proposal

Yet, not too fast—we must remember that those who played traitor to the Carolina cause of sleeping included Leaders Simmons Patterson, Frank Willingham, Betty Durham, Virgil Weathers, Jack Pool, Joe Sugarman, J. D. Winslow, and Agnew Bahnson.

These are the ones who belong to the Student Welfare Board—alone, Editor A. T. Dill protested against the 8 o'clock class proposal.

More Convenient

Conflicts and disfavor for the first and last class periods would be reduced because students could take their three classes at 9, 10, and 11 under the new schedule.

Ambitious students, it was argued, could devote more hours to preparation and professors could arrange more convenient appointment hours with the new plan.

Although definitely adopted by the Welfare Board, the proposal must meet with the approval of the faculty of the University. Should the measure go through, the new schedule would be initiated next fall. Some arrangement will be made for freshmen assembly; upperclassmen will have a straight five-hour class program.

Page Is Reappointed Managing Editor

Robert C. Page, Jr., was chosen by the Publications Union Board yesterday to serve a second term as managing editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Page's second term will begin when the new editor for the publication goes into office after the campus elections in the spring quarter.

The board also granted the Finjan $23 to be applied on an issue in eight point type.

The motion was made and carried to postpone action on raising the circulation manager's salary until more data might be obtained.

ENGLE WILL GIVE ADDRESS TONIGHT

Assistant to Claudius Murchison To Make Appearance Before Economics Seminar.

Dr. Nathanael H. Engle will be the speaker to address the economics seminar tonight at 7:30 in 202 Bingham.

Dr. Engle, assistant to Director C. T. Murchison of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce who spoke here last Friday evening, will give the third of a series of lectures on current economic and business subjects. His talk will be on "Housing Conditions in the United States."

Headed Survey

As Dr. Engle was in charge of a nation-wide survey of urban housing made by the Department of Commerce in 1934, he is particularly well qualified to discuss the topic.

The speaker is touring the south and will stop in Chapel Hill just long enough to deliver his talk.

Marcus Noble Observes 80th Birthday Friday

Oldest Professor Has Served University for over 30 Years.

Marcus Cicero Stephens Noble, oldest member of the University faculty and one of Chapel Hill's oldest citizens, will celebrate his 80th birthday Friday.

Dr. Noble, who first taught in the university in 1898, was an active member of the school of education until a few years ago, when he was retired as dean emeritus.

Besides teaching in the University for over 30 years, Dr. Noble has been a prominent citizen of the town. At present he is president of the Bank of Chapel Hill.

University Club Keys

The University Club keys will arrive Thursday, it was announced by Frank Willingham, president, yesterday. They may be obtained from Charlie Ivey at the Kappa Sigma house after that time.

CAMPUS ELECTIONS

General campus elections for class, Student Council, and publications offices will be held Wednesday, April 10, Virgil Weathers, Student Council president announced last night.

Nominations for all offices will be made the preceding Monday, April 8, Weathers stated.

DEBATING TEAMS PLAN TWO TRIPS DURING VACATION

Seawell and Durfee to Go North; Fairley and Kellar Chosen For Southern Tour.

NEW DEAL, ARMS QUERIES

Don Seawell and Winthrop Durfee were selected yesterday by the faculty advisors of the debate squad to make the northern trip. Francis Fairley and Norman Kellar were chosen for the southern trip. Professors W. A. Olsen, George McKie, and E. J. Woodhouse made the selections.

March 19, the northern route debaters will clash with a team from George Washington University at Washington, on the query: Resolved, that the munition industry be nationalized. Carolina will defend the affirmative. The debate will be broadcast over radio station WOL.

Second: West Va.

The same team will meet the University of West Virginia at Morganton March 20 on the question: Resolved, that this house favor the New Deal. West Virginia recently debated in Chapel Hill.

The following day the northern team goes to Bucknell where Coach Snavely formerly lived, to debate: Resolved, that the nations of the world agree to prevent the shipment of arms and munitions. Carolina will again take the affirmative. Bucknell plans to send a girls' debating team here in April.

March 24, Durfee and Seawell will take the negative of the New Deal query against New York University.

Meet Newark Lawyers

The northern route team will again debate the munitions question against the law school of Newark University March 25. Bob Nevins, who was a student at the University last year is in charge of debating at Newark University.

The final debate will take place on March 26 with the University of Maryland at College Park, Md. Carolina will take the negative of the New Deal question.

The southern route debaters open their tour activities at Winthrop College in Rock Hill, S. C., taking the affirmative of the nationalization of munitions question. Winthrop will also send a debating team here in April.

To Attack Unions

Fairley and Kellar debate the same question the following day against Georgia Evening School at Atlanta. March 20, they take on Georgia Tech, debating the negative of the query: Resolved, that a strong trade union organization on a national basis is a necessity of civilized society.

March 25, the southern team debates the representatives of Sophie Newcomb at New Orleans on a query favoring the public works administration. Carolina will take the negative. The Tar Heels go to Huey Long's stepchild, Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge on the following day, to debate the negative of the New Deal question.

The debaters will wind up their tour taking the affirmative of the trade unions query against the University of Georgia at Athens.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: WALTER HARGETT

Tuesday, March 12, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"Aycock Debates Begin March 22." But Aycock bull-sessions go on forever.

The movement for 8 o'clock classes will presumably be opposed chiefly by us 10 o'clock scholars.

Tau Beta Pi is giving a slide-rule to freshmen as a scholarship award. One of those gifts you hold behind you and say, "Surprise, surprise!"

One Out of 80 Students

One of the saddest commentaries on the honor system we have yet had the unpleasantness of hearing concerns a psychology class conducted by Dr. English Bagby.

Naturally wishing to grade fairly, and realizing that the difficultness of the subject and the large class afforded an excellent opportunity for cheating, Dr. Bagby called on the 80 odd students in one section to pledge themselves to uphold the honor system during the examination. Even then, however, he asked for only 20 students who would volunteer to do this. One reported out of the 20, or 80 odd, as you prefer. One student out of that number was willing to make a simple reaffirmation of the honor code under which we live!

When only one student of that number is willing to declare his intention of supporting the honor system, it is the duty of the Student Council to make known to the class the importance of their co-operation.

Pickle, Lettuce And Onion Both

On the English department's comprehensive examination for the winter quarter, 1935, there occurs the following illuminating fragment: ". . . that no paper will be regarded as passing if it fails to conform to a high standard of written English both as regards style, organization, accuracy, and mechanics. . . ." (The italics are ours.)

The Oxford dictionary gives the following definition of "both": "The one and the other; referring to two specially designated persons or things, implying that two and no more are so designated."

Can it be the spring—or the influence of Gertrude Stein?

Remember The Institute

After the spring holidays comes the Human Relations Institute. The Institute, which comes every four years, is held only once during the average undergraduate's college career.

It is an opportunity the like of which does not come to us often. Many national and distinguished leaders will discuss their specialties and these discussions will be open to everyone. The schedule of the Institute has been published in the DAILY TAR HEEL and all who are interested would do well to keep this schedule in mind. It should be unnecessary to ask the undergraduate student body to participate and to take advantage of this opportunity which comes only once every four years.

We're Against Early Rising

At its last meeting of the winter quarter yesterday the Student Welfare Board discussed the advisability of changing the hour for beginning classes from 8:30 to 8 o'clock.

Waiving the number of men famous in history who were late risers, we do adduce to the argument against such a change that a goodly percentage of those who have 8:30's at the present time cannot, somehow or other, be punctual. Only gaze out over the campus at that hour of the morning and count the students scurrying to class, if you would realize just how few are on time.

We hold no brief either for the number of students who are perpetually late or for those who wish the change in hours. With Ben Franklin's maxim pretty well discredited, and Frederick the Great's barging out of bed at 3 o'clock in the morning having contributed nothing to his good humor or the peace of civilization, it would seem that there is no moral advantage to getting up any earlier than we do already.

As to any other advantage, such as eliminating conflicts in schedule, we are disposed to regard it as petty and inconsequential. The real issue is whether we shall get up any earlier in the morning. In the interest of good will toward men, and fair treatment of child labor, we vote a ringing "nay." Too long already have 8:30's corrupted and curdled our sweet dispositions. An even more radical step in this direction, and sleep-reddened eyes will stare glassily at our lecturers. Quavering yawns will greet them while they expound the wisdom of the ages. Pathetic snores of protest will drone forth from the classrooms of Murphey, Saunders, and Bingham.

In short, there are already too many things that interfere with our college education.

Writer's Convention

"Whereas, one out of 40 persons may sit down and do so-called inspirational writing, the other 39 are not so fortunate. They find it impossible to squeeze out paragraphs like they would toothpaste," declares Professor Phillips Russell.

Recently elected director of the Writer's Conference, Professor Russell holds that writing should be approached in the same manner as carpentry work. There should be a solid foundation from which the writer must build.

With this in mind, the conference for writers will be held for the first time this summer in the heart of the mountains of North Carolina. As well as the advantage of fellowship and sharing ideas with each other, the main purpose of the conference is for writers and would-be authors to become accustomed to a definite routine of writing.

This conference is sponsored by the extension division and Mr. Grumman is serving as secretary. There will be no credit given for the course. In other words, it is more of an informal gathering than a course in writing.

There has, undoubtedly, been a definite need for such a venture. The Breadloaf School in New England has had remarkable success along this line but it is out of the reach of most southern students. Professor Russell, however, announces that this conference will hardly exceed $50 for each member for the two weeks—August 3 to 17.

At the Capital Ben Franklin

Should Benjamin Franklin, whose ideas 200 years ago made him the first "brain truster," go back to the nation's capital today, he would more than likely get a great shock. In the library of Congress, hidden away in the rare book room, he would find his "Poor Richard" sayings done up in tooled leather, and highly valued. But if this advocate of frugality and industry as a means of securing individual and national wealth were to step across the street to the capitol where Congress is in session, he would hear long-winded debates on "increased spending and the 30-hour week as the safest and surest way" to put America back on its financial feet.

In "Poor Richard" old Ben wrote, "When you incline to have a new suit of clothes, look well over the old ones, and see if you cannot shift with them over another year, either by scouring, mending, or even patching them if necessary. Remember a patch on your coat and money in your pocket is better and more creditable than a writ on your back and no money to take it off."

Such was Franklin's advice on how to beat the hard times of the 1750's, and the Congressmen might do very well indeed to step across the street and delve among the yellowed sheets of Franklin's work. Then, they might well profit should they return to the Capitol, scour, mend and patch in an effort to let the nation live within its income and operate on a balanced budget. In so doing they would take a huge load from the backs of our future generations.

But, we hear from the nation's capital, most Congressmen nowadays don't even own their dress suits!

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:15: George Hall orch., WBT.

5:00: Dick Messner orch., WBT.

6:45: Lowell Thomas, commentator, WLW.

7:15: Morton Downey, tenor; Sinatra orch.; Guy Bates Post, narrator, WJZ.

7:30: Musical Memories; Edgar A. Guest, poet; Koestner orch., WJZ, KDKA.

8:00: Frank Munn, tenor; Gustav Haenschen orch., WABC.

8:30: Wayne King orch., WEAF, WSB; Lawrence Tibbett, baritone; Pelletier's orch., John B. Kennedy, WJZ, KDKA.

9:00: Ben Bernie orch.; Phil Baker, comedian, WEAF, WSB; Bing Crosby; Mills Bros.; Stoll orch., WBT; Grace Moore, soprano; Jackson orch., WJZ, KDKA; Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

9:30: Ed Wynn; Eddy Duchin orch., WLW; Isham Jones orch., Guests Stars, WBT.

9:45: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

10:00: Opera, "The Rogue Song," Part II; Gladys Swarthout, soprano; John Barclay, baritone; Goodman orch., WEAF, WSB; Camel Caravan; Glen Gray orch.; Annette Hanshaw, singer; Walter O'Keefe, WBT.

10:30: Cap't. Dobbsie's Ship of Joy, WBT.

10:45: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

11:00: Frank Dailey orch., WABC.

11:15-11:30: Wayne King orch., WGN.

12:00: Art Jarrett orch., WENR; Jan Garber orch., WGN.

12:30: Mark Fisher orch., WLW.

1:00: Claude Hopkins orch., WABC; Barney Rapp's orch., WLW.

PAINTING COURSE BEGINS MARCH 25

Students and Faculty Exempt From Registration Fee.

The three-weeks course in watercolor painting to be given by Eliot O'Hara of Washington, D. C., will begin March 25, with the first afternoon class meeting at 2 p. m. in Miss Lena Tuttle's studio in Peabody building.

The morning class will meet Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays at 9 a. m., and the afternoon class Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at 2 p. m.

All who wish to register should do so immediately, as the classes will be limited in enrollment. Further information and registration blanks may be obtained from R. M. Grumman, 312 South building.

Tuition fee for the course will be $5, but University students, faculty members and their families, and members of Miss Tuttle's art classes are exempt from this fee. Materials will cost $8.

DRAMA SCHOLARSHIPS

The Drama League Travel Bureau, a non-commercial organization, has at its disposal scholarships covering full tuition for the six weeks summer session at the Central School of Speech and Drama, which is affiliated with the University of London.

These awards are offered to students interested in literature and drama. Application blanks and further information may be obtained by writing the league's headquarters in Essex House, New York.

Miss Roberson Returns

Miss Nellie Roberson, director of the extension library service, has returned from a vacation during which she traveled in Cuba, the Panama Canal Zone, and Honduras.

Smokers Planned

(Continued from page one)

Salem; Wilburn Davis, Goldsboro; Albert Ellis, New Bern; Francis Fairley, Monroe; Tom Fawcett, Mount Airy; Butler French, Statesville; Charlie Hubbard, Sanford; Jim Parrott, Kinston; Claude Rankin, Fayetteville; Billy Yandell, Charlotte; Stuart Rabb, Lexington; Fred Eagles, Wilson; John Dacy, Asheville; Pitts Hudson, Salisbury; John Barney, Greensboro; Jim Craighill, Rocky Mount; Dick Lewis and Tom Evins, Oxford; Walter Hargett, High Point.

Dr. Haydon Tours

Dr. Glen Haydon, head of the music department, will address the music students and faculty of Meredith College in Raleigh Thursday. His speech will concern the "Problems of Musical Theory."

Dr. Haydon will attend a meeting Saturday of the Washington chapter of the American Musicological Society. This meeting will take place in the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C.

KNIGHT TO NEW YORK

Dr. E. W. Knight will leave here Thursday for New York City to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the National Society of College Teachers of Education, of which he is president.

The session is called to plan the program for the next annual meeting, in February, 1936.

Committee Will Study Council's Procedure

Freshman Group to Learn Student Government Methods.

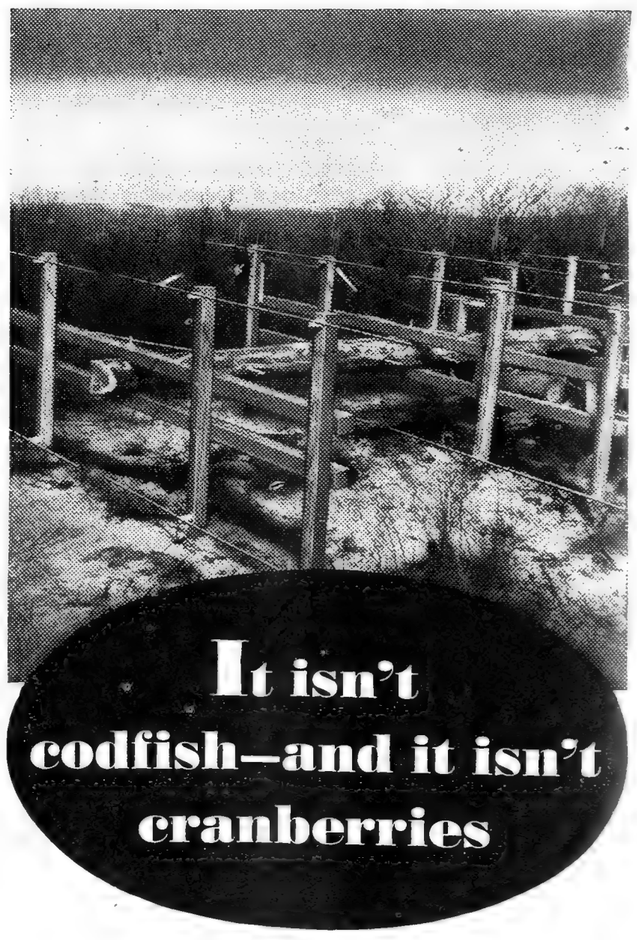
A special committee composed of Joe Patterson, John Sloop, and Bill Hudson was appointed at Sunday's meeting of the freshman Honor Court to investigate the method of procedure of the Student Council, with the purpose of helping set a form for the trial meetings of the court.

Selection of an adviser with Student Council experience was postponed, for a number of reasons, to a special meeting March 26.

The court will be ready to begin functioning at the opening of the spring quarter, and will hold its first regular meeting March 27.

Bull's Head Hours

The Bull's Head bookshop in the Y. M. C. A. will remain open during the holidays, according to Director Elizabeth Johnson.



Miss Johnson announced that the bookstore would operate on a slightly "spring" schedule, being open from 10 to 1 o'clock in the morning and from 2 to 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

English Graduates

Dr. George R. Coffman will be in his office to register graduate students in English today from 2 to 4 p. m., tomorrow morning from 10:30 to 1 o'clock, Thursday morning from 10:30 to 12:30, and Friday morning from 10:30 to 12:30.

Alfred Williams & Co., Inc.

Quiz Books and Supplies

It isn't codfish—and it isn't cranberries

It's an ultra-short wave radio telephone antenna—before being raised above the dunes of Cape Cod.

For some years, Bell System engineers have been studying ultra-short waves. They have developed automatic transmitters and receivers which may be connected with regular telephone lines at points far from central offices. They hope such radio links will be useful in giving telephone service to points difficult to reach by usual methods.

The installation on Cape Cod—which is now undergoing service tests—is just one more example of Bell System pioneering in the public interest.

Why not telephone home one night each week? Bargain rates after 8:30 P. M.—reverse the charges if your folks agree!

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Baseball Nine Continues With Batting Practices

Infield Play Halted Until Next Quarter

Squad to Report Back to Practice Before Spring Vacation Comes to End.

BACKSTOP POSITION OPEN

Carolina's baseball practice was again limited to hitting drills yesterday afternoon. The Tar Heels took a two-hour drill on Emerson field.

Coach Hearn has not been able to get an infield together as a result of the exams and will probably continue only batting workouts until after the quarter ends.

Early Practice

The squad will probably report for drills three or four days before the spring holidays end in order to get in some real work. Eighteen or twenty players will be called back.

It is still unknown whether Tommy Irwin, last year's brilliant shortstop, will be back. If the blond junior is missing it will leave another big gap for Coach Hearn to fill as Irwin was both a spectacular fielder and a leading hitter.

The biggest fight for an open position at present is the backstop post. Strayhorn, Cook, Daniel, Yeager, and Hobgood have all been looking fairly good behind the plate. Jim Tatum, letter outfielder, can also catch.

So far Tatum seems to be doing the outstanding hitting. The big tackle has been blasting plenty of balls into deep left field.

MALCOM EVERETT LEADS IN MURAL AVERAGE SCORING

Corwith of Delta Tau Delta Totals Most Points During Basketball Season.

EVERETT LED LAST YEAR

Malcom Everett of Kappa Alpha leads intramural basketball scorers in average scoring for the second consecutive year. However, Foster Corwith of Delta Tau Delta has taken the high total honors.

Everett accounted for 95 points in six games, or an average of 15 5-6 points per game, while Corwith sent the oval through the hoop for a grand total of 113, only three more than Bruton Peacock of Law. The latter took runner-up honors in both grand total and average scorings with 110 and 15 5-7 respectively.

The standings of the first dozen, according to scoring per game, follow:

Player	Team	T	G
Everett	(K. A.)	95	6
Peacock	(Law School)	110	7
Rand	(Betas)	109	7
Corwith	(D. T. D.)	113	8
Fox	(Mangum No. 1)	81	7
Moore	(D. K. E.)	89	8
Bryan	(Law School	76	7
Thomas	(Swain Hall)	65	6
Henson	(Mangum No. 1)	69	7
Barnwell	(Mangum 1)	69	7
Mosier	(Phi D. T.)	68	7
Andrews	(S. A. E.)	75	8

1935 All-Campus Basketball Team

PLAYER	POSITION	TEAM
Hubert H. Rand	Forward	Beta Theta Pi
Edwin Bruton Peacock	Forward	Law School
Dennis B. Fox	Center	Mangum No. 1
William J. Moore	Guard	D. K. E.
Jack C. Bower	Guard	Phi Kappa Sigma

FIRST TEAMS

All-Dormitory	Pos.	All-Fraternity
Vick (Mangum No. 1)	F.	Rand (Beta Theta Pi)
Peacock (Law School)	F.	Skinner (Kappa Alpha)
Fox (Mangum No. 1)	C.	Willis (D. K. E.)
Thomas (Swain Hall)	G.	Moore (D. K. E.)
Derrickson (Lewis)	G.	Bower (Phi Kappa Sigma)

SECOND TEAMS

Henson (Mangum No. 1)	F.	Andrews (S. A. E.)
Pool (Ruffin)	F.	Weinstein (Alpha Epsilon)
Parker (Kluttz)	C.	Marshall (Lambda Chi A.)
Wright (Swain Hall)	G.	Corwith (D. T. D.)
Alexander (Law School)	G.	Poe (S. A. E.)

No Mural Quintet Places More Than One Player On All-Campus

1935 Five Composed of Two Boys from Dormitory Division and Three from Fraternity Quintets; Third Consecutive Year for Fox, Mangum; Peacock, Law School, Other Repeater.

For the first time in several years no team placed more than one man on the all-campus intramural basketball selections. However, to Dennis Fox, Mangum No. 1's great pivot man, goes the honor of making that position for the third consecutive year.

The only other repeater from the 1934 mythical combination is Bruton Peacock, all around star of the strong Lawyer quintet. Last year he made it as a guard, but this season his high scoring talents clinched him a forward post.

Rand Makes Five

The other forward is "Trip" Rand, the Beta stalwart. Rand was right in the individual scoring race and will be remembered as the winner of the intramural football high scoring.

One of the easiest selections made was that of Bill Moore for one of the guard posts. Bill was without a doubt one of the season's most outstanding players, heading the D. K. E. fraternity champs in both offense and defense.

To Jack Bower, the inspiring leader of the diminutive Phi Kappa Sigma five, went second guard position. Bower, besides being a consistent scoring threat, displayed real defensive ability and led his inexperienced team through to a tie in the fraternity league.

All-Dorm Team

On the all-dorm first team, Vick of Mangum No. 1 moved up from the 1934 second team; and with Thomas of Swain and Derrickson of Lewis rounded out the quintet. Skinner of Kappa Alpha also moved up to the all-fraternity team from last year's second quintet, and with Willis of D. K. E., completes the frat selections.

Henson of Mangum No. 1 is a repeater on the dormitory second team from last year, but as a member of Old East in 1933 was chosen for all-campus.

The annual selections were made by Herman Schnell, intramural director; Fletcher W. Ferguson, David D. McCachren, William S. Markham, Jr., and Oscar A. Petrea, Jr., officials during the season.

A. A. U. W. TO MEET

The American Association of University Women will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. M. Jordan, 401 Pittsboro street.

The speaker will be Albert Coates, director of the institute of popular government and professor in the law school. His subject will be "The Institute of Popular Government in Relation to Present Problems."

Snavely, Saunders Jaunt

Carl Snavely and J. Maryon Saunders will speak to the Wilmington alumni tonight. They go to Sanford Thursday night and to Tarboro Friday to address alumni in those places.

TRACK NOTICE

All varsity and frosh track candidates are requested to see Coach Dale Ranson at Emerson field either this afternoon or tomorrow. Important announcements will be made concerning the outdoor season.

Aycock Table Tennis Racqueteers Rout Phi Kappa Sigs 3-0, In Finals

Aycock Bowlers Take Mural Title By Superb Rally

Dutch Heiderich Bowls Brilliant 164 in Rally That Overcomes 78-Pin Deficit.

The Aycock bowling team, led by Dutch Heiderich, pulled a sensational rally to down the Grimes trio 1019-1008, in the final of the intramural event late yesterday afternoon to give the lower quadrangle dormitory its second championship of the day, having taken table tennis honors earlier.

This marked the conclusion of a successful campaign by the Aycock team of Heiderich, Onasch and Schiffer. They had victories over the Midnight Flyers, favorites in the tourney, Old East and Chi Phi before downing Grimes yesterday.

Finishing Spurt

The Aycock combination trailed by 78 points entering the final round of the three-round competition, and it was only by a furious comeback that the Aycock team was able to finish in the van.

Heiderich bowled an impressive 164 in that final splurge by the new champions. Paul Onasch hit 113 and Schiffer 108 to put Aycock into a 11-point lead and victory.

Heiderich was high scorer for the meet, rolling a grand total of 387. Draper, Grimes, was the other high scorer, bowling a total of 378, but in vain. Draper had a score of 151 on his first try.

Individual scoring:

Aycock		Grimes
Heiderich	387	Draper	378
Onasch	326	Parker	316
Schiffer	306	Lieberman	314
Total	1019	Total	1008

Champs Turn In All Wins by Shutouts

Len Rubin, Aycock Leader, Finishes Tourney Without Loss of a Single Game.

GOODES AND FULLER STAR

The Aycock table tennis team consisting of Len Rubin, Gene Goodes, and Eddy Fuller proved beyond a shade of doubt that they fully deserve the title of campus champs when they handed a decisive beating to the Phi Kappa Sigs in the championship match played yesterday afternoon.

The 3-0 defeat handed to the fraternity champs brought to a completion a very successful season for the lower quadrangle trio. In all their matches they were unscored on, and lost but three individual games.

Remarkable Record

Len Rubin, star man for the team turned in the remarkable record of not losing a single game in the tourney play, while Goodes lost two, and Fuller, the last of the trio, suffered but one loss.

Rubin commenced the afternoon's play with a 21-11 score over Gene Odum, and followed this with 21-17 and 21-10 victories. The three games were marked with Rubin's speedy smashes, which could not be returned by his opponent. Throughout the three games played by the leadoff men the loser was unable at any time to get in the lead of his victorious opponent.

Goodes Clinches Match

The next set between the number two men, Goodes and Coit Coker, began with a large lead in the first game on the part of Coker. The Aycock man suddenly seemed to find himself and mainly by virtue of unreturned serves he managed to beat Coker by the score of 23-21. In the other two games, Goodes beat his opponent by the score of 21-15 each time.

Fuller met Merl Carson in the final set with the outcome of the three games of little consequence as the first two victories by Rubin and Goodes were enough to give the dormitory team their medals and title. Fuller had a comparatively easy time of keeping up the remarkable record of the team and of himself, by running off his opponent in three fast low score games.

Individual scores:

Rubin (A) over Odum, 21-11, 21-17, 21-10.

Goodes (A) over Coker, 23-21, 21-15, 21-15.

Fuller (A) over Carson, 21-15, 21-9, 21-13.

Williamson to Race Again in New York

Harry Williamson, the Tar Heel crack middle distance runner, will make his fifth and last trek to New York City this week-end. He is invited to participate in the Columbian Mile, feature event of the Knights of Columbus games, Saturday night.

Other outstanding milers to compete are Glenn Cunningham, Gene Venzke, Glenn Dawson, and Bill Ray.

This will conclude quite a busy winter indoor season for the Carolina star. He has run in the Brooklyn K. of C., Millrose, N. Y. A. C., and A. A. U. games.

Tar Heel Soph Tracksters Brilliant In Southern Conference Title Win

Graham Gammon and Dick Gabori Step into Limelight As Track Material.

OTHER SOPHOMORES STAR

Sophomores had a big hand in the show of the Tar Heels in winning their second straight Southern Conference indoor track championshp.

While the juniors and seniors came in for their share of the top honors, the first varsity year men showed that they can really put out.

Gammon and Gabori Star

The mile possessed a pair of these soph runners. Graham Gammon followed Williamson in the record-breaking event, and was not forced to exert himself in winning an easy second place. Dick Gabori pulled the surprise of the distance runs as he spurted brilliantly down the home stretch to eke out a third place over Banta of Virginia. He looked very good and showed much improvement in his fine race.

Jim Finlay also showed vast improvement as he shone in the low hurdles. The only soph in the event, he came through his heat to land in the semis. He won his division of the semis, but was barely nosed out by Slye of Maryland for the number four place in the finals.

Gardiner Takes Fourth

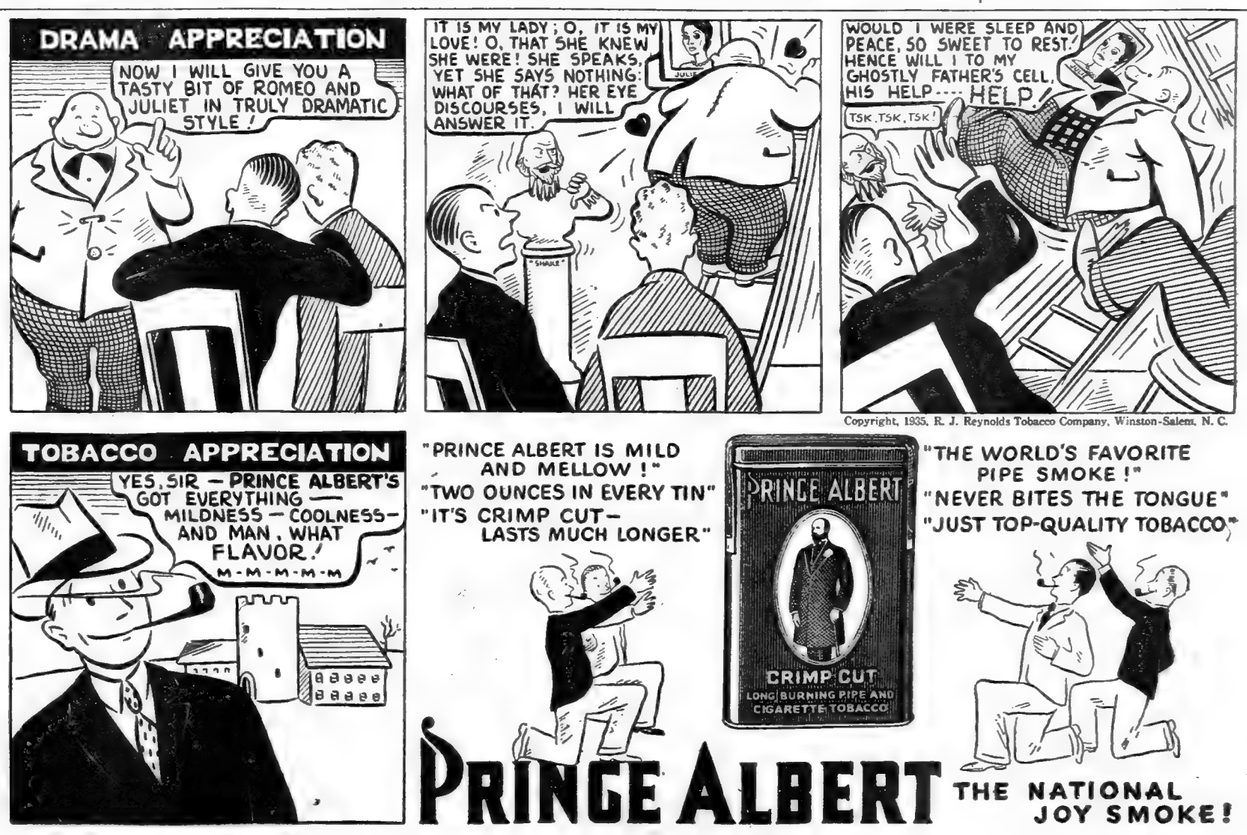
Bob Gardiner captured a fourth in the record-breaking half mile, beating Al Reichman of Duke, the former record holder. Gardiner was good in this event and is bound to go places in the outdoor track meets this spring.

Marvin Allen kept the pace in the two-mile until the last. Starting slow he pulled up to finish sixth in the exceptionally fast field. Connell, the other soph in the running, held down one leg of the relay team in fine style, and should develop into a nice runner.

VIRGINIA DIAMOND TEAM WILL PLAY 21 GAMES THIS YEAR

Orlin Rogers, Southpaw Hurler, Will Lead Cavaliers.

University, Va., March 11.—The longest baseball schedule for the University of Virginia in many years has just been announced by James G. Driver, director of athletics. It covers 11 weeks and includes outstanding teams in north, south and middle-west.



In addition to 10 games against Southern Conference rivals, the Virginia tossers will play Dartmouth, Michigan, Navy, Vermont, Amherst, West Virginia and other teams. There'll be several games with state nines not members of the conference.

Virginia has a squad of veterans this spring, captained by Orlin Rogers, southpaw pitcher. The team will again be coached by Gus Tebell who has had unusual success with Cavalier nines.

Twenty-one games are included on the tentative schedule, and Mr. Driver explains that one or two more may be added in late May or early June. The tentative schedule follows:

April 1: Vermont at home.
April 4: Washington and Lee in Lexington.
April 6: Dartmouth at home.
April 10: Michigan at home.
April 13: V. M. I. in Lexington.
April 15: William and Mary in Williamsburg.
April 17: Maryland at home.
April 18: Long Island University at home.
April 22: Washington and Lee at home.
April 25: West Virginia at home.
April 27: William and Mary at home.

(Continued on last page)

Copyright, 1935, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Relations Institute Personalities

Sanford Bates

Sanford Bates, director of the bureau of prisons of the United States and man-with-his-hand-in-'most-everything-in-Washington, will address the Human Relations Institute Tuesday morning, April 2.

Lawyer, Bostonian, lecturer, legislator, and club member, Bates has had an outstanding career in national affairs. Over 50 years of age, the New Englander has headed many penal institutions and commissions.

Bates became superintendent of federal prisons in 1929 and was appointed director of the bureau of prisons in 1930. In 1932 he was made commissioner of the international prison commission.

London Delegate

Director of the American Unitarian Association, he was the official delegate of the United States to the international prison congress in London in 1925, Prague, 1930, and he acted as vice-president of the congress, 1930-31.

Bates's club connections extend from national bar associations to various social clubs in Washington, Boston and other American cities. Last year the prison caretaker listed memberships in the Boston City Club, Lincoln Club, Roosevelt Club in Boston, the Monday Evening Club, Congressional Country Club in Washington, the Waban Neighborhood Club, and the Albemarle Golf Club.

SPRING ENROLLING CLOSES SATURDAY

Underclassmen Who Failed Last Fall Register March 25.

Registration for all students except those freshmen and sophomores who did not pass all their work during the fall quarter will take place this week through Saturday.

Having first obtained permit cards in room eight in the basement of South building, students begin the registration procedure by going to the offices of their deans to have their schedules made out. Juniors and seniors in the liberal arts college must present guide schedules approved by their major heads.

Their schedules made out, registrants go to room eight to obtain class tickets and have their bills made. Bills are payable the first week after the holidays.

Freshmen and sophomores not eligible to register before the holidays and new students will register March 25 in the same manner.

Regular classes begin March 26 at 8:30 a. m.

SOUTH TO FORM PHYSICS SOCIETY

Plans Progressing for Meeting of Southern Physical Society.

Plans are progressing for a meeting of the Southern Physical Society, new organization made up of leading physicists from the 12 southern states.

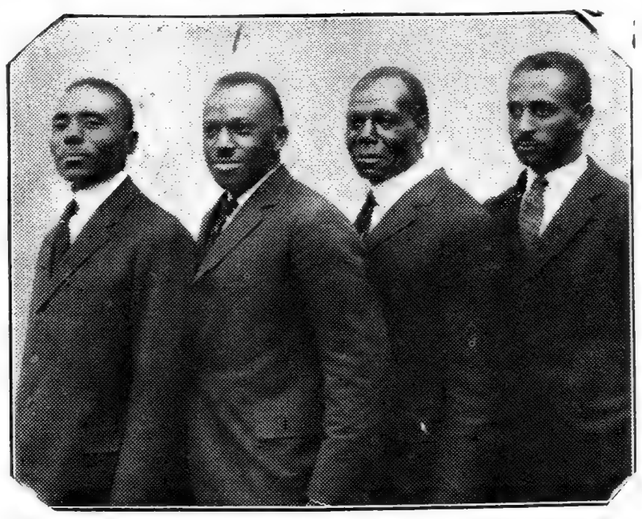
The initial stages for the organization have been carried on by Charles W. Edwards of Duke University and Dr. A. E. Ruark of Carolina. The meeting will be in Atlanta March 23. Arrangements are being made by the physics departments of Emory University, the Georgia Institute of Technology, and the University of Georgia.

Many physicists of the southern states do not find it convenient to attend meetings of the American Physical Society because of the great distance to the cities in which meetings are customarily held.

Daughter Of '35 Graduate Inquires About Exercises

In June, 1835, James Hill Hutchens of New Bern was graduated from the University of North Carolina; and in June, 1935, his daughter, Mrs. Fannie V. Randolph of Austin, Texas, may attend the 100th anniversary in Chapel Hill of her father's graduation.

All this, and more, was learned from a letter sent to President Graham by Mrs. Randolph, asking the date of the University commencement this year. The father of Mrs. Randolph moved overland with his family and slaves to Texas in 1849; and Mrs. Randolph, the child of his old age, was born there soon after the Civil War.



This long-ago graduate of the University lived until the age of eighty, and until his death he "spoke Greek and Latin fluently," for, as his daughter says in her letter, "he was beautifully educated." This should be inspiration for Carolina students of today who have difficulty with "amo, amare, . . ." and "alpha, beta, gamma."

Summer School Exhibit

An exhibit of the work done during the summer session at the three divisions of the consolidated University will be shown at the meeting of the North Carolina Education Association March 28, 29, and 30 at Winston-Salem.

Miss Glenn McLeod, secretary of the summer session will be in charge of the exhibit.

OLD-TIME SPIRITUAL SINGERS

The widely-known quartet from Hampton Institute for Negroes, Va., who will offer students tonight a brief relaxation from boning for examinations with rhythmic confessions of that old-time religion.

Particularly this quartet is distinguished because it includes, Mr. Comer says, "the deepest bass in the world."

Infirmary List

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Leighton Dudley, G. W. Matthews, Therman Ennis, Harry McMullan, A. C. Walters, C. C. Bennett, Jack Beverly, and James Montgomery.

Condition Exams

Students who have conditions to be removed by special examinations must make application for these examinations at room 8 South building before taking them.

SEND THE DAILY TAR HEEL HOME

Virginia Baseball

(Continued from page three)

April 29: V. P. I. at home.
May 1: V. M. I. at home.
May 3: North Carolina in Chapel Hill.
May 4: North Carolina in Greensboro.
May 7: Maryland in College Park.
May 8: Navy in Annapolis.
May 13: V. P. I. in Blacksburg.
May 15: Hampden-Sydney at home.
June 15: Amherst at Amherst.
June 17: Vermont at Burlington.

Pahlow to Speak

Members of the history and government department faculties will be addressed in 313 Saunders at 7:30 tonight by E. W. Pahlow, a professor in Ohio State University, who is at present on a leave of absence aid is residing in Chapel Hill.

Pahlow is the author of several textbooks of high school history.

The subject of his address will be "The Teaching of History in College."

SCIENCE SOCIETY TONIGHT

The 359th meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in 206 Phillips hall.

Dr. W. C. Coker of the department of botany will address the society on the subject, "Parasitic Flowering Plants in North Carolina," and Professor T. F. Hickerson of the school of engineering will speak on "Four Solutions of a Railroad Bent Problem."

University Fund Cut

Allotment Slashed $82,000 by Appropriations Committee.

Raleigh, March 11.—(UP)—The appropriations committee this afternoon voted to lower the University allotment by $82,000, but still retains the 25 per cent salary increase.

With revenue and supply bills scheduled to reach the floor not later than Wednesday, the General Assembly returned to Raleigh today, resigned to many weeks of grinding labor.

Patronize Our Advertisers

QUIZ BOOKS

STATIONERY — GIFTS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Ledbetter-Pickard

Let Us Prepare Your Car

For the Holidays

WASHING—POLISHING—WAXING
MARFAK LUBRICATION
FIRESTONE TIRES

University Service Station
H. S. PENDERGRAFT, Prop.

© 1935 R. J. Reynolds Tob. Co.

WE ASKED LEADERS IN WINTER SPORTS:

"Is this fact important to you?"—

"Camels are made from finer, more expensive tobaccos — Turkish and Domestic — than any other popular brand."

(Signed) R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY
Winston-Salem, North Carolina

YACKETY YACK STAFF
3:30 P.M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

The Daily Tar Heel

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

TAR HEEL BUSINESS STAFF
2 P.M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

VOLUME XLIII — CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 27, 1935 — NUMBER 128

OUTSTANDING MEN AGREE TO SPEAK HERE NEXT WEEK

J. M. Landis, S. P. Duggan, Hamilton Fish, Chester Wright, E. D. Martin Accept Invitations.

THOMAS ALSO SCHEDULED

Five outstanding leaders notified the Human Relations Institute committee during the holidays that they would accept the institute's invitation to appear here on the program next week, according to Chairman Charles Poe.

James M. Landis, United States securities and exchange commissioner, will address the institute on the "Significance of Federal Regulation of Securities," Monday at 10:15 a. m.

Foreign Affairs

Speaking on the subject of "The Present Situation in Europe," Dr. Stephen P. Duggan of the Institute of International Education will appear Tuesday at 10:15 a. m.

Once All-American football tackle, Hamilton Fish, Jr., congressman from New York, will speak Wednesday on "Government and Industrial Relations."

"Platform Principles of Textile Labor" will be the topic discussed by Chester Wright, public relations counsel, United Textile Workers, Wednesday at 4 o'clock.

The Grail speaker for the occasion, Dr. Everett Dean Martin, director of the Peoples Institute, will lecture Thursday, April 4, on "Violence and Social Progress" and again Thursday afternoon on "A Liberal Education." The afternoon meeting will be a public forum.

Several days before the holidays, Norman Thomas, Socialist leader and oft-time candidate for president of the United States, announced his acceptance of the institute's invitation. Thomas will address a public forum in Gerrard hall on the subject of "Industrial Relations" Saturday, April 6, the last day of the institute.

GIBSON REVIEWS GRAHAM'S WORK

Southwest Review Has 13 Page Article on His Achievements.

That President Frank P. Graham's work as administrator of the University of North Carolina for the last five years "has stirred many educators and writers to praise" is the conclusion reached by John M. Gibson in a 13-page article on Dr. Graham's achievements in the current issue of the "Southwest Review," an outstanding quarterly published jointly by the Southern Methodist University and Louisiana State University.

The article directs attention to the national recognition given Dr. Graham by the Roosevelt administration last year when General Hugh S. Johnson asked that the University president be given an indefinite leave of absence to enable him to direct the economic education program of the National Recovery Administration. Dr. Graham at the time was already a member of the NRA advisory council and vice-chairman of the consumers advisory board. It is related that when the trustees opposed his acceptance on the ground that he was needed too much at home, Dr. Graham declined the Washington invitation.

The current issue of the "Southwest Review" also carries an article by University Professor Rupert P. Vance, of the institute for research in social science and Mayflower cup winner, on "Planning the Southern Economy."

INSTITUTE SEMINARS

Professors desiring to make early arrangements for the seminar speakers in their classrooms during the week of the Human Relations Institute will notify the seminar committee at the Y. M. C. A.

The institute seminar committee is planning for the presentation of the numerous outstanding leaders in the various fields in the classroom during the week of March 31-April 6.

British Editor Advises American College Men To Travel In Europe For Year After Graduation

London, March 26.—(UP)—If young Americans on leaving college take the advice of R. D. Blumenfeld, journalist and editor, they will devote a year to European travel instead of, say, climbing towards executive positions via factory-wheel and office experience.

R. D. B., as he is known even beyond the British newspaper world, interviewed by the United Press, began speaking of the journalistic career but made it clear that his counsel would equally apply to those on the threshold of any business or profession. His message to youth bore the twofold authority of rich experience garnered by the youngest septuagenarian in London.

Better Chance for Americans

"The young American has a better chance than the Briton," Blumenfeld affirmed, "for he is untrammeled by tradition, can say and do things the Englishman can not. America forgives youth for idiosyncracies and blunders, less readily condoned in Britain.

"If I were a boy in the United States, I'd equip myself for world journalism, not merely for American journalism. I'd learn French, German, especially Spanish and, above all, master the writing of English simply, without adjectives. After a year in Europe and some browsing in London I would return and teach people world affairs."

Applies to Other Vocations

That this advice also was intended for other vocations was made clear when Blumenfeld denounced the view that the United States are isolated and described the commercial intertwining of America with the rest of the world.

"Surrounded by a Chinese wall," he stated, "the United States could at most live on its own fat for a decade."

He attributed Britain's predominance to "the grand tour plus self-confidence and a little snobbery" from which British youth has come home with intimate knowledge of continental life, ready to assure British business access to the ground floor in the world's markets.

Fine Background

R. D. Blumenfeld, 71, spoke with the background of a man who, native of Watertown, Wis., passed from Chicago reporter-

(Continued on last page)

GERMAN-ENGLISH PARLEY FINISHED

Chances for Germany's Return to League Believed to Be Bettered by Conversations.

Berlin, Germany, March 26.—(UP)—Chances of Germany's return to the League of Nations were believed enhanced as a result of the two-day conversations between Hitler and Britain's Sir John Simon and Captain Anthony Eden.

The conversations came to an end at 6:30 p. m. No attempt was made to reach any agreement, but both sides were convinced of the high value of cooperation for peace.

Eden to Moscow

Captain Eden left tonight for Moscow to start a series of peace moves with Russia, Poland, and Czechoslovakia.

This event marks the first trip of a British minister to the Kremlin since the Bolsheviki upheaval during the regime of Alexander Kerensky in 1917.

Observers have begun to speculate as to the nature of Eden's reception at the Russian capital. France turned eager eyes toward the east in the fond apprehension of a four-power entente composed of England, France, Russia, and Italy.

Meanwhile Italian "emergency mobilization" continued smoothly.

AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL TO MEET

Saunders and Grisette Will Attend Conference to Be Held In Washington April 3-6.

J. Maryon Saunders and Felix A. Grisette will represent the University in the 21st national convention of the American Alumni Council to be held in Washington April 3-6.

Educational leaders, college presidents, deans, bursars, registrars, and other executive and administrative officers from every part of the nation will meet with the alumni workers to discuss problems of common interest concerning the future of higher education in America.

Greatest Gathering

What may be the greatest alumni gathering ever held is being planned for the evening of April 3rd, the day the convention opens, with high government officials, cabinet officers, senators and congressmen as speakers or guests of honor.

Other alumni workers from institutions in the south who are listed on the program are: J. Malcolm Luck and William H. Wranek from the University of Virginia; F. Hill Turner from Vanderbilt University; Charles E. Taylor from William and Mary; Miss Clara Byrd from the North Carolina College for Women; Joseph Murphy from Catholic University; Mrs. Vivienne Breckenbridge of Sweet Briar College, and Mrs. Florence E. Sumwalt of Goucher College.

FOREIGN POLICY LEAGUE

Agnew Bahnson, president of the Foreign Policy League, requests the following men to convene in Graham Memorial at 8 p. m. today to discuss plans for entertaining Dr. Stephen P. Duggan, who accepted the league's invitation to speak at the Human Relations Institute: Joe Barnett, John Schulz, Phil Hammer, Albert Ellis, Lewis Morris, Don Becker, and Niles Bond.

14 SMOKERS HELD DURING HOLIDAYS

High School Seniors Meet with University Committees.

Smokers for high school seniors in 14 North Carolina cities were held during the holidays by the respective alumni associations in collaboration with the committees appointed by Frank Willingham, University Club president.

Most of the affairs took place on March 21, 22, and 23. Cities whose alumni participated in the events were: Lexington, Winston-Salem, New Bern, High Point, Greensboro, Rocky Mount, Asheville, Wilson, Goldsboro, Monroe, Mount Airy, Kinston, Fayetteville, and Charlotte.

Two recent smokers at Salisbury made an affair there during the holidays unnecessary. Plans for the proposed get-together at Oxford indicate that a meet there is forthcoming.

SCENIC DIRECTOR TO BEGIN DRAMA FESTIVAL TONIGHT

Thirty-two Original Plays Will Feature Contest; Southern Art Projects Sponsors Simonson.

DISPLAY IN STUDENT UNION

Thirty-two original dramas will be presented at the Playmakers Theatre this week as a part of the twelfth annual festival and state tournament of the Carolina Dramatic Association, it was announced yesterday.

High schools, colleges, and dramatic groups from all parts of the state will be represented in the festival which begins tonight with Theatre Guild Scenic Director Lee Simonson's illustrated lecture on "Stage Settings from the 17th Century to the Present."

Will Display Photographs

Simonson, appearing under the auspices of the Southern Art Projects, brings with him an exhibit of 150 photographs of stage settings from the International Exhibition at the Gallery of Modern Art in New York. The exhibit will be on display all week at Graham Memorial.

Tomorrow's speakers include Playmakers Director Frederick H. Koch, Playmakers Technical Director Samuel Selden, and Puppet Authority Samuel Freidman of the Theatre Union, New York City.

The program for Friday will be largely concerned with the joint meeting of the Carolina Dramatic Association and the dramatic arts section of the North Carolina Educational Association. W. K. Morgan, president of the dramatic association, will preside.

Saturday, the final day of the festival, will be taken up with various concluding contests, speeches by Herbert Kline, editor of the New Theatre, Playmakers' Son Paul Green, Summer School Head Edgar W. Knight, an informal tea with Miss Sara Seawell hostess, and the announcement of the winners in all contests by Professor Koch. Dean of Administration Robert B. House will present the awards.

Feature Board

There will be a meeting of the Feature Board this afternoon at 3 o'clock in room 209 of Graham Memorial.

Abernethy Succeeds Weathers As President Of Student Body

ADDRESSES CHANGED?

All students and other subscribers to the DAILY TAR HEEL who have changed their address from that of last quarter please drop by 204 Graham Memorial or call 4356 between 1 and 2 o'clock or 4 and 5:30 o'clock.

BUS LINE HEARING TO BE TOMORROW

Greyhound Lines to Present Case at 11 O'clock; Students to Get Free Transportation.

The much-postponed hearing of the Atlantic Greyhound Lines before the State Utilities Commission will take place tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in Raleigh.

A bus, providing free transportation for all students interested in attending the hearing, will leave Graham Memorial at 9 o'clock. Dewitt Carroll, student representative, is arranging for the trip.

All students who would like to appear at the hearing in favor of the Greyhound proposal must get in touch with Carroll at the Sigma Delta house today.

Many Petitions Signed

The hearing is to ascertain whether the Greyhound Lines will be allowed to run a scheduled bus system through Chapel Hill, with Greensboro and Raleigh as the terminals. Numerous petitions from towns along the way and from the University have been signed and presented to the commission asking for the new service.

For Chapel Hillians and University students, the proposed service would be a distinct improvement over the present system operated by the Carolina Coach Company. Not only will the Greyhound rates be cheaper, but the service will be direct and much faster.

The hearing has been postponed four times, due to several factors. There has been no opposition to the proposed route except from the incumbent bus lines.

Permission must be secured from respective deans to be excused from classes.

Ohio Freshmen Sleep; Professors Complain; 'Hell Week' Abolished

Granville, O., March 26.—(UP)—Denison University's "Hell Week" today faced oblivion after 67 years.

Established as a means of initiating new members into fraternities, "Hell Week" a source of great discomfort for its victims, has been condemned by the university inter-fraternity council.

The council, composed of presidents of each fraternity, voted to recommend to their respective chapters complete abolition of all rough pre-initiation ceremonies. The action followed faculty complaints that freshmen slept in classes during initiation.

Magazine Deadline

Copy for the next issue of the Carolina Magazine is due Friday. Those planning to submit contributions may discuss their work with Joe Sugarman, editor, any day from 2 until 5 p. m. in the Magazine office.

Former Student Head Fails to Return

Election of New Council Member Unnecessary Because of Two Holdovers Last Year.

WILL COMPLETE TERM

At a called meeting of the Student Council last night, necessitated by the failure of Virgil Weathers, council president, to return to school this quarter, Frank Abernethy, former vice-president, was officially advanced to the position of president for the remainder of this season.

Weathers has accepted a position with the Elkin branch of the Chatham Knitting Company, manufacturers of blankets.

No Precedent

Since there was no established precedent as to whether another member of the Student Council should be elected to take the office vacated by Abernethy, the new president met with the Council at 7 o'clock last night to determine whether this should be done.

The Council decided that it would not be necessary to elect an additional member to their group, since the numbers of hold-over members, or advisers had been increased last year from one to two.

President Abernethy explained that two members were held over because the former president felt that the Council lacked experience. Notwithstanding Abernethy's succession to the presidency, there are still nine members remaining on the Council, which is the traditional number.

The students had no vice-president until 1931 when that office was first created. Mayne Albright was then president and "Slim" Medford became the first vice-president.

SUMMER SESSION PLANS OUTLINED

University at Chapel Hill Will Have Two Terms; R. D. W. Connor Will Speak.

The program and dates for the University's summer school sessions at Raleigh, Greensboro, and Chapel Hill were announced yesterday in the first official summer school bulletin issued by Director Edgar W. Knight.

One six weeks' term will be held at Raleigh and Greensboro and two six weeks' terms will be held at Chapel Hill. The first term at each place will open June 13 and close July 24, and the second term, at Chapel Hill only, will begin July 25 and close August 31.

Special courses in education of interest to teachers will be offered.

Schedule Conferences

Special features will include a state conference on adult education at Chapel Hill July 17-18; a conference on art education at Chapel Hill July 19; a writers' conference at Blue Ridge August 5-17; the annual Parent-Teachers Institute August 10-23; annual coaching school, August 19-31; instructors' course in first aid, during first term at Chapel Hill; a summer demonstration school at Greensboro.

All local administrative details of the summer session of 1935 are to be handled in each divi-

(Continued on page two)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: IRVING SUSS

Wednesday, March 27, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

The only trouble about getting the Greyhound bus to run here is that we'll have one less relic to show our visitors.

Fraternity hell-week will be coming along soon. Now the pledges will come to realize that college is a pretty sore spot—in the end.

Representative Gassaway of Oklahoma says he is just the man to "knock down" the Kingfish. It would take a man with a name like that to out-talk him, anyway.

Early To Bed

Discussion and debate on the proposal that the University class hour schedule be altered has been widespread among undergraduates and faculty members. On the campus, however, the proponents of the measure are in the meek minority.

There are undoubtedly advantages to the plan. For instance, there will be decreased necessity for afternoon classes and decreased need for new classroom buildings. There will be three "favored hours" instead of two and an extra hour of preparation time for many students. Of course, there will be less likelihood of four straight hours for students with four courses and the administrative trouble arising from schedule conflicts, it is claimed, will be lessened.

On the other hand, many students and faculty members will catch it "in the neck." It will mean a half-hour earlier rising for many, despite the fact that there will still be four hours of classes from 9 o'clock on. There will be, contrary to the proponents' opposite claim, less opportunity for uniform faculty and student appointments, as the chapel period at present is a deeply-cherished hour for such appointments. Faculty members with children in the Chapel Hill schools can no longer take them to school on the way to their early classes, but must instead let the wife drive them down and then take the car to transport the young ones to their classes. Furthermore, if their class schedules run through 12 o'clock, it means work for five straight hours, and that's a lot to ask from a teacher of groping students.

Furthermore, the Chapel Hill boarding houses will be "up a storm." Their employees must be on hand at 6 o'clock or earlier, and breakfasts must be served from 7:30 through 9:30 o'clock. That will be costly and probably inefficient.

Of 109 institutions in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, 65 schools start classes at 8 o'clock. Why not Carolina? On the other hand, why Carolina? Chapel Hill has consistently emphasized education as a leisurely process, which it undoubtedly should be, but the new hours would tend to hurry faculty members in particular and certain students in general. Furthermore, the 10:30 rest period would be lost, and the substitution of an irregular hour would give neither time for adequate study nor the advantages of a common period of relaxation.

The new schedule would be very bearable to students during the spring quarter, but getting up at 7 o'clock in the fall and winter quarters is not our idea of pursuing an educational career in the best possible manner. Nevertheless, let the students say their piece and then let the administration act in the students' behalf.

Education at The Institute

The Institute of Human Relations, one of the most progressive and educational of University functions, begins Sunday morning and will present through an entire week a program of vast interest and importance to undergraduate and graduate scholar alike.

Most recent announcements testify to the ableness of the speakers whose addresses and seminar leadership will compose the bulk of the institute's offerings. It is immediately apparent that men were selected not because of their box-office appeal or sensationalism, but because of their eminent positions in the various fields qualifying them as outstanding scholars.

University professors will do well to advise their classes of the various presentations as the program progresses, and should consider the educational advantages of the institute as supplementary to the classroom studies. We daresay that there will be many undergraduates who will rationalize their classroom obligations during the institute and concentrate on the quadrennial discussions of the major current problems. The professor who fails to take into consideration the student's interest in the institute, although it does jeopardize his classwork, is not playing fair with the student or the speakers who are attending to help a somewhat bewildered youth find himself in today's problematic maze.

Please, Give Us a Hearing

We hesitate to say that we are glad that at last the much-postponed bus hearing for the Greyhounders is coming off, although we have definitely been informed that tomorrow morning is the scheduled time for the event in the utilities commissioner's office in Raleigh. We have been overjoyed at the prospects of the hearing before, only to find out that a lawyer has a stomach ache or something.

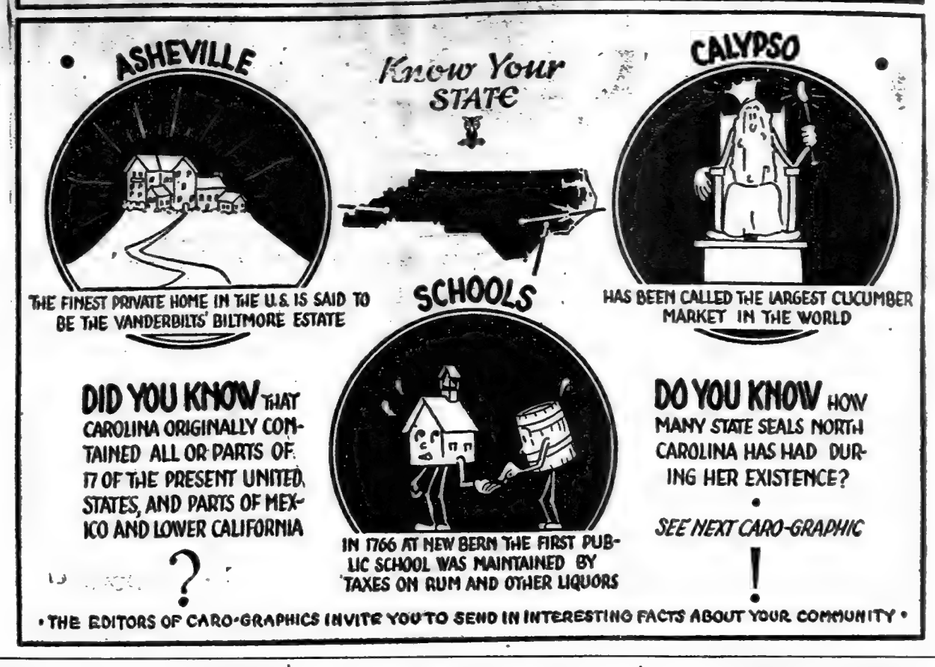
At any rate, in the event the bus hearing actually does come off tomorrow, we sincerely hope that the commissioners will fervently consider the huge petition which the University contributed favoring the new line and grant the Greyhounders a certificate of operation between Raleigh and Greensboro, via Chapel Hill. Too long have the rattle-trap coaches, misaligned schedules, and donkey-cart service gotten under the skin of University students.

Furthermore, we hope the Universityites have a chance to say something tomorrow. There are many undergraduates who have a word to say about busses in general and the Carolina Coach Company in particular.

Natural Salesmanship

The series of smokers sponsored by the University Club and the local alumni in towns and cities throughout the state during the holidays was a tremendous success. Reports from various sources make it clear that they were exceedingly effective in making the high school near-graduates "University conscious" and in helping to strengthen the alumni-student bonds.

One incident came to our attention which emphasizes the effectiveness of the University Club's work in this respect. In one town, at the same time that University undergraduates and alumni were entertaining fifty high schoolers at a highly-successful banquet, a representative of a rival institution was in town interviewing the prospective collegians in an effort to interest them in his particular school.



The moral to be drawn is that the University has striven to effect an air of congenial advice and sympathetic understanding, which is undoubtedly more effective and desirable than a cut-and-dried spiel about the virtues of higher education. The smoker program is nothing more than the dissemination of Chapel Hill goodfellowship along the lines where it will do the most good. You don't have to be pedantic and a high pressure salesman to create interest in this University, where pedanticism and high pressure are not in the least in evidence and where educational co-operation and sympathy are the keywords of the undergraduate aspirations for an increased knowledge.

El Fiebro De Primavera

We give you the spring quarter, a period which for a multiplicity of reasons is the most distinctive of all the seasons in the Chapel Hill year. In the first place, the sheer wonder of the campus's muddling through at all is phenomenal, or maybe even, as Hollywood might phrase it, superphenomenal, since there are so many odds against the final termination of the quarter's work. The red-bud, the dogwood, the cherry blossoms, the first faint green-gold and the ankle socks, and the filmy, near-diaphanous blouses—we won't get anywhere at this rate. Anywhere that'll do us any good.

So again, Carolina gentlemen, we give you the spring quarter, with a skoal, a prosit, a Waes Hael, a salute, a votre sante, a dosvedanya, a cheerio, and one slightly shop-worn here's how. (Echo: And how!)

CARO-GRAPHICS --- by Murray Jones & Nash Johnston

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:00: George Hall orch., WBIG.

2:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

3:00: Kate Smith's Matinee Hour, WBT.

3:30: George Hamilton orch., WPTF.

6:45: Lowell Thomas, commentator, WLW.

7:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

7:15: Plantation Echoes; Southernaires Quartet; Robison orch., KDKA, WJZ.

8:00: Mary Pickford; Popular Plays and Players, WPTF; Penthouse Party; Gladys Glad, singer; Emil Coleman orch., WLW.

8:15: Edwin C. Hill, news, WABC.

8:30: Wayne King orch., WEAF; Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

9:00: Town Hall Tonight; Fred Allen, comedian; Quartet; Lennie Hayton orch., WLW; Andre Kostelanetz orch., Lily Pons, soprano; Vocal Ensemble, WBT.

9:30: John McCormack, tenor, WJZ, KDKA; Burns and Allen, comedy, WBT; Ted Weems orch., WGN.

10:00: The Family Hotel; Jack Pearl; Freddie Rich orch., WBT; Guy Lombardo orch.; Ricardo Cortez, narrator, WLW.

10:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

10:30: Ray Noble orch., WLW; Columbia Concert Hall, WBT.

11:15: Leon Belasco orch., WBT.

11:30: Eddy Duchin orch., WEAF; Wayne King orch., WGN.

11:45: Ozzie Nelson orch., KMOX.

12:00: Art Jarrett orch., WLW; Jan Garber orch., WGN.

12:30: George Hall orch., WABC; Gold Coasters orch., WGN.

Infirmary

Only three students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Wilborn Davis, Robert Vansleen, and Matt Ouery.

Summer Session

(Continued from page one)

sion by its regular administrative staff exactly as the administrative details of any other quarter or semester are handled.

"The most distinguished and effective teachers of the University will participate in the summer session and distinguished people will be brought in from other institutions," the announcement said. "The work of the summer session will be equal in dignity and quality to that done in the other quarters or semesters and an integral part of the University."

The University will co-operate through the summer sessions at Chapel Hill, Greensboro, and Raleigh, with the state department of education in its study of the curriculum and in the preparation of a new course of study for the elementary and high schools of the state. Laboratory courses for this purpose have been set up in secondary education at Chapel Hill, in elementary education and home economics at Greensboro, and in vocational and agricultural education at Raleigh.

Provision has been made for public lectures to be given at Chapel Hill, Greensboro, and Raleigh by exchange lecturers from each of the three faculties. In addition, distinguished visiting lecturers will appear at each of the three places.

Robert D. W. Connor, former member of the faculty here, is coming this summer to give a lecture, in the third week of the first term of the summer session, on "The United States Archives." His appointment as United States Archivist was confirmed by the Senate last week.

Spring Quarter Assemblies

The first freshman assembly of the spring quarter will be held in Memorial Hall tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. President Graham will speak, and the freshman honor court will be officially installed.

After tomorrow freshmen will meet only on Mondays. The program April 2 will be turned over to the Human Relations Institute.

Patronize Our Advertisers

PALMER-SPELT

The wedding of Miss Alice Elizabeth Palmer and David Kirby Spelt of the University psychology department was solemnized Monday morning, March 18, at 10:30 o'clock in the Methodist parsonage here.

The bride is a native of East Long Meadow, Mass., and for the last few months has been engaged in social work in Tarboro. She is a graduate of Brown University, where she was an undergraduate major in psychology.

The wedding luncheon for the bridal party was held at the Carolina Inn immediately after the ceremony, following which the couple departed for a bridal tour through eastern Carolina.

Professors at Seminar

Dean of Students F. F. Bradshaw and Dr. H. W. Crane attended the Shaw University faculty seminar on student guidance in Raleigh last week, which was conducted by Dr. P. H. Gwynn of Davidson College.

PEP on the AIR

Kellogg's

COLLEGE PROM

RUTH ETTING and her melody

RED NICHOLS and his rhythm

JOIN the happy party next Friday night. Ruth Etting will be there, singing her stirring songs. Red Nichols will play the music for dancing. Enjoy all the thrills of real college atmosphere. Tingling excitement from the world of sports. Don't miss "Prom" night — Tune in!

EVERY FRIDAY NIGHT 8:30 Eastern Standard Time

Radio Station WMAL

Finchley
FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

EXHIBITION

CLOTHES OF INDIVIDUAL EXCELLENCE, CORRECTLY ATTUNED TO THE IMMEDIATE SEASON.

FORTY DOLLARS AND MORE

EXHIBITION AT
Student Co-operative Cleaners
TODAY AND TOMORROW
ROBERT GRAY, Representative

CLOTHES INDIVIDUALLY TAILORED TO ORDER :: ALSO HABERDASHERY • HATS • SHOES

Coach Hearn Has Seven Veterans Out For Nine

Rookies Will Play At First and Third

Jim Tatum Shifted to Backstop; Irwin and Rand Will Form Keystone Combination.

CROUCH SHOWS TOP FORM

Carolina's 1935 baseball squad got down to hard work again yesterday after a two-day layoff as a result of rain. The club took three whole days of work during the holiday period and is now rounding into some sort of form.

Coach Bunn Hearn has shifted his veterans about and now has old men at every position but two. It is these two spots, first base and third base, that the Southern Conference and Big Five champs are having the most difficulty filling.

Tatum to Catch

With four lettermen back for the outfield, Coach Hearn has shifted Big Jim Tatum to the catcher position left open by Norman McCaskill. The long-distance hitting Tatum will be assisted by Strayhorn and Cook, two likely looking prospects.

The first string outfield of veterans is lining up with Captain Thurman Vick in centerfield, Eddie Shapiro in rightfield, and Gus McIver in leftfield. Starke and Volivia, two sophomores, and Lefty Groome, a great fielder, have also shown promise in the outfield.

Good Keystoners

Moving Trip Rand over from third to second, Coach Hearn has a keystone combination which has already demonstrated ability both on defense and offense. The return of Tommy Irwin, last year's star shortstop, greatly strengthens the team.

Buck McCarn, big sophomore, seems to have the edge on the open first base job because of his stick work. Morris Rhodes is also making a strong bid for the position.

For third Coach Hearn is still

(Continued on last page)

Baseballers Face Wildcats In First Contest Of Year

The Tar Heel baseball team will open the season April 5, playing the Davidson College Wildcats at Davidson.

Each Big Five team will be met four times, according to the 24-game schedule which has recently been released.

The schedule is as follows:

April 5—Davidson there.
April 6—Davidson there.
April 8—Michigan here.
April 11—Wake Forest here.
April 13—N. C. State here.
April 16—Wake Forest there.
April 19—Chatham Manufacturing Company there.
April 20—Chatham Manufacturing Company there.
April 23—Davidson here.
April 24—Davidson here.
April 27—N. C. State there.
April 30—Wake Forest here.
May 2—N. C. State here.
May 4—Virginia there.
May 9—N. C. State there.
May 11—Duke there.
May 13—Wake Forest there.
May 15—Duke here.
May 18—Duke there.
May 20—Duke there.
May 22—Richmond there.
May 23 — Randolph-Macon there.
May 24—Maryland there.
May 25—Navy there.

Diamond Managers

All freshmen who wish to try out for baseball managerships are to report at Emerson field this afternoon during baseball practice.

TRACKSTERS WILL REPORT FOR DUTY OUTDOORS TODAY

Tom Hawthorne, Charlie Hubbard Lead Cindermen; Hope to Retain Conference Title.

W. AND M. TO BE FIRST FOE

With the Southern Conference indoor crown resting comfortably on their heads, the Carolina tracksters will now devote their time to outdoor activities. The Blue and White aggregation will have no easy assignment in retaining the outdoor crown they won so handily last year, but on the contrary they will be meeting some stiff opposition.

All candidates for the varsity and freshman teams are to report at Emerson stadium this afternoon for thier first organized workout on the dusty path.

The first meet of the current outdoor season is scheduled for April 6 against the strong William and Mary squad. It will be remembered that this same contingent carried off first place honors in the non-conference division of the recent indoor meet. They boast of one of the best dash men in the south in the person of Monk Little. Little is also an excellent broad jumper and javelin thrower. Last summer he captured one of the places in the national intercollegiate meet.

Carolina has a well-balanced squad that is captained by Tom Hawthorne and Charlie Hubbard. Both of these boys are consistent point winners and will be relied on to further the Tar Heels' chances for victory. Hubbard injured his leg in the indoor games here a few weeks ago but expects to be in shape for the initial meet.

GOLFERS BATTLE STATE THURSDAY IN OPENING MEET

Laxton, Harris, Coffin, Bridgers Will Likely Start; Long Tentative Card Announced.

FULENWIDER IS NOT BACK

The varsity golf team will swing into competition tomorrow when it meets State's team at the Hope Valley course. The initial match will be followed by one with Wake Forest two days later on the same course.

Captain Lane Fulenwider, who dropped out of school last quarter, did not return. According to an incomplete schedule released by Playing Manager Henry Bridgers, almost a dozen dual matches have already been arranged for, and the prospects of a trip in May with matches with other schools is probable.

For the opening match Coach Kenfield will probably use as his starters, Laxton, Harris, Coffin, and Bridgers. The outcome of the opening match is a toss-up.

Tentative schedule:

March 28—N. C. State here (Hope Valley).
March 30—Wake Forest here.
April 3 — Hampton-Sydney here.
April 6—N. C. State there.
April 15, 16—Duke here.
April 18—Richmond here.
April 19—Furman here.
April 20 — Boston College here.
May 3—Davidson here.
May 4—State Big Five tournament at Hope Valley.
May 6, 7—Duke here.
May 8—W. and L., Sedgefield (Greensboro).
May 9—Southern intercollegiate tournament.

Netsters To Open Season Against Deacons Friday

Bill Tilden And Pro Net Troupe Will Play Here

Tennis Master, Vines, Nusslein, and Lott Will Put on Show In Chapel Hill, April 4.

The return of tennis to the foreground in the Carolina athletic whirl, brings to mind that the greatest combination of tennis stars today are due in Chapel Hill in a very short time.

Thursday, April 4, is the date that Bill Tilden leads his history-making troupe into the University. Almost the entire surface of the United States has been touched by the racquet-swinging exhibitors.

Opening in New York they have penetrated into the west and south and will stop at Chapel Hill as they return home at the conclusion of a very successful attempt to put professional tennis before the eyes of the public.

The original four that started the ball rolling will not be on hand to sway the students to the rhythm of their almost perfect tempo. Lester Stoefen, gigantic slugger from the Pacific Coast, has been replaced by the German star, Hans Nusslein.

Stoefen was recently taken ill and Nusslein slipped into his place without the slightest hitch in the activty of the tour. This has not taken any of the allure from the exhibition but has added a foreign touch, which will tend to better the event.

Nusslein is one of the great-

(Continued on last page)

Carolina to Defend Great Past Record

First Meet Is at Wake Forest; Tar Heels Have Won 79 Out of 80 Encounters.

TO TAKE NORTHERN TRIP

The nationally famed Tar Heel tennis team returns to the wars this Friday with the opening of the 1935 season at Wake Forest.

Defending a past record that surpasses all performances made by other universities, Carolina opens the present season with a background of 79 victories in their last 80 contests.

Princeton an Obstacle

Princeton has been the only flaw in an otherwise perfect dual competitive play. After losing to the Tiger netmen in the spring of 1929, the Tar Heels were victorious in 74 consecutive meets before again bowing to the Princeton aggregation.

With another strong squad, Coach Kenfield predicts a continuance of this fine play. The schedule of 20 clashes looms as a difficult proposition with Princeton, Duke and Yale again providing the true competition.

Northern Trip

The northern trip finds the netters battling Princeton, Yale, Army, Amherst and Williams within six days and this trip has always proven to be the test of

(Continued on last page)

Tennis Meeting

All players out for the varsity tennis team will have an important meeting at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Emerson field.

Mangum Leads In Race For Intramural Honors

By virtue of its highly successful basketball season, Mangum dormitory overcame an 89-point lead held by Ruffin for the first quarter and stepped out to head the intramural race with 556 points.

The first two positions were just the reverse of the fall quarter and Ruffin is firmly lodged in second place with 532.5, far ahead of Sigma Nu's 404. Lewis still holds fourth position with 365.

The complete intramural standings for the year to date follow:

Team	Touch Football	Cake Race	Wrestling	Boxing	Basketball	Bowling	Table Tennis	Total
Aycock	65	.....	.....	40	77.5	65	75	322.5
Everett	78.3	45.6	.....	.....	77.5	.....	.....	201.5
Grimes	75	.....	.....	.....	75	55	30	235
Law School	175	.....	.....	.....	100	.....	.....	275
Lewis	110	.....	130	.....	100	.....	25	365
Mangum	15	66	50	175	175	30	45	556
Manly	78.3	63	.....	.....	75	.....	.....	216.3
Mayflower Club	.....	.....	.....	15	75	.....	.....	90
Midnight Flyers	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	30	.....	30
Klutts Building	75	.....	.....	.....	77.5	.....	.....	152.5
New Dorms	15	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	25	40
Old East	65	.....	.....	.....	5	35	.....	105
Old West	65	.....	25	.....	75	.....	.....	165
Pharmacy	75	.....	.....	.....	75	.....	.....	150
Ruffin	110	55	150	80	77.5	30	30	532.5
Swain Hall	78.3	.....	.....	35	115	.....	.....	228.3
Y. M. C. A.	95	.....	.....	.....	5	.....	.....	100
Smith Building	.....	.....	.....	.....	65	.....	.....	65
Locals	.....	.....	.....	.....	75	.....	.....	75
Alpha Epsilon	.....	.....	.....	15	75	.....	30	120
A. T. O.	75	26.6	50	.....	75	35	25	286.6
Beta Theta Pi	115	.....	50	35	75	.....	.....	275
Chi Phi	75	.....	.....	.....	75	45	30	225
Chi Psi	90	11	.....	.....	75	35	.....	211
D. K. E.	75	.....	80	15	125	.....	.....	295
Delta Tau Delta	75	.....	.....	100	75	.....	25	275
Kappa Alpha	90	.....	.....	.....	75	.....	35	200
Kappa Sigma	75	.....	.....	.....	75	.....	.....	150
Lambda Chi A.	75	.....	.....	25	90	.....	.....	190
Phi Alpha	75	.....	.....	.....	75	.....	25	175
Phi Delta Theta	75	.....	.....	.....	75	45	35	230
Phi Gamma Delta	75	12	.....	.....	55	.....	.....	142
Phi Kappa Sigma	75	.....	.....	.....	110	.....	55	240
Phi Sigma Kappa	90	.....	.....	.....	55	.....	.....	145
Pi Kappa Alpha	75	6	.....	.....	5	.....	.....	86
St. Anthony Hall	55	.....	.....	.....	75	.....	25	155
S. A. E.	90	.....	.....	.....	110	.....	.....	200
Sigma Chi	75	.....	60	.....	75	35	25	265
Sigma Nu	125	149	.....	.....	75	30	25	404
S. P. E.	.....	14	.....	.....	75	.....	.....	89
T. E. P.	75	.....	.....	45	75	.....	.....	195
Theta Chi	55	.....	.....	.....	75	.....	.....	135
Theta Kappa Nu	.....	.....	25	.....	75	30	.....	130
Zeta Beta Tau	75	10	.....	.....	75	30	45	235
Zeta Psi	75	7	.....	.....	90	30	.....	202

FIRST YEAR NINE CARDS 11 GAMES

Practice for First Year Nine to Begin This Week; Rookie Wright Likely to Coach.

Coach Bunn Hearn announced yesterday that the initial frosh baseball practice will take place at the close of this week thus giving the yearling candidates a chance to get settled to their classes prior to a long campaign.

Hearn believes that James Wright, coach of last season's freshmen nine, will take over the duties he held in 1934. Wright formerly starred on the Carolina varsity and is at present a resident of Chapel Hill.

G. E. Shepard, assistant athletic director, gave out the frosh schedule yesterday which lists 11 games for the 1935 Tar Babies. Seven of the contests are to be played at home. There is but one game scheduled with an out of state opponent, and that is against the Augusta Military Academy nine on the opening day, April 15.

The schedule is as follows:

April 15—Augusta Military Academy here.
April 16—Wake Forest here.
April 18—Mars Hill Junior College here.
April 20—Oak Ridge here.
April 22—N. C. State here.
April 30—Wake Forest at Wake Forest.
May 4—Duke at Duke.
May 6—N. C. State at Raleigh.
May 8—Duke here.
May 13—Duke at Duke.
May 17—Duke here.

The Vogue Shop

Always Something New Vogue Suits Me

Announcing the opening of Chapel Hill's newest shop. Why should women (bless them) steal the show?

MEN . . . Let's Dress Up for Easter

ANNOUNCING

The New Spring

Stetson 'D' Tailoring Line

Shown by Mr. Buddy Robinson

This line represents the newest in spring woolens—gaberdines, shetlands, tweeds, homespuns, twists, flannels, worsted finished and unfinished.

TAILORED AS YOU WOULD HAVE IT

Mr. Robinson Will Show From 9 a. m. to 7 p. m.

The Vogue Shop

Always Something New Vogue Suits Me

UNIVERSITY FACTS PUBLISHES RULES ON FUND CONTEST

Class with Most Contributors to Loyalty Fund to Receive Oil Painting of Graham.

CONTEST TO END IN JUNE

Details of the alumni loyalty contest, to be conducted between now and commencement by the Alumni Loyalty Fund Council, occupy the whole of the March issue of University Facts, bimonthly publication of the council, edited by Felix A. Grisette, director of the Alumni Loyalty Fund.

The class having the greatest percentage of its members contribute to the fund will receive at commencement an oil painting of President Graham, to be hung permanently in Graham Memorial. Gifts of alumni will also be counted in a contest between towns and cities, and the winning town or city will be presented with a set of 100 volumes of University Press books.

University's Needs Listed

A chairman has been appointed for each class, and a small committee will work in each county in North Carolina and each city outside the state having 25 or more alumni.

A dozen vital University needs unsupplied by any state appropriation are listed on the inside pages of the current number of University Facts. These needs include an emergency fund; laboratory equipment for the schools of medicine and pharmacy; music equipment and repair and extensions on the music building; fellowing, scholarship, and student loan funds; funds to enable the University Press to publish many valuable but technical research manuscrips; additions to the law library; a lecture fund for the law school; support for the North Carolina Law Review; a faculty traveling fund, and funds for the construction of proper cabinet cases for the proposed museum of natural history.

British Editor

(Continued from page one)

hood, editor of New York Evening Telegram, London correspondent of New York Herald to 30 years as editor of London's Daily Express.

While asserting that Britain is leading the way to recovery, Blumenfeld discerns a possible bypath to destruction in the inheritance taxes here.

"In the war we shot away $35,000,000 a day," he said. "In these peacetimes, the state destroys a man's wealth when he dies. If he leaves $10,000,000, half that amount is thrown down the sink."

R. D. B. regards extra clothes, the cinema and other pleasures accruing to the humbler citizen as a result of death duties as at the bottom of "the sink," insisting that they develop no resources, denote waste of ephemeral wealth and fail to build for posterity.

Mangum Gets Position

Dr. Charles S. Mangum, professor of anatomy and dean of the school of medicine, has been appointed associate examiner in anatomy on the National Board of Examiners.

Dr. Mangum's duties will be in connection with the Durham subsidiary board, of which Dr. William MacNider is the chief examiner.

Flowers for Infirmary

During the spring term the Chapel Hill Garden Club will furnish the infirmary with flowers.

Boastful Rankin Fishes, Gets Doe

"Frank Buck" Seizes It by Tail, Saves It from the Dogs.

Claude Rankin returns to Chapel Hill after spring holidays boasting a feat worthy of a reincarnated combination of Ike Walton and Nimrod. His day's catch at Lake Phelps in eastern Carolina with a full-grown doe.

While Rankin and his father were enjoying the holidays at Lake Phelps, a friend released a deerhound in the nearby woods so that they might see a chase. Later, Claude and Mr. Rankin shoved off in a motorboat for an hour or so of fishing.

The two fishermen noticed that the hound seemed to be approaching. Suddenly a full grown doe burst from the woods surrounding the lake and began to swim across. Messrs. Rankin made for the frantically swimming doe. After overtaking the fleeing animal, the younger Rankin seized its tail, and, with assistance from his father, dragged it into shallow water. There the deer was released. The fishermen were rewarded by the sight of the doe as it bounded for several hundred yards down the shore.

Tennis

(Continued from page three)

the Carolina team.

Three tournaments are also included in the activities of the varsity tennis players. First comes the north-south championship held annually at Pinehurst. This is scheduled for April 15 and 16 and the class of the amateur world has always entered into this event.

The other two tourneys are intercollegiate competitions. On April 25, 26, and 27, the state championship is held at Chapel Hill and in May, the colorful Southern Conference title is placed at stake, also in Chapel Hill.

The Wake Forest match Friday will find a rather unprepared team representing Carolina. Recent rains have restricted practice to a minimum and the team will not be in good shape.

The schedule first released had the opening of the season at State College tomorrow but this match has been postponed to a later date due to a request by the officers of State College.

The schedule follows:

March 29—Wake Forest there.
April 1—Dartmouth here.
April 6—Davidson there.
April 10—Wake Forest here.
April 11—Duke here.
April 13—State here.
April 15, 16—North-south, Pinehurst.
April 17—Appalachian here.
April 20—South Carolina here.
April 22—Duke there.
April 23 — Boston College here.
April 24—Davidson here.
April 25, 26, 27—State tournament.
May 3—Virginia there.
May 4—Rutgers there.
May 6—Princeton there.
May 7—Yale there.
May 8—Army there.
May 9—Amherst there.
May 10—Williams there.
May 16—Virginia here.
May 16-18—Southern Conference tournament here.

Finjan Staff Meeting

There will be a meeting of all members of the Finjan staff at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the office at Graham Memorial, Niles Bond, business manager of the publication, announced yesterday.

Those not attending will be dropped from the staff.

PRESS RELEASES BOOKS ON MOUNTAIN PEOPLE

The University Press has just released "Cabin in the Laurel," a new book about the Carolina mountain folk by Muriel Earley Sheppard.

The work concerns itself with intimate glimpses of life in the Carolina Blue Ridge.

One hundred and twenty-eight pages of full-page photographs taken by Bayard Wooten of Chapel Hill, illustrate the work.

Muriel Earley Sheppard, the author, is the wife of a mining engineer who is now stationed in the mountains of North Carolina. Mrs. Sheppard, who comes from rural New York state, has portrayed the entire panorama of life as it is lived in the Toe River Valley, near her new home.

Varsity Baseball

(Continued from page three)

scratching his head pretty much trying to figure who is the best out of a half dozen candidates. Among the outstanding players working for the post are Montgomery, Jones, Bullard, Dashiell, Wolslagel, and Schriver.

Crouch Shows Stuff

Freddie Crouch is again expected to head the pitching staff. He turned in 10 victories in 11 starts last year and yesterday showed some mid-season form by holding the first string to no runs and only five hits during the six innings he worked in a practice game.

Leo Manley is the other letter pitcher back, while the other hurlers who have shown the most stuff so far are Irbie Wright, Bunn Hearn, Jr., Latcher Webster, Ike Jeans, and Henry Wright.

In yesterday's practice battle, the second string aided by Crouch's masterful pitching, topped the regulars 4-1 over nine innings and 5-4 in 12 innings. Manley also twirled for the second team while Irbie Wright and Webster were in the box for the first team.

Captain "T" Vick came out of a batting slump during the latter part of the contest and as a result led the regulars in hitting with two doubles and a single. Dashiell connected for two singles and a triple for the winners.

Political Union Executives

The executive committee of the Carolina Political Union will meet this afternoon in 209 Graham Memorial at 5 o'clock, according to Robert Smithwick, president of the union.

All members are especially urged by Smithwick to attend, as plans for continued activity will be laid out for the spring quarter.

VILLAGE TO HAVE SUNDAY EVENING MOVING PICTURES

Presentation to Be Given at 9:30 P. M. in Addition to Regular Sunday Schedule.

PLAN EFFECTIVE SUNDAY

The high council of the Chapel Hill Movie Guild at their meeting last Friday nodded in unanimous approval to a plan for a Sunday night movie performance beginning at 9:30 o'clock.

The members of the council were careful to select hours that would not interfere with church services.

The previous movie schedule provided for a continuous performance from 1 to 7 o'clock. The new schedule provides an additional performance for those who prefer to attend the movies at night.

Warm Weather

Approaching warm weather was also advanced as a reason for the later showing. The new schedule will become effective Sunday when the Guild will present Will Rogers in "Life Begins at Forty."

Directors of the Guild present at the meeting were: Clyde Eubanks, Mrs. Isaac Manning, E. Carrington Smith, Louis Graves, Mrs. Irene Lee, and Collier Cobb, Jr.

Meanwhile, it was revealed that the Guild has received $804.63 from the last 24 presentations beginning September 29. Of this sum, all but a small balance has been disbursed for charitable causes.

In addition to individual charity, the Guild has bought lunches and books for school children, made payments on the amount due on the bath house at the University Lake, and has a monthly allotment to the local relief office.

YEARBOOK STAFF

There will be an important meeting of the following members of the Yackety Yack staff this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Graham Memorial office: Henry Lewis, Fred Weaver, Irving Suss, Sam Elmore, Jack Lowe, and Charley Ivey.

Staff meetings for other members will be called by the respective division heads later this week.

Economics Seminar

R. J. M. Hobbs will speak at the economics seminar to be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in 113 Bingham hall. His topic will be "Recent Decisions Affecting New Deal Legislation."

Everyone is invited.

THREE CENT SALES TAX REINSTATED BY HOUSE

Raleigh, March 26.—(UP)—The State House of Representatives voted today to nullify yesterday's action in reducing the general sales tax from 3 per cent to 2 per cent. After first voting to reconsider the action taken, the representatives passed the bill on the third reading almost exactly as written by the finance committee.

Meanwhile, the Senate set the automobile tag rate at 45 cents per hundredweight. This establishes an eight dollar minimum for licenses. The auto tag bill is expected to come up for a second reading Monday.

Bill Tilden

(Continued from page three)

est professionals of the day and has often worn the crown designating his remarkable ability. With Nusslein comes Tilden, Vines and Lott.

Tilden and Vines Best

Throughout the tour, Tilden and Vines have been superior to the pro novices, Lott and Stoefen; although many had predicted that the youthful amateurs would topple the aged Tilden and his brilliant partner.

A survey of their first 16 matches shows Vines holding 16 wins over Stoefen and Tilden 15 over Lott. Those figures leave no room for debate. In doubles the fight has been closer but Tilden and Vines also hold the edge in this department over the national amateur champions of 1934.

The tour will come to Charlotte immediately before its appearance at Chapel Hill. Thousands have flocked to see this wonderful quartet of tennis masters in all parts of the United States and it is indeed a treat for the students to have the opportunity of watching them in action.

Business Staff

There will be a meeting of all members of the DAILY TAR HEEL business staff this afternoon at 2 o'clock in 204 Graham Memorial. Attendance is required.

House to Send Works Bill Into Conference

Washington, March 26—(UP)—Crushing underfoot a pugnacious pack of silverites and inflationists, the House voted by 186 to 76 today to send the $4,880,000,000 work bill into conference for the elimination of Senate amendments obnoxious to President Roosevelt.

This action dooms at least one of the most controversial of the 30 amendments added to the bill in the eight weeks in which it was under consideration—the Thomas silver rider.

This amendment aroused a vicious fight on the floor of the House today. Under its terms at least $375,000,000 of new currency must be put into circulation immediately, and $1,000,000,000 within 22 months.

Catalog Available

The catalog for the summer session has been published and is now available to students at the office of Dr. Edgar W. Knight on the second floor of South building. It is suggested that those students who intend to enroll this summer secure a copy if they wish to co-ordinate their spring quarter's work with that of the summer session.

Patronize Our Advertisers

CAROLINA
—Today—
ANDY CLYDE
RICHARD CROMWELL
BETTY FURNESS
in
"McFaddens Flats"
—Also—
Comedy — Novelty
MIDNIGHT SHOW FRIDAY
Doors Open at 11:15 P. M.

Crescent Cafeteria
The Home of Good Food
A Competent Staff Is at Your Disposal
RATES
$5.00 a Week, 3 Meals a Day
21 Meal Ticket Good Any Time, $6.00
"Service"

UNIVERSITY CLUB
7:15 P. M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

The Daily Tar Heel

FOREIGN POLICY LEAGUE
8 P. M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1935 | NUMBER 129

SELDEN AND KOCH DELIVER FESTIVAL ADDRESSES TODAY

Lee Simonson, Scenic Director, Opens 12th Annual State Dramatic Tournament.

CONTESTS CONTINUE TODAY

Eight events are scheduled for today's program in the 12th annual festival and state tournament of the Carolina Dramatic Association.

Beginning at 8:30 this morning, Professor Frederick H. Koch will speak on "Nineteenth Century Drama" in the theatre. At 9:30 he will talk on "Playwriting."

Selden to Speak

Samuel Selden, discussing "Play Directing," will appear at 11 o'clock. The afternoon session includes the final contest in play production of the county high schools, the presentation of an original play from a city high school, and a guest performance of Eugene O'Neill's "The Dreamy Kid" by the North Carolina College for Negroes, Durham.

Samuel Freidman of the Theatre Union, New York City, will begin the evening program with "Puppets for Propaganda Play," a demonstration beginning at 7:15 o'clock.

Final Contest

After Freidman's performance, the final contest in the production of original plays by individual members will be conducted with five plays entered in the contest.

Today's program follows the opening of the festival last night when Lee Simonson, distinguished scenic director of the New York Theatre Guild, lectured on "Stage Settings from the 17th Century to the Present." Simonson's appearance was sponsored by the Southern Art Projects.

LEAGUE TO PLAN QUARTER'S WORK

Policy Group Will Have Short Business Session Tonight in Graham Memorial.

According to Agnew Bahnson, president of the Foreign Policy League, a very important business meeting of the league will be conducted in Graham Memorial tonight at 8 o'clock to make plans for the club's spring activities.

The meeting, announced Bahnson, will be devoted to planning a banquet for Dr. Stephen Duggan, who will appear on the Human Relations Institute program here next week.

Sponsored by League

Dr. Duggan was secured as an Institute speaker through the efforts of the Foreign Policy League, as a feature of the club's program of bringing noted speakers to the University campus.

The general program for the spring quarter and the date for the election of officers will be decided upon at the session tonight.

"This is expected to be a brief meeting," said Bahnson, "but it is very important that all members attend."

Grail Meets Tonight

The Order of the Grail will meet tonight at 10 o'clock in Graham Memorial, it was announced yesterday by George Moore.

Scenic Director

Lee Simonson, scenic director of the New York Theatre Guild, who was the principal speaker at the opening session of the state drama festival and tournament at the University last night.

WRITERS TO HOLD SUMMER MEETING

University Professor Phillips Russell to Instruct at Blue Ridge August 5-17.

Individuals interested in writing, whether for professional, diversional, or cultural reasons, are invited to attend a writers' conference this summer at Blue Ridge, two miles from Black Mountain, N. C., announced Russell M. Grumman, director of the University extension division, who is to serve as secretary.

The conference, which will be held from August 5-17, is under the sponsorship of the extension division of the University. Phillips Russell, acting professor of English and teacher of creative writing at the University, will be the director.

Russell in Charge

Professor Russell was chosen to direct the conference by a committee consisting of President Frank P. Graham and Dean R. B. House of the University, Dr. George R. Coffman, head of the English department, R. M. Grumman of the extension division, and Professor Nettie S. Tillett of the Woman's College at Greensboro.

Ample hotel, classroom, and recreational facilities will be provided on the 1,600-acre estate at Blue Ridge.

Although the conference is to be informal in nature, it will provide lectures, round-table discussions, criticisms, readings, and will promote opportunities for the meetings between professional writers, amateurs, publishers, and booksellers.

Humorists State Choice For Editor Tonight

Contributors to Last Three Issues to Make Nomination.

There will be a meeting of the Finjan staff tonight at 7:15 o'clock to elect the staff nominee for the editorship of the publication.

Only those students who have worked on the staff for any of the three preceding issues, The Time issue, the End Everything issue, and the Valentine issue, will be eligible to vote.

Everyone is urged to attend, but proxy votes will be acceptable if they are signed.

In addition the theme for the forthcoming issue will be assigned so that work may be begun immediately.

PRESS RELEASES TENNESSEE BOOK

Biography of Taylor Emphasizes Popular Figure's Political Life.

The University Press released yesterday "Bob Taylor and the Agrarian Revolt in Tennessee," a new book by Dr. Daniel Merritt Robeson, assistant professor of history at State Teachers' College, Memphis, Tenn.

Tennessee's Bob Taylor, popular figure and apostle of love, laughter and song, is portrayed by the book in a light somewhat different from that in which he is usually placed. In this work he is pictured in his more serious role of political leader, governor, and United States Senator.

The "War of Roses" in which Bob Taylor and his Republican brother, Alfred A. Taylor, contended for the governorship of Tennessee forms an interesting nucleus for a discussion of the political and sociological problems of that day.

The book parallels the political activities of Taylor with the beginnings of the great agrarian revolt that swept the country during the eighties and nineties of the past century.

House Passes Bills To Srengthen Navy

Measures Designed to Help U. S. Reach Treaty Power.

Washington, March 27.—(UP)—The House today passed rapidly four bills designed to help the United States Navy reach treaty strength by 1942.

One authorized an expenditure of $38,000,000 to bolster naval defense, chiefly along the Pacific Coast and the Canal Zone; another provided for training of 500 youths annually to enter the naval air service.

A third measure authorized adding 1,032 officers to the navy's present figure of 6,132. The fourth provided for retirement of certain officers among the higher grades so as to allow advancement to the lower grade officers.

STUDENTS TO REVIEW BURLINGTON CASE

Nick Read and Ramsay Potts, Carolina freshmen, have been asked to collaborate on an article for The State, edited by Carl Goerch.

The article will deal with the Burlington dynamiting case. Read will treat the general aspects of the subject and Potts will discuss the case in its relation to the University.

LANGUAGE EXAMS

The reading knowledge of German examination for candidates for the higher degrees will be held at 9:30 a. m., in Saunders 109, Saturday.

The following Saturday, April 6, at the same hour the reading knowledge of French examination will be held in Murphey 314.

Students who have not registered to take the examination should file their names at the graduate office at once.

AGAIN

Alas, no student will skip a class today to attend the bus hearing in Raleigh; for the Greyhound Lines attorney was inconsiderate enough to get sick at the last minute yesterday, and the hearing has for the fourth time been postponed.

Relations Institute Personalities

EVERETT D. MARTIN

Everett Dean Martin, director of Cooper Union Forum, will appear on the Human Relations Institute program under the sponsorship of the Order of the Grail, according to Frank Abernethy, president of the Grail.

Martin accepted the invitation of the Grail over the holidays, J. D. Winslow, chairman of the Grail speaker committee, announced yesterday.

As director of the Cooper Union Forum, the largest center for free discussion of political and educational subjects in America, Martin has become a leading educator and writer.

Churchman, Illinoisian, lecturer on social philosophy, writer on philosophical subjects, Democrat, Martin was chairman of the national board of review of motion pictures from 1919-22.

Martin's books include "Farewell to Revolution," which has received much favorable comment. His other writings are "The Behavior of Crowds," "The Mystery of Religion," "Psychology," "Psychology and Its Uses," "The Meaning of a Liberal Education," "Liberty," "Civilizing Ourselves," and numerous articles and pamphlets.

JULIAN LaROSE HARRIS

Sixty-one-year old journalist and public serviceman, Julian LaRose Harris will lecture here next week as a part of the Human Relations Institute seminar program.

Appearing in the classrooms on the seminar programs, Harris will bring into his discussions his wide background of newspaper work. A Georgian and Democrat, the editor was awarded the Pulitzer prize in 1925 for the "most disinterested and meritorious public service" rendered by American newspapers in their fight against the Ku Klux Klan, against the law barring the teaching of evolution, and against Negro injustice.

Harris, now advertising director of the Atlanta Constitution, has been connected with the Chicago Times-Herald, Atlanta Daily News, Tri-Weekly Constitution, New York Herald, New York Evening Telegram, and the Columbus, Ga., Enquirer.

Harris is a member of the advisory board of the school of journalism at Columbia University and is a member of the southern commission on the study of lynching.

JAMES M. LANDIS

Brilliant careered James M. Landis, member of the United States Securities and Exchange Commission, will discuss "The Significance of Federal Regulation of Securities" Monday morning at 10:15 o'clock on the Human Relations Institute program.

Born in Japan 35 years ago, young Landis was graduated from Princeton and the Harvard law school with honors and has since served in the capacity of author, teacher, law secretary, and bill-drafter.

After holding a position for two years on the faculty at Harvard, Landis became a full professor and the first occupant of the chair of legislation there.

Called to Washington in 1933 to help draft the securities act, he was later appointed a mem-

(Continued on page two)

Carolina, Duke May Co-ordinate Curricula Of Graduate Schools

UNIVERSITY CLUB

The University Club will hold its first meeting of the spring quarter tonight at 7:15 o'clock in 209 Graham Memorial.

New members will be voted in at this time, the old club having only two more sessions before the inauguration of a new regime.

Other important business, dealing with springs plans and unfinished projects, will also be transacted.

TAYLOR RECEIVES NATIONAL AWARD

University Instructor Gets Fellowship Offering a Year's Research in France.

Cecil G. Taylor, instructor in the French department and a candidate for the Ph.D. degree in June, has been awarded one of the American Field Service Fellowships offered by the Institute of International Education in New York. The fellowship affords a year's research in France.

This is one of three fellowships given in the whole country this year and is the second time that one has been granted to a candidate from this University.

Other Candidate

The other candidate to receive this award was Russell Potter, formerly a member of the faculty here and now at Columbia University.

Interviewed yesterday, Taylor stated that he will spend most of his time in the National Library at Paris doing research work in drama.

Taylor received his A. B. degree in 1929 and his A. M. degree in 1930 from this University.

Henderson Praised In English Article

Dr. Archibald Henderson, head of the University mathematics department, is described as "easily the most cosmopolitan of American literary critics" in an illustrated article in the current issue of "Town and Country Review," an English magazine published in London.

In regard to Dr. Henderson as an authorized biographer of George Bernard Shaw, the article calls his book, "Bernard Shaw; Playboy and Prophet," "the most comprehensive and completely documented biography of a living man that has ever been written," and declares the author's collection of Shaviana the greatest in existence.

Describing Dr. Henderson's versatile activities, he is called an authority on drama and literature. "His authoritative book, 'The Changing Drama,' has been described as the only philosophical summary of the drama written by an American."

A leading authority on relativity and the theories of Einstein, an historian of the first rank, particularly versed on westward expansion in the old south and old southwest during the eighteenth century, Dr. Henderson, the article continues, "is characterized by Einstein as 'an extraordinary combination of artist and scientist.'"

The article carries a two-column picture of Dr. Henderson.

Co-operation Expected To Effect Economies

Proposal Made in Report by Joint Faculty Committee of Both Universities.

PRESIDENTS FAVOR PLANS

That Duke University and Carolina will join hands in offering a co-ordinated curriculum to the students of the two neighboring schools was the tone of the report issued this week by a joint faculty committee which has been working on the matter since the fall of 1933.

Commenting together on the committee's work, President Graham and President Few said, "We present its initial report as evidence of a significant trend toward the whole-hearted co-operation of the two universities."

Graduate Work

The report shows that much of the proposed co-ordination will be done in connection with the graduate schools. "In order to offer students a wider intellectual opportunity and to effect an economy in the costs involved, it would be the part of wisdom for both universities to move toward a co-ordinated development of their resources to graduate work," said the report.

"Illustrative of the processes involved would be the provision of opportunities for graduate students enrolled in one university to take for credit toward their degrees a limited amount of work at the other university and for interchanges of professors and consolidation of class groups," continued the report.

To Avoid Duplication

That the nine-mile-apart schools should first consider the existing facilities in the various fields of work in order that unnecessary duplication may be avoided and the fullest possible co-ordination attained was urged by the joint committee.

Suggestions for the co-operation program included proposals for joint work in social research in regional culture and population; in the activities of the Duke school of medicine and the social work division of the school of public administration of the University of North Carolina.

In visiting professorships, lectures, musical and dramatic events and art exhibitions jointly supported and available to both university communities; in joint publications by the two university presses, certain special institutes and conferences on international relations, on education, on public welfare and on land planning, and in investigations in North Carolina legal history in both universities and by the State Historical Commission.

Composing the committee working on the matter were W. C. Coker, R. B. Downs, M. T. Van Hecke, E. W. Knight, Howard W. Odum of the University, and Alice M. Baldwin, W. K. Boyd, Harvie Branscomb, Paul Gross, and Dr. Frederick M. Hanes of Duke.

Senior Executives

Members of the senior class executive committee will hold their first meeting of the spring quarter tonight at 7 o'clock in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A., it was announced yesterday by Jack Pool, president.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Smith Barrier, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Stuart Sechriest, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Howard Easter, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Raymond Howe, William Jordan, Morton Feldman.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: DON McKEE

Thursday, March 28, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

If the bus hearing were successful, it would go to the Greyhounds. As it is, it looks like it has gone to the dogs anyway.

We see where an editor advises us collegians to travel in Europe after graduation. We'll have to get a sympathetic father-in-law first.

Mr. Blumenfeld says that the United States could at most live on its own fat for a decade, if surrounded by a Chinese wall. Call out the CWA—Chinese Wall Administration.

Speakers at The Institute

Tuesday night the student-faculty committee in charge of the forthcoming Human Relations Institute met to pass judgment on the request of certain interested parties that an extreme radical be added to the institute program in order to offset one of the reactionaries already scheduled.

Seeing little validity in the claims that the program is overbalanced toward the right because of the presence of one J. Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York, the committee decided to push the program, already dripping with liberalism, through as it now stands. And in this respect the committee showed good judgment and considerable fortitude.

There are already three well-known leftists on the speaking program and, in the strict sense, only one person representing what might be termed the right wing. We are engaged in a capitalistic society and are endeavoring to cast a perceptive student's eye into human relations as existing under that system. Naturally, we want opinions from all sides and have provided it in the program, even to asking a diehard conservative like Fish to defend what used to be. But any charge that there is not enough leftist representation on the institute program is not particularly well founded. There may be more radical speakers than Soule, Thomas, et al, but not fairer and more comprehensive representatives of the abstract left side of the current capitalistic path.

For the baffled undergraduate, there is much more educational value in understanding the present liberal trend of our economic and political set-up than the irrational shout of a leftist who denies the existence of any good in this present administration of which the student is comparatively ignorant and which is the most liberal in the history of our nation.

Future Playmakers

Every year in April more than two hundred young actors, technicians, and directors come to Chapel Hill to participate in the annual festival and state tournament of the Carolina Dramatic Association. The caliber of the performances presented by these amateurs from throughout North Carolina has played an important part in making past festivals so successful.

This year thirty-two plays will be produced in the tournament, supplemented by speeches on stage topics by local and metropolitan authorities of note. The influx of young players for this festival tests Carolina for them, and the students' attitude in making them welcome may be a big factor in the University's popularity in the state.

Alumni Loyalty

The Alumni Loyalty Fund Council of the University has announced a contest in alumni loyalty to be conducted between now and commencement. The loyalty of alumni is to be measured in terms of some gift to the University, in terms of the percentage of alumni in a county or class who give something rather than in terms of the amount of the gifts. An oil painting of President Graham to the class with the largest percentage of contributing alumni and a set of University Press books to the public library of the town or county with the largest percentage of alumni who donate furnish the incentive and rewards in the contest.

This contest is particularly wise coming at this time of business revival and of interest in the finances of the University, stimulated by the General Assembly and President Graham. The Alumni Loyalty Fund Council is encouraging all gifts, small and large. The average University alumnus cannot afford to make a large gift, but he can usually afford to give some small amount to the University.

A fact that should be of interest and significance to alumni of this institution is that the University of Virginia is supported to a large extent by contributions of loyal graduates. In January the University of Virginia announced gifts and grants to the extent of $67,400.

In the face of inadequate support by the state donations of loyal alumni might offer a happy solution to the financial problems of the University. This contest will revive interest in the University and will, practically speaking, perhaps bring in much-needed revenue.

France Gets Back Her Boomerang

The Treaty of Versailles burst in the Allies' faces the other day when Hitler announced that Germany would go ahead and rearm—treaty or no treaty. Her new air force and navy are still in the offing, but the organization of a powerful army on the old Prussian line is already an accomplished fact.

The result was naturally to throw all Europe into a storm of rumor and intrigue—increased armament everywhere and talk of pressure and alliances. France and Italy wished to meet the crisis with vigor, but only with a certain amount of difficulty were they able to woo John Bull to their side. Britain has been assuming the role of peace-maker, and the conference between the British and German diplomats in Berlin yesterday has done much to ease a tense situation.

Whatever the outcome of the present mess—and it's far from over yet—the Allies, and France especially, have only themselves to thank. In the first place the Allies did some neat treaty-busting themselves when they disregarded the section of the Versailles treaty which declared the forced German disarmament to be only a step in the disarmament of Europe. And in the second, the terms of peace were so harsh and filled with French revenge that not even the most docile of peoples, let alone the Germans, could be expected to receive them with joy. It's France's fire, so let her put it out without dragging in other nations to be burned.

Duke Chronicle and The Coordination Report

The Chronicle joins in praise of the recently announced plan of a coördinated development of resources relating to graduate work by the University of North Carolina and Duke University.

In general, the plan clears the way for the two institutions better to utilize equipment and funds already possessed for this activity. The coördination will also facilitate the securing of funds from such organizations as the Rockefeller Foundation.

An easily understood example is the joint card catalog of the libraries. The books contained in the Duke library are listed on cards in the Chapel Hill library and vice versa.

When the purchasing committees of the two libraries consider the buying of new books they will confer with each other, and avoid the addition of duplicate copies unless duplicate copies are necessary in both libraries.

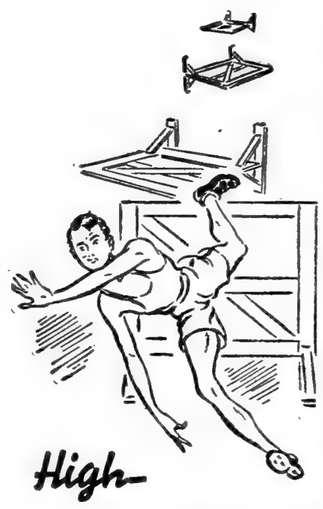
Wisely, the sponsors of the report have carefully attempted to refrain from giving people who do not understand the plan the opening to misinterpret the project.

Despite this care, some people who read no further than the headlines have gone off half-cocked, stretched their imagination, thrown up their hands in horror and cried "Duke and Carolina are going to merge" or "This means that the universities will become weaklings in some departments and giants in others."

These people threaten to spoil all possible advantages unless they wake up and realize that the plan is not all-inclusive in its scope but merely confined to the development of resources relating to graduate work.

The plan is excellent; the management is in capable hands. If the project is hindered it will be due to dull-witted individuals who hastily conclude that the plan seeks exaggerated achievements.—The Duke Chronicle.

Looking Backward



One and Five Years Ago Today in the Files of the Daily Tar Heel.

March 28, 1930

"Step On It" Brown, local Negro, is sentenced to a month on the roads for drunkenness. When his plea in recorder's court meets with silence, he shouts, "You all sounds like a bunch of tombstones'" . . . Carolina opens the baseball season by defeating Springfield, Mass., Y. M. C. A. College 18-7. Johnny Branch gets a double . . . The chief danger to the country lawyer is the menace of chain stores, Kenneth C. Royall, president of the N. C. Bar Association, tells the law school.

March 28, 1934

"Seven Suspended By Council On Cheating Charge," says a headline . . . Dr. Francis Preston Venable, president of the University from 1900 to 1914 and credited with the invention of the Bunsen burner, dies in Richmond during the spring holidays . . . Carolina's Norm Quarles defeats Bobby Goldstein of Virginia in an AAU three-round contest, also during the holidays.

High-hurdling

MAY NOT BE IN YOUR LINE—

but you can still use as much quick energy as you can get. Have a bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes for breakfast tomorrow. These crisp, crunchy flakes are full of energy, easy to digest. They'll set you up for the day.

Kellogg's are tasty, too, for that hungry feeling before bedtime. Served at restaurants and hotels everywhere. Sold by all grocers.

Kellogg's
CORN FLAKES

OVEN-FRESH FLAVOR-PERFECT

GREER NAMED TO ADVISE FRESHMAN HONOR COURT

The freshman honor council chose Lee Greer its adviser, in a meeting last night in Graham Memorial. The council straightened out in discussion several points of controversy; and, after its official installation in assembly this morning, it will be ready to begin active work.

DEBATING RESULTS

Incomplete returns from the 225 high schools entered in the extension division's annual debating contest for the Aycock Memorial Cup indicate that both the affirmative and negative teams of 63 of these schools won in the preliminary triangular debates and will be represented at Chapel Hill in the final contest April 11 and 12.

CAROLINA

TODAY

HIS SWORD CONQUERED A NATION . . . because he fell in love with the picture of a girl he had never seen!

CLIVE OF INDIA with Ronald COLMAN
LORETTA YOUNG

— Also —
Comedy — News

MIDNIGHT SHOW FRIDAY
Doors Open at 11:15 P. M.

Institute Personalities

(Continued from page one)

ber of the Federal Trade Commission to help administer the new statute. Soon again he was called upon to serve as a draftsman and this time he became a dominant member of the newly-formed Securities and Exchange Commission which was to enforce the newly-drafted stock exchange bill.

Several times a visiting professor at the summer session of the University law school, Landis' case book on labor law now forms the basis of the course in that subject here.

SPECIALS

at the

Young Men's Shop
126-128 E. Main St.
Durham, N. C.

•

Rabbit Hair SOCKS
3 Pair for $1.00

Regular 50c Pair

•

Skipper
SPORT SHIRTS
95c

All colors including navy and maroon

•

GABARDINE SLACKS
Grey, tan, brown
$5.95

•

The Young Men's Shop
126-128 East Main Street
DURHAM

Durham's Shopping Center for Carolina Men

Used Car Bargains

1928	Oldsmobile Coach	$ 50.00
1929	Willys Knight Sedan	60.00
1928	Chevrolet Touring	65.00
1928	Ford Roadster	65.00
1928	Ford Phaeton	75.00
1929	Whippet Sedan	85.00
1928	Chevrolet Sedan	125.00
1929	Ford Tudor	145.00
1929	Ford Sport Coupe	145.00
1931	Chevrolet Coach	285.00

EASY TERMS

Many Other Real Bargains

Strowd Motor Co.

"Ford Products Since 1914"

EXHIBITION

CLOTHES OF INDIVIDUAL EXCELLENCE, CORRECTLY ATTUNED TO THE IMMEDIATE SEASON.

FORTY DOLLARS AND MORE

EXHIBITION AT
Student Co-operative Cleaners
— TODAY ONLY —
ROBERT GRAY, Representative

Finchley
FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

CLOTHES INDIVIDUALLY TAILORED TO ORDER :: ALSO HABERDASHERY · HATS · SHOES

Carolina's Spring Season Opens Today As Golfers Take On State Linksmen

Will Play at 2:30 on Hope Valley Course

Capt. Fulenwider to Be Missed; Tar Heels Have Laxton, Harris, Coffin, Bridgers.

BEAT STATE LAST YEAR

Intercollegiate competition during the spring session will officially begin today at 2:30 o'clock when the Carolina golf team meets State's Red Terrors in a match on the Hope Valley course.

The prospects of starting off this quarter's athletic program with a win is rather bright as the team boasts two men who helped to defeat State last year by a score of 13-5.

Fulenwider Gone

The absence of Captain-elect Fulenwider will probably be felt, but veterans of last year's victory, Harris and Laxton, will try to repeat the win. Playing-manager Bridgers and Coffin will be the other starters who will attempt to make up a victorious quartet.

Erwin Laxton, last year's captain of the team, will probably play the number one position to begin the match, while Dick Harris, Will Coffin, and Henry Bridgers will follow in the number two, three, and four positions, respectively.

TRACKMEN BEGIN WORK OUTDOORS

Coaches Issue Call for Equipment or Work; Daily Bulletins Will Instruct Cindermen.

Yesterday afternoon's workouts officially raised the curtain on Carolina's 1935 outdoor track season, the session being devoted entirely to limbering up for new men and a bit more advanced work for those who had participated during the indoor season.

However, instead of propounding the "ifs" and "ands" of the coming season, the coaches were more in an uproar over the equipment situation. Practically all the freshmen and varsity equipment is out and being held by men who are not reporting, thus keeping others who earnestly wish to workout from having the proper equipment.

Coach Dale Ranson emphasized the fact that these men should either report today for practice or else return their equipment to Emerson field.

Freshmen who have been excused from gymnasium, but do not report immediately will be put back in the gym classes and their equipment taken from them.

The coaching staff announced that daily bulletins would be posted at Emerson and that all candidates should read them before checking in with the assistant manager on hand for the day.

Both Coaches Fetzer and Ranson stated their anxiety to have on the varsity and freshmen squads all students who are seriously interested in any of the field and track events embraced by inter-collegiate competition.

Frosh Baseball

Candidates for freshman baseball will report this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the lower field. All candidates are required to bring their own equipment.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

FRESHMAN NINE TO DRILL TODAY

First Practice Will Start at 4 O'clock; James and Wright Will Coach Outfit.

The initial freshman baseball practice will take place on the lower field at 4 o'clock this afternoon under the direction of Coach James, assisted by "Rookie" Wright. Due to the fact that a large turnout is expected the yearlings are requested to bring their own equipment for the first week of training.

The frosh diamond has been given a thorough going over and is in excellent shape. Coach Bunn Hearn requested that the first year candidates show up earlier than the specified time so that the practice may get under way at 4 sharp.

It is believed that over 50 players will try out for the team. Since the first contest with the Augusta Military Academy is but three weeks off, the yearlings will need to do some tall hustling to get into tip-top shape by that time.

James, who did a fine job of coaching the freshman football eleven, is expected to do equally as well with the apple knockers, while Wright, who coached last season, should lend valuable assistance.

NETTERS PREPARE TO OPEN SEASON AGAINST DEACONS

Tennis Outfit Will Begin Campaign Tomorrow at Wake Forest; Not in Top Condition.

TO PLAY DARTMOUTH NEXT

With the opening match but one day away, the varsity netmen will take a last workout today before meeting the Wake Forest team on the latter's courts.

There is no doubt that the team is not entirely ready and a pep meeting yesterday was called to inject some new life into the various players. The match that the team is actually priming for is the intersectional Dartmouth meet early next week.

Dartmouth a Threat

Dartmouth has a strong team and the Tar Heels will have a tough proposition on their hands. However, Wake Forest must be attended to first and today's practice will probably decide the starting lineup for Carolina.

Weather conditions and vacation time has seriously cut into the condition of the players and some intensive play is necessary. Full strength will be out and a strong team will probably be ready for the Indian invasion from New Hampshire.

The veteran trio of Levitan, Harris and Willis are back, alongside of Larry Jones and

(Continued on last page)

Nation's Top Table Tennis Stars Will Perform In Exhibition Here

Schiff, Berenbaum, Rubin, and Wells Will Be in Chapel Hill April 18; Schiff and Berenbaum Are Number One and Two Players, Respectively, in the U. S., While Others Rank High.

Schiff, Berenbaum, Rubin and Wells! These four names bring smiles of contentment to lovers of table tennis for they represent the criterion of perfection in that sport.

Chapel Hill will be the proud host to this quartet on Thursday evening, April 18, at the Tin Can. Following in the wake of the Tilden tennis tour, this novel exhibition promises to be a thrilling climax to the two greatest sport exhibitions ever staged at this University.

National Champ To Play

Sol Schiff, carrot topped youthful national champion, leads the table tennis experts into the Carolina camp. These four stars will compete among themselves and then in a grand finale engage a school team in a match carried out in Davis cup style.

Schiff has often been declared a phenomenon. Parallel with the recent surge of table tennis to new levels in the sport world, has been the sensational advance of this young New Yorker to a national title and other honors.

He rocketed to stardom just two years ago with the most powerful offensive attack ever seen in the United States. Hitting from both sides with incredible power he rode over all opposition.

The other three exhibitionists are but slightly eclipsed by the now famous Schiff. They all have held national rankings and have a varied assortment of games that will enable the spectators at the Tin Can to see the intricacies of table tennis from start to end.

Abe Berenbaum is ranked second nationally and holds a multitude of championships. He is noted as the best defensive player in the game and has amazed galleries with impossible returns time and time again. He has always been a bitter opponent for Schiff and more than once has bested him in the finals of important championships.

Rudy Rubin holds the sixth national ranking and a year ago was ranked third. His peculiar game has a great deal of topspin and this has carried him successfully to the top in many encounters. He is an exponent of the penholder grip, which is radically different from the tennis grip used by both Schiff and

(Continued on last page)

Diamond Managers

All freshmen who wish to try out for baseball managerships are to report at Emerson field this afternoon during baseball practice.

ROOKIES DEFEAT FIRST STRINGERS IN PRACTICE TILT

Regulars Lose Contest, 9-5; Ike Jeanes and Pop Yeager Perform on Mound.

SOPHOMORES FEATURE

Coach Bunn Hearn's regulars and rookies hooked up in a free-for-all on the diamond at Emerson field yesterday, the rookies coming out on the winning end of a 9-5 score.

Each team used two pitchers during the game. "Ike" Jeanes, lanky righthander, started on the slab for the first team. He was opposed by Bunn Hearn, Jr., sophomore son of Coach Hearn. Jeanes was replaced by "Pop" Yeager, while Henry Wright shared mound duties with Hearn.

The scrubs pounded Jeanes and Yeager for a total of 15 hits. The first stringers connected with several extra base drives; however, Hearn and Wright limited them to eight bingles.

Coach Hearn is still faced with the problem of finding a player capable of handling the hot corner around third base. Dutch Leonard, third baseman on last season's team, was lost by graduation and Trip Rand, who shared the position with Leonard, has been shifted to second this year. Jones, Bullard, and Schriver were all given trials at third in yesterday's

(Continued on last page)

Dr. Morrissey Teaches Ethics Course Here

Free, Non-Credit Class to Be Conducted Every Wednesday.

A course in moral and social ethics, under the guidance of Dr. F. J. Morrissey, was started here yesterday. The class is a free, non-credit course and will meet at 12 o'clock every Wednesday in 101 Murphey.

Dr. Morrissey stated that the course, which is open to every student, is purely for the benefit of the student. His desire is to help students develop moral and social qualities necessary in any business or profession.

Starting his career as a public school teacher, Dr. Morrissey has been engaged for 13 years in training young men to meet the "difficulties of life." He points out that the student should not only acquire "book learning," but should strive to be the "gentleman and the scholar."

CATALOG EXHIBIT

An exhibit of catalog and other literature of the three institutions which compose the University of North Carolina will be on display today at the annual meeting in Winston-Salem of the North Carolina Education Association.

Miss Glenn McLeod, secretary of the summer session, and Mrs. V. M. Hill, secretary in the education department, will be in charge of the exhibit.

Among the University faculty members who will go to Winston-Salem for the meeting are: Drs. N. W. Walker, George Howard, E. W. Knight, and George R. Coffman, Dean F. F. Bradshaw, Mrs. M. H. Stacy, and R. M. Grumman.

GEOLOGISTS WORK IN LAKE REGIONS

Drs. W. F. Prouty and G. R. MacCarthy and H. W. Straley of the University geology department were busily engaged during the past holidays in a field trip to the Florence area in South Carolina and the White Lake section of this state.

Their findings conclude that a number of North and South Carolina lakes are merely holes in the ground formed by huge meteors which struck the earth in geologically recent times.

Table Tennis

(Continued from page three)

Berenbaum.

The last of the four is Chet Wells, who is now considered a landmark in the history of the sport. Likewise a penholder he was for many years the second best player in the country, but is now contented to occasional play, in which he usually topples an optimistic up and coming star.

Band Rehearsal

There will be a rehearsal of the University Band tonight at 7 o'clock in the Hill Music hall, announced Earl Slocum, director of the band, yesterday.

Passbooks

Students who have not already secured their spring quarter athletic passbooks may call at the cashier's office in South building today for them.

Graham Speaks Today

President Graham will speak at freshman assembly today at 10:30 a. m. Members of the Freshman Honor Council will also be installed at the meeting.

Work for Seniors

Insurance Company Representative to Give Interviews.

A personal representative of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company of Boston will be in Chapel Hill April 19 to interview seniors interested in employment in the claims department of the company.

Dean Francis Bradshaw has further information about this appointment, and students interested should register in the Bureau of Vocational Education at his office.

Dean Bradshaw announced yesterday that during the spring quarter representatives of a number of other business firms will come to the University to interview the seniors. Students who desire to be put on the list for interviews by these representatives should also register in his office.

Infirmary List

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Wilburn Davis, Robert Vansleen, Nancy Lawlor, A. H. King; and Matt Query.

LOST

Hamilton Watch with metal band pieced with leather. Reward. W. V. Binder, K. A. House.

Shop at Berman's

We Can Supply Your Needs, Anything from 5c Up—Try Us.

BERMAN'S Dept. Store

Varsity Tennis

(Continued from page three)

Ike Minor. The sophomore talent is composed of Eddy De Gray, Frank Shores, Archie Henderson, Sid Weinstein and others. From this array, it will not be difficult to select a team with enough power to beat Wake Forest.

Revenge Is Sweet

The team this year is anxious to bring back the glory that was Carolina's. The defeat last year by Princeton snapped a streak of 74 straight dual wins, and now the varsity is hoping to get another good start toward another long run.

Princeton is the one team that the Tar Heels hope to blast from the courts, but many a pitfall must be avoided before the varsity ever gets in position to play Princeton.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

Baseball

(Continued from page three)

contest.

Volivia and Starke, sophomore, and Groome and Strayhorn, reserves, have displayed much improvement over last year's play. This quartet will probably give some of the veterans a stiff fight for positions on the team.

Nazis Protest Executions

Berlin, March 27.—(UP)—Immediate intervention by the powers to prevent Lithuanians from executing four Memal Nazis charged with high treason was demanded tonight by hundreds of thousands of irate Germans in a series of public mass demonstrations throughout the nation.

COTTON SUEDE DRESSES AND COATS
Splendid for Sports, Mountain, and Beach Wear
at
Carolina Inn
Made to Measure ROOM 108 Washable

WANTED
Good boys interested in representing first class dining room—10 per cent commission.
—Call—
BUCCANEER CLUB
PHONE 5631

Imported British Gabardines
Guaranteed All Wool
$29.50
Showing Today
The New Spring Line of Stetson 'D' Tailored Clothes
RED FOISTER AND BUDDY ROBINSON IN ATTENDANCE
Always Something New The Vogue Shop Vogue Suits Me
Chapel Hill's Newest Shop For Men

"Remember how I brought you two together"

I'm your best friend

I am your Lucky Strike

I am a friend indeed. A better friend than others, because I am made only of mild, fragrant, expensive center leaves. I don't permit a single sharp top leaf nor a single coarse bottom leaf to mar my good taste or my uniform mildness. I do not irritate your throat. I am a soothing companion, the best of friends.

LUCKIES USE ONLY THE CENTER LEAVES . . . CENTER LEAVES GIVE YOU THE MILDEST SMOKE

They Taste Better

Copyright 1935, The American Tobacco Company.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYS
3 P.M.
PLAYMAKERS THEATRE

The Daily Tar Heel

ADULT PLAYS
7:30 P.M.
PLAYMAKERS THEATRE

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, MARCH 29, 1935 | NUMBER 130

NOTED SPEAKERS WILL BE GUESTS AT DINNERS HERE

Campus Organizations Plan Banquets for Thomas and Duggan; Tickets Available.

LEAGUE'S AFFAIR MONDAY

Banquets for two of the outstanding personalities who will be among the speakers at the Human Relations Institute were announced yesterday.

The affairs will be open to the undergraduates, faculty members and townspeople, and admission will be by ticket.

The Foreign Policy League will sponsor a banquet Monday evening at 6 o'clock for Stephen P. Duggan, director of the Institute for International Education. Duggan is appearing through the efforts of the league and the personal efforts of Dr. Frank Graham.

Tickets on Sale

Tickets for the Duggan banquet may be secured from Agnew Bahnson, J. F. Fletcher, Jake Snyder, or Bob Magill. They will cost 50 cents.

The Carolina Political Union will tender an open banquet for Norman Thomas, famous Socialist, next Friday evening at 6 o'clock. Both banquets will be held in Graham Memorial.

The banquet for Thomas will cost 60 cents a plate. The number of tickets is limited, as for the Foreign Policy League's affair. Tickets may be obtained from Robert Smithwick, Phil Hammer, Morty Slavin, and other members of the Union.

Smithwick, in charge of the affair, may be reached at Everett dormitory.

Tickets for both banquets may also be secured through reservation at the office in the Y. M. C. A.

FESTIVAL OFFERS TALKS AND PLAYS

Koch's Lecture, Senior College And High School Contests To Feature Sessions.

At the joint meeting of the North Carolina Dramatic Association and the Dramatic Arts Section of the North Carolina Education Association this morning, Association President W. K. Morgan will preside.

The session which opens at 10 a. m., will hear Professor Frederick H. Koch of the Carolina Playmakers on "Broadway and Folk Drama." At 10:45 a. m. two different performances will be given as a "Demonstration in Diction."

"The Contribution of the Little Theatre in Training High School Students" will be discussed by six state dramatic leaders at 11:15 o'clock. Following the discussion, the election of officers for the Dramatic Arts Section will be conducted.

College Originals

After the luncheon in Graham Memorial, the afternoon session will begin at 2 o'clock with the final contest in the production of the senior colleges. Two plays are entered.

At 3 p. m. the final contest in play production of the city high schools, with four plays entered, will be conducted. The final contest in play production of adult community groups, with two plays entered, follows at 7:30 p. m. to begin the evening

(Continued on page two)

Relations Institute Personalities

Norman (Mattoon) Thomas

Twice candidate for the president of the United States, author-editor, and outstanding leader of the Socialist forces in this country, Norman Thomas of New York City will address the Human Relations Institute in Gerrard hall, Saturday, April 6, on "Industrial Relations."

Born in Marion, Ohio, 1884, Thomas received his A.B. degree from Princeton; B.D. from Union Theological Seminary, Litt.D. from Princeton, and in 1911 he was ordained a Presbyterian minister.

Founder-editor of the World Tomorrow, associate editor The Nation, and author of numerous books and pamphlets, Thomas has lead an outstanding journalistic career.

Director of the League for Industrial Democracy, Thomas ran on the Socialist ticket for governor of New York, twice for mayor of New York City and in 1928 and 1932 for president of the United States.

Hamilton Fish, Jr.

Another presidential candidate, Hamilton Fish, Jr., of Garrison, New York, will appear on the Human Relations Institute program next week to discuss

(Continued on page two)

UNIVERSITY CLUB BEGINS SELECTION OF NEW MEMBERS

Club Sanctions Co-ed Membership; Plans Final Business.

The University Club last night went through the first procedures in voting in new members. The list of candidates will not be announced and the new membership will be made public only after the initiation ceremonies three weeks from last night.

Co-ed membership was selected last night, this being the first time women students have been eligible to join.

Other business was transacted by the club, including a discussion of spring quarter plans, distribution of the organization's new keys, and reports on the various smokers presented throughout the state during the spring holidays.

The outgoing club has several projects to complete before going out of membership. In addition to helping the new club get started, the old club will entertain several visiting teams and will aid in the entertainment of the visiting Boy Scouts here soon.

A special committee was appointed by President Frank Willingham to arrange a stag banquet this spring for the outgoing club and members of the 1934 organization.

Simonson Describes Tricks Used By Medieval Stage Technicians

Early Dramas Had Elaborate Properties Says Director of N. Y. Theatre Guild.

"One of the cleverest tricks of the old stage technicians," said Lee Simonson, a director of the New York Theatre Guild who lectured here Wednesday at the Drama Festival, "was that used to create a representation of the Deluge. It was done by an elaborate system of pipes arranged to carry rainwater from neighboring roofs to the top of the stage. At the right moment the tap was turned and the stage and actors were seemingly drenched by rain."

According to Simonson the medieval stage was far from being crudely equipped with properties. As early as the 12th century plays were made effective through the use of most of the mechanical devices known to the stage managers of the modern theatre.

At this time, when the church controlled drama, performances were elaborate with vivid representations of natural background. For instance, in one play real fish were netted from a stream piped upon the stage. On the banks of this stream living flowers were planted to complete the illusion.

Devices More Complicated

Stage devices became more complicated as drama developed. It became a common occurrence for plays to last three or four days with 300 persons in the casts. Heaven and hell was realistically portrayed; heaven by beautiful flowers, sweet music, and angels, sometimes suspended by wires to simulate flying; and hell by sulphurous flames and horrible imps so real that the peasant audiences were genuinely frightened.

Simonson, a genial, soft-voiced New Yorker, told how he came to be an authority on medieval stage settings. In Paris after the war he searched old libraries, museums and book-

(Continued on page three)

Finjan Nominee

Nelson Lansdale, polling ten votes against six for Julian Bobbitt, received the staff nomination for editorship of the Finjan in a meeting last night.

The next issue of the Finjan, the final one of the momentous Gaskins regime, will be a farewell number; and, according to the editor, will contain many parting cracks at the DAILY TAR HEEL.

We don't like Gaskins, either.

Metzenthin to Conduct Teachers' Meeting

Three Carolina Men Will Appear At Winston-Salem Today.

Dr. E. C. Metzenthin of the University German department will preside over the convention of the Association of German Teachers which is being conducted in Winston-Salem this afternoon as a part of the annual convention of the North Carolina Education Association.

The German teachers will hear papers by F. E. Coenen of the University at Chapel Hill, Professor L. E. Hinkle of the University at Raleigh, Miss Mary Helen Dodd of St. Mary's College, and Carl Hammer of the University here.

Dr. Metzenthin himself will lead the discussion concerning the selection of "readers" for German classes.

L. I. D. MEETING

For the purpose of organizing a local League for Industrial Democracy, a special meeting will be held tonight in 209 Graham Memorial at 7:30 o'clock.

Samuel Freidman of the Theatre Union, New York City, will present a puppet demonstration dealing with social problems during tonight's meeting. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Loyal Representatives Rally To Defend University's Funds

Fees Due

Bills for tuition and other fees are payable throughout a period ending April 3. Failure to pay or make arrangements for payment during this time will result in a $5 fee for delay.

According to the payment schedule adopted for convenience by the business office, students with names beginning with the letters A through J should have paid their bills during the period of March 26-28. The rest of the schedule follows:

March 29—K through M.
March 30—N through P
April 1—Q through S.
April 2—T through V.
April 3—W through Z.

Representative Ervin's Attack on Appropriation Is Routed By Five Colleagues.

Supporters of the University weathered one more storm Wednesday in their fight for increased University appropriations as in the house an attack on the University section of the appropriations bill was repulsed.

Representative Ervin of Mecklenburg, picturing the proposed funds for the institution as "disproportionate" and quoting figures derived from his own misunderstanding of the bill, urged an amendment cutting the appropriation for the next two years from $1,173,824 and $1,255,388 to $1,093,000 each year.

Hacker Hawked

Immediately an exciting scene was created as Representatives Page, Jonas, Harris, Jones, and Abernethy rose in a defense so strong that Ervin was forced to retreat in discomfort and withdraw his amendment.

Page, although he is not a college graduate, defended the appropriation because of the high praises he had so frequently heard spoken of the University.

Jones, Harris, and Jonas all challenged Ervin's figures; and Harris later convinced him of his mistake on this point.

Defenders Graduates

Jonas is a University graduate and "proud of it;" Harris is a Duke alumnus and ex-speaker of the House; and Abernethy, who joined in the defense of the University, was graduated from Wake Forest.

Lincoln County's Representative Jonas was not content with refuting Ervin's erroneous figures. Indignant at the attack on the University, he spoke at length in her defense, reminding his colleagues of the high rank their leading institution of higher education holds among other universities throughout the country and of its very low ranking in state aid and salary schedule in comparison to other state universities.

His figures, obviously drawn from an issue either of the Alumni Loyalty Fund's University Facts or the Alumni Association's Alumni Review, reflected the valuable work which is being done by these organizations in support of the University.

MICHIGAN ARTISTS TO GIVE CONCERT

Thor Johnson Conducts U. of Michigan Orchestra Which Will Play Here April 8.

The University of Michigan Little Symphony, with Thor Johnson conducting, will appear here April 8 in the first Student Entertainment Committee presentation of the spring quarter.

The orchestra, composed for the most part of instructors on the faculty of Michigan's school of music, is making its first southern tour, appearing in North Carolina and nearby states. Johnson, a Carolina graduate now holding an instructorship in the Michigan music department, will be remembered for his work during the last four years with the Carolina Salon Ensemble.

Popular at Michigan

During the current concert season, the Little Symphony has presented a series of 20 weekly concerts which have been enthusiastically received by several thousand students on the Michigan campus.

Two brilliant soloists, Miss Ruth Pfohl and Romine Hamilton, will be featured in the concert here. Miss Pfohl, head of the harp department of the school of music, has chosen Maurice Ravel's master composition for harp and orchestra, "Introduction et Allegro," as her solo offering in this performance.

Hamilton, violinist and instructor in stringed instruments, is programmed for the brilliant "Concerto in D major" of Mozart.

SO THERE!

Winthrop Durfee, nominated in the Time-Finjan as the fourth biggest campus bore, has modestly announced that he credits his election to his custom of repeating Finjan jokes when in the presence of assembled company.

With the Sick

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Wilburn Davis, Robert Van Sleen, I. L. James, Nancy Lawlor, A. H. King, Kemp Nye, Glenn Best, and Matt Query.

Hear Ye!

"No more crepe and veil, I beg of thee," quoth Albert Ellis.

"I a senior be," said he, "and not the Ellis, see—who failed to make a D and busted this here Universitee."

MINERS WRANGLE WITH NRA HEADS

Richberg Sees Hope of Settlement; Deadline, 72 Hours.

Washington, March 28.—(UP)—The most serious feud between capital and labor under the New Deal hurtled toward a crisis tonight as the administration struggled to prevent 350,000 bituminous coal miners from striking. The deadline set by the disgruntled miners is "within 72 hours."

Operators and mine workers conferred two hours with Donald Richberg, head of the NRA governing board and other officials late today without reaching an agreement. Another parley is scheduled for tomorrow.

Richberg announced tonight that prospects for an agreement are "not encouraging," but said he believed there is some hope of preventing a strike when the workers' contracts expire April first.

FRESHMAN CLASS HOLDS INDUCTION OF HONOR COURT

Administration, Student Council And Upper Classes Join in Congratulation, Felicitation.

CLASS'S ACTION PRAISED

Members of the freshman class assembled in Memorial hall yesterday to witness the formal installation of their recently formed Honor Council.

Deans F. F. Bradshaw and R. B. House, Frank Abernethy, newly elected president of the student body, Lee Greer, adviser of the freshman court, Clyde "Pete" Mullis, president of the freshman class, and the members of the Honor Council participated in the ceremony.

Congratulation

"I congratulate the class on this pioneering in responsibility," said Dean Bradshaw as he commended the class prior to turning the meeting over to Mullis.

Mullis then presented Abernethy who, speaking from the viewpoint of both student councilman and an upperclassman, stated that he regarded the action of the freshmen as "a determined effort to put a stop to cheating in the freshman class."

"When a class," continued Abernethy, "takes it upon itself to support the honor system, the graduating seniors can rest assured that it will be upheld."

"Good Luck"

Substituting for President Graham, who was detained in Raleigh, Dean House praised the class for its action and, on behalf of the faculty and administration, wished them "good luck and Godspeed."

The 11 men who compose the Freshman Honor Council were introduced by Mullis as follows: Bill Hudson, Jimmy Coan, Joe Patterson, and Bill Davis, from the school of liberal arts; Bill Holland, "Red" Meroney, and Warren Haddaway, the commerce school.

Randall Berg and John Sloop represent the engineers; Henry Dillon, the applied science fresh-

(Continued on page two)

BRITON REPORTS HITLER DEMANDS

Foreign Secretary Simon Tells House of Commons of Berlin Conversation.

London, March 28.—(UP)—Reichfuehrer Adolph Hitler is determined to stick by his guns in his fight for rearmament and will demand further concessions before returning to the League of Nations, Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon revealed in the House of Commons today.

In his report on the Berlin conversation with Hitler, Simon admitted that sharp differences of opinion had developed.

Ostensibly Hopeful

The entire report was ostensibly optimistic, but carried a note of failure which became obvious to his listeners.

Simon said that the three major conditions Hitler demands for the return of Germany to the League are:

(1) Restoration to Germany of at least one of her colonies; (2) formal abolition by the Allies of the military restriction clauses in the Versailles treaty; (3) complete separation of the League covenant from the Versailles pact.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, William Jordan, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: JIM DANIEL

Friday, March 29, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

Carolina and Duke graduate students will be brought closer together by the co-ordination plan. First step—a marble tournament.

Definition of an ethics course: an attempt to make a scholar a gentleman. Definition of a marriage course: an attempt to make a scholar.

Some say the craters in eastern North Carolina were caused by the fall of a large body in recent time. Couldn't have been when the wets slipped in 1932?

Choosing a Curriculum

The fears of freshmen and sophomores of becoming entangled in the switching from the present curriculum to the new liberal plan which will go into effect next fall have no foundation.

Members of both the freshman and sophomore classes have the freedom to choose between which curriculum they will follow during the rest of their four year tenure at Chapel Hill. The new curriculum will be definitely required of all new students beginning with next year's fall quarter.

A far-sighted freshman or sophomore will do well to make arrangements before this quarter ends for his choice of subjects in the future.

Scientific Intelligence

According to estimates made public at the recent opening of an exhibition in Berlin showing the wonders of life, nearly 200,000 Germans have been sterilized through operations decreed by Nazi authorities. The figure is so large that Mr. Meyer, local sociologist and firm believer in this sort of thing, was staggered by it.

In their intensive efforts to produce a better and purer race, the Germans have had the hardihood to resort to measures which, although apparently approved by the more progressive-minded Americans, have been practiced to any extent worthy of mention by only one state in the union. For some time the state of California has been making use of sterilization with results which seem to remove the operation from the field of experimentation despite the arguments to the contrary by conscientious objectors and by those who base their conclusions upon the results of exceptions to the rule.

North Carolina has had for some time a law permitting the sterilization, under certain conditions, of undesirable citizens. Of late, this state has made use of the law to good effect, but the number of operations performed under it is negligible when compared to the more extensive efforts of California.

Germany claims to have cut her yearly crop of feeble-mindeds in half by sterilization. Few of us can sincerely condemn this practice despite the wide spread belief that such methods are iniquitous tamperings with the will of God.

The Nazi regime is coming in for more than its share of criticism these days, but its stand on the purification of race by sterilization is commendable. Perhaps, if the results continue to be as good as those secured to date, a more cautious America eventually will see fit to follow suit.

Evaluating A Phenomenon

Believe it or not, there are rumblings on the campus in the tenor of antagonism against the proposal and tentative plan of the Carolina Political Union to bring Huey Long to Chapel Hill.

Huey undoubtedly is not an admirable figure as far as suave legislators and executives go. But on the other hand he is a powerful and dangerous political phenomenon whose influence is amazingly widespread. The opposition against his speaking at Chapel Hill is along the same hackneyed lines of all campus reactionary opposition—averring that the University would suffer by allowing such a monstrous radical as Long to speak here and by letting the gullible undergraduates listen to such a line of preposterous hot air.

Maybe Mr. Long is hot air and maybe he is preposterous, but the fact still remains that he is not a figure to be trifled with, politically speaking. If he continues to exert the influence, however crude, which he now exerts, he will become a powerful personality in our political society and it is the duty of our undergraduates as future citizens to know what Huey is driving at in order to evaluate him and his program.

Leaders of the political union plan to have our monstrosities on the campus and if it is a crime, the opposition had better get their criminal apprehending agencies in shape for a real crusade. The thinking student of today wants to see and hear the men that make news and are not content to peruse the newspaper accounts only. It is, after all, the most satisfactory means of acquiring any insight into the tenets and ideas of the main figures in this age of critical theorizing.

Tin Can Plague

The disfiguration of the beauties of the woods around Chapel Hill by the dumping of rubbish is called to our attention in the recent issue of Louis Graves' Chapel Hill Weekly. The practice of dumping trash, rubbish, and garbage promiscuously in the woods surrounding Chapel Hill, according to the article, is rapidly increasing and is despoiling the natural beauty.

This evil is particularly obnoxious in the spring when the woods of Chapel Hill are unsurpassed for their beauty. At this time of the year more people take an interest in nature and take walks to admire the picturesque Chapel Hill countryside. To these people as to all of us it is disgusting to find some pretty blossoms surrounded by a pile of trash.

The town of Chapel Hill, although financially unable to buy an incinerator, provides an isolated and ample dumping ground where rubbish is carried and burned by employees of the town. With such provisions it is unnecessary for trash to be dumped on the surrounding property.

Moss on Our Nature

"We, as a nation, know less about our natural history than do the citizens of any other civilized country," declares Dr. Coker. "In England, the discoverer of a new genus of moss would be made famous instantly; in America, one might make a dozen such valuable discoveries and yet be known hardly outside the community in which he lived."

That our populace is lacking in its share of aesthetic or practical appreciation of nature's handicraft was illustrated during the World War. Meritorious was the action of our soldiers in winning the war, but less admirable was the fact that they persisted in cutting down every tree in sight while abroad. It has taken many years and much effort to replace these plants which served in checking floods and erosions as well as providing shade for a crowded nation.

Professor Phillips Russell had the right idea when he conducted several of his creative-writing classes out-of-doors and, without any attempt toward pedantry, gave his students a simple but effective lesson in the appreciation of natural objects.

America is rapidly reaching the point where a preservation of her plants will be requisite for the welfare of the nation.

Top Hat Murder

War is often the brainchild of one of the most undercurrently powerful of world industries, the munitions manufacturers. Several weeks ago, meeting as the International Railmakers Association, 107 suave munitions diplomats gathered on the Riviera and after a three day session adjourned claiming to have renewed the International Railmakers' Agreement. Soon afterwards Hitler threatened world peace with his rearmament campaign.

The reading between the lines obviously points out, as Senator Nye of munitions investigation fame says, "The munitions manufacturers have at last talked Germany into scrapping the treaty of Versailles so they can sell their wares!" When and if hell breaks loose in Europe, not economic depression, not Hitler, not Stalin, not Mussolini, but the man behind the scenes, the munitions maker, deserves the credit.

CARO-GRAPHICS --- by Murray Jones & Nash Johnston

Looking Backward

One and Five Years Ago Today in the Files of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

March 29, 1930

An editor of the Curtis Publishing Co., visits Wilbur Daniel Steele, noted short-storyist, here. "They commune through the day and far into the night upon literature and philosophy, sometimes calling in O. J. Coffin and Paul Green to pass upon disputed points" . . . The Di and Phi are considering the query, Resolved, that the United States should recognize the present government of Russia. . . . An editorial lauds James K. Polk as "native son" and University alumnus.

March 29, 1934

George Rhoades' car broke down on a spring vacation trip to Florida. He returns with an eight-cylinder motor that once belonged to Sir Malcolm Campbell . . . In the March issue of "Social Forces," Dr. Ernest Groves deprecates sex technique as a panacea for marriage difficulties . . . William H. Wang writes an editorial against walking on the grass. "Spring is Here," he says.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

12:45: Allan Leafer orch., WABC, WBIG.
1:00: George Hall orch., WABC, WBIG.
2:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.
3:15: Minneapolis Sym. orch., WABC, WBT, WHAS.
6:00: Jack Berger orch., WPTF.
7:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.
8:15: Edwin C. Hill, news, WABC, WBT, WHAS.
8:30: Al Goodman orch., WJZ, KDKA.
10:15: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.
11:00: Hal Kemp orch., WJZ.
11:15: Ozzie Nelson orch., WBT.
11:30: Wayne King orch., WGN.
12:00: Jan Garber orch., WGN.
12:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

Honor Court

(Continued from page one)

men; Jimmy Creech, the pharmacy students.

The council is now ready to begin its active work towards the support of the honor system.

"I challenge you to get into the swing of things," concluded Mullis, addressing the freshmen; "to take an active part in the school and class programs. As a result, you will like the class better, and the class will like you."

Institute Personalities

(Continued from page one)

"Government and Industrial Relations."

Congressman from New York Fish recently announced that he intended to seek Republican nomination next year.

Once all-American football star, Fish was graduated from Harvard in the class of 1910, cum laude. After studying law there he became vice-president of John C. Page and Co., general insurance.

At the age of 26, Fish was elected to the legislative assembly of New York state. In 1919 he began his congressional career.

During the war and since, the New Yorker has played a significant role in American military affairs.

Chester Wright

Economist, writer, Massachusettian, Professor Chester Wright, public relations counsel for United Textile Workers, is scheduled to make the afternoon address, Wednesday of next week, on the Human Relations Institute program.

Speaking on the subject "King Cotton Beware," Wright will join other national textile men in discussing the textile problem, one of the major questions of the Institute.

Associate editor of Journal Political Economy, Wright has taught economics at Cornell University and at the University of Chicago. In 1918 he was made professor of economics at the Chicago school.

Author of several books on economics, the Chicagoan lists club memberships in the University and Quadrangle Clubs of Chicago.

LOST

Hamilton Watch with metal band pieced with leather. Reward. W. V. Binder, K. A. House.

Drama Festival

(Continued from page one)

program.

The last part of today's program will be the final contest in play production of the junior colleges with four different colleges entered.

Tomorrow, the festival will end after various other contests, meetings, lectures have been conducted and the presentation of awards made. Herbert Kline, editor of the New Theatre, Playmakers Son Paul Green, and Summer School Head Edgar W. Knight are included among the speakers.

LOST

On March 16 a mother of pearl cigarette lighter with initials "O.S.S." in one corner and Interfraternity Council key with name engraved on back. Reward offered. Please call 4411 with any information.

THE MOST POPULAR MAN IN SCHOOL

He is usually a fellow with a sunny disposition that makes friends. His energy and his enthusiasm spring from an abounding vitality.

Popular undergraduates know how personality is influenced by physical condition. They take care to guard against constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. This may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a natural laxative cereal, furnishes gentle "bulk" to promote regular habits. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Two tablespoonfuls daily, served with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. Ask that ALL-BRAN be served at your fraternity house, eating-club or campus restaurant.

The most popular ready-to-eat cereals served in the dining-rooms of American colleges, eating-clubs and fraternities are made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. They include Kellogg's Corn Flakes, PEP, Rice Krispies, Wheat Krumbles, and Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit. Also Kaffee Hag Coffee—real coffee—97% caffeine free.

Carolina Golfers Open Season With 15-3 Win Over N. C. State Team

Laxton Leads Play; Coffin Gets Shutout

Laxton, Harris, Coffin, and Bridgers Win Decisively At Hope Valley.

MEET DEACS TOMORROW

A decisive victory by the golf team over State yesterday commenced the spring quarter's athletic program. The varsity quartet consisting of Laxton, Harris, Coffin, and Bridgers severely drubbed State's visiting team on the Hope Valley course by a score of 15-3.

Laxton Leads Field

Erwin Laxton, playing the number one position, started the match off with a 2½ to ½ lead by virtue of his win over Newnam. Dick Harris followed up with an identical score over Bartlien, bringing the count to 5-1 for Carolina.

In the number three match, Wilson Coffin shut out Dusty of the Red Terrors by a score of 3-0. The final singles match saw Playing-Manager Henry Bridgers follow suit by taking a 2-1 victory over Pastorie.

Both of the doubles matches were won by scores of 2½-½ for the two Carolina pairs of doubles. Laxton and Harris teamed in the first and brought in a win over Newnam and Bartlein. Coffin and Bridgers paired against Dusty and Pastorie and accounted for the final score of the afternoon.

Laxton, with 75, was low man for Carolina, while his opponent, Newnam, was low for State with a 76.

The Tar Heel golfers will meet Wake Forest on the Hope Valley course Saturday.

This year marks the beginning of golf as an official sport at the Baptist institution.

Co-eds Planning Extensive Slate For This Quarter

The co-ed athletic program for the spring quarter will include tennis, archery, hockey, bowling, volley ball, and swimming.

Activities will begin next Monday. The schedule for the quarter follows: Monday and Wednesday, volley ball at 3 o'clock; archery at 3:30 o'clock, and hockey at 4 o'clock in Kenan stadium.

One night each week will be set aside for bowling. The dates will be announced next week in the DAILY TAR HEEL.

All co-eds who wish to play tennis are asked to meet with the Co-ed Tennis Club on Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the Woman's Association room at Graham Memorial.

Classes in life-saving will also be conducted.

Stage Tricks

(Continued from page one)

stores for information about early drama.

"I was amazed," he said, "to find that many of the early manuscripts that I found were filled with stage directions that indicated complicated properties. Further research confirmed this fact."

Simonson compiled the results of this study in his book "The Stage Is Set." Besides being a writer, he is actively engaged in stage designing. His best known design was for "The Road to Rome."

"In addition to my other work I enjoy lecturing," concluded Simonson. "Everything I say is in my book but that doesn't matter for few have read it."

Tilden, Young At 42, Will Put On Show Here Next Week

When the huge canvas tennis court, which has accompanied the touring Tilden stars across the extent of the United States, is flattened out upon the Carolina tennis grounds at 3 o'clock Thursday, April 4, the greatest tennis exhibition ever held in Chapel Hill will be underway.

It will be a circus with the four greatest exhibitionists in the game on hand to stir the spectators. The clowning Tilden, toddling about on his last legs with enough speed to run any energetic amateur to the ground, will lead the troupe.

Just "Big Bill"

Tilden, known as "Big Bill," is a grand figure in the world of sports. At the age of 42, hair streaked with gray, Bill is yet with his well loved racquet game, touring the world, playing every night, catching trains, storming at officials, smiling for the photographers, and shaking a finger at the younger generation as he keeps his place as one of the world's greatest tennis players.

His amateur days are gone—days of glory, festivals, and fun. He continues at tennis as a professional, living on the fruits of his labors and still getting a kick out of his work.

Titles and championships flocked to him and cups, medals, and awards were showered upon the super-human tennis player. From 1920, when he won his first United States championships, until 11 years later Tilden was invincible. He was king of America! During this period he held 8 national championships in singles, 5 in doubles, and was 3 times winner of the famous Wimbeldon championship in Europe.

Failed to Make Team

Tilden once failed to gain a notch upon the University of Pennsylvania tennis team; however, immediately after finishing school, Big Bill made tennis his hobby, and well on in his twenties he flashed into prominence with his remarkable game.

He is a veteran in Davis Cup matches, having played in a countless number. His astounding record of 35 wins against 7 losses is remarkable when one considers the competition he had to face in such play.

Tilden is a master showman. The crowd loves him and with the aid of jolly George Lott, who is the world's greatest doubles player, Hans Nusslein, and Elly Vines, the four has no other alternative than to be a success.

Rates Vines at Top

Big Bill has often visited Carolina but never with such an array of talent. There is no living player who can supersede Tilden in an exhibition. Tilden once put Rene Lacoste at the top of all time tennis players. He then changed to Henry Cochet when that Frenchman became unbeatable but recently he reconsidered the question again and said that Vines was the greatest that ever held a racquet.

However, there are many who disagree with Tilden's selection, and advocate the very name of "Big Bill" Tilden for inscription at the top of the scroll of tennis players.

HARD RAIN HALTS PLAY OF VARSITY BASEBALL SQUAD

Coach Hearn Has Rounded Out Team, Except for Position At Third Base.

TO MEET DAVIDSON FIRST

Coach Bunn Hearn was forced to call his baseball practice off midway during the session yesterday as a result of rain. The players were just finishing the batting and fielding drills in preparation for a practice contest when the hard rain started.

The Tar Heel nine is still far from top condition and needs plenty of work before starting the defense of its Big Five title in the opening game with Davidson, April 5.

Coach Hearn seems to have his first string pretty well settled at present except for the third base job. That is, if the improved hitting of the rookies does not result in some shifts.

Nearly every reserve and sophomore looking for a place on the team has tried for the third base post and as yet no one man has stood out ahead of the others.

Yesterday Oc Farrell, a former reserve catcher, reported and worked at the hot corner along with the other candidates. Ed Volivia, a sophomore outfielder who has been doing some nice hitting, also practiced a while at the open post.

In addition to these two, Harry Montgomery, Dick Dashiell, and Watt Jones, all halfbacks in the past on the football team; Ed Bullard, second baseman on the yearling nine last year; Earl Wolslagel, and Oliver Schriver all went through their paces at third.

Probably the biggest surprise so far in the early baseball training is the excellent work of the new keystone combination, Tommy Irwin and Trip Rand. Irwin performed at shortstop last year but Rand was shifted to second from third in order to fill the post left vacant by Virge Weathers.

Both boys have been fielding in near-perfect fashion and teaming together on double-plays in a smooth manner. The two, batting second and third in the lineup, have also been hitting nicely.

FRESHMEN BEGIN BASEBALL DRILLS

Large Number of Yearling Hopefuls Report to Coach James At Initial Practice.

The lower field resounded with ringing base hits yesterday afternoon as over forty yearling hopefuls started their quest for baseball fame urged on by Coach James.

The opening practice session got under way at 4 o'clock, after the candidates had spent a half hour tossing the ball around in a snappy pepper game.

Number Are Southpaws

Though many of the boys got off some lusty clouts, the majority were unable to find their eyes at this early stage of training. The strangest feature of the afternoon was the fact that half of the forty odd players batted left handed, but threw from the right side. However, this southpaw turnout speaks well for the destiny of this year's nine since there is a short right field, and if the boys get the knack of pulling the apple in that direction, there should be quite a few extra base hits.

The batteries shaped up fairly well and only a few of the boys experienced any wildness. James expects to devote the

(Continued on last page)

TRACKSTERS PREP FOR INITIAL MEET; RAIN HALTS WORK

Loss of Veterans Will Be Felt; Childers, Napier, Tucker, and Schmukler Not Available.

OPPOSE W. & M. APRIL 6

Coaches Fetzer and Ranson had hoped to bring the 1935 track hopefuls along another notch by the end of yesterday's practice, but just about the time that the squad was getting down to work Jupiter Pluvius intervened and washed out the occasion.

However, the team hopes to be rounded into shape in time for its opening encounter with the William and Mary team here on April 6. The visitors are bringing with them the renowned "Monk" Little, a versatile one-man track team in himself.

Star Trackman

"Monk" is well bred with ability in both the running and field events. He makes a leap of 25 feet in the broad jump, tosses the javelin some 197 feet, covers the 100 in 10-flat, and the 220 under 22, and is also a good 440 competitor.

Coach Ranson stated that the team will be doing well if Little can be held to 18 points.

Carolina will be lacking some of its expected strength for this season. Four men who were expected to return for the season but did not are Childers, sprinter and broad jumper; Napier, sprinter and quarter-miler; Tucker, another broad jumper, and Schmukler, a formidable discus thrower.

Along with Ralston LeGore, one of America's outstanding javelin tossers, and Bob Reid, a consistent place winner in the high jump, the losses of these four men will be sorely felt.

FROSH SCHEDULE 18 TENNIS MEETS

Freshman Court Aggregation Plans Tour of Virginia, According to Tentative Card.

A tentative schedule of 18 games has been drawn for the frosh net team, with the opening encounter set for Presbyterian Junior College on April 2, at Chapel Hill.

The schedule goes well into May, and at the conclusion of the season the yearling netmen will be found on their tour of Virginia.

Strong Aggregation

The long schedule will probably not cause much trouble to the frosh team which boasts of some of the best players to come to Carolina in recent years.

Two new additions from New York City has bolstered the team tremendously and has turned the battle for team positions into a veritable warfare. The two are Frankie Farrell and Vic Strasberger, both from De Witt Clinton High School's championship team of 1934.

Not forgetting Ramsay Potts, Eddy Fuller, Gene Robinson, Johnny Foreman, Ted Elwell, Seymore Fast and Ray Bartelman, the team looks like a world-beater.

The tentative schedule follows:

April 2—P. J. C. here.
April 6—State here.
April 8—Duke here.
April 10—Charlotte here.
April 13—Wilmington here.
April 18 — Winston-Salem here.
April 19—Asheville School here.
April 24—Duke there.
April 29—State there.
April 30—Danville here.
May 1—Washington High here.
May 4—Oak Ridge there.
May 6—Woodberry Forest there.
May 7—Virginia frosh there.
May 8—Episcopal High there.
May 9—Richmond Country Club there.
May 10—Danville there.
May 11 — Asheville School there.

Netmen Engage Deacons In Opening Meet Today

Braddock In Line For Heavy Fight With Mit Champ

With the New York State Athletic Commission sanctioning Jimmie Braddock as an opponent for Maxie Baer in June, things appear doubtful as to whether or not the title fight will be held in the Empire State. In the eyes of Baer's handlers, Braddock will not prove much of a drawing card. It has only been recently that the Jersey City Irishman has advanced himself to the position of a foremost contender.

Since the Madison Square Garden Corporation of New York has an option on the champion's services for his next bout, it appears as though they are in a tough position. They too believe that Baer would draw a bigger gate with another challenger.

Several Contenders

The present situation is really a muddled one, Schmeling, recent conquerer of the former Penn State collegian, Steve Hamas, is truly deserving of a crack at the title he lost to Jack Sharkey on a questionable decision a few years ago.

Primo Carnera who has just recently added Ray Impelletiere to his list of victims, may also be in line for the shot at the crown now worn by the colorful Maxie Baer. Should Carnera be victorious in his fight with the latest sensation from the west, Joe Louis, he too must be considered a logical challenger.

This Joe Louis is being hailed by western sports writers as the next champion of the world. Louis, a former Chicago Golden Gloves winner, has a string of 18 consecutive victories in as many professional starts. His greatest achievement was in stopping Lee Ramage on two different occasions. He is being acclaimed as a greater Negro fighter than either Harry Wills or George Godfrey.

Baer, who has been living up to his reputation of a playboy, has been barnstorming the larger cities and clowning through three and four-round exhibitions with mediocre heavyweights. He is not at all concerned with his next opponent as long as his adversary is capable of drawing the customers through the turnstiles.

Eight Men to Make Trip to Wake Forest

Captain Leads Team; Willis and Harris in Second and Third Places.

DOUBLES TEAM STRONG

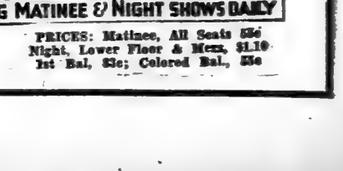
The tennis varsity leaves at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon for its opening match of the season with the Deacons. Eight players will make the trip to Wake Forest.

Hampered by weather conditions continuously, the team welcomes this match as a tune-up for its coming clash with this strong Dartmouth team. Six singles and three doubles will be played.

Levitan Number One

Captain Walter Levitan will lead the Tar Heel netters into battle by playing first singles. Ricky Willis, who has returned to school, will play in second position and Harvey Harris in third.

The other three probable starters in the singles competition will be Larry Jones, Eddy De Gray, and Archie Henderson. Jones is from last year's team while De Gray and Henderson have came up from freshmen ranks.



The other two players going to the Deacon camp will see action in doubles—Frank Shore probably pairing with Harvey Harris and Byron Abels joining with Ricky Willis. The remaining doubles team will be Levitan and De Gray, the team that was co-holders of the fall title.

Ike Minor, of last year's varsity, is unable to go with the team for this match, and therefore is out of the starting lineup. Minor is a serious candidate for a spot on the team and will probably be in there for the Dartmouth contest.

Last year Carolina crushed Wake Forest by a 9-0 score.

Patronize Our Advertisers

PERSONAL STATIONERY

200 SINGLE SHEETS
100 ENVELOPES
$1

Alfred Williams and Company

CAROLINA Matinee Thur. April 4th
DURHAM, N. C. Night
SENSATIONAL IN PERSON: Combined ROAD SHOW TOUR OF THREE outstanding STAGE, SCREEN & RADIO STARS
Ole Olsen & Chic Johnson — Gene Austin
IN THE ROBERT KERR-JOSEPH GRIFFIN NEW YORK PRODUCTION
GOIN' PLACES
21 SCENES A STAGE FULL OF STARS
LYRICS BY OLSEN & JOHNSON-MUSIC BY GENE AUSTIN
The Entire Original Cast Absolutely Intact
FAMOUS 'HOT CHA' BEAUTIES
CHARLIE STRONG'S ADMIRALS ORCHESTRA
AMERICA'S ONLY MUSICAL PLAYING MATINEE & NIGHT SHOWS DAILY
Seats Now on Sale
PRICES: Matinee, All Seats 55c Night, Lower Floor & Mezz, $1.10 1st Bal, 83c; Colored Bal., 55c

U.N.C. TO SCREEN SUMMER ROOMS

Room and Board Fee for Summer Term, $37.50; Everett Open for Married Couples.

Official University residence halls to be used during the summer session will be screened this year for the first time, it was announced in a summer session pamphlet issued recently.

In the same pamphlet a combined room and board fee of $37.50 a term was also announced. Swain hall will be the eating place.

Lewis Open to Men

Old East, Old West, Grimes, and Steele will be used this summer for women. Undergraduate men may secure rooms in Lewis. Everett will be available for married couples.

Spencer hall will operate this summer also, and will be reserved for undergraduate women. Combined room and board in Spencer will be $50.

Carr and Smith buildings will be occupied by law and graduate students, respectively. The charge for rooms in these buildings will be $15 each session, and students living in Smith building must eat there also. The cost is $35 a term.

Application for room and board should be addressed to T. H. Evans, cashier, South building, Chapel Hill. Those desiring to take advantage of the special combined rate for room and board may so indicate on the application.

Dogwood Festival Heads Announce Contest

Award to Be Given for Poster Using Dogwood Motif.

The Dogwood Festival, to be held here April 26-28, announces a poster contest open to all. The posters must be on cardboard measuring the regulation size of 22 x 28 inches, and any medium of coloring may be used. Crayons, water colors, pencil, ink, and oils are suggested.

The dogwood tree or flower must appear in the design, but not the cut branch or flower, as in a vase.

A dogwood medal will be awarded for the best poster, and honorable mention will be made in each of the three divisions of competitors: elementary school students, high school students, and all others.

All posters must be submitted before April 22 to Harper Barnes, dogwood festival committee, Graham Memorial. Further information may be secured from Mrs. E. K. Plyler, chairman of the poster committee; Mrs. J. B. Linker, or Mrs. E. G. Hoefer.

Harvard Makes Offer To Prospective Students

School Gives Opportunity for Service, Alumni Scholarships.

The Harvard Business School has announced that college graduates wishing to attend the graduate school of business in September and lacking sufficient funds to meet the average yearly expense of $1200 will be given the opportunity to obtain $300 Alumni Club scholarships or service scholarships, and borrow $300 from the school's loan fund.

Alumni awards will be based on the candidate's scholastic record, his need for financial aid, and recommendations as to his general qualifications.

Service scholarships of $300 entailing 450 hours of work on the school's grounds, in the dining halls, or assisting some professor, will be offered to graduates in need of assistance who have not been able to obtain an Alumni Club award.

THOR JOHNSON CONDUCTING

Shown above is the personnel of the University of Michigan Little Symphony Orchestra which will appear here April 8 under the direction of Thor Johnson, former University student. Reading from left to right, we have: sitting, Harry Siegel, Charles McNeil, Romine Hamilton, John Mosajgo, Ruby Peinert, Ruth Pfohl, Charles Gilbert, Vlasta Podoba, John Krell, Bernard Hirsch; standing, Raymond Kondratowicz, Maretta Martinek, Frederick Baessler, Thor Johnson, Everett Kisinger, and Raymond Fink.

Classicists Offer Contest in Horace

American Students Will Compete In Translating Latin Odes.

Observing the bimillennium of Horace, the American Classical League is conducting a contest in which students in each state are assigned one of Horace's odes for translation into prose or poetry.

North Carolina has been given Ode II in Book II, beginning "Nullus argento color est . . ."

Contestants must be bona fide students of a junior or senior college, a regular four-year college, a liberal arts college, or a university. They must also be taking a course, or courses, in the classical department of the college or university at the time of the contest. Graduate students are not eligible.

Professor Shipp G. Sanders of the University is a member of the state judging committee and should be seen for details.

SPANN WILL GIVE LECTURE TONIGHT

Deutscher Verein to Meet at 7:30 O'clock in 111 Murphey.

In order to avoid conflict with the lecture series next week the Deutscher Verein will hold its meeting tonight at 7:30 in 111 Murphey hall.

Two illustrated lectures will be delivered by Dr. Meno Spann of the University German department, one on the works of Durer, the most famous German painter, and the other on German sport flying gliders, with 50 illustrations.

According to Dr. Spann, the projections will be made by a new method using film strips in a German projector which has been designed for such purposes.

Tonight's lecture is the first in a series of illustrated lectures to be delivered this quarter by Dr. Spann surveying German civilization old and new.

Dr. Odum Will Teach On U. S. C. Faculty

Southern California Lists Professor for Summer School.

Dr. Howard W. Odum, Kenan professor of sociology and director of the school of public welfare, has been named to the 1935 summer session faculty of the University of Southern California, it was announced yesterday.

Opening in Los Angeles on June 17, the work of the U. S. C. summer division will be in two terms, the first closing July 26, and the second extending from July 27 to August 30.

A curriculum of 389 courses leading to advanced and the A. B. degrees has been planned for the 30th annual summer session. A resident faculty of 98 professors will be joined by 47 visiting faculty members from institutions throughout the United States.

WILSON HI GIRLS CAPTURE HONORS IN LATIN CONTEST

Students from State School for Blind Place Next.

The Charles L. Coon High School of Wilson, represented by Miss Mary Elizabeth Woodard, Miss Ruth Page Clark, and Miss Agnes Futrell, won first place and first and second honorable mention in the state-wide Latin contest conducted here February 22, it was announced today by E. R. Rankin, secretary of the contest.

Miss Woodard won first place and first and second honorable mention went to Miss Clark and Miss Futrell, respectively.

Twenty-three schools, represented by 213 students, participated in the contest.

Third and fourth honorable mentions went to the State School for the Blind at Raleigh, and were won by Ralph Garner and Miss Hazel Long, respectively.

Fifth honorable mention was awarded to Tom Lumpkin of Winston-Salem.

Freshman Baseball

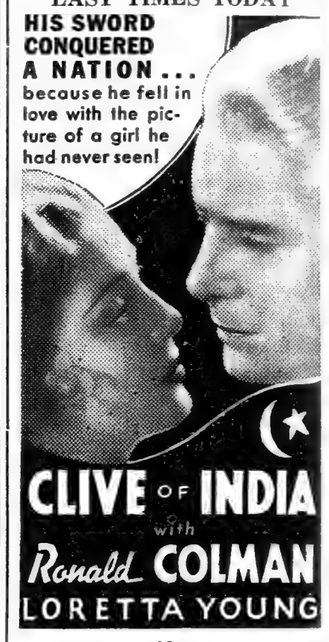
(Continued from page three)

next few days to batting practice.

Among the large number present were about a dozen frosh football stars, and many of them appear to be as proficient in baseball as they were with the pigskin.

Practice will take place today starting at 4 o'clock.

Student Social



Students and community young people are invited to attend the Presbyterian student social to be given tonight in the social rooms of the church, from 8 to 10 o'clock.

According to the Reverend Watt Cooper, student pastor of the church, an evening's entertainment has been planned featuring games and stunts.

CAROLINA

LAST TIMES TODAY

HIS SWORD CONQUERED A NATION... because he fell in love with the picture of a girl he had never seen!

CLIVE OF INDIA with Ronald COLMAN LORETTA YOUNG

— Also —

Comedy — News

CASH NIGHT TONIGHT AT 9 P. M.

Hood Tennis Shoes ◆ Wright & Ditson Tennis Balls

STATIONERY

LEDBETTER-PICKARD

School Supplies — Gifts — Greeting Cards

Back of 40 million depositors there is over 20 billion dollars on deposit in the United States — a tremendous reserve for the future.

...and back of Chesterfield there is more than 85 million dollars invested in mild ripe tobacco... for milder better taste

Because you cannot make a good cigarette from just one year's crop there are today 4½ miles of warehouses filled with cigarette tobaccos from the crops of 1931-32-33-34—most of it for Chesterfield cigarettes.

Just as money accumulates interest, two and a half years of ageing makes these tobaccos milder and naturally sweeter.

Think what this means—an eighty-five million dollar reason why men and women who smoke Chesterfields will always enjoy a milder, better-tasting cigarette.

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

© 1935, LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

COMMUNITY PLAY
4 P. M.
PLAYMAKERS THEATRE

The Daily Tar Heel

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

SENIOR COLLEGE FINALS
7:30 P. M.
PLAYMAKERS THEATRE

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, MARCH 30, 1935 | NUMBER 131

DRAMA FESTIVAL TO CLOSE TODAY WITH 12 EVENTS

Association Officers to Be Elected In Annual Business Meeting During Morning Session.

PAUL GREEN WILL SPEAK

Twelve events are scheduled on today's program which will bring to an end the four-day twelfth annual festival and state tournament of the Carolina Dramatic Association being held here at the Carolina Playmakers Theatre.

The morning session will open with the annual business meeting and election of officers for the association with President W. K. Morgan presiding.

Conducted by Miss Helen Hodges of the University, together with two other state dramatic leaders, the make-up contest will begin at 11 a. m. and will be followed by the costume contest at 11:30 o'clock.

New Theatre League

Editor Herbert Kline of the New Theatre will address the visitors on "The New Theatre League" at noon. Kline is one of the leaders in establishing in America the workers' theatre.

Son Paul Green takes the platform at 12:30 o'clock to tell the tournamenters of "The Playwright Today." Green is now residing at his home here between trips to New York and Hollywood where he is writing scenarios for Warner Brothers, motion picture producers.

Head of the University Summer School Edgar W. Knight speaks at 12:45 on "A Continuous Pageant of Education—A State Project." After lunch, the festival will be continued with the final contest in play production of E. R. E. dramatic clubs, junior and rural community groups. Four plays are entered.

At 4 p. m. an original play by a community group will be presented after which the visitors are to take tea in Graham Memorial where Miss Sara Seawell, Chapel Hill Carolina Playmaker, will act as hostess. Displayed in Graham Memorial is the festival exhibit of stage

(Continued on page four)

PUPPETS DISPLAY SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Samuel Friedman Gives Demonstration at S. L. I. D. Organization Meeting.

The special meeting for the purpose of organizing a local Student League for Industrial Democracy held last night in Graham Memorial was opened by two puppet shows dealing with present-day social problems.

Samuel Freidman of the Theatre Union, New York City, aided by three assistants presented these demonstrations.

Mr. Freidman's first demonstration was entitled "You Don't Need a Biscuit." In this act the puppets presented an appeal to the consumer to boycott the products of the Uneeda Biscuit Company because of the "big boss's" unfair dealings with his workers.

"Underdogs" Fight

The second demonstration was an expose by the puppets of "The Old Army Game," in which the Wall Street magnate conspires with the army general and any likely ambassador to create a

(Continued on page four)

Musician

Romine Hamilton, outstanding young American violinist, who will appear here in concert April 8 with the University of Michigan Little Symphony, of which Thor Johnson, former University of North Carolina student, is director.

YOUNG VIOLINIST TO APPEAR HERE

Romine Hamilton Will Be Soloist with Michigan Little Symphony Directed by Johnson.

Romine Hamilton, one of the outstanding violin soloists among the younger generation of musicians in this country, will appear with the University of Michigan Little Symphony in its concert here April 8.

After having undergone several years of intensive training under very competent instructors, he made numerous public appearances as a concert violinist and won many honors in musical contests.

Mr. Hamilton's ability was recognized in 1928 when he was selected from all the outstanding violinists of high school age in the entire United States to be concertmaster of the well-known National High School Orchestra in its first summer season at Interlochen, Michigan.

For seven years Hamilton has been concertmaster of the University Symphony Orchestra and on numerous occasions has appeared as violin soloist with that organization which is under the direction of Dr. Earl V. Moore, head of the school of music. Also he has acted as soloist with the University of Michigan Glee Club, and has played frequently over stations WJR and WWJ in Detroit. In 1932, he was awarded a masters' degree in violin from the University of Michigan, and since then has been a member of the faculty of the School of Music.

Hamilton will be heard here in Mozart's "Concerto in D Major, No. 4," for solo violin with orchestral accompaniment. This work is the most popular among the concerts of this composer and is unusually well adapted to the violin as a solo instrument as well as to the Little Symphony for the accompaniment. The Little Symphony which will assist Hamilton will be conducted by Thor Johnson.

Professors at Conference

Members of the French department attending the annual convention of the North Carolina Education Association being conducted in Winston-Salem are Dr. U. T. Holmes, Jr., Dr. Sturgis E. Leavitt, W. R. Weaver, and John E. Carroll.

The Association of French Teachers will hear papers by Dr. Holmes and Mr. Weaver.

Schedule of Public Meetings of the Human Relations Institute

March 31-April 6

SUNDAY, MARCH 31

11:00 a. m.—Institute speakers will occupy local pulpits as follows:
Baptist church—Dr. Carl C. Taylor, regional director Land Policy Act, AAA.
Subject: "The People and our National Resources."
Methodist church—Julian Miller, editorial staff, Charlotte Observer.
Subject: "How Much Better is a Man than a Gasket."
Presbyterian church—Dr. McNeill Poteat, pastor, Pullen Memorial church.
Subject: "The Emancipation of the Spirit."
Episcopal church—Dr. Howard E. Jensen, professor sociology, Duke University.
Subject: "The Sociological Background of our Contemporary Conflicts."

2:00 p. m.—Initial opening of the Institute exhibit in Memorial hall. The exhibit will remain open till 10:30 p. m., and daily thereafter throughout the week from 9 a. m. till 10:30 p. m. You should examine these books.

8:00 p. m.—Memorial hall. A mass meeting of the University and community.
Speaker: Dean Robert Russell Wicks of Princeton University Chapel.
Subject: "The College Student in a Scared World."

MONDAY, APRIL 1

(All remaining meetings in Memorial hall)

10:15 a. m.—James M. Landis, U. S. securities and exchange commissioner.
Subject: "The Significance of Federal Regulation of Securities."

8:00 p. m.—Dr. Emil Lederer, dean of graduate faculty, New School for Social Research.
Subject: "The Background of European Dictatorships."

TUESDAY, APRIL 2

10:15 a. m.—Dr. Stephen P. Duggan, Institute of International Education.
Subject: "The Present Situation in Europe."

4:00 p. m.—Dr. John Hope, president, Atlanta University.
Subject: "The Negro in the Modern World."

8:00 p. m.—Sanford Bates, director, bureau of prisons, Department of Justice.
Subject: "Have Our Prisons Failed."

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3

10:15 a. m.—Hon. Hamilton Fish, Jr., Congressman from New York.
Subject: "Government and Industrial Relations."

4:00 p. m.—Chester Wright, public relations counsel, United Textile Workers.
Subject: "Platform Principles of Textile Labor."

8:00 p. m.—Donald Comer, president, Avondale (textile) mills.
Subject: "Problems of Textile Management."

THURSDAY, APRIL 4

10:15 a. m.—Dr. Everett Dean Martin, director, the Peoples Institute.
Subject: "Violence and Social Progress."
(Dr. Martin is sponsored by the Grail.)

4:00 p. m.—Dr. Everett Dean Martin—addressing public forum.
Subject: "A Liberal Education."

8:00 p. m.—George Soule, Jr., editor, New Republic. Weil Lecturer, 1935.
Subject: "Social Changes and the American Tradition."

FRIDAY, APRIL 5

10:15 a. m.—Dr. Shailer Mathews, lecturer and former dean of Chicago Divinity School.
Subject: "International Conflicts in the Far East."

4:00 p. m.—Norman Thomas, director, League for Industrial Democracy.
Subject: "Trends Towards Fascism."

8:00 p. m.—George Soule, Jr., editor, New Republic. Weil Lecturer, 1935.
Subject: "Liberty as Purpose."

SATURDAY, MARCH 6

10:15 a. m.—Dr. Sao-Ke Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister to United States.
Subject: "International Good Will and Understanding."

12:00 m.—Norman Thomas—addressing a public forum in Gerrard hall.
Subject: "Industrial Relations."

1:00 p. m.—A luncheon conference on international relations—honor guests: Dr. Sze, Dr. Soule, Dr. Mathews, and Mr. Thomas.
Attendance upon the luncheon conference is limited. Plates must be reserved in advance at the Y. M. C. A.

8:00 p. m.—George Soule, Jr., editor, New Republic. Weil Lecturer, 1935.
Subject: "Organized Liberty."

The general public is invited to all of the above meetings, and there will be no registration fee or any other charges.

Human Relations Institute Goes In Session Tomorrow

Pastor Lecturer

Dr. McNeill Poteat, pastor of Pullen Memorial church, Greensboro, who will speak tomorrow morning at the Presbyterian church as a part of the program of the Human Relations Institute.

DUGGAN BANQUET TICKETS ON SALE

Passes May Be Obtained from "Y" Office Today; Dinner At 6 P. M. Monday.

Tickets to the banquet in honor of Dr. Stephen Duggan to be held Monday night, can be secured this morning at the Y. M. C. A. for 50 cents, it was announced yesterday by Agnew Bahnson, president of the Foreign Policy League, which is sponsoring Duggan's appearance at the Human Relations Institute.

The banquet will be held at 6 p. m. Monday evening in Graham Memorial. The number of tickets sold will be limited to 100.

Dr. Duggan's topic at the banquet will deal primarily with the summer school session for American students which will be conducted in Moscow. He will also stress the part American students can play in expressing themselves to their government today on public questions.

Next Friday evening the Carolina Political Union will tender an open banquet for Norman Thomas. Tickets will be 50 cents each. Both affairs will be open to students, faculty members, and townspeople.

CO-ED PHOTOS

Groups Will Meet at 1:30 O'clock This Afternoon.

It is important that the following girls have their pictures taken in front of Spencer hall at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon:

Dressed in sport clothes: Elsie Lawrence, Joyce Killinsworth, T. Daniels, Margaret McCauley, Katherine Quigley, Ida Winstead, and Evelyn Barker.

Dressed in tennis clothes and carrying rackets: Sophie Stevens, Margaret Jordan, Ruth Covington, and Margaret McCauley.

Dressed in gym clothes: The members of all the basketball teams. The manager of each team, freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior, is asked to see to it that all her girls are there prompetly and in gym clothes.

This is the last call for these pictures for the Yackety Yack and it is imperative that everyone be present.

CHURCHES HAVE FIRST SPEECHES

Lectures Scheduled Every Day At 10:15 a. m. and 8 p. m.; Several to Be at 4 p. m.

9:30 CLASSES END EARLY

Leaders in every field, national and international figures in the world of economics, politics, government and society will file into Chapel Hill tonight and during the remainder of the week to appear on the third quadrennial Human Relations Institute which gets under way tomorrow morning with lectures in all the local pulpits.

Students, townspeople and visitors from all over the state are expected to attend the public lectures which will be held every day at 10:15 a. m. and at 8 p. m. Several addresses have been scheduled for the afternoon at 4 o'clock.

University classes will conform with the institute schedule and numerous classroom hours will be turned over to the seminar speakers.

Fields Studied

Three fields are being studied in the general plan for the institute, according to Chairman Charles Poe: international relations and government, human relations in business and industry, and interracial relations.

Besides the 80 classroom seminars and the 22 public lectures in Memorial hall, a complete exhibit in the lobby of Memorial hall including books, posters and pamphlets dealing with the three fields has been arranged.

According to Poe, all 9:30 classes will be dismissed at 10 o'clock for the morning address. The schedule for the seminars will be distributed at the evening mass meetings.

In order to give the speakers a chance to thrash out more technical problems than they are allowed to deal with in their public platform addresses, the institute has arranged for the classroom seminars. Almost

(Continued on page four)

U. S. SENATE GETS REVISED NRA BILL

House Approves $401,998,170 War Debt Appropriations Bill; Huey Threatens Farley.

Washington, March 29—(UP)—A new and drastically revised NRA bill was placed before the Senate today after Donald Richberg had warned the finance committee in a secret session that quick action would be necessary to quell the nation-wide labor unrest.

The bill includes several features, among which are the strengthening of collective bargaining provisions, the protection of the little man, elimination of the regulations on intrastate business, the abandonment of price fixing and production control except to protect the little man, and the extension of the NRA for two years.

The Senate debated calendar bills, and heard Huey Long threaten to re-attack Postmaster General Farley.

The House approved a $401,998,170 war debt appropriations bill and delayed consideration of the conference report on the works relief bill until Monday.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, William Jordan, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: REED SARRATT

Saturday, March 30, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

We aren't frightened when the miners wrangle with NRA heads, but we only hope that both parties keep theirs.

"Harvard Makes Offer to Prospective Students." Probably part of the educational process commonly known as "cramming."

March, when the Kingfish was supposed to be in Chapel Hill, is almost gone and still no Hooey. Campus politics will do nicely, however.

Maintaining The Library

In the March edition of University Facts, in which the alumni loyalty contest is announced, are listed a dozen outstanding needs of the University, funds with which to make them possible being obtainable only through contributions of loyal "patron saints" of the school. By far the most important of these needs, and one which affects nearly all the others, is that of the library.

The library of the University of North Carolina has for many years held an envious position of distinction in the South. Not only a leader in the quality and quantity of its volumes, it has led in helping and encouraging the organization of other southern libraries. At present it lends more books to other libraries of the South than any other southern library. It is now engaged in a distinctive undertaking peculiarly significant to the South in its Southern Historical Collection, a collection consisting of over 1,250,000 original manuscripts of vast importance to southern history.

But sadly enough, this work, this leadership cannot be continued purely on faith. The wherewithal to meet expenses must be secured.

The North Carolina library is the third largest in the South, excelled only by Texas and Duke. As compared with the libraries of thirty other large and important institutions throughout the country, its book expenditures for the year 1933-1934 stand at the foot of the list. It has maintained its leadership and influence in spite of its reduced available funds, but it can not be expected to keep this up forever. Frankly, our library is "on the spot" in this respect.

Unfortunately, however, our worries do not stop here. The success and prestige of any graduate division of a university is directly dependent on the library facilities of that school. Our graduate school is the outstanding one of the South. A recent report of the American Council on Education, composed of eminent scholars throughout the country, gave as its opinion that the University of North Carolina is equipped to do Ph.D. work in eleven fields. The nearest southern competitor was estimated as so equipped in eight fields, and the third in three fields of academic study.

It is quite obviously of utmost importance that our high ranking in graduate work be maintained, but to do so our library book expenditures must be quite substantially increased. Undoubtedly the coöperative arrangement with Duke University will be of vast importance, but even more than this it is most necessitous that the library of this great southern institution be assured that its present standing will not be impaired.

First of the Newer Education

The opening of this quarter marked the beginning of a new and different course in the field of physics as well as in the field of education. The course as designed by Dr. Fussler is primarily created for the layman and not for the future physicists or engineers. The content of the course is modern physics, the discoveries and progress made within the last twenty years; radio-activity, cosmic rays, the electric eye, television, and the other gold star achievements.

The entire set-up of the course aims to present modern physics in everyday language to the student and not to burden him with formulae and tricky mathematics. When the student completes the course, it is believed that he will be able to appreciate and intelligently understand what is going on about him—at least in the physical world.

It was felt by Dr. Fussler that such a course was needed here at the University. He fully was aware of the fact that the two courses in general physics only led up to and did not include twentieth century physics. General physics is usually drudgery to the average student who upon completing his requireds leaves physics forever, never to know the real adventures in the physics realm.

One of the most outstanding characteristics of the course is the plan for teaching. Instead of having one man to teach the entire course, a series of men will do the teaching. Professors Fussler, Stuhlman, and Plyler will lecture on their own respective fields. Efforts will be made to secure outside lecturers from time to time. In this way exacting information and individual spontaneity will be rendered to the student.

The new physics course is one of the first adapted to the idea of the new curriculum, where general knowledge covering the fields to the satisfaction of the unscientific mind will be stressed. In all departments will be seen the effects of the new educational philosophy and especially in the fields of natural science and the social sciences will the effect be evidenced. The new physics course might act as a test course to any skeptics of the new curriculum.

Great Brifain Must Decide

Europe has gone back 21 years with startling ease. As in 1914, two great forces oppose each other; and a small power, this time Lithuania, is once more in a position to spill the milk. And whether or not the milk is spilled seems to depend in a large measure on the British attitude.

The present line-up is strikingly similar to that of the World War with one exception—the absence of the once glorious Empire of Austria-Hungary. This absence leaves Germany standing alone against the combined might of Russia, France, and Italy. True, Hitlerland may possibly receive aid from the other defeated powers: Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria, and Turkey; but these nations are weak and prostrate and probably more than offset by pro-Ally Rumania, Greece, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Jugoslavia. This in itself leaves Germany in a bad position, but not too bad to squelch the excited Nazis. But now place Britain along side of Russia, France, and Italy, and it seems that the possibility of a German victory is almost, if not entirely, eliminated. And this, unless the Nazis are completely demented, eliminates the possibility of a German-started war.

France and Italy must realize this fact. At least they will make strenuous efforts to assure themselves of British support when the three former allies meet at Stresa on April 11. The British are literally on the spot and know it. They have the difficult choice of championing Germany, justice, and probable war or of siding with the Allies, injustice, and probable peace. While justice for Germany is a worthy cause, keeping the peace is of even more importance. Yes, France started the fire, but if the poor would-be-neutral British don't rush to the rescue they will probably find Europe in flames about them—and the English Channel won't stop a fire which flies!

Carolina Ensemble To Michigan Symphony

Thor Johnson, graduated from the University last spring, will appear here April 8 in the first Student Entertainment of the quarter as conductor of the Michigan Little Symphony. Johnson now holds an instructorship at Michigan and is continuing his orchestral work at Ann Arbor.

It is significant that Thor Johnson should be the first alumnus of the University to be brought here as one of the entertainment series. One of the most well known of recent graduates, he came to Carolina five years ago as a freshman, and during his four years here became recognized throughout this section for his ability in orchestral conduction and the composition of symphonic music. His work in organizing the Carolina Salon Ensemble was recognized by the Golden Fleece in awarding him membership.

We join in welcoming back to Carolina this alumnus who is going ahead in his brilliant career begun at Chapel Hill.

CARO-GRAPHICS --- by Murray Jones & Nash Johnston

Looking Backward

One and Five Years Ago Today in the Files of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

March 30, 1930

The political pot bubbles. Ray Farris, all-American second-string guard and president of the student body, announces that campus nominations are only two days off . . . Dr. Metzenthin agrees to continue his classes in Esperanto, the universal language . . . The Chi O's give a "brilliant" dance, and the DAILY TAR HEEL starts a prohibition poll.

March 30, 1934

Editor Claiborn Carr is caught in the 'phone booth by the Buccaneer boys. He is unmercifully drenched with wastebasketfuls of water . . . "Crook In Infirmary," headlines Tom Walker. (Rachael Crook is the reference) . . . Erwin Laxton, captain of the golf team, sinks a 27-foot putt on the 18th green for a birdie two in the dual meet with Richmond U. at Hope Valley.

SPEAKING the CAMPUS MIND

Left and Legerdemain

Editor, the DAILY TAR HEEL:

In the DAILY TAR HEEL an attempt was made to defend the action of the Committee for the Institute on Human Relations in refusing to invite spokesmen for the Communist and Fascist positions. The defense was uncertain, confused, and contradictory.

The writer of this defense admits that "naturally we want opinions from all sides," yet the action of the committee has been in practice to deny this beautiful motto. The writer says that "any charge that there is not enough left representation on the institute program is not particularly well founded." There are "three well-known leftists on the speaking program." These are Soule, Thomas, and, presumably, Lederer. Two, Soule and Lederer, rperesent no point of view save their own. No national organization, political or economic, owns them, and they speak officially for none. Thomas speaks for a part of the Socialist party, the part usually known, by Socialists, as the "Center." None of these speakers can be called "left" except by an unconscionable juggling of terms. The largest left group is that represented by the organized Communist party. The philosophy of this party governs the lives of 160 million Russians, many millions of Chinese, and is becoming increasingly attractive to millions all over the world. Surely an official spokesman of this group, if anyone, should present the point of view of the left. It is hardly fair to ask the left to be represented by speakers whom it would itself repudiate. To the right, the situation is equally unsatisfactory. The chief opponent of Communism is Fascism, now dominating in two major European countries and several smaller ones. Yet no official spokesman of Fascism, German, Italian, or American, is on the program. Their case must be intrusted, if to anyone, to Hamilton Fish, who would himself deny any connection with Fascism. Such sportsmanship the committee shows that neither of the two strong contenders for the possession of civilization is represented, though provision is made in the persons of Thomas and Fish for attacking both. If the committee really wished to present "opinions from all sides" it has made a mess of it.

The writer in the DAILY TAR HEEL, however, betrays that, for him, this was not the intention, for, in his last paragraph, he says that "there is much more educational value in understanding the present liberal trend of our economic and political set-up than the irrational shout of a leftist who denies the existence of any good in this present administration." The conclusion to be drawn from this statement is that the writer does not believe in the worth of presenting "opinions from all sides." Moreover, he begs the question when he presumes that the present administration is liberal, for the case of the left, to which he denies a hearing, is precisely that the administration is, in implication and increasingly in performance, strongly reactionary. In calling the left case an "irrational shout" without hearing it, he labels himself as prejudiced and unjudicial.

The whole tone of the defense is a denial of the late Justice Holmes' belief that "the best test thought to get ffl of truth is the power of the thought to get itself accepted in the competition of the market." The writer, and apparently the committee, do not believe in free trade in ideas. By verbal legerdemain and organization manipulation they have erected a tariff wall against the two strongest competitors.

JAMES WISHART,
VAN WOODWARD,
ALBERT SUSKIN,
ARNOLD WILLIAMS.

Haydon Speaks in Winston

Dr. Glen Haydon, head of the music department, returned yesterday from Winston-Salem, where he spoke at the annual meeting of the North Carolina Music Teachers' Association. His speech concerned "Modern Trends in the Theoretical and Creative Fields in Music."

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

3:00: Emery Deutsch orch., WABC, WBIG, WBT.
5:00: Eddy Duchin orch.,
6:30: News, WPTF.
WLW; Little Jack Little orch., WABC, WBIG, WBT.
9:00: Radio City Party, Ray Noble orch., John B. Kennedy, M. C., WPTF, WJZ, WSB.
9:30: Richard Himer orch., Joey Nash, vocalist, WABC, WBT, WGST, WHAS.
10:00: Minneapolis Sym. orch., Eugene Ormandy, conductor, WABC, WHAS, WBT.
10:30: Guy Lombardo orch., WJZ; "Let's Dance," three-hour dance program, Kel Murray, Xaviar Cugat, Penny Goodman orchs., WLW., WSB, WEAF.
11:00: Glen Gray orch., WABC, WBT; Kay Kyser orch., WGN.
11:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.
11:30: Wayne King orch., WGN.
12:00: Jan Garber orch., WGN.
12:30: Hal Kemp orch., KDKA.
1:00: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

NEW ARRIVALS
at the
Young Men's Shop
126-128 E. Main St.
Durham, N. C.

•

NEW SPRING SLACKS

One of the smartest selections of sport slacks to be found anywhere. Flannels, worsteds, gabardines, doeskins, etc. Made up especially to our specifications in drape models, plain or the new ring slacks which are exclusive with us.

2.95 thru 10.00

•

SPRING AND SUMMER SOX

in regular or slack style with lastex or ribbed top. Rabbit's hair, argyles, ribbed and many other patterns.

50c pr.

•

New French type SHORTS
50c pr.

Special shirt developed for use with this new short—50c

•

WOVEN SPORT BELTS

in all white, canary, or combinations.

50c

•

Drop around — You're always welcome at

The Young Men's Shop
126-128 East Main Street
DURHAM

Carolina Netsters Open Season With 9-0 Victory Over Wake Forest Outfit

CAPT. LEVITAN AND JONES ONLY VETS

De Gray, Shore, Henderson, and Abels All See Action; Harris And Minor Play Monday.

WILLIS IS NOT ELIGIBLE

Chalk up another win for those racqueteers! Carolina tennis varsity opened its 1935 season yesterday afternoon by dropping in on Wake Forest and administering a decisive 9-0 beating to the Deacons.

Walter Levitan and Larry Jones were the only two veterans of the quintet remaining from last year year to see action against the Deacons. Both were not extended in winning, Levitan playing with perfect ease as he outclased Rivers Hanson, Wake Forest's best player.

Sophomores Excel

The remainder of the team was composed mostly of four sophomores who likewise stepped over their opponents. Harvey Harris, Ricky Willis, and Ike Minor were not in the starting lineup, and Eddy De Gray, Frank Shores, Archie Henderson and Byron Abels ably replaced them.

Henderson and Abels both scored shutout victories against their opponents. Eddy De Gray dropped but one game in winning over Josey 6-1, 6-0, and Frank Shores did drop a few games but had not the slightest trouble in downing Tuttle.

Doubles Teams Function

The opposition was just as meek in doubles and the three Carolina combinations closed their opening match with a flourish by drubbing the Deacon netmen. Levithan and De Gray paired to walk away from Hanson and Josey, the best Wake Forest had to offer. Shore and Abels, and Jones and Hender-

(Continued on last page)

Doping The Sports

By JAMES MORRIS

CAROLINA'S spring sports teams will have their hands more than full if they attempt to uphold the records of last spring or the past winter quarters. The Tar Heel tennis, baseball, and track teams lost but one encounter apiece in 1934, while the latter two clubs won both state and Southern Conference championships. During the recent winter season Coach Bo Shepard's great basketball team captured titles in the Big Five and conference races and lost but two tilts in 25, the indoor track club took the conference championship, and the boxing club tied Duke for top place in the state.

COACH Bunn Hearn seems to be facing the most difficulty right now in defending his two crowns held for the past couple of years. A great battery in Nate Andrews and Norman McCaskill was lost; both boys demonstrated that they had real stuff by immediately stepping into fast professional baseball. Tim McKeithan did some excellent work on the mound while George Brandt, Virgil Weathers, and Dutch Leonard will all be hard to replace in the infield.

However, Coach Hearn appears far from discouraged. He has shifted his old stars around a bit and has been sending his rookie candidates through their paces with continual encouragement. The former big league star has been pushing his charges long and hard but still has kept them in a pepped, raring-to-go disposition. Regardless of what the final outcome is, fans can be certain of seeing a fighting, well-drilled nine on the diamond when Coach Bunn's boys go into action.

THE TRACK team has also lost some valuable performers but can, nevertheless, be expected to hold its titles for at least another year. The Tar Heels had a fairly wide margin in the indoor meet but Coach Bob Fetzer still fears the Duke club. Those Blue Devils were not in top shape for the Tin Can meet and with the addition of last year's freshman team, will prove plenty dangerous this spring. However, Coaches Fetzer and Ranson have done some excellent jobs in the past developing green material and fans can expect some more stars to be pulled from the bag this spring to boost the Tar Heel chances.

THE TENNIS team received a blow when it was learned that Ricky Willis, a star for the past two years, has been ruled ineligible. On the other hand, Coach John Kenfield has a fine bunch of sophomores with which to build his team. Eddy De Gray, Frank Shores, and Archie Henderson are all top players and along with Captain Levitan, Harvey Harris, Ike Minor, and Larry Jones, should result in another top outfit.

THE GOLFERS, despite the absence of much practice, showed that they had a strong combination, at least on the Hope Valley course, Thursday. The easy 15-3 victory over State came as a bigger surprise to the linksmen, I think, than their followers. These boys also lost a top player in Captain-elect Lane Fulenwider, but Erwin Laxton has been leading the way for two years, while Dick Harris, Wilson

(Continued on last page)

FROSH LOOK GOOD IN DIAMOND DRILL

Many Infielders Show Promise; Turbeyville and Humphries Demonstrate Fine Form.

Lusty wallops and some fine fielding featured yesterday's freshman baseball practice. The yearling hopefuls started a determined fight for positions on the first and second nines.

Coach James divided the squad into four infields, while the large group of outfielders patrolled the pastures and caught fungo knocks. Coach Wright hit the ball to the infielders, all of whom looked promising at their respective positions. The fielding of the group was unusually fine except for wild throws.

Take Hitting

James got a pretty good idea as to the slugging capabilities of the players as each man came to the platter twice during the afternoon, taking three cuts before giving way to the next batter. The batting eyes of the players showed a great improvement, but it was evident that the pitchers were still far ahead.

Turbeyville and Humphries were two of the pitchers to display some fine twirling during the afternoon's play, and the batters found their speed balls a little too difficult to hit squarely.

The lefty batters were still evident yesterday. Coach James announced that practice will begin today at 2 o'clock sharp, and that batting will be the main factor in this afternoon's training with a little fielding thrown in to round out the players.

REGULAR OUTFIT WHIPS RESERVES IN NINE PRACTICE

Fred Crouch Holds First String To a Couple of Bingles but Loses, 2-1, in Fast Tilt.

WRIGHT ALSO HURLS WELL

The varsity regular baseballers finally subdued the reserves by winning yesterday's practice game 2-1.

So far this week the reserves have shown more power at the plate than the regulars, but at the same time their defensive work has been more erratic.

Good pitching by both teams accounted for the low score in yesterday's contest. Coach Hearn sought to give the rookies a break by assigning the hurling task to veteran Fred Crouch. Irby Wright went the route for the first stringers.

Crouch allowed only two hits during the nine innings, while the opposing pitcher was touched for five bingles.

Wright Looking Good

If Wright continues his good work, he should see plenty of action with the varsity before the season closes. He is a right-hander and is remembered as the only pitcher on last year's freshmen team who was able to win for the Tar Babies.

Jim Tatum appears to be the solution to the catcher's problem. The big backstop is showing fine form behind the plate as well as getting under fouls.

Strayhorn, understudy to Tatum, is also a good catcher and a dangerous hitter.

The third base position is still open. Dick Dashiell shifted to shortstop and Earl Wolslagel tried right field yesterday, leaving Bullard, Schriver, and Jones to work at the hot corner.

Coach Hearn told the players to report at 2 o'clock for a long practice session this afternoon.

TAR HEEL TRACK CLUB PREPS FOR OPENING BATTLE

Practices Will Be Held Today as First Meet with W. and M. Is Just a Week Off.

FROSH GET SPECIAL WORK

The Blue and White followers of the cinder path met far better success with respect to weather conditions yesterday afternoon and went through a lengthy drill under the guidance of Coaches Fetzer and Ranson.

Due to the fact that the opening meet with William and Mary is but one week off, it was announced that practice for both varsity and freshman squads will be held this afternoon at 3:15 o'clock.

Continuing through today's session the work of organizing the squad will be carried on, and it is hoped that all candidates will have reported before the end of practice.

Work on Pace

Advanced pace work for those in shape and the practice of starts with the pistol for sprinters and hurdlers featured yesterday's workout.

Because Carolina will need numerable fortifications throughout its lineup for next season, it is hoped that a large freshman squad will be developed. The main purpose of the freshman work is for future varsity replacement, although they do engage in meets with several scholastic and college freshman opponents.

The first year trackmen showed strength in only a few events during the indoor games.

Today is also the final call for equipment. All those who have equipment and are not reporting to practice regularly are required either to report or to return the equipment immediately.

Students Will Select Opponent For Tilden In Exhibition Match

"Let the students decide" was the opinion of Coach Kenfield, and therefore this vital question in the coming Tilden tennis exhibition is placed solely and finally before the readers of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Who shall play whom? The contract specifies that the University officials shall decide the participants of the three matches in the exhibition. Two singles and one doubles will be played and the contestants shall be selected by a student vote.

Tilden Versus ?

The question revolves about "Big Bill" Tilden. Shall he meet Lott, his arch rival; Vines, the best player in the world; or Nusslein, ace of foreign professionals?

If Tilden pairs off with Vines, a thriller is in the making. These two masters of the game cannot be surpassed for wonderful exhibitions and there is yet a decided doubt as to who is the greater player.

The above match would bring Lott against Nusslein in the remaining singles. However, there is yet the alternative of letting Tilden continue his warfare with Lott. They have played together continuously on this tour, with Tilden well in the van. Perpetually enemies of the court, Tilden has proved his superiority over his younger opponent.

Master vs. German

Then again Tilden against Nusslein would throw Vines against Lott. Another setup of two good matches! No matter which way you look at it, the exhibition is a natural, but take your choice and cast your ballot for the combinations that you would most like to see.

The doubles also is to be decided. Tilden and Vines have been together for the past year and have bested the 1934 national doubles champions, Lott and Stoefen, many a time. They would meet Lott and Nusslein, and it is an avowed fact that no matter who Lott pairs with, a good team is on the court. In Nusslein, he would have one of the greatest match players of the day, and would be sure to give the Tilden-Vines duo a real tussle.

Therefore, the choice remains with each one interested in this coming event. Cast your vote upon the ballot on this page and drop it into the box in the Graham Memorial lobby at any time before next Wednesday.

Exhibition Choice

1. Check opponent for Tilden:

Lott..... Vines..... Nusslein.....

2. Check doubles partner for Tilden:

Lott..... Vines..... Nusslein.....

Signed .....

Drop in box in Graham Memorial lobby.

W. C. U. N. C. VACATION

Greensboro, March 29.—Students of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina will lay away their books tomorrow and head for their havens of rest, home and elsewhere.

The girls' spring vacation begins tomorrow at noon and continues until 8:15 o'clock, Monday, April 8.

Golfers Battle Deacons At Hope Valley Today

MEET TO START AT 2:30 O'CLOCK

Team of Laxton, Harris, Coffin, And Bridgers Which Defeated State Will Start Again.

17 MEETS ON SCHEDULE

The second match of the current golf program will be held this afternoon when the Tar Heel linksmen meet Wake Forest at 2:30 on the local Hope Valley course.

The team will be out fighting to bring in a win as decisive as the one it scored last Thursday against State. Carolina had a 15-3 margin.

The playing order this afternoon will probably be identical to that of the last match with Laxton first, Harris second, Coffin third, and Bridgers fourth. With better playing weather in sight, the chance of a second win is very bright.

New Card Released

An official schedule released by R. A. Fetzer, athletic director, announces a trip beginning May 13 and ending on May 20. The team will travel south and meet in successive order Davidson, Furman, Georgia, Augusta Junior College, South Carolina, and Charleston College.

The complete schedule of 17 matches as released yesterday is as follows:

March 28—State here.
March 30—Wake Forest here.
April 3 — Hampton-Sydney here.
April 6—State at Raleigh.
April 15-16—Duke at Hope Valley.
April 18—Richmond University here.
April 19—Furman here.
April 20—Boston College here.
May 3—State intercollegiate tournament at Hope Valley.
May 4—Davidson here.
May 6-7—Duke at Hope Valley.
May 9—Washington and Lee at Sedgefield (Greensboro).
May 10—Southern Conference tournament at Sedgefield.
May 13—Davidson at Charlotte.
May 14—Furman at Greenville, S. C.
May 16—Georgia at Athens.
May 17—Augusta Junior College at Augusta.
May 18—South Carolina at Columbia.
May 20—Charleston College at Charleston.

Indian Net Team Arrives For Tilt With Tar Heels

The Indians are here! Some time late last night or early this morning a rough and ready group from the wilds of New Hampshire checked in at Chapel Hill with nary a benevolent look in sight.

It was the Dartmouth tennis team, raring to play the highly touted Carolina netmen. The match is set for Monday, and these two days will find both teams pounding the tennis balls with vim and vigor in preparation for the coming encounter.

Dartmouth Strong

There is no doubt that Carolina has an almost perfect chance of getting beaten. The Dartmouth team is approximately the same as last year's, and last year's was good. Immediately after Carolina suffered that ignoble 9-0 defeat at the hands of Princeton last year, the Indians threw a scare into the Princetonians by taking them to a 5-4 score before yielding.

Upon that comparison, Carolina must beware! Coach Kenfield is whipping the team into shape with feverish haste and the starting lineup is very much in doubt. Meanwhile, the Dartmouth squad will invade the courts this afternoon as the guests of the Tar Heels.

CAROLINA SPORTS TEAMS HAVE BIG CARD NEXT WEEK

All of the Spring Varsity Teams Will See Action.

Athletic teams at the University of North Carolina will swing into heavy action next week, with the varsity baseball and track and freshman tennis outfits making their season's bow.

Both the varsity tennis and golf teams opened their schedules this week. Considerable interest is being shown in the baseball and track teams, both holders of Southern Conference championships.

The baseball team will meet Davidson at Davidson, Friday and Saturday, while the tracksters will be hosts to William and Mary next Saturday afternoon. Stiff opposition is expected in all contests.

The varsity tennis team will meet Dartmouth here Monday afternoon, and Davidson at Davidson next Saturday afternoon.

The varsity golfers will engage Hampton-Sydney here Wednesday afternoon, and State at Raleigh Saturday afternoon.

The freshman tennis team will open the season here Tuesday afternoon, meeting Presbyterian Junior College. The State frosh netters will be met here Saturday.

Tilden, Vines, Lott, and Nusslein will appear here Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in a tennis exhibition.

Next week's schedule:

Monday — Dartmouth here (tennis).

Tuesday—Presbyterian Junior College here (freshman tennis).

Wednesday — Hampton-Sydney here (golf).

Thursday — Tilden, Vines, Lott, and Nusslein here for tennis exhibition.

Friday—Davidson at Davidson (baseball).

Saturday—Davidson at Davadson (baseball); William and Mary here (track); Davidson at Davidson (varsity tennis); State at Raleigh (golf); State here (freshman tennis).

Julian Rainey Wins $15 in Local Drawing

Lucky Number is 1300; Large Crowd in Attendance.

A packed house and a crowd of about 300 people in front of the Carolina theatre last night witnessed the first in a series of drawings sponsored by the management of the local theatre.

The prize of $15 was won by Julian Rainey, University senior of Chapel Hill. The number of the ticket was 1300.

Tickets for the drawing, which will continue until further notice, may be secured by registering at the theatre. In the event that a winner one week is not in the theatre or vicinity on the night of the drawing, the cash prize for the week will be added to the prize of the following week.

The winning numbers will be announced from the stage of the theatre and in front of the theatre every Friday night at 9 o'clock.

LOST

Hamilton Watch with metal band pieced with leather. Reward. W. V. Binder, K. A. House.

SENATE LOWERS AUTO TAG RATES

Assembly Clears Decks for Renewed Action as Calendar Bills Are Rushed Through.

Raleigh, March 29.—(UP)—Its fiercest battles momentarily stilled, the General Assembly today applied itself to clearing calendars as a sort of preliminary stripping for renewed action.

Revenue and appropriations bills are now before the Senate.

Busy Day

The House today disposed of all but 11 bills on a 42-bill calendar before adjourning. The Senate disposed of all but three measures on a shorter docket.

Among the bills passed in the Senate today was a measure reducing the auto license tag costs to 45 cents per hundred weight instead of the previous 55 cents, fixing a minimum of eight dollars. Another prohibits dumping trash within 300 yards of any state highway.

The House bill causing greatest debate required municipalities to equip fire departments with gas masks. It was finally passed, amended to affect only Wake county.

Both houses will meet at 10 a. m. tomorrow to receive local bills.

Tennis

(Continued from page three)

son were the other two duos to score victories for the Tar Heels.

There was little opportunity to judge the Carolina squad from yesterday's performance. The players were not pressed and had no cause to extend themselves.

Levitan, who oponed the activities against Hanson, looked good as he outsteadied the Deacon star. His placements were effective and Hanson was unable to pass the sure-footed Carolina captain.

De Gray Looks Good

At the same time Eddy De Gray brushed off Josey, lanky second singles man for Wake Forest. De Gray needs but a little more polishing to reach his peak, which will be necessary when he faces the strong Dartmouth team on Monday.

Shore played third singles and was a little erratic against Tuttle. Henderson found Wilkens to his liking. Archie had his shots going and Wilkens proved to be very inadequate at retrieving the ball and was unable to ever approach the winning of a single game.

Larry Jones started poorly against McMillan, dropping the first two games. However, he came back and took the next 12 straight to run out the match 6-2, 6-0. McMillan had a powerful serve and a peculiar backhand, but Jones checked both easily after he recovered from his opening errors.

Byron Abels played the last singles match and also found no opposition. Stroupe offered no obstacles to Abels' shots and Byron completed his match within a few moments.

The team has but two days to prepare for the Dartmouth invasion and will need every moment for practice. Harris and Minor will be ready by that time, but it is doubtful whether Willis will be eligible to play.

The scores follow:

Singles

Levitan (C) over Hanson, 6-2, 6-1.

De Gray (C) over Josey, 6-1, 6-0.

Shore (C) over Tuttle 6-2, 6-4.

Henderson (C) over Wilkens, 6-0, 6-0.

Jones (C) over McMillan, 6-2, 6-0.

Abels (C) over Stroupe, 6-0, 6-0.

Doubles

Levitan-De Gray (C) over Hanson-Josey, 6-1, 6-2.

Shore-Abels (C) over Tuttle-Wilkens, 6-4, 6-2.

Jones-Henderson (C) over McMillan-Stroupe, 6-1, 6-0.

Relations Institute Personalities

STEPHEN P. DUGGAN

College professor, lecturer, holder of numerous degrees, author, Stephen Duggan of New York will appear on the Human Relations Institute lecture program Tuesday morning at 10:15 o'clock.

Dr. Duggan includes among his numerous national and international posts the directorship of the Institute of International Education, president of the New York Academy of Public Education, secretary of the American University Union in Europe, member of the Philippine Education Survey Commission, and membership in the American-Brazilian Commission of Conciliation.

Trustee of five different institutions, Duggan lists degrees from five colleges and universities. Professor of Political Science at the College of the City of New York, he is director of five foreign relations councils.

The New York man-of-affairs is listed as commander of the Order of the Crown of Italy, Chevalier Legion of Honor (France), officer of the Order of White Lions (Czechoslovakia), the Order of Merit (Hungary), and commander of the Order of the Star (Rumania).

SHAILER MATHEWS

Dr. Shailer Mathews is not only one of the outstanding theological thinkers of America, but is one of the foremost religious leaders of his generation.

The educator and editor, who is included on the Human Relations Institute program for next week, formerly was editor of The World Today and the Biblical World, dean of the school of religion at the University of Chicago, lecturer, president of various clubs and societies. He will speak on international relations.

World traveler and prolific editor, Mathews was president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America until 1916 and is now chairman of the executive committee of World Conference on International Peace Through Religion.

Beginning in 1907 he has conducted lecture sessions in 10 different national colleges and universities.

JOHN HOPE

Dr. John Hope, president of Atlanta University, who will speak on interracial relations at the Institute, holds official connection with all branches of the Y. M. C. A., from the local association to the World's Committee.

During the past two years, he has served as president of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, and is now president of the Georgia State Council for Work among Negro Boys.

Phi Beta Kappa, self-educated Hope entered home mission service after his graduation from college and a successful teaching career was culminated when he was chosen unanimously by the board of trustees for the presidency of the reorganized Atlanta University.

Hope was a delegate to the International Missionary Council which met in Jerusalem in 1928, and was one of the speakers at that meeting. He received the 1929 award in education of the William E. Harmon Awards for distinguished achievement among Negroes.

University Bell Tower Impresses Leroy N. Mills, Punting Authority

Recent Visitor to Chapel Hill Tells How He Was Attracted by Music and Beauty of Morehead-Patterson Memorial Carillon.

Leroy N. Mills of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., noted authority on kicking, who recently visited Chapel Hill to assist Carl Snavely with his punters, was greatly impressed by the carillon of the Morehead-Patterson Memorial tower, according to the letter he wrote to William D. Carmichael, Jr., University alumnus.

Writing to the Carolina man, Mills said of his experience at Chapel Hill: "I was deeply impressed by an incident that I want to tell you, as an alumnus of the fine old college. The second afternoon we took the boys out on the stadium with its beautiful surroundings, the work apparently interested them so much that it began to get dark while we were still working.

Music and Evening Star

"Just about this time my attention was attracted by the beautiful carillon music that unexpectedly arose through the stillness of the surrounding woods. And at the same time the whole thing became more impressive by the appearance of a light on the top of the tower, which looked as if the evening star was close at hand."

So moved was the visitor by the scene, he reported in his letter, "I stopped practice for a minute and called attention of the boys to the unusual and beautiful surroundings that they were blessed with, thinking perhaps that they were like the chap who was so close to the trees that he could not see the woods."

Recalls West Point

Mills compared the scene which so impressed him in the Carolina stadium to an experience he had on the gridiron at West Point. "I want to say," his letter read, "that it struck me as one of the most impressive things that I have met in my experience in following out my hobby in different places in the country, and I place it equally with the experience at West Point when towards the end of a practice a bugle is heard and every player and coach, no matter what he is doing, comes to attention while the flag is lowered at sunset."

Mills, who is a Princeton man, said that the only similar tower which had affected him in the same way is the Edward Bok Memorial Tower in Florida, known as the famous Singing Tower.

ITALY, ABYSSINIA SEVER RELATIONS

War Threatens Between Nations Over East Africa Disputes.

Rome, Italy, March 29.—(UP)—The threat of war between Italy and Abyssinia over the border disputes in East Africa increased tonight when it was announced that Abyssinia had abandoned direct negotiations with the Italian government.

Simultaneously, General Federico Baistrocchi, undersecretary of war, told the Italian senate that war may be expected any time, and that Italy will "have 600,000 men fully equipped by the end of April."

Italy opposes intervention by Geneva, insisting on the resumption of direct negotiations under the terms of the Italo-Abyssinian treaty.

S. L. I. D.

(Continued from page one)

war profitable to the three conspirators but deadly to the "under-dogs" who must do the fighting.

In a short talk following the puppet shows, Mr. Freidman expressed an appeal for a paramount organization of the Student League for Industrial Democracy at this University. "The aim of the Student L. I. D," he said, "is education for a new social order based upon production for use and not for profit."

The motto of the Student L. I. D. is "Educate, Agitate, Orzanize." In explanation, the aim is to educate the students to social problems, agitate, then organize for effective results.

Drama

(Continued from page one)

models, posters, scrapbooks and handbills along with 150 photographs of stage sets from the international exhibition at the Gallery of Modern Art in New York.

The evening part of the program includes the presentation of an original play from a junior college, the final contest in play production of the senior colleges and the announcements of the winners in all contests.

Professor Frederick H. Koch of the Playmakers will announce the winners and Dean of Administration Robert B. House will make the presentation of awards.

Institute

(Continued from page one)

every department of the University except the language and mathematics divisions will hear the guest authorities in the various fields.

Seminar Speakers

Besides the listed public lecturers who will also conduct seminars, the following are scheduled to receive interviewers and lead classroom discussions: Julian Harris, advertising manager of the Atlanta Constitution; Dr. J. F. Rippy of Duke University; Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, educational director, Phelps-Stokes fund, and Dr. Dr. N. C. Newbold, director of Negro education in the state department of public instruction.

For over two years the Y. M. C. A. and other campus organizations have been working toward the current session of the Human Relations Institute, a quadrennial affair.

The managing committee is made up of 12 faculty members and 15 students representing various campus organizations. General Secretary of the University Y. M. C. A. Harry Comer and Carolina Senior Charles Poe head the institute committee.

Organizations sponsoring the institute are the Y. M. C. A., the senior class, the Order of the Grail, the University administration, the departments of history and government, economics and commerce, sociology and public welfare, and the Weil committee.

Contributors of Funds

Contributions to the budget have been promised by the Grail, Y. M. C. A., the Student Union, the Weil lecture fund, the Phelps-Stokes and John F. Slater Foundations, and the Carnegie Corporation.

C. C. Spaulding, president of the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company, personally contributed the budget for one speaker.

Twenty-five thousand attended the institute when it was held here four years ago. The second Carolina meeting, it had 19 guest speakers, 22 public meetings, and 94 classroom seminars.

"Broadly stated," says Chairman Poe of the 1935 institute, "the purpose of the institute is to stimulate thought and discussion of contemporary social problems."

Patronize Our Advertisers

Shroud His Body Down

With the I-am-bored slump into his Playmakers' seat, some smart freshman mutters protest against one of the dramatic tournament presentations.

"Hmm," he says, at the slow-moving show, "this play must have been written by Paul Green."

A ripple of snorts pass over the audience . . . curtains and the end of the torture . . . someone near the freshman leans forward.

"Are you the young man so bored?" asks an alderly lady, her wrinkles half twisted into a smile.

"Yes" . . . "Your name?" . . . "Mr. (———") "Thanks." . . .

The elderly lady turns to a young woman beside her. "Mrs. Paul Green," she says aloud, "meet Mr. (———).

Quiet . . . quiet . . . now on, quiet.

150 Freshmen Out of 257 Pass All Courses

Four First-Year Men Fail All Winter Quarter Courses.

Of 257 freshmen enrolled in the college of liberal arts, 150 passed three or more courses during the winter quarter, Dean A. W. Hobbs announced yesterday.

Four first-year men passed no courses; 10 passed only a half course, and 15 passed only one course. Eight were ineligible to return this quarter.

Two hard-working freshmen made passing marks on four full courses, and three passed three and one-half courses. The regulation load of three full courses was successfully carried by 145 beginners. For the rest, 11 passed two and one-half courses, 57 passed two courses, and 10 passed one and a half courses.

PHI WILL DEBATE DUKE LITERARY CLUB HERE

On April 9 the Philanthropic Assembly will debate the Columbia Literary Society of Duke University on the affirmative of the query: Resolved, that the several states should adopt legislation providing for the socialization of medicine. The debate is to be held in Chapel Hill.

The date for the tryouts will be announced at the Phi meeting Tuesday evening. Phi members wishing to try out for the debate may obtain material from Winthrop Durfee.

Louis R. Wilson Honored

Louis R. Wilson, former University librarian, has been elected president of the American Library Association.

Mr. Wilson left Chapel Hill three years ago after 30 years with the University, to be dean of the graduate school of library science in the University of Chicago.

INFIRMARY LIST

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Wilburn Davis, Robert Van Sleen, I. L. James, Eleanor Lockhart, Kemp Nye, A. H. King, Glenn Best, Matt Query, and A. S. Kaplan.

SNAVELY WRITES IN MARCH REVIEW

New University Football Coach Makes Journalistic Debut In Alumni Monthly.

Urging old grads to "make a date for yourself for commencement, June 9-11," the March issue of The Alumni Review carried a schedule of this year's exercises and gives an account of alumni commencement plans.

The three college generations of '94, '95, '96, and '97; '13, '14, '15, and '16; and '32, '33 and '34 will reunite according to the Dix plan of class reunions. In addition the classes of '85, '10, and '25 will gather for golden, silver, and 10-year reunions.

Snavely Turns Journalist

Coach Carl Snavely makes his journalistic bow as Carolina coach in the first article he has written for print since coming to Chapel Hill, entitled, "Morale Is the Important Thing." "Morale," he says, "of a fine sort characterizes Carolina athletic teams."

Of considerable sentimental value should be the picture of Spencer hall on the cover.

Besides the lead story concerning the selection of new alumni association officers, the Review also carries its regular features, Topics in Brief, Heard and Seen Around the Well, and Keeping Up with the Classes.

Doping the Sports

(Continued from page three)

Coffin, and Henry Bridgers are all steady performers.

SPEAKING of Carolina's graduated baseball stars, McCaskill, who is the property of the New York Yankees, has already shown ability in training camp. According to Jake Wade, sports editor of the Charlotte Observer, Lamey received much praise from Herb Pennock, former big league pitching star, and is a real prospect. Nate Andrews belongs to the St. Louis Cardinal organization and is scheduled to perform for Asheville of the Piedmont League this summer.

German Reading Exam

The reading knowledge of German examinations for candidates for the higher degrees will be held today at 9:30 a. m. in 109 Saunders.

Next Saturday, April 6, at the same hour, the reading knowledge of French examination will be held in 314 Murphey.

Students who have not registered to take the examination should file their names at the graduate office at once.

LOST

On March 16 a mother of pearl cigarette lighter with initials "O.S.S." in one corner and Interfraternity Council key with name engraved on back. Reward offered. Please call 4411 with any information.

Large Fresh Fruit
LIMEADE
Sutton's Drug Store

Of Course . . .

you want a pencil that will write 1000 words a day for a whole year. The New VACUUM Pencil is the one that fills the bill. See them on display.

We have the smartest personal stationery in all styles. See our line of Rytex Stationery at

Alfred Williams & Co., Inc.

Quiz Books and Supplies

DEAN R. R. WICKS
8 P. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

The Daily Tar Heel

EXHIBIT OPENING
2 P. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, MARCH 31, 1935 | NUMBER 132

NOTED SPEAKERS TO MAKE TALKS BEFORE CLASSES

Duggan, Hope, Lederer, and Landis Will Lead Classroom Seminar Discussions Tomorrow.

PUBLIC FREE TO ATTEND

Over seven classes will hear seminar speakers tomorrow, according to a schedule announced yesterday by J. D. Winslow, head of the Human Relations Institute seminar committee.

Beginning at 11 a. m., Professor Frazer's class in Government 21 meeting in 213 Saunders will hear Dr. Stephen P. Duggan of the Institute of International Education.

Public Invited

All classroom discussions throughout the week will be open to visitors from outside the membership of the class, according to Winslow.

Also at 11 o'clock, Dr. John Hope, president of Atlanta University, will conduct the seminar for Professor Crittenden's History 48 class meeting in 314 Saunders.

Dr. Emil Lederer, dean of the graduate faculty of the New School for Social Research, has been selected to lead a discussion at a joint meeting to be held in 103 Bingham for 12 o'clock classes in Economics and Government 143 and 158.

Landis to Speak

At 3 p. m. James M. Landis, United States securities and exchange commissioner, will lecture to the classes in Economics 197 and the University's administrative law courses in 103 Bingham.

Winslow indicated that the whole class periods would be turned over to the visiting speakers.

The committee for arranging the seminar program is composed of Billy Harrison, Harold Bennett, Simmons Patterson, and Winslow.

Special seminar speakers who are not listed on the public address program include Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, educational director of the Phelps-Stokes fund; Dr. J. F. Rippy, professor of history and government at Duke University; Dr. N. C. Newbold, director of the department of Negro education in North Carolina; and Julian Harris, advertising director of the Atlanta Constitution.

Officials Limit Thomas Dinner Tickets To 100

Tickets for the Norman Thomas banquet next Friday evening in Graham Memorial have been limited to 100, it was announced yesterday. They are being sold for 60 cents.

There has been a heavy demand for admissions to the affair and officials of the Carolina Politcal Union, which is sponsoring the dinner, urge that reservations be made immediately at the office of the Y. M. C. A., with Robert Smithwick at Everett dormitory, or with Phil Hammer at the DAILY TAR HEEL office.

Thomas will speak on some phase of politics, probably Tammany Hall and other New York political machines. There will be ample opportunity for asking the speaker questions pertinent to this or other subjects.

INSTITUTE LEADERS

Pictured above are some of the outstanding authorities who will speak at the third quadrennial Human Relations Institute which opens here today.

Left to right, top row, they are Dean Robert Russell Wicks, Dr. Stephen P. Duggan, Donald Comer, Sanford Bates, Dr. Everett Dean Martin, George Soule, Jr., Dr. Sao-Ke Alfred Sze, Dr. Shailer Mathews, Norman Thomas, Hamilton Fish, Jr., Harry F. Comer, and Charles A. Poe. Comer and Poe are serving as executive secretary and student chairman of the Institute, respectively.

Presentation Of Awards Ends Carolina Dramatic Tournament

Dean of Administration Robert B. House Gives Prizes at Final Session of Festival.

NEW OFFICERS SELECTED

In session here at the Carolina Playmakers theatre for more than three days, the 12th annual festival and state tournament of the Carolina Dramatic Association ended last night with the presentation of awards for all the contest winners by Dean of Administration Robert B. House.

Twenty-three awards were made to various dramatic groups representing all parts of North Carolina. Officers of the Dramatic Association for the coming year were elected yesterday morning.

Guests Make Talks

Guest speakers for the occasion included Lee Simonson, the distinguished scenic director of the New York Theatre Guild who opened the festival Wednesday night; Samuel Freidman of the Theatre Union, New York; Playmakers Director Frederick H. Koch; Herbert Kline, editor of the New Theatre, New York; Playmakers' Son Paul Green, and University Summer School Director Edgar W. Knight.

The winners in the several contests, as announced at the close of the tournament last night by Professor Koch, are:

(Continued on page four)

Co-eds Meet Tuesday

The Woman's Association will meet Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Woman's Association room at Graham Memorial.

Nominations for next year's officers will be made and plans for the quarterly co-ed dance will be discussed.

ANTI-WAR DEMONSTRATION TO BE DISCUSSED TONIGHT

Members of the Foreign Policy League interested in discussing plans for the anti-war demonstration to be held here April 12 are urged by R. P. Russell to meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the Graham Memorial lounge.

The following members of the league are especially urged by Russell to be in attendance: Agnew Bahnson, Don Becker, Phil Hammer, Don McKee, Niles Bond, Joe Barnett, John Schulz, Nick Read, and Charles Lloyd.

The session will not conflict with the institute program tonight but will be over in plenty of time for all the Foreign Policy League members to hear the evening platform address of Dean Robert Russell Wicks.

Glee Club to Meet

The Glee Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in Hill Music hall.

Relations Institute Will Open Today With Speakers Filling Local Pulpits; Program Continues Through Saturday

NOTED LECTURERS SCHEDULED HERE FOR COMING WEEK

James M. Landis and Dr. Emil Lederer Continue Institute With Talks Tomorrow.

SOULE TO CLOSE SESSIONS

James M. Landis, United States Securities and Exchange Commissioner, and Dr. Emil Lederer, dean of the graduate faculty at the New School for Social Research, will make the two public platform addresses tomorrow, continuing the Human Relations Institute program which will last until Saturday.

Landis will discuss "The Significance of Federal Regulation of Securities" at 10:15 o'clock tomorrow morning in Memorial hall.

Says Business Week of Landis: "The vast extent of his knowledge fools a lot of people who cannot believe that one man could know as much as he does about so many things, and then have spare brain cells for something else."

Lederer Talks at Night

Dr. Lederer, who will make the evening lecture tomorrow at 8 o'clock, will talk on "The Background of European Dictatorships."

A world-renowned authority on economics, Lederer will also conduct several seminars during the week. Traveler and writer, he has held professorships in three foreign universities and has traveled and lectured in China, Europe, and throughout other parts of the world. He was a member of the Socialism commission and at one time editor of "Archiv fur Sozialwissenschaft and Sozialpolitik."

The Foreign Policy League will entertain Dr. Stephen Duggan at a special banquet at 6 p. m. tomorrow before Lederer's evening address.

In order to allow students to attend the morning addresses, the University administration has arranged for all 9:30 classes to end at 10:08 o'clock. The morning lecture throughout the week will begin at 10:15 o'clock and will continue till 11:08 o'clock. The regular 11 o'clock classes will assemble at 11:15 o'clock.

Tuesday's Program

The program for Tuesday includes public addresses by Dr. Stephen P. Duggan, director of the Institute of International Education, Dr. John Hope, president of Atlanta University, and Sanford Bates, director of the bureau of prisons of the United States Department of Justice.

Dr. Duggan will speak at the morning convocation on "The Present Situation in Europe;" Dr. Hope at 4 p. m. on "The Negro in the Modern World." Bates at the evening address will discuss the question, "Have Our Prisons Failed?"

Talks on Wednesday

Honorable Hamilton Fish, Jr., Congressman from New York, Chester Wright, public relations counsel for the United Textile Workers, and Donald Comer, president of the Avondale Textile Mills, are the three speakers scheduled for Wednesday.

Fish on "Government and In-

(Continued on page two)

Today's Program

Address: Dr. Carl C. Taylor.
Baptist church ..... 11 a. m.

Address: Julian Miller.
Methodist church ..... 11 a. m.

Address: Dr. McNeill Poteat.
Presbyterian church ..... 11 a. m.

Address: Dr. Howard E. Jensen.
Episcopal church ..... 11 a. m.

Opening of exhibit.
Memorial hall ..... 2 p. m.

Convocation: Dean Robert Russell Wicks.
Memorial hall ..... 8 p. m.

PUPPETS PERFORM IN DRAMA TONIGHT

Playmakers to Present Health Play at 7 p. m.; Performance Completes State Tour.

A special showing of the Playmakers' puppet health drama will be presented tonight at 7 o'clock in the Playmakers Theatre.

The performance is being sponsored to give drama students and friends in Chapel Hill and Raleigh an opportunity of seeing the play that has been touring the state. There will be no admission charge.

Sponsors of Play

Puppeteers Louise McQuire and William Long of the Playmakers, will have charge of the production of the show that they have carried to school chilldren in 29 counties under the sponsorship of the state dental department and the National Good Tooth Council.

Tonight's performance will be presented, according to Long, for Dr. Ernest Branch, head of of the state division of dental hygiene.

The drama which the Playmakers sent out reached 49,000 children in 80 performances, announced Long. Tonight's showing will complete the tour which began here several weeks before the holidays and included points over the state from the mountains to the sea.

Solely an educational production, the performance is not intended to conflict with any previously arranged church programs nor with the address of the Human Relations Institute guest, Dean Robert Russell Wicks of Princeton, in Memorial hall at 8 o'clock.

Banquet for Duggan

Foreign Policy League to Sponsor Dinner Tomorrow Night.

Dr. Stephen Duggan of the Institute of International Education will explain the Moscow summer school session for American students at a banquet in his honor at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening in Graham Memorial.

Dr. Duggan, who will appear on the Human Relations Institute program Tuesday morning, speaking on "The Present Situation in Europe," will also discuss the part American students can play in expressing themselves to their government on current public problems.

Tickets for the affair, which is being sponsored by the Foreign Policy League, are on sale in the Y. M. C. A.

DEAN R. R. WICKS TO TALK TONIGHT AT MASS MEETING

Opening of Institute Exhibit Will Take Place at 2 p. m. Today In Memorial Hall.

SPEECHES OPEN TO PUBLIC

Four Chapel Hill pulpits will be filled by Human Relations Institute speakers this morning, and the series of public platform addresses will be inaugurated tonight at a general mass meeting in Memorial hall at 8 o'clock.

At 11 a. m., Dr. Carl C. Taylor, regional director of the Land Policy of the AAA, will occupy the pulpit in the Baptist church. Dr. Taylor will speak on "The People and Our National Resources."

Miller at Methodist

At the Methodist church Julian Miller of the editorial staff of the Charlotte Observer, will talk on "How Much Better is a Man Than a Gasket?"

Dr. McNeill Poteat, pastor of Pullen Memorial church in Raleigh, will fill the Presbyterian pulpit. Dr. Poteat has announced that he will speak on "The Emancipation of the Spirit."

Discussing "The Sociological Background of Our Contemporary Conflicts," Dr. Howard E. Jensen, professor of sociology at Duke University, will appear at the Episcopal church.

Opening of Exhibit

The initial opening of the Institute exhibit in Memorial hall will be at 2 p. m. In the lobby there has been set up a complete display of hundreds of the best books and periodicals on the subject matter of the Institute. The exhibit will remain open till 10:30 and during the week from 9 a. m. till 10:30 p. m.

More than 32 national organizations and publishers furnished materials for the exhibit which has been arranged by Joe Sugarman, Dr. Harold D. Meyer, Phil Hammer, and Don McKee.

Wicks Talks at 8 p. m.

Dean of Chapel at Princeton University, Robert Russell Wicks will address the first of the Institute's public mass meetings in Memorial hall at 8 p. m. Wicks is to discuss "The College Student in a Sacred World." Author, theologian, speaker, World War Y. M. C. A. service worker, Dr. Wicks has been dean of chapel at Princeton since 1929.

Fifty-two-year-old Dr. Wicks is a graduate of Hamilton College and Union Theological Seminary and has three times been given the degree of doctor of divinity, from Hamilton, Williams, and Yale.

During the World War he performed "Y" services for over six months and since that time he has had an outstanding career as lecturer, preacher, and writer.

Dean Wick's topic for tonight's address, "The College Student in a Scared World," will serve to prepare a background for the Institute's study for the week.

According to Charles A. Poe, chairman of the Institute committee, the three major fields for study are: international relations and government, human relations in business and industry, and interracial and class relations.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, William Jordan, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: DON McKEE

Sunday, March 31, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

They had a make-up contest in the Dramatic tournament yesterday. Might be a good suggestion for Student-Faculty Day.

We gather hope in LeRoy Mills' praise of the bell-tower. Maybe even the kickers will find something beautiful in the University.

Now that Senator Reynolds has been elected honorary coach of Duke's boxing team, the questions and answers usually run: "What, Our Bob?" Gloomy reply: "Nope, our mistake."

Ringing In Our Ears

The Institute of Human Relations gets underway today, the third quadrennial study of current economic, political, and social problems.

The importance of the Institute has been frequently stressed in these columns and elsewhere. What it left for us and others interested in the program to do in the way of publicity is to urge the importance of student participation in the perceptive processes led by the great leaders who will conduct the study.

It is apparent that very few students will be able to attend every lecture and seminar. But this is not necessary. Each student must evaluate the individual speakers and the fields in which they are working and choose his own week's program on the basis of his interest and his own personal needs. In this way the Institute will provide for every student the most effective and beneficial stimulation.

After months of intensive planning, the student-faculty arrangements committee this week will see the fruits of its labor ripened and plucked by inquisitive and alert students who will take advantage of what the program has to offer. The students have all the opportunities on a golden platter and the quadrennial invitation is ringing in their ears—help yourself.

Optimism For Sports

The spring sports program at the University is generally regarded as the most attractive of the entire year, despite the continued popularity of southern football and the rising appeal of the winter indoor sports. With beautiful weather and heavy schedules, the sports teams in the last term usually provide colorful entertainment to lovers of athletics.

This year, from early indications, will be no exception. With a great tennis team to carry on where the national champions left off, with another baseball outfit seemingly headed for another Southern Conference championship, and with the track team regarded as the equal of the last several years, North Carolina will be out to set new marks in the southern sports world.

There are a number of individual performances by certain Tar Heels which will be watched throughout the country as well as by the students at Chapel Hill. This should add to the zest of what appears to be a bang-up display of Carolina brawn and brain on the court, the diamond, and the cinder path.

It shouldn't be hard to give our support to the contests, especially when they are to be such crack performances.

Toward a Student-Faculty Understanding

At one of the leading eastern colleges, an organization has been formed to bring together the students and professors outside the classroom. This organization has sent out questionnaires among the students asking the names of those members of the faculty whom they would like to know better.

Something along this line was recently successfully tried at Carolina in the Student-Faculty Day, with its purpose the bringing of the student and his instructors into more intimate contact.

However, the purpose of the Student-Faculty Day will be defeated if this auspicious beginning is allowed to die out, to be revived only once a year. To encourage this relationship between student and faculty it might be an idea that one afternoon each month be set aside when it shall be customary for members of each fraternity to hold open house for faculty members, and to invite personally those in whom they are most interested. Such informal get-togethers will carry on the spirit of intimate contact so ably begun by the Student-Faculty Day last quarter.

Note on Agitation

The Student League for Industrial Democracy, a socialistic organization, has founded one of its units on the campus, and lest the DAILY TAR HEEL once more be construed as "pillorying" such tendencies, let it be understood that we are totally amenable, if a sufficient number of students wish to see the organization live and prosper, to the presence of any such group on the campus.

"The aim of the Student L. I. D.," said Mr. Samuel Freidman of New York City, who came down to help organize the group, "is education for a new social order based upon production for use and not for profit." That's clear enough as a statement of purpose. It is also attractive enough as a magnet for new members—provided those prospective new members accept the premise, which we do not, that a social order can be based upon production solely for use and not for profit.

The motto of the Student L. I. D. is "Educate, Agitate, Organize." "Agitation," the word we do not like, can mean a hundred things, varying from soap-box speeches, which we do not think the members intend, to mere working toward a membership goal, which we think the members do intend.

The purpose of the Student L. I. D. being attractive enough, wherefore the need for the word "agitation"?

We Can Stay Out

A general European war may be inevitable, but, as we look at the situation today, there is not so much as one reason why Uncle Sam should get his pants caught in the barbed-wire. We have no quarrel with a single European nation. Not one of them in fact, with the exception of Great Britain, is a natural enemy of the United States. By a natural enemy is meant a nation whose territory, colonial or otherwise, is near enough to the United States or its possessions to cause possible conflict. For us they are Mexico, Japan, and Great Britain. Unless Japan somehow gets mixed up with Russia, the first two will play no part in the coming struggle, and our social, cultural, racial, and traditional friendship with Great Britain is so strong that conflict with her is unthinkable.

What then, could possibly draw us into the conflict? Of the six wars in which the United States has participated, only two, the War of 1812 and the World War, are comparable to the present situation. And the same underlying cause helped bring about our participation in both—a breach of our neutral rights which rankled because of our large economic interests. It would seem that the United States has wasted enough men and money for the defense of the freedom of the seas, especially when we are sure to get back our neutral rights as soon as the war is over—and as surely lose them again when another war starts.

The only sensible way to keep ourselves out of more useless conflicts is to revise our over-theoretical ideas of neutrality. This might be done, as Senator Nye suggests, by trading with any or all combatant nations—providing that they run the risk of carrying the goods in their own ships. Or we might even allow American ships to enter the game with the absolute understanding that under no circumstances will a mishap to them be considered a violation of the national honor of the United States or casus belli. Such a stand would hit at the very basis of war feeling in the United States. The necessity for immediate revision of our neutrality stand by the government cannot be over-stated—it's hard to back down on a point of national honor once the insult has been given. But certainly, to prevent the sacrifice of countless persons innocent of war, something like this is needed.

WITH THE CHURCHES

Methodist

9:45 a. m.—Sunday school.

11:00 a. m.—Sermon, Dr. Julian Miller. Topic: "How Much Better is a Man than a Gasket."

7 p. m.—Student Forum.

Baptist

10 a. m.—Student class.

10 a. m.—Co-ed class.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon, Dr. Carl C. Taylor. Topic: "The People and our National Resources."

7 p. m.—B. Y. P. U.

7 p. m.—Young People's Society.

Presbyterian

10 a. m.—Student class.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon, Rev. McNeill Poteat, Topic: "The Emancipation of the Spirit."

7 p. m.—Forum.

Episcopal

8 a. m.—Holy Communion.

10 a. m.—Bible class.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon, Dr. Howard E. Jensen. Topic: "The Sociological Background of our Contemporary Conflicts."

United

10 a. m.—Student Bible class.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon, Dr. W. J. McKee. Topic: "The Forces that Brought Jesus to the Cross."

7 p. m.—Student Forum.

Catholic

8:30 a. m.—Mass.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

3:00: Philharmonic Sym., Toscanini, conductor, WABC, WBT, WHAS.

4:00: America's First Rhythm Sym., WEAF, WRVA, WSB, WPTF.

5:00: Freddy Martin orch., WABC, WBT, WHAS, WBIG; Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, contralto, WEAF, WSB.

6:00: Nat'l Amateur Night, Ray Perkins, m.c., WABC, WBT, WHAS.

7:00: Alexander Woollcott, Robert Armbruster's orch., WABC, WHAS; Jack Benny, Don Bestor's orch., WJZ, WPTF, KDKA, WSB, WENR.

7:30: Will Rogers, WABC, WBT, WHAS, WBIG; Joe Penner, Ozzie Nelson's orch., WJZ, WSB, KDKA, WPTF, WRVA.

8:00: Major Bowe's Amateur Hour, WEAF, WSB, WPTF, WRVA, WLW; Eddie Cantor, Rubinoff's orch., WABC, WHAS, WBT, WSB; Symphony Concert, Rafael Kubelik, WJZ, KDKA.

9:30: Walter Winchell, WJZ, KDKA, WLW, WGN.

10:00: Wayne King's orch., WABC, WHAS.

10:45: Fray and Braggiotti, piano duo, WABC, WBT, WBIG, WGST.

11:30: Kay Kyser, orch., WGN; Duke Ellington orch., WLW.

11:45: Jan Garber, orch., WGN.

12:00: Freddie Berren orch., WJZ, KDKA, WLW.

12:30: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

Mrs. Beard Speaks

Mrs. J. G. Beard attended the North Carolina Education Association in Winston Thursday and presented two papers before the section of physical education.

The first paper, "A Modern Program of Physical Education," was presented at the special meeting for college women, while the second, "Essential Standards of Physical Education in Teacher Training Institutions," was read before the general session of the section.

Institute Program

(Continued from page one)

dustrial Relations," Wright on the "Platform Principles of Textile Labor," and Comer on the "Problems of Textile Management," will all deal on the second main phase of the Institute's study: human relations in business and industry.

Thursday's speakers include Dr. Everett Dean Martin who will appear at 10:15 a. m. and again at 4 p. m., and George Soule, who will make an evening address.

Martin's topics are "Violence and Social Progress" for the morning hour and "A Liberal Education" for the afternoon. Sponsored by the Order of the Grail, Martin is director of the Peoples Institute.

Soule Is Weil Lecturer

Soule, editor of the New Republic and Weil lecturer for 1935, will use as the subject for his first lecture "Social Changes and the American Tradition."

The triad of speakers for Friday includes Dr. Shailer Mathews, lecturer and former dean of the Chicago Divinity School; Norman Thomas, director of the League for Industrial Democracy, and Soule.

Mathews' 10:15 lecture will treat "International Conflicts in the Far East;" Thomas in the afternoon will speak on "Trends Toward Fascism." Soule in his second lecture here Friday night will discuss "Liberty as Purpose."

Last Sessions

The final day of the Institute will be taken up with four events. At the 10:15 address, Chinese minister to the United States Sao-Ke Alfred Sze will speak on "International Good Will and Understanding."

Addressing a public forum in Gerrard hall at 12 o'clock, Thomas will appear again on "Industrial Relations." At 1 p. m., a luncheon conference on "Threats to Peace," will be held for Dr. Sze, Soule, Mathews, and Thomas. Plates must be reserved in advance at the Y. M. C. A. office.

For the final public address, Editor Soule will speak in Memorial hall at 8 o'clock on "Organized Liberty."

Institute Committee

Composing the Institute committee are Charles Poe, chairman; Harry F. Comer, executive secretary; Students Eben Alexander, Agnew Bahnson, Harold Bennett, Lonnie Dill, Albert Ellis, Phil Hammer, Billy Harrison, Paul Mickey, Don McKee, Simmons Patterson, Jack Pool, Joe Sugarman, Herbert Taylor, and J. D. Winslow.

Faculty members F. F. Bradshaw, D. D. Carroll, H. F. Comer, K. C. Frazer, F. P. Graham, G. B. Johnson, E. W. Knight, E. L. Mackie, R. W. Madry, H. D. Meyer, H. W. Odum, J. M. Saunders, M. T. Van Hecke, and E. J. Woodhouse.

Examination Postponed

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that, because of the fact that there are no vacancies at the present time nor any contemplated vacancies in the near future in the position of Junior Meteorologist, the examination recently announced for this position will not be held.

EDUCATORS MEET IN WINSTON-SALEM

University Well Represented at Association Meeting.

With an unusually large attendance, the annual meeting of the North Carolina Education Association was held in Winston-Salem Friday and Saturday of this week.

Among the University faculty presenting papers at the session were Dr. U. T. Holmes, Jr., and W. R. Weaver of the French department; Dr. Sturgis E. Leavitt of the Spanish department; F. E. Coenen and Carl Hammer of the German department.

Dr. Leavitt attended a committee meeting called to revise a course of study for North Carolina high schools. This committee decided to base the new course of study in large part on a "Two-Year Course in Spanish," a pamphlet compiled in 1931 by a state committee of which Dr. S. A. Stoudemire was a member and Dr. Leavitt chairman. This course will be adapted to the eight months school.

Assembly Will Consider Semester System

Phi to Meet Tuesday Night at 7:15 O'clock in New East.

The Phi assembly will hold its first spring quarter session at 7:15 Tuesday in the New East under a new staff of officers headed by Speaker Albert Ellis.

Bills to be discussed during the first meeting are: Resolved, that the Phi assembly go on record as not favoring the semester system; Resolved, that the screen be condemned for entering politics; and Resolved, that there should be no change in class hours at U. N. C.

An alternative bill for the last stated query is, Resolved, that the University be commended for securing noted speakers for the Human Relations Institute. The assembly will decide at the meeting which of the bills will be discussed.

Cincinnati Alumni Will Organize Club

Approximately 20 University alumni living in Cincinnati, O., will gather for an informal dinner Friday to effect the organization of the group into a permanent local alumni club, making another in the chain of 60 such organizations throughout the country.

The meeting has been arranged by W. E. Connally, Jr., of the class of 1932 and will take place in Cincinnati's Kemper Lane Hotel.

At the request of Mr. Connally, who wishes to give the alumni some news direct from the campus, copies of this issue of the DAILY TAR HEEL will be mailed to Cincinnati for distribution at the meeting.

INFIRMARY LIST

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Robert Van Sleen, Maurice Ditch, Eleanor Lockhart, A. S. Kaplan, Glenn Best, Matt Query, and T. B. Grey.

FLY TODAY
Chapel Hill Airport
Extra Long Rides—$1.00
See Chapel Hill from the air!

You Should Read These New Books . . . .

OF TIME AND THE RIVER ..... Thomas Wolfe
GRANDSONS ..... Louis Adamic
FRANCIS THE FIRST ..... Francis Hackett
RATS, LICE AND HISTORY ..... Hans Zinsser
MAN CALLED CERVANTES ..... Bruno Frank

Also recent books by William Faulkner, Edna Ferber, Robert Graves, Andre Malraux

The Bull's Head Bookshop
In the Y. M. C. A.
BOOKS FOR SALE AND FOR RENT

Golfers Defeat Deacons On Hope Valley Course For Seasons Second Win

Dick Harris Plays At Number One Post

Tar Heels Play Steady to Win 16-2 Victory from Wake Forest Outfit.

HAMILTON MAKES DEBUT

The varsity golfers won their second game of the season by gaining a decisive victory over Wake Forest, beating them on the Hope Valley course by a score of 16-2.

Despite the fact that number one man Erwin Laxton was not on hand due to a class conflict, the team had little trouble in defeating the Deacons. Each of the regular starters was moved up a position and Hamilton, a promising sophomore candidate, ably filled the vacant fourth position.

Harris Takes Opener

The opening match between Harris and Hatcher was won by the Tar Heel's starter, 2-1. Harris played a fine game, and was particularly accurate on his drives off the tee. He was out front from the beginning and Hatcher never came near passing him.

In the second contest Coffin of North Carolina came up against Josey, the Deacs' number two man, and routed him, 3-0. Coffin outsteadied his opponent and walked away with the match.

In the next match Harris and Coffin combined to defeat Hatcher and Josey, 2-1, in the first doubles play of the afternoon. Both displayed some fine putting on the greens, and though their opponents played much better golf than they had in the singles, the Tar Heels finished strong to give Carolina an imposing lead.

Bridgers and Hamilton stepped out and copped their matches by 3-0 scores, beating Paschal and Poteat, respectively. After their decisive victories in the singles play, the two youngsters combined and thrashed Paschal and Poteat in the final match of the day by a 3-0 score.

BABE RUTH WILL PLAY WITH TEAM AT FAYETTEVILLE

Boston Braves Will Clash with Wolfpack Nine.

(Special to the DAILY TAR HEEL)

Fayetteville, March 30. —Babe Ruth returns to his old hunting grounds at Fayetteville, N. C., Friday, April 5, when the much awaited exhibition between the revamped Boston Braves and State College takes place.

Interest is running high and seats at Highland Park are all but sold out. Tickets may be secured from D. T. Perry, Box 465, Fayetteville, for $1.13 for adults, including tax, and 35c for children.

The State nine is primed for the tilt and will send their strongest possible lineup against the major league outfit. The Braves likewise have specified in their contract that they will send full strength against the college nine.

Babe Ruth is the attraction and his return to Fayetteville is bound to make the affair a huge success and a banner day for the city.

CO-ED GYM SCHEDULE

Beginning tomorrow and extending throughout the spring quarter, freshman co-eds will meet their gymnasium classes on Mondays and Wednesdays at 4 p. m. Any conflicts in class schedules should be reported at once to Mrs. M. H. Stacy.

FIFTY-ONE SEEK FROSH NINE JOBS

Coaches James and Wright Put Yearling Candidates Through Practice in Hitting.

The frosh baseballers continued to show improvement and went through a snappy drill yesterday afternoon. The yearlings stepped into the offerings of the pitchers and slammed balls time after time into the far reaches of the outfield.

The sluggers experienced difficulty with the terrific speed of Turbyville and were unable to judge the twirler's offerings at the start. Each man took six cuts and many of the future diamond greats got off lusty clouts.

After the batting practice the four infield combinations took their turn on the diamond and fielded in fine form.

Game Tuesday

The fielding yesterday was so good that if the improvement keeps up Coach James might allow the squad to play a practice game late Monday afternoon. However, James announced that a game will be surely held Tuesday.

The moundsmen trying for a position on the squad are: Turbyville, Humphries, Callister, Parker, Pardi, Jones, and Willard. Those who have been handling the catching assignment are: Dalton, Redfern, Bricklemeyer, and Andrews. The initial sack performers are: Boone, Grubb, Turk, Feldman, Blum, Bershak, Hooke, Shingleton, and Lloyd. Second base has been well taken care of by: Merrifield, Dixon, Ford, Leals, Kallun, Canaday, Coxeter, Brandt, Craner, and Smart. Filling in at the hot corner are: Burnette, Gibbons, Rogers, and Phillips, while Collins and Swain are fighting for the shortfield position. Patroling the outer pastures are: Chestnut, D'Ascensio, Rice, Caffey, McDevitt, Levine, Shalom, Mills, Conley, Buccolo, Carey, Mallard, Hunter, LeGrande, and Walborn. Practice has been called for 3:30 on Monday.

Mail Order Catalog Blamed With Ending Career Of Grid Star

Akron, Ohio, March 30.—(UP)—A mail order catalog was blamed for ending the Notre Dame University football career of Albert T. Costello, former high school grid star, in a suit filed here.

Costello seeks $50,000 in a suit against a mail order company for alleged unauthorized publication of his photograph in 1934, an act he claims ended his football career on the Ramblers' squad.

Publication of the photograph caused him "great mental suffering, distress, humiliation and chagrin and caused him to be subjected to ridicule and criticism by his friends," the petition said. Costello, a senior at the South Bend school, charges that after he complained of alleged unauthorized publication of his photograph he was prevented from continuing to play on the first squad.

The last trip made by Costello with the squad was to the Navy-Notre Dame game in Cleveland. He was left behind when the squad played Northwestern at Evanston, the Army at New York, Los Angeles, although he had made nearly every trip with the squad since his sophomore year, members of his family said.

REGULARS DOWN RESERVES DURING LONG NINE DRILL

Latcher Webster Shows Excellent Form by Pitching Entire Game for First String.

GUS McIVER HITS HARD

Coach Bunn Hearn took advantage of the Saturday holiday to send his baseball squad through a four-hour practice. After a long batting and fielding drill the first and second teams clashed in another practice game.

The regulars finally showed some superiority over the reserves by whipping them 5-3 in nine innings and out-hitting them 16-9. However, in an extra tenth inning the second outfit tied the count at 5-5.

Webster Shines

Latcher Webster, rookie hurler, demonstrated that he was ready for service by going the full route for the regulars. Although bothered by a sore arm, he pitched good ball most of the time, getting in trouble only as a result of poor support from his mates.

Young Bunn Hearn twirled for the second string and was relieved by Ike Jeanes. Both boys were wild at times but held the varsity pretty well in check.

Big Gus McIver shook a batting slump which has been hanging onto him for the past few weeks. The left fielder cracked out a triple and two singles in his first three trips to the plate.

Rand Also Hits

Trip Rand, little second baseman, also continued his fine stick work by connecting for three singles. Webster, the pitcher, got two clean knocks.

For the reserves Morris Rhodes, first baseman, Ed Bullard, playing in the outfield for a change, and Strayhorn, peppy catcher, were the leading batsmen, each with two safe blows.

(Continued on last page)

TRACK SQUAD IS PUSHED THROUGH STIFF WORKOUT

Tar Heel Cindermen Close First Week's Training with Hard Practice Session.

MEET W. AND M. SATURDAY

The track squad went through the stiffest workout of the season yesterday afternoon as it completed its first week's session of outdoor practice in preparation for the opening meet with William and Mary here next Saturday.

Despite the fact that Carolina did lose much of its expected strength, it still has a fairly well balanced squad as was evidenced by the fine work exhibited in the indoor meet.

However, it is certain that unless replacements are found, developed, or somehow manufactured, the Blue and White is going to reach the end of its track supremacy.

Want More Candidates

It is this one thing that the coaching staff is attempting to thwart; thus its reason for imploring anyone who has any talent—or may think he has—to come out for the squad.

This year the reserves and sophomores are being counted upon to aid the "stars" in carrying the team through.

In the sprints Farmer, Higby, Gunter, and Connell will be expected to carry the burden along with Co-Captain Charley Hubbard, while Conte, Allen, and Haywood will be looked to for aiding Williamson, Waldrop, and the sophomores, Gammon and Gabori, over the longer distances. "Red" Rosser will be teaming up with "Red" Drake in the quarter.

Starting tomorrow intense practice will be slated for the varsity, as William and Mary, always presenting a strong team, will bring its usual fine talent to Chapel Hill.

Carolina Athletic Teams Facing Full Sports Program This Week

The eyes of Carolina sport followers will turn toward Chapel Hill this week.

Coach Kenfield's tennis team will start the ball rolling as they entertain the visiting Dartmouth netmen on the varsity courts tomorrow. The New Englanders have one of the best net teams in the East; thus, tomorrow's meet should give a real test to the strength of the Tar Heels.

Tilden Thursday

Thursday is the "big day" that state and local fans have been waiting for—Big Bill Tilden is coming to town. Not only is Big Bill coming—he is bringing with him Ellsworth Vines, Hans Nusslein, and George Lott, a trio of the world's foremost professional tennis players.

Tilden has played in exhibition matches at Chapel Hill before, and each time he has been tremendously popular with the fans. He last appeared here on Thanksgiving Day, 1933.

Coaches Fetzer and Hearn will treat the fans with a double helping of sports on Saturday, as the Tar Heel track and baseball teams initiate the current home season.

The cindermen will be facing the strong track aggregation from William and Mary, the team which walked away with the non-conference indoor title a few weeks ago.

Later in the afternoon Coach Bunn Hearn's baseball team will swing into action against the Davidson Wildcats. This will be the second of the four-game series against the Big Five institution.

The Tar Heel tennis team will also be facing Wildcat competition as they engage the netsters at Davidson.

By way of completing this heavy sports program, the Carolina golfers will play a return match with the State Wolfpack at Raleigh.

Bull's Head Bookshop Gets Eight New Books

Eight outstanding new books have been added to the shelves of the Bull's Head bookshop, announced director Elizabeth Johnson yesterday.

New books include "Of Time and the River," by Thomas Wolfe, "Pylon," by William Faulkner, "Come and Get It," by Edna Ferber, "Rats, Lice and History," by Hans Zinsser, "Grandsons," by Louis Adamic, "Francis the First," by Francis Hackett, "Man Called Cervantes," by Bruno Frank, and "Elinor Wylie," by Nancy Hoyt.

Carolina Netters Clash With Indians Tomorrow

Tilden Troupe Will Perform Inside Tin Can

Tennis Pros Will Play on Indoor Court Since Outdoor Bleachers Are Unfinished.

Due to the present condition of the Carolina tennis courts, the bleacher seats being in the course of reconstruction, the Tilden tennis exhibition which is due on Thursday, April 4, will be staged in the Tin Can at 8 p. m.

The troupe was formerly scheduled to perform at 3 p. m. on the varsity outdoor courts. However, this new arrangement will probably aid in the success of the event. A greater crowd can be accommodated, which does away with the fear of lack of space for the spectators on the other courts.

Ballot Returns

Early returns on the ballot yesterday for an opponent for Bill Tilden did not give any true indication of who will face the aged master across the net. Neither has the doubles returns swung definitely toward any pair.

Get your vote in immediately. Have the exhibition be a true success by making the match a choice of the students.

The feel of the exhibition is really in the air, as posters having action photographs of the players, adorn the campus.

Price of Tickets

The prices have also been recently released. All college and high school students will be admitted, with proper identification, for 50c. General admission will run at $1, whereas reserved seats will be sold at $1.50. These last mentioned seats will be well up on the playing surface.

Another ballot accompanies this article. Tear it out, fill it out, and throw it in the ballot box in the lobby of Graham Memorial today.

Exhibition Choice

1. Check opponent for Tilden:

Lott..... Vines..... Nusslein.....

2. Check doubles partner for Tilden:

Lott..... Vines..... Nusslein.....

Signed .....

Drop in box in Graham Memorial lobby.

Golf Meeting

There will be a meeting of all condidates for the varsity golf team tomorrow at 10:30 o'clock at Emerson field, it was announced by Manager Bridgers yesterday.

Spring Boxing

All varsity and freshman boxers are requested to meet at Emerson field tomorrow at 4:30 p. m., according to an announcement made yesterday by Coach Rowe. Regular spring training will begin Tuesday.

Crucial Match Gets Underway at 3 p. m.

Bob Husted and Paul Guiber Lead Dartmouth Invasion Against Tar Heels.

PRACTICE AGAIN TODAY

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 p. m. the first true test comes the way of the championship Carolina team in its second contest of the season, when they meet those maurading Dartmouth Indian tennis stars from the far north on the varsity courts.

Dartmouth brings a brilliant reputation with them to Carolina and yesterday's practice session classed them as a foe not to be trifled with. As a matter of fact, there isn't the slightest bit of optimism in the Carolina camp as they await this crucial match.

Husted Leads Team

Captained by Bob Husted, this Indian team bodes ill will. Husted was last year runner-up in the Eastern Intercollegiate championships. That in itself speaks well for the Dartmouth player and his probable match with Levitan promises to be a classic.

Second for Dartmouth is Paul Guiber, another outstanding player. This year's captain of the famous Dartmouth hockey team, Guiber has fared just about as well on the tennis courts. In that same Eastern Intercollegiate title competition, he carried Gil Hunt of M. I. T. to the very limit.

The rest of the team is also strong and every player is about on a par with their corresponding Carolina opponent. Dartmouth has not made this trip for naught. They are as confident as Carolina is cautious.

Carolina Lineup

For Carolina, the lineup is yet very much in doubt and Coach Kenfield is counting on today's practice to help him in determining the position of the players. Walter Levitan, captain, will probably open hostilities against Husted. Levitan is one of the most dependable players on the squad and as cool a match player as can be desired.

It would seem safe to say that Harvey Harris will be in second place and Ricky Willis in third. Willis has again been declared eligible and is a helpful additon to the team. Harris was number one man last year.

Two other starters seem certain. They are Eddy De Gray, flashy sophomore, and Frank Shore, likewise a frosh of last year. The sixth and final singles is the one in doubt, with Ike Minor, Larry Jones, Byron Abels, and Archie Henderson all striving for the position.

The doubles for Carolina will probably be taken care of by Levitan and De Gray, Harris and Shore, and Abels and Willis. Every combination is strong and expected to click against the Indians, who also seem to have power in this department.

The Dartmouth Visit

The Dartmouth team will have exactly two days of practice in

(Continued on last page)

Spring Is Here . . . So Is Real Beer

Our Menu Features Dishes Suitable to the Weather and Beer

EAT HERE AND ENJOY THE BEST IN QUALITY

GOOCH BROS. & BROOKS CAFE

Esslinger's

"America's Finest Beer"—On Draught Exclusively—Also in Bottles

MAGAZINES SODAS SANDWICHES CANDY TOBACCOS

BEER IN BOTTLES AND ON TAP NEWSPAPERS

U. N. C. TO DEBATE NORTHERN TEAM

Orators Will Meet George Washington University Tomorrow in Gerrard Hall.

The University will meet George Washington University in a debate tomorrow morning at 11:15 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

The query is, Resolved, that the nations agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions.

Visiting Speakers

The visiting speakers are Arthur Murphy and Phillip Merryman.

R. C. Russell and Winthrop Durfee, University representatives, will uphold the negative of the question.

George Washington University is on its annual debating tour of the south. Donald Seawell and Winthrop Durfee debated the institution during the holidays over radio station WOL in Washington, D. C.

Drama Festival

(Continued from page one)

"Ever' Snitch," by Irene Fussler, produced by Tabor in the final contest in play production of the county high schools.

"The Death of the Swan," by Walter Spearman, produced by the Charlotte Little Theatre in the final contest in the production of an original play by an individual member; "Effie," by Audrey Lee Owen, produced by the Blue Masque of Catawba College in the final contest in the production of an original play by the senior colleges.

"Figureheads," by Louise Saunders, produced by Southern Pines in the final contest in play production of the city high schools; "The Severed Cord," by Maxine Finsterwald, produced by the Wayne Players of Goldsboro in the final contest in play production of adult community groups; "The Harbor of Lost Ships," by Louise Whitefield Bray, produced by the Biltmore Junior College Players of Asheville in the final contest in play production of the junior colleges.

Costume Contest

In the costume contest, the soldiers' costume from "Princess Marries the Page," designed by Murray McGowan of Greensboro College, was awarded first place. Honorable mention went to "Girl with Dimensions and Colors," by Julia Vinsion of Whiteville high school and to the princess in "The Princess Marries the Page," designed by Murray McGowan.

The make-up contest winner was Alice Lee Owen of Black Mountain College for her young German Peasant in "A Very Small Brain." Eddie Lieberman of Mars Hill was given honorable mention for the Chinese in "Breaking of the Calm." First place for stage modeling went to John K. Shope of The Blue Masque for "Othello" in the college group and to Sarah Marshburn of Raleigh for "Green Stocking" in high school group.

The final contest in play production of the senior colleges found the play "Overtones," by Alice Gerstenberg, produced by W. C. U. N. C., winner.

As a special award, a collection of drama books including some of Paul Green's works was given Olive L. Jenkins whose "Thanksgiving Classic," presented by the Blue Masque of Catawba, was considered the best original play.

Officers Elected

New officers for the association are as follows: president, Walter Spearman, director of the workshop at the Little Theatre of Charlotte; vice-president, Mrs. Florence Busby, director of the Blue Masque of Catawba College, Salisbury; Little Theatre representatives, J. B. Clarke, director of the Town Hall Players of Durham, and J. W. Mitchell, president of the Badin Dramatic Club.

City high school representatives, C. M. Edson of Rocky Mount and Anna Kreimmeier of Greensboro; county high school representatives, Beth Rogers of Tabor and Louise Perry of the Little Playmakers at Swannanoa; junior college representatives, Estelle Burt of Campbell Junior College and Florence Davis of St. Mary's in Raleigh.

Senior college representatives, Pearl Setzer of Lenoir-Rhyne and W. R. Wunch of Black Mountain College; junior group representatives, Vance P. Hill of East Flat Rock.

Regular staff positions are held by Professor Koch, Irene Fussler, John W. Parker, R. M. Grumman, Samuel Selden, Harry Davis, Oramae Davis, W. R. Taylor of W. C. U. N. C., and Edwin Paget of State.

Co-eds Entertain Players

Miss Sarah Seawell was hostess to the Carolina Dramatic Association at a tea given in Graham Memorial yesterday afternoon. Assisting her were Miss Kathleen Mae Krahenbuhl, Miss Mary Elizabeth Armbruster, and Miss Katherine Threlkeld.

World News Bulletins

Off Gold Standard

Brussels, Belgium, March 30—(UP) — Belgium joined the ranks of the nations who have renounced the gold standard when a bill establishing an economic new deal passed the parliament here tonight.

Roosevelt Cruising

Miami, Fla., March 30—(UP)—President Roosevelt cruised northward toward the Bahamas tonight, the prow of the sleek yacht Nourmahal pointing toward Nassau, where two navy planes carrying the White House mail await him.

The planes are expected to arrive at a rendezvous to be arranged later sometime tomorrow.

Reilly Presents Bill

Trenton, N. J., March 30.—(UP) — Edward J. Reilly, Hauptmann defense chief, has presented the condemned prisoner with a "services rendered" bill for $25,000, the United Press learned tonight.

Blue Eagle at Stake

Washington, March 30—(UP)—The destiny of the blue eagle was at stake tonight as the Senate contemplated President Roosevelt's proposal to extend the NRA two years.

The Senate finance committee, continuing its investigation, heard little but vigorous criticism of the NRA from industry today.

Federal Works Bill

Washington, March 30.—(UP) — Embattled house leaders, groggy from their fight over the passage of the $4,880,000,000 works bill, turned the whole argument over to President Roosevelt late today for settlement.

The President must decide whether he wants the bill as now written, or whether he believes it must be revised. His decision is expected over the week-end.

Twenty Bills Passed

Raleigh, March 30.—(UP)—Moving listlessly to settle piled up local bills, the General Assembly prepared for the big blow-off next week.

Twenty-one members of the House and eight Senators passed 20 bills and then retired for the week-end.

Groves Will Conduct Lectures on Marriage For Women Students

Interested Co-eds to Meet in 302 Alumni Building Tomorrow Night at 7 O'clock.

At the request of a large number of University women students, Dr. Ernest R. Groves of the sociology department will give a series of weekly lectures for co-eds beginning tomorrow on the subject of marriage.

All women students who are interested in the lectures are asked to meet in 302 Alumni building at 7 o'clock tomorrow.

Co-eds who are seniors, majors in sociology and public administration, and a selected number of juniors are invited to attend the lectures.

The women students asked the department of sociology to offer a course similar to the one now being given to senior men, but it was found impossible to do so for this quarter. Officials of the department hope, though, that such a course may be offered to the women students next year.

JITNEY PLAYERS PERFORM FRIDAY

Carolina Playmakers Will Sponsor Appearance of Actors.

Sponsored by the Carolina Playmakers, the Jitney Players will again play in Chapel Hill Friday for two performances.

At 4 p. m. the troupe will present "Adventures of Oz" and at 8:30 o'clock, "Streets of New York," a melodrama by Dion Boucicault.

The Jitney Players have established an enviable record among travel drama troupes with their record of presentations in all parts of the country.

For the "Adventures of Oz," founded on the famous Oz stories, Helen Dortch and Pendleton Harrison, former Carolina Playmakers, made the dramatization. Admission prices are 25 cents for children, 50 cents for adults.

For the evening show, reserved seats at 75 cents may be obtained at Alfred Williams and Company. Neither of the presentations are included in the regular Playmakers season ticket.

"LIFE BEGINS AT 40"

Rochelle Hudson and Richard Cromwell find the path of true love thorny in the new Will Rogers Fox Film comedy, where America's ace humorist tries his hand at match- and mirth-making. "Life Begins at 40" is now showing at the Carolina theatre.

Tennis

(Continued from page three)

the sunny south before facing the Tar Heels. Half of the team pulled into Chapel Hill at 4 a. m. yesterday morning and the remainder limped in at 5 in the afternoon, after a delay in Oxford.

Last night they were feted as guests of the Z. B. T. fraternity at the Carolina Inn. Today they will complete their practice and tomorrow will once again become the foes of Carolina as they strive to check the victorious surge of the Carolina net team.

LUCKY STRIKE COMPANY TO RESUME BROADCASTS

The American Tobacco Company, sponsor of many popular features on the air, will resume its Lucky Strike broadcasts within a month with all-star one-hour programs over the NBC red network.

According to present plans, music for the show will be furnished by a special orchestra under the direction of Lennie Haydon. The program will be given between 8 and 9 p. m. on Saturdays.

Former popular features sponsored by the makers of Lucky Strikes are: Jack Pearl, Walter Winchell, and the Lucky Strike Police Case-book.

Varsity Baseball

(Continued from page three)

The fight for third base is still very much on although several of the would-be hot corner players had to shift to other positions in order to fill in for the game. Harry Montgomery and Ed Bullard worked with the first string combination during the afternoon.

Captain Thurman Vick was forced to spend the afternoon on the bench as a result of an injured finger. The speedy centerfielder will likely be ready for duty again tomorrow.

Carolina Physicists Talk at Conference

A hundred and ten physicists from ten southern states gathered March 22 and 23 in Atlanta to form a new society, the Southeastern Association of Physicists.

Twenty-five papers were presented on the program of the conference, six of which were given by professors and graduate students of the University.

Professors Ruark and Fussler presented papers on "Radio Activity of the Rare Elements," and Professor Plyler spoke on "The Effect of Temperature on the Infra Red Bands of Calcite." Three papers were given by Carolina graduate students on the infra red spectra.

YOUNG DEBATERS TO CONTEST HERE

Winners in State High School Triangular Competition Will Compete for Aycock Cup.

A total of 225 students will compete for the Aycock cup in the debate finals for North Carolina high schools to be held here Thursday and Friday, April 11 and 12, according to an announcement today by E. R. Rankin, secretary of the High School Debating Union.

Sixty-six schools, the largest number to enter the finals since 1927, will participate. A total of 67 schools were entered in 1927.

The 66 schools which will send teams here for the finals won both sides in the triangular debates held throughout the state March 22.

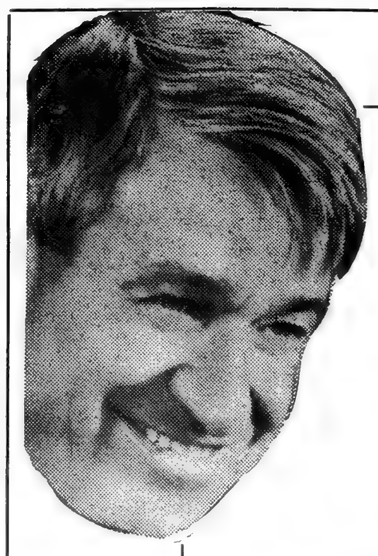
Winning Teams

The complete list, announced yesterday for the first time, follows:

Arcadia, Alexander, Wilson, Aurelian Springs, Bailey, Bakersville, Beaufort, Belmont, Belwood, Bethel Hill, Bragtown, Broughton, Benhaven, Candor, Central, Chowan, Cliffside, Collettesville, Conetoe.

Cullowhee, Dobson, Edenton, Emma, Farmville, Gastonia, Gibson, Goldsboro, Greensboro, Greenwood, Griffith, Hollis, Jonesboro, Kenly, Lincolnton, Morganton, Leicester, Marshall, Mt. Pleasant, Mt. Ulla, Newport, North Winston, No. 3, North Brook.

Oakhurst, Prospect Hill, Red Oak, Rosewood, Roxobel-Kelford, Rutherfordton-Spindale, Sanford, Snow Hill, South Edgecombe, Swan Quarter, Tarboro, Thomasville, Troy, Union Grove, Wadesboro, Warsaw.



Washington Welcome, Weldon, Wendell, Wilkesboro, Wesley Chapel, Whiteville.

Nicholson Makes Address

A description of his recent research in color tests for nitro compounds was given by Frank Nicholson during a recent meeting of the Carbon Club.

Dr. J. N. LeConte also described his research in kuinoline derivatives of para cymene.

Patronize Our Advertisers

Now The Fun Begins!

And It Never Lags As He Stirs Up A Hornet's Nest Of Excitement . . . Fights A Duel . . . Wrecks A Hog Calling Contest . . . And Saves A Love Affair!

WILL ROGERS

in

LIFE BEGINS at 40

with

RICHARD CROMWELL—ROCHELLE HUDSON

Hours of Sunday Shows 1—3—5 and 9:15 P. M.

Also Cartoon — Sportlight — News

CAROLINA THEATRE

SUNDAY MONDAY

TUESDAY
BARBARA STANWYCK
GENE RAYMOND
in
"The Woman In Red"

WEDNESDAY
MARGARET LINDSAY
DONALD WOODS
in
"The Florentine Dagger"

EDWARD G. ROBINSON
JEAN ARTHUR
in
"The Whole Town's Talking"
THURSDAY

MID-NIGHT SHOW FRIDAY
Hours of Shows: 11:15 and 1 A. M.
"Night Life of the Gods"

SATURDAY
JOAN BLONDELL
in
"Traveling Saleslady"

Slave Marts of Bagdad!

To Bagdad . . . from every corner of the Orient . . . Came men of all races to buy Bagdad's most beautiful slave girl! Yet she was ready to die by torture rather than sacrifice her love for Nur-al-Din the slave, who could not buy her.

ANNA MAY WONG

CHU CHIN CHOW

Brought To The Screen At Last!
5 Years In London
2 Years On Broadway
FRIDAY

DEBATE SQUAD
7 P. M.
209 GRAHAM MEMORIAL

The Daily Tar Heel

DI AND PHI SOCIETIES
7 P. M.
NEW WEST AND NEW EAST

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, APRIL 2, 1935 | NUMBER 133

LANDIS OUTLINES FEDERAL CONTROL OF STOCK TRADE

Commissioner States Aims of Two Acts: Preventing Fraud And Aiding Little Owner.

NIP INVESTMENT RACKETS

Nearly 1,500 persons assembled in Memorial hall yesterday to hear James M. Landis of the United States Securities and Exchange Commission outline the newly formed federal agency's past and future program for the regulation of the trade and distribution of securities.

The member of Harvard Law School, who taught law at the University during the summer sessions of 1930-32, told his audience that the New Deal legislation in the securities act and the securities exchange act sought to attain four objectives:

(1) To prevent outright fraud; (2) to deal with a species of semi-fraud, existing in market manipulation and misrepresentation; (3) to regulate the amount of speculative credit thrown into the market; (4) to bring about better understanding between the management and the widespread ownership of enterprise.

Gyp Games

"As a result of investigations by the commission," Landis said, "injunctions are now outstanding against a large number of individuals who have been carrying on investment rackets of the most incredible character. Two of these rackets had already cost the investing public $12,000,000 and $8,000,000 each when they were uncovered.

"There are a few more . . . ," he warned, "and we will get them."

The commission, he explained, regulates not only on-market trading in securities but over-the-counter or private transactions as well. The latter type of trading, which is done without the sanction of the 36 exchanges

(Continued on page two)

JITNEY PLAYERS SANCTION HISSING

Audience May Boo When Vicious Villains Steal Fair Maidens, Actors Announce.

Sponsored by the Carolina Playmakers, the nation-famous touring troupe, the Jitney Players will give performances in the Playmakers Theatre Friday afternoon and night.

At the 4 o'clock showing, the players will present Helen Dortch and Pendelton Harrison's dramatization of the "Adventures of Oz," based on the famous Oz stories.

Harrison and Dortch were formerly members of the Playmakers group. Admission prices are 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults.

Come and Hiss

"The Streets of New York," rollicking old-time melodrama of the days of our grandfathers' humor, is scheduled for the evening performance. Advance notice from the Jitney Players announces that hissing will be allowed when black-hearted villains steal the fair maidens.

Between the acts "divertissments" will be offered to shield the backstage noise, in the fashion of the play's day. Reserved seats for this 8:30 p. m. presentation are on sale at Alfred Williams at 75 cents.

Why Has Germany A Dictator?

Three Factors Aided Hitler to Establish His Dictatorship in Germany, Says Dr. Emil Lederer, Exile from Germany and Dean In America's New School for Social Research.

A near capacity audience in Memorial hall last night heard Dr. Emil Lederer, formerly of Berlin University, now dean of the graduate faculty for the New School for Social Research, tell why a dictatorship evolved in Germany.

Described in his introduction by Dean D. D. Carroll as an exile who had greatly enhanced the intellectual life of the country to which he had come, Dr. Lederer outlined the three causes why the national Socialist party under Hitler was able to overthrow the Third Reich.

Causes for Hitler

In the first place, Dr. Lederer called attention to the numerous members of the middle class, who together with the entrepreneurs and industrial magnates, saw their chance to crush the growing tide of socialism among the proletariat, or working masses. America, he pointed out, believes in his standards, in high wages; while Europe clings to the old ideas of low wages, high profit.

The second factor in the establishment of the Hitler dictatorship, explained Dr. Lederer, wast he complacency of the army. The Reichwehr, he said, was composed of 100,000 officers, and limited to this total by the treaty of Versailles. Army leaders needed soldiers for their officers and would thus favor a movement so militaristic as the Brown Shirt Facism.

Masses Easily Swayed

The third cause for the Nazi triumph was, Dr. Lederer held, the belief by the masses that they could throw off the burdens of the war reparations. These same masses, he held, who can only be appealed to through sentiment, speeches, marching, and "band music," came to support the Hitler movement in a group.

(Continued on page four)

JOURNAL CARRIES FACULTY WRITINGS

Four University Men Contribute to Current Issue of Odum's Social Forces.

The March issue of the University Press's quarterly, Social Forces, recently released, contains a number of articles by University faculty members.

In the "Government, Politics, Citizenship" department of the magazine, J. G. Evans of the University economics department, contributes an article entitled "Capitalism—An Obsolete Tool?"

Johnson Contributes

Dr. G. T. Schwenning, professor of business administration, discusses "British Dismissal Gratuities," and Dr. Guy B. Johnson, listing a number of recent books on race and culture, spends several pages describing them in general.

Reviewing "The Social Survey of Merseyside," edited by D. Carado Jones, Dr. Lee M. Brooks writes an article entitled "Liverpool Depressionwise."

Social Forces, edited by Dr. Howard W. Odum and closely connected through its board of editors and contributing editors with the Institute for Research in Social Science, is "a scientific medium of social study and interpretation."

Seminars Today

Classes in sociology, government, and history are scheduled to hear seminar speakers today, according to an announcement from J. D. Winslow, chairman of the Human Relations Institute seminar committee.

Sanford Bates, director of the Bureau of Prisons of the United States department of justice, will conduct the classes in Sociology 192 and 42 in 109 Alumni building at 11:15 o'clock.

At the same hour, J. F. Rippy of Duke University will conduct the classroom seminar in Government 131 in Saunders 309.

At a joint session of History 85 and Government 143 and 158, Rippy will again appear at 12 o'clock in 314 Saunders.

Notice, Fraternities

The Student Council reported last night that complaints have been made to the council about damage to property resulting from the action of fraternity pledges during initiation week.

The council wishes to warn all fraternities against permitting their pledges to damage property in the course of their initiation.

DECISION REOPENS SCOTTSBORO CASE

Supreme Court Reverses Convictions Due to Exclusion of Negroes from Trial Juries.

Washington, April 1.—(UP)—The star of hope shone brightly today for the two Alabama Negroes who have spent the last four years on the threshold of the death chamber when the Supreme Court reversed their conviction in the Scottsboro assault case.

The boys won another chance to live today, and the opinion by the highest court may mean that the remainder of the Negroes will be freed after a hard legal battle.

Negroes Barred

The court found that Negroes had been barred from juries in Alabama, both in Jackson and in Morgan counties where the litigations over the lives of the defendants have dragged since 1932.

This systematic exclusion of Negroes from juries, the court held, was sufficient reason to reverse the conviction.

Clarence Norris and Haywood Patterson, Alabama authorities, are thus forced to seek new indictments against the seven Negroes who are accused of having attacked two white girls on an Alabama freight train.

Women to Meet

The Woman's Association will meet at 5 p. m. today in 214 Graham Memorial. It is important that all women students of the University be present.

"Seek Perfection," Urges Wicks Describing Adventurous Religion

Prison Authority

Sanford Bates, director of the national Bureau of Prisons, who will speak tonight in connection with the Institute's phase of study: relationships between men and society.

Dean from Princeton Opens Lecture Series

Scared World, He Says, Needs Conscience and Abandoned Devotion to Unattainable.

ASKS UNSELFISH SERVICE

"You must be devoted to the unattainable, for the fun of it," said Dean of Chapel Robert Russell Wicks of Princeton, opening the Human Relations Institute convocation series in Memorial hall Sunday night.

Pointing out that the world has been too practical and that the rising student generation is rapidly learning to frown on that everything-practical theme, Wicks stated that the "real excitement" is to be found in what the average person would consider foolish to do.

Discussing "The Student in a Scared World," the Princeton dean kept the Memorial hall audience limbered up with his powerful resources and pleasing delivery.

"Conscience, We Need"

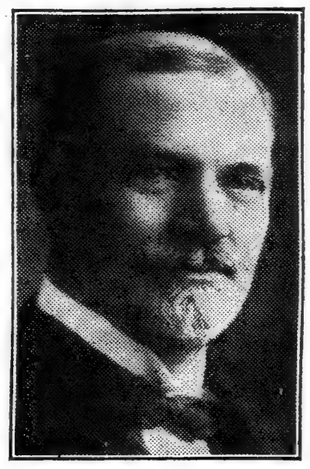
Instead of following just impulses as our fathers did, Dean Wicks admonishes us to begin with "human life first" and work from here. "We need more conscientious persons," said Wicks in suggesting an antidote for the last generation's mad passion for personal gain in business and every other aspect of life.

Such a passion for profit and power is too mediocre, indicated the speaker . . . "We must go upside down, seem foolish in order to help the world." This abandoning of ourselves will satisfy our groping for the new

(Continued on page two)

Tickets Are Selling Fast To Thomas' Banquet

Several Tickets Still Available at "Y," Tar Heel Office.



Under the sponsorship of the Carolina Political Union, Norman Thomas will speak Friday night at a banquet to which attendance is limited to 100.

Tickets for the affair are going rapidly (60 cents). They are available at the Y. M. C. A. office, at Everett dormitory, by Robert Smithwick, and at the DAILY TAR HEEL office by Phil Hammer.

Mr. Thomas's address will be political, and will probably deal with some of the New York political machines.

Educators, Reformer To Lecture At Institute Convocations Today

World Educator

Dr. Stephen P. Duggan, director of the Institute of International Education, who speaks this morning on a subject concerning international relations, "The Present Situation in Europe."

Duggan to Discuss European Situation

Dr. Sanford Bates, Dept. of Justice, Speaks Tonight on "Have Our Prisons Failed?"

DR. HOPE: "NEGRO TODAY"

The three major fields of study will be taken up today by the trio of speakers appearing on today's Human Relations Institute program.

Dr. Stephen P. Duggan, director of the Institute of International Education at 10:15 a. m., will discuss "The Present Situation in Europe," a topic in line with the study of international relations and government.

At 4 p. m. Dr. John Hope, president of Atlanta University, speaking on "The Negro in the Modern World," will deal with interracial relations. Dr. Hope has had a long,, outstanding career in home mission fields.

Bates: Prisons

Director of the Bureau of Prisons, Sanford Bates of the United States Department of Justice, is scheduled to address the 8 o'clock convocation on the question, "Have Our Prisons Failed?" Bates' topic follows the third major field for Institute study: human relations in business and industry.

Today's group of speakers includes the prolific Mr. Duggan; the great worker among the Negroes, President Hope, and the Washingtonian, Prison Caretaker Mr. Bates.

Outstanding Trio

Duggan ranks as an outstanding lecturer, man-of-affairs, and educator. Hope's record among the different races in the south and in connection with the Y. M. C. A. is imposing. Lawyer, lecturer and legislator, Bates became superintendent of federal prisons in 1929 and was appointed director of the Bureau of Prisons in 1930. In 1932 he was made commissioner of the International Prison Commission.

Classes will conform with the schedule for the morning address today and throughout the remainder of the Institute week.

DURFEE, RUSSELL MEET DEBATERS

University Team Has Return Match with George Washington on Munitions Subject.

Further thrashing out the subject of commerce in munitions, R. Phillips Russell and Winthrop Durfee met George Washington University debaters in Gerrard hall yesterday morning.

Arthur Murphy and Phillip Merryman of George Washington upheld the affirmative of the query, formally stated: Resolved, that nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms.

Washington Returns Favor

For the Washington protagonists, flying down to Raleigh by plane, the occasion was in the nature of a return match, since Don Seawell and Durfee debated a team at that college during their holiday northern tour. The debate at Washington was broadcast over radio station WOL.

Attending the debate in mass yesterday were Debating Coach Olsen's public speaking classes, interested students and townspeople. Following the debate the visiting team attended Institute lectures and were guests last night at the Foreign Policy League's banquet for Dr. Stephen P. Duggan.

Debate Squad to Meet

Member of the State Workman's Compensation and Industrial Commission, T. R. Wilson will address tonight the debate squad on the problem of socialization of medicine.

The debate squad will meet from 7 to 8 tonight in 209 Graham Memorial.

Harry MacMullan, chairman of the industrial commission, will also speak.

Both talks will relate to the subject of a debate here Thursday between Harry MacMullan, Jr., and Robert Smithwick, U. N. C., and Misses Elsa Patton and Elizabeth Hylbert of Bucknell. The query is: Resolved, that states should supply to citizens medical care at nominal cost.

Feature Board

The feature board of the DAILY TAR HEEL will meet in 209 Graham Memorial at 3 p. m. today.

Among Campus Herbs 2,164 Pass As Trees Says Pledge Gilmore

Hail! Sons of Carolina, know the nature of your alma mater.

Exactly 2,164 trees, excluding grass blades and violets, now live and have their being on the University campus.

Meekly denouncing all glory for his magnificent research, Phi Delta Theta Charles Gilmore, '38, states, "I owe it all to Mother Hell Week.

Examining the territory between Pittsboro street and the co-ed shack, Franklin and the Raleigh road, Gilmore reported a total of 2,164. The music building is most barren, pointed out the endeavoring young man—only 30 worthy of being called trees. "Maybe the tight chords have choked them off," he says.

Every division of the campus Gilmore made averaged over 100 trees with the Arboretum taking the lead; 572 over two inches in diameter. "Those blamed girls—with so much bark around them, they'll soon let themselves go to the dogs," lamented he.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, William Jordan, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: WALTER HARGETT

Tuesday, April 2, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

Roosevelt has gone fishing. In 1936 it'll be with a different poll.

Dean Wicks said he knew a man who always held out his left hand while walking. The habit was all he had left of his automobile.

Only difference between Billy Sunday and the brain trust: he thinks we goin' straight to hell and they don't know.

A Man and His System

At the Methodist church Sunday morning Dr. Julian S. Miller of the Charlotte Observer, in his talk, "How Much Better Is a Man Than a Gasket," made the statement that the Duke Endowment has "dumped $40,000,000 into the lap of the people of this commonwealth." Dr. Miller was citing James B. Duke as an example of the beneficent capitalist.

Our opinion of this praise is not a high one. Dr. Miller may defend capitalism all he chooses, that being his conviction, but his reasoning is shallow when he goes to such lengths.

It is no praise to any man to give what he has taken away. Not James B. Duke, nor Washington Duke, nor any of the Duke family is the culprit. What is to blame is the system, of which they are a part, that allows a man to take unto himself so much of the world's wealth that he cannot use it, that he gives it away.

To be sure, we have the benefits of the Duke Endowment. But Mr. Duke leaves behind, in the wake of an unrestricted capitalism, a young matron with $30,000,000 and his contribution to the tobacco industry, which pays the lowest wages of any in the United States.

Straight To Hell

"An age of American people indifferent to God, moral standards, and the ideals of pioneering forefathers are aiding in the destruction of all that is American by their passive attitude." So says our good old baseball-playing preacher friend, Billy Sunday. He feels that F.D.R. is nothing short of a dictator and that this country is headed hand over hand toward communism, socialism, and fascism. This, of course, is the idea of the intangible hell, and he sees the United States two strides and a nose ahead of all other nations in the common mad rush to the brink of the fiery furnace.

Billy would alter the present state of degradation by freeing American youth from all un-American influences. So boys and girls, if we are to get away from the fire, we must take democracy by one hand and God by the other, and stopping only long enough to eat, sleep, and go to school, proceed triumphantly to foil the plans of our modern Nero (F.D.R., to you). Then, in later life hold as many children on our knees as the crease in our trousers will permit and between drags from a two-for cigar tell them about how we saved Uncle Samuel's coat-tails from the wrath of some invisible despotic dinosaur. With this William the Straight says "Goo' nite an' gowon ta bed."

Something We Liked

One thing we liked Sunday night, as well as Dean Wicks' talk, was President Frank Graham's pronunciation of the phrase, "Human Relations Institute."

Familiarly and unthinkingly we roll it off our tongues, slurring — forgivably, perhaps — the words. But President Graham gave them their true and rightful meaning and emphasis.

Not the Human Relations Institute. Not the bare phrase we hear so often every four years and so sporadically between. But as President Graham said in introducing Dean Wicks, "the HUMAN Relations Institute."

It was created by humans—for humans, and its great concern is with humanity. We cannot be reminded of that too often.

Huey Got Some Good Out of It

Interesting indeed as a sidelight on the character of Huey the Kingfish Long is the following excerpt from remarks made by him in the Senate last week:

"Mr. Long—The Senator from West Virginia (Mr. Neely) wants to know what I did with it (the 'it' referred to was Huey's admitted annual earning of $25,000). In order to set a good example I will say that I spent it for brass bands, for football games, for drinks for my friends, and things of that kind. I got some good out of it."

He got some good out of it, says Huey!

What about nearly ruining the collegiate career of Abe Mickal, L. S. U. football star whose sense of decency Huey so grossly insulted by attempting to make him a state senator?

What about the odious reputation he has given Louisiana State due to his Kingfishy meddling with the principles for which any university is supposed to stand?

What about the pogrom he has instituted there against any student who dares to criticize him? The editor of the college paper, the Reveille, together with part of his staff, were unceremoniously kicked out for even questioning his tactics.

Yet Huey, would-be president of the United States, got some good out of it. That is the wealth he is asking the voters of this country to share.

Close-up View Of the Speakers

In such classes as desire and can obtain them, the speakers of the Institute are conducting seminars.

These informal, personal, and intimate talks achieve what the public lectures fail to do. They make possible closer study of the various subjects by interested persons through their informal discussions and opportunities for questioning.

Yesterday we witnessed the admirable success of one of these seminars, which was attended by a large number of visitors as well as students who were not members of the class. It is unnecessary to say that nothing should be allowed to stand in the way of missing a few classes in order to hear talks on the vibrant, living subjects under discussion.

* * * *

The action of the Foreign Policy League and the Carolina Political Union in arranging open banquets at which to entertain their guest speakers of the Human Relations Institute provides an excellent opportunity for interested students and faculty members to come into close personal touch and contact with these well-known personages.

The line for tickets forms on the left but remember that the number of reservations is limited. So hurry and get your bid early.

Flaunting The Worst

With a tone of resentment, fellow Georgians have written to a popular weekly in protest against the stark realism which Erskine Caldwell displays in his account of conditions in the south. He, together with other writers, are not content to picture the anomalies of our social order but seek out the most despicable conditions and leave them bare before the limelight.

Valid as may be the realistic scenes which are depicted, most of us are cognizant that there is something other than starving negroes and mongrel bitches. Meritorious, undoubtedly, has been the work of recent writers in exposing these wretched conditions in order that a solution may be reached. The continued exposes, however, seem to indicate that the financial returns furnish more incentive than any altruistic motive.

It is not unlikely that those who are unfamiliar with conditions in the south are rapidly getting a one-sided viewpoint. One man writes, "The planters rank high in the south's citizenship, but they are being held up to the world as a lot of selfish crooks, exploiting the weak and helpless."

Admitting the unsolved problems of the south, we deny they will ever be corrected by a half-penny sort of writer's realism.

Looking Backward

One and Five Years Ago Today in the Files of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

April 2, 1930

"Due to a misunderstanding, both the Carolina and Maryland debaters had prepared to argue the affirmative side of the question when the two teams met in Gerrard hall last night" . . . Non-drinkers outnumber drinkers and repealers lead in the DAILY TAR HEEL prohibition poll . . . "All Fools' Day passed quietly without a single mishap to any of us," writes Jack Dungan.

April 2, 1934

Lewis Barnes, campus crackpot, escapes from Dix Hill . . . Led by Righthander Fred Crouch, Carolina's baseball team defeats Davidson 13-5, while the tennis team gets a 6-0 decision over Boston College—its 64th win . . . Dean Van Hecke's plan to exclude graduate students from eligibility to student body presidency is deferred for later action.

"Seek Perfection"

(Continued from page one)

"supernatural" feeling that is becoming an actual, live part of the student's life in this scared world.

"That margin of vagueness," said Dean Wicks, "helps us live with patience, optimism and freedom. What profiteth a man if he gain the whole world and never live anything more than a sensible existence?"

Securities Acts

(Continued from page one)

and is approximately three times the volume of the trade on exchanges, is where abusive practices most frequently spring up.

"From the standpoint of control of fraud," Landis said, "we are now on the high road to success.

"Exchange operations that look suspicious we scan," said the 35-year-old law prodigy. "Now we are planning to bring into existence a system of registration of brokers, so that we may help the honest investor."

Landis made it clear that he did not favor dictatorship to corporations, but that he thought supervision was indispensible. In spite of the criticism that the activities of the commission had strangled new bond issues and had frightened investors, Landis said that a $281,000,000 turnover during the month of March established a record for "many a year."

Frank MEDICO REVOLUTIONIZES PIPE SMOKING

This simple appearing yet amazing absorbent filter invention with Cellophane exterior and cooling mesh screen interior keeps juices and flakes in Filter and out of mouth.

Prevents tongue bite, rawmouth, wet heel, bad odor, frequent expectoration. No breaking in. Improves taste and aroma of any tobacco.

LATEST SHAPES

FINEST BRIAR MONEY CAN BUY

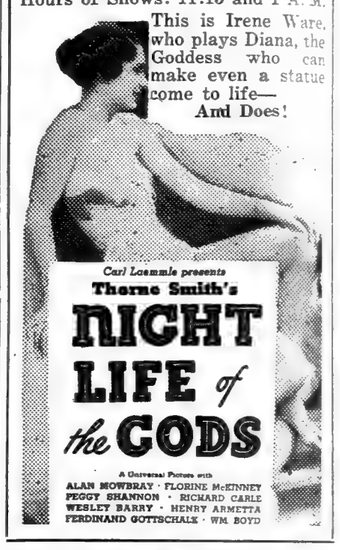
yet only $1

PATENTED—NOS. 1,919,959 1,967,585

LOST

Pair of silver-framed glasses, in brown leather case, bearing the name Dr. Thompson, Washington, D. C. Finder return to Richard Cox, K. A. house.

•THE NEW DENTISTRY



A Phase of Preventive Medicine College Men find in it unusual opportunities for a career

HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL

A competent course of preparation for the dental profession. A "Class A" School. Write for catalogue.

LEROY M. S. MINER, D.M.D., M.D., Dean
Dept. 28, 188 Longwood Ave., Boston, Mass.

CAROLINA
MIDNIGHT SHOW
FRIDAY NIGHT
Hours of Shows: 11:15 and 1 A. M.

This is Irene Ware, who plays Diana, the Goddess who can make even a statue come to life—
And Does!

Carl Laemmle presents
Thorne Smith's
NIGHT LIFE of the GODS

A Universal Picture with
ALAN MOWBRAY · FLORINE McKINNEY
PEGGY SHANNON · RICHARD CARLE
WESLEY BARRY · HENRY ARMETTA
FERDINAND GOTTSCHALK · WM. BOYD

Palmolive Ivory Camay And Other Brands 4c Second Floor

Specials For This Week At BERMAN'S

10 Cent Size Life Buoy Cashmere Bouquet 7c Second Floor

VAN HEUSEN SHIRTS
$2.00 Value—now
$1.50

Van Heusen and Arrow SOFT COLLARS
Regular 3 for $1.00—now
4 for $1.00

One lot SHORTS AND SHIRTS
25c each

ROCKING CHAIR SHIRTS
Pippin Broadcloth, full shrunk—
97c each

SHOES FOR GYMNASIUM
This week's Special
79c and up

One lot 50c value SHORTS AND SHIRTS
3 pieces for $1.00

Van Heusen FULL DRESS SHIRTS
$2.50—now
$1.98

WHITE SHOES from $2.45 up

One lot light SPRING FELT HATS
$1.95

All Full Dress COLLARS
Such as Arrows, etc., 35c—now
25c

FLORSHEIM SHOES
$8.50—now
$5.95

SPECIALS ON COSMETICS
Medium size Colgate's Toothpaste, regular 20c—now
16c

WILSON'S HOSIERY
50c value
3 for $1.00

One table odds and ends in PANTS to close out for $1.98

2 tubes Colgate's Toothpaste and brush combination
45c

OTHER SPECIALS IN SOX from 10c - 15c - 19c & 25c

Also see our white ducks in any size and length, dress pants, and knickers.

Also see our big display of sweaters, pajamas, and sweat shirts.

Squibbs, Listerine, and Phillips Magnesia Toothpaste
21c

Also SWEAT SOX at 25c and up

One lot SHORTS AND SHIRTS
15c each

All
10c
Cosmetics and Stationery, Tax Included

BERMAN'S
DEPARTMENT STORE
Be Sure to Visit Our Second Floor for 5 and 10c Articles, Gifts, etc.

Tar Heel Netmen Sweep Dartmouth Team Aside With Crushing 7-1 Victory

De Gray and Harris Play Sparkling Ball

Eddy Pairs with Captain Levitan to Down Husted and Guibord, Star Doubles Team.

GUIBORD INJUN SCORER

The Carolina netters scored their second victory of the season yesterday afternoon, overpowering the visiting Dartmouth team, 7-1, on the cement courts. More than 200 enthusiastic spectators were on hand to see the famous Tar Heels crush their strong opposition.

Walter Levitan, captain, suffered the lone defeat for Carolina in the opening match of the day. The other five singles matches were ably handled by Harvey Harris, Ricky Willis, Eddy De Gray, Frank Shore, and Ike Minor, no player dropping a set in their string of victories.

The two doubles went to Carolina. The third doubles match of the afternoon was stopped by darkness with the Dartmouth combination in the lead.

Guibord Errorless

Paul Guibord, Dartmouth lead-off man, gave a splendid performance as he polished off Levitan in straight sets. Playing steadily and with unerring consistency, the Indian star outplayed the Carolina captain from start to end.

Levitan misstroked repeatedly and never hit his stride. He did rally in the final set and with a cautious lob and effective angle drop shot, he closed in on his opponent but was unable to retain the pace and Guibord's virtual service ace ended the encounter.

On the other court, Harvey Harris was in the midst of a masterful exhibition against the Indian captain, Bob Husted. Husted failed to reach any sort of playing peak and was victim of a 6-0, 6-0 count. His forehand drive, noted as an effective shot, insisted on hitting the net cord and dropping back.

Ricky Willis played brilliant ball but found it necessary to employ all his skill to better Ralph Seeley, 6-4, 7-5. The second set was a thriller with Willis finding the needed touches in the last moment to come from a 5-3 deficit. Seeley took five consecutive games in that final set.

De Gray Stages Show

Eddy De Gray hit everything while routing Doug Mook. Swinging continuously, he swept the ball from corner to corner and never allowed his opponent to attempt an offensive blow. De Gray was easily the best

(Continued on last page)

Indian Netsters To Remain Here Two More Days

Dartmouth Boys Especially Impressed with Good Food and Cheap Rate of Swain Hall.

Evidently the Dartmouth tennis team, from way up north in New Hampshire, finds southern hospitality very much to its liking. Since last Saturday morning the Indians have been in Chapel Hill and they still plan to spend one or two more days here before starting home by Virginia.

Carolina was the first opponent of the Dartmouth netsters who are spending their annual spring vacation by taking the tour in this section. On their way back to New Hampshire the Indians have a meet scheduled with William and Mary, Thursday, and a tentative one with Virginia, Friday.

In an interview with Paul Guibord, Dartmouth number one man who handed Captain Levitan a licking, it was learned that the Indians were especially impressed with Swain hall, the campus dining hall.

Can't Figure It Out

The tennis ace said that he and his mates were used to paying from eight to ten dollars weekly for meals and not even receiving as good food as Swain hall serves for five dollars per week. The northern boys have been eating at Swain hall since last Saturday.

Guibord said that the boys were fond of the beer they had obtained in Chapel Hill and think the girls here are extremely nice.

In speaking of the weather Guibord stated that since it was still cold and bare up north the flowers and trees blooming in the warm south were especially noteworthy.

The Dartmouth team was not greatly upset over its loss, the boys feeling that they were far from top shape due to the lack of practice. Guibord said the team had only been able to work out twice indoors before starting the tour.

Play Again Today

Carolina and Dartmouth go at it again today on the tennis courts at 2 o'clock. A return match has been granted the Indians, and although it will not be official, both teams are anxious for another encounter.

The men will be shifted today. Levitan will face Husted, making the match a battle of captains, and Harris will meet the star of the Indians, Paul Guibord.

SPORTS MEETING

There will be an important meeting of the sports staff this afternoon in the DAILY TAR HEEL office at Graham Memorial. All members of the staff and other students who desire to try out, are urged to attend.

LITTLE TO LEAD W. AND M. TRACK TEAM SATURDAY

Tar Heels Defeated Invaders Last Season in Close Meet; Expect Close Battle.

TAKE SNAPPY WORKOUT

Despite the fact that a heavy rain throughout the early morning left the track in a very soggy condition, the varsity squad went through a snappy workout yesterday afternoon in preparation for its opening with the William and Mary team on Saturday.

Last year the Tar Heels won the annual meet at Williamsburg by a 72½-53½ margin, and with several of last year's performers on both teams back a fine meet is expected.

Outstanding for the W. & M. color bearers is "Monk" Little, who is rated as one of the greatest non-conference athletes in Dixie. Little is exceptionally well versed in the track art and competes with equal ability in the dashes, broad jump, javelin throw, and the quarter-mile.

Take Three Firsts

Last year Little took first honors in the 100, 220, and broad jump, and runner-up to Carolina's mighty LaGore with a heave of 197 feet, six inches in the javelin. If Carolina is successful in holding "Monk" to but 18 points, they will be accomplishing a real afternoon's work.

Though Little is without a doubt a "one-man team," the Williamsburg squad also boasts other fine material. In the quarter-mile they will present Smelzer as leading opposition to Carolina's Conference titleholder, "Red" Drake. Smelzer won the event in 1934 with a 51.4 performance.

Another ace for the Virginians will be Platt Bullard, who last year placed second in the 440 event. This season he is rated as greatly improved, but what events he will participate in are as yet unknown. In the Charlotte Jay-Cee meet this past winter, after failing in the 880 event, he went out later to finish well up in the two-mile race, finishing ahead of Bird of Duke, former S. I. C. champ.

The fourth shining light for the W. & M. team is Plummer, a strong competitor in both the one and two-mile runs.

Elly Vines, Tilden Troupe Tourist, Thrice Takes Top Tennis Titles

With the Tilden troupe comes Ellsworth Vines. Tall, poker-faced and earnest, this gangling California youth has been an amazing figure in tennis for the past few years.

Five years ago Vines idled into the foreground with his magnificent game. After but a few months tournament tennis his name became a household word.

National Champ

In 1931, with the plaudits of thousands of admirers ringing in his ears, he culminated his efforts with the annexing of the United States singles championship.

He crossed the ocean and became an international sports figure when he drove his way through the competition at Wimbeldon. The world's greatest players fell beneath him and he was recognized as the greatest amateur of the day.

The next year, 1932, he repeated at Forest Hills to capture his second United States crown. He made it a banner year by teaming with Keith Gledhill, and capturing the doubles title as well.

Then campe the tragic slump of the popular champion. In defense of his title in 1933, Vines bowed to little "Bitsy" Grant, Carolina pride, before ever reaching the finals.

Turns Pro

He was through, and after a few more beatings, a masterful stroke of the pen made Vines a professional. His addition brought pro ball tremendous popularity within a few months. Back came his former skill and at present he possesses the most effective game in the world. Only Fred Perry can dispute that question but their meeting will have to be delayed at least one more year.

On the present tour he has been a whirlwind. Lester Stoefen was completely outclassed in every match and now Vines is continuing his mad pace against Hans Nusslein.

His crushing game makes him a master exhibitionist. His powerful serve, his consistent bombardment with his forehand, and his all-around brilliance combine to put Vines at the top of the tennis world. Many contradict this statement and offer Tilden as their choice.

Patronize Our Advertisers

FIRST YEAR NINE CANDIDATES TAKE REST; TILT TODAY

Wet Grounds Force Postponement; Players Disappointed.

The yearling nine candidates were given a holiday yesterday afternoon due to exceedingly wet grounds, the field being fit for swimming purposes only. Despite the inclement weather the squad turned out en masse and was rather disappointed to hear that practice had been called off.

Practice will be resumed as usual today beginning at 3:30 sharp, and the opening inter-squad game will most probably be held late this afternoon. Although the batters are still far away from their peaks, Coach James will be able to get a pretty good idea as to how his charges stand up in competition.

The wealth of good material on hand has led to some closely contested fights for the respective positions, and the team which is chosen finally will undoubtedly be a formidable aggregation.

Although the squad has been divided up into four outfits, a definite regular nine has not been picked, and will not be until Coach James is sure that he has seen every one playing the best baseball that he is capable of.

With its initial scheduled game but two weeks away, the frosh club will start hard preparation this afternoon, and the rest of its training program will probably be devoted to daily practice games.

NO FROSH NET TILT

The freshman tennis opening match with Presbyterian Junior College, scheduled for today, has been cancelled. Instead, the Duke meet, originally scheduled for Monday, has been advanced to Friday, April 5, and will be the opening meet. It will be played at Chapel Hill.

RINGSTERS BEGIN SPRING PRACTICE IN TIN CAN TODAY

Drills Start at 4 O'clock; Boys Will Take Light Work.

At a meeting held yesterday afternoon in Emerson stadium, Coach Crayton Rowe assembled his veteran and novice boxing talent and announced that the first spring practice workout will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Tin Can. Light workouts will constitute the routine until the boys round into shape.

The team next year will be captained by Ernie Eutsler, scrappy little featherweight. Eutsler showed up extremely well in his first year of varsity competition as a featherweight and will be expected to do even better next winter. Eutsler will finish his career this coming year.

One Champ

The 1935 Carolina leather pushers turned in a creditable season and brought home one Southern Conference winner, Captain Sam Giddens, the lone Tar Heel boxer to survive the tournament, ended his career in a brilliant and fitting manner.

Sam has been in search of a Southern Conference crown for three years but could not quite bear down enough before. However, his perseverance assisted long enough for conference fans to see his hand raised as a token of victory over Lombardo of Maryland in the finals of the 165-pound class.

Many of last year's sophomores will be back with a year of experience under their belts.

COURT LADIES

The Women's Tennis Club will hold its first meeting from 7 to 7:30 tomorrow night. The meeting was postponed from Monday because of the conflict with Dr. Groves' marriage address. It is important that all interested be present at this first meeting.

ATTEND THE INSTITUTE

WET FIELD HALTS DIAMOND DRILLS OF VARSITY NINE

Coach Bunn Hearn Still Looking For Player to Fill Third Base Position.

OPEN AGAINST DAVIDSON

With Emerson field in a sloppy condition due to April showers, Coach Bunn Hearn's baseball team took only a light workout yesterday.

All members of the pitching staff warmed up their hurling arms with Catchers Tatum, Cook, and Strayhorn.

Coach Hearn told the players to expect extra hard work between now and the opening game, since the wet diamond hampered yesterday's practice. The team has only three more days in which to prepare for the initial contest with Davidson.

Problem at Third

The Tar Heel mentor is still faced with the problem of finding a man to start at the third base position Friday. Bullard, Jones, Schriver, and Dashiell are the leading candidates for the post.

Coach Hearn has a well-rounded veteran outfield in Captain Thurman Vick, Ed Shapiro, and Gus McIver. This trio will likely get the call to start against the Wildcats.

Tommy Irwin, sensational shortstop, should have no trouble breaking into the lineup against Davidson. Buck McCarn and Trip Rand should land starting berths at the first and second base positions, respectively, while Jim Tatum seems to be first in the running among the catchers.

MURAL ENTRIES

Entries may be made now for the intramural baseball and tennis competition at 310 South building until 5 o'clock, and at the Emerson stadium office from 5 until 6 o'clock. Entries will close on Friday.

Damaged by a Dog-Denter?

... light an Old Gold

When Horace Hippohoof drops one of his rock-crushers on Ermintrude Muggins' dainty instep ... Ermie simply grips the injured dog in one hand and a sympathetic Old Gold in the other. Old Gold has a talent for soothing stepped-on feelings.

AT TRYING TIMES .... TRY A Smooth OLD GOLD

Dialectic Senate Inducts Officers Tonight

Rawls, Weaver, McKee, Stein, Yeatman to Assume Posts.

New officers will be inducted and President Charles Rawls will make his induction address at the Di Senate meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in New West.

New officers, besides the president, are: Senator Bill Weaver, president pro-tem; Senator Don McKee, critic; Senator Stein, clerk, and Senator T. P. Yeatman, sergeant-at-arms.

The meeting will be adjourned in time for senators to attend the Human Relations Institute session at 8:00 p. m. in Memorial hall. Speaker Rawls will also appoint a number of committees.

Tennis

(Continued from page three)

player on the courts yesterday.

Frank Shore did not look brilliant against Norm Anderson, but the final score found him an easy winner. Anderson played splendid ball and hit solidly and frequently but could make no headway. Shore was a little too well developed for the Indian player.

Ike Minor finished the singles with an easy win over Bob Neill. Minor played cautious ball and rarely put the ball away. He allowed Neill to err and was always in the lead.

Levitan and De Gray justified various opinions as to their combined ability when they bested Husted and Guilord, New England Intercollegiate doubles champions. Dropping the first set, 7-5, they ran through a love set and, holding a 5-1 advantage in the last set, were fortunate to win out, 7-5.

The other two doubles went on in semi-darkness, Shore and Harris winning in three sets, and the Abels-Willis, Anderson-Neill match being stopped when the players discovered they were stabbing at imaginary objects. The Dartmouth team held a one-set lead at the time.

The scores follow:

Guibord (D) over Levitan, 6-2, 6-3.
Harris (C) over Husted, 6-0, 6-0.
Willis (C) over Seeley, 6-4, 7-5.
De Gray (C) over Mook, 6-1, 6-2.
Shore (C) over Anderson, 6-1, 6-4.
Minor (C) over Neill, 6-1, 6-2.
Levitan-De Gray (C) over Guibord-Husted, 5-7, 6-0, 7-5.
Harris-Shore (C) over Seeley-Mook, 6-4, 5-7, 6-1.
Anderson-Neill (D) led Abels-Willis, 6-2, 7-7, darkness.

Drama Tryouts

Try-outs for the next public production by the Carolina Playmakers will be conducted tomorrow at 4 p. m. and again at 7:30 p. m., according to an announcement made yesterday by Technical Director Samuel Selden.

The next bill, a group of original plays by the Playmakers, will be presented April 25, 26, and 27.

Tau Beta Pi

Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, will meet in a business session at 7:30 tonight in 214 Phillips hall.

FOR THE LADIES

We have just received a beautiful line of Lingerie, Hosiery, Dresses, Hats, Sweaters and Shoes.

Always glad to have you visit our store.

BERMAN'S

DEPT. STORE

Bills Due

All bills must be paid by 5 p. m. tomorrow, the business office reminds forgetful students. A $5 fee for delay will be added to all bills paid after that time.

Following the payment schedule arranged by the office, all students whose names begin with the letters A through S were to have paid during the period ending yesterday. Students from T through V should pay today, and the names beginning with W through Z are scheduled for payment tomorrow.

Phi Assembly

Meeting at 7 o'clock instead of at 7:15 o'clock, the Phi assembly will adjourn tonight in time for the representatives to attend the address by Sanford Bates on the Human Relations Institute program, announced the Speaker-elect Albert Ellis.

Whence Dictators?

(Continued from page one)

Before the World War, all mass movements in Germany were by groups, acting separately with their own doctrines. In the post-war period, a mass movement that was based on principles, so common and so oft repeated that everyone began to believe them, took place.

The students and other groups who opposed this mass movement were not organized, they did not have the support of the government, and thus were without hope or effect.

In commenting of the laissez-faire principle in government, Dr. Lederer intoned: "I think it is a very bad policy because it is no policy at all."

Mi! Mi! Mi!

The weekly meeting of the Woman's Glee Club will occur tomorrow from 5 to 6 p. m.

It is important that everyone who expects to be in the spring concert attend all the meetings.

Infirmary List

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Robert Van Sleen, W. G. Lewis, Wally Johnson, David Wishney, Mary Ross, Eleanor Lockhart, B. M. Fowler, A. R. Beebe, James Idol, Abal Hussan Fotouhi, and Bill Clark.

CAROLINA

— Today —

BARBARA STANWYCK
GENE RAYMOND
in
"The Woman In Red"

— Also —
Comedy — Novelty

— Coming Thursday —

THE MOST EXCITING PICTURE IN A DECADE!
EDWARD G. ROBINSON
THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING

Metzenthin Speaks

Dr. E. C. Metzenthin gave an illustrated lecture at St. Mary's School in Raleigh Sunday night. His subject was "A Recent Trip to and Through the Germanic Countries of Europe."

French Club

There will be a meeting of the French Club tonight at 7:15 in the Episcopal parish house. This is the first meeting this quarter of this organization and a large attendance is expected.

CAROLINA DURHAM, N. C. Matinee Night Thur. April 4th

SENSATIONAL-IN PERSON: Combined ROAD SHOW TOUR OF THREE Outstanding STAGE, SCREEN & RADIO STARS

Ole Olsen & Chic Johnson · Gene Austin

IN THE ROBERT KERR-JOSEPH GRIFFIN NEW YORK PRODUCTION

GOIN' PLACES

21 SCENES A STAGE FULL OF STARS

LYRICS BY OLSEN & JOHNSON · MUSIC BY GENE AUSTIN

The Entire Original Cast Absolutely Intact

FAMOUS "HOT CHA" BEAUTIES

CHARLIE STRONG'S ADMIRALS ORCHESTRA

AMERICA'S ONLY MUSICAL PLAYING MATINEE & NIGHT SHOWS DAILY

Seats Now on Sale

PRICES: Matinee, All Seats 55c Night, Lower Floor & Mezz, $1.10 1st Bal, 83c; Colored Bal., 55c

They Taste Better

Copyright 1935, The American Tobacco Company

LUCKIES USE ONLY THE CENTER LEAVES . . . CENTER LEAVES GIVE YOU THE MILDEST SMOKE

- to anxiety - - - I bring relief
- to distress - - - I bring courage
- to achievement - - I bring content
- to loneliness - - I bring companionship

O, your best friend is Lucky Strike

LUCKY STRIKE

SOPHOMORE EXECUTIVES
7:30 P. M.
GERRARD HALL

The Daily Tar Heel

ANNUAL PHOTO STAFF
1:30 P. M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3, 1935 | NUMBER 134

PRISON OFFICIAL DISCUSSES PENAL PROBLEMS IN U. S.

Bates Reveals Inconsistencies in Treatment of Criminals; Gives Purpose of Penal System.

APPROVES N. C. PROGRAM

An address by Sanford Bates, director of the Bureau of Prisons in the United States Department of Justice given in Memorial hall last night on the problems of penal administration, brought to a close the third day of the Institute on Human Relations.

Mr. Bates pointed out that the entire purpose of the penal system is to protect society from those anti-social persons who constitute a menace to public welfare. He revealed the inconsistent treatment of criminals, using for his example the fact that an unconvicted prisoner may be held in a filthy county jail for a long period before his trial, while the convicted criminal is accorded imprisonment amid healthy and salutory surroundings.

Wickersham Report

Mr. Bates quoted the Wickersham committee as reporting: "There is reason to believe that it (prison) increases crime by hardening the criminal." Quoting from a letter from a well-known judge, however, Mr. Bates said, "Many consider the penitentiary in Atlanta as a health resort, where a liberal education may be obtained without cost." Men must be taught to live together without contamination.

With reference to the question, "Have our prisons failed?" Mr. Bates contended that they

(Continued on page three)

DR. KARL POLANYI WILL SPEAK HERE

Austrian Lecturer and Writer to Appear Under Sponsorship of Foreign Policy League.

Dr. Karl Polanyi, lecturer and foreign editor of Der Osterreichische Volkswirt, published in Vienna, will speak here in Gerrard hall, April 10, under the sponsorship of the Foreign Policy League, on "The Churches and Fascism on the European Continent."

Born in Vienna in 1866 of Hungarian parents, Dr. Polanyi returned there as a newspaperman in 1919, after being driven out of his fatherland, Hungary, by the Communist coup d'etat of that year.

Austrian Citizen

At present he is an Austrian citizen and a Calvinist by denomination. He is in the United States lecturing under the sponsorship of the Institute of International Education, directed by Dr. Stephen Duggan, who spoke here yesterday.

During 1933-34, Dr. Polanyi lectured extensively in England. From January 7 to February 11 of this year, he spoke before a series of Des Moines, Iowa, forums on the general subject, "Taking Stock of Central Europe."

One of Dr. Polanyi's earliest activities was the organization during his student days at Budapest University of the Galelei Club, which was interested in workers in adult education. One year this club conducted more than 2,000 tutorial lectures for workers.

Negro University President Urges Co-operation With Colored Race

President John Hope of Atlanta University yesterday urged the white people of America to co-operate with the Negro in solving a race problem that will afford an example upon which international peace, prosperity and love may be founded.

"Take them into your thinking," advised the 66-year-old Negro leader who pointed out that we have grown so accustomed to the unjust situation here that we don't even think of it.

Single Solution

Suggesting possible means of "getting rid" of the Negro: violence as in the case of the Indian, gradual withdrawal of sources of living, and others, Hope decided a successful outcome could only be hoped for in the case of Americans "taking the matter into their thinking."

Even then, it will be the next generation before a satisfactory solution can possibly be effected. Americans must lose their fear that "what's another man's good fortune is a danger to our own." We can no longer "block off" a people to themselves, a people who are not essentially different from us except in lack of equal opportunities and environment.

Repetition of History?

Suggesting that the Negro race itself will attempt a solution alone, the Atlanta educator and Negro worker indicated that history might repeat itself here unless we do something ourselves.

As a definite program, Hope only urged this "take them into your thinking," for, he argued, "I believe the human heart and mind is able to do any thing that it is called upon to do."

President Hope pleaded for his people as a group appreciative, anxious for co-operation and loyal Americans.

Congressman

Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York who will discuss "The South and the New Deal" at the morning convocation in Memorial hall.

Spring Passbooks

Students may obtain spring quarter athletic and student entertainment passbooks today at the business office in South building.

Stephen P. Duggan Describes Current European Situation

SENATE INSTALLS SPRING OFFICIALS

Senators to Attend Debate Between Phi and Duke Society.

Spring quarter officers were installed and the president's inaugural address heard at the meeting of the Di Senate last night.

President Charles Rawls promised to do his best in eliminating red tape and substituting more pep, pleasure, and personal benefit in meetings.

Other new officers who assumed their duties for the first time last night were Senators McKee, critic; Weaver, president pro-tem; Stein, clerk, and Yeatman, sergeant-at-arms.

Senators Gibbes and Williams were appointed to the ways and means committee.

The invitation to attend the debate between representatives of the Phi and of the Columbia Debating Society of Duke was unanimously accepted by the Senate. The debate will take place in Gerrard hall at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, and the subject will be the socialization of medicine.

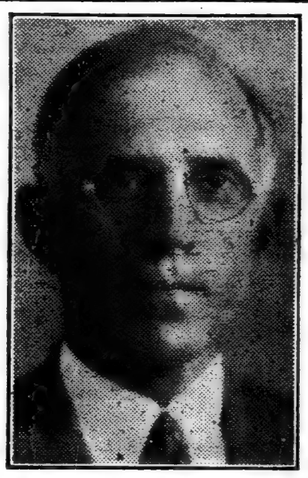
Soph Executive Committee

There will be a sophomore executive committee meeting at 7:30 this evening in Gerrard hall.

Seminars Today

9:30 a. m.—Commerce 161 in 317 Bingham. Speaker: Julian Harris, journalist, now advertising director of the Atlanta Constitution.

11:15 a. m.—Government 21, 122, and History 48 in 314 Saunders. Speaker: Hamilton Fish, Jr., Congressman from New York.



11:15 a. m.—Commerce 155 in 106 Bingham. Speaker: Donald Comer, southern textile leader.

12 m.—Economics 191 and Commerce 171 in 103 Bingham. Speaker: Chester Wright, public relations counsel, United Textile Workers.

2 p. m.—Journalism 58 in 213 Alumni. Speaker: Julian Harris.

Visitors to the classes are welcome.

Speaks Tonight

Donald Comer, president of the Avondale Textile Mills of Alabama and outstanding leader in the textile industry, who will lecture in Memorial hall at 8 p. m. on the "Problems of Textile Management."

TWO SUSPENSIONS MADE BY COUNCIL

Office Hours Announced; Students Asked to Co-operate.

The Student Council announced yesterday the suspension of two students. One was suspended for the remainder of this quarter for continued violation of the bad check rule, while another was suspended indefinitely for cheating and lying to the Council.

Any student having matters to report to the Council is requested to do so by contacting any of its members.

For the further convenience of those who have business to discuss with the Council, the following office hours will be observed in room 202 on the second floor of Graham Memorial:

Frank Abernethy, president, from 10:30 to 12 o'clock every morning; Francis Fairley, secretary, from 1:15 to 1:45 and from 6:00 to 6:30 o'clock every afternoon.

Abernethy may be reached at other hours at the Beta Theta Pi house; Fairley may be contacted at the Y. M. C. A. or at the Book Exchange.

The Phi-Duke debate marks the first time in a number of years that a Carolina literary society has had an outside debate.

SCORES "STUPID" VERSAILLES PACT

Outlines Conditions of Nations Of Europe; Discusses Factor Of Intense Nationalism.

"NOT PREPARED FOR WAR"

Another large audience in Memorial hall yesterday morning heard Dr. Stephen P. Duggan, director of the Institute of International Education, open the third day of Human Relations Institute lectures with the presentation of a clear picture of the contemporary European situation.

Dean W. W. Pierson introduced Dr. Duggan as "an ambassador of good will." The speaker then proceeded to clarify the present state of affairs in Europe by investigating the status of each of the continental nations after the Great War.

Carthaginian Peace

Dr. Duggan condemned the Treaty of Versailles as a "Carthaginian peace." Germany, he said, was dismembered, shorn of her colonies, reduced to the status of a second-rate power. This peace, he pointed out, was a "stupid blunder" on the part of the allies. The very peace which Clemenceau forced on the central powers made for a situation conducive to another war.

Austria and Hungary, he said, were reduced to fractions of their former size. In all the defeated nations, a feeling of despair and hopelessness became prevalent.

Among the victorious nations, France, he stated, benefitted the most. She was satisfied with the peace jammed down the throats of the defeated central powers and wished to keep the status quo. To accomplish this purpose, she set about to ally herself with the other nations such as Poland and Czechoslovakia who had also benefitted by the struggle. Thus was formed the two ententes that look to France for guidance.

Italy, however, said Dr. Duggan, although one of the victorious allies, felt that she had not received her just share of the spoils.

Russia, he stated, was at first, with Germany, one of the outcasts of Europe. A separate

(Continued on page three)

Institute Lecturers To Speak On Industrial Relations Today

Student Bills Due

All students who have not paid or arranged for the payment of their student fees, dormitory room rent, and coeds who have not made arrangements for their board at Spencer hall should do so today.

Unarranged student fees accounts will be charged a fine of five dollars at the close of today's business.

PLAYERS TO CAST ORIGINAL DRAMAS

Eleven Plays Offer Parts to over 70 Actors; Will Be Presented April 25, 26, 27, 29.

Tryouts for the 11 original plays that are being prepared for the next public bill of the Carolina Playmakers will be conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock and again tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the theatre.

More than 70 parts are open for tryouts and Professor Samuel Selden, technical director of the Playmakers, who will have general supervision of the coming production, urges that as many new candidates report as possible.

From the 11 plays which will be directed by students in English 63, a course in play directing, six or nine will be chosen for the public bill to be presented April 25, 26, and 27. The remainder of the group will be presented free of charge the following Monday.

Prospective Bill

Included in the prospective bill are the following plays that have been written in Professor Frederick H. Koch's playwriting course: Cecilia Allen's "Pretty Plump Angel" to be directed by Sammie Ruth Bell; Mrs. Bernice Harris' "Ca'line" to be directed by Kenneth Bartlett; Don Pope's "Spare Ribs" to be directed by Carl Thompson; Don Shoemaker's "Back Page" to be directed by Margaret Wallace; Ella Mae Daniel's "Hunger" to be directed by Patsy McMullan.

Fred Howard's "New Nigger" to be directed by Eloise Sheppard; Jean Ashe's "Clam Digger" to be directed by the author; Philip Parker's "New Anarchy" to be directed by Jane Cover; Sarah Seawell's "The Devil's Tramping Ground" to be directed by Jean Walker; Wilbur Dorsett's "Goldie" to be directed by Ralph Lyerly; and Philip Parker's "Metropolitan" to be directed by Frances McGraw.

Thomas Banquet

A few tickets are available for the Norman Thomas banquet to be sponsored by the Carolina Political Union Friday evening in Graham Memorial. These may be obtained for 60 cents from Robert Smithwick at Everett dormitory or Phil Hammer at the DAILY TAR HEEL office.

Policy League

Members of the Foreign Policy League who met Sunday night to complete plans for an anti-war demonstration to be held here April 12 and all others interested in planning for such a demonstration are requested to meet tonight at 7 o'clock in room 213 Graham Memorial.

Hamilton Fish to Make Talk This Morning

Chester Wright, Counsel for Textile Workers, Will Address Afternoon Session.

COMER SPEAKS AT 8 P. M.

Hamilton Fish, Jr., Chester Wright, and Donald Comer compose the trio of speakers for today's convocation series on the Human Relations Institute program.

Speaking at the 10:15 assembly on "The South and The New Deal," Fish will be representing the opinion of a New York congressman. Brilliant Harvard student, Fish was elected to the New York state legislature at the age of 26 and began his Congressional career in 1919.

Textile Workers Official

At 4 p. m., Chester Wright, public relations counsel for the United Textile Workers, is scheduled to discuss the subject, "King Cotton Beware." His topic falls in line with the study of human relations in business and industry, one of the major fields for the Institute.

Continuing the textile problem discussion, Donald Comer, president of the Avondale Textile Mills of Alabama, and one of the south's leading textile figures, will address the 8 o'clock session on "Problems of Textile Management."

Comer was formerly southern vice-president of the Cotton-Textile Institute and the son

(Continued on page three)

NOMINEES NAMED BY CO-ED GROUP

Jane Ross and Priscilla White Nominated for Presidency of Woman's Association.

Misses Jane Ross and Priscilla White were nominated for president of the Woman's Association at a meeting of the association yesterday.

Nominees for vice-president of the association are Margaret Jordan and Mary Pride Cruikshank; secretary, Eliza Rose and Louise Davis; treasurer, Ruth Green and Nell Booker; house president of Spencer hall, Bobbie Moore and Tempe Newsom.

President of the Woman's Athletic Association, Frances Caffey, Nancy Lawlor, and Kay Quigley; secretary Athletic Association, Jean Van Dusen, Sally Page, and Evelyn Barker; treasurer Athletic Association, Ida Winstead.

The election will take place on April 10.

Constitution Changes

The following changes were made in the constitution of the association: In the future the president of the association will be elected from the co-ed student body at large, the vice-president from the rising senior class; the secretary from the rising junior class, and the treasurer from the rising sophomore class.

The group voted to appropriate the money for the representation of the Woman's Glee Club in the Yackety Yack.

May 17 was decided upon as the probable date for the quarterly co-ed dance. The definite date will be announced soon.

The meeting was concluded with a talk on spring sports for women at Carolina by Elsie Lawrence, president of the Woman's Athletic Association.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, William Jordan, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: IRVING SUSS

Wednesday, April 3, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"Journal Carries Faculty Writings." Which, no doubt, were a mite heavy.

Dr. Lederer told us why Germany had a dictator, but we still can't figure out why they've got Hitler.

Pledge Gilmore says, "I do not know
Why only God can make a tree.
Of this one thing I'm hopeful, though—
May God keep His monopoly!"

Student Questions

Thus far the student turnout for the program of the Human Relations Institute has been on the whole gratifying. It has been our observation that the students were sincerely interested in the various presentations from the platform.

But in the seminars the student participation has been slightly less intense. And one suggested reason is that the students have not always had a chance to get a word in endwise. Faculty members and outside observers have sprung questions at the conducting authorities with alacrity but on the whole students have not registered much of an opinion or an inquisitiveness.

That they have not had the chance is, of course, not the only reason. Most students, no matter how well versed they are in a subject, are hesitant about popping a question with so many authorities in their presence. Consequently, many questions are either left unanswered on the students' lips or asked after the session, which is both inconvenient to the leader and retarding to the Institute seminar program.

We can only suggest that more students who attend seminars because of their interest manifest this interest by asking those questions which will help clear up any point in doubt. We daresay the student will find the opportunity of doing this just as easily as the faculty member if the question is previously formed and ready for delivery. That faculty members are more advanced in a subject than the inquisitive student is no reason for the student to eschew his personal expressions in the form of questions. After all, the institute is for mutual education and we imagine the speaker gets as much of an idea of what the public thinks of his theories from a student's question as from one asked by an authority in the field.

Greyhounds Are Coming

We have not given up hope for the poor Greyhounders in their fight to get a hearing before the state utilities commission. For some reason or other we believe that sooner or later the Atlantic Greyhound Lines is going to run a bus through Chapel Hill, with Raleigh on one end of the line and Greensboro on the other.

The Durham chamber of commerce, we understand, is doing a noble job in cahoots with the Carolina Coach Company and have been feeding the Greyhound attorneys lobster out of season, or something, so that they repeatedly have stomach-aches and other minor disabling infirmities. But even the best of us slip up and maybe the hearing will be granted, after all.

In the meantime, the Carolina coaches go blithely crashing from Durham to Chapel Hill.

Remnant of Baby Days

There was a time when fraternities depended on a good deal of mystic flubdub to maintain their prestige as secret orders. That was in their infancy. Now, however, the fraternity stands alone as having a definite place on the American campus.

Still, our so-called hell week persists—a remnant of those pap-and-teething days that is as infantile as it is ridiculous.

Only two fraternities we know of have had the insight to recognize that fact. The initiations of the rest of them vary in degree, but most still retain the prevalent custom of paddling, with all the childish trimmings.

There is a lot to be said for the two non-hazing lodges' move in giving up all kinds of horse-play as a feature of fraternity life that detracts from its purpose and significance. Our interest, however, is confined to seeing the fraternities make the small sacrifice of paddling. Let them keep the harmless sort of stunts, but not the unconscionably stupid habit of paddling their pledges. No justification of it has ever been shown, for there is none.

Fraternities, to be sure, are not the only organizations guilty of following this unreasoning convention. The social orders of the sophomore class, for instance, useless as they are, help to perpetuate it. But it is not too much to expect that these would follow the example of fraternities once they showed they were in earnest about abolishing paddling once and for all. Sooner or later, it must be done.

Negroes And Juries

The Supreme Court of the United States has granted two alleged Negro assaulters another chance at freedom and upheld once more the right of every accused citizen to an impartial jury trial. The Supreme Court decision reopens the Scottsboro case on the grounds that in the two previous trials Negroes were excluded from the juries and the "due process of law" clause thus violated.

The case will be tried for the third time in the state courts of Alabama, if the state authorities choose to continue proceedings against the seven Negroes who are accused of having attacked two white girls on a freight train. Since 1932 has this case dragged itself out in the courts of the state of Alabama.

The existence of such flagrant violations of the Constitution is a travesty on American justice. While we sit and discuss interracial relations, members of a race comprising ten per cent of the population of our nation are denied the rights which are guaranteed all in the sacred Constitution of our country. Of course, the situation has been corrected by the action of the Supreme Court, but it is deplorable that there should be such a situation for the Supreme Court to correct.

Roots of Dire Evil

A feature story in yesterday's issue of this austere newspaper informed the campus-at-large that one Charlie Gilmore, '38, had, as part of a fraternity initiation, counted all the trees on the campus and found that there were 2,164 trees over two inches in diameter.

While the incident itself looks somewhat insignificant and pleasant enough in itself—albeit somewhat irksome for Pledge Gilmore—there is nonetheless a great deal of significance attached to it by campus cognoscenti, who, in keeping with their policy of staying en courant with news of all sorts, read only last week in the departmental journal of the biology department, "Amoebae, Just Amoebae," sometimes known as "Apollo Delphikos, Zeitschrift fuer Allgemein lebens—u. Kulturstudien," that—and here comes the point of this editorial, hot from the Underwood—the Census Committee of the Friends of Dogs, Joyce Kilmer, Arboreal Research, and the Princeton Library (an obscure campus learned body) had completed in March a count of the campus trees and found them to total 2,165, no less.

The Census Committee numbered among its members three professional tree-counters; on the other hand, Mr. Gilmore, whose total our more astute readers will notice was one in number below that of the committee, tells us that his family has been intimately connected with trees from time immemorial. Since the result of either investigation could not be doubted with an open mind, it is obvious that one of our trees has within the past two weeks been lost, strayed, or stolen.

Obviously, the effect of this discovery will reverberate over all the campus. Its repercussions may mean anything, and an investigation must take place at once; furthermore, anyone who cannot present a cast-iron alibi should be jailed at once.

When we lose a slice of the budget, it's bad enough. But when we begin losing our trees—Heaven forbid . . . we're sunk. For the sake of our trembling souls, we suggest that Mr. Gilmore make a re-count. He might have erred before.

Looking Backward

One and Five Years Ago Today in the Files of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

April 3, 1930

Though wells are being sunk near Havelock in the eastern part of the state, Dr. Collier Cobb repeats insistently, "There is no oil in North Carolina" . . . 584 drinkers and 380 non-drinkers decide for repeal in the DAILY TAR HEEL prohibition poll . . . Gas installation for Chapel Hill is probable . . . And politics?—A fellow named Harper Barnes is running for sophomore Student Councilman.

April 3, 1934

"Boss" Hill, well known tailor, is sick at home and asks students to call by for their pants . . . Graham Memorial reports a profit of $124 for the preceding six months. . . "In the spring a young man's fancy"—for campus poets meet with Phillips Russell . . . Meanwhile, says a headline, "FERA Employees Fertilize Trees."

Woman's Glee Club

The weekly meeting of the Woman's Glee Club will be held from 5 to 6 o'clock this afternoon in Hill Music hall.

All girls expecting to take part in the spring concert must attend all these meetings.

It is very important that all members be present on time, since pictures will be taken for the Yackety Yack.

Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: M. K. Kalb, Robert Van Sleen, W. F. Clark, Abol Hussan Fotouhi, David Wishney, Eleanor Lockhart, Mary Ross, E. A. Novich, James Idol, and O. R. Yeager.

Patronize Our Advertisers

Banquet for Sze

The alumni of Cornell University have arranged a banquet for Dr. Alfred Sze at 6 p. m. Saturday at the Carolina Inn, it was announced yesterday.

Reservations for the Chinese minister's dinner may be secured from Dr. W. E. Caldwell.

FOR SALE

1930 La Salle All Weather Phaeton

Color, Light Blue; Six Chromium Wheels; Good Mechanical Condition; Driven Approximately 50,000 Miles; Price $325.00

Address

MILLS CADILLAC CO.

ASHEVILLE, N. C.

CAROLINA NOW PLAYING

"THE FLORENTINE DAGGER"

with

MARGARET LINDSAY — DONALD WOODS

— Also —

Comedy — Novelty

THURSDAY ONLY

THE MOST EXCITING PICTURE IN A DECADE INSPIRED BY THE BIGGEST FRONT PAGE SENSATION IN YEARS!

EDWARD G. ROBINSON in THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING

A JOHN FORD PRODUCTION — A COLUMBIA PICTURE

CAROLINA DURHAM, N. C. Matinee Night Thur. April 4th

SENSATIONAL IN PERSON! Combined ROAD SHOW TOUR OF THREE Outstanding STAGE, SCREEN & RADIO STARS

Ole Olsen & Chic Johnson · Gene Austin

IN THE ROBERT KERR-JOSEPH GRIFFIN NEW YORK PRODUCTION

GOIN' PLACES

21 SCENES A STAGE FULL OF STARS

LYRICS BY OLSEN & JOHNSON · MUSIC BY GENE AUSTIN

The Entire Original Cast Absolutely Intact

FAMOUS "HOT CHA" BEAUTIES

CHARLIE STRONG'S ADMIRALS ORCHESTRA

AMERICA'S ONLY MUSICAL PLAYING MATINEE & NIGHT SHOWS DAILY

Seats Now on Sale

PRICES: Matinee, All Seats 55c Night, Lower Floor & Mezz, $1.10 1st Bal, 83c; Colored Bal., 55c

STROWD MOTOR CO.

"Ford Products Since 1914"

Netters Capture Practice Meet From Indians, 7-2

Damp Courts Hinder Play of Both Teams

Guibord Defeats Harris in Three Sets; De Gray Is Upset by Seeley for Other Loss.

WILL PLAY STATE TODAY

Hampered by soggy clay courts, the Dartmouth and Carolina tennis teams gave a rather poor exhibition of play yesterday afternoon as the Tar Heel netmen again were victorious over the visiting Indians. The final score was 7-2.

Originally commencing as a friendly practice match, the contest slowly turned into a struggle and although Carolina had a decisive margin at the conclusion, every individual match was bitterly contested.

Guibord Wins

Paul Guibord, Dartmouth ace, concluded his Carolina stay with a brilliant victory over Harvey Harris. The struggle, waged before a sizable gathering, went three sets, both boys stroking cleanly and hitting confidently.

Guibord captured the opening set 6-3, but Harris retaliated with a similar score. Flawless tennis was played in the last set with Guibord timing his shots perfectly to halt Harris's closing rally.

The opening match of the day, played on the cement court, was a repetition of yesterday. Bob Husted, playing uninspiring ball, bowed 6-0, 6-0 to Walter Levitan. This "match of the captains" proved to be a dismal presentation. It was Husted's second love setback.

De Gray Loses

The major upset came in the second bracket of matches. Eddy De Gray, impressive on Monday, found the going too rough against Ralph Seeley. Finding difficulty with the soft turf, De Gray erred repeatedly against his consistent opponent. Taking the opening set, he failed to hold a lead in the second, and then after rallying in the final setto, allowed the Dartmouth boy to break his service at 7-6 and take the match.

De Gray took revenge immediately after by teaming with Levitan in doubles and sweeping aside the Dartmouth star combination, Husted and Guibord, 6-1, 6-3.

In the other singles, Willis was carried to the very limit against Monk, Shore swamped Neill and Minor outplayed Alexander. Willis was victor only after a three-set struggle, the last set being 8-6.

The varsity travels to Raleigh today to play State in the third match of the season.

CO-ED BASKETBALL PHOTO

Members of the honorary co-ed basketball teams as announced in this morning's issue of the DAILY TAR HEEL, and the three coaches of the basketball teams, E. D. Whitley, Henry Wright, and Tom Lawthor, are to have pictures taken for the Yackety Yack this afternoon at 1:30 in front of Spencer hall.

The co-eds are to appear in gym clothes.

UNC Students To Play Duke In Tennis Meet

Carolina versus Duke in the greatest collegiate competition in the United States! That is the program for the week of April 8 to 13. It is nothing else but the annual mass tennis meet between the two schools.

It is a novel and unique event. More than 200 entrants from each school are expected to compete in this mammoth contest.

Won Last Year

The meet was discontinued due to a lack of courts last year, but an ample supply is on hand for the coming contest. The other match ended in a Carolina victory, the Tar Heels winning 129-71.

Everyone is invited to enter. Young or old, expert or novice; one and all are asked to sign on the bulletin board by the tennis courts during this week. A select committee will be appointed to seed the entrants in a representative order.

Therefore let not the the fear of superior competition retain you from participation in this entertaining meet. The first 40 players will be ranked accurately, and the remainder will be placed to the best of the committee's ability.

The contests in the past have been noted for the parness of the opponents and the relative closeness of the battles. Sign up now and lend an aiding hand in beating Duke!

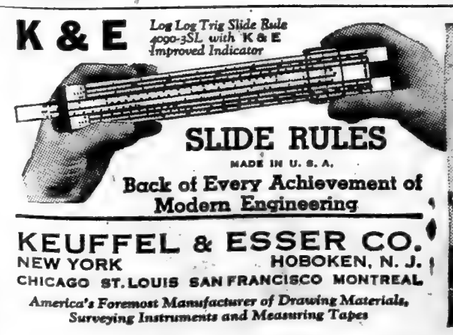
Sanford Bates

(Continued from page one)

have not failed to "make men miserable," nor have they failed "to keep men in." "Prisons," stated the "G" man, "are not pleasant places. They are filled with unpleasant people. Our object is to get these people out from under your feet."

In reference to the North Carolina penal system, said Mr. Bates: "You have a good system—you may subordinate the good of the prisoners to the policies of road building but you have accomplished the good point of keeping the prisoners fairly busy.

"We should attempt to train prisoners in cleanliness, citizenship and industry," said Mr. Bates, "not for their benefit but for our own.



"The battle must go on on many fronts," he concluded, with a note of confidence, emphasizing his belief that better prison administration will come.

Institute Lecturers

(Continued from page one)

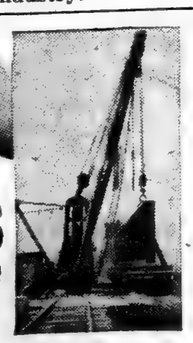
of the late B. B. Comer, governor of Alabama. Following a long line of textile leaders in his family, the present Mr. Comer returned from the Spanish-American War to enter his father's business.

As usual, the class schedule will conform with the morning address schedule. Today's speakers will all talk along the line of the second major study of the Human Relations Institute: human relations in business and industry.

K&E Log Log Trig Slide Rule 4090-3SL with K&E Improved Indicator

SLIDE RULES

MADE IN U. S. A.



Back of Every Achievement of Modern Engineering

KEUFFEL & ESSER CO.

NEW YORK HOBOKEN, N. J.

CHICAGO ST. LOUIS SAN FRANCISCO MONTREAL

America's Foremost Manufacturer of Drawing Materials, Surveying Instruments and Measuring Tapes

WRIGHT SHUTSOUT FIRST NINE TEAM WITH FOUR HITS

Sophomore May Be First Class Pitcher Hearn Looking for; Wolslagel Gets Homer.

RESERVES WHIP REGULARS

Irby Wright, leading hurler on the freshman baseball team last year, demonstrated yesterday that he might be that top-notch pitcher whom Coach Bunn Hearn is looking for.

The rookie moundsman worked with the reserve nine yesterday and held the first string to no runs and only four hits, all singles, during an eight-inning game.

Aided by Wright's masterful performance the yanigans were able to conquer the regulars, 4-0. Leo Manley, letterman, hurled for the first team and allowed six hits, suffering the defeat mainly due to poor fielding by his mates.

Four-Base Blow

Earl Wolslagel, one of the the third base candidates, was the big hitter of the afternoon for the winners with his home run in the second inning.

Trip Rand, veteran and second baseman, headed the varsity offense, getting half of its total base knocks. Captain Vick and Buck McCarn contributed the other two.

Strayhorn Stars

Bill Strayhorn, second team catcher, again featured the afternoon defense with his peppery play. Big Jim Tatum, regular catcher, tried his hand at first base during the closing frames of the game.

Coach Hearn, although he has some half-dozen boys after the job, indicated yesterday that he is still looking for a first class third baseman. Ed Bullard and Harry Montgomery took turns at the open position on the first team.

This afternoon, barring April showers, Coach Hearn will send his charges through another long workout, including a practice game. Only two days remain before the opening battle with Davidson.

TRACKMEN PREP FOR INITIAL MEET WITH W & M TEAM

Carolina Will Oppose William And Mary Saturday; Miss Last Year's Stars.

HUBBARD LEADS FIELD

With fine weather conditions prevailing the varsity track team is fast rounding into shape for its initial encounter with William and Mary Saturday afternoon at Emerson stadium.

Advanced work will be handed out daily by Coaches Fetzer and Ranson. Plenty of work was given to Waldrop, Conte, Gammon, Gardner, and Haywood over the longer distances; and Goldman, Rosser, Drake, and others over the shorter routes in yesterday's practice.

To Miss Stars

Following the graduation of Ralston LeGore, Bob Reid and Schmukler, in the field events, the Blue and White found itself with quite a scarcity of material in that division.

Perhaps the most outstanding in the weight events are the two lettermen of last season, Evins and Armfield.

These two boys will lead off for the Heels in the shot put, with Evins also competing in the discus and Armfield in the javelin. Wrenn, Stewart, Buck, Ray, Reed, and Van Horn are also working in these events.

The pole vault finds Don Jackson and Dick Bear holding the fort. Both boys fared well in the recent indoor tests, but Bear more than surprised the Carolina enthusiasts by giving his best performances ever and tying for the indoor title. Jackson was third.

The broad jump will miss Childers and Tucker, but will be well represented by Co-captain Charlie Hubbard, who is State and University outdoor champ, and conference indoor champ and record holder. He will be ably supported by Floyd Higby, former champion, and E. B. Connell.

Parker and Efland are listed in the high jump.

Duggan Reviews European Situation

(Continued from page one)

peace was made between the two nations and peaceful relations seemed assured.

Complicating Dictators

This, Dr. Duggan pointed out, was the situation in 1921. The rise of dictatorships in Italy and Germany complicated the status of the nations.

In Germany, the national Socialist movement succeeded because, Mr. Duggan contended, "No force in the world today is so strong as spiritual nationalism." The Nazi leaders never left Germany, and thus did not know the effect of the movement in other countries.

The philosophy preached by the Nazis was the unification of the Germans of Central Europe. Mussolini and the Italians therefore turned against Hitler because of the threat to the Italian border that might be engendered by the Austro-German consolidation. Russia also turned away from a Germany that attempted to stir up revolt in the Ukraine against the Soviet.

Russia, Dr. Duggan pointed out, accepted many an insult stoically while her five-year plan for industrialization was in effect. But after the completion of the plan in 1933, her foreign policy became a great deal more vigorous.

Meanwhile, England and France were unable to agree on the disarmament they had promised Germany as part of the Versailles treaty. "The Germans could only see that the promise made them in 1919 had not been kept," explained Dr. Duggan.

Thus Hitler justified his recent re-armament program in Germany which has caused such a furor in European diplomatic circles.

The question that vitally concerns Europe today is whether the Nazis desire equality, or whether their aim is for something beyond that, for expansion by conquest. If the former motive is the true one, Dr. Duggan stated, peace will probably be preserved; but if the latter force motivates Germany, it is almost certain to result in a war into which Great Britain will probably be drawn.

Dr. Duggan said, however, that it was his opinion that at the present time, Europe was neither prepared for war nor was war generally desired.

Tar Heel Linksmen Will Play Hampton-Sydney Today, 2:30

FROSH NINE HOLDS INTRA-SQUAD TILT

Good Pitching and Fielding Feature in First Year Diamond Contest Yesterday.

The yearlings held their first intra-squad game yesterday afternoon, and the final results found the regulars in the lead 3-1.

The outset of the encounter was marked by numerous strikeouts as the hitters found it extremely difficult to gauge the speed of the ball after their two-day lay-off.

Good Fielding

The freshmen made up for their failings at the plate by displaying some fine fielding.

Coach James made some changes in the lineup of the two outfits, but a first team has not been definitely chosen as yet.

Boone, Merrifield, Collins, and Burnette worked in the regular outfield, with Willard on the mound and Bricklemeyer behind the plate. The outfield was still unsettled with various combinations trying their luck.

With the exception of a few newcomers the entire squad got into the game during the course of the afternoon and Coach James got his first glance at his charges in action.

Prior to the game the frosh went through a long batting drill with Coach Wright, Burnette, Humphries, and Turbyville doing most of the hurling.

Three Sophomores Qualify for Posts

Walter Pijanowski, Joseph Crawford, and Horace Hamilton Are New Additions.

TO PLAY AT HOPE VALLEY

The Tar Heel golf team will face their third foe of the season when they meet Hampton-Sydney at 2:30 this afternoon on the Hope Valley course.

As a result of play-offs held yesterday afternoon, the line-up of the linksmen will differ from that of the first two matches. Three members of last year's freshman team turned in lower cards than number three and four players, Coffin and Bridgers, and will therefore team up with Acting Captain Erwin Laxton and Dick Harris, who were seeded number one and two position, respectively.

Sophs to Play

The sophomores who have made successful their bid to a place on the team are Walter Pijanowski, who will play in the number three position; Joseph Crawford, who will play as fourth man on the team, and Horace Hamilton, who will be the alternate member. These changes will be made beginning in today's meet and will be the regular lineup until another member of the squad shows superior playing by turning in a lower card.

Today's opponent is apparently the weaker of the two teams

(Continued on last page)

WIN A NEW

Chevrolet

Master De Luxe Town Sedan

The New Master De Luxe Chevrolet Coach

- - - And Nine Additional Valuable Prizes Including a New Chevrolet Master De Luxe Coach and Three Chevrolet New Standard Models

Write

100 words or less on "Why the Whole Town's Talking about the New Master De Luxe Chevrolet."
Chevrolet Motor Company and Columbia Pictures are cooperating to offer you this opportunity to win any of TEN wonderful prizes.

Get your free entry blank today. See the great Columbia picture—

EDWARD G. ROBINSON

in

"THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING"

with

JEAN ARTHUR

Then deposit your entry in the official contest box at the CAROLINA THEATRE, Friday.

GET FREE ENTRY BLANK AT

Carolina Theatre

or

McMillian Motor Co.

SPECIAL 95c

Large, Heavy POLO SHIRTS

The Vogue Shop

Always Something New Vogue Suits Me

No Increased Taxes

Federal Government Has Favorable Balance for March.

Washington, April 2.—(UP)—After 13 weeks of almost taxless legislation, North Carolina's Robert L. Doughton of the House ways and means committee joyfully intimated today that no increase in taxes would be necessary.

The treasury report shows a net gain in income over operating costs during March of $50,224,226. Although the government still boasts a deficit for the fiscal year of $2,199,970, this figure is smaller than the corresponding deficit last year.

Doughton revealed that the treasury took in nearly 40 per cent more in income taxes last month than during March, 1934.

FRIDAY SET AS DATE OF DEBATE TRYOUTS

Before a scanty audience in New East, Albert Ellis last night assumed the office of speaker of the Phi Assembly.

Tryouts for the first intercollegiate debate engaged in by the Assembly in several years will be held Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in New East to decide who shall defend against Duke University the negative of the query, Resolved, that the several states adopt legislation providing for the socialization of medicine.

The tentative date for the debate is April 9.

Golf

(Continued from page three)

as they were beaten by State Monday almost as decisively as the Tar Heel linksmen defeated the Capital City boys in last week's opener. The team feels further confident of a large margin of victory over their foes today as the new additions to the team promise to make even stronger a now powerful team.

Annual Photo Staff

The following men will meet for a Yackety Yack photography staff meeting this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Graham Memorial office: Jerry Kisner, Don Becker, Marvin Chaikin, John Larsen, Bill Grimes, and Jack Frink.

LOST

Pair of silver-framed glasses in brown leather case, bearing the name Dr. Thompson, Washington, D. C. Finder return to Richard Cox, K. A. house.

Say "Hello" to Geneva Mitchell.

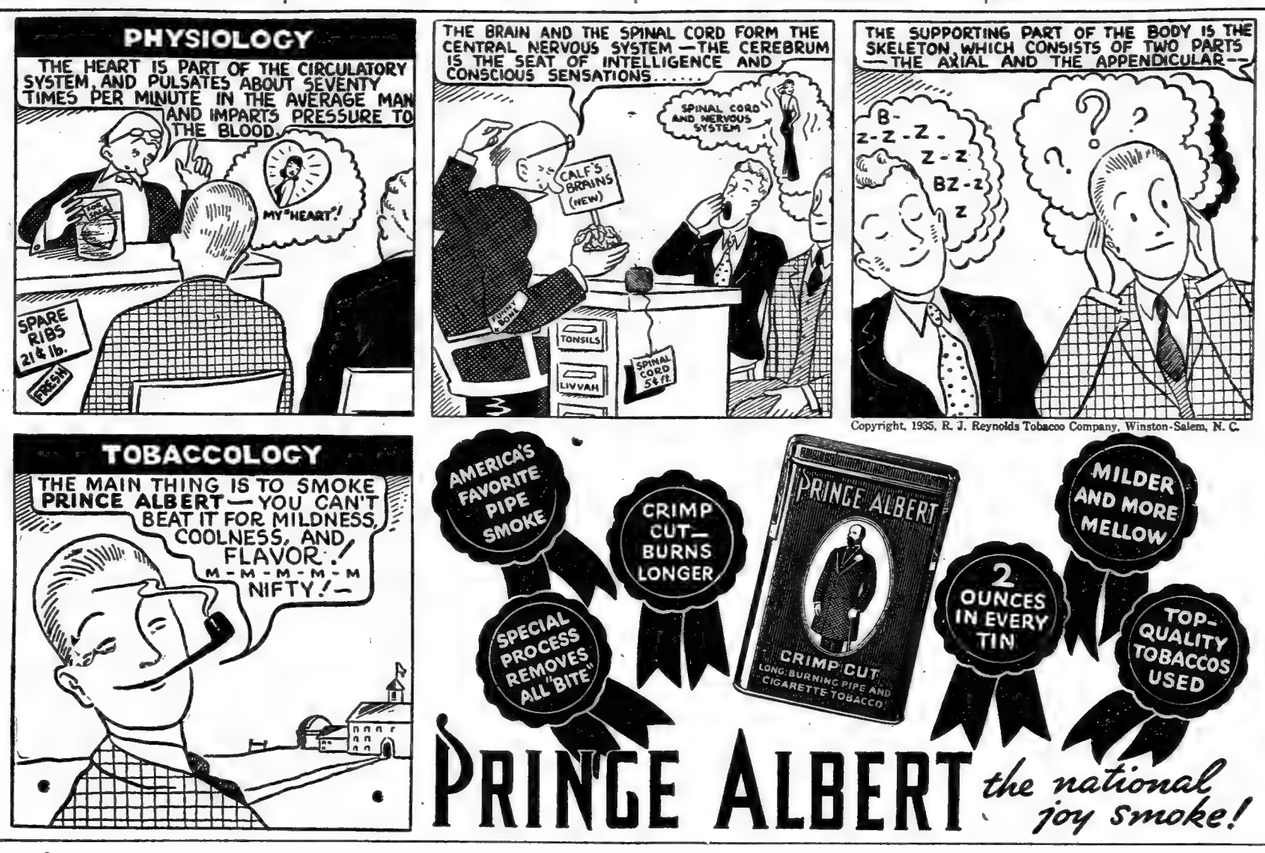
She's Venus, the Goddess of Love, who goes on a spree down Broadway and gets everybody "That Way" about everybody else!

Carl Laemmle presents
Thorne Smith's
NIGHT LIFE of the GODS
EVERY LAUGH A SPECTACLE — EVERY SPECTACLE A LAUGH

A Universal Picture with
ALAN MOWBRAY · FLORINE McKINNEY
PEGGY SHANNON · RICHARD CARLE
WESLEY BARRY · HENRY ARMETTA
FERDINAND GOTTSCHALK · WM. BOYD

MIDNIGHT SHOW FRIDAY
Hours of shows: 11:15 and 1 A.M.
CAROLINA



Haydon to Speak

Dr. Glen Haydon, head of the music department, will address a convention of the State Federation of Music Clubs, which will meet at Winston-Salem tonight. Dr. Haydon's talk will be on the "Relation of Choral Music to Religious Ceremony."

ATTEND THE INSTITUTE

Many Register in Art Class

Over 60 Chapel Hillians and residents of neighboring towns have registered for the four classes in watercoloring being conducted, under the sponsorship of the Southern Art Projects and the University extension division, by Eliot O'Hara, Washington artist and former paint manufacturer.

Copyright, 1935, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

"PEP ON THE AIR"
RUTH ETTING and her melody
RED NICHOLS and his rhythm

Kellogg's
COLLEGE PROM

Don't miss the "prom" next Thursday. More thrills at college. More beautiful songs. More dancing music. Kellogg's College Prom visits a different famous campus every week and brings you the excitement and merriment of a party.

Be sure to tune in each Thursday night. And don't forget, every day, "Keep going with PEP!"

EVERY THURSDAY NIGHT
7:45 Eastern Standard Time
WJZ Network—N. B. C.

There's something about a Chesterfield —

There's one thing I especially like about Chesterfields — entirely aside from the fact that it's a milder cigarette — and I've heard a number of people say the same thing ... While I'm smoking Chesterfield I never get little crumbs of tobacco in my mouth — the tobacco doesn't spill out and that adds a lot to my pleasure of smoking them ... I notice more and more of my friends smoke Chesterfields.

When in Durham
you are cordially invited to visit the Chesterfield factory and see Chesterfields made.

Chesterfields are Milder Chesterfields Taste Better

© 1935, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

EVERETT DEAN MARTIN
10:30 A. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

The Daily Tar Heel

GEORGE SOULE
8 P. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, APRIL 4, 1935 | NUMBER 135

DISASTER LOOMS FOR KING COTTON, WRIGHT DECLARES

Counsel for Textile Union Repeats Fish's Earlier Warning To Cotton Industry.

PLEADS FOR CO-OPERATION

For the second time yesterday, an impending crisis in the cotton textile industry was predicted from the rostrum of Memorial hall when Chester Wright, public relations counsel for the United Textile Workers, reiterated Hamilton Fish's earlier contention that foreign competition is cutting the ground from beneath American cotton.

Mr. Wright explained that the American textile industry has two alternatives in facing this crisis: it must meet the prices of the competing nations by lowering its wages and the standard of living to the level of theirs; or the labor and capital elements within the industry must use their combined intelligence to find another solution to the problem.

Way Out Proposed

As a possible "way out" the speaker suggested the further development of the home market for textiles. Quoting figures to show that only 30 per cent of the textile output is made into clothes, he expressed the belief that surplus cotton might be used to "put clothes on the American people."

However, Mr. Wright stated, most needed in the industry is a much greater degree of co-operation between the employers and the union. For the lack of such co-ordination he blames the employers.

LEAGUE TO CALL STUDENT MEETING TO OPPOSE WAR

Demonstration Will Take Place April 12 During Assembly.

Members of the Foreign Policy League interested in staging a convocation against war voted at a meeting last night to hold an anti-war demonstration in the form of a mass meeting in front of South building at 10:30 a. m., April 12.

R. P. Russell was elected chairman and plans were adopted to the effect that speakers and amplifiers be secured. The committee also decided to send a request to all faculty members holding 11 o'clock classes to devote their class periods to a discussion of the peace problem.

The demonstration, although it is not sponsored by any outside organization, will be along the lines of student anti-war strikes to be held all over the world on the same day. The purpose of the demonstration is to stimulate student thought and action on the means to insure peace in a period threatened by war.

The students who are active in organizing the demonstration have planned to issue leaflets summarizing some of the issues underlying the cause of war upon which the student generation must take a stand.

UNIVERSITY CLUB TONIGHT

There will be a meeting of the University Club tonight at 7:15 o'clock in 209 Graham Memorial.

It is important that all members be present as the completion of membership for next year is to be undertaken.

Speaks Today

Dr. Everett Dean Martin, director of the Peoples' Institute, who will talk today on "Violence and Social Progress" and "A Liberal Education."

TEXTILE LEADER DEFENDS ACTION OF MILL OWNERS

Comer Says Goal of Industrialization Is Friendly Partnership with Workers.

EXPLAINS RECENT STRIKE

Donald Comer, president of the Avondale cotton mills and co-author of the Cotton Textile Code for the NRA, last night brought to a close a day's discussion of the textile industry by declaring that "the employers are just as keen, just as alive, and just as anxious for better things as any group in this country."

The veteran cotton mill operator, who has worked from the bottom up in the textile industry, was sincere in his assurance that the cotton mill owners had the interests of their employees at heart.

September Strike

"The September strike," he stated, "was called by Francis Gorman on charges of an overburdening of tasks through a violation of the code." Comer then proceeded to point out that figures compiled by the NRA investigating commission revealed 98 per cent compliance with the code.

The textile industry had agreed to the code, Comer declared, had agreed to raise their costs of production 100 per cent, with the assurance that other codes would follow, inducing a larger buying power. The other codes, however, failed to accomplish their purpose and the textile industry was left "alone on the end of the limb."

"The ultimate goal of industrialization," he concluded, "is to bring about a friendly partnership of employers and employees rather than live apart in separate armed camps."

FINJAN COPY DUE

All copy for the Farewell Issue of the Finjan must be in by 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, announced Pat Gaskins, editor, yesterday.

The work done on this issue will be important in determining who shall be awarded Finjan keys this year, he added.

German Club Executives

The German Club executive committee will convene at 1:30 today at the Sigma Chi house, it was announced yesterday. It is important that all committeemen be present.

JITNEY PLAYERS TO STAGE DRAMA TOMORROW NIGHT

Century Old "Mellerdrammer" With "Divertissments" Between Scenes to Be Given.

OZ PLAY IN AFTERNOON

With Ethel Barrymore Colt, daughter of the famous actress, and an accomplished stage artist herself, appearing in the cast, the nationally popular Jitney Players will rattle into Chapel Hill Friday for two performances.

Presenting the "Streets of New York" at the 8:30 performance, the still surviving "road troupe" will attempt to give in its original manner Dion Boucicault's famous "melodrammer."

Villain, Hero, Heroine

The unscrupulous villain robbing helpless widows and orphans, a beautiful, sighing, palpitating heroine, and the hero arriving in the nick of time to hurl himself in the blazing inferno to save the day—all these elements of yesteryear's dramatic appeal are incorporated in the "Streets of New York."

In addition to the 100-year-old play setting, "divertisments" will be "rendered" between scene changes. The Jitney Players are planning to present the play as it was first given at the old Wallack theatre in New York, December, 1857.

At the 4 o'clock matinee, the players will present the "Adventures of Oz," taken from the famous Oz stories.

Co-ed Basketball Teams To Be Photographed

Members of the honorary woman's basketball teams are asked to meet in front of Spencer hall in gym suits this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to have their pictures taken for the Yackety Yack.

It is necessary that all co-eds on the honorary teams be in attendance, for this is the last opportunity to have the photos taken.

Co-eds expected to be present are as follows:

First honorary team: Frances Caffey, Elsie Lawrence, Harriet Taylor, Gertrude Pridgen, Anna Coles and Helen D'Anna.

Second team: Ida Winstead, Daphne Simpson, Vivian Grisette, Mary P. Cruikshank, Sue Jenkins, and Virginia Simpson.

FRESHMAN EXECUTIVES

The freshman executive council will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Graham Memorial, President Clyde Mullis announced yesterday. It is imperative, he said, that every member be present.

Freshman Dance April 12

The freshman dance committee announced yesterday that the freshman dance will be held April 12 in the Tin Can. Billy Kanoff and his orchestra will play.

Grail Meets Tonight

The Order of the Grail will meet tonight at 10 o'clock in Graham Memorial, it was announced yesterday by George Moore.

Hamilton Fish Says United States Has Finest Government On Earth

New York State Congressman Urges Citizens to Reaffirm Faith in Americanism.

SOUTH FACING DISASTER

"Reaffirm your faith in yourselves as Americans," directed Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York state who addressed the convocation in Memorial hall yesterday morning.

That Americans can solve all American problems in the same way that their American ancestors solved them was the conclusion Fish reached. "Reaffirm your faith," he stated, for our government is the "best government on earth."

Pointing out that the south was now facing a crisis greater than any since the Civil War, the New Yorker declared the matter an American issue.

Cotton Sales Lost

Because of crop reduction practices, America's greatest export, cotton, lost half its market in the last two years, indicated Fish. Along with losing our cotton market to foreign competitors, our allied cotton-textile industry is also going under, warned the Congressman.

"We are heading for ruin and disaster such as the south has never known," declared the Institute speaker in pointing out that politicians have been afraid to expose the facts.

"Soviet Vulture" NRA

Declaring the "blue eagle" of the NRA a "Soviet vulture," the once all-American football player left the south's cotton problem and began calling the New Deal various names. Excusing the fact that he voted for part

(Continued on page two)

Seminars Today

8:30 a. m.—Sociology 151, 107 Alumni, in seminar with Julian Harris.

9:30 a. m.—Commerce 161, 317 Bingham, in seminar with Julian Harris.

9:30 a. m.—Government 121, 316 Saunders hall, in seminar with J. F. Rippy.

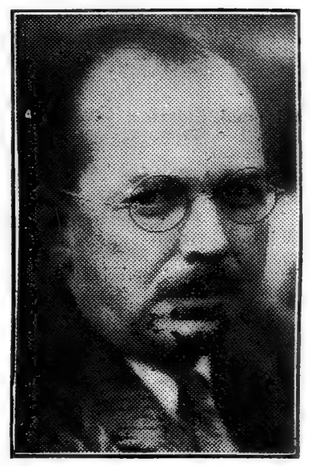
11:15 a. m.—Psychology 22 and Education 71, 101 New West building, in seminar with Everett Dean Martin (no room for visitors).

12 o'clock—Government 143 and 158, 301 Saunders hall, in seminar with J. F. Rippy.

DEBATE TONIGHT

University to Meet Bucknell at 7 p. m. in Gerrard Hall.

Miss Elsa Patton and Miss Elizabeth Hylbert, representing the Bucknell University debate squad, will meet the University team composed of Harry McMullan and Wiley Parker, in Gerrard hall tonight at 7 p. m.



The Bucknell girls will uphold the affirmative of the question, Resolved, that the several states should adopt legislation providing to the citizens at nominal costs general medical care and the services of hospitals and clinics.

Summer Session Gets Maps

Rand McNally and Company, publishers, have presented the summer session office with two handsome maps, one of North Carolina and one of the United States, Dr. Edgar W. Knight, director, said yesterday.

Soule And Martin Make Institute Addresses Today

Weil Lecturer

George Soule, Jr., editor of the New Republic, who will make the evening address of the Institute tonight, opening his series of Weil lectures.

New Republic Editor Will Lecture Tonight

"Violence and Social Progress" Is Topic of Dr. Martin's Talk at 10:15 a. m.

CONVOCATION AT 4 P. M.

Weil lecturer for 1935, George Soule, Jr., editor of the New Republic, and Dr. Everett Dean Martin, director of the Peoples' Institute, are scheduled to fire the shots of human relations on the Institute program today.

Speaking twice, Dr. Martin, who is being sponsored by the Order of the Grail, will consider "Violence and Social Progress" at the 10:15 session and "A Liberal Education" at the 4 o'clock address hour.

Soule Appears at 8 p. m.

Soule, on his first of the Weil series of three lectures, will speak on "Social Changes and the American Tradition," at 8 p. m.

As director of the Cooper Union Forum, the largest center for free discussion of political and educational subjects in America, Dr. Martin has become a leading educator and writer.

Churchman, lecturer on social philosophy, writer on philosophical subjects, Democrat, Martin was chairman of the national board of review of motion pictures from 1919-22.

Editor Soule has headed the New Republic since 1924 as editor and has written several outstanding books and various reports, papers, and articles.

Soule's appearance here marks the 20th year of the Weil lectureship, begun in 1914-15 as an endowed program to discuss American citizenship.

Ex-President William Howard Taft was the first speaker. Since that time the foundation has been permanently established through the contributions of the families of Messrs. Sol and Henry Weil of Goldsboro.

Since the organization of the Human Relations Institute in 1927, the Weil Lecture Fund Committee has co-operated with the Institute in presenting its lecturer on the regular program.

World News Bulletins

German Air Fleet

London, April 3.—(UP)—Sir John Simon created a sensation in the House of Commons today when he confirmed reports that Germany had reached an air parity with England.

He asserted that Hitler had admitted Germany's secret rearmament program that had made her a world power in aviation.

Austrians May Arm

Vienna, April 3.—(UP)—The Austrian government officially confirmed reports tonight that Austria was prepared in principle to follow Germany's rearmament program.

Works Bill Compromise

Washington, April 3.—(UP)—Hope for a break in the deadlock of the $4,880,000,000 public works bill made its appearance tonight.

A compromise appeared likely over the type of labor to be employed in the huge expenditure.

Propose Lethal Gas

Raleigh, April 3.—(UP)—The House of Representatives passed and sent to the Senate today the bill introduced by Representative Peterson of Mitchell county substituting the lethal gas chamber for the electric chair.

Symphony Will Give Three Performances

In addition to the concert which will be given Monday evening in Memorial hall, the University of Michigan Symphony, Thor Johnson director, will present a concert that afternoon at 3 o'clock for the children of Chapel Hill, Carrboro, and White Cross schools.

Tickets for adults who wish to attend this concert will be 50 cents and may be secured at Alfred Williams Store or at the door.

The school children attending this concert will be the guests of the Community Club's music department, which is sponsoring the affair.

It was announced late last night that Thor Johnson's orchestra will also play Sunday evening at 4 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

THOMAS EXPECTED TO ANSWER FISH TOMORROW NIGHT

Banquet Tickets Concentrated at "Y" and with Smithwick.

The remaining tickets for the Norman Thomas banquet will be concentrated at the Y. M. C. A. office and with Robert Swithwick at Everett dormitory. The price is 60 cents each.

In addition to speaking on politics, Mr. Thomas will probably give some sort of refutation to the address of Congressman Hamilton Fish, who spoke here yesterday, members of the banquet committee announced. Thomas has engaged in several public debates with Fish in the past.

The banquet will be held tomorrow night at 6 o'clock in Graham Memorial. Those who wish tickets are urged to make arrangements this afternoon, as only a limited supply remains on sale.

Passbooks at Business Office

Students may secure spring quarter athletic and entertainment series passbooks at the business office today.

No Increased Taxes	Haydon to Speak	will meet at Winston-Salem to-	Many Register in Art Class	conducted, under the sponsor-	PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS ship of the Southern Art Pro-

EVERETT DEAN MARTIN
10:30 A. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

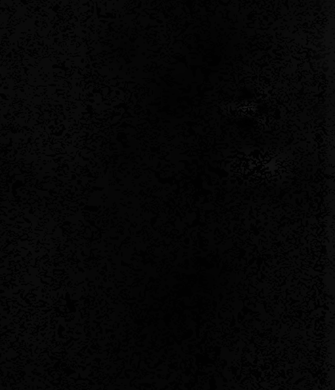
The Daily Tar Heel

GEORGE SOULE
8 P. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, APRIL 4, 1935 NUMBER 135

DISASTER LOOMS FOR KING COTTON, WRIGHT DECLARES



Counsel for Textile Union Repeats Fish's Earlier Warning To Cotton Industry.

PLEADS FOR CO-OPERATION

For the second time yesterday, an impending crisis in the cotton textile industry was predicted from the rostrum of Memorial hall when Chester Wright, public relations counsel for the United Textile Workers, reiterated Hamilton Fish's earlier contention that foreign competition is cutting the ground from beneath American cotton.

Mr. Wright explained that the American textile industry has two alternatives in facing this crisis: it must meet the prices of the competing nations by lowering its wages and the

Speaks Today

Dr. Everett Dean Martin, director of the Peoples' Institute, who will talk today on "Violence and Social Progress" and "A Liberal Education."

TEXTILE LEADER DEFENDS ACTION

JITNEY PLAYERS TO STAGE DRAMA TOMORROW NIGHT

Century Old "Mellerdrammer" With "Divertissments" Between Scenes to Be Given.

OZ PLAY IN AFTERNOON

With Ethel Barrymore Colt, daughter of the famous actress, and an accomplished stage artist herself, appearing in the cast, the nationally popular Jitney Players will rattle into Chapel Hill Friday for two performances.

Presenting the "Streets of New York" at the 8:30 performance, the still surviving "road troupe" will attempt to give in its original manner Dion Boucicault's famous "melodrammer."

Villain, Hero, Heroine

The unscrupulous villain robbing helpless widows and or-

Co-ed Basketball Teams To Be Photographed

Members of the honorary woman's basketball teams are asked to meet in front of Spencer hall in gym suits this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to have their pictures taken for the Yackety Yack.

It is necessary that all co-eds on the honorary teams be in attendance, for this is the last opportunity to have the photos taken.

Co-eds expected to be present are as follows:

First honorary team: Frances Caffey, Elsie Lawrence, Harriet Taylor, Gertrude Pridgen, Anna Coles and Helen D'Anna.

Second team: Ida Winstead, Daphne Simpson, Vivian Grisette, Mary P. Cruikshank, Sue Jenkins, and Virginia Simpson.

FRESHMAN EXECUTIVES

The freshman executive council will meet tonight at 7:30

Soule And Martin Make Institute Addresses Today

Weil Lecturer

George Soule, Jr., editor of the New Republic, who will make the evening address of the Institute tonight, opening his series of

New Republic Editor Will Lecture Tonight

"Violence and Social Progress" Is Topic of Dr. Martin's Talk at 10:15 a. m.

CONVOCATION AT 4 P. M.

Weil lecturer for 1935, George Soule, Jr., editor of the New Republic, and Dr. Everett Dean Martin, director of the Peoples' Institute, are scheduled to fire the shots of human relations on the Institute program today.

Speaking twice, Dr. Martin, who is being sponsored by the Order of the Grail, will consider "Violence and Social Progress" at the 10:15 session and "A Liberal Education" at the 4 o'clock address hour.

Soule Appears at 8 p. m.

Soule, on his first of the Weil series of three lectures, will

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, William Jordan, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: DON McKEE

Thursday, April 4, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"Track Squad Is Pushed Through Stiff Workout." We hope they won't need any such assistance next Saturday.

The title of Mr. Wright's talk was "King Cotton Beware," whereas our textilists are more interested in seeing that "King Cotton Be Worn."

Ham Fish and Herb Hoover ought to team up. There's no telling what this country would do with an engineer plus an All-American football tackle.

Student Reaction

Whether influenced by the personality of New York's dynamic Congressman Fish or merely because of the surprising fact that they do not particularly savor "red" atmosphere, students at yesterday's seminar conducted by the Knickerbocker Republican evidenced an apparent repugnance toward un-Republican radicalism in any form.

One member of the student body who rose to ask if the speaker had ever been to Russia was vigorously booed by the audience. This action was preceded by an apparent whole-hearted student agreement with Fish's red-baiting republicanism. There was little doubt as to the character of campus political thought, if the demonstrations can be taken as sincere manifestations.

We believe that student political thought is as conservative as it has always been. It was not surprising to note that much student comment at the conclusion of the seminar was devoted to agreement with Mr. Fish as regards his opposition to the New Deal. Herein was it manifest that conservatism is the keynote of most of the student undergraduate body, due perhaps as much to a supposed failure of the liberal administration as to inherent reactionarianism.

It can also be said that students regard the New Deal as an immediate situation, whereas radicalism as a political science is in their opinion in the talking rather than the active stage. Consequently, conservative reaction toward any leftist opposition to Mr. Fish was the result more of agreement with his defense of the age-old conservative principles of American democracy than of active antagonism against Communism and Socialism as opposed political groups.

High Schoolers Are Coming

The annual high school week is being arranged under the direction of the extension division of the University, to provide for over 300 North Carolina secondary schoolers the opportunities for competition on the field of sports and on the platform of debate. Not only that, but the future collegians will get a good perspective view of the state's institution of higher learning, one of the nation's finest.

It has been repeatedly stressed that any and all efforts on the part of the University to educate the youth as to the advantages of Chapel Hill is a direct contribution to the state's educational growth.

From this view and from the standpoint that we are proud to be able to help the University in this work, we welcome again this opportunity to mingle with our future campus generations.

It Is Coming

Buried in the maze of Human Relations participation and the other attractions, both mental and physical, of the spring quarter lies campus politics, unforgotten only by the politicians but quietly awaiting Monday morning and the subsequent hectic days of electioneering to come once more into its rightful realm.

Bitterly contested elections have marked the majority of Carolina campus campaigns, although last year one party, the only party, swept every man into office like an August wind-storm in Nebraska. We can conjecture that this spring will find somewhat the same situation except in the proverbially contested offices of student body president and some publications and class officerships.

If all offices are sought after by more than one candidate, students should exercise a certain discretion in the choice of their officers. While this is not always the case, in the mass of students there are many who could, if they would, militantly demand the best man available for the various posts. This is no condemnation, however, of the incumbent administration or previous sets of student leaders who have come into office via the customary party methods.

We have heard consistently that the party already organized this spring has made exacting qualifications requisite of its candidates for the 1935-36 offices and if this is the case, even an unopposed ticket might result in the election of the pre-eminently best men without choice on the voters' part necessary in their selection.

At any rate, nominations will take place Monday morning and the student body should turn out to get an idea, even from the campaign managers' slants, of the candidates they will vote upon to lead activities next year.

Princeton's Plan For Honor Students

Thirty-one seniors of high honor standing at Princeton University have received practically unlimited freedom in the pursuit of their studies, unhampered by schedule requirements, faculty supervision, and attendance at lectures. These honor seniors must meet only three requirements; they must report weekly to their departmental advisers on the progress of their work, they must write a senior departmental thesis, and they must take comprehensive examinations in June.

This plan, an outgrowth of Woodrow Wilson's idea of higher education, is coming to the fore in a great many of the leading American universities, notably North Carolina, in the liberalizing and spreading out of curricula.

The plan will gain in favor as it proceeds insofar as honor students are concerned, but for those students who are continually on the border line, the old supervised curriculum schedule is destined to remain in existence for a long time to come. When the participants in this plan are chosen on the basis of scholarship, the plan is well founded, but it is impossible of execution for less intellectual students.

Hands over Nine Miles

In a gigantic tennis meet the week of April 8-13 Carolina will meet Duke University. The meet will be a mammoth contest with more than 200 entrants from each school participating and with every one invited to enter regardless of individual ability.

Last year the meet, which promises to become an annual event, was discontinued because of a lack of tennis courts. The first meet two years ago was won by Carolina with a score of 129-71.

This contest between the two neighbor institutions will broaden the sports programs of both schools and go a long way in the supplementing of our intramural sports. There is no reason why, if this program meets with success as it has done in the past, this idea could not be extended to include a much larger inter-college sports program between the two institutions. By this is meant an inter-college sports program similar to our present intramural sports, in which large numbers of students of both institutions could take part and gain great benefit from sport for sport's sake. Such a program, which the success of the dual tennis meet will prove practicable, would put the sports of both schools on a sounder, more fundamental and rational basis.

The program of co-operation proposed for the two Universities by the joint committee on co-operation and approved by Presidents Few and Graham will be given a new and deeper meaning and significance by a co-operative sports program between the schools. The program of intellectual co-operation is chiefly concerned with the libraries and the graduate schools of the two Universities.

All eyes will be focused upon the tennis meet as a concrete evidence of the growing spirit between Duke and Carolina, and its success will pave the way for a wider program of sports and intellectual activities.

Hamilton Fish

(Continued from page one)

of it as an "emergency relief measure," the New York Republican called his neighbor Roosevelt's program a lamentable failure.

The "liberal" deviated from his discussion of "The South and the New Deal" and devoted the remainder of his address to rehashing generalized statements condemning socialism, communism and Russinism, praising the present government of the United States, and digging up some of Abe Lincoln's famous quotations.

GROVES IN KENTUCKY

Professor Ernest R. Groves of the sociology department spoke yesterday at the annual meeting of the Louisville Family Service Organization in Louisville, Ky.

Today he will address the annual meeting of the National Family Welfare Society in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Chemistry Fraternity

The Rho chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma, national chemical fraternity, announces the pledging of the following men: D. E. Askew of Snow Hill, J. E. Everett of Jefferson City, Tenn., R. C. Jurney of Winston-Salem, S. B. Knight of Asheville; A. R. Macormac of Greensboro; W. G. Sink of Lexington, and P. M. Nicholls, Jr., of Charleston, S. C.

Four in Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Robert Van Sleen, Charles Abernethy, R. D. Weatherford, and R. W. Weesner.

Spanish Reading Exam

The reading knowledge Spanish examination for ... degrees will be given in D... A. Stoudemire's office Apr... at 11 a. m.

FOR SALE

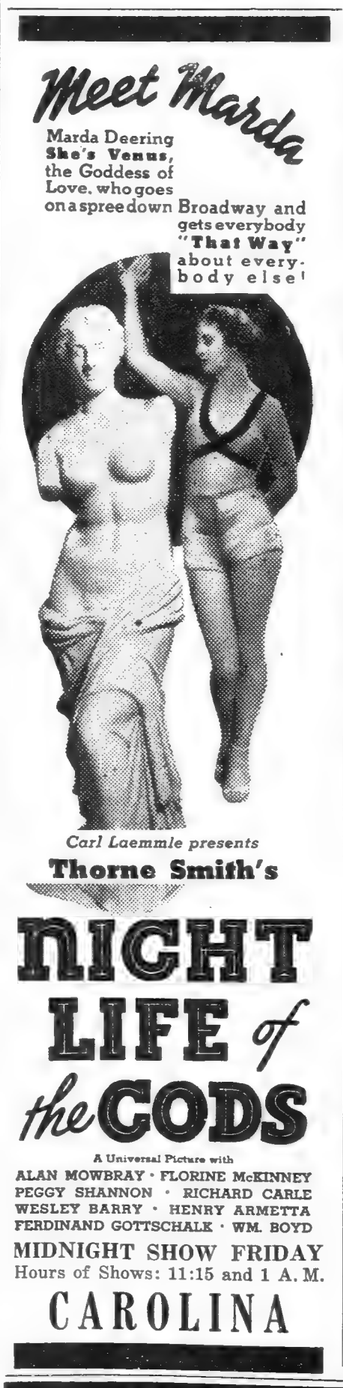
1930 La Salle All Weather Phaeton

Color, Light Blue; Six Chromium Wheels; Good Mechanical Condition; Driven Approximately 50,000 Miles; Price $325.00

Address

MILLS CADILLAC CO.

ASHEVILLE, N. C.



Let Us Prepare Your Car

For Warm Weather Driving

Washing—Polishing—Waxing
Certified Lubrication—Texaco Products
Firestone and Kelly Tires—Willard Batteries

University Service Station

H. S. PENDERGRAFT, Prop.

Above: From an old photo of lower Broadway at John St., New York about 1890. Right: Actual size of 150 pair cable.

Bell System engineers long ago began to work out a way to clear city streets of overhead wires. The first telephone cables were crude affairs—a few wires drawn through a pipe. Continuous research brought forth improved designs, better manufacturing methods, cables of smaller size yet far greater capacity. The cable with the greatest number of wires today—3636—is 2⅝" in diameter.

More than 94% of the Bell System's wire mileage is now in storm resisting cable—one of many developments to improve service.

Why not drop in at home tonight — by telephone? For a lot of pleasure at bargain rates, call by number after 8:30 P. M.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

SPECIAL!!

Polo Shirts 95c

The Vogue Shop

Always Something New Vogue Suits Me

Vines Will Face Tilden In Feature Of Exhibition At 8 O'clock In Tin Can

Lott, Nusslein Play Same Two in Doubles

Students Will Get to See World's Greatest Tennis Exhibition For Fifty Cents.

PROS BRING OWN COURT

Yes, it will be Big Bill versus Elly! An almost unanimous student vote brings these two masters into combat in tonight's exhibition. Only three dissenting votes were cast in the singles choice, and not many more in the vote pairing Tilden and Vines as doubles partners.

The gala event gets underway at 8 o'clock before an expected gigantic crowd in the Tin Can. Three matches will be contested with the Tilden-Vines and Lott-Nusslein doubles match sandwiched by the singles. The other singles match will be, of course, George Lott versus Hans Nusslein.

Admission Prices

All high school and college students will be charged 50c, general admission will be $1, and reserved seats will be sold at $1.50. This is exclusive of tax.

The Tin Can is already prepared for the crowd, 1,200 seats having been made available. The enormous canvas on which they are to play will be brought here this morning. It is a complete court in itself, weighing nearly six tons and presenting one of the finest playing fields to be found.

Tilden holds the most titles of any tennis player, Vines is recognized as history's hardest hitter, Lott is conceded the position as the world's best doubles player, and Nusslein is the present world professional champ.

Bradley, Indian Baseball Scout, Pays Visit Here

Coach Hearn Praises Former League Star; Is Looking for Prospects in Colleges.

"A gentleman and the best third baseman in the world," was Coach Bunn Hearn's tribute to Bill Bradley, Cleveland scout and former teammate of the Tar Heel mentor.

Bradley, who visited here several times last season, has returned this year to scout the Tar Heel camp for major league prospects. Although the big league scout is making his headquarters in Chapel Hill, he plans to spy on Duke and the other Big Five schools for diamond hopefuls.

The Cleveland scout performed on several big league diamonds during his playing days. He was playing the third sack position for Toronto in 1913 on the memorable day when Bunn Hearn pitched 20 scoreless innings to win the overtime contest from Jersey City.

Coach Hearn heaped loads of praise on Bradley's character as a man and as a baseball scout. "He is not the type of fellow who tries to make a professional

(Continued on last page)

REGULARS DEFEAT SECOND CLUB, 10-5

Regulars Forced to Overcome Early Four-Run Lead to Get Victory; Groome Stars.

BULLARD WORKS AT THIRD

The Tar Heel baseball regulars overcame a four-run lead to defeat the rookies 10-5 in yesterday's practice game. Due to a late start, the contest did not go but seven innings.

Fred Crouch, veteran hurler, working easily, gave up 10 hits during the five innings he was on the mound. Latcher Webster pitched the remaining two innings and allowed only two hits.

Sophomore Bunn Hearn went the route for the second team. He did not allow but five bingles, although generous with the gratis passes to first.

Reserves Start Early

Stark, rookie outfielder, started the scoring by getting a three-base knock in the first inning. He was sent across the home plate by Babe Daniel's single.

Four more runs were scored by the rookies in the next two innings. Lefty Groome starred in the field and at the plate for the second stringers.

According to Coach Hearn, Ed Bullard will probably get the call to start at the disputed third base position against Davidson tomorrow. Schriver, Jones, Wolslagel, and Montgomery are still in the running for the hot corner spot.

FROSH TENNIS

There will be an important meeting of the freshman tennis team this morning at 10:30 at Emerson stadium. All players are requested to attend.

TAR HEEL TENNIS VARSITY BLANKS STATE EASILY, 9-0

Minor Drops Only 8 Points in Love Victory; De Gray Also Shuts Out Opponent.

STRAIGHT SET VICTORIES

State College became the third victim of the Carolina net team yesterday afternoon, bowing 9-0 to the Tar Heels on the Raleigh courts.

Lacking the services of Harvey Harris, the Carolina team nevertheless routed the Wolfpack players with little effort. Not a single set was dropped in the complete match of nine individual combats.

Love Sets

Both Eddy De Gray and Ike Minor were victors by 6-0, 6-0 scores. Minor was particularly impressive as he limited Peck to a mere 8 points throughout the two sets.

Captain Levitan opened the meet by completely outplaying the State ace, Jim Renn, dropping but a solitary game. The State captain, Jack Brown, provided the single thriller of the day when he carried Ricky Willis to 7-5, 6-3 scores before yielding.

Frank Shore scored his third varsity victory by beating 6-1, 6-3, and Larry Jones took the final singles from Boland.

Doubles

Levitan and De Gray experienced no trouble against Brown and Renn in the first doubles,

(Continued on last page)

HUBBARD MAY BE OUT OF BATTLE WITH W. AND M.

Carolina Track Captain Still Bothered with Injury Sustained in Indoor Meet.

VISITORS LOOK STRONG

Slight is the optimism reigning in the minds of Carolina track coaches concerning the probable outcome of Saturday's initial encounter against the strong William and Mary team.

Not only have the Flying Tar Heels got "Monk" Little to contend with, but in all probability they will be without the services of Co-Captain Charley Hubbard. The Carolina leader has yet to be fully recovered from a muscle injury sustained in the recent indoor meet and his absence is almost certain to cost the team about eight points.

A strong head wind forced the tracksters from accomplishing much in yesterday's practice session, although several men did make good performances in sprint trials. The distance men confined their work to jogging and further conditioning.

If Carolina is without Hubbard, Harry Williamson may be forced to do double duty. It is hoped that he will have to compete only in the 880, in which event he will undoubtedly be sent out to set up a new mark, although he may also have to be used in the quarter.

The freshmen will have an exhibition on the same program.

Golfers Score Third Win; Rout Hamp-Sydney, 15-7

PITCHERS FEATURE FROSH NINE DRILL

Humphries Wins Battle over Turbyville in Last Inning.

A lucky bingle in the last stanza of a hotly contested six inning frosh tilt gave the regulars their second victory of the inter-squad games, 1-0. Johnny Humphries pitched and won his own game as he swung at a high slow ball and clouted it far into right field for the only extra base hit of the day.

The game was tight throughout with both Humphries and Turbyville hurling superb ball; the scorer chalked up more strikeouts than the frosh have had called against them so far this year.

Many Entries Made For Mural Tourney

With entries for intramural baseball and tennis starting to pour in, interest over the coming season is rapidly developing on the campus. Tomorrow night is the deadline for entries, and play will probably commence next Monday.

CO-ED TENNIS

The Woman's Tennis Club will hold its first meeting this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Woman's Association room at Graham Memorial.

Capt. Laxton Cards 74 in Easy Victory

Pijanowski and Harris Turn in Other Decisive Conquests; Coffin Suffers Defeat.

WALDEN LEADS LOSERS

The Tar Heel linksmen continued their victorious march yesterday afternoon by badly defeating Hampton-Sydney, 15-3, on the local Hope Valley course.

Walter Pijanowski, the only sophomore to perform, played number three position and defeated his first varsity intercollegiate opponent, Dotson, 3-0.

In the opening match, Acting Captain Erwin Laxton of Carolina blanked the number one man of the opposing team, Holden, 3-0.

Harris Gets Three

Dick Harris repeated the first match, defeating Jefferies by the same score. It was in this match that Harris turned in the next to the lowest score of the day.

The final singles match of the afternoon marked the first indi-

(Continued on last page)

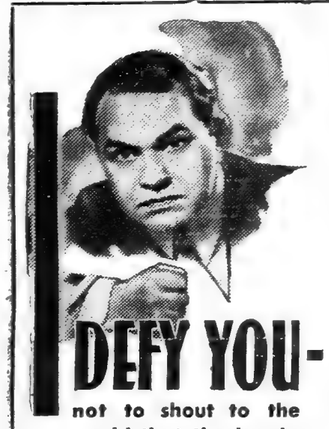
TRACK NOTICE

All varsity trackmen must get physical examinations today at the infirmary. The office hours of the infirmary are from 8:30 to 11 o'clock in the morning and from 4 to 6 in the afternoon.

© 1935 R. J. Reynolds Tob. Co.

WE ASKED OUTDOOR PEOPLE:

"Is this fact important to You?"—



"Camels are made from finer, more expensive tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand."
(SIGNED) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company
WINSTON-SALEM, NORTH CAROLINA

AIR SHOW SUNDAY

An air show at the local airport has been scheduled for this Sunday and will include stunt flying done by "Sueaky" Barnett, one of the south's foremost stunt pilots.

The show will include an old time balloon ascension, inverted flying, stunting, parachute jumps and passenger flights.

DEFY YOU-

not to shout to the world that the laughs . . . thrills . . . surprises . . . makes this the greatest entertainment in years!

Columbia Pictures presents

EDWARD G ROBINSON

in the best picture he ever made

THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING

—Other Features—
Comedy—News

TODAY

CAROLINA

CASH NIGHT FRIDAY

$15.00 in cash and a carton of Lucky Strike Cigarettes will be given.

Tennis

(Continued from page three)

and the other two Carolina combinations followed with similar victories. Willis and Henderson, and Shore and Minor were the two remaining doubles teams for the Tar Heels.

The scores:

Levitan (C) over Renn, 6-1, 6-0.
Willis (C) over Brown, 7-5, 6-3.
De Gray (C) over Folley, 6-0, 6-0.
Shore (C) over Nading, 6-1, 6-3.
Minor (C) over Peck, 6-0, 6-0.
Jones (C) over Boland, 6-3, 6-0.
Levitan-De Gray (C) over Brown-Renn, 6-1, 6-3.
Abels-Minor (C) over Nading-Folley, 6-1, 6-2.
Henderson-Willis (C) over Dozier-Harris, 6-2, 6-1.

Baseball Scout

(Continued from page three)

racket out of scouting. Instead of trying to grab a sophomore baseball star for major league ranks, he encourages the college player to stay in school until he completes his education."

Pierson Writes Monograph

A monograph on "Foreign Influences on Venezuelan Political Thought," written by Dean W. W. Pierson of the graduate school appears in the February number of the Hispanic American Historical Review, quarterly published by the Duke University Press.

Summer Session

A great deal of interest is being shown in the 1935 summer session, according to Miss Glenn McLeod, summer session secretary. Five hundred and fifty direct and 450 indirect applications for catalogs have been received, she said yesterday.

Golf

(Continued from page three)

vidual loss on the team this season. Will Coffin, playing as number four man on the team, bowed to Walden, 2-1.

In the first of the afternoon's doubles match, Laxton and Harris teamed to beat Holden and Jefferies, 3-0. In the remaining doubles match of the meet, Pijanowski and Coffin met Dotson and Walden and won, 2-1.

Honors for lowest scores were copped by Acting Captain Erwin Laxton with a card of 74 which is the lowest score turned in during competition this season. Walden, number four man of the visitors, copped low honors on his team when he turned in a score of 78.

SOUTHERN ART PROJECTS

A meeting of the executive committee of the Southern Art Projects will be held here Friday, with Dr. Graham, who is chairman of the committee, presiding. Other members are George B. Zehmer, University of Virginia; Miss Leila Mechlin, director of the Southern Art Projects; and Charles Ellis, of the Telfair Academy of Arts and Sciences.

U. N. C. JOINS ART SOCIETY

The University has joined, through the Southern Art Projects, the American College Society of Print Collectors, and will receive three etchings this year, the first of which, Charles H. Woodbury's "The Sea Is Making," has already been received and put on exhibit in the library.

Either this month or next, two more etchings, by John Taylor Arms and Martin Lewis, will be sent.

Mrs. Beard at Conference

Mrs. J. G. Beard is attending the convention of the Southern Association of Physical Education at Atlanta this week.

BUCKNELL
University Girls

SUBJECT

Whether the Services of Doctors and Hospitals Should Be Supplied by the State at Nominal Cost to Everybody.

Thursday, April 4, 1935

GERRARD HALL — 7:00 P. M.

VISITING SPEAKERS:
Miss Elsa Patton and Miss Elizabeth Hylbert

U. N. C. SPEAKERS:
Harry MacMullan, Jr., and Wiley Parker

WIN A NEW Chevrolet
Master De Luxe Town Sedan

The New Master De Luxe Chevrolet Coach

- - - And Nine Additional Valuable Prizes Including a New Chevrolet Master De Luxe Coach and Three Chevrolet New Standard Models

Write

100 words or less on "Why the Whole Town's Talking about the New Master De Luxe Chevrolet."
Chevrolet Motor Company and Columbia Pictures are cooperating to offer you this opportunity to win any of TEN wonderful prizes.

Get your free entry blank today. See the great Columbia picture—

EDWARD G. ROBINSON
in
"THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING"
with
JEAN ARTHUR

Then deposit your entry in the official contest box at the CAROLINA THEATRE, Friday.

GET FREE ENTRY BLANK AT

Carolina Theatre
or McMillian Motor Co.

...I do not irritate— I'm your best friend

I am your Lucky Strike

I am always the same . . . always mild, fine-tasting and fragrant. I am made of center leaves, only. The top leaves are undeveloped, acrid and biting. The bottom leaves are grimy, tasteless and harsh. I am made of only the fragrant, expensive center leaves. I give you the mildest, best-tasting smoke. I do not irritate your throat. I'm your best friend.

LUCKIES USE ONLY CENTER LEAVES
CENTER LEAVES GIVE YOU THE MILDEST SMOKE

They Taste Better

Copyright 1935, The American Tobacco Company.

Federal Government Has Favorable Balance for March.

Washington, April 2.—(UP)—After 13 weeks of almost taxless legislation, North Carolina's Robert L. Doughton of the House ways and means committee joyfully intimated today that no increase in taxes would be necessary.

The treasury report shows a net gain in income over operating costs during March of $50,224,226. Although the government still boasts a deficit for the fiscal year of $2,199,970, this figure is smaller than the corresponding deficit last year.

Doughton revealed that the treasury took in nearly 40 per cent more in income taxes last month than during March, 1934.

FRIDAY SET AS DATE OF DEBATE TRYOUTS

Before a scanty audience in New East, Albert Ellis last night assumed the office of speaker of the Phi Assembly.

Tryouts for the first intercollegiate debate engaged in by the Assembly in several years will be held Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in New East to decide who shall defend against Duke University the negative of the query, Resolved, that the several states adopt legislation providing for the socialization of medicine.

The tentative date for the debate is April 9.

Golf

(Continued from page three)

as they were beaten by State Monday almost as decisively as the Tar Heel linksmen defeated the Capital City boys in last week's opener. The team feels further confident of a large margin of victory over their foes today as the new additions to the team promise to make even stronger a now powerful team.

Annual Photo Staff

The following men will meet for a Yackety Yack photography staff meeting this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Graham Memorial office: Jerry Kisner, Don Becker, Marvin Chaikin, John Larsen, Bill Grimes, and Jack Frink.

LOST

Pair of silver-framed glasses in brown leather case, bearing the name Dr. Thompson, Washington, D. C. Finder return to Richard Cox, K. A. house.

Say "Hello" to Geneva Mitchell.

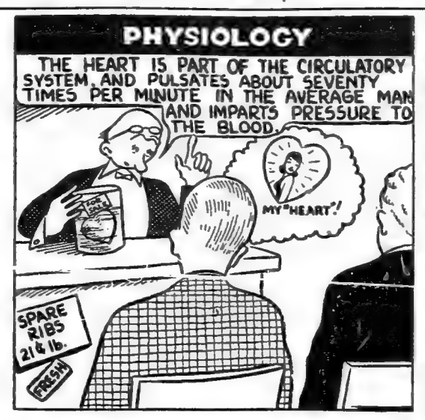
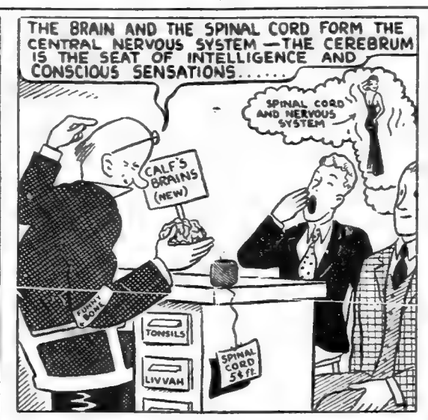
She's Venus, the Goddess of Love, who goes on a spree down Broadway and gets everybody "That Way" about everybody else!

Carl Laemmle presents
Thorne Smith's
NIGHT LIFE of the GODS
EVERY LAUGH A SPECTACLE! EVERY SPECTACLE A LAUGH!



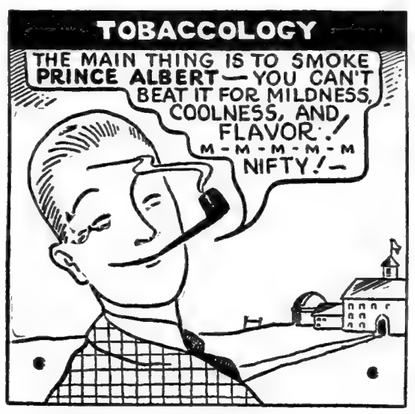
A Universal Picture with
ALAN MOWBRAY · FLORINE McKINNEY
PEGGY SHANNON · RICHARD CARLE
WESLEY BARRY · HENRY ARMETTA
FERDINAND GOTTSCHALK · WM. BOYD



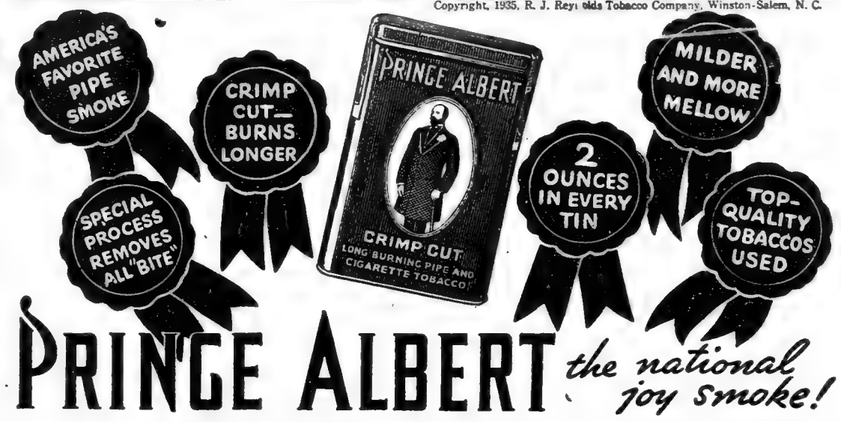
MIDNIGHT SHOW FRIDAY
Hours of shows: 11:15 and 1 A. M.
CAROLINA

Dr. Glen Haydon, head of the music department, will address a convention of the State Federation of Music Clubs, which night. Dr. Haydon's talk will be on the "Relation of Choral Music to Religious Ceremony."

ATTEND THE INSTITUTE



Over 60 Chapel Hillians and residents of neighboring towns have registered for the four classes in watercoloring being jects and the University extension division, by Eliot O'Hara, Washington artist and former paint manufacturer.



Copyright, 1935, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

PRINCE ALBERT the national joy smoke!

"PEP ON THE AIR"
RUTH ETTING and her melody
RED NICHOLS and his rhythm

Kellogg's
COLLEGE PROM

Don't miss the "prom" next Thursday. More thrills at college. More beautiful songs. More dancing music. Kellogg's College Prom visits a different famous campus every week and brings you the excitement and merriment of a party.

Be sure to tune in each Thursday night. And don't forget, every day, "Keep going with PEP!"

EVERY THURSDAY NIGHT
7:45 Eastern Standard Time
WJZ Network—N. B. C.

There's something about a Chesterfield —

There's one thing I especially like about Chesterfields — entirely aside from the fact that it's a milder cigarette — and I've heard a number of people say the same thing ... While I'm smoking Chesterfield I never get little crumbs of tobacco in my mouth — the tobacco doesn't spill out and that adds a lot to my pleasure of smoking them ... I notice more and more of my friends smoke Chesterfields.

When in Durham
you are cordially invited to visit the Chesterfield factory and see Chesterfields made.

Chesterfields are Milder Chesterfields Taste Better

© 1935, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

EVERETT DEAN MARTIN
10:30 A. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

The Daily Tar Heel

GEORGE SOULE
8 P. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, APRIL 4, 1935 | NUMBER 135

DISASTER LOOMS FOR KING COTTON, WRIGHT DECLARES

Counsel for Textile Union Repeats Fish's Earlier Warning To Cotton Industry.

PLEADS FOR CO-OPERATION

For the second time yesterday, an impending crisis in the cotton textile industry was predicted from the rostrum of Memorial hall when Chester Wright, public relations counsel for the United Textile Workers, reiterated Hamilton Fish's earlier contention that foreign competition is cutting the ground from beneath American cotton.

Mr. Wright explained that the American textile industry has two alternatives in facing this crisis: it must meet the prices of the competing nations by lowering its wages and the standard of living to the level of theirs; or the labor and capital elements within the industry must use their combined intelligence to find another solution to the problem.

Way Out Proposed

As a possible "way out" the speaker suggested the further development of the home market for textiles. Quoting figures to show that only 30 per cent of the textile output is made into clothes, he expressed the belief that surplus cotton might be used to "put clothes on the American people."

However, Mr. Wright stated, most needed in the industry is a much greater degree of co-operation between the employers and the union. For the lack of such co-ordination he blames the employers.

LEAGUE TO CALL STUDENT MEETING TO OPPOSE WAR

Demonstration Will Take Place April 12 During Assembly.

Members of the Foreign Policy League interested in staging a convocation against war voted at a meeting last night to hold an anti-war demonstration in the form of a mass meeting in front of South building at 10:30 a. m., April 12.

R. P. Russell was elected chairman and plans were adopted to the effect that speakers and amplifiers be secured. The committee also decided to send a request to all faculty members holding 11 o'clock classes to devote their class periods to a discussion of the peace problem.

The demonstration, although it is not sponsored by any outside organization, will be along the lines of student anti-war strikes to be held all over the world on the same day. The purpose of the demonstration is to stimulate student thought and action on the means to insure peace in a period threatened by war.

The students who are active in organizing the demonstration have planned to issue leaflets summarizing some of the issues underlying the cause of war upon which the student generation must take a stand.

UNIVERSITY CLUB TONIGHT

There will be a meeting of the University Club tonight at 7:15 o'clock in 209 Graham Memorial.

It is important that all members be present as the completion of membership for next year is to be undertaken.

Speaks Today

Dr. Everett Dean Martin, director of the Peoples' Institute, who will talk today on "Violence and Social Progress" and "A Liberal Education."

TEXTILE LEADER DEFENDS ACTION OF MILL OWNERS

Comer Says Goal of Industrialization Is Friendly Partnership with Workers.

EXPLAINS RECENT STRIKE

Donald Comer, president of the Avondale cotton mills and co-author of the Cotton Textile Code for the NRA, last night brought to a close a day's discussion of the textile industry by declaring that "the employers are just as keen, just as alive, and just as anxious for better things as any group in this country."

The veteran cotton mill operator, who has worked from the bottom up in the textile industry, was sincere in his assurance that the cotton mill owners had the interests of their employees at heart.

September Strike

"The September strike," he stated, "was called by Francis Gorman on charges of an overburdening of tasks through a violation of the code." Comer then proceeded to point out that figures compiled by the NRA investigating commission revealed 98 per cent compliance with the code.

The textile industry had agreed to the code, Comer declared, had agreed to raise their costs of production 100 per cent, with the assurance that other codes would follow, inducing a larger buying power. The other codes, however, failed to accomplish their purpose and the textile industry was left "alone on the end of the limb."

"The ultimate goal of industrialization," he concluded, "is to bring about a friendly partnership of employers and employees rather than live apart in separate armed camps."

FINJAN COPY DUE

All copy for the Farewell Issue of the Finjan must be in by 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, announced Pat Gaskins, editor, yesterday.

The work done on this issue will be important in determining who shall be awarded Finjan keys this year, he added.

German Club Executives

The German Club executive committee will convene at 1:30 today at the Sigma Chi house, it was announced yesterday. It is important that all committeemen be present.

JITNEY PLAYERS TO STAGE DRAMA TOMORROW NIGHT

Century Old "Mellerdrammer" With "Divertissments" Between Scenes to Be Given.

OZ PLAY IN AFTERNOON

With Ethel Barrymore Colt, daughter of the famous actress, and an accomplished stage artist herself, appearing in the cast, the nationally popular Jitney Players will rattle into Chapel Hill Friday for two performances.

Presenting the "Streets of New York" at the 8:30 performance, the still surviving "road troupe" will attempt to give in its original manner Dion Boucicault's famous "melodrammer."

Villain, Hero, Heroine

The unscrupulous villain robbing helpless widows and orphans, a beautiful, sighing, palpitating heroine, and the hero arriving in the nick of time to hurl himself in the blazing inferno to save the day—all these elements of yesteryear's dramatic appeal are incorporated in the "Streets of New York."

In addition to the 100-year-old play setting, "divertisments" will be "rendered" between scene changes. The Jitney Players are planning to present the play as it was first given at the old Wallack theatre in New York, December, 1857.

At the 4 o'clock matinee, the players will present the "Adventures of Oz," taken from the famous Oz stories.

Co-ed Basketball Teams To Be Photographed

Members of the honorary woman's basketball teams are asked to meet in front of Spencer hall in gym suits this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to have their pictures taken for the Yackety Yack.

It is necessary that all co-eds on the honorary teams be in attendance, for this is the last opportunity to have the photos taken.

Co-eds expected to be present are as follows:

First honorary team: Frances Caffey, Elsie Lawrence, Harriet Taylor, Gertrude Pridgen, Anna Coles and Helen D'Anna.

Second team: Ida Winstead, Daphne Simpson, Vivian Grisette, Mary P. Cruikshank, Sue Jenkins, and Virginia Simpson.

FRESHMAN EXECUTIVES

The freshman executive council will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Graham Memorial, President Clyde Mullis announced yesterday. It is imperative, he said, that every member be present.

Freshman Dance April 12

The freshman dance committee announced yesterday that the freshman dance will be held April 12 in the Tin Can. Billy Kanoff and his orchestra will play.

Grail Meets Tonight

The Order of the Grail will meet tonight at 10 o'clock in Graham Memorial, it was announced yesterday by George Moore.

Hamilton Fish Says United States Has Finest Government On Earth

New York State Congressman Urges Citizens to Reaffirm Faith in Americanism.

SOUTH FACING DISASTER

"Reaffirm your faith in yourselves as Americans," directed Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York state who addressed the convocation in Memorial hall yesterday morning.

That Americans can solve all American problems in the same way that their American ancestors solved them was the conclusion Fish reached. "Reaffirm your faith," he stated, for our government is the "best government on earth."

Pointing out that the south was now facing a crisis greater than any since the Civil War, the New Yorker declared the matter an American issue.

Cotton Sales Lost

Because of crop reduction practices, America's greatest export, cotton, lost half its market in the last two years, indicated Fish. Along with losing our cotton market to foreign competitors, our allied cotton-textile industry is also going under, warned the Congressman.

"We are heading for ruin and disaster such as the south has never known," declared the Institute speaker in pointing out that politicians have been afraid to expose the facts.

"Soviet Vulture" NRA

Declaring the "blue eagle" of the NRA a "Soviet vulture," the once all-American football player left the south's cotton problem and began calling the New Deal various names. Excusing the fact that he voted for part

(Continued on page two)

Seminars Today

8:30 a. m.—Sociology 151, 107 Alumni, in seminar with Julian Harris.

9:30 a. m.—Commerce 161, 317 Bingham, in seminar with Julian Harris.

9:30 a. m.—Government 121, 316 Saunders hall, in seminar with J. F. Rippy.

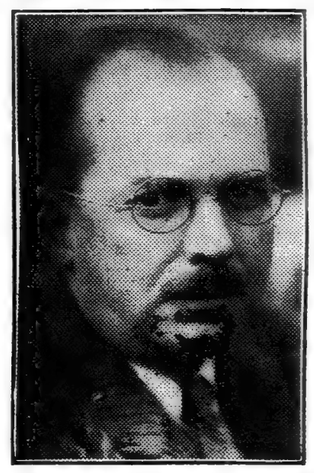
11:15 a. m.—Psychology 22 and Education 71, 101 New West building, in seminar with Everett Dean Martin (no room for visitors).

12 o'clock—Government 143 and 158, 301 Saunders hall, in seminar with J. F. Rippy.

DEBATE TONIGHT

University to Meet Bucknell at 7 p. m. in Gerrard Hall.

Miss Elsa Patton and Miss Elizabeth Hylbert, representing the Bucknell University debate squad, will meet the University team composed of Harry McMullan and Wiley Parker, in Gerrard hall tonight at 7 p. m.



The Bucknell girls will uphold the affirmative of the question, Resolved, that the several states should adopt legislation providing to the citizens at nominal costs general medical care and the services of hospitals and clinics.

Summer Session Gets Maps

Rand McNally and Company, publishers, have presented the summer session office with two handsome maps, one of North Carolina and one of the United States, Dr. Edgar W. Knight, director, said yesterday.

Soule And Martin Make Institute Addresses Today

Weil Lecturer

George Soule, Jr., editor of the New Republic, who will make the evening address of the Institute tonight, opening his series of Weil lectures.

New Republic Editor Will Lecture Tonight

"Violence and Social Progress" Is Topic of Dr. Martin's Talk at 10:15 a. m.

CONVOCATION AT 4 P. M.

Weil lecturer for 1935, George Soule, Jr., editor of the New Republic, and Dr. Everett Dean Martin, director of the Peoples' Institute, are scheduled to fire the shots of human relations on the Institute program today.

Speaking twice, Dr. Martin, who is being sponsored by the Order of the Grail, will consider "Violence and Social Progress" at the 10:15 session and "A Liberal Education" at the 4 o'clock address hour.

Soule Appears at 8 p. m.

Soule, on his first of the Weil series of three lectures, will speak on "Social Changes and the American Tradition," at 8 p. m.

As director of the Cooper Union Forum, the largest center for free discussion of political and educational subjects in America, Dr. Martin has become a leading educator and writer.

Churchman, lecturer on social philosophy, writer on philosophical subjects, Democrat, Martin was chairman of the national board of review of motion pictures from 1919-22.

Editor Soule has headed the New Republic since 1924 as editor and has written several outstanding books and various reports, papers, and articles.

Soule's appearance here marks the 20th year of the Weil lectureship, begun in 1914-15 as an endowed program to discuss American citizenship.

Ex-President William Howard Taft was the first speaker. Since that time the foundation has been permanently established through the contributions of the families of Messrs. Sol and Henry Weil of Goldsboro.

Since the organization of the Human Relations Institute in 1927, the Weil Lecture Fund Committee has co-operated with the Institute in presenting its lecturer on the regular program.

World News Bulletins

German Air Fleet

London, April 3.—(UP)—Sir John Simon created a sensation in the House of Commons today when he confirmed reports that Germany had reached an air parity with England.

He asserted that Hitler had admitted Germany's secret rearmament program that had made her a world power in aviation.

Austrians May Arm

Vienna, April 3.—(UP)—The Austrian government officially confirmed reports tonight that Austria was prepared in principle to follow Germany's rearmament program.

Works Bill Compromise

Washington, April 3.—(UP)—Hope for a break in the deadlock of the $4,880,000,000 public works bill made its appearance tonight.

A compromise appeared likely over the type of labor to be employed in the huge expenditure.

Propose Lethal Gas

Raleigh, April 3.—(UP)—The House of Representatives passed and sent to the Senate today the bill introduced by Representative Peterson of Mitchell county substituting the lethal gas chamber for the electric chair.

Symphony Will Give Three Performances

In addition to the concert which will be given Monday evening in Memorial hall, the University of Michigan Symphony, Thor Johnson director, will present a concert that afternoon at 3 o'clock for the children of Chapel Hill, Carrboro, and White Cross schools.

Tickets for adults who wish to attend this concert will be 50 cents and may be secured at Alfred Williams Store or at the door.

The school children attending this concert will be the guests of the Community Club's music department, which is sponsoring the affair.

It was announced late last night that Thor Johnson's orchestra will also play Sunday evening at 4 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

THOMAS EXPECTED TO ANSWER FISH TOMORROW NIGHT

Banquet Tickets Concentrated at "Y" and with Smithwick.

The remaining tickets for the Norman Thomas banquet will be concentrated at the Y. M. C. A. office and with Robert Swithwick at Everett dormitory. The price is 60 cents each.

In addition to speaking on politics, Mr. Thomas will probably give some sort of refutation to the address of Congressman Hamilton Fish, who spoke here yesterday, members of the banquet committee announced. Thomas has engaged in several public debates with Fish in the past.

The banquet will be held tomorrow night at 6 o'clock in Graham Memorial. Those who wish tickets are urged to make arrangements this afternoon, as only a limited supply remains on sale.

Passbooks at Business Office

Students may secure spring quarter athletic and entertainment series passbooks at the business office today.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, William Jordan, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: DON McKEE

Thursday, April 4, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"Track Squad Is Pushed Through Stiff Workout." We hope they won't need any such assistance next Saturday.

The title of Mr. Wright's talk was "King Cotton Beware," whereas our textilists are more interested in seeing that "King Cotton Be Worn."

Ham Fish and Herb Hoover ought to team up. There's no telling what this country would do with an engineer plus an All-American football tackle.

Student Reaction

Whether influenced by the personality of New York's dynamic Congressman Fish or merely because of the surprising fact that they do not particularly savor "red" atmosphere, students at yesterday's seminar conducted by the Knickerbocker Republican evidenced an apparent repugnance toward un-Republican radicalism in any form.

One member of the student body who rose to ask if the speaker had ever been to Russia was vigorously booed by the audience. This action was preceded by an apparent whole-hearted student agreement with Fish's red-baiting republicanism. There was little doubt as to the character of campus political thought, if the demonstrations can be taken as sincere manifestations.

We believe that student political thought is as conservative as it has always been. It was not surprising to note that much student comment at the conclusion of the seminar was devoted to agreement with Mr. Fish as regards his opposition to the New Deal. Herein was it manifest that conservatism is the keynote of most of the student undergraduate body, due perhaps as much to a supposed failure of the liberal administration as to inherent reactionarianism.

It can also be said that students regard the New Deal as an immediate situation, whereas radicalism as a political science is in their opinion in the talking rather than the active stage. Consequently, conservative reaction toward any leftist opposition to Mr. Fish was the result more of agreement with his defense of the age-old conservative principles of American democracy than of active antagonism against Communism and Socialism as opposed political groups.

High Schoolers Are Coming

The annual high school week is being arranged under the direction of the extension division of the University, to provide for over 300 North Carolina secondary schoolers the opportunities for competition on the field of sports and on the platform of debate. Not only that, but the future collegians will get a good perspective view of the state's institution of higher learning, one of the nation's finest.

It has been repeatedly stressed that any and all efforts on the part of the University to educate the youth as to the advantages of Chapel Hill is a direct contribution to the state's educational growth.

From this view and from the standpoint that we are proud to be able to help the University in this work, we welcome again this opportunity to mingle with our future campus generations.

It Is Coming

Buried in the maze of Human Relations participation and the other attractions, both mental and physical, of the spring quarter lies campus politics, unforgotten only by the politicians but quietly awaiting Monday morning and the subsequent hectic days of electioneering to come once more into its rightful realm.

Bitterly contested elections have marked the majority of Carolina campus campaigns, although last year one party, the only party, swept every man into office like an August wind-storm in Nebraska. We can conjecture that this spring will find somewhat the same situation except in the proverbially contested offices of student body president and some publications and class officerships.

If all offices are sought after by more than one candidate, students should exercise a certain discretion in the choice of their officers. While this is not always the case, in the mass of students there are many who could, if they would, militantly demand the best man available for the various posts. This is no condemnation, however, of the incumbent administration or previous sets of student leaders who have come into office via the customary party methods.

We have heard consistently that the party already organized this spring has made exacting qualifications requisite of its candidates for the 1935-36 offices and if this is the case, even an unopposed ticket might result in the election of the pre-eminently best men without choice on the voters' part necessary in their selection.

At any rate, nominations will take place Monday morning and the student body should turn out to get an idea, even from the campaign managers' slants, of the candidates they will vote upon to lead activities next year.

Princeton's Plan For Honor Students

Thirty-one seniors of high honor standing at Princeton University have received practically unlimited freedom in the pursuit of their studies, unhampered by schedule requirements, faculty supervision, and attendance at lectures. These honor seniors must meet only three requirements; they must report weekly to their departmental advisers on the progress of their work, they must write a senior departmental thesis, and they must take comprehensive examinations in June.

This plan, an outgrowth of Woodrow Wilson's idea of higher education, is coming to the fore in a great many of the leading American universities, notably North Carolina, in the liberalizing and spreading out of curricula.

The plan will gain in favor as it proceeds insofar as honor students are concerned, but for those students who are continually on the border line, the old supervised curriculum schedule is destined to remain in existence for a long time to come. When the participants in this plan are chosen on the basis of scholarship, the plan is well founded, but it is impossible of execution for less intellectual students.

Hands over Nine Miles

In a gigantic tennis meet the week of April 8-13 Carolina will meet Duke University. The meet will be a mammoth contest with more than 200 entrants from each school participating and with every one invited to enter regardless of individual ability.

Last year the meet, which promises to become an annual event, was discontinued because of a lack of tennis courts. The first meet two years ago was won by Carolina with a score of 129-71.

This contest between the two neighbor institutions will broaden the sports programs of both schools and go a long way in the supplementing of our intramural sports. There is no reason why, if this program meets with success as it has done in the past, this idea could not be extended to include a much larger inter-college sports program between the two institutions. By this is meant an inter-college sports program similar to our present intramural sports, in which large numbers of students of both institutions could take part and gain great benefit from sport for sport's sake. Such a program, which the success of the dual tennis meet will prove practicable, would put the sports of both schools on a sounder, more fundamental and rational basis.

The program of co-operation proposed for the two Universities by the joint committee on co-operation and approved by Presidents Few and Graham will be given a new and deeper meaning and significance by a co-operative sports program between the schools. The program of intellectual co-operation is chiefly concerned with the libraries and the graduate schools of the two Universities.

All eyes will be focused upon the tennis meet as a concrete evidence of the growing spirit between Duke and Carolina, and its success will pave the way for a wider program of sports and intellectual activities.

Hamilton Fish

(Continued from page one)

of it as an "emergency relief measure," the New York Republican called his neighbor Roosevelt's program a lamentable failure.

The "liberal" deviated from his discussion of "The South and the New Deal" and devoted the remainder of his address to rehashing generalized statements condemning socialism, communism and Russinism, praising the present government of the United States, and digging up some of Abe Lincoln's famous quotations.

GROVES IN KENTUCKY

Professor Ernest R. Groves of the sociology department spoke yesterday at the annual meeting of the Louisville Family Service Organization in Louisville, Ky.

Today he will address the annual meeting of the National Family Welfare Society in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Chemistry Fraternity

The Rho chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma, national chemical fraternity, announces the pledging of the following men: D. E. Askew of Snow Hill, J. E. Everett of Jefferson City, Tenn., R. C. Jurney of Winston-Salem, S. B. Knight of Asheville; A. R. Macormac of Greensboro; W. G. Sink of Lexington, and P. M. Nicholls, Jr., of Charleston, S. C.

Four in Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Robert Van Sleen, Charles Abernethy, R. D. Weatherford, and R. W. Weesner.

Spanish Reading Exam

The reading knowledge of Spanish examination for higher degrees will be given in Dr. S. A. Stoudemire's office April 13 at 11 a. m.

FOR SALE

1930 La Salle All Weather Phaeton

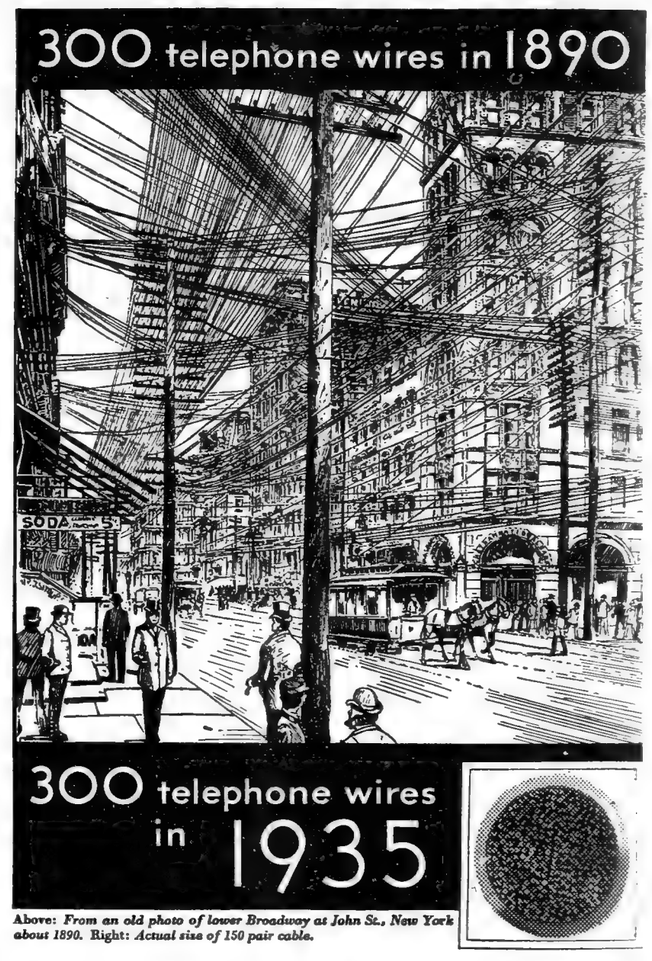
Color, Light Blue; Six Chromium Wheels; Good Mechanical Condition; Driven Approximately 50,000 Miles; Price $325.00

Address

MILLS CADILLAC CO.

ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Let Us Prepare Your Car



For Warm Weather Driving

Washing—Polishing—Waxing
Certified Lubrication—Texaco Products
Firestone and Kelly Tires—Willard Batteries

University Service Station

H. S. PENDERGRAFT, Prop.

Above: From an old photo of lower Broadway at John St., New York about 1890. Right: Actual size of 150 pair cable.

Bell System engineers long ago began to work out a way to clear city streets of overhead wires. The first telephone cables were crude affairs—a few wires drawn through a pipe. Continuous research brought forth improved designs, better manufacturing methods, cables of smaller size yet far greater capacity. The cable with the greatest number of wires today—3636—is 2⅝" in diameter.

More than 94% of the Bell System's wire mileage is now in storm resisting cable—one of many developments to improve service.

Why not drop in at home tonight — by telephone? For a lot of pleasure at bargain rates, call by number after 8:30 P. M.

BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

SPECIAL!!

Polo Shirts 95c

The Vogue Shop

Always Something New Vogue Suits Me

Vines Will Face Tilden In Feature Of Exhibition At 8 O'clock In Tin Can

Lott, Nusslein Play Same Two in Doubles

Students Will Get to See World's Greatest Tennis Exhibition For Fifty Cents.

PROS BRING OWN COURT

Yes, it will be Big Bill versus Elly! An almost unanimous student vote brings these two masters into combat in tonight's exhibition. Only three dissenting votes were cast in the singles choice, and not many more in the vote pairing Tilden and Vines as doubles partners.

The gala event gets underway at 8 o'clock before an expected gigantic crowd in the Tin Can. Three matches will be contested with the Tilden-Vines and Lott-Nusslein doubles match sandwiched by the singles. The other singles match will be, of course, George Lott versus Hans Nusslein.

Admission Prices

All high school and college students will be charged 50c, general admission will be $1, and reserved seats will be sold at $1.50. This is exclusive of tax.

The Tin Can is already prepared for the crowd, 1,200 seats having been made available. The enormous canvas on which they are to play will be brought here this morning. It is a complete court in itself, weighing nearly six tons and presenting one of the finest playing fields to be found.

Tilden holds the most titles of any tennis player, Vines is recognized as history's hardest hitter, Lott is conceded the position as the world's best doubles player, and Nusslein is the present world professional champ.

Bradley, Indian Baseball Scout, Pays Visit Here

Coach Hearn Praises Former League Star; Is Looking for Prospects in Colleges.

"A gentleman and the best third baseman in the world," was Coach Bunn Hearn's tribute to Bill Bradley, Cleveland scout and former teammate of the Tar Heel mentor.

Bradley, who visited here several times last season, has returned this year to scout the Tar Heel camp for major league prospects. Although the big league scout is making his headquarters in Chapel Hill, he plans to spy on Duke and the other Big Five schools for diamond hopefuls.

The Cleveland scout performed on several big league diamonds during his playing days. He was playing the third sack position for Toronto in 1913 on the memorable day when Bunn Hearn pitched 20 scoreless innings to win the overtime contest from Jersey City.

Coach Hearn heaped loads of praise on Bradley's character as a man and as a baseball scout. "He is not the type of fellow who tries to make a professional

(Continued on last page)

REGULARS DEFEAT SECOND CLUB, 10-5

Regulars Forced to Overcome Early Four-Run Lead to Get Victory; Groome Stars.

BULLARD WORKS AT THIRD

The Tar Heel baseball regulars overcame a four-run lead to defeat the rookies 10-5 in yesterday's practice game. Due to a late start, the contest did not go but seven innings.

Fred Crouch, veteran hurler, working easily, gave up 10 hits during the five innings he was on the mound. Latcher Webster pitched the remaining two innings and allowed only two hits.

Sophomore Bunn Hearn went the route for the second team. He did not allow but five bingles, although generous with the gratis passes to first.

Reserves Start Early

Stark, rookie outfielder, started the scoring by getting a three-base knock in the first inning. He was sent across the home plate by Babe Daniel's single.

Four more runs were scored by the rookies in the next two innings. Lefty Groome starred in the field and at the plate for the second stringers.

According to Coach Hearn, Ed Bullard will probably get the call to start at the disputed third base position against Davidson tomorrow. Schriver, Jones, Wolslagel, and Montgomery are still in the running for the hot corner spot.

FROSH TENNIS

There will be an important meeting of the freshman tennis team this morning at 10:30 at Emerson stadium. All players are requested to attend.

TAR HEEL TENNIS VARSITY BLANKS STATE EASILY, 9-0

Minor Drops Only 8 Points in Love Victory; De Gray Also Shuts Out Opponent.

STRAIGHT SET VICTORIES

State College became the third victim of the Carolina net team yesterday afternoon, bowing 9-0 to the Tar Heels on the Raleigh courts.

Lacking the services of Harvey Harris, the Carolina team nevertheless routed the Wolfpack players with little effort. Not a single set was dropped in the complete match of nine individual combats.

Love Sets

Both Eddy De Gray and Ike Minor were victors by 6-0, 6-0 scores. Minor was particularly impressive as he limited Peck to a mere 8 points throughout the two sets.

Captain Levitan opened the meet by completely outplaying the State ace, Jim Renn, dropping but a solitary game. The State captain, Jack Brown, provided the single thriller of the day when he carried Ricky Willis to 7-5, 6-3 scores before yielding.

Frank Shore scored his third varsity victory by beating 6-1, 6-3, and Larry Jones took the final singles from Boland.

Doubles

Levitan and De Gray experienced no trouble against Brown and Renn in the first doubles,

(Continued on last page)

HUBBARD MAY BE OUT OF BATTLE WITH W. AND M.

Carolina Track Captain Still Bothered with Injury Sustained in Indoor Meet.

VISITORS LOOK STRONG

Slight is the optimism reigning in the minds of Carolina track coaches concerning the probable outcome of Saturday's initial encounter against the strong William and Mary team.

Not only have the Flying Tar Heels got "Monk" Little to contend with, but in all probability they will be without the services of Co-Captain Charley Hubbard. The Carolina leader has yet to be fully recovered from a muscle injury sustained in the recent indoor meet and his absence is almost certain to cost the team about eight points.

A strong head wind forced the tracksters from accomplishing much in yesterday's practice session, although several men did make good performances in sprint trials. The distance men confined their work to jogging and further conditioning.

If Carolina is without Hubbard, Harry Williamson may be forced to do double duty. It is hoped that he will have to compete only in the 880, in which event he will undoubtedly be sent out to set up a new mark, although he may also have to be used in the quarter.

The freshmen will have an exhibition on the same program.

Golfers Score Third Win; Rout Hamp-Sydney, 15-7

PITCHERS FEATURE FROSH NINE DRILL

Humphries Wins Battle over Turbyville in Last Inning.

A lucky bingle in the last stanza of a hotly contested six inning frosh tilt gave the regulars their second victory of the inter-squad games, 1-0. Johnny Humphries pitched and won his own game as he swung at a high slow ball and clouted it far into right field for the only extra base hit of the day.

The game was tight throughout with both Humphries and Turbyville hurling superb ball; the scorer chalked up more strikeouts than the frosh have had called against them so far this year.

Many Entries Made For Mural Tourney

With entries for intramural baseball and tennis starting to pour in, interest over the coming season is rapidly developing on the campus. Tomorrow night is the deadline for entries, and play will probably commence next Monday.

CO-ED TENNIS

The Woman's Tennis Club will hold its first meeting this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Woman's Association room at Graham Memorial.

Capt. Laxton Cards 74 in Easy Victory

Pijanowski and Harris Turn in Other Decisive Conquests; Coffin Suffers Defeat.

WALDEN LEADS LOSERS

The Tar Heel linksmen continued their victorious march yesterday afternoon by badly defeating Hampton-Sydney, 15-3, on the local Hope Valley course.

Walter Pijanowski, the only sophomore to perform, played number three position and defeated his first varsity intercollegiate opponent, Dotson, 3-0.

In the opening match, Acting Captain Erwin Laxton of Carolina blanked the number one man of the opposing team, Holden, 3-0.

Harris Gets Three

Dick Harris repeated the first match, defeating Jefferies by the same score. It was in this match that Harris turned in the next to the lowest score of the day.

The final singles match of the afternoon marked the first indi-

(Continued on last page)

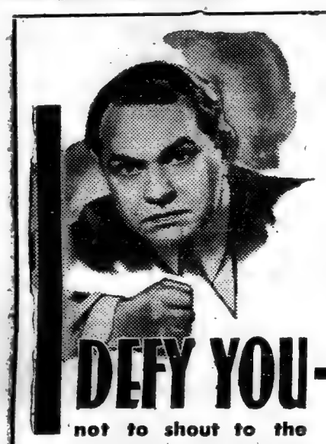
TRACK NOTICE

All varsity trackmen must get physical examinations today at the infirmary. The office hours of the infirmary are from 8:30 to 11 o'clock in the morning and from 4 to 6 in the afternoon.

© 1935 R. J. Reynolds Tob. Co.

WE ASKED OUTDOOR PEOPLE:

"Is this fact important to You?"—



"Camels are made from finer, more expensive tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand."
(SIGNED) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company
WINSTON-SALEM, NORTH CAROLINA

AIR SHOW SUNDAY

An air show at the local airport has been scheduled for this Sunday and will include stunt flying done by "Sueaky" Barnett, one of the south's foremost stunt pilots.

The show will include an old time balloon ascension, inverted flying, stunting, parachute jumps and passenger flights.

DEFY YOU-

not to shout to the world that the laughs . . . thrills . . . surprises . . . makes this the greatest entertainment in years!

Columbia Pictures presents

EDWARD G. ROBINSON

in the best picture he ever made

THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING

—Other Features—
Comedy—News

TODAY

CAROLINA

CASH NIGHT FRIDAY

$15.00 in cash and a carton of Lucky Strike Cigarettes will be given.

Tennis

(Continued from page three)

and the other two Carolina combinations followed with similar victories. Willis and Henderson, and Shore and Minor were the two remaining doubles teams for the Tar Heels.

The scores:

Levitan (C) over Renn, 6-1, 6-0.
Willis (C) over Brown, 7-5, 6-3.
De Gray (C) over Folley, 6-0, 6-0.
Shore (C) over Nading, 6-1, 6-3.
Minor (C) over Peck, 6-0, 6-0.
Jones (C) over Boland, 6-3, 6-0.
Levitan-De Gray (C) over Brown-Renn, 6-1, 6-3.
Abels-Minor (C) over Nading-Folley, 6-1, 6-2.
Henderson-Willis (C) over Dozier-Harris, 6-2, 6-1.

Baseball Scout

(Continued from page three)

racket out of scouting. Instead of trying to grab a sophomore baseball star for major league ranks, he encourages the college player to stay in school until he completes his education."

Pierson Writes Monograph

A monograph on "Foreign Influences on Venezuelan Political Thought," written by Dean W. W. Pierson of the graduate school appears in the February number of the Hispanic American Historical Review, quarterly published by the Duke University Press.

Summer Session

A great deal of interest is being shown in the 1935 summer session, according to Miss Glenn McLeod, summer session secretary. Five hundred and fifty direct and 450 indirect applications for catalogs have been received, she said yesterday.

Golf

(Continued from page three)

vidual loss on the team this season. Will Coffin, playing as number four man on the team, bowed to Walden, 2-1.

In the first of the afternoon's doubles match, Laxton and Harris teamed to beat Holden and Jefferies, 3-0. In the remaining doubles match of the meet, Pijanowski and Coffin met Dotson and Walden and won, 2-1.

Honors for lowest scores were copped by Acting Captain Erwin Laxton with a card of 74 which is the lowest score turned in during competition this season. Walden, number four man of the visitors, copped low honors on his team when he turned in a score of 78.

SOUTHERN ART PROJECTS

A meeting of the executive committee of the Southern Art Projects will be held here Friday, with Dr. Graham, who is chairman of the committee, presiding. Other members are George B. Zehmer, University of Virginia; Miss Leila Mechlin, director of the Southern Art Projects; and Charles Ellis, of the Telfair Academy of Arts and Sciences.

U. N. C. JOINS ART SOCIETY

The University has joined, through the Southern Art Projects, the American College Society of Print Collectors, and will receive three etchings this year, the first of which, Charles H. Woodbury's "The Sea Is Making," has already been received and put on exhibit in the library.

Either this month or next, two more etchings, by John Taylor Arms and Martin Lewis, will be sent.

Mrs. Beard at Conference

Mrs. J. G. Beard is attending the convention of the Southern Association of Physical Education at Atlanta this week.

BUCKNELL
University Girls

SUBJECT

Whether the Services of Doctors and Hospitals Should Be Supplied by the State at Nominal Cost to Everybody.

Thursday, April 4, 1935

GERRARD HALL — 7:00 P. M.

VISITING SPEAKERS:
Miss Elsa Patton and Miss Elizabeth Hylbert

U. N. C. SPEAKERS:
Harry MacMullan, Jr., and Wiley Parker

WIN A NEW Chevrolet
Master De Luxe Town Sedan

The New Master De Luxe Chevrolet Coach

- - - And Nine Additional Valuable Prizes Including a New Chevrolet Master De Luxe Coach and Three Chevrolet New Standard Models

Write

100 words or less on "Why the Whole Town's Talking about the New Master De Luxe Chevrolet."
Chevrolet Motor Company and Columbia Pictures are co-operating to offer you this opportunity to win any of TEN wonderful prizes.

Get your free entry blank today. See the great Columbia picture—

EDWARD G. ROBINSON
in
"THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING"
with
JEAN ARTHUR

Then deposit your entry in the official contest box at the CAROLINA THEATRE, Friday.

GET FREE ENTRY BLANK AT

Carolina Theatre
or McMillian Motor Co.

...I do not irritate— I'm your best friend

I am your Lucky Strike

I am always the same . . . always mild, fine-tasting and fragrant. I am made of center leaves, only. The top leaves are undeveloped, acrid and biting. The bottom leaves are grimy, tasteless and harsh. I am made of only the fragrant, expensive center leaves. I give you the mildest, best-tasting smoke. I do not irritate your throat. I'm your best friend.

LUCKIES USE ONLY CENTER LEAVES
CENTER LEAVES GIVE YOU THE MILDEST SMOKE

They Taste Better

Copyright 1935, The American Tobacco Company.

DR. SHAILER MATHEWS
10:15 A. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

The Daily Tar Heel

NORMAN THOMAS
4 P. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, APRIL 5, 1935 | NUMBER 136

George Soule Charges America Needs Concrete Social Purpose

Outlines Conflict of Change and Tradition

Condemns Use of Sentimentality And Prejudices by Politicians Throughout the Nation.

FAVORS USE OF REASON

George Soule, editor of the New Republic, opened the 1935 series of Weil lectures last night by declaring to a near-capacity audience in Memorial hall that the most urgent need of the American people was a common, concrete, social purpose.

After his introduction by President Frank P. Graham, Soule outlined the conflict of ideas that is being waged at the present time. He pointed out the theory of change as opposed to the continuation of our present institutions.

Failure in Control

The noted editor and author asserted that we Americans have "failed to control our own behavior." "To change our fortunes," he contended, "we must change our minds." He held that we are forced to consider new arrangements of society, and deplored the present state of affairs, wherein, he claimed, any change offends our sense of loyalty.

Soule then proceeded to point out the fallacy in assuming that liberty is freedom from restraint. This "liberty without restraint" he condemned as conducive to the decay of liberalism as well as democracy.

The New Republic chieftain aimed a salvo at the Supreme Court and their interpretation of the constitution, charging that the constitution is no longer effective as written, but can be

(Continued on page four)

Weil Lecturer Says Only War Threat In East

No Danger If Diplomats Ignore "Yellow Peril" Fury Coming From Hearst Papers.

Talking informally in the lobby of the Carolina Inn to a handful of University students, George Soule, editor of the New Republic and Weil lecturer who spoke here last night, and who will address University audiences tonight and tomorrow night, declared that he believed that if the United States is in danger of war at all, it is war in the East, and not in Europe.

He disagreed with a former Weil lecturer, Charles A. Beard, who has recently pointed out that the President may plunge the country into war, presenting a unified front to an outside enemy, to avert attention from the internal mess in which it finds itself. "I do not believe any president would take upon himself the responsibility of plunging the nation into war to justify himself or his party," Soule—whose name is correctly pronounced like sole or soul—declared.

U. S.-Japanese War?

The editor of the New Republic thinks that it is obvious that Japan will continue to do whatever she wishes in China, and that the question of our entering war with Japan depends on the extent to which we desire to enforce our open door policy in the Orient. In measured, thoughtful speech, he declared that the diplomats of this country could, if they chose, ignore the sound and the fury over the Oriental situation and the "Yellow Peril" emanating from the Hearst press and the Chicago Tribune, and express only a moral disapproval of the actions of Japan in Manchuria and elsewhere in the East.

He pointed out that the United States had refused to grant Japan naval equality, and that this country had upheld the conditions of the 1921 Washington agreement of the 5-5-3 ratio between the United States, Great Britain and Japan. "The only reason," continued Soule, "for not granting Japan naval equality was the possibility that the United States and Great Britain might wish to do something in the Pacific to prevent Japan's further territorial aggrandizement."

Asked by another student what the college graduate's chances in the world of weekly and monthly journalism are, Soule laughed and replied: "That's rather an embarrassing question, because it's hard to see what the college graduate's chances are in anything now." He went on to explain that the field of employment for the college graduate is constantly narrowing, and that journalism, speaking comparatively, has never offered employment to a great many people.

Autobiographical

Invited to explain how he got into the magazine world, Soule modestly ignored the question of ability, and said that in college he wrote poetry, majored in English and economics, and after graduation worked for a publishing house, where he found that the books he liked were not

(Continued on page four)

JITNEY TROUPERS TO PRESENT TWO PROGRAMS TODAY

Renowned Players to Enact "The Adventures of Oz"; "Streets Of New York," Old Style.

EVENING HOUR CHANGED

In order to avoid a conflict with the previously arranged lecture by Editor George Soule on the Human Relations Institute program, the evening performance of the Jitney Players will be presented at 9:15 o'clock tonight.

At the 4 o'clock matinee, Pendelton Harrison, Ethel Colt and Gretchen Dortch's dramatization of the famous Oz stories, "The Adventures of Oz" will be presented. Harrison and Miss Dortch are former Playmakers. "The Streets of New York" is scheduled for the 9:15 showing.

The Jitney Players, one of the few nationally famous road troupes still surviving, brings a

(Continued on page four)

Socialist Norman Thomas, Traveler-Theologian Shailer Mathews, Weil Lecturer George Soule To Be Speakers On Today's Institute Program

INSTITUTE SPEAKERS

Dr. Shailer Mathews, former dean of the school of divinity of the University of Chicago (left), and Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, who will address today's sessions of the Human Relations Institute in Memorial hall. Dr. Mathews will speak on "International Conflicts in the Far East" at 10:15 a. m., and Mr. Thomas will speak on "Trends Towards Fascism" at 4 in the afternoon.

Mathews Will Discuss Far Eastern Conflicts

Thomas, After Being Heralded By Fish, to Speak on "Trends Towards Fascism."

SOULE CONTINUES SERIES

After hearing serious battering at his door this week, Norman Thomas, the socialist leader, will appear at 4 o'clock on the afternoon address hour of the Human Relations Institute today.

Dr. Shailer Mathews and Weil Lecturer Soule complete the trio of speakers for today's program. Norman Thomas is scheduled to discuss "Trends Toward Fascism," Mathews at the 10:15 session, "International Conflicts in the Far East," and Soule at the evening hour, "Liberty as a Purpose."

Dr. Mathews

Dr. Mathews, lecturer and former dean of the Chicago divinity school, was formerly editor of The World Today and the Biblical World. World traveler and prolific editor, Mathews was president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America until 1916 and is now chairman of the executive committee of the World Conference on International Peace through Religion.

Twice candidate for the presidency, author-editor, and director of the League for Industrial Democracy, Norman (Mattoon) Thomas has been prominently connected with The World Tomorrow and The Nation. The Ohioan received his A.B. degree from Princeton, B.D. from Union

(Continued on page four)

Martin Denies Perfectibility Of Mankind; Speaker Says Popular Education A Failure

MODERN LEARNING CALLED BARBARIC

Noted Author-Lecturer Contrasts Modern Knowledge and Wisdom with That of Greeks.

SAYS CLASSICS UNUSED

Displaying his vast resources as a platform raconteur of the glory of the ancients, Dr. Everett Dean Martin declared in his address yesterday afternoon that modern knowledge and wisdom is in a barbaric stage compared to that of the Greeks.

The director of the People's Institute, speaking on the Human Relations Institute program, deplored the fact that our 100-year program of public education has left a mass of people still hindering their own development instead of a world that has blossomed out into intellectual perfectibility.

Praises Ancients

Praising the "idea of excellence" that dominated man's culture during the age of the Greeks and that was temporarily revived in the middle ages after its destruction by the Roman populace, Martin demanded moderns to do what the ancients did if they wish to reach beyond their underworld intelligence.

Speaking on "A Liberal Education," he stated that the last thing the public thinks about in education is "the maturing of the human mind." There has been a confusion about education, he pointed out, and we have lowered the values of education to the "lowest cranial altitude."

Classics Undusted

"It can read," he said, referring to the public, but it still is moved by catch-word and propaganda and its classics lie unread under the dust. It has learned nothing from history for it is preparing for another war only 15 years after the worst conflict in history, Martin pointed out.

That we are on a fast limited speeding toward an unknown future with no headlight at all was the analogy the speaker made. Ignorance is giving the speed to the train, he indicated, but we must find education for a headlight. "Speed will prove disastrous if there is no light," he declared.

Seminar Schedule

9:30 a. m.—Economics 193, 103 Bingham hall, in seminar with Norman Thomas.

12 m.—Government 143 and 158, 301 Saunders hall, in seminar with Shailer Mathews.

Union Will Sponsor Banquet for Thomas

The Carolina Political Union's banquet for Norman Thomas, open to the campus through the sale of tickets, will take place tonight in Graham Memorial at 6 o'clock.

A few remaining tickets can be purchased today from Robert Smithwick, the University Y. M. C. A. office, or from Phil Hammer at the DAILY TAR HEEL office.

Thomas is scheduled to speak on the political situation, with the probability of a refutation of the case presented by Hon. Hamilton Fish, New York Republican, in a speech here recently.

The banquet will be limited in attendance membership and will be informal. Dr. Frank Graham will present the speaker.

FROSH ANNOUNCE METHOD OF REPORTING VIOLATORS

The freshman honor council has announced that freshman violations of the honor code may be reported to one of its own members, to a member of the student council, to Miss Mabel Mallett at the office of the dean of students, or to Miss Helen Hodges at the Y. M. C. A.

The student council office on the second floor of Graham Memorial will be open on week days from 10:30 a. m. to 12 m., from 1:15 to 1:45 p. m., and from 6 to 6:30 p. m.

W. C. U. N. C. PHI BETES

Greensboro, April 4.—Forty-seven students and alumnae of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina have just been invited to join the ranks of Phi Beta Kappa.

Those elected include 24 members of the class of 1935, two of the class of 1936, and 21 alumnae.

PROGRESS SHOWN TO BE IRREGULAR

Revolutions Declared to Be Inevitable Precedent to Dictatorship; Socialism Ahead.

POLITICS OF '76 PRAISED

Discussing "Violence and Social Progress," Dr. Everett Dean Martin, Institute speaker, pointed out in his Memorial hall address yesterday morning that all revolutions have led to dictatorships.

Representative government, bills of rights, the idea of the "consent of the governed," and the "responsibility of the ruling body to the electors" have all been the world's heritage from the English speaking peoples, the product of the Englishman's political genius, declared Dr. Martin.

"Progress . . . Decline"

Classing the 19th century belief in the progress and perfectibility of mankind in the same category as faith in miracles, the head of the Cooper Union Forum recalled the old Greek "fear of change" and philosophy that progress could only be followed by decline.

Urging us to "reconstruct the idea of progress," the Grail speaker rejected this 19th century product of romanticism as "pure dogma." "There is no uniform progress," he said, contradicting the last century's idea that the proletariat would some day reach perfectibility. "The best the mass can do for human progress is to get out of its way," he stated.

Political Philosophy

Praising the political philosophy of 1776 as that of a politically intellectual age, Martin begged his audience to compare the Long-Johnson-Coughlin debates with the letters of Jefferson and Hamilton. "Does the difference indicate progress?" the speaker would have us answer.

Accepting the idea that Americans will sooner or later adopt a socialistic form of government, Martin said that he "would hate to see us drift into it without knowing what we were doing." A revolution toward such an end would not bring a transfer

(Continued on page three)

DEBATERS ARGUE SOCIAL MEDICINE

U. N. C. Team Disapproves of "Medical Collectivism" in Debate with Bucknell Co-eds.

Protesting against proposals "that would make robots of doctors and guinea-pigs of patients," Carolina debaters stoutly strove last night to defend the status quo in the medical profession against the reforms of two young ladies from Bucknell University.

Resolved, that the various states adopt a system of socialized medicine, was the query favored by Elsa Patton and Elizabeth Hylbert of Bucknell, disparaged by Harry McMullan and Wylie Parker of U. N. C.

Pro Race, Anti Profit

"For the benefit of the race and not individuals," and for the relief of many who are "financially destroyed by doctor and hospital bills," the visitors proposed a system of medical service paid for by the state and administered by doctors to all classes impartially.

Viewed with alarm by the ladies were the following present evils: (1) medical service is unevenly distributed with too many doctors in prosperous regions and too few in poor regions; (2) costs are prohibitive to many who need medical aid, and force them to resort to quack remedies; (3) present free charity clinics are too few, give inadequate service, and are resorted to with reluctance.

Their reforms were proposed

(Continued on page four)

FRESHMEN PICK DANCE LEADERS

One Representative from Each Campus Organization Chosen; No Grail Dance This Week.

By selecting one representative from each campus organization in which freshmen participate, the Freshman Executive Council last night elected the leaders for the freshman dance to be held Friday, April 12.

Billy Knauff and his orchestra will furnish the music for the affair which the executives previously voted to hold informally.

The dance will take place in the Tin Can. By an agreement with the Order of the Grail, the freshmen will utilize the same decorations used by that order the following night.

Grail Rumor False

Contrary to rumor, there will be no Grail dance this week-end. The next affair sponsored by this organization will take place Saturday, April 13. Admission will be $1. Freshmen will be admitted.

Freshman representatives who will participate in the figure are, in addition to class officers: Stuart Rabb, Drew Martin, Crowell Little, Carl Ruth, Tom Burnette, Windsor Rowley, Stuart Leake, Cecil Ford, Jimmy Coan, Bill Hudson, Billy Seawell, Ramsay Potts, Warren Haddaway.

John Ramsay, Nick Read, David Meroney, Pryor McFadden, John Davison, Gene Simmons, Ed O'Herron, Gene Bricklemyer, Carl Peiffer.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, William Jordan, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: REED SARRATT

Friday, April 5, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

The House has passed a bill for execution by lethal gas. Political speeches will do nicely as a cheap source of supply.

Sir John Simon said Germany has reached an air parity with Great Britain. What he means is, "Hitler is as much up in the air as we are."

Mr. Wright wants surplus cotton to be used to "put clothes on the American people." Don't give it a second thought. In a few years more we'll all be nudists, anyway.

"To Stimulate Student Thought"

"The purpose of the demonstration is to stimulate student thought and action on the means to insure peace in a period threatened by war." Such is the newspaper account of the recent statement issued about the anti-war demonstration by the committee in charge.

At 41 institutions throughout the United States peace demonstrations will be held Friday morning, April 12. In most instances the demonstrations will take the form of strikes, with students voluntarily leaving classes to participate.

As Dr. Stephen Duggan remarked at the recent Foreign Policy League banquet, it is a hopeful sign when students of a nation take a militant stand against the crime of war. Some take the attitude that public meetings to condemn war are futile gestures, wasted on the expanse of ether and of no practical value in spreading the anti-war cause. But on the other hand it can be said that any demonstration on the part of youth has some value, in that it does "stimulate thought" along an organized channel.

Carolina students do not seem to go into things of the more sensational nature and a strike would appeal to them more because of the novelty of missing a class and maybe getting away with it than because of the purpose for which the strike was called. With the anti-war demonstration on the basis of an intelligent protest against militarism, with intelligent speeches and intelligent direction, much will come of the local contribution to anti-militarism one week from today.

The Greyhounds Are Still Running

Well, the bus boys again come forth and tell us that the date for the Greyhound hearing is now definitely set for Wednesday, April 24. The state utilities commission at that time will hear the Greyhound application for a certificate of operation for a bus line between Greensboro and Raleigh, via Chapel Hill.

Despite the continual postponements, the student body and Chapel Hill townspeople still feel quite strongly about the matter and will be ready to go over in a delegation to secure this service. We still have hope, as mentioned recently, that sooner or later a hearing actually will come off and if April 24 does turn out to be the lucky day, we urge all interested Greyhounders-to-be to make an effort to co-operate with the University Club and other local agencies who will help to "apply the pressure" from this district.

King Cotton Moves South

That King Cotton is rapidly moving his empire from the southern states to Brazil is more fact than fiction. In the New Outlook for April, Mr. Allen Raymond, in his article entitled "Plowing Down to Rio," gives some startling facts and figures about this development of the south's principal crop.

According to Mr. Raymond, this South American country made a strong campaign to capture that portion of the world's cotton market which the United States relinquished when she paid her farmers to plow under part of their crop.

In the season of 1932-33, when there was no governmental interference, the United States secured 58 per cent of the world's trade in cotton. During the 1933-34 period, with its AAA and crop curtailment, this percentage had dropped to 54. The 1934-35 season threatens to hit below 48 per cent.

Brazil is not without its advantages in the production of cotton. Whereas, the cost of living in the south is extremely low, it is not nearly so low as the prices which are paid to thousands of Japanese and Italians who, in the last few months, have migrated to Brazil and found work on the coffee and cotton plantations. Another distinct advantage is the fact that—even before our crop limitation program—Brazil had the nucleus of a textile industry, with some 300 cotton mills and 3,000,000 spindles.

Apres Moi, Le Deluge

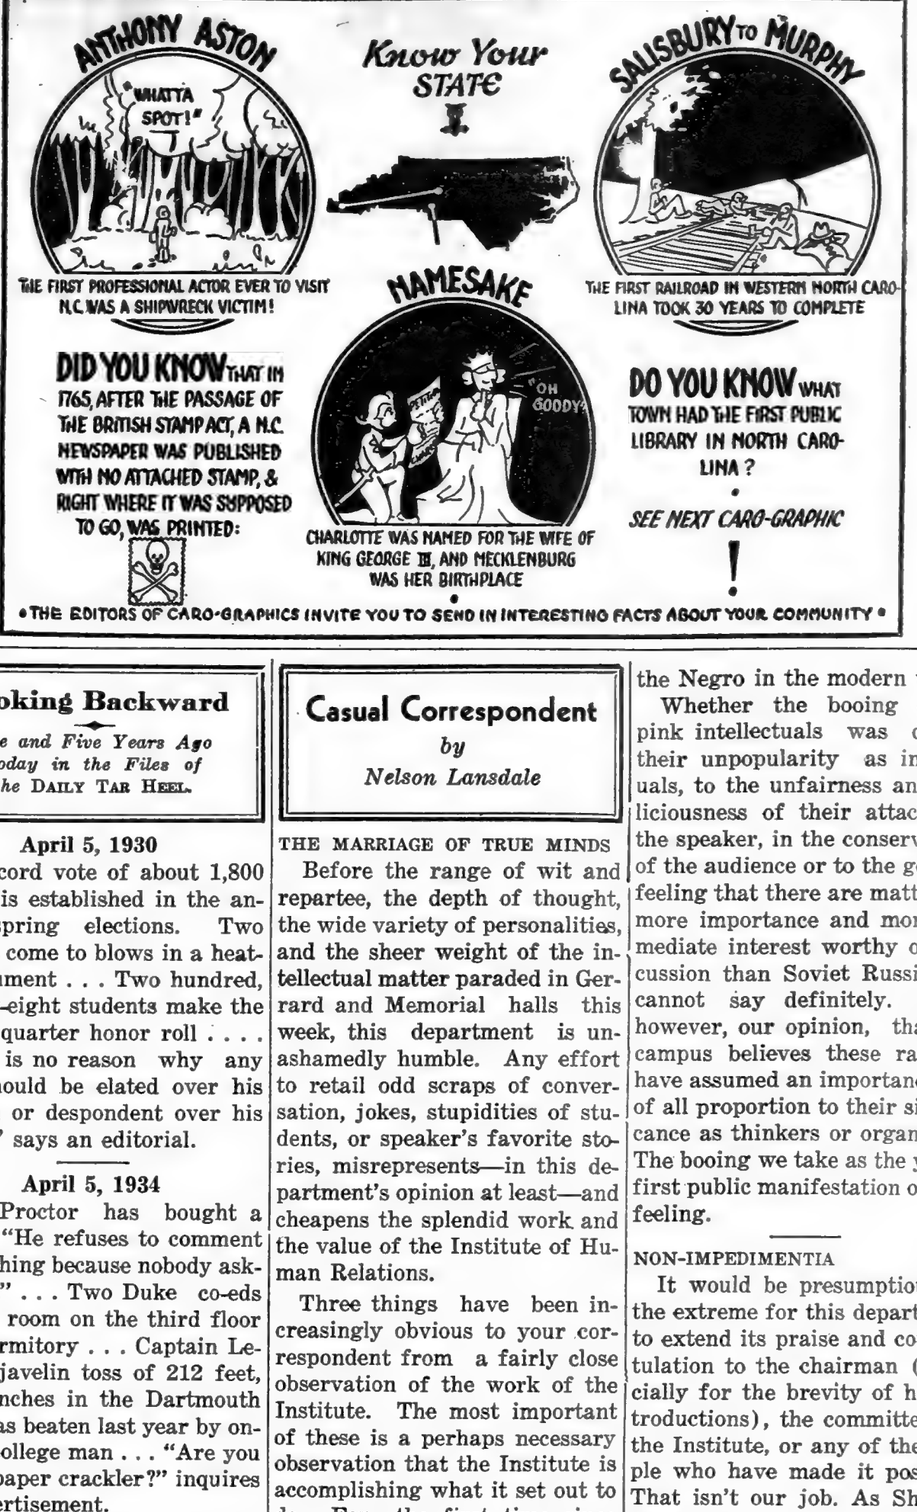
Edwin L. James, managing editor of the New York Times, once remarked to Mussolini that the people of the United States admired him for his individual accomplishment, but would not like his regime for this country. To this Mussolini replied:

"My friend, you will come to it. Democracy is talking itself to death. The people do not know what they want; they do not know what is best for them. There is too much foolishness, too much lost motion. I have stopped the talk and nonsense. I am a man of action. Democracy it beautiful in theory; in practice it is a fallacy. You in America will see that some day."

Mussolini has undoubtedly been a successful dictator. By rigid censorship of the press, and a reign of terror he has indeed stopped the "talk and the foolishness." He has squelched the democracy which he declares beautiful but theoretical until Italy is Mussolini. But therein lies the fallacy of his political philosophy. Like all dictators, he is disregarding the fact that a dictatorship depends upon a single man, and when that man dies, Italy is destined to go the way of Napoleon's France and Bismarck's Germany.

The South May Learn

Modern writing in the south, says Gerald Johnson, editorial writer on the Baltimore Evening Sun and former journalism professor here, in an article in the Virginia Quarterly Review, is characterized by a portrayal of the horrible side of life. This new tendency in writing is nothing less than a revolt of southern authors against the traditional order of expression.



For a half century following the Civil War, southern writers have remained content to let time take care of the troubles and needs of the south. They merely tried to picture what they thought to be the ideal life, generally the life of the old south. Thus we had writers of the Thomas Nelson Page or Joel Chandler Harris type.

Today most of the old sentimentalists have disappeared and in their place has risen a new group of writers. They are filled with a burning desire to get away from this flimsy, day-dreamer attitude and to picture life as it actually exists today, not as it existed during the Civil War. They are defying the old southern literary traditions of writing, such as portraying the gentle sweetness about the old plantation houses. Today they feel the nausea caused by the relics of the old south. They are trying to interpret honestly what they see around them.

The effect of these writings upon the southern viewpoint is becoming tremendously important. The south, no matter how much it despises it, is forced to listen somewhat to the criticisms and declamations of William Faulkner and T. S. Stribling or the loud bellowings of Thomas Wolfe. These men refuse to go unheard and even if they can see only the horrors of our social life, we must listen to them and let the effect of their wild tales move us to action.

These modern horror mongers, as Mr. Johnson so correctly puts it, are but the first word in our literary development, representing but a beginning. If that is true, may not we southerners look at this new writing as a representative part of our modern social life? Although the south is experiencing its own definite beginnings as a representative power in national affairs, it need not consider its modern literature as something advanced and far ahead. If that literature represents an honest attempt to picture the southern life as it exists in the present day, the south may gain much by studying it.

CARO-GRAPHICS --- by Murray Jones & Nash Johnston

Looking Backward

One and Five Years Ago Today in the Files of the Daily Tar Heel.

April 5, 1930

A record vote of about 1,800 ballots is established in the annual spring elections. Two pledges come to blows in a heated argument . . . Two hundred, seventy-eight students make the winter quarter honor roll . . . . "There is no reason why any man should be elated over his election or despondent over his defeat," says an editorial.

April 5, 1934

Ben Proctor has bought a farm. "He refuses to comment on anything because nobody asked him." . . . Two Duke co-eds enter a room on the third floor of a dormitory . . . Captain LeGore's javelin toss of 212 feet, seven inches in the Dartmouth meet was beaten last year by only one college man . . . "Are you a newspaper crackler?" inquires an advertisement.

SPEAKING the CAMPUS MIND

A Better Frosh Dance

Editor, the Daily Tar Heel:

The freshman class executive committee has set aside a goodly sum—$250 to be exact—for the annual freshman dance. From opinions already spreading over the campus, I have garnered the opinion that the forthcoming affair is not looked upon by any too great a number of freshmen as the gala affair that it should be.

Quite on the contrary is the current sentiment. The committee has secured a very mediocre orchestra, when it could hire one of the many better bands at present on the campus. The affair, according to rumor, is to be informal and will in no way resemble the fine dances already given by the upper classes.

It is my belief, as well as that of many other members of the '38 class, that our only dance of the year should at least resemble a high-class affair instead of a high school social, to which end it seems to be destined. We have appropriated a big enough sum of money to demand that we get something worthwhile out of it.

F. W. FERGUSON.

INFIRMARY LIST

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Robert Van Sleen, Charles Abernethy, R. S. Weatherford, Eleanor Lockhart, R. W. Weesner, and James Idol.

Patronize Our Advertisers

Casual Correspondent

by Nelson Lansdale

THE MARRIAGE OF TRUE MINDS

Before the range of wit and repartee, the depth of thought, the wide variety of personalities, and the sheer weight of the intellectual matter paraded in Gerrard and Memorial halls this week, this department is unashamedly humble. Any effort to retail odd scraps of conversation, jokes, stupidities of students, or speaker's favorite stories, misrepresents—in this department's opinion at least—and cheapens the splendid work and the value of the Institute of Human Relations.

Three things have been increasingly obvious to your correspondent from a fairly close observation of the work of the Institute. The most important of these is a perhaps necessary observation that the Institute is accomplishing what it set out to do. For the first time since your correspondent has been enrolled at the University, a considerable number of people on the campus are really thinking about affairs of national and international consequence. The bank holiday of March, 1933, became a school holiday in which fervent and almost desperate participation by the whole undergraduate body went hand in hand with the most appalling ignorance of the actual state of affairs, and the wildest surmises as to the future. Now, however, for campus radicals and bluestockings alike, national and international affairs have challenged interest and intelligent consideration. It doesn't so much matter whether the speakers are right or wrong—they have set the campus to thinking. And that, in our opinion, is an event worth recording.

GERMAN EUROPE

It is further clear that thinking people everywhere are scared, badly scared of the menace that is Germany. Two distinguished speakers whose subjects have concerned European affairs—Duggan and Lederer—have limited themselves almost exclusively to discussions of Germany and the German situation.

THE HONORABLE FISH

Our other observation is on the surprising political conservatism as contrasted with the manifest broadening of the social attitude on the campus. When campus reds and parlor pinks, gunning for Hamilton Fish, attempted to monopolize two seminars Wednesday with discussions of Soviet Russia, they were enthusiastically booed by a packed Gerrard hall. On the other hand, Negroes and whites sat side by side for Dr. John Hope's discursive, emotional lecture on the Negro in the modern world.

Whether the booing of the pink intellectuals was due to their unpopularity as individuals, to the unfairness and maliciousness of their attacks on the speaker, in the conservatism of the audience or to the general feeling that there are matters of more importance and more immediate interest worthy of discussion than Soviet Russia, we cannot say definitely. It is, however, our opinion, that the campus believes these radicals have assumed an importance out of all proportion to their significance as thinkers or organizers. The booing we take as the year's first public manifestation of this feeling.

NON-IMPEDIMENTIA

It would be presumptious in the extreme for this department to extend its praise and congratulation to the chairman (especially for the brevity of his introductions), the committee for the Institute, or any of the people who have made it possible. That isn't our job. As Shakespeare puts it: "Let me not to the marriage of true minds admit impediment . . ."

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:30: George Hall orch., WABC, WBT.
2:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.
3:15: Minneapolis Sym. orch., Eugene Ormandy, conductor, WABC, WBIG, WBT.
5:00: Loretta Lee, songs, WABC, WBT.
5:30: Nellie Revell interviewing Ben Bernie, WPTF, WSB.
6:00: Leon Navara orch., WABC, WBT.
7:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.
8:00: Concert, Jessica Dragonette, soprano, WEAF, WRVA.
9:00: March of Time, WABC, WHAS.
10:15: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.
11:15: Ozzie Nelson orch., WBT, WGST.
11:30: Jolly Coburn orch., WEAF, WRVA; Wayne King, WGN.
12:00: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

APRIL 24 SET AS DATE FOR BUS LINE HEARING

April 24 has been set as the date for the Atlantic Greyhound Lines hearing before the utilities commission in Raleigh, the editor of the Daily Tar Heel received notice yesterday.

Still optimistic, the University Club, according to one of its members, is expecting to pursue its oft-deferred plans to sponsor a mass trip to Raleigh to attend the hearing and express student sympathy with the approval of the bus line's petition.

Vines Wins Singles Match From Tilden At Tin Can; Nusslein And Lott Beaten

Overflowing Crowd Sees Exhibitionists

Doubles Match Provides Thrills; Lott Conquers Nusslein in Closing Battle.

VINES' PLAY SENSATIONAL

About 2500 spectators thrilled to the strokes of the tennis exhibitionists last evening in the Tin Can as Ellsworth Vines pounded out a victory over Tilden in the feature match.

The four master professionals, Tilden, Vines, Lott and Nusslein, performed upon an emerald canvas court that lent a brilliant touch to the much-awaited exhibition.

Tilden Humbled

The opening singles was a dismal failure as Big Bill Tilden failed to check Elly Vines. The old charm of Tilden was gone and the fire lacking, as he hit shot after shot into the net. Vines had no trouble winning 6-2, 6-3. A few volleys were prolonged and drew roars of approval from the crowd, but the match was drab and uninteresting.

The doubles was the star contest of the evening. The ball was hit brilliantly and solidly across the rigid net, and after the applause had died into a murmur, the final score was found to give Tilden and Vines a well-earned victory over Lott and Nusslein by a count of 6-3, 6-8, 6-4.

Vines was superb and Lott listless in the doubles contest. Vines' overhead thudded throughout the night as Lott, billed as the world's greatest doubles star, failed to approach expectations and erred repeatedly.

Nusslein also played smooth, dependable tennis in this match. Tilden gave an improved showing over his singles but was still subordinate to the other two.

The doubles produced the

(Continued on last page)

TENNIS PLAYERS MEET DAVIDSON TEAM TOMORROW

Netters Will Play Wildcats at Davidson; Regulars Will Probably Start.

BOAST OF FINE RECORD

Three wins to the good, the varsity tennis team is priming for the coming meet with Davidson, to be played tomorrow at the Wildcat's court.

The Tar Heel squad carries an impressive background into Saturday's meet. In the three matches already played, the team has dropped but one individual encounter. Wake Forest and State were soundly set back by 9-0 scores and Dartmouth was humiliated to the extent of a 7-1 count.

An optimistic outlook for the remaining clashes is prevalent in the Carolina ranks. The one great obstacle that is looming is the Princeton match early next month.

The Tigers have been the only team to stop the Tar Heels in the past six years. With additional power on the squad, Carolina looks forward to better results.

In all probability, a similar lineup will face the Wildcats that faced the other teams. Levitan, Harris, Willis, De Gray, Shore and Minor are the six stalwarts that have been carrying the banner to date.

Damp weather prevented play yesterday and the team was contented with acquiring finer points by studying the master Tilden and his players at work.

LINKSMEN MEET STATE TOMORROW

Tar Heel Golfers Will Play Wolfpack on Raleigh Course; Change in Lineup.

Tomorrow afternoon's golf match with the State College linksmen will mark the first time this season for the Tar Heels to play on a foreign course.

The team will begin the meet with a record of three wins in as many starts. Their opponents could score no more than three points in any one meet. All of the team's decisive victories were scored on the Hope Valley course; thus the result of tomorrow's meet will be a good indication of the success of the team during the remainder of the season.

Should the team emerge with another victory over State it will be safe to say that they are headed for the Big Five title and possibly the conference championship.

Change in Lineup

The line-up for the coming meet will bring Laxton up against Newnam, State's ace, and Harris will meet Bartlien.

Pijanowski, a sophomore, will play in the number three position instead of Coffin, and should find little trouble in repeating the 3-0 win Coffin scored over Dusty last week.

The number four position on the team is the most disputed, and is the one most likely to change from meet to meet. Four men have hopes of representing Carolina in the final place on the team, and they will probably decide who will play by means of play-offs this afternoon.

The four men who have hopes of meeting Pastore on the Raleigh links are Hamilton, Bridgers, Coffin, and Crawford. Bridgers in the last meet won a 2-1 victory over Pastore who is one of State's veteran players.

Martin

(Continued from page one)

of power, he pointed out, for all revolutions only give us new tyrannies for old. "Revolutions produce the bankruptcy of law and order . . . and end only in dictatorship," Dean Martin stated.

Three Periods of History

Dividing all history into three great periods, the speaker showed that the ancient period had ended with the Octavian dictatorship at Rome and the succeeding debauchery of the glorious Roman empire. The second period ended with the outcome of the church reformation and the subsequent dictatorship of various church groups and the disorganization of what little fraternity there had been before that time.

The last great period ended October 25, 1917, declared Martin, for then communism struck down on liberalism and democracy and completed the decline of political progress that had been made in the direction of liberalism by the revolutions of the 18th and 19th centuries.

Comparing the revolutionary action of the mob to that of an insane person, Martin warned America that if liberalism were really dead, universal suffrage, freedom from persecution and torture, trial by jury, freedom of speech and thought — all would be destroyed and man returned to the condition of babyhood under the tyranny of Fascism, Communism, Nazism, Socialism, and the like.

FROSH NETSTERS OPEN TODAY WITH DUKE BLUE IMPS

Coach Kenfield to Use as Many Players as Possible from Powerful Squad.

CONTEST HERE AT 3 P.M.

The Tar Babies inaugurate their 1935 tennis season this afternoon at 3 o'clock, on the clay courts against the Baby Imps from Duke.

The freshmen, boasting the greatest yearling team in Carolina history, expect little trouble from the Duke team, and Coach Kenfield plans to put as many different players into the match as possible.

If a satisfactory lead is acquired in the singles play, the doubles combinations will be composed of second string players. This method is unorthodox, but with the present power of the frosh, it is quite safe.

Good Players

Either Ramsay Potts or Eddy Fuller will open the season by facing Ted Collins, Duke ace. Collins reached the final in the fall tournament at Pinehurst and is a possible threat. However, there is no expectations of either Potts or Fuller experiencing difficulty in competition with him.

Gordon Robinson, Canadian youth, will probably play in third singles and Johnny Foreman, hard hitting Illinois star, in fourth.

The remaining positions are doubtful with Frankie Farrell, New York youth, seemingly in possession of the fifth singles. The remaining post will be the the greatest source of trouble in respect to selection. Seymore Fast, Vic Strasberger, and Ray Bartelman are all within striking distance.

The remaining players will see action in doubles. This will give Coach Kenfield an opportunity to get a first hand view of his entire squad under competitive pressure. The frosh have had little chance to show their worth.

MURAL ENTRIES MUST BE MADE THIS AFTERNOON

F. E. R. A. and Carr Teams Won Last Year.

Entries for the intramural baseball and tennis tourneys will close this evening at 6 o'clock. They will be acceptable at 310 South all day until 5 o'clock, and for an additional hour at the Emerson stadium office.

Last year the F. E. R. A. nine, under the leadership of Emmet Joyce, came through to cop the crown with a 6-1 win over Phi Sigma Kappa, frat titlists. The F. E. R. A. team reached the finals by defeating Med School, while the Phi Sigs came in by virtue of its triumph over S.A.E.

After an absence of two years, tennis is back on the intramural slate. This sport will be run in two separate leagues, with the first place teams meeting as usual for the campus championship.

The last year of tennis found Carr Dormitory (Law School) as champs, due to a win over Sigma Nu. Carr's team was composed of Markham and Bailey, and the snakes were represented by Jones and Bruce Old. All but Bailey are still in school, Jones now being a member of Coach Kenfield's varsity net team.

The matches will consist of two singles and one doubles, with the best two out of three sets taking the matches. The set-games are altered slightly from regular tennis in that only five games need to be won to win the set, no two-game margin being necessary.

TRACKMEN MAY BREAK RECORDS IN W. & M. MEET

Galaxy of Stars Will Perform At Emerson Field Tomorrow Afternoon.

HUBBARD MAY BE OUT

Inclement weather conditions again forced the varsity track mentors to ease up on work for their charges in yesterday's practice session, which didn't add anything to the already none-too rosy outlook for the W. & M. engagement this weekend.

With several of last year's outstanding William and Mary competitors back, a keenly contested meet is in store for the initial appearance of Carolina's champions. The spectators may even be treated to one or two record-breaking feats.

Records May Fall

One Emerson stadium record that may topple is the 24 ft. ¾ in. broad jump mark, made by Ed Hamm, American record-holder, back in 1930 while wearing the Georgia Tech colors.

"Monk" Little is capable of doing 24 ft. or better, and with Higby and possibly Hubbard in the competition, a new record may be established.

The nation's fourth ranking intercollegiate miler, Harry Williamson, may be the cause of another mark going off the books. Should he be placed in the mile event, the Emerson stadium record of 4:21.2, established by Elliott of U. N. C., in 1926, should be broken.

Williamson holds the present University mile mark with a time of 4:15.23 which he turned in at Los Angeles last year. However, it is possible that he may be entered in the 880 and 440 events if Hubbard does not compete.

William and Mary Stars

Several of the field events are certain to develop into hotly contested battles. In the pole vault, the visitors will bring Langboner and Flickinger, who placed first and third in that event in the 1934 meet at Williamsburg.

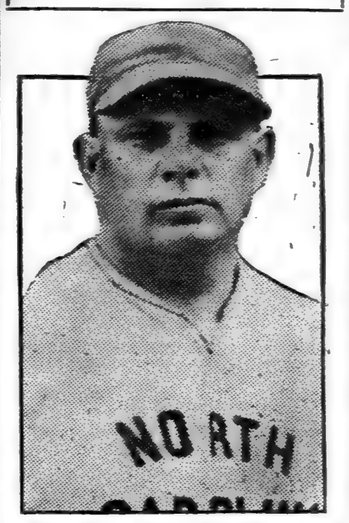
However, Langboner's first was a tie with Don Jackson, and with Bear added to the picture, the cross-bar should reach a goodly height before the victor is decided.

Tom Evins will be in for a busy afternoon in both the shot and the discus throw. Quirk, who last season placed second to the husky Carolina boy, and Sorenson, who was but a slight distance behind Evins, will be listed in the shot and discus, respectively.

Armfield is Carolina's best bet in the javelin toss, and it is hoped that the improvement he has shown over his last year's work will capture a second place award for him. To do this he will have to beat out Bralley, who bested him last year.

Little is an almost certain winner in this event, but with three or four other events to compete in, it is hardly probable that he can better LeGore's record of 212 feet 7 inches.

Varsity Track



Coach Dale Ranson asks that all members of the varsity track squad meet with him at Emerson field at 4:15 this afternoon.

Mass Tennis Meet

All prospective entrants for the gigantic Duke-Carolina mass meet in tennis are asked to sign their name on the bulletin board in front of the varsity courts.

Tar Heel Nine Will Open Year Against Cats Today

Carolina Coach

Above is Bunn Hearn who is beginning his third season as baseball coach of the Tar Heels. His team opens the season this afternoon against Davidson.

Fred Crouch to Hurl In Game at Davidson

Bullard Will Probably Start at Third; Harris Will Be on Mound for Wildcats.

TO PLAY AGAIN TOMORROW

Carolina's 1935 baseball team leaves this morning for Davidson to open its season against the Wildcats this afternoon. Tomorrow the Tar Heels will battle Davidson again in the second game of the trip.

Fred Crouch, veteran of two years, will take the mound for Carolina and will likely be opposed by Charlie Harris, also an old performer.

Ed Bullard, sophomore, will probably get the first call to play at the disputed third base position, but Harry Montgomery and Dick Dashiell are also making the trip and both men may see action before the two-tilt series is over.

One Other Soph

Buck McCarn, big first baseman, will be the only other sophomore in the lineup. McCarn replaces ex-Captain George Brandt and although his fielding is not up to standard he has cracked out several long hits during the practice sessions.

The keystone combination of Trip Rand, second baseman, and Tommy Irwin, shortstop, will round out the infield. Rand worked half-time at third last year and was a steady performer while Irwin was a sensation at shortstop. Rand's little bingles have been featuring the preseason practice.

Veteran Outfield

Coach Hearn's outfield of Captain Thurman Vick, centerfield, Eddie Shapiro, rightfield, and Gus McIver, leftfield, is a holdover from last year. However, this trio has not started clicking in top form and as a result two excellent-fielding reserves, Ed Voliva and Lefty Groome, who have been hitting hard during practice, may get chances.

Big Jim Tatum, a long-distance hitter who did the receiving for Coach Hearn's Kinston team last summer, will be behind the plate. Bill Strayhorn, who has already shown plenty of stuff both at bat and in the field, will relieve Tatum if it is necessary.

Other pitchers besides Crouch who made the journey to Davidson are Leo Manley, letter man, Irby Wright, Latcher Webster, and Bunn Hearn, Jr.

'Cats Are Strong

The veteran Wildcat nine looks plenty dangerous to the Tar Heels' chances of getting off to a good start. Davidson has already played two games, defeating Michigan State, 3-1, and los-

(Continued on last page)

WIND STOPS FIRST YEAR NINE DRILL

Batteries Have Featured Yearling Work to Date.

Strong winds forced Coach James to call off yesterday's yearling baseball drill after the entire squad had turned out prepared for a hard practice session.

With today's practice under their belts the freshmen will have finished their first full week of training. Despite the fact that they have been batting and fielding for only five days, the frosh have come a long way and the future drills should bring out a well rounded outfield.

Although many of the starting fifty have dropped out, the present squad is well over thirty. Coach James has used three nines during the past week and each have clicked in fine style.

The battery combinations have undoubtedly been the outstanding performers to date. Humphries, Turbyville, and Willard have all done their share of mound work, while Bricklemyer, Andrews, Dalton, and Redfern have displayed fine catching ability.

The infields have been smoothly working units from the beginning, but the outfielders, all of who started out in a bad rut, have shown steady improvement of late.

In the two inter-squad games played so far, the regulars have managed to nose out the yannigans 3-0 and 1-0. The lack of scoring testifies to the fine hurling and the weak hitting which has prevailed.

Frosh Golf Meeting

Candidates for the freshman golf team will report at Emerson field at 10:15 a. m. varsity and freshman golf today, Coach John Kenfield, coach, announced yesterday. This will be the second year that Carolina will have a yearling links team, the first one having been organized last spring.

Cincinnati Alumni Organize

Approximately 20 University alumni living in Cincinnati, Ohio, will gather for an informal dinner tonight to effect the organization of the group into a permanent local alumni club, making another in the chain of 60 such organizations throughout the country.

The meeting has been arranged by W. E. Conally, Jr., of the class of 1932, and will take place in Cincinnati's Kemper Lane hotel.

Patronize Our Advertisers

SLAVE MARTS OF BAGDAD!
Spectacle to spellbind you!
Drama to thrill you!
Mystery to intrigue you!
Glamour to entrance you!
Beauty to dazzle you!
Oriental opulence to amaze you!
CHU CHIN CHOW
with
ANNA MAY WONG
—Also—
Comedy—News
TODAY
CAROLINA
CASH NIGHT TONIGHT
$15.00 in cash and a carton of Lucky Strike cigarettes will be given.

LITTLE SYMPHONY WILL PLAY HERE

University of Michigan Orchestra, Directed by Thor Johnson, Appears April 7-8.

The University of Michigan Little Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Thor Johnson of Winston-Salem, a graduate of the University and an instructor in the music department of Michigan University, will give three concerts in Chapel Hill Sunday and Monday, April 7 and 8.

Appearing under the auspices of the Student Entertainment Committee, the first concert will be given Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Graham Memorial, the second Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the local graded school, and the third Monday night at 8:30 in Memorial hall. The Community Club's music department is sponsoring the concert at the graded school.

Personnel Instructors

The orchestra, composed for the most part of instructors on the faculty of the University of Michigan's School of Music, is making its first southern tour. Two brilliant soloists, Miss Ruth Pfohl and Romine Hamilton, will be featured in the concerts here.

Miss Pfohl, who is head of the harp department at the University of Michigan, has chosen Maurice Ravel's master composition for harp and orchestra, "Introduction et Allegro," as her solo offering. Hamilton, violinist and instructor in stringed instruments, is programmed for the brilliant "Concerto in D Major," by Mozart.

METHODIST CHURCH WILL BE DEDICATED

Ceremony to Be Observed Sunday; Bishop Kearn to Preside.

The Methodist church at Chapel Hill, which was completed in 1927 at a cost of $231,000 and which was cleared of debt last January through the gift of $50,000 by an anonymous donor, is to be dedicated here Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Bishop Paul B. Kearn of Greensboro will preach the dedicatory sermon. Rev. W. A. Jenkins, pastor, will preside.

The ceremony of presentation will be conducted by Dean R. B. House, acting in behalf of the official board of the church. Rev. M. T. Plyler, one of the editors of the North Carolina Christian Advocate; Rev. Walter Patten of Fayetteville, and Rev. C. Excell Rozzelle of Lenoir, former pastors here, will take part in the devotional program.

Soule Lecture

(Continued from page one)

used only as the courts have directed. "We have set up irresponsible courts," he assarted. The cause for this mistake, he held, was the basic conception of individual liberty as freedom from restraint.

Soule deplored the use of prejudices and sentimentality by politicians of the nation and advocated the use of sound reason. He declared that individual liberty is non-existent unless the governed individuals have a part in choosing the restraints necessary for the growth of liberalism.

"No vulgarity," affirmed Soule, "is more common than the attack of all 'isms,'" as if the speaker himself were not defending Americanism.

"I believe in the legitimacy of revolution," stated Soule. He held that we must re-interpret our faith in those symbols which we select by self-organization so that we may effect change.

HARPIST

Miss Ruth Pfohl, harp soloist, who will appear here April 8 with the University of Michigan Little Symphony under the direction of Thor Johnson, former University of North Carolina student.

Debaters

(Continued from page one)

to: (1) supply thorough medical aid to all classes; (2) eliminate the profit motive from the profession; (3) lighten the burden of overworked, underpaid doctors and afford to all doctors financial security.

—isms, Yes and No

Warning that the proposed reforms smack of "socialism, collectivism and all such isms," Declaimer Parker later condemned them because they would be "the death of individualism and humanitarianism."

Denying any intention to extol "rugged individualism against ragged collectivism," McMullan contended still that the latter has no place in the medical profession.

Blasting the opposition's arguments with onomatopoetic phrases and high allusions to traditional institutions, Orator McMullan prophesied that once socialized medicine gained foothold, "highpowered racketeering will take over the operating room."

Jitney Players

(Continued from page one)

cast to Chapel Hill headed by Alice Keating Chaney, founder of the company; Ethel Barrymore Colt, daughter of the famous actress; Douglas Rowland, Ellen Love, John Marony, and Charles Atkins, past season stars with the Jitney Players. They appear under the sponsorship of the Carolina Playmakers.

Several of the original tunes for "Adventures of Oz" were composed by Robert Russell Bennett, New York composer who did the orchestration for "Show Boat," "Music in the Air" and "Anything Goes."

The century-old setting for "The Streets of New York," by Dion Boucicault, gives the "mellerdrammer" a real flavor of yesterday with the villain, heroine and hero. Hissing the villain and cheering the hero whose valor brings everything out to a fine finish will be permitted.

Tilden Troupe

(Continued from page three)

greatest rallies of the night. The four combined in pulling remarkable returns, mingled with smashing drives, and it was during these extended volleys that the crowd truly appreciated the art of these players.

In the final match of the evening, played after the anxious crowd had poured down from the bleachers, George Lott took a 6-4 set from Hans Nusslein.

War Threat

(Continued from page one)

published because they didn't sell. About this time the New Republic was just coming into being, and he became interested in the work. He has continued to work for the New Republic with only a few interruptions ever since. The essence of his ideas on how to get in the magazine world seemed to be to grow up with a new publication.

He recalled a debate in Philadelphia with "Ham" Fish in which the latter's pants kept falling down, when he was asked about Fish's statement as to the 6,000,000 starving Russians. He added that the debate with Fish had been on Soviet Russia, but that the reason Mr. Fish's pants wouldn't stay up was not Communistic propaganda, but the lack of suspenders.

Today's Program

(Continued from page one)

Theological Seminary, Litt.D. from Princeton, and in 1911 he was ordained a Presbyterian minister.

George Soule, Jr., editor of the New Republic and this year's Weil lecturer, is an outstanding American thinker, author, and lecturer. He has been editor of the magazine since 1924 and has written several outstanding books and various reports, papers, and articles. A graduate of Yale, he was made special adviser to the Secretary of the Interior on reclamation and rural development in the south in 1927. He was recently director-at-large of the National Bureau of Economic Research. During the war, Soule held several high offices and rendered outstanding service.

Thomas and Soule will both appear on tomorrow's program.

W.C.U.N.C. Vacation Ends

Greensboro, April 4.—Students of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, now having their spring vacation, will take up their work again Monday morning at 8:15 o'clock.

Two months of work lie ahead of them before commencement. Final examinations of the second semester are scheduled to start May 25.

Comprehensive Date Changed

The date of the comprehensive examination for the spring quarter has been changed from May 4 to May 18, it was announced yesterday at the office of the dean of the college of liberal arts.

Congress Clears Way For Works Relief Bill

Washington, April 4.—(UP)—Warring factions in the House and Senate effected a compromise in their conferences today that cleared the way for the prompt enactment of the $4,880,000,000 public works relief bill that has languished in Congress for the better part of three months.

The conferees drafted an amendment, earmarking one dollar out of every three of the $900,000,000 to be loaned states and municipalities for the construction of non-federal projects for use in "direct work."

As the measure now stands, the administration would be authorized to lend money for the construction of new buildings, including power plants, but could not make advances for the acquisition of projects already constructed.

Baseball

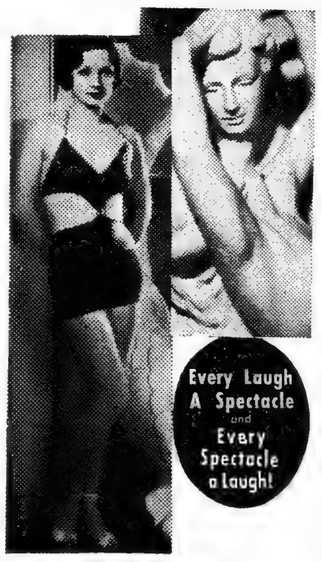
(Continued from page three)

ing to Lenoir-Rhyne, 3-2.

Harris was plenty hot in the first game. He limited the Spartans to six hits and one unearned run.

Carolina's probable batting order follows: Vick, Rand, Irwin, McIver, Tatum, McCarn, Shapiro, Bullard, and Crouch.

Davidson's lineup follows: Loftin, ss; Rogers, cf; Mackorell, 3b; Morgan, lf; Bumgarner, 2b; Dickson, rf; Burns, 1b; Ravenel, c; and Harris, p.



LOCAL SCOUTS WIN AWARD

The Cherokee Council of Boy Scouts of America, of which the Chapel Hill and Carrboro troops are members, was one of four councils in the sixth region, which is composed of 36 councils, to win the 1934 Ten Year Program award, John Kenfield, district chairman of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro district, was informed recently.

The East Carolina Council also won the award, as well as Flint River and Atlanta Councils of Georgia.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

Watch the boyfriends, girls. They won't be safe when this heavenly beauty comes to life and raises Cain up and down the main stem!

Carl Laemmle presents
THORNE SMITH'S
NIGHT LIFE of the GODS
MIDNIGHT SHOW TONIGHT
Hours of shows: 11:15 and 1 A. M.
CAROLINA

Lure of the East

Anna May Wong in the Gaumont British picture, "Chu Chin Chow," now playing at the Carolina theatre.

LIBRARY STUDENTS WILL HEAR MISS HELEN FERRIS

Miss Helen Ferris, editor of the Junior Literary Guild, will speak to the students of the School of Library Science at 11 a. m., Tuesday April 9, on the topic, "Principles of Book Selection for Young People."

Miss Ferris is the author of "This Happened To Me," and other books. She has edited several anthologies, and has been on the editorial staff of a number of magazines for young people.

Methodist Circle Food Sale

The Walter Patton circle of the Methodist church will conduct a food sale tomorrow morning beginning at 9 o'clock at Shields' grocery store.

UNIVERSITY CLUB ENDING ACTIVITIES

New Members Will Be Inducted Two Weeks from Yesterday.

The present University Club made plans last night at its regular weekly meeting to draw its activities for the year to a close.

The new Club, elections to which have been going on for the past two sessions, will be inducted two weeks from yesterday. The names of the new members will be announced at that time.

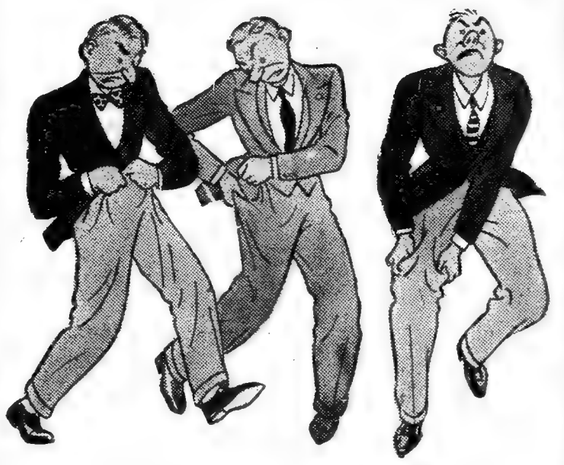
Three projects remain to be completed by the present group before the new members are inducted. Visitors during high school week will be lodged, the Boy Scouts will be entertained during their festival here, and visiting athletic teams will be received.

Plans for the annual banquet are nearing completion.

BADEN-POWELL MAKES RADIO SPEECH TODAY

Lord Baden-Powell, chief scout of the world, will broadcast a message to the American people and especially to scouts this afternoon soon after he lands in San Francisco with Lady Baden-Powell on their round-the-world trip. He will be presented to the radio audience by Dr. James E. West, the chief scout executive.

The broadcast will be made over WSOC, Charlotte, and WPTF, Raleigh, at 5 p. m. Eastern Standard time.



"Tomorrow's Styles—Today"

Pritchard-Bright & Company

Clothiers and Furnishers

Featuring Arrow Shirts

Washington Duke Hotel Bldg. Durham, N. C.

Arrow Shorts won't grow shorter

The law of diminishing returns holds no terror for Arrow Sanforized-Shrunk Shorts. They cannot shrink no matter how often the garment is washed. Sanforizing, the only process of its kind, guarantees permanent fit forever.

Don't resign yourself to underwear that continually creeps up on you, cuts you in two, and generally ruins your disposition. Arrow Shorts give you comfort where you really need it—they are full cut with ample leg room—that bedeviling center seam has been replaced with a saddle seat—the garment is tailored throughout with your comfort in mind. See your Arrow dealer today.

Arrow Shorts 65c up

Arrow Undershirts 50c up

ARROW UNDERWEAR

SANFORIZED SHRUNK

CLUETT, PEABODY & CO., INC., TROY, N. Y.

FOLLOW THE

to

MILLER-BISHOP

108 Corcoran Street Durham, N. C.

W. AND M. TRACK MEET
2 P. M.
EMERSON STADIUM

The Daily Tar Heel

CHINESE MINISTER SZE
10:15 A. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, APRIL 6, 1935 | NUMBER 137

U. C. S. P. EFFECTS CHANGES WANTED BY INVESTIGATORS

Laundry Installs Sock-Darning Machine; Laundry and Book Ex Offices to Move.

TO SCREEN SOME DORMS

Many of the recommendations made by the Student Advisory Committee regarding campus service systems have been adopted and carried out by the business administration, Phil Hammer, secretary of the committee, announced yesterday.

A new sock-darning machine has been installed in the University laundry and has begun its attack on student socks. According to an unofficial announcement, the machine has been used overtime during the first week, due to the "sorry condition of almost every sock in the University."

To Move Office

The office of the laundry is being moved to a new central location in the main service plant building on Franklin street. This change will make it possible for students to receive all laundry bundles held by the laundry and to make all business negotiations without the necessity of leaving the campus to do so, as was the case when the office was located at the laundry site on West Cameron avenue.

It is planned to move the office of the Book Exchange to the same location, so that a complete centralization of office routine can be effected. J. S. Bennett, now head of the electric and water division of the Consolidated Service Plants, will be made supervisor of the entire service organization, acting directly under R. B. Rogerson, assistant comptroller of the University.

Screens for Dorms

Other improvements resulting from the committee's recommendations are the screening of certain dormitories for summer school inhabitants and the offering of a flat rate to cover tuition, board and rent to these same students. It is probable that these changes will be adopted for the regular sessions next fall, with screening of all dormitories and other building improvements extremely likely.

Rogerson stated yesterday that almost all of the recommendations have definite possibilities for adoption, work having actually been started on several of the most important. In addition, certain other administrative and service systems have been changed as a result of the general committee report.

Music Head Will Attend New Orleans Meeting

Haydon Leaves Today for Conference on Music Education.

Dr. Glen Haydon, head of the music department, leaves this morning to attend the Southern Conference for Music Education, a division of the Music Educator's National Conference, at New Orleans, April 7 to 10.

At the general meeting Tuesday, Dr. Haydon will address the conference on the "Relation of Music to the General Curriculum." Wednesday he will conduct a section meeting devoted to college and conservatory music. At this meeting, Dr. Haydon will read a paper on "Aims and Objectives of the College and Conservatory Curricula in Music."

SOCIALIST SPEAKER

Norman Thomas, former Socialist candidate for president, poses for his picture on his arrival at the Carolina Inn yesterday morning. He spoke yesterday, and speaks again today, on the Human Relations Institute program.

"America Must Choose Fascism Or Socialism," States Thomas

Sees in Huey Long Potential Dictator

Socialist Prophesies America Must Adapt Government to New Social Order.

"NEW DEAL NOT SOLUTION"

That America must choose between Fascism and Socialism was the conclusion of Norman Thomas, who packed Memorial hall yesterday afternoon when he spoke on the Human Relations Institute program.

"Your generation can help to make an effectual choice," said the Socialist leader who warned against America drifting toward an American form of Fascism.

"Long and Hitler"

Pointing out the similarities between the appeal of Huey Long, Father Coughlin, Mussolini and Hitler, Thomas addressed the Carolina audience on "Trends Toward Fascism."

Thomas made references in his lecture to Dr. Everett Dean Martin and Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., who in particular had warned students and villagers against the "honeyed phrases" of the Socialist.

"We are not going to get out under the New Deal," said Thomas, calling the Roosevelt program a plan for temporary recovery. We shall soon face an emergency that in other countries has produced Fascist governments, Thomas concluded.

Fearing that America might choose a dictatorial form of government rather than revolt, confusion and Socialism, Thomas flayed the Fascism that Ameri-

(Continued on page two)

Senior Week Regalia

Members of the Senior Week committee announced yesterday that Senior Week regalia has been chosen and is now on display in the window of the Student Co-operative store.

All seniors are urged to have their measurements taken immediately at the Student Co-op. Thursday, April 11, has been set as the deadline for having these measurements made.

13 Spades! Count 'em!

According to a late report to the DAILY TAR HEEL, Herbert Hazelman realized the sweetest dream of every contract bridge player last night when he held 13 spades in a friendly game at the home of James Atkins in Chapel Hill.

Needless to say, he made his seven spade bid. Ben Atkins, who reported the phenomenon to the DAILY TAR HEEL office last night, intimated that the patient survived the shock.

FRANK ABERNATHY PICKS SENIOR RING COMMITTEE

Frank Abernathy, president of the student body, announced last night the appointment of a committee to send invitations to jewelry companies to make bids for a four or five year contract for senior rings.

The chairman of the committee is John Gunter. Other members are Jake Snyder, Morris Rhodes, Charlie Ivey, and Charlie Hubbard.

MATHEWS TALKS ON MODERN ASIA

Traveler-Speaker Warns Audience of Danger of Eclipse by Faster Moving Orientals.

Shailer Mathews, authority on far eastern affairs, warned an audience in Memorial hall yesterday morning that unless we develop a morality within the nation, using love and justice-giving as a basis upon which a genuine human society could be built, we will be eclipsed by the forward moving eastern nations.

After describing briefly the history of the eastern nations before they were forcibly opened by the western powers, Mathews outlined the rapid rise of Japan in her adoption of western methods and machines. The Japanese, he explained, came out of the Russo-Japanese war with the realization that Japan was able to support a military machine inferior to

(Continued on page two)

Sze, Thomas, Soule Close Relations Institute Today

Chinese Minister

Sao-Ke Alfred Sze, only new speaker on today's Institute program, who will address a convocation at 10:15 a. m. in Memorial hall.

CHINESE MINISTER TO TALK AT 10:15

Soule to Close Institute with Final Lecture Sponsored by Weil Fund This Evening.

THOMAS SPEAKS AT NOON

Chinese Minister to the United States Sao-Ke Alfred Sze will be the only new speaker to appear on the closing series of Institute programs today.

Norman Thomas and George Soule will again address convocation audiences, Thomas in Memorial hall at 12 o'clock on "Industrial Relations," and Soule at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall on "Organized Liberty."

Sze on Good Will

Dr. Sze at the 10:15 session is scheduled to discuss "International Good Will and Understanding." The "outspoken" little man, black-haired with small, black-rimmed spectacles, is a great defender of his country in the Far East conflicts.

"The American people know that China has never disturbed the international peace of the Far East, whereas Japan has herself done so upon repeated occasions," declared the China-talker-backer on a recent occasion.

Former Preacher

At 12 o'clock Thomas will conduct the forum in Memorial hall. The once-upon-a-time Presbyterian minister and oft-time candidate for president of the United States scored heavily yesterday afternoon in his address on "Trends Toward Fascism."

Bringing to a close the extensive program carried out by the Human Relations Institute during the past week, Editor George Soule of the New Republic will discuss "Organized Liberty." Soule will have appeared three times on the convocation series, his lectures being sponsored by the Weil Lecture Fund begun here in 1914-15.

Editor Soule Defends Labor, Condemns Narrow Nationalism

Staff to Nominate

The editorial staff of the Daily Tar Heel will meet at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Graham Memorial office to make its official staff nomination for the editor of next year's paper. Attendance of all present staff members will be required.

Charges Big Business Confiscates Freedom

Weil Lecturer Advises Settlement of Class Differences by Arbitration, Co-operation.

JABS "100% AMERICANISM"

Delivering the second of the three scheduled Weil lectures in Memorial hall last night, George Soule, editor of the New Republic, invoked as his theme the words of Abraham Lincoln: "Labor is the superior of capital and deserves much the better consideration."

As he developed his topic, "Liberty as a Purpose," Soule condemned the popular fallacy in the mistrust of all things foreign. He recommended that those who advocate the policy of "one hundred per cent Americanism," such as W. R. Hearst, retire to an American Indian reservation.

Birth of Capitalism

After the middle ages, Soule declared, feudalism was replaced by capitalism. This capitalism, he alleged, advocated only the freedom of the controllers of enterprise.

As a method of reconciliation of the new class war that Soule charges capitalism with having caused, the speaker advised three steps: (1) the admission of the existence of inequality of liberty; (2) a decision by conference for the solution of these wrongs; (3) the peaceful acceptance of the terms reached by those who benefitted least.

Select Freedom

"Big business," charged the editor, "has preserved liberty for itself." There is no longer any escape for those who are not members of the governing industrial class. Soule continued by deploring the fact that a system originally designed to give freedom to the majority had depreciated by narrowing the free to a comparatively small group.

"The American liberty of 1776 was truly a liberty of purpose," Soule declared. At present, he claimed, we have the freedom of the rich in the absence of restraint which has undermined itself.

Soule closed with the words of Lincoln advocating the realization of the fruits of labor by labor itself.

VISITORS TO GIVE THREE CONCERTS

University of Michigan Orchestra Appears Tomorrow and Monday on Student Series.

Appearing under the auspices of the Student Entertainment Committee, the University of Michigan Little Symphony will give three concerts tomorrow and Monday.

The first concert will be given tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in Graham Memorial, the second Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Memorial hall, and the third Monday night at 8:30 also in Memorial hall.

Grr—Woof!

The feature work on the program for the children's concert, which is being sponsored by the music department of the Community Club, will be Camille Saint-Saens' "The Carnival of the Animals." This work is musico-satire composed of short pieces descriptive of different animals.

Adults who wish to attend the children's concert may buy tickets from members of the Community Club, Alfred Williams Store, or at the door. The admission price will be 50 cents. Children will be admitted free of charge.

Soloists who will be featured in the concerts include Miss Ruth Pfohl, head of the harp department at the University of Michigan, Raymond Kondratowicz, pianist, and Miss Vlasta Podoba, bassoonist.

Finjan Deadline Moved

Due to conflicts in the advertising, the final deadline for the Farewell issue of the Finjan has been postponed to Thursday, April 11, Editor Pat Gaskins informed the DAILY TAR HEEL yesterday in an exclusive interview.

PHI DELTS HAVE BIRTHDAY TODAY

Local Chapel Celebrates 50th Anniversary; Was Founded Here March 28, 1885.

To commemorate its first 50 years on the University campus, North Carolina Beta of Phi Delta Theta will play host to all the Phi Delts in the state at its Golden Anniversary Jubilee today.

The North Carolina chapter was founded here March 28, 1885. Two of the original charter members will attend the celebration and will be presented with Golden Legion Certificates for their 50 years of service. They are William Houston Carroll of Burlington and Thomas Ashe Marshall of Wadesboro.

Initiation First

The program will begin at 10 o'clock this morning with the formal initiation of this year's pledge group. The initiation will continue at 2 o'clock this afternoon and will be followed at 5 o'clock with a special chapter meeting for new members and the alumni.

The climax to the festivities will be the banquet at the Carolina Inn this evening. Roland B. Parker, dean of men at Darlington Prep School in Rome,

(Continued on page two)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, William Jordan, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: JIM DANIEL

Saturday, April 6, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"Martin Denies Perfectibility of Mankind." Not being pessimistic, Doctor, but that's the way we bridge players feel, too.

He also is a strong believer in the wisdom of the Greeks. When Hell Week rolls around, it's a hard thing to do.

"He (Mr. Soule) recalled a debate in Philadelphia with 'Ham' Fish in which the latter's pants kept falling down. . . ." We've always wondered why he couldn't uphold anything except the constitution.

Proposals and Activity

Yesterday's report by the Student Advisory Committee embracing adoption by the administration of several of the changes recommended by the committee came as additional evidence that its recent investigation of the service plants was critically constructive.

Furthermore, the announcement by the same committee that virtually every other recommendation (there were around 80 in all) is being seriously considered by the administration gives further evidence that the administration is doing a nice job in co-operating with the students in their efforts to get improved campus service.

The recommendations which have been accepted and utilized in actual changes should result in as much benefit to the Consolidated Service administration as to the students themselves. The economies and greater efficiencies which will be effected by the centralization of the service plant offices should prove important in a system where the budget must be carefully watched.

When the Student Advisory Committee was first organized, its purpose was to aid the business administration in its relations with the students. But since the lengthy report on the service plants, the committee's importance in so far as its function is concerned, has considerably increased and it is probable that a great portion of its recommendations will be adopted.

What is even more encouraging is that in addition to the routine changes recommended, several basic improvements are probable as a result of conditions which the committee pointed out. It seems, therefore, that a basis is being set for even more complete co-operation between the administration and the students as regards the service which affects us all.

Honest Opinion

If the DAILY TAR HEEL correctly interpreted campus reaction to Hamilton Fish's Fourth of July oration Wednesday morning, we can say, as we have said before, that the students are predominately conservative.

If they swallowed whole-heartedly what the Republican congressman had to say, we are disappointed. But the mere fact that they are "conservative," an epithet connoting a sort of die-hard Bourbonism, concerns us only in so far as it may be an unthinking conservatism. So long as it is not born of stupidity and blindness to actual facts, any opinion demands respect, whether conservative or radical. And likewise any attitude toward modern problems is undespicable—so long as it is searching and intelligent.

A New States' Rights Doctrine

Unemployment, trade regulation, public works, education, and the million and one other things with which our government now concerns itself—where does the list start and where does it end?

We notice a recent article by Dr. A. R. Newsome of Raleigh, in the January number of North Carolina Education. In this article Dr. Newsome advances a very plausible and convincing case for the cause of federal participation in the nation's education system. He shows the interrelationship of education in one state with that in another. He shows how our modern world has made education advance from a family problem to one of nation-wide significance, how it is a national obligation to guarantee to every American child, regardless of the state in which he was born, educational advantages equal to those of every other child in the country. He points out that "Today one person in every three in the United States resides in a state other than the one in which he was born. A poorly educated child in Mississippi may become a public charge in North Carolina, commit a crime in Kansas, be an inefficient workman in California, or help elect a poor judge or senator in Massachusetts. . . . No state is safe from bad citizenship in any state. Some state must pay the price of ignorance in any state. In the interest of the general welfare, educational opportunities should be more nearly equalized throughout the nation."

Dr. Newsome proposes that the national government, as the only agency capable of efficiently administering a standardized educational system, appropriate an equalization fund to be distributed to the states on the basis of need as determined by adequate studies of educational, economic, and financial conditions in the states. As a controlling and supervising agency, to determine minimum standards below which no state should be allowed to fall, to make an equitable distribution of national funds, and to see that each state is putting forth proper effort, he suggests that there be a secretary of education in the cabinet of the president.

The general attitude seems to be one of dependence on the central federal government for aid and supervision. The old doctrine of the rights of states to act for themselves and determine their own policies without the interference of the national government has taken a back seat for a new doctrine of states' rights. This new doctrine looks upon the rights of states as rights to equal opportunities for sharing federal aid, for being on a footing in education, industrial development, agricultural development, etc., equal to other states—a doctrine which can be put into practice effectively only by governmental regulation and supervision.

Careless Covering

Visitors to Kenan stadium during the past few months have wondered why the officials of the Athletic Association have been so thoughtless or imprudent as to leave the huge tarpaulin coverings for the football turf to remain exposed to the mercies of the elements.

We remember the pride with which this covering was purchased and the excellent treatment accorded to the expensive rolls at the end of the first year's service when they were carefully stored in the field house. These tarpaulins may be guaranteed to be weatherproof but why take needless risks of proving the guarantee wrong? Protect our covering!

Raucous Representatives

A few weeks ago a member from Wake county in the state House of Representatives created a commotion when he contested another representative's opinion on a very trivial subject and tried to start a fist fight over the issue. This incident shows us just how incapable some of the representatives to our state legislature actually are of fulfilling the duties of their positions. But yet we do nothing about it, perhaps largely because we can find no better men to take the jobs. The same applies to the management of our local and county governments, our state prisons, and all of our so-called political jobs. We know that there is something wrong, but we do not know exactly what it is. Perhaps it is our crooked politics, or our own lack of interest in electing the right man for the right office. But no matter what the difficulty is, it will be the duty of us college students to find out some day what it is and do away with the wrongs in our state.

The time is never too late to begin forming opinions upon these matters. A college education will do much, if taken in the right spirit, to shape these opinions in a positive way. But if the student will find time to make a trip to Raleigh someday, he will see for himself the negative way of running a government. If he will only, while there, try to refrain from going into hysterics over the absurdity of the way the business is carried on there and will look at it in a serious, though disgusted, sort of way, he will learn, better than he would from any college education, the things to avoid in carrying on the business of a government.

Looking Backward

One and Five Years Ago Today in the Files of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

April 6, 1930

Is there no limit to co-ed audacity? A number of them write letters to Harvard men asking for seals and stickers, promising—"come up and see us sometime" . . . Larry Flynn sustains internal injuries and another student concussion of the brain in an automobile accident on the Raleigh road . . . The first shovelful of earth is turned for construction of the "new" music building.

April 6, 1934

Freshmen protest against compulsory gym. One complains he is so muscle-bound he can't sleep at night . . . Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable in "It Happened One Night" are playing at the Carolina . . . Gypsy Smith, evangelist of the Billy Sunday ilk, is holding services in the Banner Warehouse in Durham.

WITH THE CHURCHES

Presbyterian

10 a. m.—Student class taught by Rev. Watt Cooper. Topic: "The Bible in a Scientific World."

11 a. m.—Morning worship, sermon by Rev. Donald H. Stewart. Topic: "The Church in the Modern World."

7 p. m.—Led by students. Topic: "Review of Human Relations Institute."

Methodist

9:45 a. m.—Sunday school.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon, Bishop Paul B. Kearn. Topic: "Dedication of the Church."

7 p. m.—Student Forum, led by John Easter. Topic: "Science and Religion."

Baptist

10 a. m.—Student class taught by M. J. Hagood.

10 a. m.—Co-ed class taught by Mrs. E. T. Howell.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon, Dr. O. T. Binkley. Topic: "Thinking on Christian Ideals."

7 p. m.—B. Y. P. U. for college students.

7 p. m.—Young People's Society for high school students.

Lutheran

10:15 a. m.—Sunday school discussion group led by Eugene Bricklemyer.

11 a. m.—Service, Rev. Roscoe B. Fisher. Topic: "The Lenton Season."

United

10 a. m.—Student Bible class. Topic: "Economic Democracy from a Christian Point of View."

11 a. m.—Sermon, Dr. McKee. Topic: "Learning from Jesus How to Deal with Intrenched Evil."

7 p. m.—Student Forum. Topic: "Impressions from Human Relations Institute.

Episcopal

10 a. m.—Bible class.

11 a. m.—Worship and sermon, Rev. A. S. Lawrence.

8 p. m.—Prayers and organ recital.

Catholic

8:30 a. m.—Mass, Rev. F. J. Morrissey, chaplain.

Groves Tours, Speaks

Ernest R. Groves, professor of sociology, spoke Wednesday at the annual meeting of the Louisville Family Service Organization. The following day he lectured in Cincinnati at the annual meeting of the National Family Welfare Society.

Mathews

(Continued from page one)

none.

Japan: "Hands Off"

Out of this enlightened situation, Mathews pointed out, came the current doctrine preached by Japanese imperialists, "Asia for Asiatics." Mathews painted a vivid picture of the modernization of business, industry, and education. The Japanese appropriated from out economic life the machine, he stated, and used it to an even greater efficiency. These efficiencies of Asia, he declared, are cutting under our own.

Mathews indicated that Japan cannot find an outlet for her excess population except through industrialization. Her colonization, he held, has never been enormously successful. Her need for land is not to supply a place for colonization, but to supply herself with natural resources. Thus has the possibility of contact between east and west been made greater by the fact that the east is moving west while the west moves east.

Norman Thomas

(Continued from page one)

ca would adopt as dictatorial, crushing and beguiling toward the mass of our people.

Citing the outrageous conditions in America the Socialist leader said that he did not know a country in the world in such bad condition. "America has the raw materials for Fascist dictatorship," he said.

"We cannot drift as we are, nor can we go back to the old days of Calvin Coolidge," he indicated, "but we must choose between an organized community government which shall conquer poverty for ourselves and our weaker brothers, and this dictatorial Fascism."

According to Thomas this Fascism includes four principal points: it is primarily for the little owner and middle-man, it is based solely on the doctrine of totalitarianism, intoxicates its people with nationalism and advocates dictatorship as the normal form of government.

Phi Delt Birthday

(Continued from page one)

Ga., and scholarship commissioner for the national fraternity, will act as toastmaster.

The list of speakers for the occasion will include Dr. Frank Graham; Rufus Grady Rankin of Charlotte; Judge E. Earle Rives of Greensboro; Fred J. Coxe of Wadesboro; Joseph Clark of Atlanta, general council reporter for the national fraternity; Robert C. Page, Jr., of Charlotte, president of the local chapter; Frank J. R. Mitchell of New York, national alumni commissioner, and Harld D. Cooley of Nashville, a member of the U. S. House of Representatives.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT HAS NEW COLLEGE MUSIC SET

The music department has received a college music set consisting of selected records, scores, and books, and an excellent phonograph from the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

At a date to be announced a varied program of phonograph records will be given in Hill Music hall, offering every form of music from that typifying old Roman church spirituals to modern American composition.

French Reading Exam

The reading knowledge of French examination for candidates for higher degrees will be held this morning at 9:30 o'clock in 314 Murphey, according to an announcement made yesterday.

Students who have not registered to take the examination must file their names at the graduate office at once.

SPEAKING the CAMPUS MIND

Bad Yegg

Editor, the DAILY TAR HEEL:

If the yellow yokel that hit me in the back with an egg Friday morning will make himself known, I would like to tell him what I think of egg-throwers (especially those who sneak up from behind and after making the throw hide themselves in a crowd).

"RED" MONTGOMERY.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:00: George Hall orch., WABC, WBT, WBIG.

1:30: Phil Harris orch., WLW.

3:00: Emery Deutsch orch., WABC, WBIG, WBT, WHAS.

4:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

5:00: Eddy Duchin orch., WLW, WPTF, WSB.

6:00: Tom Coakley orch., WPTF.

7:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

8:30: Art Jarrett orch., WPTF; Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

9:00: Richard Bonelli, tenor, Andre Kostelanetz orch., WABC, WBT, WBIG; Ray Noble orch., WPTF, WSB.

9:30: Richard Himber orch., WABC, WBT, WHAS.

10:30: "Let's Dance," three-hour dance program, Kel Murray Xaviar Cugat, Benny Goodman orchs., WLW, WSB.

11:00: Glen Gray orch., WABC, WBT; Ted Weems orch., WGN.

11:15: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

11:45: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

12:45: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

2:15: Kay Kyser orch., WGN. (If you want to stay up that late).

Infirmary

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Robert Van Sleen, Charles Abernethy, R. D. Weatherford, W. H. Anderson, John Schultz, Eleanor Lockhart, Jean McKay, Charles Daniels, and James Idol.

FOR RENT

Room for rent: A nice large, comfortable, furnished room, adjoining bath, large closet, steam heat, two blocks from campus, No. 12 Cobb Terrace.

CAROLINA
NOW PLAYING WALLACE BEERY
in
"West Point of The Air"
—Also—
Comedy—Novelty

Week-End Specials

•

One group of men's Linen Suits carried over from last season. Former values to 17.50—reduced for quick clearance to 10.00

•

Linen Double Breasted
SPORT COATS
5.00

•

The Young Men's Shop
126-128 E. Main St.
DURHAM

Carolina Baseball Team Drops Opener To 'Cats In 11-Inning Battle, 4-3

Davidson Ties Score With Tally in Ninth

Crouch and Harris Hookup in Fine Pitchers' Battle; Morgan Leads Wildcat Offense.

RAND IS TAR HEEL STAR

(Special to the DAILY TAR HEEL)

Davidson, April 5.—After Carolina had held a lead for the first eight innings, Davidson rallied in the ninth and then scored again in the eleventh finally to defeat the Tar Heels, 4-3, in a real pitchers' battle. It was the opening game of the 1935 season for the losers.

Fred Crouch of the visitors and Charlie Harris of the Wildcats both pitched excellent ball despite the cool weather. A dark sky assisted both hurlers in concealing the ball, Harris fanning 11 and Crouch 9.

5 and 6 Hits

The winning twirler allowed only five hits while the Tar Heel gave up six. However, Harris allowed the majority of the Carolina blows during the early innings of the tilt while Crouch gave up four hits after the eighth inning.

Going into the last of the ninth frame with the score 3-2 against the home team, Morgan, veteran left fielder of Davidson, singled and came home after two men were out on a double by Burns, first baseman.

Morgan Again

Morgan again started the run-making in the eleventh with his third single of the afternoon. He scored the winning marker on another double, this time by Dickson, rightfielder.

The Tar Heels did all their run-making in the first inning on hits by Trip Rand, Tommy Irwin, and Buck McCarn.

Davidson got its other two runs in the fourth with Morgan and Burns again leading the way, the former with a bingle and the latter with his second double.

Same Morgan

It was Big Jim Morgan's bat that kept Crouch in trouble all afternoon. Morgan started all three scoring rallies with his singles, half of the team's hits, and crossed the plate three times.

Rogers in centerfield made four fine catches of long Tar Heel blows while Bumgarner at second base turned in a perfect day with his seven assists.

Trip Rand, second baseman, was the leading player for Carolina both at bat and afield. Three of the five Carolina knocks came off his bat, while on defense he made two assists and the same number of putouts out of as many tries. Captain Vick in centerfield brought down three flies while Tommy Irwin, shortstop, made the only extra base blow for the losers, a double.

Still 23 More

CAROLINA	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Vick, cf	5	0	0	3	0	0
Rand, 2b	5	1	3	2	2	0
Irwin, ss	4	1	1	2	3	2
McIver, lf	5	0	0	1	0	1
Tatum, c	4	1	0	9	0	0
McCarn, 1b	4	0	1	10	0	0
Shapiro, rf	5	0	0	2	0	0
Bullard, 3b	4	0	0	2	1	0
Crouch, p	4	0	0	0	3	0
Totals	40	3	5	32*	9	3

*Two outs when winning run scored.

DAVIDSON	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Wingfield, ss	1	0	0	0	1	0
Lofton, ss	3	0	0	0	2	0
Rogers, cf	4	0	0	4	0	1
Mackorell, 3b	5	0	0	0	2	1
Morgan, lf	5	3	3	2	0	0
Bumgarner, 2b	4	1	0	0	7	0
Dickson, rf	4	0	1	1	0	0
Burns, 1b	3	0	2	14	0	0
Ravenel, c	3	0	0	12	0	0
Harris, p	4	0	0	0	3	0
xJenkins	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	37	4	6	33	15	2

xBatted for Rogers in tenth.

Doubles: Rand, Irwin, Burns (2), Dickson. Strikeouts: Crouch, 9; Harris, 11. Walks: Crouch, 5; Harris, 3. Earned runs: Carolina, 3; Davidson, 4.

Score by innings:

Carolina	300	000	000	00—3
Davidson	000	200	001	01—4

Time of game: 1:53.

NINE PLAYS CATS IN SECOND TODAY

Irby Wright or Latcher Webster Will Twirl for Tar Heels; Jenkins for Davidson.

Carolina's baseball team will have a chance at revenge when it meets Davidson in the second tilt of a two-game series this afternoon.

In losing yesterday's 11-frame heart-breaker, Coach Hearn's boys got off on the wrong foot but with a real club the Tar Heels should swing into the right stride this afternoon.

Except for Trip Rand, whose well-hit little bingles have been featuring the practice sessions all spring, the Carolina batters have not been hitting up to the standard that carried them through last year's great record.

Irby Wright or Latcher Webster will take the mound for the Tar Heels this afternoon in an effort to even the series. Jenkins will probably work in the box for the Wildcats.

Carolina will use the same line-up except for possible shifts at third base and leftfield.

N. Y. Magazine Carries Article by Pierson

Graduate School Head Writes Criticism of Education.

An attempt to show what, if anything, may be wrong with education is found in an article by Dean W. W. Pierson of the graduate school of the University in School and Society, a leading educational journal published weekly in New York.

Dean Pierson points out that education has suffered terrific blows during this depression, while other depressions have served as stimuli.

Dean Pierson says that "the specious conflict between business and education has been imagined." He adds that "the interests of the two are not inimical, and that the conflict, promoted by the enemies of both might be fatal to each."

The third trouble, he says, is that "the teachers are without effective organization, when organization and collective bargaining are the accepted ways and means of common action."

MASS MEET WITH DUKE

Entries for the mass meet with Duke are to be posted on the bulletin board in front of the clay courts. The list is growing! Get your name down and have a corking time in actually competing against our natural rivals, the Blue Devils.

TRACK ADMISSION

All students must have athletic passbooks to get in the track meet this afternoon. Others will be admitted for 50 cents. The meet will start at 8 o'clock with several field events.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

FROSH NETSTERS OPEN WITH WIN OVER BLUE IMPS

Tar Babies Get Easy 6-3 Victory; First Five Singles Men Count Points.

PLAY STATE HERE TODAY

The frosh tennis season was opened yesterday afternoon on the newly constructed clay courts, and, although Duke was only set back by a 6-3 score, it was a decisive win.

The nucleus of the team, the first five men, all scored easy victories in straight sets. It was only Ray Bartelman in the sixth singles and two substitute doubles combinations that dropped points for Carolina.

Ramsay Potts and Eddy Fuller, alternate first singles men, rode roughshod over the Blue Imps' main hopes, Bob Doyle and Ted Collins. Potts had no trouble whatsoever with Boyle. The Blue Imp displayed a clean cut offensive style, but could make no headway against the junior champion of the south.

Collins Tumbles

Fuller ran into Collins at his best. However, Fuller was too clever and experienced for the Duke yearling and scored at 6-0, 6-2. It was not as decisive a win as the scores seem to indicate.

Robinson, Foreman, and Farrell were the other Tar Baby winners in the singles. Yeomans-Bloom won at doubles.

The scores follow:

Potts (C) over Doyle, 6-0, 6-1.
Fuller (C) over Collins, 6-0, 6-2.
Robinson (C) over Nutter, 6-2, 6-0.
Foreman (C) over Nixon, 6-1, 6-4.
Farrell (C) over Beals, 6-0, 6-4.
Smith (D) over Bartelman, 6-3, 6-2.
Doyle-Collins (D) over Strasburger-Coxeter, 6-4, 6-2.
Nutter-Nixon (D) over Fast-Ruth, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3.
Yeomans-Bloom (C) over Beals-Smith, 5-7, 6-2, 6-1.

FROSH REGULARS SLUG TO DEFEAT SCRUB TEAM, 11-3

Hitting Features Day's Play as Burnette and Shore Slug; Humphries Stars.

FIELDING FAILS TO IMPRESS

The regulars gave the yannigans their soundest beating to date yesterday, trouncing them 11-3. Letting loose with a barrage of hits in the final innings of the encounter, the regulars were unstoppable.

Willard and Humphries started the contest and each held their respective opponents well in check while they were on the mound. Willard complained of a sore arm and was forced to leave the game at the close of the third inning.

Humphries took up the mound duties of both outfits, and gave a creditable showing while a fresh pair of hurlers were warming up on the sidelines. Weakening in his last inning on the mound, he was touched for a few harmless bingles, but no runs were scored against him.

Hits Begin

The new moundsmen found the going much tougher as the regulars and yannigans began to hit the ball. Bill Shores slammed the ball on a line deep into left field for a triple to start the proceedings and from then on the hits came thick and fast.

Undaunted by the consistent slugging of the regulars, the second team staged a batting spree of its own, scoring three runs in the next to final stanza before the first outfit was able to stem the tide.

Although the contest marked the reawakening of the batsmen, it resulted in some loose fielding on both sides, with the yannigans most responsible.

Net Team Faces Davidson; Golfers Meet State Today

UNBEATEN RECORD WILL BE DEFENDED ON RALEIGH LINKS

Laxton and Harris Meet Newnam and Bartlien Again.

The unbeaten Tar Heel golf team will have its first real test this afternoon when it meets the Red Terrors of State College on the links in Raleigh.

The team goes to the capital city with a remarkable record of three very decisive victories in the same number of starts. This afternoon's match will be the first one played on a visiting course, and the result is sure to determine whether the reason for the excellent showing thus far has been due to the fact that the team was well acquainted with the home course.

Compares Scores

In comparing records of today's opponents the possibility of a victory for the Carolina team is quite probable.

The capital city club beat Hampton-Sydney on the Raleigh links by a much closer score than the decisive victory the Tar Heels scored over the same team two days later on the Hope Valley course.

Acting Captain Erwin Laxton will likely be the first to begin the meet when he plays State's medalist, Newnam. The second event of the afternoon will bring Dick Harris against State's number two man, Bartlien.

Walter Pijanowski will meet Dusty in the third singles match. The fourth position has not yet been announced, but chief prospects to meet Pastore are Hamilton, Bridgers, Coffin, and Crawford.

LEVITAN AND SIX MATES MAKE TRIP TO WILDCAT LAIR

Fourth Match of Season to Be Played at 3:30.

The varsity tennis team departs early this afternoon for Davidson College to partake in its fourth dual meet of the year. The Carolina netters are again big favorites to win.

Davidson has shown little promise and will probably not offer severe competition to the strong Tar Heel team. Coach Kenfield is taking seven players for the match, which will start at 3 o'clock.

Usual Lineup

Walter Levitan, captain, who has taken two out of his three matches this year, will open the activities at number one. The usual lineup will represent the Carolina team, but there is some doubt as to whether Harvey Harris and Frank Shore will accompany the team.

Ricky Willis, Eddy De Gray, Ike Minor, Larry Jones, and Byron Abels are the other probable members of the team to leave for Davidson.

The other two matches on the varsity calendar for the coming week are Wake Forest on Wednesday and Duke on Thursday. Neither opponent will be a threat to the Tar Heel team as Wake Forest has already been beaten 9-0, and Duke has lost four regulars from last year's team.

The destination that all the players have in view is the Pinehurst North-South open tourney, April 15 and 16, which draws the elite of the tennis world to this famous resort.

Tar Heel Track Outfit Opens Year Here Today Against W. & M. Team

NET CHORDS

By LEN RUBIN

It is all over. Like a gust of wind (and a very frigid one if you recall), the Tilden troupe whirled into town Thursday evening and out, with but dazed recollections of the exhibition alive in Chapel Hill today.

As a correspondent, I have the following observations strewn about in front of me; all gathered at the exhibition with the aid of the traditional pad and paper:

the masters disappointed, horribly so, and the large crowd filed home with a prevailing feeling that some major expectation had been lacking . . . . Tilden was listless and never once approached the peak that the name "Big Bill" implies . . . however, let it be known that he played with a torn ligament in his right hand, and later in the dressing room offered his left hand to well-wishers, while extending the old-fashioned hand shake; his hand pained so . . . .

Vines was majestic and his overhead magnificent . . . . however, even Elly loitered and only served his world-famous ace on rare occasions . . . . in comparison, Lott's overhead game was over his head . . . . as the world's greatest doubles player George ranked fourth to the other three in the doubles match . . . . he was impressive towards the close of the evening, though.

Nusslein pleased . . . . his playing was revealing of an almost flawless style that placed him next to Vines in all around play . . . . his constant ejaculations were thoroughly enjoyed by the gathering, possibly because they were not understood.

comedy was very aptly supplied by the ball boys, with the co-operation of one Mr. Tilden . . . . their very consistency in arousing Bill's ire was in itself amusing . . . it did not seem capitalistic or such to watch the flittering ball boys pursue balls that were rolling a mere two feet from the erect players . . . .?

fantastic stories of the troupe equipment approaching six tons were immediately dispersed with

(Continued from page three)

Even Encounter on Emerson Starts at 2

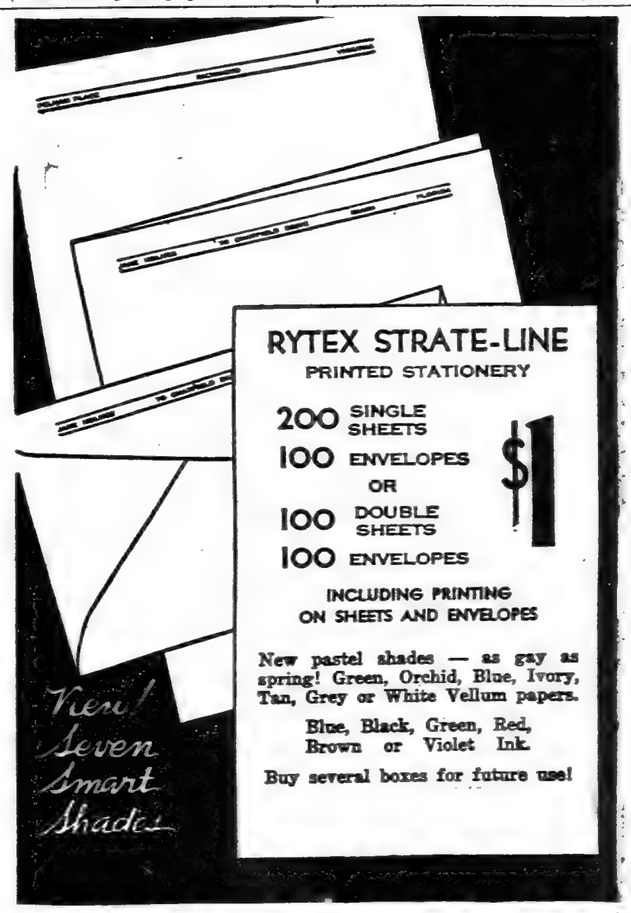
Little and Degutis Will Head Confident Williamsburg Club; Broad Jump to Be First.

HUBBARD MAY BE OUT

The curtain will rise on the 1935 outdoor track season here this afternoon at Emerson stadium where the William and Mary team will be the guests of Carolina for their annual clash. The program is slated to start at 2:00 o'clock, with the broad jump as the opening event.

Coach Joseph "Scrap" Chandler brought in his squad from Williamsburg about supper time last evening, and from all indications the group seems to be in fine shape.

The versatile "Monk" Little, nonchalantly fondling a Phi Beta key and acting as spokesman for the group, assured the DAILY TAR HEEL that the visitors would be "right in there." With many of the 1934 W. & M. veterans back and some good sophomore talent added to the line-up, this does not seem the least bit unlikely.



Broad Jump First

The major portion of the crowd is almost certain to be present right at the start as the broad jump event heads off the meet. As was previously mentioned, the Emerson stadium record of 24 feet, 3-4 inches is in serious danger of being wiped from the books. This present mark is held b yEd Hamm, but Little is expected by many to send it to the winds.

Up to a late hour last night it was uncertain as to whether Co-captain Charlie Hubbard would be able to compete. If he does, he is certain to give Little keen competition in both the broad jump and 100-yard dash events. However, this uncertainty leaves undecided the slate for Harry Williamson, whose two events for the day will be picked from the 440, 880, and the mile.

The quarter mile event is certain to produce a spectacular battle with Carolina's conference champ, "Red" Drake, and the fleety Platt Bullard supplying the fireworks. Bullard will also compete in the 880, where some more stiff opposition awaits him in the person of Williamson, Gardiner, and Gold-

(Continued on last page)

Alfred Williams & Co., Inc.

MRS. U. T. HOLMES TO GIVE READING

"Children's Hour" Is Selection For Playmakers' Program Tomorrow Night.

Mrs. Urban T. Holmes will conduct the monthly Sunday evening play reading tomorrow night in the Playmakers theatre, according to an announcement made by Professor Frederick H. Koch yesterday.

Reading Lillian Hellman's "Children's Hour," Mrs. Holmes will repeat her reading that she gave at the Bull's Head Bookshop last quarter.

Miss Hellman's play has been a sensation on Broadway where it is one of the most successful current dramas.

Has Appeared Before

Experienced reader, Mrs. Holmes has read "Cyrano" with Dr. Urban Holmes, her husband, and "Allison's House" in the Playmaker theatre on previous occasions.

Tomorrow night's reading will be the sixth for the current school year. Professor Koch, reading "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Christmas Carol;" Paul Green, reading "Roll Sweet Chariot;" Professor Samuel Selden, reading "Within the Gates," and Professor Harry Davis, reading "Moon in the Yellow River," have been the other Sunday night performers.

The public is invited, according to the Koch announcement.

Track

(Continued from page three)

man. Rosser and Kenney will also run in the quarter for Carolina.

W. & M. has only one man, Plummer, slated for the two-mile run, and he too will be in fast company if Ed Waldrop, Lou Conte, and Marvin Allen run true to form. The one-mile race will find Detrich and Elliott pitted against Gammon, Gabori, and Haywood or Williamson.

Field Events

The field events should attract considerable attention as Degutis, a brilliant freshman performer last year, is entered as the William and Mary lead man. He will be placed in the high jump, shot, and discus tests, as well as the hurdle races, and according to Coach Chandler is being prepped for the 1936 Penn relay decathalon.

Evins will be Carolina's hope in the discus and shot events and will be accompanied by Barwick and Van Horne in the former, and Wrenn, Ray, and Reid in the latter. Jackson, Bear, and Skinner will face Flickinger of the visitors in the pole vault.

Little's Events

Little should lead the entrants in the javelin throw, and will be aided by Lesner and Christian for the W. & M. cause, while Armfield will head Carolina. "Monk" will also be entered in the 220-yard dash if he is successful in coming through the century in good shape.

The Tar Heels will be well fortified in the hurdle events with Co-captain Tom Hawthorne and Frank Abernathy as the representatives. Smeltzer and Degutis will furnish the opposition in the 120-yard highs, and Krank will team with the former in the 220-yard lows. Carolina's sprinters will be picked from Higby, Farmer, Connell, Gunter, and possibly Hubbard.

Athletic Passbooks

Passbooks for spring quarter athletics are now being given out in the Athletic Association office at 209 Graham Memorial. Students are required to bring their blue registration sheets with them in order to procure the books.

Magazine to Nominate

All persons who have contributed one article, two poems or two book reviews, and those who are members of the regular staff of the Carolina Magazine will meet Sunday night at 7 o'clock in the magazine's office to choose the staff nominee for the next term of editorship.

Net Chords

(Continued on last page)

upon view of court . . . . investigation discovered that sum total, including net and Bill O'Brien, barely exceeded two tons . . . . also estimate of yours truly as to 2500 attendance disregarded after gate receipts stated attendance ranged in whereabouts of 1200 . . . .

attitude of players can be considered when one realizes that this is approximately their seventieth showing since late January . . . . was also their eleventh consecutive showing in south . . . . last night found them in Charlottesville, Va., performing their antics for the Cavaliers . . . .

student ballot was dreadfully misleading . . . . expert authority insists that Tilden versus Lott and Vines against Nusslein is much greater exhibition . . . . Nusslein has been a constant menace to Vines and defeated him in Raleigh and Columbia, S. C., immediately before the Carolina match.

all boys play table tennis . . . . Vines being president of California Association and Nusslein holding same title or other . . . . doubles match was entertaining factor . . . . culmination of Lott's sulky attitude came with his driving ball at spectator's head, who disturbed him . . . . and that never-to-be forgotten ill-timed surge of crowd for unprotected balls, that halted play for fifteen minutes . . . .

and away they go . . . . to more conquests and defeats . . . . large crowds and vacant seats . . . . it is a circus; a grand affair, and their next appearance at Chapel Hill will probably draw another overflowing crowd.

DURHAM CLUB SPONSORS DANCE THURSDAY NIGHT

Don Bestor will play for a dance in Roycroft's Warehouse, Durham, next Thursday under the sponsorship of the Embassy Club of that city, which is made up of University alumni.

The affair will commence at 9 p. m. An admission fee of $2.00 per couple will be charged.

President of the Embassy Club is Egbert Haywood, a former student at Carolina.

SEND THE DAILY TAR HEEL HOME

WRITERS MEETING PLANS ANNOUNCED

Extension Bulletin Presents Purposes of Blue Ridge Conference Set for August.

Plans and purposes for the Southern Writers Conference to be held at Blue Ridge, N. C., August 5-17 are announced in the current issue of the University of North Carolina Extension Bulletin, which has just been released.

The conference will be held under the direction of Professor Phillips Russell, teacher of creative writing in the University. Russell M. Grumman, director of the University extension division, is acting as secretary.

The extension division has arranged the mountain conference as a means of fostering the marked increase in writing which has appeared throughout the country and especially in the southern states during recent years. The chief aim is to provide an opportunity for competent writers, professional and amateur, to meet and discuss questions of common interest.

No Formal Instruction

The conference is not to be regarded as a school or institute, according to the Bulletin. Formal instruction and organized courses and credits are not contemplated. The conference will of necessity be informal, and will provide a directed system of forums rather than classes.

Some of the purposes outlined in the Bulletin are: "to provide an attractive holiday meeting place for professional and amateur writers; to encourage writing of good form and adequate content; to indicate present trends and establish a connection between contemporary literature and that of the past; to suggest criteria for judging manuscripts, and to provide professional discussions between writers, editors, booksellers, publishers and other interested persons."

Recent developments in politics, economics, and social life and their bearing on literature will be considered. The position and functions of the present-day writer will be discussed, and the usefulness of local clubs and circles for writers will be evaluated. An attempt will be made to discourage the idea that literary composition should be undertaken without study, practice, discipline, and without the serving of a reasonable apprenticeship.

ATTEND THE INSTITUTE

Twain's Work Exhibited

Now showing in the library cases are books by and about Mark Twain. The display marks the celebration of the centennial of the birth of the noted author. In addition to the rare Mark Twain editions many pictures of the celebrated author are on display. The cases also include books written in foreign languages, illustrating the world-wide fame of the author of Tom Sawyer and Huckelberry Finn.

A. I. E. E. Elects

At the regular meeting of the A. I. E. E., the following officers were elected to serve for next year: E. E. Eustler, chairman; T. D. Gordy, vice-chairman; R. L. Henson, secretary, and D. B. Field, Jr., treasurer.

Special Value in
McGREGOR
Light weight all-wool Slipover Sweaters
2.95
The Young Men's Shop
126-128 E. Main St.
DURHAM

MODEL MARKET AND GROCERY
Where Service Is a Saving
PHONES 7041—7051 PROMPT DELIVERY SERVICE

—so far as we know tobacco was first used about 400 years ago

—throughout the years what one thing has given so much pleasure..so much satisfaction

It was a matter of pride with a host in Colonial days that his guests should smoke tobacco grown on his own plantation.

Today the Governor of North Carolina says to the Governor of South Carolina—

"Have a cigarette"

TODAY people all over the world use tobacco in one form or another.

They chew it, they smoke it in pipes, they smoke cigars and cigarettes, and here is what an eminent physician said about cigarettes:

"I have been something of a student of cigarettes, and it is my belief that they offer the mildest and purest form in which tobacco is used."

Yes, nowadays the cigarette is the most popular form in which tobacco is used. A good cigarette certainly gives men and women a lot of pleasure.

Have a Chesterfield—

For one thing—they're milder.

For another thing—they taste better.

© 1935, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

PLAYMAKER READING
8:30 P. M.
PLAYMAKERS THEATRE

The Daily Tar Heel

THOR JOHNSON
4 P. M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, APRIL 7, 1935 | NUMBER 138

Race For Presidential Offices May Be Most Heated In Years

Students Will Vote At Polls Wednesday

Nominations to Be Made in Memorial Hall Tomorrow Morning at 10:30 O'clock.

EDITORSHIPS PREDICTABLE

Political talk is running rampant over the campus in anticipation of Election Day next Thursday when the students will vote to decide what looks to be one of the hottest presidential contests in many years.

All nominations are to be held tomorrow. Nominations for campus offices will be made in Memorial hall at 10:30. Nominations for the various class offices will be Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Class Nominations

Rising seniors will meet in Gerrard hall. Rising juniors will meet in the Phi hall on the fourth floor of New East. Rising sophomores will convene in the Di hall on the third floor of New West.

The election will take place Thursday. The polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

It is generally known that the two contenders for the chief position of president of the student body are Jack Pool and "Snooks" Aitken. Political prognosticators are weighing carefully the strength of the two. Pool is at present given an edge, being best known for his activities as senior class president in estab-

(Continued on page two)

Tar Heel Nomination

The editorial staff of the Daily Tar Heel will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Graham Memorial office to make its official staff nomination for the editor of next year's paper. Attendance of all present staff members will be required.

Magazine Meeting

All persons who have contributed one article, two poems or two book reviews, and those who are members of the regular staff of the Carolina Magazine will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the magazine's office to choose the staff nominee for the next term of editorship.

Yackety Yack Staff

There will be a meeting of the entire editorial staff of the Yackety Yack at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the publication office to select the official staff nominee for the next editor of the Yackety Yack.

Leads Symphony

Thor Johnson, former University of North Carolina student, who will conduct the University of Michigan Little Symphony appearing here in concerts today and tomorrow.

SYMPHONY GIVES OPENING CONCERT OF SERIES TODAY

Michigan Orchestra to Appear in First of Three Performances at 4 O'clock.

THOR JOHNSON CONDUCTS

Thor Johnson, conductor of the University of Michigan Little Symphony, will present the first of three concerts this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the lobby of Graham Memorial. This concert will be free and open to the public.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock Johnson will present a concert, sponsored by the music department of the Community Club, for the Children of the Chapel Hill, Carrboro, and White Cross schools.

On Entertainment Series

The Monday night performance, being given under the auspices of the Student Entertainment Committee, will begin at 8:30 in Memorial hall.

Special attractions on the program will be Miss Ruth Pfohl, head of the harp department at the University of Michigan, Raymond Kondratowicz, pianist, and Miss Vlasta Podoba, bassoonist, who will be featured as soloists.

The program for Monday night's concert is as follows: Mozart's overture to the opera, "The Marriage of Figaro," Saint-Saens' concert in A minor for violoncello and orchestra, Smetana's "Dance of the Comedians" from "The Bartered Bride," Debussy's "The Girl with the Flaxen Hair," Moussorgsky's "Ballet of the Unhatched Chickens," from "Pictures at an Exhibition," Ravel's "Introduction and Allegro for harp and orchestra," and Strauss's overture to the operetta, "Die Fledermaus."

ENGINEER READY FOR DISTRIBUTION

Dr. Zimmermann Writes Lead Article for Publication Appearing Tomorrow.

Kenan Professor of Economics Erich W. Zimmermann's article on "The Value of Economics to the Engineer," leads off the new issue of Editor Walter King's Carolina Engineer which will appear on the campus tomorrow.

The current issue of the quarterly magazine includes articles on "Bromine from the Ocean," by Jack Crutchfield; "Engineering Laboratories on Student-Faculty Day," by Luther Britt.

Student Articles

"Emergency Relief Projects on the University Campus," by Wendell Dunbar, and "Life Infinitesimal," by Wilbur Kochtitzky, and other articles. Acting-Dean William J. Miller's "The Dean's Page," and the other regular departments complete the new issue.

According to Circulation Manager James A. Westbrook, the new Engineer will be distributed from the door at Phillips hall to-

(Continued on page two)

THEY DID A GOOD JOB

Harry F. Comer, left, executive secretary of the Human Relations Institute, and Charles A. Poe, Jr., chairman of the student-faculty committee on arrangements. They say that they have received many requests that the Institute be made an annual event.

READING TONIGHT BY MRS. HOLMES

Lillian Hellman's "The Children's Hour" to Be Read in Playmakers Theatre at 8:30.

"The Children's Hour," Lillian Hellman's drama of the doom that overtakes two young headmistresses after one of their pupils tells a slanderous story about them will be read tonight by Mrs. Urban T. Holmes in the Playmakers theatre at 8:30 o'clock.

"The Children's Hour" has been one of the outstanding current Broadway successes.

The reader for the occasion, according to Professor Frederick H. Koch, director of the Carolina Playmakers, is "one of the most talented artists we have here."

Experienced Reader

An experienced reader, Mrs. Holmes has appeared several times on Playmakers reading series and at the Bull's Head Bookshop in the Y. M. C. A.

Miss Hellman's play opened November 20 and is still playing to full houses. It deals with a balked schoolgirl, a half-imagined suspicion, a whispered word of spite. Eugenia Rawls, a former Playmaker, who played Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," takes the role of one of the schoolgirls in the New York production.

Six other readings have been presented on the Sunday evening series of the Playmakers: Professor Koch's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Christmas Carol," Playwright Paul Green's "Roll Sweet Chariot," Professor Samuel Selden's "Within the Gates," Professor Harry Davis' "Moon in the Yellow River."

Monogram Club Photo

There will be a picture taken of the Monogram Club at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, on the steps of the law building for the Yackety-Yack, it was announced yesterday. All members must be present, wearing monogram sweaters.

In the case of those members who were awarded monograms for the past winter's sports, but who have not received sweaters, they can be borrowed from the older members of the club. This can be arranged by President Gardner.

Assembly to Continue

The freshman assembly, which has been postponed during the past week because of the Human Relations Institute, will convene as usual tomorrow.

CASTS FOR NEXT ORIGINALS NAMED

Selden Will Supervise Next Public Production of Student Dramas, April 25-27.

Tentative casts for the coming public production of original plays, set for April 25, 26, 27, have been announced by Professor Samuel Selden of the Playmakers who will have general supervision over the new bill.

The plays will be directed by students of the drama taking the University's course in play directing. The dramas were selected from those written in Professor Frederick H. Koch's playwriting courses.

Free Show Too

Of the 11 plays being prepared only a limited number will be presented on the public bill. The remainder will be produced free of charge the following Monday evening.

Casts and directors are as follows: for "Clam Digger," directed by Jean Ashe: Joe Brown, Eloise Sheppard, Mildred Moore; for "Ca'line," directed by Kenneth Bartlett: Juanita Greene, Julia Peebles, Bob Barrett, Burr Leach, Katherine Threlkeld, R. P. Garland, and Charles Woodbury.

For "Pretty Plump Angel," directed by Sammie Ruth Bell: Sara Seawell, Fowler Spencer, Mildred Howard, Lawrence Cheek; for "New Anarchy, directed by Jane Cover: Ralph Burgin, W. M. Fletcher, Don Pope, Paul McKee, Prior McFadden, Dave Richardson, and Blalock.

Further Casts:

For "Goldie," directed by Ralph Lyerly: Louise McGuire, Burr Leach, Dave Lewis, Wilbur Dorsett and Robert du Four; for "Metropolitan Feodor," directed by Frances McGraw: Philip Parker, Bob Nachtmann, Alan Waters, Hester Barlow, Paul McKee, and Bob du Four.

For "Hunger," directed by Patsy McMullan: Ralph Burgin, Carl Thompson, Phillips Russell, Eloise Sheppard, Dan Hamilton; for "New Nigger," directed by Eloise Sheppard: John Walker, D. H. Andrews, James Verner, Bob Nachtmann, Lawrence Cheek, Dave Richadson, Nancy Lawlor, and Louise McGuire.

For "Spare-Ribs," directed by Carl Thompson: Jack Lee, Joe L. Brown, Alan Waters, Dave Lewis, Burleson, McFadden, Walker, du Four, Robertson and McKee.

"Devil's Trampin' Ground," directed by Jean Walker: Jo

(Continued on page two)

Outline For Socialistic State Offered In Final Weil Lecture

DR. SZE PRAISES CONSTANT AMITY OF U. S. A.-CHINA

Chinese Minister Urges Sympathetic Understanding to Promote Good Will.

CONTRASTS NATIVE TRAITS

Strongly commending the friendly relations that have existed between his own China and the United States, Chinese Minister to the United States Sao-Ke Alfred Sze urged "sympathetic understanding of the true significance of facts" as the essential factor of international good will.

That China's civilization differs in many respects from that of other nations was the conclusion Dr. Sze drew after he had pointed out the fact that the mind of the Oriental is essentially different to that of the Occidental that it employs a different logic or reasoning process.

Chinese Characteristic

After he had cited many of the peculiar differences between his people and those of the western world, Dr. Sze indicated a major political characteristic of the Chinese people to disregard the government as the most important part of their lives.

"Thus it is that a westerner is apt to gain a distorted idea as to what is the situation in China when he reads in the newspapers of civil strifes, and the lack of complete coercive control by the central government over certain portions of China's vast area."

Some Objectionable Relations

Referring to the relations between our country and China, Dr. Sze stated, "I do not desire

(Continued on page two)

Soule Says Present Structure Is Doomed

Offers as Alternatives Return to Laissez Faire or Forward Move to Socialism.

ADVOCATES FREE TRADE

George Soule, editor of the New Republic and Weil lecturer for 1935, brought to a close the third Institute on Human Relations in Memorial hall last night by outlining to the small audience that braved inclement weather to hear him, his plan for a socialistic state based on the principle of production for abundance.

The noted lecturer and author pointed out that our most conservative economists see that the present system has brought about inequality, and very few would or could preserve the present structure.

Offers Alternatives

The two alternatives, Soule stated, are a return to the principles of laissez-faire, or, a forward motion to socialism. He dwelt at length upon the alleged fact that the success of the laissez-faire principle depends upon the competition between small units, with each unit at the mercy of the existing market, and no one unit large enough to control or influence it.

The almost unsurmountable difficulty in bringing about a system of this type lies in the problem of adjusting and maintaining units of a size so that they would not restrain the market to their own advantage. If such a system were adopted, he claimed, we must retrace our steps during the last 75 years of progress, go back to the stage-coach and the village carriage

(Continued on page four)

Loyalty To New Order Is Only Hope For Future, Says Thomas

Y.M.C.A. CABINETS TO MEET JOINTLY

Junior-Senior and Sophomore Groups Will Plan for Future.

Meeting tomorrow night to make preparations for the next quarter's work and to lay plans for the election and induction of new officers, the junior-senior and sophomore "Y" cabinets will convene jointly in the Y. M. C. A. at 7:15 o'clock.

According to President of the Y. M. C. A., J. D. Winslow, the meeting will be purely business and discussion will largely concern plans for the future. Regular series programs will not begin until next week.

The Freshman Friendship Council will appoint a nominating committee at its meeting tomorrow night and plans will also be outlined for the spring quarter's work.

Included on the freshman project program for the near future is the plan for co-operation with E. R. Rankin of the extension division, in conducting High School Week in North Carolina.

SENIOR REGALIA

Thursday is the deadline for having measurements made for the Senior Week regalia, which is now on display at the Student Co-operative store.

All seniors are urged to have their measure taken immediately.

Administration of NRA Is Called Fascist Trend

Advocates Planned Socialization Of Property with Boards To Control Industry.

PROPHESIES "DARK AGE"

A near-capacity audience in Memorial hall yesterday heard Norman Thomas, in a farewell public address, declare that the future held no hope for the students of today unless they learn to think together in terms of loyalty to a new order.

Thomas began his speech by condemning the fulfillment of the plans originally made for the New Deal. After claiming that he was an admirer of President Roosevelt's campaign plans and promises, the Socialist chieftain deplored the manifestation of the program in the NRA. "The tendency in the NRA is regimentation and a trend toward Fascism," he charged.

More Millionaires

Pointing to an alleged 50 per cent increase in millionaires since the inauguration of the New Deal, Thomas assailed the blue eagle as "a bird of prey, even if painted blue." He likened the blue color of our renovated national emblem to the tint produced by rigor mortis.

Thomas attacked the administration for stepping in to attempt to aid a "doomed price and profit system." The only solu-

(Continued on page two)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Margaret McCauley, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Irving Suss, Walter Hargett, Don McKee, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Stuart Rabb, Charlie Gilmore.

DESK MAN—Eddie Kahn.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, John Smith, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, William Jordan, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: REED SARRATT

Sunday, April 7, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

The baseball team dropped the season's opener to the Davidson 'Cats. It looks like they believe in starting from scratch.

Huzzah! The laundry's got a darning machine. And just when we were beginning to be unable to tell our socks from a pair of spats.

Retiring Hearst to an Indian reservation, as Mr. Soule suggests, might not be a bad idea at all. And it would suit William Randolph so long as he can fetch in the wampum with his war whoops.

Needy Nothing Trimm'd in Jollity

It cannot be well denied that Hamilton Fish, for all his elusive maneuvers, won a great victory over the subtle opposition early in the week and although we have heard many words of disgust regarding his facts and figures, neither at the time of his delivery nor afterwards has the opposition made a substantial counter-claim or refutation. It's difficult to make the light of reason prevail against a sharp-tongued play on prejudice.

In addition, Mr. Fish was cheered loudly when he cleverly put certain campus radicals to rout. On the other hand, the same students burst into a round of applause when Norman Thomas scored Mr. Fish and the reactionary Republicans (self-styled "liberals") from the same platform.

As we pointed out recently, a large part of the applause accorded Mr. Fish was probably due as much to student opposition to the New Deal as inert conservatism or anti-radicalism. In fact, we believe Mr. Fish actually failed to find the campus radical, failed because he was clever enough to avoid the thrusts and to make the opposition look for the moment particularly foolish.

The situation embraced in the applause of Mr. Thomas was of a different type. Students did not cheer for a clown, but to hear an intelligent attack on the American scene as it is being enacted. On the other hand, we daresay that even after the inspiring words of Mr. Thomas only a handful of the audience would consider themselves entirely in accord with Mr. Thomas' views, largely because of their conservative home environment or because of a latent fear of the chaos which they believe would exist if the leftists ever came into power.

With the exception of James Landis, there has been no pro-New Dealist on the program. And Mr. Landis did not carry weight with the ordinary student because his was a technical treatment of a technical phase of the Rooseveltian policy and consequently what he said vindicated, to those who understood, only a portion of the New Deal theory. Indeed, his great point in the undergraduate conception was his attack on the blood-thirsty Wall Streeters and in this attack he was fighting the same battle as Fish, Thomas. Soule, Martin, and others.

Despite Mr. Thomas' reception, we say that student opinion is remarkably conservative and that Mr. Fish was probably justified in saying so. It's one thing to cheer for a socialistic attack on the existing order and another to engage actively in a battle against it, through the polls or otherwise.

About Our Dissenters

Below is an editorial from Saturday's Greensboro News. It praises those "dissenters" who voted against a war we paid for in blood and disillusionment. The anti-war demonstration here April 12 is also a dissent. Our modern world needs it.

Eighteen Years Ago

(From the Greensboro News)

Remember the frenzy, the excitement, the hysteria, which prevailed 18 years ago? The United States of America was officially at war with Germany, the Senate having passed formal declaration of war April 4 and the House concurring a short time after mid-night on April 6, 1917.

But this isn't written to be reminiscent of the stirring days. Rather it is in the urge to call attention to those six senators and 50 representatives who voted against the resolution which sent us into the thick of the world conflict and who are to be honored at Washington today. North Carolina's Claude Kitchin stood well to the forefront of the group, the leader of the war opposition in the House.

Remember the condemnation, the criticism, the ridicule to which the group was subjected? Now, however, with the passing of the years, it is possible to meditate upon their courage, their conviction, and their balanced deliberations. It is next to impossible to stand against the war urge as it sweeps the country, fanned by all the established agencies of propaganda and the prejudices upon which they rely. Yet this group of men did. How their prophecies terminated we must now recognize. Perhaps our entry into the World War was inevitable, our own safeguarding against the advancing German menace was necessary. But, in hindsight, the futility of the conflict and all the losses that it claimed stand revealed. We did not make the world safe for democracy. We created new problems which have engulfed the old; death and destruction, debt, collapse of economic and governmental structures, a chaos which even now may not have reached its full effect.

And yet with this destruction still upon us, the cycle is threatening to swing back to another war. Peace machinery has been virtually abandoned; and a mad world places its hopes of security in armaments. The race is on. Where it will lead no one dares to say. In the onward sweep of rearmament the courage and deliberation of these previous spokesmen need to obtain; the wisdom of their words have been realized; the nation has lived to put aside its rancor and its feeling and to do them and their convictions full and merited honor. In the present mad rush there is crying need for similar deliberations, for crying anew the futility, the awfulness, the catastrophe of war.

Little remains for the protection of peace, these 18 years since our declaration of the World War, save the spirit of these dissenters and the realization of that vindication which has come for their courageous and far-seeing stand.

Remote Control

Nominations for campus officerships for the school year 1935-36 will be made tomorrow morning in Memorial hall, when cool and collected party machinists will put forth the party choices and pugnacious independents will file their various candidates' names.

How much of the Human Relations Institute's words of wisdom regarding democracy and republican forms of government will affect the local voting masses is a matter of conjecture. Strictly speaking, it doesn't make much difference to the student body how democratic or autocratic the student government is, just so the offices are filled by men or women who know enough undergraduates to pull the majority of votes in the particular election. At any rate, nobody has ever made much of a kick against not having a voice in the nominations, which undeniably the students have not despite their opportunities for naming a candidate in Memorial hall, which amounts to nothing at all.

In the elections themselves, students may often exercise a choice between two or three persons, but this will probably not be the case this year, as it also was not the case last year.

In only two or three races will there be more than one nominee, due to the efficiency of the party compromising in its nominations and to the lack of interest on the part of the students to band together in support of an independent candidate.

Pride And Progress

A notable example of hearty pride in the achievements of this University was shown by the student who mailed to his summer employer a program of the Human Relations Institute with the terse challenge, "Show me another University in the South which can equal the quality of this group." We would extend that challenge to the entire nation.

SPEAKING the CAMPUS MIND

You're Wanted

Editor, the DAILY TAR HEEL:

The other day the opinion of a large pessimistic group concerning the forthcoming freshman dance was expressed in this column.

Because of this the dance committee, as well as the class executive committee, has pointed out that they are working even harder and doing everything within their power to make the affair a successful one.

The orchestra, which is organized by a member of the '38 class and whose selection was the object of much criticism, has assured everyone that they will be more than satisfied with the evening's program.

Therefore, it is the duty of every freshman to be at the Tin Can Friday night and make the dance a success by his presence and co-operation.

F. W. FERGUSON.

Election

(Continued from page one)

lishing a plan of freshman orientation under his guidance, although Aitken, captain of the basketball team last season is tremendously popular.

As to actual votes, the bone of argument is as usual, "Which-away is Swain hall gonna go?" Aitken eats there, but since Hamilton Hobgood's defeat in 1933 campus politicians are not betting their eye-teeth any more on "a solid bloc" from Swain. Hobgood was, when he ran for president of the student body, head waiter.

The DAILY TAR HEEL's unverified guess is that steady-headed, well-liked Jim McCachren will be nominee for presidency of the Athletic Association.

More difficult to tell about until nominations are made in Memorial hall tomorrow at 10:30 are the lesser offices. Publications, however, are pretty well predictable. Phil Hammer, present chairman of the editorial board, is undoubtedly the only contender for the DAILY TAR HEEL editorship.

Publications

Likewise, Claude Rankin is the only talked-of candidate for the Yackety Yack. Charlie Poe, son of Editor Clarence Poe, will try his hand at the Carolina Magazine. And Nelson Lansdale was nominated last Thursday for the Finjanship, the coffee-cup without a handle being destined to be filled with the sly humor of the New Yorker type.

Vice-presidency of the student body, some say, will be tackled by Tom Evins, one of the few instances where a man of letters—he happens to have three—will hold down that post. Aitken's announcement as a candidate for president, however, may bring forth other likely contenders for the job.

Class Officers

Smiling Joe Fisher, who would be a candidate for mayor of Chapel Hill if he sticks around long enough, is being mentioned as the junior class president. Trip Rand may be the executive one notch ahead of him, and if Ramsay Potts, promising young freshman, is nominated for the sophomore presidency, then a trio of athletes-turned-administrators will complete the card for class offices.

Not that it matters much, but the Student Councilmen are also elected by the campus. Meaning that other more dashing and daring officers usually and unfortunately steal the spotlight. Probably, the candidates will be Cecil Ford from the freshman class, a freshman executive committeeman this year; John tion, he averred, is the planned socialization of property.

Thomas

(Continued from page one)

Socialistic State

After indicting the present capitalistic system on the customary charges of exploitation of the masses by a privileged class, Thomas used the "honeyed words" warned against by Hamilton Fish to describe the ideal social state. In the socialization of property he advised compensation in lieu of confiscation. He adocated a "wise capital levy" on large fortunes.

He finally proposed to control each industry as well as agriculture by the introduction of boards composed of the representatives of labor and executives. Over the entire system would be placed a planning, coordinating board with regulative authority.

Appeal to Students

Thomas used as precedents the war-time shipping boards in this country, and the Soviet high councils. He urged the students to be the "soldiers" in bringing about a planned economy.

On behalf of organized labor, Thomas ordered: "You've got to build more and better unions; there's no other way out."

Speaking directly to the students, Thomas told them that they could live into the beginning of a "dark age." He declared, however, that he hoped the student of today will live to see "a new day, where sheer abundance has been released."

Carolina Engineer

(Continued from page one)

morrow at 10:30. After that time the remaining copies will be released from the Electrical and Civil senior rooms.

King's publication is profusely illustrated with cuts of various engineering authorities, alumni, pictures of University projects and national engineer-

Originals Casts

(Continued from page one)

Oettinger, Ellen Deppe, Fred Howard, Jack Lee, Kenneth Bartlett, Bob Barrett, and Stuart Sechriest; for "Back Page," directed by Margaret Wallace: Rene Prud'hommeaux, Carl Thompson, Dave Levis, Alan Waters, Robertson and Robert du Four.

"Judge" Parker from the junior class, and Jimmy Craighill from the senior class.

According to gleanings around the DAILY TAR HEEL office, Fletcher Ferguson, sports writer; Ned McAlister, and Charles Ivey will be the trio that will wrestle with publications funds on the Publications Union Board next year.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

12:30: Radio City Music Hall Sym. orch., WJZ, WLW.

3:00: Philharmonic Sym., Toscanini, conductor, WABC, WBT, WBIG.

4:00: America's First Rhythm Sym., WPTF, WSB.

5:00: Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, contralto, WEAF, WSB.

6:00: Nat'l Amateur Night, Ray Perkins, m. c., WABC, WBT.

7:00: Jack Benny, WPTF, WSB, KDKA.

7:30: Ozzie Nelson orch., Joe Penner, WSB, WPTF, WLW.

8:00: Major Bowes' Amateur Hour, WPTF, WLW, WSB; Eddie Cantor, comedian, WABC, WHAS, WBT; Symphony Concert, KDKA.

8:30: Will Rogers, WABC, WBT, WBIG.

9:30: Walter Winchell, gossip, KDKA, WLW.

10:00: Wayne King orch., WABC, WHAS.

11:15: Kay Kyser orch, WGN.

11:30: Duke Ellington orch., WLW.

11:45: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

12:15: Ted Weems orch., WGN.

12:30: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

Sze

(Continued from page one)

to leave the impression that, in the course of the nearly a century of treaty relations between China and the United States, China has found nothing to object to in the policies of the United States, for there have been matters concerning the entrance into, and residence in, the United States of Chinese, which have not been wholly pleasing to my country."

Taken as a whole, though, the United States' policies toward China have been friendly and helpful, he declared.

Toward the Japanese China is willing to adopt a "good neighbor" policy, showed Dr. Sze, but a true good will between two peoples is "possible only when there is present on neither side a claim of national superiority whether of race or of civilization."

AIR SHOW

Balloon Ascension!
Inverted Flying!
Parachute Jump!
Stunting!

Chapel Hill Airport
SUNDAY, APRIL 7, 1935
See "Squeaky" Barnett, the South's Foremost Stunt Pilot, Perform!

DON BESTOR
AND HIS INTERNATIONAL BROADCASTING ORCHESTRA
M.C.A. Management
ROYCROFT'S WAREHOUSE
Elaborately Decorated Dance Pavilion
DURHAM, N. C.
Thursday——April 11
9:00 to 1:30 Script $2.00 (including tax)
SPONSORED BY EMBASSY CLUB

Food Prices Are Going Up
EVERY DAY
But Ours Remain the Same
Sunday Dinner Here
Will Convince You
A CLEAN KITCHEN — High Test Beer on Draught — Complete Soda Fountain Service — QUALITY FOOD
The Carolina Coffee Shop

'Cat Nine Tilt Postponed; Play Spartans Tomorrow

Tar Heel-Davidson Game Rained Out

Carolina Meets Michigan State At 4 O'clock; Wright or Webster Will Likely Pitch.

SPARTANS IN TOP SHAPE

Carolina's baseball team last its chance to even the count with Davidson yesterday due to rain. The scheduled contest was postponed until a later date.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock on Emerson field the Tar Heels will open their home season, facing the touring Michigan State nine.

Coach Bunn Hearn will have his entire pitching staff ready for duty but it is expected that one of the leading rookies, Irby Wright or Latcher Webster, will get the starting call. Both veteran hurlers, Fred Crouch and Leo Manley, will also be available for work.

Spartans Ready

Although Michigan State has met with defeat most of the time so far during its swing through the south, the Spartans have several games under their belts which should mean they are in better shape than the Tar Heels.

As against Carolina Friday, the Wildcats pulled a rally during the late innings to nose out Michigan State 3-1 in a contest about a week ago.

The Tar Heels, who made a great record last year mainly because of hard hitting, were far off in their batting in the opening game against Davidson. Captain Vick, Jim Tatum, Gus McIver, Yank Shapiro and Tommy Irwin all got plenty of knocks last year but in practice so far none has reached his old form.

The most promising development at present seems to be Trip Rand at second base. Last year Rand only had an average season playing part-time at third but already he has been getting bingles often and playing a steady game at second.

This week Coach Hearn will have a chance to see how well his rookie hurlers will perform against competition. Both Webster and Wright have been twirling excellent ball during the pre-season drills but this may be due to the weak hitting of the regulars.

Ed Bullard, sophomore, got the first chance at third base against the Wildcats and played errorless ball. However, he failed to do much at bat so Harry Montgomery may get a trial agains the Spartans.

The rest of the lineup will likely remain the same as that which played Friday. Buck McCarn will be at first; Irwin at short; Shapiro in rightfield; Vick in centerfield; McIver in leftfield, and Tatum behind the plate.

FROSH TRACKMEN WILL MEET TWICE WITH BLUE IMPS

First Meet to Be Held at Durham April 16.

Track coaches of Duke and North Carolina Universities agreed that two meets would be run between the freshman teams of both institutions this year.

The first will be held at Durham on April 16th, and the second will be in conjunction with the annual varsity meet here on April 23rd.

Yesterday's triumph over the William and Mary squad was the only outside competition the varsity will have until it faces the University of Virginia tracksters two weeks hence. However, an intersquad clash will be held against the frosh on Wednesday of this week.

TAR HEEL TEAMS FACE BUSY WEEK

Diamond and Net Teams to See Most Activity; High School Tennis Meet Here.

Concentrated sports activity faces teams at the University next week as they line up to enter the spring sports schedule in full stride.

The baseball and tennis teams will bear the brunt of the burden, the diamond stars meeting three first class opponents in home games—Michigan State Monday; Wake Forest Thursday and N. C. State Saturday.

After opening the season in auspicious style with overwhelming wins over Wake Forest and Dartmouth, the tennis team will meet Wake Forest in a return match Wednesday, Duke here Thursday, and will enter two men in the Blossom Festival tournament at Pinehurst Saturday.

The golf team will meet Augusta Junior College here Friday in the only engagement of the week.

The freshman tennis team will meet Wilmington High here next Saturday, and has a pending game with Charlotte High here Wednesday.

High School Tourney

Special features next week will include the State High School Tennis tournament here Thursday and Friday, the High School track meet here Friday, and the mass tennis tournament between Carolina and Duke.

Around 200 players will participate in the big meet, playing on the courts of the two universities from Monday through Saturday. Carolina won the matches last year, 129-71.

The varsity tennis meet scheduled with N. C. State for next Saturday has been postponed until April 19.

The high school meets will bring together some of the finest track and tennis stars from high schools all over North Carolina.

Next week's schedule:

Monday: Michigan State here (baseball).

Wednesday: Wake Forest

(Continued on last page)

DOWNPOUR HALTS TENNIS MATCHES

Both Varsity and Freshman Matches Cancelled Because Of Continuous Rain.

The varsity match at Davidson and the scheduled frosh clash with State here yesterday were both called off due to continued downpours.

The varsity, bound for their fourth match of the season, discovered halfway to their destination that a heavy rain was falling at Davidson. The team instantly returned to the Hill, without making plans for another match with the Wildcats.

Match Cancelled

Therefore, this match with Davidson is definitely cancelled and will not be played this season. The Tar Heels are unable to make the trip to Davidson on any day other than Saturday, and the Wildcats have their dates occupied.

However, the Davidson net squad will visit Chapel Hill on April 24 to engage in the other scheduled match.

The frosh match with State may be played later in the season. With this match postponed the frosh have now to look forward to next Saturday's encounter with Wilmington High School.

ENTRIES LACKING FOR MASS TENNIS MEET WITH DUKE

Starting Day Changed to Tuesday, April 9; Competition Is On Intramural Program.

160 ENTRANTS AT DUKE

"Mass murder" is the Carolina slogan in regard to the coming gigantic tennis meet with Duke University, which opens Tuesday, April 9.

The competition will run from April 9 to 14. It was originally scheduled to open tomorrow, but a conflict has caused it to be postponed one day.

Few Entries

This additional day is a helpful one to the Carolina cause. Entries have been scarce and the number has not yet reached 25. In contrast, a news clipping reveals that Duke has already had 160 students signify their intention of participating.

The affair is sponsored by the intramural department at Carolina and points will be awarded to the various entrants.

Today and tomorrow are the last days to sign your name upon the entry sheet posted on the bulletin board outside of the clay courts. With your name, signify the dormitory or fraternity that you will represent.

Come One, Come All

The more entries the better. Every one has an equal chance with the seeding system that is employed. Graduate students as well as undergraduates are urged to fall in with the mob in this amazing event.

Half of the matches will be played at Carolina and half at Duke. The competition is keen and evenly matched.

LINKSMEN LOSE TO STATE TEAM ON WET COURSE

Red Terror Outfit Wins Close Match on Raleigh Links By 10½-7½ Score.

JUPITER PLUVIUS REIGNS

Jupiter Pluvius and an improved Red Terror golf team handed the previously unbeaten Tar Heel team a 10½-7½ defeat.

Playing weather was at its worst on the Raleigh links but both teams fought a close match which was won by the team most familiar with the course.

The Tar Heel linksmen led the play for the first part of the contest but came out at the short end of the score as a result of being unable to score but one point in the last half of the meet.

Laxton Wins

In the opening match of the afternoon Acting Captain Erwin Laxton downed Pastore 2-1. Harris playing in the number two position, did not bring in his usual three points but split the match with Bartlien 1½-1½.

The third singles match of the afternoon saw Walter Pijanowski bow to Dusty 2½-½. Scale of State turned in the only shutout in a singles match when he beat Carolina's fourth position man 3-0.

In the first of the doubles match Laxton and Harris proved far superior playing together than Pastore and Bartlien and blanked State's first two players 3-0.

State got its revenge in the final doubles match when Dutsy and Scale teamed up to beat Carolina's third and fourth man combination by a 2½-½ score.

Table Tennis Exhibition To Have Additional Performance In Tin Can

The next event looming on the Carolina sport exhibitions is the gala and novel table tennis event that is scheduled for April 18 and 19.

Due to the evident interest and upon a few requests, the exhibition, which was originally set solely for Thursday, April 18, has been lengthened to two days.

In Tin Can

This will give more people the opportunity of witnessing these national stars in action in the Tin Can. The huge arena will be initiated into the ranks of the spreading number of halls, gymnasiums, and spacious indoor exhibition rooms, that are now sponsoring the advent of table tennis into the athletic world.

Tickets will soon be placed throughout Chapel Hill at 25c each. The ticket will be good for one night only.

The three players that are definitely making the tour to Carolina are Abe Berenbaum, Rudy Rubin and Chet Wells. Berenbaum is one of the greatest players in the United States. His defense is easily the best in the nation.

Rubin and Wells are both penholder stars that have thrilled thousands with their brilliant topspin drives. Rubin is known to be the most consistent driver in the game, while Wells employs every bit of available strategy to gain his points.

A fourth player will most probably accompany the troupe to Chapel Hill. This star has not been selected as yet, but many famous players have offered to make the trip with the touring table tenniseers.

Berenbaum, Rubin and Wells provide a wealth of talent. Berenbaum holds countless trophies and is ranked as the second best player in the game.

Rubin holds the sixth standing in the United States and is top ranking penholder in the east. Wells for four years held his position as the second best player in the country but was recently replaced by up and coming stars, such as Berenbaum.

At present the three are competing in the national championships at Chicago, Illinois. Berenbaum is given a very good chance to take the highest honors and will possibly come to Chapel Hill as the national champion.

Bishop Kearn Dedicates Methodist Church Today

Bishop Paul B. Kearn of Greensboro will dedicate the Methodist church, completed in 1927 but not cleared of debt until this year, at the regular 11 o'clock morning service this morning.

Acting in behalf of the official board of the church, Dean R. B. House will conduct the ceremony of presentation.

Former pastors of the Chapel Hill church, the Reverend Walter Patten of Fayetteville and the Reverend C. Excell Rozzelle of Lenoir, and the Reverend M. T. Plyler, a member of the editorial board of the North Carolina Christian Advocate, will take part in the devotional program. The Reverend W. A. Jenkins, present pastor, will preside.

Tar Heel Trackmen Open Season With 76-49 Victory Over William And Mary

MURAL PROGRAM STARTS TUESDAY

Mass Tennis Meet with Duke And Playground Baseball Features on Program.

The spring quarter's intramural athletic program will commence this coming Tuesday afternoon when two games in the elimination playground ball will take place. The mural tennis leagues will begin play next week due to the mass meet with Duke.

Participation in the mass meet, which will begin Tuesday because of the Duke-Wake Forest tennis match on Monday, will count in the intramural scoring, Director Herman Schnell announced yesterday.

Net Meet to Count

Each person participating in the meet will score two points for his organization, and the five organizations scoring the most victories over Duke will receive from 25 down to five points.

Since only one field is available for the playground ball, the activity will be run on the elimination tournament basis. There will be two of these, with the fraternity and dormitory champs meeting in the campus finals. Twenty-four have entered the frat series while 15 teams represent the dorms.

The opening contests will find the Ringers facing Manly, and S. A. E., one of last year's semi-finalists, meeting Phi Kappa Sigma in games starting at 4:00 and 5:00 o'clock, respectively.

The other games scheduled this week follow:

Wednesday: 4:00, Aycock "A" vs. Everett; 5:00, Kappa Alpha vs. Chi Phi. Thursday: No games—varsity baseball. Friday: 4:00, Beta Theta Pi vs. Kappa Sigma; 5:00, Ruffin vs. New Dorms.

STUNTER BARNETT PERFORMS TODAY

Balloon Ascension, Exhibition Flying Are Attractions.

There will be an air show at the local airport this afternoon, featuring an old-time hot-air balloon ascension, inverted flying, stunting, parachute jumps, and passenger flying.

"Squeaky" Barnett, one of the south's foremost stunt flyers, will perform, including his well-known inverted flight. He is a native Virginian and a partner in the Southern Airways, of Danville. He flew last year with the "Three Aces," a famous exhibition trio.

A balloon ascension is something rarely seen nowadays, although they were once common. A balloon of the type to be used this afternoon has never been flown about Chapel Hill before.

Both open and cabin ships will be available for passenger rides over town.

The NRA developed a surplus of high-power salesmanship that has to struggle to find something to do with itself.—The Washington Star.

Little Leads Field With Twenty Points

William and Mary Star Scores More Than Any Previous Carolina Opponent.

WILLIAMSON WINS EASILY

In a meet held in weather much more applicable to duck activities, Carolina opened its 1935 outdoor season here yesterday afternoon with a brilliant 76-49 triumph over a strong William and Mary team.

Carolina again flashed the all around brilliance that recently carried it to the Southern Conference indoor title, and surprised even its most ardent followers with the way in which it performed.

The rain and heavy wind, which continued throughout the meet, hindered the competitors and was responsible for the slow times.

"Monk" Little Stars

Despite the magnificent Tar Heel performance, the fair sized crowd will not soon forget the great doings of the wiery "Monk" Little of W. and M., who captured four first places, and in so doing was the first man ever to tally 20 points against Carolina single-handed.

Little started off the meet by winning the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet 10 inches.

He next captured the 100-yard dash with a goodly margin over Higby and Connell of the Tar Heels. The latter pair also scored second and third, respectively, in the broad jump event.

Higby came back in the 220-yard dash and shared the lead with Little for about 180 yards, when the William and Mary star put on the pressure to win by six yards. Gifelli of the visitors was third.

The fourth victory for Little was not so easy. Armfield of Carolina bested Little on the first few tries in the javelin event, but lost when the latter's third toss reached a distance of 183 feet, four feet farther than Armfield's throw.

Ed Waldrop scored one of the victor's outstanding wins as he handed Plummer of W. and M. his first set-back in dual meet competition. This two mile race, with Marvin Allen of Carolina also strongly in the picture, proved the most exciting of the meet.

On several occasions the lead changed. As the trio came down the stretch for the start of the eighth lap, Allen was out in front. Plummer overtook him but it was not until half the final lap was finished that Waldrop reassumed the lead.

As the three raced into the final turn, Plummer again went out in front, but Waldrop spurted, passed him on the straightaway, and finished five yards in front.

Williamson Wins Easily

The other long distance run gave Carolina nine additional points as Gammon, Gabori, and Haywood crossed the line in a triple tie for first. Harry Williamson made his only appearance of the day in the 880, win-

(Continued on last page)

IS YOUR APPETITE FAILING?
For a Change, Try Our Cold Plate
GOOCH BROS. & BROOKS CAFE
Exclusive for Esslinger's Beer on Draught
FOUNTAIN SERVICE TOBACCOS NEWSPAPERS MAGAZINES CANDIES
See Our Easter Assortment of Schraff's Chocolates

DR. AKERS' CLASS COMPLETES TOUR

Visits Richmond, Baltimore, and Congressional Libraries.

The second annual visit to out-state libraries has just been completed by members of the school of library science class under the direction of Dr. Susan Grey Akers.

At Richmond, Va., Miss Jane Moss, librarian, conducted the class through the Thomas Jefferson school and library. Later Thomas P. Ayer, librarian of the Richmond Public Library, discussed the organization, and led a tour through the building.

The Enoch Pratt Free Library of Baltimore, proved interesting with its system of departmentalization and many branches. Rarities and specialties were featured by the libraries of the Pelytechnic Institute and the Peabody Institute.

Climaxing the trip was a tour through the Library of Congress, led by Dr. Herbert Putnam. The class was conducted through all departments of the Washington Library, including the vaults where incunabula and manuscripts are stored.

Track Meet

(Continued from page three)

ming by about 65 yards. Gardiner was second, and Rhodes of the visitors was third.

The Williamsburg squad proved that it was not a one-man team, as a sophomore, DeGotis, captured firsts in the high jump and discus throw, and finished third in the shot. Platt Bullard also lived up to his fine reputation by besting "Red" Drake in a thrilling 440, with Keeney of Carolina third.

The pole vaulters also finished in a triple tie as Jackson and Bear, Carolina's sky climbers, and Flickinger, dimunitive W. and M. competitor, all cleared the bar at 11 feet 6 inches.

Wrenn pulled a pleasant surprise by his victory over Evins and DeGotis in the shot put. Evins also placed third in the discus, in which event Barwick of Carolina was runner-up to DeGotis.

The hurdlers made a clean sweep, Abernethy taking the 120-yard highs, and Co-Captain Tom Hawthorne the 120-yard low hurdles.

In a special 300-yard race, three of Carolina's leading freshmen put on a fine exhibition. Ullman, Gunn, and Aberly were fairly even as they neared the finish line, but Aberly hit an extra wet spot and did a "special dive," from which he emerged unhurt but very muddy. Ullman took the win by about four yards.

The summary:

100-yard dash: Little (W&M), Higby (C), Connell (C), Time: 10.2.

220-yard low hurdles: Hawthorne (C), Smeltzer (W&M). Time: 25.6.

440-yard run: Bullard (W&M), Drake (C), Keeney (C). Time: 51.7.

880-yard run: Williamson (C), Gardiner (C), Rhodes (W&M). Time: 1:59.9.

120-yard high hurdles: Abernethy (C), Hawthorne (C), Smeltzer (W&M). Time: 15.6.

220-yard dash: Little (W&M) Higby (C), Gifelli (W&M). Time: 23.4.

One-mile run: Triple tie among Gammon (C), Gabori (C), Haywood (C). Time: 4:42.9.

Two-mile run: Waldrop (C), Plummer (W&M), Allen (C). Time: 10:10.5.

Pole vault: Triple tie among Jackson (C), Bear (C), Flickinger (W&M). Height: 11 feet 6 inches.

High jump: DeGotis (W&M), tie between Parker (C), Efland (C). Height 5 feet 8 inches.

Broad jump: Little (W&M), Higby (C), Connell (C). Distance: 22 feet 10 inches.

Shot put: Wrenn (C), Evins (C), DeGotis (W&M). Distance: 42 feet 5 inches.

Discus throw: DeGotis (W&M), Barwick (C), Evins (C). Distance: 120 feet 7 inches.

Javelin throw: Little (W&M), Armfield (C), Lessner (W&M). Distance: 183 feet.

Informal Chats With Human Relations Institute Speakers

Dr. Emil Lederer

"Student opinion, although it was formerly a force in German politics, does nothing now but follow the government in every project," according to Dr. Emil Lederer.

"Germany has gone mad, even the students," he said. "Being a social democrat, I was ousted from the chair of economics at Heidelberg and driven from the country just to appease the students in the university who supported Hitler. Some of these same students came to me later and deceitfully expressed their regrets at my having to leave," reminisced the doctor.

Hitler's Aims

In answer to a question, Dr. Lederer explained that the two great aims of the Hitler party are to make the so-called Nordic race supreme and to unite the eighty million Germans in the world. "How will this be carried out? By war drums and war drums alone. They are the dynamics of the system of Hitler," he said.

Dr. Lederer refused to predict how long Hitler will be in power. He did, however, show the good that Nazism has done in Europe. "That is," said Lederer, "most of the other nations have dropped their differences and given up disputed land in an effort to gain allies for protection against German aggression."

Mr. Sanford Bates

"I think," Federal Director of Prisons Sanford Bates said in an interview here, "that there is a great future for trained college men in administering the prisons of this country."

He pointed out that his department alone employs 35 recent college graduates and that the demand for their services is growing. "Not only do we employ educated men in federal prisons, but many states, realizing the advantages in having scientifically trained penitentiary staffs, are beginning to employ college men."

Discussing the use of corporal punishment in prison, he observed that Maryland and Delaware are the only states that use the whipping post today, and in Maryland it can be used only in dealing with wife-beaters. In this connection he declared himself opposed to a return of the whipping-post in North Carolina.

Declaring himself in favor of imprisonment for rehabilitation rather than vengeance, Bates enthusiastically outlined his theory that the prison should serve as a clinic to examine and treat the lawbreaker.

Someone asked whether crime has decreased or not during the past two years. "Yes, it has, definitely, especially among the younger men," answered Bates. "I attribute this to the enlistment of so many possible criminals in the CCC and other government projects where there is some guarantee of security."

Hon. Hamilton Fish

"After my cordial reception here by the undergraduates of the University of North Carolina," said Representative Hamilton Fish, "I want to withdraw the name of the University from my list of those who favored radicalism and Russian or alien forms of government."

Fish was impressed by the unusually conservative attitude on the campus.

The Congressman viciously attacked the present administration, both in his public speech and in his seminars. He prefers the "sounder" days of Calvin Coolidge. But he failed to say what he would do if placed in the President's shoes.

Fish's Platform

Asked if he had any specific program, Fish said he would retain the general principles of the New Deal, but modify the legislation so as to remove restrictions on private business. How he would do this, however, he did not say. He does not believe in a program of public works. He wants a balanced budget.

He was asked if he agreed with Walter Lippmann's contention that in time of depression, when private credit contracts, the government should extend credit even if, temporarily, it goes into the red. Fish said yes, provided the money went to private business.

Fish does not want to merely return to things as they were before the stock market crash of 1929. The country should profit by its recent unpleasant experiences, maintained the self-styled "liberal" Republican, but in what manner he did not say.

Soule

(Continued from page one)

workshop. Likewise, Soule held that the present financial structure would not be suitable and would have to be scrapped.

Strong Central State

The first principle of a government based on the competition of small enterprises, Soule declared, would be a strong central government in order to force competition. Thus, he told his audience, would its basis of laissez-faire destroy itself. Furthermore, Soule held that it would require "an army of occupation" to control the natural impulses of business.

Editor Soule deplored the fact that most nations observe the practice of free trade and obstruction to commerce "in reverse." Tariffs, he charged, are set up by big business interests to protect their own profit-making machines. Practical men, he told his audience, do not believe in free trade: "They are really endangering the order in which they exist."

Ideal Commonwealth

In this ideal commonwealth, Soule would have the wage differentials and working conditions adjusted so that workers would be attracted to the less desirable jobs as well as the more desirable ones.

Democracy, Soule declared, is not measured by the number of ballots, but by whether the government serves the best interests of the majority of the population.

If we do not bring about some form of this system, Soule stated, with a feasible form of transition, there will be ultimate confusion. We are threatened, he reminded his audience, by the leaders of the present system who will establish tyrannical dictatorships in their extremity to prevent the transition. We must act with reason, he concluded.

METHODIST FORUM

"Will Science Replace Religion?" is the topic for discussion in the Wesley Student Forum meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in the west parlor of the Methodist church.

There will be brief talks by two student members, after which the meeting will be thrown open to general discussion. All students are invited to attend and contribute their opinions.

Absent Winner Forfeits Cash Drawing Prize

Carolina Theatre Award Will Be $30 Next Week.

The prize in the cash drawing sponsored the local Carolina theatre will be $30 next week, since the winner Friday night failed to appear at the time of the awarding.

The number called last night was 1322, and belonged to Robert Strowd of Chapel Hill.

In accordance with the self-imposed rules of the drawings, the prize money for this week will be added to that of Friday night.

These weekly drawings will continue until further notice, to take place every Friday night at 9 o'clock. The winner must be in the theatre or vicinity at the time of the announcement of the winning number.

Numbers are obtained by registering at the ticket booth any afternoon between 4 and 6:30 o'clock.

Sports Program

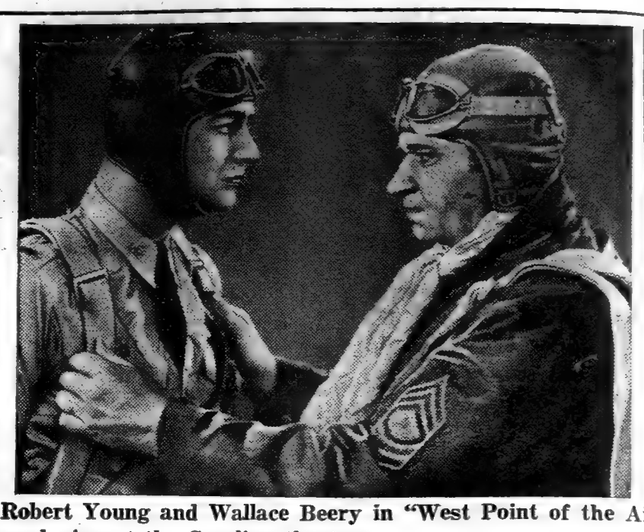
(Continued from page three)

here (varsity tennis); Charlotte High here (freshman tennis pending).

Thursday: Wake Forest here (baseball); Duke here (varsity tennis); State High School tournament preliminaries (tennis).

Friday: State High School track meet and finals in tennis; Augusta Junior College here (golf).

Saturday: N. C. State here (baseball); Wilmington High here (freshman tennis); Southern Blossom Festival at Pinehurst (tennis).



Watercolor Collection

A collection of 30 watercolors by Eliot O'Hara, Washington artist who is conducting a course in watercoloring here during the first three weeks of the quarter, will be on exhibit in Hill Music hall until April 15.

The pictures range in value from $150 to $400.

The exhibit will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily.

AT THE CAROLINA TODAY

Robert Young and Wallace Beery in "West Point of the Air," now playing at the Carolina theatre.

"Mother and I have a secret"

"It won't be very long, daddy, till I get my bike. Mother said I could have it when I got strong enough to ride it. It won't be long now with me drinking a quart of Durham Dairy's milk every day."

Durham Dairy Products, Inc.

Chapel Hill Branch

Retail Store 140 E. Franklin St. Phone 7766

A New Speed Record For Entertainment!

CAROLINA THEATRE

Wallace Beery leads the way for a mammoth fleet of planes, thousands of men, in a spectacle without parallel on the screen! Scenes you wouldn't think possible, plus romance and laughter to make the year's entertainment ace!

WALLACE BEERY

in

"WEST POINT OF THE AIR"

with

MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN ROBERT YOUNG

—Also— Hours of Shows:

Cartoon—Novelty 1—3—5 and 9:15 P. M.

TODAY ONLY

MONDAY

PAUL LUKAS ALISON SKIPWORTH

in

"The Casino Murder Case"

TUESDAY

LILIAN HARVEY TULLIO CARMINATI

in

"Let's Live Tonight"

MOONLIGHT and MAGNOLIAS

Romance down in Dixie! Crosby crooning sweet and low to the loveliest miss on the ole Mississippi! And here comes Commodore Fields with his merry troupe of entertainers! A show within a show!

BING CROSBY JOAN BENNETT

W. C. FIELDS

in

"MISSISSIPPI"

Wednesday-Thursday

FRIDAY

Gene Stratton Porter's Great Novel "Laddie"

with

GLORIA STUART

Midnight Show FRIDAY

"Sing Sinner Sing"

with

PAUL LUKAS

Doors Open at 11:15 P.M.

SATURDAY

GLORIA STUART

ROSS ALEXANDER

in

"Maybe It's Love"

PHI-DUKE DEBATE
7:30 P. M.
NEW EAST

The Daily Tar Heel

POLITICAL SPEECHES
10:30 A. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, APRIL 9, 1935 | NUMBER 139

Campus Pacifists Plan To Stage Anti-War Rally Friday Morning

Strikers for Peace To Gather at South

Demonstration Is Part of Nation-Wide Protest Against War, Including 41 Colleges.

REV. STEWART WILL SPEAK

Friday morning at 10:30 a call will go out to all University students and professors to assemble in front of South building in a mass anti-war demonstration.

The committee sponsoring the demonstration has secured Rev. Donald Stewart of the Presbyterian church, to address the meeting. The committee has planned a questionnaire to be printed in the DAILY TAR HEEL which will be used in the class discussions on war.

All faculty members holding 11 o'clock classes are urged by the committee to lead discussions on the war problem in their class hours.

National Strike

The demonstration at the University is held in conjunction with the nation-wide anti-war meetings to be held at over 41 colleges and universities. The movement is sponsored by the youth organizations: National Council of Methodist Youth, the Student League for Industrial Democracy, and the Inter-Seminary Movement.

Dr. Stephen P. Duggan when he was recently in Chapel Hill, stated that he will lead the anti-war demonstration at Vassar College of which he is a trustee. Norman Thomas also endorsed the anti-war move on his recent visit here.

Senator Gerald P. Nye and his Senate munitions investigating committee, have publicly commended the student nation-wide anti-war action.

New York, April 8.—(UP)—Pacifist college youth completed plans tonight for an anti-war international "strike" called for Friday.

Striplings yet unborn when the world marched to battle 21 years ago are determined this shall not happen again. So in earnest are they that the American League Against War and Fascism has sworn this oath:

"We pledge not to support the United States government in any war it may conduct."

"What would you do if this country were invaded?" is the natural question. "Wouldn't you fight to defend your home?"

"There's no such thing as a defensive war; that's just a gag," was the way Robert Chase, 20, of Seattle, Wash., Columbia University junior, bluntly put it. Chase is chairman of the Columbia anti-war committee.

'Y' Cabinets Make Plans For Rest of Year

New Officials to Meet in Comer's Office at 10:30 Today.

Members of the upper Y. M. C. A. cabinets met last night to draw up plans for the rest of the year and to make arrangements for inducting the new officers who were elected yesterday.

The group also selected the topic, "Problems of the South," for a series of cabinet discussions this spring.

The new officials are asked to meet in the office of Harry F. Comer this morning at 10:30 o'clock to make further preparations for work next year.

Di Senate

The Di Senate will cut short its regular 7:15 o'clock meeting tonight in time to attend the debate in Gerrard hall at 7:30 between the Phi assembly and the Columbia Debating Society of Duke University. The debate will deal with the subject of the socialization of medicine.

ROOSEVELT SIGNS WORLD'S LARGEST LUMP ALLOTMENT

President Sets Work Relief Machinery in Motion by Signing Record Appropriation.

FERA AND CCC GET SHARE

Aboard Roosevelt Special Train, April 8.—(UP)—A few strokes of President Roosevelt's pen on the $4,880,000,000 works relief bill today set in motion the use of history's largest lump sum appropriation to put 3,500,000 men to work.

The bill was sent to Jacksonville, Fla., by courier having been enacted by Congress in a 75-day battle. Roosevelt signed it as he sped northward.

Refreshed

Refreshed and rested from a fishing trip in Caribbean waters, he will attend the funeral of his cousin, Warren Delano Robbins, New York, minister to Canada, who died Sunday from pneumonia.

Immediately after signing the bill, the President signed two allocations from the amount appropriated under the new law. First, $125,000,000 to the FERA to continue relief; second, $30,000,000 for the continuation and maintenance of CCC camps and conservation work.

DEBATERS STUDY MEDICINE TONIGHT

Japanese Policy, Arms Making Are Other Topics.

Pursuing the issue raised in the Carolina-Bucknell forensic effusion Friday, the debate squad will discuss the socialization of medicine, led by a member of the medical school faculty. The discussion will occur in 209 Graham Memorial at 9 o'clock tonight.

Points will be reviewed for two intercollegiate debates which will take place here Thursday. Meeting Georgia Tech on the issue: Resolved, that Japan's policy in the far east is comparable to the Monroe Doctrine of the United States, J. W. Kirkpatrick and A. S. Kaplan will uphold the affirmative.

A three man gang-up of Francis Fairley, Oliver Cross, and Winthrop Durfee will represent the University against New York University. They have the negative of the query: Resolved, that the private manufacture of arms be prohibited by international agreement.

Tar Heel Staff

City editors and desk men on the Daily Tar Heel staff will meet this afternoon in Graham Memorial at 3 o'clock and reporters will meet at 3:30 o'clock.

Failure to attend this meeting will result in suspension from staff.

GRISETTE NAMED NATIONAL ALUMNI HEAD AT CAPITAL

Tar Heel Is First Southern President; Carolina's Saunders Is Vice-President of Council.

EDITS OFFICIAL "NEWS"

Felix A. Grisette, director of the Alumni Loyalty Fund of the University, was elected president of the American Alumni Council at the annual meeting of the organization in Washington last week.

The outstanding honor to an alumni executive, Grisette's election brings the presidency to a southern school for the first time in the history of the council, which is made up of over 300 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada.

Two Officers Here

Grisette's election gives the University two ranking officers in the council J. Maryon Saunders, secretary of the University Alumni Association, is already serving a three-year term as vice-president of the organization.

Among the duties of the president is the editorship of the council's official publication, "American Alumni Council News." Grisette is already editor of Carolina's new magazine, "University Facts."

Long Active

The new president has been active in the ranks of the council for six years. A graduate of the University, Grisette has taken graduate work in higher educational administration at the University of Pittsburgh and at Carolina.

Before becoming full-time director of the alumni loyalty fund at the University in 1929, he had previously served as assistant University editor at the University of Pittsburgh, as member of the editorial staff of the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times, and as director of financial campaigns for colleges and other philanthropic institutions thoughout the United States.

Grisette returned to Chapel Hill from Washington Monday.

POLANYI SPEAKS HERE TOMORROW

Foreign Policy League Sponsors Lecture by Austrian Journalist on Church, Fascism.

The Foreign Policy League will bring Dr. Karl Polanyi, noted Austrian newspaperman and lecturer, to speak here tomorrow night on "The Churches and Fascism on the European Continent."

Dr. Polanyi, in this country under the sponsorship of the Institute of International Education, directed by Dr. Stephen Duggan, will address an audience in Gerrard hall at 8 o'clock.

Political Veteran

The Austrian lecturer, who recently made a two-year tour of England, has led a life full of political excitement, beginning with his college days at Budapest University, where he organized a club interested in workers' adult education.

Although he was born of Hungarian parents and spent his early life in Hungary, he is at present an Austrian citizen. He was driven out of his fatherland in 1919 by the successful Communist revolution there.

Nine Freelance Candidates Threaten Clean Sweep Of University Party Men

SENIORS TO ELECT ONLY ONE OFFICER

Hutchins Opposes Party Man Fisher for Junior Presidency; Two Others Opposed.

FRESHMEN ELECT THREE

The rising senior class met last night in Gerrard hall, with Ernie Eustler presiding, for the purpose of nominating senior class officers for next year.

Trip Rand was nominated for president and, when no opposition was offered by the two non-party men present, he was declared unanimously elected. Morris Rhodes also found no opposition for the position of vice-president and accordingly was handed this office. Lewis Puckett received the office of secretary in a like manner.

Clare Bumped

Jack Clare bumped into the only opposition offered when ever-ambitious Bill Weaver had himself nominated for treasurer. Several University party men became confused and applauded vociferously.

Jimmy Craighill was nominated and unanimously injected into the Student Council chair for the senior class next year.

Jake Austin, junior class treasurer, submitted the budget for the class as approved by the executive committee at its last meeting. After it was unanimously approved, the meeting was adjourned.

The fight between Clare and Weaver will be settled at the polls at Graham Memorial tomorrow at the same time that the remaining campus elections are decided. The polls will be open from 9 to 5 o'clock.

MACHINE DRIVES ON

The well oiled, free wheeling University party machine ground on the first acrid sands of serious competition last night when Jim Hutchins as well as Joe Fisher was nominated for presidency among the rising juniors as they met in the Phi assembly hall.

After the powerful party cogs were stepped into high gear, Jim Daniel was thrust into the vice-presidency unopposed, and Frank Umstead was conveyed into the office of secretary by a like route.

The party bandwagon lost considerable momentum when Fred Weaver was nominated to oppose Wally Dunham for treasurer, and John Parker heard the call to run against Bill Cochrane for representative to the Student Council.

AND ON . . .

A smoothly functioning political organization that found scanty opposition nominated unopposed candidates for three of the five rising sophomore class officers at a meeting presided over by Class President Pete Mullis last night.

Nominees who will take office

(Continued on page two)

Monogram Club

A Yackety Yack picture of the entire membership of the Monogram club, including newly named monogram winners, will be taken at 10:30 o'clock today on the steps of the law building.

All participants should wear their monogram sweaters, according to Ralph Gardner, president of the club.

'Y' Council Nominees

The Freshman Friendship Council nominated at its meeting last night the following for officers of the rising sophomore cabinet: Bob McGill, president; Drew Martin, vice-president; and Jimmy Coan, secretary and treasurer.

These names will be voted on next Monday night. Nominations from the floor will be in order at that time.

PHI MEETS DUKE SOCIETY TONIGHT

Wiley Parker, Winthrop Durfee Represent Assembly in Debate at 7:30, New East.

Wiley Parker and Winthrop Durfee will represent the Phi Assembly in a debate in New East at 7:30 o'clock tonight against Wade Marr and Robert Morris of the Columbia Literary Society at Duke.

Parker and Durfee were chosen at try-outs Saturday night with James Van Hecke, Robert Smithwick, and Clarence Griffin acting as judges.

Query: Medicine

The Phi Assembly will defend the affirmative of the query: Resolved, that the several states adopt socialization of medicine. This change would include, among other things, the affording to all citizens at nominal costs general medical care and the services of hospitals and clinics.

Speeches will be eight minutes in length and five minutes will be allowed for rebuttals. The Dialectic Senate will join in the first joint meeting of the societies since the fall quarter.

This debate marks the resumption of forensic relations with Duke which had been cancelled for a number of years.

INSTITUTE OFFERS ANOTHER SPEAKER

Rabbi Wise Lectures Tomorrow On Hitler, Jews.

As a continuation of the Human Relations Institute, Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, son of the late Rabbi Isaac Wise, has been invited to speak here tomorrow night on "Hitler and the Jews."

Rabbi Wise, noted for his almost radical progressiveness, has just returned from a trip through Germany, England, and France. He speaks today in Raleigh on the same subject.

The invitation tendered Rabbi Wise came as a result of the enthusiastic reception accorded the Institute by the campus, and the fact that a small amount of the Institute fund was left over after payment of debts.

All the periodicals on display in Memorial hall last week in connection with the Institute have been transferred permanently to the Bull's Head Bookshop.

Reporters Wanted

There are now three vacancies on the reportorial staff of the Daily Tar Heel. Any student desiring to try out for one of these positions is asked to see Bob Page in the Daily Tar Heel office in Graham Memorial between 2 and 4 o'clock this afternoon.

FAIRLEY IS WEDGE IN TRIANGLE FIGHT

Thompson's Candidacy Is Surprise; Poe Is Only Opposed Publication Nominee.

16 NOMINEES UNOPPOSED

The three candidates for president of the student body — Francis Fairley, "Snooks" Aitken, and Jack Pool — will present their views on student government in Memorial hall this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Announcement of Francis Fairley for president of the student body and Carl Thompson for editorship of the Carolina Magazine injected surprise and complication into the political scene as campus-wide candidates were nominated in Memorial hall yesterday morning.

The candidacy of Fairley, a student councilman, now makes the race for student body president a three-cornered one. Both Fairley and Stuart Aitken are independents in opposition to Jack Pool, University party nominee.

Third Hat, Fairley

A third hat in the ring may result in a run-off election. Although Fairley is conceded to be the weakest of the three candidates, he can make trouble for both his opponents by cutting into their support or by using it as a balance of power in favor of either.

Thompson, who passed up an opportunity to submit his name when the Magazine held its staff nomination Sunday, will oppose Charlie Poe, University party nominee and official choice of the staff. He was named in Memorial hall by Virgil Lee, who ran for the Magazine editorship last year.

Official staff nominees of the four publications are, as announced yesterday, as follows: Nelson Lansdale (Finjan), Phil Hammer (DAILY TAR HEEL), Claude Rankin (Yackety Yack), and Charlie Poe (Carolina Magazine).

Vote Tomorrow

The following campus-wide candidates will be voted on in election tomorrow: president of the student body—Jack Pool (nominated by Benton Bray), Stuart Aitken (by Ken Young), and Francis Fairley (by Thurman Vick); editor of the Carolina Magazine — Charles Poe (nominated by the staff) and Carl Thompson (nominated by Virgil Lee).

The following candidates are unopposed and therefore automatically elected by their nomination yesterday: vice-president of the student body—Tom Evins; president of the Athletic Association—Jim McCachren; vice-president of the Athletic Association—Marvin Allen; editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL—Phil Hammer; editor of the Yackety Yack—Claude Rankin; editor of the Finjan—Nelson Lansdale.

President of the Y. M. C. A.—Billy Yandell; vice-president—Don McKee; secretary—George MacFarland; treasurer — Grey Yeatman; cheerleader — Lester Ostrow; debate council—Oliver Cross and Robert Smithwick; senior representative to the Publications Union Board—Charles Ivey; junior representative—Ned McAllister; representative-at-large Fletcher Ferguson.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee, Don McKee.
FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.
CITY EDITORS—Walter Hargett, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt, Eddie Kahn.
TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Charlie Gilmore, Bill Jordan.
DESK MEN—Stuart Rabb and Mac Smith.
SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.
EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.
STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.
REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: WALTER HARGETT

Tuesday, April 9, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

It's too bad about Mr. Montgomery getting clucked with an egg. Dave Clark must have thrown it when he saw red.

The results of yesterday's nominations only go to prove that the modern machine can do the work of 2,000 men and women.

"Race for Presidential Offices May Be Most Heated in Years." And according to that, our candidates will begin by warming to the subject in Memorial hall this morning.

The Students Want Peace

Although the local anti-war demonstration is not definitely linked with the half-dozen national organizations sponsoring peace strikes on April 12, the same objects are embraced in the efforts of Carolina students toward a successful rally.

Elsewhere in this issue is an article pointing out five new deadly weapons of war now being perfected by the United States government—while the Senate debates taking profits out of war, and the youth of the country are conscious of a great feeling of repulsion at the whole militaristic scheme. Nations of Europe and Asia are at each other's throats, thirsting for conflict only 17 years after the most disastrous war in history.

No wonder youth rises in protest. With the purpose "to stimulate solid consciousness of the futility and ghastliness of war and to impel student action toward the repression of further conflict," students on this and other campuses will take their stand for peace Friday morning. The protest might seem futile, but to the souls of a self-conscious rising generation, it is intensely earnest. It is our duty to do our part in this mass action against destroyers of peace and mankind.

More Champs For Carolina?

Local tennis fans are looking forward to another Tar Heel national championship team within a year or two. And the expectations are well founded on the records of both varsity and freshman teams to date.

The varsity has won three matches overwhelmingly, one of them with the highly touted Dartmouth team which held Princeton to a 5-4 score last year. True, Captain Husted was evidently not here for the purpose of playing tennis and the whole Green team was in terrible condition, but the results of the match should give the Carolina men increased confidence when they head north for their swing around the circuit. The results of the freshman meet with Duke are just as portentious. The Tar Babies easily defeated their opponents in the first five singles matches and showed up poorly in the doubles only because of the desirability of testing some of the anxious substitutes in actual competition.

The prestige which Carolina previously enjoyed on the courts has meant much to the University. And there is no reason why the Tar Heels should not again head for the national title when the present freshman team which Coach Kenfield characterizes as the best since the days of Grant and Hines, is able to add its support to an already strong varsity.

This Is a Fee Country

We raise the question again, with the imminent inauguration of a new set of student officers, of the right, under the principle of fair return for money invested, of the Debate Council to receive the student fees which undergraduates now pay.

The question does not concern the debaters' right to be supported but their right to fees of such proportions. Disregarding for the moment the interest of the students in debating, we consider what the debaters do with their money.

A recent trip taken by two outstanding student debaters covered thousands of miles and undoubtedly was a medium for better interschool relations. Perhaps the trip was worth what it cost and then again, perhaps to the student undergraduate financing the trip it was not.

Three debaters, we are told, were tendered a banquet on their visit here and nearly 20 persons were in attendance, members of the local debating group, we imagine, and their friends, or somebody's friends. At any rate, banquets run into money, which we would not begrudge the debaters or anyone else—if it came from a banquet fee. Furthermore, we rightfully acknowledge the necessity and appropriateness of entertaining visitors, but we see no reason for feeding 20 when only three visitors attend.

If that argument seems trite, we can turn to the more common student opinion that debating on the Hill does not justify the expenditure of 50 cents a year (giving the debaters an annual fund, we suppose, of over $1000) by each student in the form of fees. At the most, not more than 40 persons attend the debates here, although some times Mr. Olsen's public speaking class is present en masse and the debaters can swell with pride, and do, at the members. At three debates this year only ten persons were present, unofficial observers report. Furthermore, probably not one student in five has ever been to a local debate nor cares to attend, for various reasons.

We submit the question to incoming officers, if their influence or inquisitiveness might impel a re-allocation of all student fees. There are many uses to which the present fees could be put, and of considerably more importance and benefit to the students who pay the money.

Health Insurance

"It is conservatively estimated that about 70 per cent of all American families are unable, with their present incomes, to meet necessary costs when one or more of their members is taken ill," stated the American Observer.

The gravity of this situation has led to the experimentation with health insurance plans. Although these plans of health insurance, or hospitalization, have had their origin in the large cities, at present, towns with only a few thousand of population are developing the idea.

Some 30 or more cities have already adopted the group hospitalization plans in the United States, with over 100 hospitals participating. The cost of membership into a plan ranges from $6 to $12 a year and the period of free treatment from 15 to 30 days. During this period, the patient receives the best of care, as well as x-ray and surgical service.

Commendable is the fact that no profit motive is involved in these various plans; if any excess revenue is realized, it is used to reduce rates or to extend the service.

Many social workers believe that these insurance plans are limited in their scope, and that the only way for the majority of the people to realize any benefit from them is for the states to induce the hospitals within their borders to accept the idea.

The Greeks Had A Word for It

The Human Relations Institute has come and gone. It brought with it excellent speakers, new thoughts on current international problems. Possibly one of the most interesting phases discussed was the way in which the different governments deal with their political prisoners. Greece, land of history, offers a new plan.

The old Greeks had far more than a word for it; our civilization is more indebted to ancient Hellas than it may be willing to admit. And now comes another contribution to civilization.

The U. S. S. R. has its Siberia and execution squads; Reichsfuehrer Hitler invoked the blood purge and dug up the lost art of beheading; Mexico lines up its political prisoners in a cement-walled enclosure and mows them down with machine gun bullets. Greece on the other hand condemns its rebellious citizens to public degradation of rank and to life imprisonment at hard labor. The coming election may even result in the government declaring a general amnesty.

Such treatment is, to say the least, refreshing. It betokens an independence of thought and a broad concept of humanity which contrasts strongly and much more favorably with the barbarous devices now in use in the other nations. The world in general awaits the results with dubious eyes, but it has done that down through th ages when custom has been ignored.

SPEAKING the CAMPUS MIND

By No Means Vote-Seeking

Editor, the DAILY TAR HEEL:

My nomination for editor of the Carolina Magazine yesterday morning, although not coming exactly as a surprise, was the result of a sudden decision of mine to crystallize a feeling of protest which is generally shared by a number of students against a political organization which consciously "back-seats" a qualified, loyal-to-party man in favor of one whose fraternity is the more powerful politically.

Although I have utter confidence in my ability to edit the Carolina Magazine and feel that I could do so to the advantage of the writers and readers of the campus, I do not intend this letter as a vote-seeker because I know that an appeal to the amazing ability of the individual to think for himself on this campus cannot be as powerful an appeal as the hefty paddle and the threat of fraternity expulsion, both of which are used very effectively as a coercive means in getting a fraternity party its votes.

It is (the letter that is) intended rather only as an explanation of why I, who have once received the rejection of the campus as editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL, have again offered my name as a candidate for the editorship of a campus organ.

By the way, who was this guy, Ben Proctor?

CARL G. THOMPSON, Jr.

'Great, This Hell Week,' Said Beta Soph--Week Ago

"Hell Week is the very best thing that could happen to a freshman," said Sophomore Robert Williams, Beta Theta Pi ardent champion of the annual initiation institution—last week.

"It teaches them respect, subordination and obedience," continued dogmatic Mr. Williams who vowed that his experience last year was one of the cherished holdings of his memory.

"The Betas are doing a great job by their freshmen this year," he would have us believe.

One of last week's dark nights . . . a shadowy group of forms . . . a struggling body . . . the roar of an automobile as it sped away from the Beta Theta Pi fraternity house.

Fourteen miles into the wilderness of North Carolina they carried Mr. Williams . . . the Beta freshmen returned to their slumbers at Carolina . . . Mr. Williams homeward plodded his weary way . . . darkness and 14 miles to Chapel Hill.

One lick each was the verdict of Mr. Williams for his obedient-Hell Week-trained Beta pledges. . . What now, Bob?

Grail Dance

Freshmen Will Be Admitted to Affair Saturday.

Freshmen will be admitted to the Grail dance Saturday night from 9 to 12 o'clock in the Tin Can, Simmons Patterson, treasurer of the order, announced yesterday.

Bill Allsbrook, now filling an engagement at the O. Henry Hotel in Greensboro, will play for the dance, and admission will be $1.

Sick:

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Robert Van Sleen, Mrs. Amy Fetzer, Pat Gaskins, and James Idol.

Art Of Killing Is Being Developed To A Fine Point For Our Defense

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press)

Washington, April 8.—(UP)—The men charged with the duty of defending American soil have five deadly weapons which they can add to America's arsenal when and if war comes again.

Debate in Congress on ways and means of taking the profit out of war has not interfered with the unceasing search of the Army and Navy for more effective engines of destruction.

The development has extended to all arms of the fighting force—land, sea and air. Some of the weapons still are in the stage where their development is being closely guarded, but others have been perfected to the point where it is possible to describe them in detail.

The proudest achievement of the Army is a new tank. It can go racing across open fields at a speed ranging between 50 and 60 miles an hour. Comparatively small in size, it gains effectiveness because of the fact that it can skim hedges, gullies and all other natural obstacles.

It virtually eliminates cavalry from the scheme of war. Safe behind thick armored plates, two men can deal out wide destruction from this tank. This new instrument of war has passed beyond a theory and is a fact. Factories already are turning out the new tanks and the Army probably will have 60 of them before the end of the year.

Eventually, the Army hopes to take two of its new weapons and combine them. Heretofore tanks have been armed with machine guns. The new theory is to replace the machine guns with a deadlier weapon that comes under the general classification of cannon.

The one-pound cannon which the Army now has are fed by hand. That slows down the rate of fire. So, experts have turned their ingenuity to the perfection of a cannon that can be fed by mechanical means. They have just about succeeded. The new weapon will be able to fire 100 shots a minute, which makes it almost a machine gun except that instead of firing small bullets it spouts destructive shells. The next step will be to install the one-pounders in the new tanks, giving the United States a "land battleship" that easily could turn the tide of battle under present fighting conditions.

Much of the next war will be fought in the air, and the Army has devoted considerable attention to anti-aircraft guns.

They have come out with what is called a "stratosphere gun." It is a variation of the famous French .75, which was one of the most effective weapons the Allies had in the last war. By pointing the muzzle of this gun straight into the air, the Army artillery can send a shell arching 50,000 feet—higher than airplanes can fly effectively.

The Navy continues its work on "flying battleships." These are planes, armed with machine guns, that have a cruising range of 3,000 miles. They can carry tons of explosives, and their chief virtue is that they can be used for scouting out to sea as well as bombing. Tests on two of these planes are under way. If they work out satisfactorily, the Army plans to order 30. It will take a year to build them.

Washington's naval factory is on a day and night shift turning out a new cannon that has a range of about 20,000 yards. The Navy says no new principle is involved in this weapon, but it is longer than the ordinary five-inch bore gun, and the idea is to [illegible] better elevation with it. It is built primarily for use on destroyers.

Experiments also are being made with mechanical contrivances that make gun-fire more effective. The Navy is developing sound detectors and directional range finders that go far toward removing the element of chance from artillery operations. Sound waves, under this device, locate the enemy. Two wires on the gun sights cross each other under the impulses of the sound waves and all the gunner has to do is to aim at the point where the wires cross to get a direct shot.

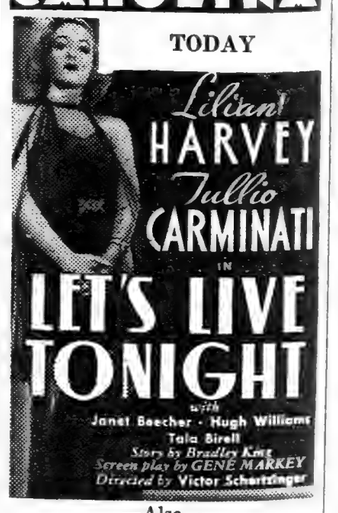
Elections

(Continued from page one)

without opposition after the formality of an election tomorrow are: for president, Ramsay Potts; for vice-president, David "Red" Meroney; for secretary, Carl Pfeiffer.

More Bumps

For the office of treasurer, John Ramsay and Stuart Leake were nominated before nominations could be voted closed. Cecil Ford and Warren Haddaway were nominated for representative to the Student Council.



President Mullis reminded the students of the approaching freshman dance which is scheduled for Friday night. He explained that the $250 appropriated by the dance committee was to cover the complete expenditures and not just to pay for the orchestra.

He urged all freshmen to attend, since the affair is without charge to first year men. No bids will be issued, but a doorkeeper will check freshmen's names as they enter.

Senior Comprehensives

Comprehensive examinations for seniors in the A. B. and commerce schools are scheduled for May 18 instead of May 4, according to an announcement from the office of Dean A. W. Hobbs yesterday.

—Also—
Musical Comedy
Dumbell Letters

MIDNIGHT SHOW FRIDAY
Doors Open at 11:15 P. M.
PAUL LUKAS
LEILA HYAMS
"Sing Sinner Sing"

Carolina And Duke Mass Net Meet Starts Today

FIRST 40 RANKING BOYS WILL PLAY

Meet to Be Staged on Courts of Both Schools and Will Get Underway at 2 O'clock.

HARRIS PLACED AT ONE

The gigantic mass tennis meet opens this afternoon with the class of Duke and Carolina competing. The players have been ranked from 1 to 40, with the odd numbered players making the trek to Duke and the others entertaining here.

Harvey Harris leads the Tar Heels to Durham at 2 o'clock Ricky Willis, placed as second, will be the leading Carolina netter at Chapel Hill to defend our tennis supremacy against Duke.

Start at 2 O'clock

All players are to report at 2 o'clock. The ones that will go to Duke will be transported to the opponents' tennis courts by waiting automobiles. The even numbered players will start practice at the same time on the Carolina courts.

Rain will cause a postponement until Wednesday. Other conditions, including damp weather, will not defer the meet.

Ranking

The players competing today follow:

At Duke: 1—Harvey Harris, 3—Eddy Fuller, 5—Walter Levitan, 7—Frank Shore, 9—Lawrence Jones, 11—Byron Abels, 13—Gordon Robinson, 15—John Foreman, 17—Joe Greer, 19—Tom Gold, 21—Syd Weinstein, 23—Al Elweel, 25—Seymore Fast, 27—John Yeomans, 29—Ray Bartleman, 31—Fred Stein, 33—Charles Poe, 35—Ben Willis, 37—Paul Onasch, 39—Stuart Parker.

At Carolina: 2—Ricky Willis, 4—Ramsay Potts, 6—Eddy De Gray, 8—Bill Minor, 10—Archie Henderson, 12—Jim Johnson, 14—Mark Lynch, 16—Frank Farrell, 18—Earl Ruth, 20—Bill Clover, 22—Vic Strasberger, 24—Irv Kasen, 26—Lefty Coxeter, 28—Jim Bloom, 30—Bill Harrison, 32—Gene Odum, 34—Colin Stokes, 36—Claude Brown, 38—Morty Singer, 40—Dan Bryan.

Ruffin Enters 48 And Boosts Mass Encounter Total

With the whole-hearted support of Ruffin dormitory, the entries for today's mass meet took a turn for the better, reaching well over 100.

Ruffin sent in the grand total of 48 to set an example for the entire school. This will certainly send Ruffin zooming in intramural standing, as each individual entrant gives his organization two points by entering. Z. B. T. is next with 14 individual participants.

Therefore the more entries for a dormitory or fraternity, the better for that organization. Entries may yet be posted today.

All players already having signed without signifying their organization are requested to do so.

List Growing

The list is growing but there is yet need for quite a few more to reach the number that Duke has attained.

Today's play will have the better players seeing action. The varsity and frosh teams will comprise the majority of the first 40 players to represent Carolina in today's play.

Mural Card

The intramural playground ball tournaments will begin this afternoon should the weather permit. Today's program is as follows:

4:00: Ringers vs. Manly.

5:00: S. A. E. vs. Phi Kappa Sigma.

TIGERS AND REDS PLAY AT DURHAM

American League Champs Will Battle National Loop Nine Tomorrow Afternoon.

Durham, April 8.—Durham's first exhibition game between two major league clubs is on the sports' calendar for Wednesday, April 10, with the Detroit Tigers, champions of the American league meeting the Cincinnati Reds of the National loop. The game will be called at 3:15 o'clock.

North Carolinians in the lineups of the two teams make the game particularly interesting and indications are that many out-of-town visitors will be here for the clash.

The Tigers boast Pitchers Alvin Crowder of Winston-Salem; Vic Sorrell of Morrisville, and Jake Wade of Morehead City, and Catcher Ray Hayworth of High Point.

Youngsters with Reds

Infielder Lew Riggs of Meb-

(Continued on last page)

CAGE DRILLS BEGIN

More men are wanted out for the varsity basketball spring practice, particularly tall players. Experienced players are urged to turn out but this is no necessity. Practices are taking place every afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Tin Can.

QUARLES TRAINS FOR RING FIGHT AGAINST JACOBS

Lightweight Bout at Richmond Monday; Jacobs Is Only Conqueror of Blond Since June.

TAKES DRILLS IN TIN CAN

After a long tour through the southern states, Norment Quarles, the blond fistic terror, has again returned to school. Quarles, who will long be remembered as one of the greatest lightweights ever turned out of Carolina, has been having remarkable success since his desertion from the ranks of the simon pures.

Fighting his way through Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, and Florida, he has met and defeated the best that Dixie has had to offer.

Norment has one blotch on his record that he is going to attempt to erase next Monday night at Richmond. Since his departure from Chapel Hill last June Quarles has lost but one fight.

Top Ranks

The man holding a decision over the blond is regarded as one of the best lightweights in the country. This man, Stumpy Jacobs, has scored kayos over many of the leading 135-pounders in both this section and that part of the country north of the Mason and Dixon line.

In their last meeting, Jacobs decisioned Quarles in a close bout. Quarles was handicapped in this bout by a sore hand, but rather than cause a postponement, he went ahead and fought.

Now Ready

This time, the Tar Heel is in tip-top shape and is fully confident of reversing the tables over his more experienced oppo-

(Continued on last page)

Large Number Already Entered For Hi Track And Tennis Meets

Thirteen Teams Have Already Decided to Take Part in Net Tourney While Seven Clubs Have Signed for Cinder Meet; Medals to Be Given Individual and Team Winners.

With entries already in from 13 high school teams for the annual North Carolina interscholastic high school tennis tournament here Thursday and Friday, and seven entries from high school teams for the track meet here Friday, indications point to a record in the entry lists and in interest in both events.

The schools which have already sent entry blanks for the tennis tournament are: Charlotte, defending champion in both singles and doubles, Wilmington, Durham, Chapel Hill, Denton, Southern Pines, Raleigh, Washington, Wilson, Sanford, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, and Henderson.

Track teams already entered are: Durham, defending champion, Winston-Salem, Raleigh, Rockingham, Goldsboro, Barium Springs, and Greensboro.

Track Events

The following 14 events will be held in track: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard run, 880-yard run, one-mile run, 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard low hurdles, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, 12-pound shot put, discus, javelin, and mile relay.

The relay will not be counted in the scoring, but a trophy will be given the winning team.

Medals will be awarded individual winners, in addition to a cup for the winning team.

The tennis tournament rules specify that each school may enter one man in the singles and two in the doubles. A cup will be given both winners, with all awards in tennis and track to be presented Friday night at the conclusion of the high school debates here.

The track meet will be the 23rd annual, the tennis tournament the 20th.

The longest standing track record is the 1926 mark in the century, the time of 10.1 seconds turned in by Wade Ison of Charlotte, now sports editor of the Charlotte News.

Other marks for the high school stars to shoot at are: 220-yard dash, 22.4 by Frank Sizemore of High Point, 1931; 440-yard run, 52.8 by James Montgomery of High Point, 1932; half-mile, 2:3.4 by William Rankin of Wilmington, 1930; mile, 4.36.4 by Seamon Hudson of Raleigh, 1931; 120-yard high hurdles, 16.2 seconds by Tom Hawthorne of Charlotte, 1931.

220-yard low hurdles, 26 seconds by Eugene Smith of Wilmington, 1930; shot put, 47 feet 11½ inches by Marion Sams of High Point, 1933; broad jump, 22 feet 1 inch by Guy Soule of Charlotte, 1931; pole vault, 12 feet by Norman Hendricks of High Point, 1933; discus, 126 feet ½ inch by Oscar Mullis of Charlotte, 1930; javelin, 174 feet 8 inches by Harold Sutton of Charlotte, 1932; mile relay, 3:40.4 by High Point, 1931, and Goldsboro, 1934.

Track coaches will meet at 10 o'clock Friday morning at Emerson field.

Sports Staff

There will be a meeting of the sports staff at 1:30 this afternoon in the Daily Tar Heel office.

TRACKMEN BEGIN WORK FOR MEET WITH CAVALIERS

Bad Weather Hinders Practice; Squad Begins Trials to Decide Penn Relays Entries.

NO ENCOUNTER THIS WEEK

A continuance of bad weather gave the varsity and freshmen track squads an additional day of rest yesterday. A few of the more ambitious ones did take a few laps of jogging.

The coaches seemed well pleased with the fine showing the team made against William and Mary on Saturday but stated that there would not be the least let-up from now until the Southern Conference meet.

Though "Monk" Little did steal Saturday's show, several of the Carolina boys came through in a pleasing manner. The fine showing of Connell in both the century and broad jump, of Wrenn in the shot put, and of Barwick in the discus lent further encouragement.

Prep for Penn Relays

From now on trials will be conducted to determine entries in the Penn relay events to be held in Philadelphia on April 26-27. Last year Ralston LeGore captured the javelin title for U. N. C.

The next outside competition for either of the squads will come April 16 when the freshmen travel to Durham to face the Blue Imps in the first of two scheduled meetings. The varsity will engage Virginia on April 20.

Tomorrow's practice session will be devoted to an inter-squad meet on Emerson field.

GRID KICKERS

Coach Carl G. Snavely wants all football players that he has called out for kicking practice to report for work this afternoon.

Baseball Tilt Again Rained Out; Tar Heels To Play Deacons Next

TABLE NETSTERS TO HAVE TOURNEY

Invitation Table Tennis Tournament to Decide School Team For Coming Exhibition.

An invitation table tennis tournament, held in connection with the coming exhibition by national stars, will be staged tomorrow at Graham Memorial to determine a two-man team which will face the invading experts.

The exhibition will have the stars playing against each other, but as an added attraction a school team will offer competition to the visitors.

The tourney will have the best 16 players in the University competing in an elimination contest. The finalists will be the two to clash racquets with the New York famed players.

Selections

The players selected are as follows: Wilson Coffin, Doug Cartland, Coit Coker, Eddy Fuller, Dick Gabori, Phil Kind, Irv Kalmanoff, Walter Levitan, Joel Lasky, Len Lorberbaum, Gene Odum, Ramsay Potts, Len Rubin, Jack Strauss, Syd Weinstein, and Johnny Yeomans.

This list is open to correction and all players that believe themselves entitled to a position, are asked to report this to the desk at Graham Memorial at any time today.

The tourney opens tomorrow and the draw will be published in the DAILY TAR HEEL of that day. The matches shall be three games out of five.

This tournament will be considered as the official school championship. The players have been selected on their recent showing in the intramural tournament and are believed to represent the best of the table tennis crop now in school.

McCarn Is on Bench With Broken Finger

Tatum or Rhodes Will Likely Fill In at First Base; Wake Forest Here Thursday.

MEET LEAKSVILLE FRIDAY

The baseball game, scheduled with Michigan to be played yesterday, was called off due to wet grounds and unfavorable weather conditions.

Since the Wolverines could not arrange another date on which to play the Tar Heels, the contest between the two teams has been definitely cancelled.

The Tar Heel nine will be facing hard workouts today and tomorrow in preparation for the next game with Wake Forest Thursday.

Deacs Again Strong

The Deacons, coached by the veteran John Cadell, usually finish near the top or on top of the Big Five heap, and they boast another strong team this year.

Coach Hearn is faced with the problem of finding a man to replace Buck McCarn, who suffered a broken finger in the Davidson contest last Friday.

The big first baseman's hitting power will be greatly missed in the Tar Heel lineup. He was responsible for one of his team's five hits off the Wildcats' pitcher.

Tatum May Shift

Tatum may be shifted to first base and Strayhorn, peppery reserve catcher, will then get the call at the regular backstop position, or Morris Rhodes, who has been working at first on the second nine, may be moved up.

Following Thursday's contest with Wake Forest the Tar Heels will play Leaksville of the Bi-State league at Leaksville Friday. They will return to the Emerson diamond Saturday for a game with State College.

Gloomed by a Glummy?

... light an Old Gold

When Sammy Sniveller glums a gala evening by weeping in his pretzels, Sadie Sunshine simply lights a mellow, smooth Old Gold . . . Then presto, 'chango! The lower Sammy sinks, the higher Sadie soars. For Old Gold has a magic way of pulling silver linings out of clouds.

© P. Lorillard Co., Inc.

AT TRYING TIMES . . . . TRY A Smooth OLD GOLD

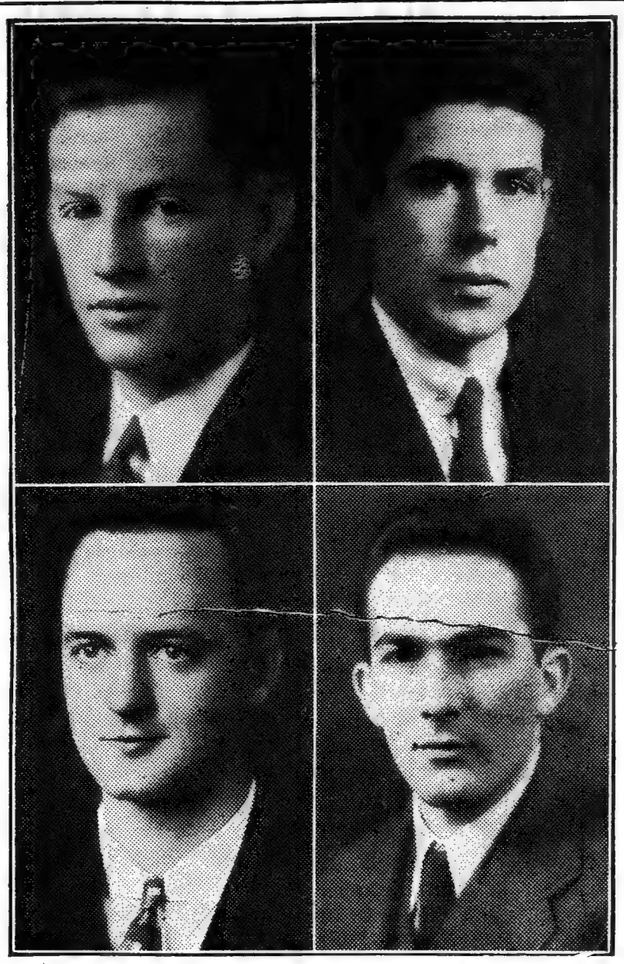
Exhibition

(Continued from page three)

ane has made a great impression with the Cincinnati club and appears to have the inside track for the third base job with the Reds.

Johnny Mize, formerly of Greensboro in the Piedmont league, probably will take care of first base, since Jim Bottomley is having contract trouble. Junie Barnes of Churchland, who went south with the Reds, is ticketed for Toronto to gain some experience.

Many other celebrities will be on hand, including Manager Mickey Cochrane, Schoolboy Rowe, Goose Goslin, Hank Greenburg, Jo-Jo White and Charley Gehringer of the Tigers, and Chick Hafey, Sammy Byrd, Si Johnson, Danny MacFayden, Ernie Lombardi and Adam Comorosky of the Reds.



The game will mark the opening of Durham's newly renovated municipal park. A sod infield put in during the winter has added striking beauty to the plant, which is enclosed by a new all-metal fence. Local proceeds will go to the Durham high school athletic fund for the purchase of new equipment.

Guild Editor Speaks

Miss Helen Ferris, editor of the Junior Literary Guild, will speak to the library science students at 11 o'clock this morning on the subject, "Principles of Book Selection for Young People."

Among the books written by Miss Ferris is "It Happened to Me." In addition to editing several anthologies, she has served on the editorial staffs of several juvenile publications.

U. N. C. DEBATING TEAMS

On holiday tours to the north and south the above students represented the University in a series of intercollegiate debates.

Composing the team which debated in New York and way stations are: top, Don Seawell and (right) Winthrop Durfee. Touring to New Orleans, Francis Fairley and (right) Norman Kellar.

Ethics Class

The class in moral and social ethics conducted by Dr. F. J. Morrissey will meet at 12 o'clock tomorrow in 101 Murphey. This class will be held every week during the spring quarter.

King's Daughters

The King's Daughters will give a silver tea at the residence of R. B. Lawson from 4 until 6 o'clock this afternoon. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

NOTICE: SENIORS

Thursday is the last day for having measurements made for the Senior Week regalia, now on display at the Student Co-operative store.

Seniors as yet unmeasured should have their measure taken immediately.

No Assembly Thursday

The special freshman assembly called for 10:30 a. m. Thursday will not occur, it was announced last night.

The change of plans is necessary because Dr. Karl Polanyi, who was to speak at the meeting, is recovering from an illness and will be unable to appear in more than one lecture on the campus.

All freshmen are urged to attend his lecture tomorrow night under the auspices of the Foreign Policy League.

Med School Officers

Alpha Kappa Kappa, first year medical school political party, placed all candidates in the election of class officers yesterday morning.

New officers are: Merle Carson, president; Sammy Langsam, vice-president; Laura Ross, secretary and treasurer, and Melvin Smith, Student Council representative.

CALLING ALL FROSH

Will the writer of the letter signed "By Just Another Dumb Freshman" call by the DAILY TAR HEEL office? No contribution to the "Speaking the Campus Mind" column is printed unless the author identifies himself to the editor.

Quarles

(Continued from page three)

nent. Jacobs' claim to fame lies in his technical kayo of Lou Ambers. Ambers at present is in line for a shot at Barney Ross' crown, being designated as number one challenger by the New York State Athletic Commission.

Quarles has been working out at the Tin Can every afternoon and at no time during his career has he looked better. He is moving faster and is punching harder with both hands. He has developed a powerful left hook that should cause Jacobs no end of trouble.

New Manager

Quarles has taken a new manager for himself in the person of Charlie Harvey. This seems to be a wise move as Harvey is probably the best of New York managers. It was this same Charles Harvey that piloted Tom Heeney, the old hard rock from New Zealand, to his titular scrap with Gene Tunney.

Norment is planning on finishing the year at school and then going north after the big game. Harvey is still in Europe with Steve Hamas, who is also under his tutelage. As soon as he returns, arrangements will be made for Quarles' trip to the northlands.

SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY

The 360th meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society will take place at 7:30 tonight in Phillips hall.

Included on the program will be talks by J. N. LeConte of the chemistry department, and W. R. Johnson, Jr., and H. W. Straley, III, of the geology department.

LEAGUE MEETING

The Foreign Policy League will convene for a special meeting at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in Graham Memorial, Agnew Bahnson announced last night.

The meeting will be adjourned in time for the members to attend the lecture at 8:30 by Dr. Karl Polanyi.

Woman's Association

The April meeting of the American Association of University Women will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Episcopal parish house. Officers will be elected, and plans discussed for the entertainment of the State Association in Chapel Hill on April 26 and 27.

Tea will be served and Miss Helen Ferris, editor of the Junior Literary Guild, will speak on "My Work as Editor." All students of the library school are invited.

P. U. Board

The P. U. Board will meet at 2 p. m. today in the Grail room in Graham Memorial, it was announced last night.

FOR RENT

A nice, comfortable, furnished room. Adjoining bath, closet, steam heat. Graham Court Apartments. Phone 4931.

DON BESTOR
ORCHESTRA
(M.C.A. Management)
Roycroft's Warehouse
Durham, N. C.
THURSDAY, APRIL 11
9:00 to 1:30 Script $2.00 Including Tax
Embassy Club—Sponsor

KARL POLANYI
8:30 P. M.
MEMORIAL HALL

The Daily Tar Heel

CAMPUS ELECTIONS
9 A. M.—5 P. M.
GRAHAM MEMORIAL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10, 1935 | NUMBER 140

ASSEMBLY HEARS PLATFORM TALKS BY 3 CANDIDATES

Pool, Fairley, and Aitken Advocate Various Policies Before Scattered Audience.

ABERNETHY URGES VOTING

A scattered handful of students yesterday morning heard and applauded Candidates Francis Fairley, Stuart Aitken, and Jack Pool as they presented their platform in the three-cornered race for student body president that will be decided today at the polls.

President Frank Abernethy introduced as the first speaker, Senior Class President Jack Pool, who outlined his prospective program to include an advisory council composed of the "best minds" of the campus. Pool concluded by declaring himself in favor of the honor system and a "truly representative student government."

Revive the "Buc"

Francis Fairley told the audience that he favored the return of the name "Buccaneer" to the campus humor publication, while keeping the much buffeted magazine on a "high moral plane."

The speeches were concluded by Stuart Aitken, who declared that he would refrain from making any campaign promises. He reminded his listeners that the student president must be a man who is capable of representing his university to the outside world, a qualification that he claimed was often overlooked.

Before dismissing the meeting, retiring student body President Frank Abernethy urged all students to go to the polls today and to vote.

PLAYERS TO GIVE WILLIAMS' PLAY

Experimental Dealing with California Struggle over Irrigation Offered Saturday.

Alton Williams' new full-length play "Water," dealing with the pioneer irrigation development of the San Joaquin valley and the struggle of the original squatters to prevent invading newcomers from claiming their hard-won irrigation water, will be presented in an experimental production by the Carolina Playmakers Saturday evening at 8:30.

Williams writes of his own people, for he is a native of Fresno, California, and was graduated in 1930 from the University of California at Berkeley. After working for a time on three San Francisco newspapers, he came to the University as a graduate student in the drama, interested especially in actual playwriting.

Is Proff's Assistant

For the past two years he has served as assistant to Proff Koch, aiding him in his playwriting courses and acting as stage manager for most of the experimental productions.

The author of "Water" is not new to the realm of creative writing. He has written and had published several short stories; and two of his one-act plays, "Golden Wedding" and "Bought With the Vittles," were produced experimentally by the Playmakers last year.

The cast of "Water," which includes such experienced Playmakers as Carl Thompson, Har-

(Continued on page four)

KNAUFF TO PLAY FOR PROM FRIDAY

Freshmen Will Issue No Bids; To Check Members at Gate.

Freshmen will dance to the music of one of Charlotte's outstanding bands, Billy Knauff and his orchestra, at their class prom next Friday night.

Knauff has been on the University campus since the winter quarter playing in Swain hall during meal times. Margo, his featured vocalist who has appeared many times at Swain, will also sing at the dance.

In Charlotte, the orchestra has served engagements at the Hotel Charlotte, the S. & W. Cafeteria, and over radio station WBT.

Members of the class will be checked at the gate Friday night as no bids will be issued.

Rabbi Not to Come

Rabbi Jonah B. Wise notified Chairman Charles Poe of the Institute on Human Relations yesterday that, because of the recent death of a brother-in-law, he will be unable to accept the invitation tendered him by Poe to speak here this week.

It is hoped that Rabbi Wise, son of the late Rabbi Isaac Wise, who has spoken in Chapel Hill a number of times, can come here later in the year.

POLANYI MAKES ADDRESS TONIGHT

Policy League to Sponsor Lecturer; Subject: Fascism and The Churches of Europe.

Under the sponsorship of the Foreign Policy League, Dr. Karl Polanyi will discuss "The Churches and Fiscism on the European Continent" tonight at 8:30 o'clock in Memorial hall.

From his position as foreign editor of Der Osterreichische Volswirt, published in Vienna, Dr. Polanyi has been a constant spectator of the rise of Fascism in Italy and its consequent spread to Germany.

He: "Hiya, Hitler"

The names of its two great proponents, Il Duce Mussolini and Der Feuhrer Hitler, have for him the ring of everyday, intimate familiarity, and when he speaks of Black Shirts and Nazis, it is with the voice of authority.

Dr. Polanyi is an experienced lecturer, having come to the United States this year under the auspices of the Institute of International Education, after completing a two-year tour of England.

The public is cordially invited to attend the address, which is free of charge.

SCHOOLS DEBATE HERE TOMORROW

68 High School Teams Will Participate in Two-Day Activities; Graham to Speak.

Sixty-eight high schools are entered in the debate finals which will be held here Thursday and Friday as a part of state high school week.

President Graham is scheduled to address the mass meeting in Memorial hall at 2 p. m. tomorrow when drawings for sections and pairs in the first debate preliminary will be conducted. Over 200 debaters will take part in the contests, the largest number since 1924.

Track, Tennis Meets

Pairings for the tennis contests will be held tonight and the tournament will begin tomorrow. The track meet will be held Friday.

The first debate preliminary will begin at 7 o'clock tomorrow night with section-debates being held in 16 halls over the campus including those in the department buildings.

Phi and Di halls will be the scenes for the second preliminary which will be held at 8:30 a. m. Friday. The remainder of the sports contest will be run off Friday afternoon.

Dean of Students Francis F. Bradshaw will make the official presentation of the 23-year-old Aycock Memorial cup after the final debate Friday night in Memorial hall.

Conducted by Earl Slocum, the University Symphony Orchestra will give a half-hour concert before the final debate and after the affair a reception to visitors will be given by the Student Union in Graham Memorial.

Dr. Harold D. Meyer of the sociology department is scheduled to make the presentation of the cups and medals to winners in the interscholastic sports meet after Dean Bradshaw's ceremony. Judges for the final debate are Dean A. W. Hobbs, Dean D. D. Carroll, Dr. H. M. Wagstaff, Dr. G. R. Coffman, and Professor N. W. Walker.

DORMITORY COUNCIL

There will be an important meeting of the Dormitory Council at 9:30 o'clock tonight in Graham Memorial, according to Albert Ellis, president. All members are urged to be present as several pertinent matters will be discussed.

Campus Casts Vote Today On Few Contested Offices

Winslow Makes Parting "Y" Speech Monday

Incoming Officers to Be Installed At Meeting April 22.

J. D. Winslow, retiring president of the Y. M. C. A., will review the work of the year in the closing junior-senior cabinet meeting of his term Monday.

The work of the coming year will also be discussed, all old business will be cleared away, and plans will be made for the installation April 22 of the incoming officers, Billy Yandell, president; Don McKee, vice-president; George McFarland, secretary; and Tres Yeatman, treasurer.

TOPICS CONTAINS SNAVELY ARTICLE

"Why Go to College Now" Is Question House Answers in Issue of Tar Heel Topics.

J. Maryon Saunders' new issue of Tar Heel Topics was sent out to prospective students and their parents yesterday, carrying articles by Dean of Administration R. B. House and Head Football Coach Carl G. Snavely.

"Why Go to College Now?" was the question Dean House answered and Coach Snavely discussed the subject, "Morale Is the Important Thing."

Treat Costs, Courses

Treating the variety of courses open to students at the University, describing the summer session and the self-help bureau, the current issue of the paper analyzed the average student's expenses at school here.

Saunders' paper included a wide collection of comments from leading writers, teachers and outstanding personalities on the University itself.

Quotations were taken from letters received in Chapel Hill from such men of prominence as Walter Lippman, author-editor; Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University; James R. Angell, president of Yale; Carter Glass, United States Senator; Ellery Sedgwick, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, and others.

Freshman Dance Leaders

The freshman dance leaders will meet at 7 o'clock tonight in 214 Graham Memorial.

WOMEN NOMINATE MANY CANDIDATES

Both Elections Take Place in Graham Memorial; Polls Open from 9 Until 5 O'clock.

CLOSE RACES EXPECTED

Polls will open in Graham Memorial at 9 o'clock this morning for the election to student offices where there are two or more candidates.

The following campus-wide contests will be settled: For president, Jack Pool, Francis Fairley, and Stuart Aitken; for editorship of the Carolina Magazine, Charles Poe and Carl Thompson.

In the three rising classes the following offices are contested: for senior class treasurer, Jack Clare and Bill Weaver; for junior class president, Joe Fisher and Jim Hutchins; for junior class treasurer, Fred Weaver and Wally Dunham; for junior class representative to the Student Council, Bill Cochrane and John Parker.

In the rising sophomore class the office of treasurer is contested by John Ramsay and Stuart Leake; the representative to the Student Council will be Cecil Ford or Warren Haddaway.

CO-ED ELECTIONS

With the polls opening at 9 o'clock this morning in Graham Memorial, co-eds will elect officers for the Woman's Association and other co-ed offices.

Jane Ross and Priscilla White have been nominated for president of the Woman's Association along with Margaret Jordan and Mary Pride for vice-president. Eliza Rose and Louise Davis will run for secretary, and Ruth Green and Nell Booker for treasurer of the organization.

Shack President

The house president of Spencer hall will be chosen from Nominees Bobbie Moore and Tempe Newsom.

Nominated for president of the Woman's Athletic Association were: Frances Caffey, Nancy Lawlor, and Kay Quigley; for secretary, Jean Van Dusen, Sally Page, and Evelyn Barker.

Ida Winstead is an unopposed nominee for treasurer of the athletic association.

Changes recently made in the co-ed constitution in the future will cause the president of the association to be elected by vote of the co-ed student body at large; the vice-president from the rising senior class; the secretary from the rising junior class; and the treasurer from the rising sophomore class.

House Passes McSwain Measure To Prevent U. S. Aggressiveness

Allsbrook Band to Play For Saturday Dance

Freshmen Will Be Admitted to Grail Affair in Tin Can.

Former Carolina bandmaster, Bill Allsbrook, and his orchestra, now booking from the O. Henry in Greensboro, will play Saturday night for the first Grail dance this quarter.

Freshmen will be admitted to the affair which begins at 9 o'clock in the Tin Can, according to Treasurer Simmons Patterson.

Admission will be $1.

STAGE MAGAZINES NOTE PLAYMAKERS

Players, Theatre Arts Magazines Use Playmaker Scenes.

Already accustomed to national recognition, the Carolina Playmakers won more of it this month in the form of prominent and praiseful mention in Theatre Arts Monthly, perhaps the best known American magazine on the theatre, and Players Magazine, published for the National Collegiate Players.

A shot of Harold Baumstone and Robert Nachtmann in "Shroud My Body Down" and comment on Paul Green's experiment in the combining of music and dialogue in dramatic art occupies a full page in the first publication.

Players Magazine carried two pictures of "Shroud My Body Down" and one of "The Women Have Their Way," written by Joaquin and Serafin Alvarez Quintero and produced by the Playmakers in the Forest Theatre, July 7, 1933.

Policy League

There will be a called meeting of the Foreign Policy League tonight at 7:30 which will adjourn to hear the Polanyi lecture. All members are requested to attend.

Bill's Supporters Say Will Ban War Profits

President During War Would Be Able to Fix Prices and to Tax Away Excess Profits.

PASSES BY VOTE OF 367-15

Washington, April 9.—(UP)—The House of Representatives today passed the McSwain bill in an effort to enroll the United States in the cause of peace at a time when the world is afire with war talk.

If the Senate passes the bill there will be little incentive for the United States ever to declare war again except in the defense of the coasts and borders, advocates believe.

No Aggressive War

Under the terms of the bill no man can be drafted and sent to alien soil to wage a war of aggression, its supporters assert, nor can any man stay at home and become a millionaire on a rising price level, because the bill seizes excess profits as fast as industrialists earn them. The bill passed the House by a huge majority of 367 to 15.

The President is empowered in time of war to fix prices, seize excess profits by taxes, commandeer industrial plants, conscript all the financial resources of the nation, and license all business firms except newspapers, periodicals, and books.

The House also passed the rivers and harbors omnibus bill while the Senate considered calendar bills and passed legislation authorizing the expenditure of $28,000,000 on naval stations.

Grumman to Washington

Extension Director R. M. Grumman, chairman of the local chapter of the Red Cross, and W. B. Stephenson, executive secretary of the local chapter, are both appearing on the program of the national convention of the American Red Cross meeting in Washington now.

Ivey Gives Party Verse-Slogan At Pre-Election Mass Meeting

"Two and two is four,
Is what we learned at school,
And if we learned our lessons well
We'll vote for Poe and Pool."

Thus spoke Pete Ivey as the University Party marshalled its forces last night in Gerrard hall on the eve of the battle of votes at the polls today. Herb Taylor presided at the meeting. After briefly reviewing the history of the University Party and calling to the member's attention the clean sweep victory last year, Taylor urged the members to support the party ticket.

Pete Ivey made a short talk in behalf of the party ticket, telling the loyal supporters to "quit bellyaching and dive in and work for Pool."

Lee Grier sought to refute the theory that organized politics is an unhealthy influence, holding that without some form of organization, candidates unfit for office would be elected. "We have," he stated, "after a long, tedious two months of work arrived at a choice of candidates." He explained that every effort had been made to select the best possible men for the offices.

A sense of good humor prevailed when Benton Bray, formerly of the extinct All-Campus party also spoke in favor of the party's candidates. Professor E. J. Woodhouse commented with favor on the expression of interest in politics shown by the party, terming politics a "royal art, the art of government."

After a short talk by Jim McCachren, Herb Taylor dismissed the meeting with the reminder, "We have got a good ticket, let's elect them."

Di Approves Planned Protest Against War

After passing, 11-2, a motion that the Di Senate go on record as favoring the anti-war demonstration here Friday, that body adjourned last night to attend the debate between representatives of the Phi Assembly and the Columbia Debating Society of Duke University.

The debate, a no decision affair, was on the socialization of medicine. The Duke team was composed of Messrs. Morris and Marr; Representatives Parker and Durfee made up the Phi team.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee, Don McKee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Walter Hargett, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt, Eddie Kahn.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Charlie Gilmore, Bill Jordan.

DESK MEN—Stuart Rabb and Mac Smith.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: JIM DANIEL

Wednesday, April 10, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

Campus politicians would give the bird to the campus, but it's too cold for the robin and too early for the crow.

There's nothing wrong with this nice spring weather. The warmth of love should be more welcome to the young man's fancy.

The administration wants to keep frosh from living in fraternity houses. Maybe the Greeks have a blame for it.

Boos to Educators

Super-loyal Legionnaires, Elks, and D. A. R.'s hissed and booed prominent American educators who, opposing the proposed bill requiring all Massachusetts teachers to take an oath of allegiance to the constitution, spoke at a hearing on the bill. The so-called patriotic organizations which are sponsoring the bill claim that it is the only way to "combat the rising tide of communism." Such outstanding college presidents as Conant of Harvard and King of Amherst declared that the bill was "the surest way to destroy public faith in the constitution" and that it implied that educators were disloyal.

These alarmist organizations are taking every opportunity to spread their "anti-red" measures throughout the country, feeling that they are the only truly loyal Americans and that it is their duty to their native soil to protect the country from disloyalists. In their fanatical zeal the American Legion, the Elks, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Hearstlings have allowed their fear-inspired imaginations to run riot. They are agitating to put down agitation where there is no agitation. Although their actions will probably have no profound effect, they are making of themselves nuisances.

These American organizations have long been placidly accepted as things that were. Frankly, we are puzzled to know what constructive action they have ever done for their beloved nation. Of course, the Legionnaires have hoped to aid national recovery by getting the bonus paid. From what we consider a sane perspective, it seems to us that there are no Americans, educators or others, who are seriously contemplating the overthrow of the American constitution. That patriotic organizations should interpret liberal thought, one of the fundamentals of our democracy, as anti-American is no tribute to their patriotism but rather a reflection upon the soundness of the rank and file of Americans who take them seriously.

Observation On Elections

There has been an all too free hand used by various campaign managers in this election, as in every other, in the matter of posting their dodgers wherever they please. Last year we saw one candidate's posters neatly tacked to campus trees—at a height of ten feet. He didn't win, and we are sure his publicity methods cost him as many as the number of those who witnessed this defacing of the campus.

The gluing and tacking for this election has already progressed to a needless point. Proponents who wish their candidates to remain within the good graces of the campus would do well to refrain from this practice.

A Suggestion To Di and Phi

From time to time in the past year, the Di and Phi literary societies have been conscientiously examining themselves and their methods with an eye to improving them and stimulating campus interest in their opinions and debates.

Many students have the idea that the Di and Phi are more or less copies of each other; those that do not belong to the societies see in them no individuality to distinguish one from the other. It is certainly true that they have lost a good deal of the individuality that formerly set them apart when the members of one society were chosen exclusively from the eastern part of the state and members of the other were chosen exclusively from the west.

The Di and Phi need some inter-relation, if they are not to be considered as mere duplicates, overlapping in both purpose and methods.

We throw it out as a suggestion that they begin a policy of co-operation. By that we mean that they might work out a plan whereby a two-house system of "legislation" could be put into effect. One of the societies would begin the initial debate on a bill, which, if passed, would be sent to the other for debate and approval, or disapproval. In case the second house did not support the bill, it would then be sent to conference committee. The plan, in short, would tend to make our Di and Phi inter-related organizations, much on the model of a bicameral legislative body, though of course, both would be equal in privilege and entitled to conduct their own debates as they wish.

The advantages of his proposal, we believe, are many. For one thing, it would create more interest on the campus in the various bills brought up for consideration; students would be anxious to see whether a controversial issue would receive the approval of both houses. Furthermore, it would give the campus a truer index to the opinions that societies represent if their bills were thoroughly debated, considered over a period of time, and then, if need be, amended to express more precisely the result of these deliberations. And finally, it would obviate the necessity of so many inconsequential and uninteresting subjects being brought up for debate to fill out the calendars.

In our opinion, such a suggestion is well worth considering. We haven't the least doubt that it would revive an extraordinary interest in the Di and Phi.

War Plans For Peace

Friday Carolina students will join the world-wide protest against war, death in no-man's-land, gas strangulation, and involuntary fertilization of the poppies of Flander's fields. There are those who will ask just what is to be accomplished by the usual unthinking outcry against the horrors of war and the usual fevered declaration that no one should fight for anything at any time.

And the answer—nothing. Such rabid yelps tend only to shove the thinking or conservative elements into the militarist ranks because there is no place else for them to go. What the colleges need, and Chapel Hill must get, is a sound, rational plan which will make war for Uncle Sam impossible. And let's for the present limit our visions to the land of the statue of liberty and the blue eagle. If we can keep just one nation, our own, out of war, this generation will have more than enough to be proud of in its old age. There are plenty of practical suggestions being offered which, if put into effect, would make it harder to drag Uncle Sam into a fight than to induce a polar bear into a blazing furnace—revision of neutrality rights, nationalization of munitions, putting American investors in foreign fields on their own, giving Japan a free hand in the Orient, and a prohibitive income tax to go into effect automatically with declaration of war.

Schools and Not Battleships

"Schools, not battleships" is an appropriate slogan to be included in the platform of the student anti-war strikes to be held all over the nation.

In 1932 approximately 20 per cent of the gross expenditures of our government was used for education, as compared to the 67 per cent of the budget which went for war, past and future.

That was before Uncle Sam went in for armaments in a big way. In 1932 only three-quarters of a billion dollars was spent on the army and navy. This year, however, the government is spending some $450,000,000 for its navy, Congress has just passed a bill providing over $400,000,000 to be used for building up the navy, and $405,000,000 more is expected to come for repairs on army forts and headquarters under the new PWA grant. To provide for these enormous expenditures, appropriations to the office of education were decreased $11,422,700 in 1934, and the educational budget is being cut further this year to the tune of $8,648,110.

It is time that the youth of the nation arise in solemn protest against such a governmental policy. We want "schools, not battleships."

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

1:00: George Hall orch., WABC, WBIG.

2:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

4:30: Rochester Civic orch., Guy Fraser Harrison, conductor, WJZ, WSB.

7:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

8:30: Wayne King orch., WEAF, WSB.

9:00: Town Hall Tonight, Fred Allen, comedian, Lennie Hayton orch., WPTF, WLW, WSB; Lily Pons, soprano, Andre Kostelanetz orch., WABC, WBIG, WBT.

9:30: John McCormack, tenor, WJZ, KDKA; Ted Weems orch., WGN.

10:00: Guy Lombardo orch., WPTF, WLW, WSB.

10:30: Ray Noble orch., WLW, WSB.

Senior Regalia

Tomorrow is the last day for having measures made for the Senior Week Regalia now on display at the Student Co-operative store.

PERFECT THIRTY-SIXES ASKED TO BE PRESENT

Senior co-eds are asked to have themselves measured for senior regalia today at the Student Co-operative Clothing Store between 10:30 and 11 o'clock or between 2 and 3 o'clock. Though Haywood Weeks has asked for the job, other co-eds will be on hand to do the measuring.

French Club

There will be a meeting of the French Club tonight at 7:15 o'clock in the Episcopal parish house.

"Abroad's all right with me, Jim ... But see you go on a German Ship"

What the Governor means is that crossing on a German Liner gives an opportunity for first-hand observation on what he terms "combining the Science of Navigation with the Art of Fine Living."

SOMETHING like orchestral playing is this running of ships across the ocean—a special aptitude for ensemble work required of all members . . . You find it on German Ships: Every steward, seaman, officer born to a part, trained by years in working in unison. Ships and equipment as fine as can be made, kept in perfect order. And a tradition that has its hand on every shoulder, day and night.

Fastest Way to France, England, Germany—

Bremen • Europa

The de luxe Columbus leaves June 29 — the Special Student Sailing—for Ireland, England, France, Germany, and every Wednesday Midnight a sailing of the "Famous Four"

New York . . Deutschland
Hamburg . . Albert Ballin

Cabin Liners St. Louis . . Berlin . . Stuttgart to Ireland, England, France, Germany.

Assistance and Advice to Students going abroad for travel or study. Write Educational Service Department, in any of our offices.

Illustrated Literature on all Ships, all Classes. Your Local Travel Agent, or

Hamburg-American Line • North German Lloyd

68 Broad Street Nort h West, Atlanta, Ga.

SPRING SUITS

Fabrics— by the hundreds now on display at the VOGUE

TAILORED FOR YOU . . . from $19.75

ORDER NOW FOR EASTER

Sure—They Are All-Wool and Tailored to the Individual Measure

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED On Every Suit

GENUINE GABARDINE Tailored for You $27.75

The Vogue Shop

In Former Location of Stetson "D"

Tar Heel Netters Lead Duke, 14-0, After First Day Of Big Court Meet

Carolina Men Win Easily From Duke

Only Fourteen Matches Are Played; Eleven Players Win By Straight-Set Routes.

PLAY AT DURHAM TODAY

The mass meet opened this afternoon with but 14 matches being played on the Carolina courts and none at Duke. At the end of the proceedings, the score read 14-0 for the Tar Heel netters, showing a decided superiority for the home boys.

The meet, originally scheduled for play at both schools, was held solely at Carolina because of the poor condition of the courts at Duke.

Although 40 matches should have been contested yesterday, Duke sent only 14 players to Chapel Hill, causing a delay in the plans of the mammoth event.

However, today 40 matches will be played at Duke University and Carolina will be the field of the postponed matches from yesterday's play.

Harris Takes No. 1

Harvey Harris, playing number one, had no difficulty in disposing of Wall, the best Duke

(Continued on last page)

Bill Tilden Predicts Great Future Ahead For Frosh Net Star

"Ramsay Potts has the makings of a great tennis player," Big Bill Tilden told a Raleigh interviewer, according to a clipping from the State College Technician.

The tennis maestro mentioned the name of the Tar Heel freshman when asked to give an opinion concerning future Davis Cup players.

Besides being a tennis player, Potts was a member of the past season's state championship freshman basketball team.

He hails from Memphis, Tennessee.

Calling All Cars

All boys who are able to supply cars for the mass tennis trip to Duke today are requested to lend an aiding hand in getting the players to the Duke courts.

All players, at Duke or here, are required to supply one new tennis ball for their match. The Duke opponent will supply the other.

VARSITY NETTERS ENGAGE DEACONS THIS AFTERNOON

Wake Forest Will Play Tar Heels in Return Meet Here At 3 O'clock Today.

TEAM HAS CLEAN SLATE

Weather permitting, the varsity tennis team will swing into action this afternoon against Wake Forest. The Tar Heels defeated the Deacons 9-0 in the season's opener and should have little difficulty in beating them again.

The match is scheduled for 3 o'clock on the clay courts. This will be Carolina's fourth encounter of the season.

The season was opened with the love victory over Wake Forest, followed by a decisive 7-1 victory over the green-invaders from Dartmouth, and in the third encounter, State was soundly beaten 9-0.

Contrary to the indication that Harvey Harris would play in first singles, Coach Kenfield has selected Captain Walter Levitan to open this return match against Wake Forest.

Harris, Willis, De Gray, Shore, and Minor will probably complete the lineup.

FROSH, VARSITY MEET ON TRACK THIS AFTERNOON

All Members of Both Squads Will Participate in Week's Only Competition.

RUNNING EVENTS AT 4:00

Instead of following the regular practice routine this afternoon, the varsity and freshmen track squads will engage in an intra-squad meet.

The shot put, discus, javelin, and broad jump events will head the program, starting at 3 o'clock. Any of the entrants in these events may take their trials at whatever time they desire.

The high jump and pole vault competitions will be run at 4 and 4:30 o'clock, respectively, while the running events will take place anytime after 4 o'clock.

The wide variety of races which constitute this part of the program are as follows: 100, 220, and 300-yard dashes; 70-yard high and 120-yard low hurdles; 660-yard, 3-4 and 1 1-2 mile runs.

The latter two will be closely watched as the coaches are still

(Continued on last page)

Table Tennis Tournament Today To Determine University Team

Rubin, Cartland, Gabori, and Weinstein Seeded in Tourney, Which Will Decide Two-Man Team to Compete Against National Table Tennis Stars Coming to Tin Can Next Week.

The battle for positions on the Carolina table tennis team opens this afternoon with an invitation elimination tournament. The two players to reach the finals will represent Carolina against nationally ranked stars that are to perform in the Tin Can next Thursday and Friday.

The competition will get under way at 2 o'clock in Graham Memorial and if there is sufficient time, the tourney will be completed during this afternoon's play.

Seeded Players

Four players have been seeded of the 16 entrants. These are Len Rubin, Doug Cartland, Dick Gabori, and Syd Weinstein in that order.

The rest of the field is strong and trouble is expected for the above mentioned before they reach the final rounds. All play except the initial round will be three out of five matches. The first round will be based on the best two out of three.

When two players finally emerge from this talented competition, they will comprise the school team. They, however, will not engage in a match to determine the eventual winner, but in all events will have it out on the exhibition floor of the Tin Can on the gala nights.

The matches were all drawn from a hat and some interesting combats are forthcoming. Time will tell and tonight will find two players sitting on the top of the heap.

To Meet Stars

The school team will clash with Rudy Rubin and Abe Berenbaum, representing two of the best players in the east. Both are New York aces.

Play will start immediately at 2 o'clock and all players are urged to be on time. A slight entry fee will be charged to defer expenses of time on tables.

The draw follows:

Upper half: Len Rubin vs. Coit Coker; Jack Straus vs. Eddy Fuller; Syd Weinstein vs. Irv Kalmanoff; Len Lorberbaum vs. Dan Lipshutz.

Lower half: Doug Cartland vs. Phil Kind; John Yeomans vs. Ramsay Potts; Dick Gabori vs. Joe Kornegay; Gene Odum vs. Joel Lasky.

Baseball Squad Takes Batting Drill In Preparation For Deacs

SIXTY-THREE MEN RECEIVE AWARDS

Athletes Engaging in Winter Sports Are Given Recognition for Service.

Twenty-nine monograms and 34 freshman numerals were awarded to Tar Heel athletes by the Athletic Council Monday night.

Ten major monograms were awarded members of North Carolina's Southern Conference and state championship basketball team, while nine major monograms went to the boxing team. Seven minor monograms were given wrestling.

Managers' monograms were given W. D. McKee in basketball, H. R. Lothian in boxing, and F. L. Bowen in wrestling.

Third Year Awards

The following men received monograms for the third year: Stuart Aitken, basketball; Ivan Glace, basketball; Sam Giddins, boxing; and Sim Efland, wrestling.

The following received mono-

(Continued on last page)

FROSH BASEBALL SQUAD ENGAGES IN LIGHT DRILLS

Wet Field Hinders Regular Practice Session.

Despite the fact that the frosh baseball practice was officially called off yesterday, many of the yearlings donned their uniforms and had a snappy game of pepper.

The hurlers loosened up their arms, which haven't received any exercise since Friday, while the fielders were cavorting around on the sidelines.

Steve Collins, the dynamic little shortstop, was in the field throwing the apple to his mates, and looked none the worse from the spike wound which he received in Friday's practice.

Bricklemyer, the stocky catcher, was wearing a uniform, the pants of which narrowly missed touching the ground. But Brick didn't seem to mind. He was one of the most active men out there as he threw, batted, fielded, and shouted with great ability.

Although the freshmen have been greatly hindered by the calling off of most of their practice sessions, the team seems to shape up pretty well at this time in the training.

If the weather man decides to give the ball players a break today, practice will get under way at 3 o'clock sharp.

Bad Weather Hinders Progress of Players

Coach Hearn Will Need Good Pitching to Win Three Games During Next Three Days.

TATUM MAY SHIFT AGAIN

Bad weather continues to trail Coach Bunn Hearn and hinder his efforts to build a strong baseball team. Yesterday the practice had to be limited merely to hitting drills due to the condition of the diamond.

The Tar Heels have had trouble for the past two weeks reaching top form because of the continual coolness and as a result of the rain have not been able to take a real workout since before the opening game last Friday.

Depend on Pitchers

With most of the players still in such ragged shape, Coach Hearn will necessarily depend mainly on his large, although not sensational, pitching staff for victories in the three games which will be played during the next three days.

After two unsuccessful attempts the Carolina nine will again attempt to play its second game of the season and get its first victory against Wake Forest here tomorrow. Leaksville and Davidson will furnish competition Friday and Saturday.

McCarn Still Out

Although his thumb is not in serious condition, Buck McCarn, sophomore first baseman, must remain out of the lineup for several days. Big Jim Tatum practiced with the first baseman mit yesterday in order to be ready if Coach Hearn shifts him from the catching position to fill the hole.

Morris Rhodes is the other candidate for McCarn's spot and would be the logical choice if his hitting was on a par with his excellent fielding.

If Tatum goes to first it will be his third different position on the nine during the past two years. Most of last season Norman McCaskill handled the receiving and Tatum played right field. In a few tilts when McCaskill was on the bench Tatum did the backstopping and then took over this position in last week's contest with Davidson.

K. A. vs. Chi Phi

There will be only one intramural playground ball game today. Kappa Alpha will meet Chi Phi at 5 o'clock.

All games were called off yesterday due to wet grounds.

PALM BEACH SUITS...New in Value

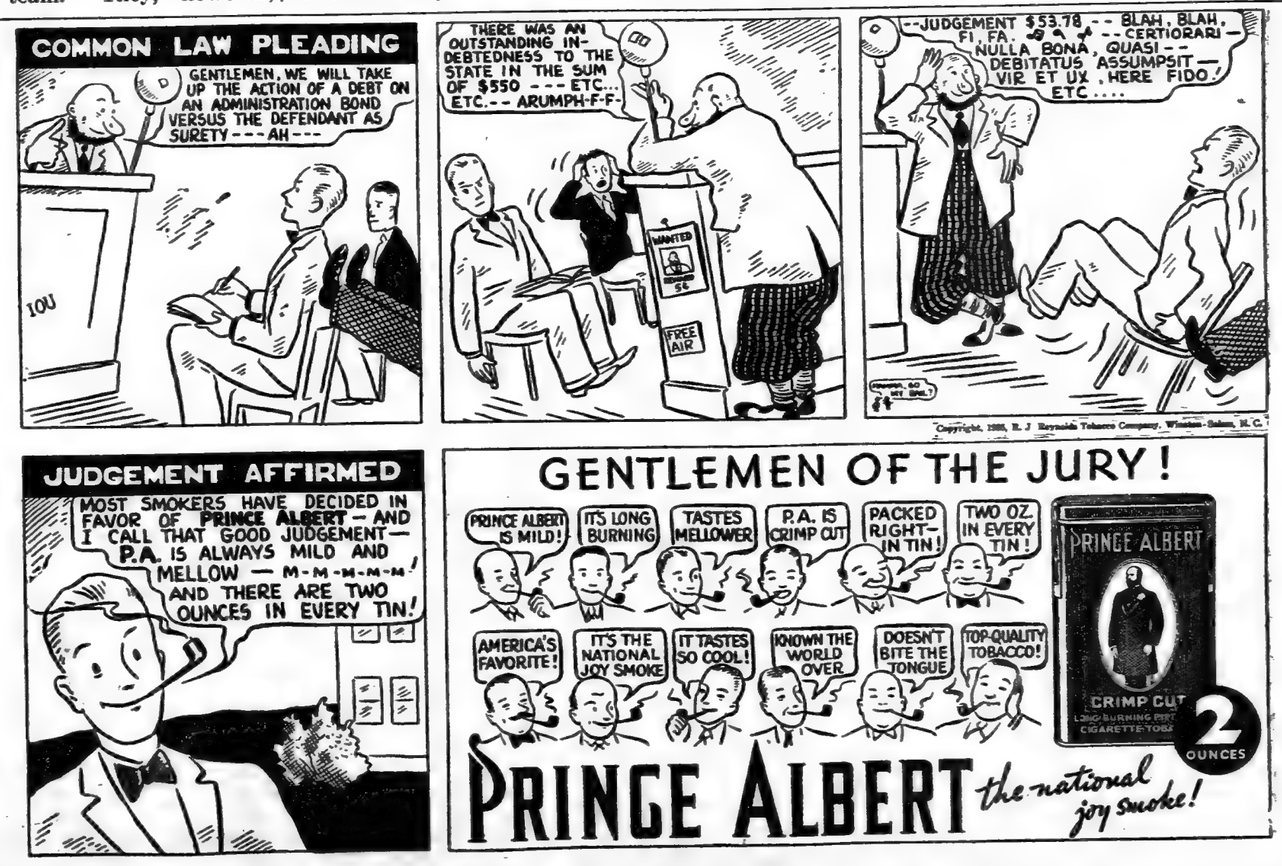
There'll be sizzling-hot days this summer when you wouldn't sell your Palm Beach suit for $15.75 for the rest of the day.

And you can have this Palm Beach cool comfort all summer for only $15.75...And still have a lot of wear left.



Palm Beach is a bigger value than ever this season, because of the lower price and finer tailoring. You ought to see the beauties in white and fashion's newest colors.

Genuine, trade-marked Palm Beach keeps its shape and resists wrinkles better than any other summer suiting. The smooth, fuzzless fibres repel dirt, and let air in and perspiration out.

AT YOUR CLOTHIER'S

GOODALL COMPANY • CINCINNATI

A Complete Line of Palm Beach Suits at MILLER-BISHOP
Durham, N. C.

GRADUATE SCHOOL NAMES FELLOWS

Pierson Releases List of 26 Recipients for Year 1935-36; Alternates Also Given.

Announcement of 26 fellowship appointments for the year 1935-36 in the graduate school has been made by Dean Pierson.

The list of appointments and alternates follows. Reappointments are indicated by asterisks.

Botany: John R. Raper*; Leland Shanor, alternate.

Chemistry: Allen L. Alexander*; Granvil C. Kyker and William W. Williams*; Dan Fore, Jr., J. Frank Nicholson, and Norwood L. Simmons, Jr., alternates.

Classics: Thomas M. Sinkins, Jr.; Hugh Davis, alternate.

Economics and commerce: Edward Brayer and John Berry McFerrin, Jr.; Frederick H. Bunting and Warren J. Baker, alternates.

Education: Hugh P. Smith; Clifford R. Adams, alternate.

Engineering: William L. Blankenburg; Robert A. Bergseth, alternate.

English Fellows

English: Gerald G. Grubb, John Kester Svendson, and Henry W. Sams; John B. Shackford, Ben Gray Lumpkin, and Albert D. B. Langston, alternates.

Geology: Richard A. Edwards; Glen W. Stewart, alternate.

German: Marion C. Lazenby; John E. Craps, alternate.

History and government: Elliott O. Watson, John A. McGeachey*, and Alexander E. Edelman; Weldon A. Brown, James L. Whitehead, and John H. Hallowell, alternates.

Mathematics: Marshall C. Bell and Talmage H. Lee; John Reynolds and Richard A. Miller, alternates.

Physics: William L. Smith; Benjamin L. Moore, alternate.

Psychology: Samuel Middleton Hines.

French: Robert J. Clements and Gerald H. Little; Carey D. Eldridge and Thomas A. Witcher, alternates.

Spanish: Fred Jeans; John A. Barrett, alternate.

Sociology: Harry E. Moore*; Douglass W. Oberdorfer, alternate.

Zoology: Eugene P. Odum; John A. Fincher, alternate.

Track

(Continued from page three)

in doubt as to whether they will enter a four-mile relay team in the coming Penn relay events.

Good Competition

The freshmen are expected to offer good competition in several of the events. In the 300 Ullman, Guhn, and Aberly will be the frosh bets, while White and Rowley should show well in the 3-4 and 1 1-2-mile runs.

"Red" Hendricks is certain to cause the varsity pole vaulters considerable trouble, as he is reputed to have cleared the bar at over 12 feet while in high school. Umstead, Lambert, Graham, and Davis do well in the hurdles.

The weight events will have Juliper, Sniscak, Willard, and Becker as first year representatives.

ETHICS CLASS

The class in moral and social ethics conducted by Dr. F. J. Morrissey will meet at 12 o'clock tomorrow in 101 Murphey.

Couch to Louisiana

W. T. Couch of the University Press left early this week for Baton Rouge to be the guest of the literature and reading conference which is being held in connection with the Diamond Jubilee of Louisiana State University.

Tennis

(Continued from page three)

had to offer. Wall did not appear to carry any punch, and Harris coasted through a 6-2, 6-4 win.

Willis, at second post, was the only high ranked player to get into combat, winning from Martin, 6-1, 7-5. Marc Lynch was subjected to a gruelling match before subduing Beals, Duke freshman, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3.

The results of yesterday's play follows:

Harris (C) over Wall, 6-2, 6-4; Willis (C) over Martin, 6-1, 7-5; Abels (C) over Nutter, 6-1, 6-0; Robinson (C) over Collins, 6-0, 6-2; Lynch (C) over Beals, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3; Ruth (C) over Powell, 6-0, 6-0; Strasberger (C) over Desvernine, 6-1, 6-1; Kasen (C) over Scales, 6-4, 6-4; Fast (C) over Manifold, 6-3, 7-5; Coxeter (C) over Stokes, 6-1, 7-5; Yeomans (C) over Caspe, 6-3, 6-0; Bloom (C) over Yoder, 6-0, 6-1; Stokes (C) over Hutchinson, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2; Ben Willis over Batrus, 7-5, 6-1.

Today's Schedule

The players scheduled at Durham today are as follows:

41—Paul Onasch, 42—Joe Patterson, 43—J. H. Williams, 44—Ed Outlaw, 45—Lewis Morris, 46—Leon Levitt, 47—Bill Markham, 48—Jim Hutchins, 49—Tom Hicks, 50—Stan Sobelson, 51—Branch Fields, 52—Francis Anderson, 53—H. G. Conner, Jr., 54—Copeland, 55—Nick Powell, 56—Alex Andrews, 57—Ed Morgan, 58—Scott Hunter, 59—Leo Willhelm, 60—Will Turner, 61—J. H. Corwith, 62—D. M. Myers, 63—Hoke Shore, 64—Tom Cordon, 65—John Schiller, 66—M. I. Slavin, 67—Don Seawell, 68—Jerry Goldman, 69—John Elmendorf, 70—Charles Rawls, 71—Bill Vinson, 72—George Armfield, 73—Bill McNair, 74—Martin Schockley, 75—W. K. Clark, 76—Bill McKinnon, 77—Petrea, 78—Morris Hecht, 79—Sam Hatchwood, 80—Norwood Simmons.

The ones to complete their matches here are as follows:

3—Eddy Fuller, 4—Ramsay Potts, 5—Walter Levitan, 6—Eddy De Gray, 7—Frank Shore, 8—Bill Minor, 9—Lawrence Jones, 10—Archie Henderson, 12—Jim Johnson, 15—John Foreman, 16—Frank Farrell, 17—Joe Grier, 19—Tom Gold, 20—Bill Clover, 21—Syd Weinstein, 22—Ted Elwell, 29—Ray Bartleman, 30—Bill Harrison, 31—Fritz Stein, 32—Gene Odum, 33—Charles Poe, 36—Claude Brown, 37—Don Cucuzzella, 38—Mort Singer, 39—Stuart Parker, 40—Dan Bryan.

INFIRMARY

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Franklin Brown, Robert Van Sleen, O. R. Yeager, Paul Mickey, S. P. Hancock, Simpson Parker, A. J. Jones, J. B. Foreman, Eleanor Lockhart, Mrs. Amy Fetzer, Ellen Deppe, Pat Gaskins, and G. W. McLean.

SPORT SHIRTS

●

We have just received a large shipment of the popular SKIPPER sport shirts in all colors —including maroon and navy.

95c

●

McGREGOR

Zipper Sport Shirts
75c
Regular 1.00 value.

●

McWELDON SPORT SHIRTS
Crew neck in long or short sleeves
2 for 1.00
Regular value 1.00 each

●

The Young Men's Shop
126-128 E. Main St.
DURHAM

Awards

(Continued from page three)

grams for the second year: Ernest Eustler, boxing; Melvin Nelson, basketball; Jim McCachren, basketball; and Ben Blood, basketball.

Following are the other men awarded varsity monograms: boxing—Marion Diehl, J. R. Edwards, J. J. Fisher, Jules Medynski, Max Novich, Murray Kanner, Herbert Alderman.

Basketball: Bucky Harris, Paul Kaveny, Latcher Webster, Ike Minor, and W. B. Harrison.

Wrestling: Frank Umstead, Melvin Ward, W. L. Gholson, Allan Bonner, Harvey Gwyn, and Jack Ranson.

Following are the men awarded numerals in freshman sports: boxing—T. E. Bass, M. C. Benton, J. E. Hedrick, Larry Hendel, J. A. Leak, H. B. Lee, R. H. May, Edward O'Herron, Edward Oliver, Marty Shmurak, and W. I. Shores.

Basketball: Andy Bershak, H. A. Boone, Bill Franks, Foy Grubb, R. H. Hagey, B. R. Johnson, D. W. Meroney, Clyde Mullis, K. B. Nye, J. E. Peacock, R. D. Potts, and Earl Ruth.

Wrestling: J. S. Claypoole, Haughton Ehringhaus, C. G. Ford, J. J. Gibbons, W. D. James, N. S. Kaluk, J. T. Love, R. B. Shulman, E. W. Tankersley, G. D. Walborn, and G. B. Patrick.

P. U. Board

The Publications Union Board meeting, scheduled for yesterday, was postponed until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The board will meet in Graham Memorial.

DR. STURGIS E. LEAVITT HAS TEXTBOOK PRINTED

"Tres Cuentos Sud-Americanos," edited with introduction, notes and vocabulary by Dr. Sturgis E. Leavitt of the Spanish department has just been published by F. S. Crofts and company of New York.

This is the second textbook dealing with South American literature that Dr. Leavitt has edited. He has been interested in South American literature for a number of years.

Playmakers

(Continued from page one)

old Baumstone, and Robert Nachtmann, was chosen by Williams; he will direct the play himself.

Wilbur Dorsett will serve as stage manager; John Walker will be electrician, and Pat Patterson will have charge of the properties.

The cast is made up of 14 characters.

Beta Gamma Sigma

There will be a meeting of Beta Gamma Sigma at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the seminar room of Bingham hall.

CO-EDS TO TEA

The co-eds at Spencer hall will entertain in their regular weekly tea this afternoon from 4:30 until 6 o'clock.

ALL ABOARD FOR DIXIE!

A merry, melody cruise with Commodore W. C. Fields at the wheel and Col. Bing on deck with grand new songs

Adolph Zukor presents

BING CROSBY
W. C. FIELDS
JOAN BENNETT
in
"MISSISSIPPI"

Stranger Than Fiction
—Also—
Mickey Mouse Cartoon
Laurel-Hardy Comedy
TODAY

Midnight Show Friday
PAUL LUCAS
in
"Sing Sinner Sing"

CAROLINA

Finchley
FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

EXHIBITION

CLOTHES OF INDIVIDUAL EXCELLENCE, CORRECTLY ATTUNED TO THE IMMEDIATE SEASON.

FORTY DOLLARS AND MORE

EXHIBITION AT
Student Co-operative Cleaners
TODAY AND TOMORROW
ROBERT GRAY, Representative

CLOTHES INDIVIDUALLY TAILORED TO ORDER :: ALSO HABERDASHERY - HATS - SHOES

Do you want to know why folks like 'em

You don't have to climb a flagpole as high as Jack's beanstalk to find out—

Just walk into any one of the 769,340 places in this country where cigarettes are sold and say—

They Satisfy

It is estimated that there are this day 769,340 places in this country where Chesterfields are on sale all the time.

© 1935, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

ANTI-WAR CONFERENCE
7 P. M.
213 GRAHAM MEMORIAL

The Daily Tar Heel

UNIVERSITY CLUB
7:15 P. M.
209 GRAHAM MEMORIAL

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1935 | NUMBER 141

University Party Candidates Fill Every Campus Office

POLANYI RELATES INTEREST OF U. S. IN EUROPEAN WAR

Viennese Political Scientist Reviews Activity of Factions in Europe.

SPEAKS AGAIN TOMORROW

Dr. Karl Polanyi, speaking last night in Gerrard hall under the sponsorship of the Foreign Policy League, gave his audience what he termed a "birds-eye view of world politics."

He laid down the background upon which American neutrality depends and at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow he will try to answer the important question, "can the United States remain neutral in the face of a European conflict?"

The Vienna journalist and lecturer named two political storm centers in the world: central Europe and the Far East. "These two storm areas center around two expanding countries: Germany and Japan," said Dr. Polanyi.

Post-War Europe

Dr. Polanyi devoted most of his lecture to explaining the political problems of post-war Europe. "At the heart of central Europe you have the Danubian system and in the post-war period two important problems were present: the Austrian and the Hungarian problems," said the Viennese. "In central Europe you had the German-Polish problem."

The two political factions of Europe which were motivated by these problems were the revisionists and the anti-revisionists, the political scientist explained.

"Italy went over to France and the anti-revisionists for fear of a strong united German nation of the combined Germany and Austria on her borders," Dr. Polanyi said. Russia adopted an anti-revisionist policy because of the German expansion danger and the hostility of Hitler toward the radicals, the Vienna lecturer explained.

Dr. Polanyi then explained England's part in European affairs. "In the first post-war period," he said, "England was revisionist in spirit." Then he said that she changed over to the side of France.

No Soph Dance

Lack of Date Is Reason for Abandonment of Class Prom.

Inasmuch as all possible dates for a soph dance this quarter proved inaccessible, the executive committee of the class voted to abandon the idea of having the prom and to carry over for next year's junior class the $259 now gracing their coffers.

This action on the part of the committee will cut considerably if not altogether any assessment necessary to promote next year's junior-senior dance series.

Grail Dance

The first Grail dance this quarter, to be held Saturday night, will be furnished with music by Bill Allsbrook and his orchestra.

The dance, which will begin at 9 o'clock, will be open to freshmen at the admission price of $1.00, according to Simmons Patterson, treasurer.

The Winners

Charlie Poe and Jack Pool, who yesterday were swept into the positions of editor of the Carolina Magazine and president of the student body, respectively.

FIRMS INTERVIEW SIXTY FOR JOBS

TVA and Goodyear Company Seek Seniors and Graduates Through Vocation Service.

Sixty-three seniors and graduates were interviewed yesterday by representatives from the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company as to their being offered training and employment after graduation in June.

T. W. Prior of the personnel department of Goodyear, contacted 26 seniors in regard to their entering the Goodyear training class which begins this summer.

Probably several of the men interviewed will enter the training school, said Prior. Firestone representatives will be here April 24.

TVA Men Interview 37

Director J. D. Dawson of the employment division of the TVA, and W. C. Bowen, administrative assistant to the director of employment, interviewed 37 seniors and graduate students relative to their being employed by TVA.

The Tennessee Valley Authority is building up a list of capable students in the various fields of engineering, commerce, journalism, forestry, and economics for future employment.

Director Dawson and Associate Bowen visited Chapel Hill on the first round of their 25-college tour.

DANCE WILL HAVE INFORMAL FIGURE

Mullis Promises Aid in Securing Dates for Bashful Freshmen.

In a meeting last night characterized by much enthusiasm and little order, the freshman dance leaders voted unanimously to dress informally for the figure, but only after changing their official minds three times.

As a distinguishing mark, the leaders and their dates will wear white carnations and corsages, respectively.

Drew Martin and Bill Seawell were appointed as a committee to select a figure and lead the practice session Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Tin Can. It is imperative that all leaders and their dates be at this meeting.

Class President Clyde Mullis says that far from being "sticky," the dance may have too few girls, and asks that bashful freshmen drop their backwardness and get dates. "If anyone doesn't know a girl to take, let him come to me; I'll try to fix him up," says Mullis.

GRAHAM STARTS DEBATERS' WEEK WITH TALK TODAY

High School Teams Draw for Sections, Pairs at Afternoon Session; Walker Presides.

FINALS TO BE TOMORROW

President Graham will address the opening meeting of all the high school debaters and teachers in Memorial hall today at 2 p. m. when drawings for sections and pairs in the first preliminary will be conducted.

N. W. Walker, acting-dean of the department of education and chairman of the high school debate committee, will preside at the 2 o'clock convocation.

First Preliminary Tonight

The first preliminary begins tonight at 7 o'clock and will be held in 16 sections in various buildings on the campus including the Di and Phi halls and the auditoriums in the departmental buildings.

Over 200 debaters will take part in the discussion of the query: Resolved, that the United States should adopt the policy of extending federal aid to general public education. This, the 23rd final contest, is under the auspices of the Dialectic and Philanthropic Literary Societies and the University extension division with E. R. Rankin, secretary.

Aycock Cup Presentation

The second preliminary and the finals will be run off tomorrow and the presentation of the Aycock cup is to be made in Memorial hall tomorrow night.

Earl Slocum's University Symphony will present a half hour of symphonic music before the final debate tomorrow night. After the debate and the presentation of the sports awards and the Aycock cup, a reception to visitors will be given by the Student Union in Graham Memorial.

University Club

Present members and recently-elected neophytes of the University Club will meet tonight at 7:15 o'clock in 209 Graham Memorial at a joint session.

Initiation of the new men will not take place until next week, but tonight's session will purport to "break the latest University Clubites in," according to Frank Willingham, president of the outgoing group.

SOCIAL STUDENTS CONVENE MAY 5-7

Riggs and Fairley to Head Carolina Delegation to State Conference in Winston.

The 21st meeting of the North Carolina Conference for Social Service will be held in Winston-Salem May 5, 6, and 7, for extensive study of the theme chosen for this year, social security.

Representatives of 21 colleges in the state will attend the seven student division meetings, which will be addressed by three adult and four student speakers.

University Delegation

The University will send a delegation headed by Harry Riggs, president of the student division, and Francis Fairley, who will read a paper, probably on social security under the New Deal, before one of the student division sessions.

Students who wish to attend the conference as official University delegates should leave their names at the "Y" office soon. There will be no registration fee, and free lodging will be provided for delegates.

On the student program, besides Fairley, are representatives of Duke, Meredith, Wake Forest, and Woman's College of the University.

Heavy Co-ed Politicking, New Ward Wights Mark Bloodless Elections

"We're Fairley Aitken to get into the swim with Pool," was the battle cry of the politicians who cluttered up Graham Memorial at the annual campus elections yesterday.

A relatively quiet, though none the less panicky, political pot simmered from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, with the proponents of the various candidates shivering in the unusually cool April air.

Co-eds Militant

Not since Pi Phi's Mary Frances Parker ran for the editorship of the Carolina Magazine two years ago have the co-eds assumed such a large part in the campaigning as they did yesterday.

The two sororities, Pi Beta Phi and Chi Omega, both struggled to keep in the good graces of the University Party. The armed sorority camps waged a pitched battle that far surpassed in intensity that of the independents versus the University Party.

Complacent, unworried-looking Party Boss Herb Taylor, singing his political swan song yesterday, calmly filled the undisputed position which is his, directing, questioning, predicting with his usual pessimism.

New Crew Crows

A crew of new faces took their places in the political sun which for three years before had been dominated by Tom "Mama" Rose, chubby Bob Novins, and Joe Gant, Burlington's gift to the University.

The most conspicuous absence was that of Slim Medford who had established an all-time record for being the first to cast a ballot in campus elections for many years. According to Student Councilman Lee Greer, University Senior Paul Plato Davis copped first place this year.

In the middle of the afternoon, "Pipe the Hat" Thompson, last year a candidate for the top berth on the DAILY TAR HEEL and yesterday campaigning for the editorship of the Carolina Magazine, deposited in the lobby of the Student Union a ladder.

Thompson Aspires

Tacked to the steps were slogans totaling: "Step by Step We Go Up the Ladder With Thompson to Literary Heights." Said Thompson: "Everybody else's got 'em up, and I want one too."

(Continued on page two)

Pool Eclipses Both Opponents; Poe Doubles Thompson's Poll

By the People—

Jack Pool, pres. student body.
Charles Poe, editor Magazine.
Jack Clare, treas. senior class.
Joe Fisher, pres. junior class.
Fred Weaver, junior treas.
John Parker, junior to council.
John Ramsay, soph treasurer.
Cecil Ford, soph councilman.

CO-EDS

Jane Ross, president Woman's Association.
Margaret Jordan, vice-pres.
Louise Davis, secretary.
Ruth Green, treasurer.
Bobby Moore, Spencer pres.

GOVERNMENT UPS PRICE OF SILVER

President Intends to Employ 7,000,000 by November; To Create No New Boards.

Washington, April 10.—(UP)—The federal government tonight boosted the price of newly mined silver to 71 cents per ounce from 64 cents per ounce in a new step to boost commodity prices by monetary means.

The move carried wide possibilities from a monetary and economic standpoint, and it was believed indicative of a continued confidence by the government that commodity prices could be raised and economic activity increased through monetary means.

President Roosevelt said in a press conference today that he might be able to turn back some of the $4,880,000,000 works relief money to the treasury.

He said that he believed he would be able to get 7,000,000 men at work by November, but he will insist that all administrative work be done by existing government agencies rather than through the creation of new boards and commissions.

The New Deal measure to provide security for the common man against the hardships of old age and the hazards of modern life starts on its way through the House tomorrow under an open rule allowing generous debates and amendments.

TECH TEAM WILL DEBATE TONIGHT

Carolina Group to Meet Georgia Outfit in Gerrard at 7 O'clock.

Gerrard hall tonight will be the scene of two intercollegiate debates with teams from three schools participating. The first debate, at 7:00 o'clock, will be between Georgia Tech and North Carolina; the second, at 8:00 o'clock, will be between New York University and North Carolina.

The Carolina team meeting Georgia Tech will be composed of J. W. Kirkpatrick and A. S. Kaplan, who will support the affirmative of the query: Resolved, that Japan's policy in the Far East is comparable to the Monroe Doctrine of the United States.

Francis Fairley, Oliver Cross, and Winthrop Durfee will defend the negative of the question: Resolved, that the private manufacture of armaments be prohibited by international agreement, against N.Y.U.

Close Co-ed Polling Leaves Two Run-offs

Heavy Voting Surprises Observers by Surpassing Last Year's Mark by Nineteen Votes.

40 VOTES PLACE FISHER

A completely victorious University Party yesterday duplicated its flawless election record last year by carrying every one of its eight contested candidates into office. A final count by the Student Council last night revealed that 1,513 students voted, 19 more than last year.

Jack Pool scored an amazing victory to become president of the student body, polling 877 votes against 375 for Stuart Aitken and 264 for Francis Fairley.

Poe-Thompson

Charles Poe became the new editor of the Carolina Magazine with a total of 1,024 votes over Carl Thompson, who polled 489 counters.

The most severely strained link in the party chain was Joe Fisher's 40-vote victory over Jim Hutchins for junior class president, the final count reading 188-148.

Jack Clare ran away from Bill Weaver in the race for senior class treasurer by a count of 241-72. Fred Weaver decisively defeated Wally Dunham for junior class treasurer, garnering 218 votes against his opponent's 123.

Councilmen, Soph Treas.

John Parker became the junior class representative to the Student Council, polling 219 votes against 116 for Bill Cochrane. John Ramsay defeated Stuart Leake for the office of sophomore class treasurer by a count of 234 to 174. The new sophomore class representative to the Student Council is Cecil Ford, who won over Warren Haddaway by a tally of 268 to 140.

The 1,513 votes polled yesterday lacked several hundred of equalling the all-time record of 1,996 ballots cast in the 1933 spring elections. Nevertheless, this exceeding of last year's mark came as a surprise to many political observers who expected a light vote yesterday. They had based their conclusions on the apparent lack of interest in politics this year and the failure of parties to engage in any spectacular demonstrations such as the torch light parade last year.

CHI OMEGA TAKES ALL POSITIONS YET DECIDED

In a close election that remained undecided until the last ballot was tabulated, the Chi Omega faction succeeded last night in garnering enough votes to elect all of their candidates.

With one of the largest majorities polled, Jane Ross defeated Priscilla White for president of the Woman's Association, 118-90.

A vote of 111-89 made Margaret Jordan vice-president of the Woman's Association.

Davis-Rose

The secretaryship of the organization falls to Louise Davis through her win over Eliza Rose, 114-95.

With 114 votes to 89 Ruth Green was placed in the office of

(Continued on page two)

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee, Don McKee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Walter Hargett, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt, Eddie Kahn.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Charlie Gilmore, Bill Jordan.

DESK MEN—Stuart Rabb and Mac Smith.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: EDDIE KAHN

Thursday, April 11, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

"One Killed as Car Hits Water." We suppose that they'll attribute the cause for the calamity to alcohol in the radiator.

We see where a rubber strike looms likely. Now the wonder is what our campus politicians will use for necks.

"Think Band Trapped in Swamp Jungle." Probably practicing a new arrangement for "Chant of the Weeds."

Voting for The Future

The balloteering is over and a new set of student officers is facing another year, one which, under the impetus of a wholly successful term in 1934-35, should prove to be a banner session at the University.

There has been, we believe, more student interest in campus and world affairs this year than in many a moon, directly the result of a changing political order, Student Faculty Day, the Human Relations Institute, the biennial session of the legislature, the immense struggle of a new America to become conscious after a period of brilliant stagnation.

There is no reason why, with the aid of alert student leaders, this undergraduate interest should not be maintained. The University, despite its serious financial retrenchments, is still the ideal place for learning how to become an intelligent human being. The new officers are looked to as the logical leaders in this sensitive quest for a broader concept of the world and its government, society, and problems.

Dust, Dole, And Desert

"Nobody shoots Santa Claus," is a saying not without its application to the farmers on relief in the middle west, according to Alva Johnston in the latest issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

In the featured article entitled "Wheat, Drought, and the New Deal," Mr. Johnston presents a striking picture of the scramble which has occurred when the needy and the non-needy rush to get their share from the government money trough. "A man was considered a fool for not trying to get it," was an attitude which he found prevalent among the agrarian group.

As intimated by Mr. Johnston in this article and as believed by not a few economists, the action of our pioneer fathers in cultivating the Great American Desert was not as judicious as has been thought. To eke out a sustenance against such persistent odds as drought, dust storms, insects, and extreme hot and cold weather, has been a difficult task even when the crops secured a favorable market.

Because of the crop limitation program together with a redundant amount of the aforesaid evils, the accumulated wheat surplus has been consumed and the farmers, once more, have received a fair return for their grain. However, Mr. Johnston believes that because of the farmer's eternal optimism there is reason to anticipate a larger grain crop in the future than ever before.

Obviously, as long as the farmers have to combat such odds, the government will have to continue its expensive program of subsidy.

Continuing The Institute

Students who so enthusiastically received the Institute of Human Relations here last week had the opportunity of hearing a widely known speaker yesterday, brought here as a continuation of the Institute. Dr. Karl Polanyi, sponsored by the Foreign Policy League, spoke on a subject relating to Fascism, carrying on the discussion begun by Norman Thomas and Emil Lederer.

The purpose of the Institute of Human Relations is to stimulate student opinion and to provide for speakers who serve as a means to this end. This purpose, worthy as it is, stands on extremely shaky ground from the simple fact that the Institute meets but once every four years. The campus reacts to these speakers much as they might react to any powerful stimulus; there is a period of intense activity and discussion which tends to diminish gradually until the same spirit of lethargy prevails as before.

Now, the only way to counteract this tendency to slip back into the old attitude is to renew the stimulus in small portions throughout the intervening four years. This can be made possible by the various campus organizations' inviting eminent speakers to the University to address not only that group but the campus as a whole. In bringing Dr. Polanyi here the Foreign Policy League has initiated this policy. Others must follow their example.

Why Not an Easter Holiday?

In the old days the students at the University had a holiday on Easter Monday. Why can't we?

Simply for this reason. About ten years ago a faculty committee revised our holiday schedule with the approval of the entire student body. The revised schedule reduced the number of scattered holidays—Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, and so forth—and lengthened the Thanksgiving and spring vacations.

In order to give the students four days for Thanksgiving and a week for spring vacation the faculty committee was forced to reduce the number of class semester hours (or quarter hours which are in a fixed ratio to semester hours) to the minimum number required for an accredited institution.

According to administrative reports no more holidays can be added if the University is to fulfill requirements for accredited standing. The holidays which we have been given can be shifted around, but no more added.

It appears that the only way to work in another holiday is to lengthen the spring quarter by one day and at this time in the school year it is too late to begin changing commencement and final examination dates.

Unaltered Political Belief

With the passing of the third Human Relations Institute into the pages of University history, we are safe in observing that when a Carolina man believes, he believes. We noticed that as the various lectures and seminars were run off, opinions voiced by sundry students gave weighty evidence that nobody had changed his mind in regard to his own political sentiments.

As we understand the campus reaction to the several groups of political principles set forth during the course of the Institute activities, student Republicans continue to trumpet in true elephant style; student Democrats continue to bray in the peculiar manner characteristic of the party symbol; Socialists and Communists continue to tell the world at large that theirs is the only way. We feel that the Institute supporters have allowed themselves to taste the political pudding thrown out to them by members of another sect without swallowing enough of it to alter their convictions.

This steadfastness on the part of Carolina students may speak well for them in that it might prove they are earnest about their convictions; on the other hand, it may indicate that the nature of Carolina men is so stubborn and narrow-minded that it will not allow them to be receptive and unprejudiced toward another point of view. The former attitude is much to be desired, but we have a long way to come out of the fog if the latter condition prevails.

Hail the Linotype!

Exactly 45 years ago last Monday a patent was granted on a machine invented by Ottmar Mergenthaler. The machine of Mergenthaler, a type-setting device, is the father of the modern, highly complicated linotype machine. The almost human linotype mechanism of today is based on exactly the same principles as was Mergenthaler's machine 45 years ago.

Deserving of tribute is the man who through his invention did so much to make the modern newspaper what it is. Without the high-speed, marvelous linotype machine the great daily newspaper would be impossible.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

OLD GOLD MAKERS STAGING CONTEST

Lorillard Company Offers $50 For Most Package Covers.

P. Lorillard and Co., manufacturers of Old Gold cigarettes, are offering a $50 cash prize to the fraternity on the campus which polls the largest number of votes in a new contest beginning today.

The front cover of a package of Old Golds counts as one vote, and the top cover of a package of flat fifties counts as six votes.

The name of the fraternity should be written on the back of the covers which should be deposited in a ballot box set up for receiving them in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A.

The votes will be tabulated at the end of the third week of the contest and every week thereafter until May 23, the final date of the contest, by a committee of the Interfraternity Council. The results will be posted in the Y. M. C. A.

Only fraternities are permitted to take part in the contest.

English Majors

English majors planning to take the comprehensive examinations this quarter are requested to report to 201 Murphey tomorrow morning at 10:30, it was announced yesterday.

Grail Meets Tonight

There will be a meeting of the Grail tonight in Graham Memorial at 10 p. m. All members are requested to be present.

P. U. Board Meets Today

The Publications Union Board will meet today at 2 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

CAROLINA
LAST TIMES TODAY

"MISSISSIPPI"
with
QUEENIE SMITH · JOHN MILJAN
GAIL PATRICK · FRED KOHLER and the CABIN KIDS
—Also—
Comedy—Novelty

CASH NIGHT FRIDAY

Co-ed Elections

(Continued from page one)

treasurer of the association in place of Opponent Nell Booker.

One vote made Bobby Moore house president of Spencer hall when she received 101 votes to Tempe Newsom's 100.

Run-offs

The two offices in the Woman's Athletic Association will have to be filled by a run-off to be held within a week.

Francis Caffey, who received 80 votes in yesterday's election, will run against Katherine Quigley, who received 71 votes. Nancy Lawler's 54 votes prevented either from receiving a majority.

In a like manner Evelyn Barker, 41, prevented either Jean Van Deussen, 81, or Sally Page, 76, from winning the post of secretary to the Woman's Athletic Association.

Anti-War Conference

The student anti-war conference will meet at 7 p. m. tonight in 213 Graham Memorial, R. Phillips Russell announced last night.

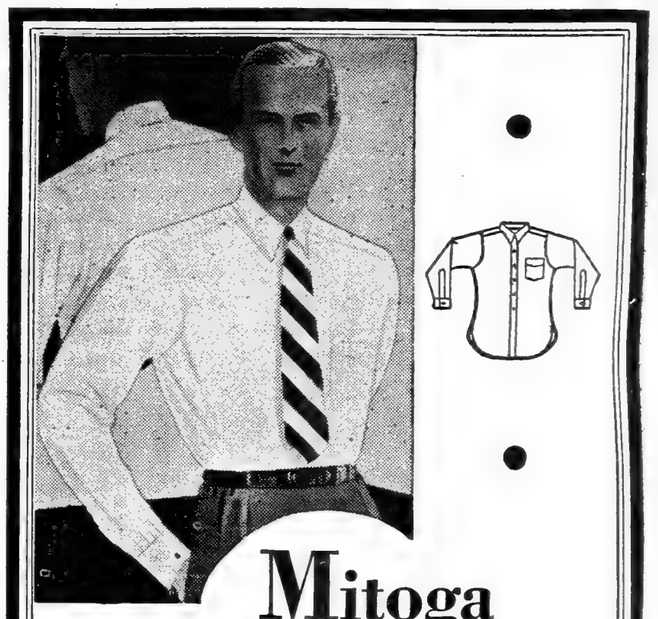
PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

Bloodless Elections

(Continued from page one)

As last year, fuzzy-haired Ward-heeler Wang was the literary arch-angel's most vociferous backer.

Thumb-tacked to trees lining the walk to Graham Memorial were the following:



"Let's go Hiram,
Giddap Hoss.
We're gonna vote
For Janie Ross."

Wrote some wag under the name: "She uses Burma Shave."

Trying to be at five places at once, Pamphlet-Passer-Outer Sugarman was heard crying: "It's madness. Everybody's crazy."

Watts Ashley also politicked. And Aldert Ellis . . .

DON BESTOR
ORCHESTRA
(M.C.A., Management)
Roycroft's Warehouse
Durham, N. C.
THURSDAY, APRIL 11
9:00 to 1:30 Script $2.00
Including Tax
Embassy Club—Sponsor

Mitoga

Embodies Arrow's Formula for Style and Fit

Now, at last, a shirt minus the boyish blouse embellishments. A real he-man shirt—broad shoulders, draped-in waist, and tapered sleeves. A shirt that flatters any figure.

Find your way to the nearest Arrow dealer and try Mitoga. They come in a varied assortment of whites, solid colors, stripes, checks, and figures.

$2 and up

ARROW SHIRTS
SANFORIZED SHRUNK
CLUETT, PEABODY & CO., INC., TROY, N. Y.

"Tomorrow's Styles—Today"
Pritchard-Bright & Company
Clothiers and Furnishers
Featuring Arrow Shirts
Washington Duke Hotel Bldg. Durham, N. C.

EXHIBITION
CLOTHES OF INDIVIDUAL EXCELLENCE, CORRECTLY ATTUNED TO THE IMMEDIATE SEASON.
FORTY DOLLARS AND MORE
EXHIBITION AT
Student Co-operative Cleaners
TODAY AND TOMORROW
ROBERT GRAY, Representative
Finchley
FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK
CLOTHES INDIVIDUALLY TAILORED TO ORDER ‡‡ ALSO HABERDASHERY · HATS · SHOES

Tar Heel Nine Opens Year Here Today Against Deacs

START TILT AT 4; CROUCH TO HURL

Last Year's Strong Frosh Nine Strengthens Wake Forest; Gaddy Is Deacon Pitcher.

TATUM TO PLAY AT FIRST

Coach Bunn Hearn's Tar Heels will open the home season at Emerson field at 4 o'clock this afternoon when they engage the Wake Forest Deacons.

Coach Hearn has selected Freddy Crouch, veteran right-hander, who lost to Davidson in an 11-inning twirling battle in the opener, to do the hurling duties.

Wake Forest, coached by John Cadell, boasts of a strong diamond outfit and will probably cause Carolina plenty of trouble before today's contest is over.

Sophs Help Deacs

Several sophomores have broken into the Deacon lineup to add strength to the pitching and hitting departments. These sophs have come up from last year's state championship freshman team.

Buck McCarn, Tar Heel first baseman who suffered a finger injury in the Davidson game last week, will not play against the Deacons today.

Jim Tatum, regular catcher, will play at the first sack. Strayhorn, who has been doing a good job at backstopping for the reserve team, will fill the post left vacant by Tatum.

The other infield positions will be held down by Trip Rand, Tommy Irwin, and Ed Bullard, while Captain "T" Vick, Ed Shapiro, and Gus McIver will roam the outer gardens.

Gaddy will probably pitch for the Deacons. The remainder of the Wake Forest lineup will include Morris, Gold, Mitchell, Wall, Patton, Chapell, Kitchen, and Myers.

Berenbaum Wins U.S. Table Tennis Title In Chicago

Chapel Hillians will have the opportunity to watch the national table tennis champion in action next Thursday and Friday at the Tin Can.

All because Abe Berenbaum, racqueteer extraordinaire, went places in Chicago last week-end and battled through the finest field ever collected, to both the United States singles and doubles crowns.

"Honest Abe," New York collegian, is one of the performers scheduled for the spectacular exhibition to be held at Chapel Hill. Rated as the second best player in the country, he stepped out and captured the highest honors United States table tennis has to offer.

Whips Schude

After three days of intensive play, Berenbaum culminated his brilliant defensive work by defeating Mark Schude of St. Louis in a gruelling five-set match, 21-19, 13-21, 21-16, 13-21, 21-9. The tournament was staged in the spacious grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel.

Previously he had eliminated the nation's most promising star, Jimmy McClure, Indianapolis, in the semi-final. This match also went five games.

RUBIN, CARTLAND WILL PLAY ACES IN TABLE TENNIS

Carolina Boys Win in Tourney And Will Meet Berenbaum And Rudy Rubin.

Len Rubin and Doug Cartland are the two members of the student body who will meet Abe Berenbaum, newly crowned national champion, and Rudy Rubin, sixth ranking player, in an exhibition to be given here by these two nationally prominent table tennis players.

Rubin and Cartland, heavy favorites to win the tourney, came through as expected. In addition to their offering opposition to the two visitors in the coming exhibition, they will also probably have a match between themselves at the same time in order to determine the unofficial campus individual table tennis champion.

No Upsets

The tourney was marked with no upsets of any nature and the semi-finals saw all four seeded players in action. Sid Weinstein, who was seeded number four went down at the hands of Rubin in three straight games. The first game was the closest of all although Rubin finally won 21-18 after breaking an 18-18 deadlock. The second and third matches ended up with a 21-12 and 21-11 score.

In the other semi-final Doug Cartland took over Dick Gabori in three straight games, 21-14, 21-13, and 21-17.

TAR HEELS RUN MASS NET MEET LEAD UP TO 60-22

Carolina Wins 23 of 26 Matches At Home; 40 More from Each School Play Today.

Carolina took a very definite lead in the annual mass tennis tourney with Duke, gaining a 46-22 advantage in yesterday's matches, winning 23-19 at Duke, and 23-3 here.

The total score for the two days gives Carolina a 60-22 margin. Today will find 20 additional matches taking place at each place. It is requested that all men playing at Duke today report at Emerson stadium at 2 o'clock, and all those who have cars are asked to help with the transportation. Each man must bring one ball.

Summary follows:

At Duke

Onasch (C) over Funkhauser, 8-6, 6-1; Carden (D) over Cucuzzella, 7-5, 6-4; Parker (C) over Smott, 6-1, 6-1; Ferris (D) over Outlaw, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4; Morris (C) over McAnnich, 6-0, 6-1; C. Brown (C) over Bassett, 6-4, 6-4; Markham (C) over Lindhe, 6-0, 6-0; Albert (D) over Sims, 6-4, 6-0; Hard (C) over Messick, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3; Sobelson (C) over W. A. Smith, 10-8, 6-2; Straus (C) over Beatty, 6-1, 6-2; Anderson (C) over Mossburg, 6-1, 6-2; Leight (C) over Petterson, 6-0, 6-1.

Stagg (D) over Evans, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2; McKee (D) over Hendrix, 6-1, 6-2; Andrews (C) over Mazuy, 6-0, 8-6; Morgan (C) over Vales, 6-4, 6-0; Baer (D) over Hunter, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4; Walker (D) over Schaper, 6-4, 3-6, 6-0; Simmons (D) over Falk, 6-0, 6-2; Corwith (C) over Hinck, 10-8, 6-4; D. Meyers (C) over Hickey, 8-10, 6-1,

(Continued on last page)

Netsters Play Duke Here Today; Whip Deacons, 9-0

TRACKMEN HOLD PRACTICE MEET

Varsity Whips Frosh, 109-43; Waldrop, Williamson, Gammon, Gabori Look Good.

The freshman and varsity track squads engaged in a practice meet yesterday afternoon instead of adhering to the regular routine. If the score really matters, the varsity had a slight edge at 109-43.

Perhaps the most outstanding performance of the session was the three-quarter mile run, in which Williamson, Gabori, Gammon, and Waldrop all ran under 3:15, finishing in respective order.

"Red" Drake captured the 300-yard event in the fastest time yet turned in for that distance this year—32.6 seconds. Ullman gave the winner a close battle all the way.

Juliber and Sniscak did best for the frosh, taking the shot put and discus events, respectively.

TRACK NOTICE

All trackmen, both varsity and freshmen, are urged to take their workouts early. Field men are asked to report at 2:30 and runners at 3 p. m.

There will be an important meeting of the freshman squad at 5:30 o'clock.

RIVAL VARSITIES WILL BATTLE AT 3

Tar Heels Have Easy Time Taking Wake Forest; Win All Matches in Straight Sets.

MINOR GETS 12 STRAIGHT

Intermingled with the perpetual mass tennis meet and the preliminary rounds of the high school tournament, the Carolina varsity will take on the Duke Blue Devils in their fifth match of the season there this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The possibility that Duke will offer trouble was indicated yesterday by the defeat of Walter Levitan in the mass net play. However, the Blue Devil squad is notably weak, having lost the majority of its varsity this present spring.

Harvey Harris will play first singles with Ricky Willis in second place. The other positions are undetermined.

Yesterday, the netters took Wake Forest for another ride, swamping them 9-0. Of the nine matches, all were straight sets, and ten of the 18 games were by the love count.

Harris defeated Rivers Hanson in the opener and from then on it was a continuous Carolina parade. Ike Minor again, as against State, drove his opponent to distraction with a 6-0, 6-0 victory.

Two of the three doubles were

(Continued on last page)

NEARLY 20 CLUBS PLAY FOR STATE HI TENNIS CROWN

Preliminaries, Will Take Place Today and Finals Tomorrow; 20th Annual Tourney.

Preliminaries in the 20th annual North Carolina interscholastic high school tennis tournament will get under way here early this morning with a large number of state high school teams entered in the doubles and singles matches.

At a meeting last night in the University Y. M. C. A. under the direction of John F. Kenfield, Carolina's tennis and golf coach, pairings were made.

Charlotte High, defending champion in both singles and doubles, holds a favored position. Nearly 20 other teams, however, will be out for the title this year.

Play will be on the University courts, with the final matches being held tomorrow after the preliminaries.

K. A. TAKES FIRST MURAL NINE TILT

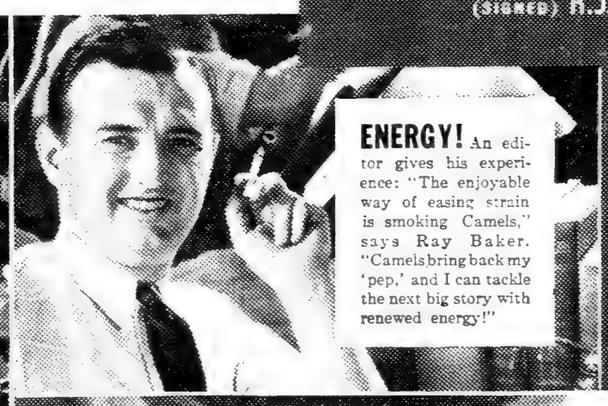
Chi Phi Falls, 15-4, After Staging Big Rally.

After the Chi Phi's had held a lead for the first three innings, the Kappa Alpha club put on an eight-run rally and then finally won the first intramural baseball contest of the year 15-4.

Wilson led the winners with excellent pitching. He struck out eight men and allowed only two hits. His teammates turned in six errors to allow the scoring.

WE ASKED NEWSPAPER PEOPLE:

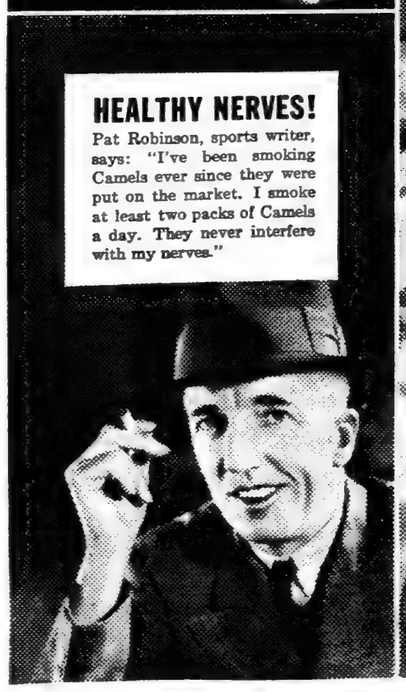
"Is this fact important to You?"—



"CAMELS ARE MADE FROM FINER, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—TURKISH AND DOMESTIC—THAN ANY OTHER POPULAR BRAND."

(SIGNED) R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY
WINSTON-SALEM, NORTH CAROLINA

© 1935 R. J. Reynolds Tob. Co.



FLAVOR! "Camels have a great taste—rich and pleasing," says Herman J. Lamkin, linotype operator. "I've smoked them for many years. I can smoke as steadily as I want to, and Camels don't ever affect my nerves."

ENERGY! An editor gives his experience: "The enjoyable way of easing strain is smoking Camels," says Ray Baker. "Camels bring back my 'pep,' and I can tackle the next big story with renewed energy!"

SO MILD! Miss Margaret Nichols, expert woman reporter, says: "Camels are a smoother smoke. They have a mild flavor—delicate and pleasing—entirely different from any other cigarette. Camels taste better!"

HEALTHY NERVES! Pat Robinson, sports writer, says: "I've been smoking Camels ever since they were put on the market. I smoke at least two packs of Camels a day. They never interfere with my nerves."

VALUE! "Camels are made from costlier tobaccos. They're the real 'extra value' cigarette," says E. E. C. Pickwoad, ace news-photographer, who often uses fast airplanes to get "front page pictures" for a great New York newspaper. "I'm loyal to Camels," Pickwoad continues. "They taste so much richer and smoother—never frazzle your nerves. I have smoked Camels for years and I, too, would 'walk a mile for a Camel.'"

MULLIS EXPLAINS DANCE TO FROSH

Absence of Upperclassmen Is Assured, Claims President.

Before a meager portion of the freshman class, "Pete" Mullis, president of the class, yesterday reviewed the plans for the annual freshman dance which will be given Friday night in the Tin Can.

"It is a freshman affair," said Mullis, "and we want all freshmen to be there. We want to be sure that they are freshmen, too." He explained the method that was to be used to assure the absence of upperclassmen.

"You will be able to get in only once, so it would be best to leave only once," he wisely stated.

Mullis and the dance leaders present begged the freshmen to secure dates for the dance. It was a question of every man bringing a woman.

Reminding the freshmen that the responsibility for the conduct at the affair rested with them, Mullis urged them to retain their sobriety and conduct themselves as gentlemen.

INFIRMARY

The changeable weather of the past week seems to have caused an increase in the number of colds, judging from the length of yesterday's infirmary list.

These students were confined yesterday: Robert Van Sleen, O. R. Yeager, Franklin Brown, S. B. Knight, Paul Mickey, S. P. Hancock, A. J. Jones, J. B. Foreman, Simpson Parker, Ellen Deppe, Eleanor Lockhart.

Pat Gaskins, G. W. McLean, H. H. Gunn, Marion Blount, W. A. Burnette, and James Idol.

Maestro

Don Bestor, nationally known orchestra leader, who plays tonight from 9 to 1 o'clock at Roycroft's warehouse in Durham for a dance under the auspices of the Embassy Club. Script for the dance is $2.

Varsity Tennis

(Continued from page three)

shutout victories.

The results follow:

Harris (C) over Hanson, 6-1, 6-2; Willis (C) over Tuttle, 6-0, 6-2; Levitan (C) over McMillan, 6-1, 6-0; De Gray (C) over Wyche, 6-1, 6-0; Shore (C) over McCall, 6-1, 6-0; Minor (C) over Wood, 6-0, 6-0; Harris-Willis (C) over Hanson-Tuttle, 6-3, 6-4; Shore-Jones (C) over McCall-Cahoon, 6-0, 6-0; De Gray-Lynch (C) over McMillan-Wyche, 6-0, 6-0.

Our Mistake

Included in the list of those receiving fellowships which appeared in yesterday's DAILY TAR HEEL, was John Kester Svendson. The name is James Kester Svensen, not John Kester Svendson.

Mass Tennis

(Continued from page three)

6-2; Ward (D) over Koontz, 6-1, 6-2; Wilson (D) over Cordon, 6-1, 6-1; McCutchen (D) over Wishney, 6-0, 6-0; Slavin (C) over Rague, 7-5, 6-1; Hulme (D) over Seawell, 6-2, 7-5.

Hardt (D) over Scherer, 7-5, 6-4; Kelmeyer (D) over O'Herron, 6-1, 6-2; Nicks (D) over Rawls, 6-1, 6-2; Vinson (C) over Healey, 6-2, 6-1; Hicks (C) over Williams, 6-3, 6-2; Cannon (D) over McNair, 9-7, 5-7, 8-6; Eidson (D) over Shockley, 1-6, 6-3, 8-6; W. K. Clark (C) over Liller, 6-1, 4-6, 7-5; McKinnon (C) over Bines, 6-0, 6-0; Petrea (C) over Haas, 6-0, 6-1; Hecht (C) over McElwrath, 3-6, 6-0, 6-2; Kind (C) over Puryer, 6-3, 6-4; Simmons (C) over Lucas, 6-3, 6-0; Goode (D) over Hollaway, 6-2, 6-0; White (D) over Austin, 6-4, 6-4.

At Carolina

Fuller (C) over McNeil, 6-1, 6-1; Potts (C) over Parsons, 6-1, 6-2; Caton (D) over Levitan, 2-6, 7-5, 7-5; De Gray (C) over Ashby, 6-2, 6-2; F. Shore (C) over Gill, 6-3, 6-1; Minor (C) over Taylor, 6-0, 6-3; L. Jones (C) over Beich, 6-3, 6-0; Henderson (C) win by default; Johnston (C) over Hardy, 6-4, 8-6; Foreman (C) win by default; Farrell (C) over Ramsey, 6-1, 6-1; Grier (C) over Nixon, 6-2, 6-2; Gold (C) over Smith, 6-1, 6-0; Clover (C) win by default; Weinstein (C) win by default; Elwell (C) over H. Munson, 6-0, 6-1; Bartelman (C) over T. Munson, 6-2, 6-2.

Harrison (C) over Alexander, 4-6; 6-0, 6-4; F. Stein (C) over S. D. Smith, 6-3, 6-1; Odum (C) over Jones, 6-3, 8-6; Poe (C) win by default; Stokes (C) over Hutchinson, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2; B. Smith (C) over Maher, 6-3, 6-2; Lowe (C) over Thogerson, 4-6, 6-3, 6-0; Singer (C) over York, 7-5, 6-3; Bratzel (D) over Hines, 6-3, 6-4; Bryan (C) win by default.

Today's Matches

At Duke: 81—Ralph Gardner, 83—Ed Orzack, 85—Paul Verberg, 87—G. R. Taylor, 89—Ralph Morgan, 91—Vass Shepard, 99—John Pressley, 101—Robert Eisenberg, 103—Frank Wilson, 105—Mac Mann, 107—Hoke Shore, 109—Louis Spilke, 111—Francis Rasberry, 113—Tom Hines, 115—Julian Meyer, 117—A. R. Fiore, 119—Bill Davis.

At Carolina: 82—Len Rubin, 84—Marvin Chaiken, 86—Ernest Stadiem, 88—Frank Alexander, 90—Ray Reeves, 92—J. H. Williams, 94—J. L. Jackson, 96—Herman Steingrob, 98—Frank Clingman, 100—"Red" Montgomery, 102—Jack Pool, 104—Bill Abernethy, 106—Jim Hutchins, 108—C. Roullier, 110—Marvin Mehlman, 112—Robert Stricker, 114—Sam Kesselman, 116—Bob Kirschman, 118—Tom Henson, 120—Jim Morris.

A. S. CH. E. MEETS TONIGHT

The American Society of Chemical Engineers will meet tonight at 7:30 in 319 Phillips, according to an announcement yesterday. There will be an illustrated lecture on the Florianapolis bridge, a South American structure.

LAST DAY, SENIORS

Today is absolutely the deadline for members of the senior class to have themselves measured for the Senior Week regalia now on display at the Student Co-operative store.

Dance Leaders

Freshman class dance leaders will meet at 10:30 a. m. today in Memorial hall, it was announced last night.

SATURDAY ONLY

CAROLINA

Inter-Dormitory Council

The inter-dormitory council met in Graham Memorial last night and formulated plans for a banquet to be held next Saturday in the Graham Memorial banquet room before the Grail dance. It was also decided to hold the dormitory elections on May 1.

Scouts to Meet

Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary scouting fraternity, will meet in Graham Memorial tonight at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Students in the University who have been Scouts are invited to meet with the organization tonight.

GRAIL DANCE

SATURDAY, APRIL 13

Music by

Bill Allsbrook and His Orchestra

TIN CAN 9:00-12:00

Freshmen Admitted

DEBATES

Thursday Night, April 11, 1935
GERRARD HALL

GEORGIA TECH

SUBJECT: Resolved: That Japan's Policy in the Far East Is Comparable to the Monroe Doctrine of the United States.

U. N. C. SPEAKERS ON AFFIRMATIVE
J. W. Kirkpatrick and A. S. Kaplan

7:00 P. M.

N. Y. UNIVERSITY

SUBJECT: Resolved: That the Private Manufacture of Armaments Be Prohibited by International Agreement.

U. N. C. SPEAKERS ON NEGATIVE
Francis Fairley, Oliver Cross, and Winthrop Durfee

8:00 P. M.

When two is company I don't make a crowd

I'm your best friend

I am your Lucky Strike

Never a bitter, undeveloped top leaf in me. Never a grimy, tough bottom leaf. I use only the fragrant, mellow, expensive center leaves . . . the leaves that give you the mildest, best-tasting smoke. I do not irritate your throat. No wonder I'm your best friend.

LUCKIES USE ONLY THE CENTER LEAVES . . . CENTER LEAVES GIVE YOU THE MILDEST SMOKE

They Taste Better

Copyright 1935, The American Tobacco Company.

GENERAL CONVOCATION 10:30 O'CLOCK -- FRONT OF SOUTH BUILDING

ANTI-WAR DEMONSTRATION
10:30 A. M.
FRONT SOUTH BUILDING

The Daily Tar Heel

ANTI-WAR DEMONSTRATION
10:30 A. M.
FRONT SOUTH BUILDING

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1935 | NUMBER 142

UNIVERSITY CLUB MEETS WITH 41 RISING MEMBERS

Initiation of Newcomers and Nomination of Officers for 1935-36 to Be Next Week.

FOUR CO-EDS INCLUDED

Forty-one new members of the University Club met with the outgoing organization last night and were greeted by speeches and the immediate assignment of regular club work.

Four co-eds, representing the dormitories and sororities, were among the new members, the first women students ever elected into membership of the organization.

Frank Willingham, president of the club, and Phil Hammer, ex-president, greeted the new members with words of welcome and well wishes. Willingham outlined the work which must be carried out during the spring quarter, listing the various functions and aims of the club.

Committees Appointed

Committees were appointed from old and new membership to welcome various visiting teams during the next week.

Next week the new members will be formally initiated and nominations for 1935-36 officers submitted.

Following the joint meeting, the old club met and discussed several important items, including the annual club banquet plans.

The new members of the club, elected two weeks ago and to as-

(Continued on page two)

FRATERNITY MEN PASS AMENDMENT

Only Presidents of Respective Fraternities Will Compose Interfraternity Council.

Only presidents of the respective fraternities will henceforth be members of the Interfraternity Council it was learned last night after the council had passed an amendment to the constitution to that effect.

The amendment, proposed last week, will have the effect of removing the impotence of the Interfraternity Council due to a heretofore non-authoritative group of representatives composing the membership.

Sluggish Organization

Members up to now have had the status of "anybody" at the meetings of the council and, as a result, the organization has lapsed out of a great deal of its former usefulness.

Council legislation will be speeded up with the injection of the new constitutional clause into the council program. House presidents will officially represent their fraternities and will have the power to vote on council matters.

Harold Bennett, Theta Chi, is president of the present Interfraternity Council; Frank Rogers, Phi Delta Theta, treasurer; L. C. Bruce, Phi Gamma Delta, secretary, and Mark Lynch, Sigma Nu, chairman of the constitutional committee.

English Comprehensive

English majors planning to take the comprehensive examination the spring quarter are requested to report to Murphey 201 Friday morning at the chapel hour.

Debaters en Route Hurt In Wreck Near Troy

Two Members of Cliffside Team Are Seriously Injured.

Members of the high school debating team of Cliffside, N. C., were badly injured in a wreck near Troy, N. C., at about noon yesterday. The team was on its way to Chapel Hill to participate in the state high school debating tournament, now being held here.

Two members of the group were very seriously injured, and four girls were hurt, though not badly. Those in the car were the principal of the Cliffside high school, the coach of the debating team, and the members of the team.

FIGURE LEADERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Secretary Patterson Names Freshmen and Their Dates Participating Tonight.

The names of freshmen and their dates who will participate in the figure at the class dance tomorrow night were announced yesterday by Joe Patterson, secretary.

They are Nick Read, Margaret Jordan; Drew Martin, Jane Ross; Gene Bricklemyer, Ruth Steadman; Pryor McFadden, Sue Sutherland; Stuart Leake, Elizabeth Gray; Warren Haddaway, Ann Baker; Jimmy Coan, Virginia Lee; Earl Ruth, Jane Wiley; Tom Burnette, Martha Croom; John Davison, Thelma Powers.

Red Meroney, June Busch; Pete Mullis, Caroline Rivers; Joe Patterson, Patsy McMullan; Paul Darden, Elizabeth Fulghum; Gene Simmons, Becky Jorden; Ed O'Herron, Mary Stewart; Jack Tate, Nancy Mann; Tom Myers, Esther Mebane; Ramsay Potts, Susan Winstead; Bill Seawell, Bessie Stroud.

P. U. BOARD ENDS KEY COLLECTING

Board Plans for Uniform Key; Services Engraved on Back.

Henceforth giddy journalists will be unable to flit from publication to publication, working sporadically under several editors for the purpose of acquiring two, three, or even four keys to be laid away among their forgotten trophies.

At least, that is what the P. U. Board hopes will be the result of its acceptance yesterday of a uniform key for all four publications, according to one of the board members.

According to the new plan, in the future a journalist who has already won the uniform key from one publication, will not be eligible to receive a key from another publication.

Instead, every time a student does satisfactory work with a publication other than the one on which he served originally the name of the new magazine or paper will be engraved on the back of his key under his former position of service.

MEDICAL LECTURES

Dr. Hunter Sweeny and Dr. D. R. Perry will give a lecture in Caldwell hall tonight at 7:30. The topic will be "The Surgical and Medical Treatment of Pulmonary Tuberculosis." The public is cordially invited to attend.

Today We Will Stand

(AN EDITORIAL)

The prospects of war are far from pleasant, but war it will be if the present generation does not soon convince the leaders of this nation that youth is serious about this business of hating and outlawing armed conflict.

What good will it all do anyway, this school-boy strike against the inevitable? None, if only a few straggling voices open up to shout out "Down with War." But the story may be different if a large group of determined students, seriously bent on a serious subject, forget their pleasures for just one half hour today—and show what Carolina men (and women) really think about another world war, with its terrible results of immorality, inflation, shattered morale, and depression.

There is something to this peace racket besides blowing off steam. There are definite measures which can be taken to keep the United States out of war, measures which a unified student opinion can help to materialize. And the sooner the big guns in the government know that we know it and will push our convictions, the better. Those of us who drew anything at all out of the recent Human Relations Institute know something, at least, of what these measures should be—the nationalization of munitions, the elimination of profits from war, and a revision of our age-old neutrality policy.

Now is the time to act! Once war has been declared, once the fever of conflict seizes the nation, we are as helpless as a herd of steers. Here is a chance to show that we are more than mere beasts, that we are thinking human beings with definite ideas and determined convictions. And one of them is—NO MORE WAR!

Statement of the Anti-War Committee

To the students and faculty of the University:

Today every major nation, including our own, is engaged in a frantic drive toward war. Unwilling to solve economic problems by sane economic adjustments, the governments threaten to conceal their incompetence in the domestic sphere by going in for "strong foreign policy," "isolation," "economic nationalism." Fast expanding armaments budgets are clear signs of this. These suicidal tendencies of governments are based on an assumption which may or may not be true. It is the assumption that you and your generation will supinely serve as cannon fodder in an idiotic and wholly unnecessary war. It is assumed that, as a substitute for more constructive employment, you and your generation will accept orders to march and kill and be killed in a stupid war against those with whom you have no quarrel whatsoever. In short, it is assumed that you will take it lying down. Will you?

On April 12, 1916, the United States entered the World War. It is amazing to realize prospects of war are almost greater today than they were on April 5, 1916. On April 12, 1935, students in colleges and universities throughout the United States will join together simultaneously in strikes and demonstrations in a great protest against war. We believe that such an expression of our attitude will be significant to the people and to the leaders of our country. We, therefore, call upon all the students, professors, and townspeople of Chapel Hill to gather at 10:30 o'clock on the morning of April 12 in an outdoor mass meeting on the south side of South building to show the people of the state and the nation where you stand on the question of our country's entry into another war,

Students! Your influence should mean something. It is time for you to act.

VIRGIL LEE	R. P. RUSSELL
CHARLES LLOYD	AGNEW BAHNSON
NILES BOND	JOE BARNETT
HARPER BARNES	DON BECKER
NICK READ	DON McKEE

(Initiative Committee).

ANTI-WAR QUESTIONNAIRE

Following is a list of questions prepared by the student sponsors of the anti-war demonstration being staged today. The 11 o'clock class hour is to be devoted to a discussion of some phase of the problem of war. It is suggested that these questions form the backbone around which discussion is built.

1. Do you favor the expenditure of public funds for military education in schools and colleges?
2. Would you favor the diversion of money now being paid to munitions makers into funds for education and for adequate unemployment relief?
3. Do you favor a policy of nationalization of the munitions industry?
4. Would you favor a confiscatory tax on profits made during a war?
5. Do you favor armed intervention in foreign countries for the protection of property and lives of American citizens?
6. Would you endorse American adherence to the League of Nations and the World Court?
7. Would you refuse to fight in any war pursued on foreign soil?
8. Would you refuse to fight if the boundaries of the United States were invaded by another power?
9. Would you lend your support to others who refused to take part in military service?
10. Would you support the struggles of exploited peoples —Cubans, Mexicans, Filipinos, etc.—for freedom from domination by American imperialism?
11. Do you favor the proposal of the Soviet Union made through its Foreign Minister, Maxim Litvinoff, for immediate, complete, world disarmament?

(Continued on page four)

University Students Stage Protest Against War Today

Senior Regalia Deadline

The deadline for members of the senior class to have themselves measured for the Senior Week regalia has been set for tomorrow, it was announced yesterday.

Seniors who have not already been measured should have the ceremony performed at once in the Student Co-operative Store where the regalia is now on display.

DEBATERS GROUP HEARS PRESIDENT IN FIRST SESSION

Graham Urges the 272 High School Debaters to Remember Teams "Back Home."

OPENS TWO-DAY PROGRAM

Two hundred and seventy-two debaters and their instructors gathered in Memorial hall yesterday afternoon for the opening meeting of the 23rd annual final contest of the North Carolina High School Debating Union.

N. W. Walker, acting dean of the department of education, presided at the meeting and presented President Graham to the members of the convocation.

"Chapel Hill is very happy to have you here," stated Dr. Graham in his address of welcome. He reminded them of the beauties of Chapel Hill and the fact that "140 years of University history looks down upon 272 energetic debaters."

Debate Today

One of the gratifying things about such debates, according to President Graham, is that "high school debaters of today debate issues that become the laws of tomorrow."

Comparing the structural plan of the debating union to a pyramid, Dr. Graham reminded his audience of the thousands of losing competitors throughout the state who form the foundation that makes their presence in the finals possible.

"When you are on the pinnacle of that pyramid," said President Graham, speaking to any team that may be the winner, "think of the thousands of students that form its base."

E. R. Rankin, secretary of the debate committee, then read the program for the remainder of the contest and explained to the contestants the method which would be used to select the pairs for the first preliminary.

Debate Girls Invited to Dance

Benevolent "Pete" Mullis, president of the freshman class, announced last night that all high school girls attending the debates, who would like to be included in the dance party for the freshman class tonight might leave their names with him at the Y. M. C. A. between 12 and 1 o'clock today.

He will arrange for them to have dates.

Change of Headquarters

Editor Pat Gaskins, laughed sick, announced yesterday that he is "receiving" copy for the next issue of the Carolina Finjan, the Farewell number for the Gaskin regime, at the University infirmary.

STEWART, RUSSELL WILL BE SPEAKERS

Big Demonstration Will Be Held In Front of South Building At Assembly Period.

GRAHAM GIVES APPROVAL

Everything except the weather is settled for the grand-scale anti-war demonstration to be held at 10:30 a. m. If the weather permits, the rally will be staged on the steps of South building. If it is raining, students and faculty members will gather in Memorial hall.

Amplifiers have been secured and Rev. Donald Stewart of the Presbyterian church and R. Phillips Russell, University delegate to the peace conference at Brussells, will speak. Phil Hammer will preside.

President Frank P. Graham gave the committee his approval of the plan. "Go to it. I am all for you," said the president. "I stated my views on the war problem in my inaugural address and I think your effort coincides with what I said then."

Graham's Statement

Said President Graham at his inauguration: "The colleges and universities, by virtue of their humane purpose and the very nature of their social being, have the responsibility of helping to build a world in which the call to idealism and heroism of youth shall never again be a call to war."

Questionnaires will be distributed at the meeting. Everyone should get one of these or read it in the DAILY TAR HEEL. Dis-

(Continued on page two)

GA. TECH, N. Y. U. DEBATE CAROLINA

Teams Wrangle over Japan's Policy in the Far East and Munitions Matter.

Before a small audience in Gerrard hall last night two North Carolina debate teams engaged in verbal battles with teams from Georgia Tech and New York University.

Tech debaters, Gibson and Darden, staunchly upheld the negative of the query: Resolved, that Japan's policy in the Far East is comparable to the Monroe Doctrine of the United States, against Carolina's Kirkpatrick and Kaplan.

The N. Y. U. team contended that the private manufacture of armaments should be prohibited by international agreement while the Tar Heels objected strenuously, if not sometimes illogically. Both sides presented remedial plans, at the same time finding loopholes in those of the other side.

Fairley, Cross, and Durfee wrangled lengthily over this phase of the munitions question with Bernard Eisenberg, Henry Levine, and Morris Grieff of N. Y. U. Chief points of discussion were Fairley's bale of cotton, Cross's quotation from Isaiah, and Durfee's doughnut, all of which were likened by them as instruments of destruction.

The gentlemen from New York concluded the occasion by calling the Tar Heels a bunch of prophets and retired from the scene. Both battles were bloodless.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee, Don McKee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Walter Hargett, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt, Eddie Kahn.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Charlie Gilmore, Bill Jordan.

DESK MEN—Stuart Rabb and Mac Smith.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: REED SARRATT

Friday, April 12, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

The boys who think they will get Goodyear or TVA jobs are probably stretching the dam thing a bit.

"Dance Will Have Informal Figure." Future events, we have heard, cast their shadows before.

The government's high silver policy ought to cut down on the number of men born with silver spoons in their mouths.

Di and Phi Of the Future

The high schoolers began their annual activity at Chapel Hill yesterday when the debaters fought each other from the platform in quest of the Aycock cup and the tenniseers batted the ball around in order to determine the best net players in the state high schools.

This annual pilgrimage means much to the students and to the University. Behind the novelty of gathering together in the beautiful setting of Chapel Hill there is much serious zest for improvement and education on the part of the younger of our cohorts in the pursuit of knowledge. That they might gather together in a common purpose to debate and to play may have some significance other than the face value of the competition, in that in college and thereafter the same competitive forces, under somewhat less ideal conditions, will prevail in the continuance of life's struggle.

It is rather ironic, from our point of view, that over 200 debaters come to Chapel Hill for their competition, to Chapel Hill where students care little for debating, on the whole. The significance lies in the question: what is there about the University or its debating activities that makes for this shying away from declamation on the part of the students? The question can well be left unanswered until later, but it at least presents an interesting phase of the University's effort annually to gather high schoolers in the common interest in an activity which in Chapel Hill holds little favor.

Aside from this digression, we make our welcome to the high school students and wish them continued success in their efforts to effect a well-rounded education by including the essentials of debating and athletics into the curriculum.

The Old Gives Way to the New

New members of the University Club, including a handful of co-eds, met with the outgoing clubbers last night to get a "pre-view" of the program of this organization.

These recently-elected students will have a young but powerful tradition to uphold in their work during the coming year. Although one of the youngest of campus organizations, the University Club, filling a definite need, has increasingly become more important on this campus and the results of its efforts are showing themselves in many ways.

"For the University" is the motto which the new members must carry on. In bettering inter-school relations, in promoting good sportsmanship and University loyalty, in carrying out multitudinous functions connected with undergraduate spirit, this club has become firmly imbedded as an immense undergraduate influence.

Jobs for the College Graduate

For many years business has recognized the advantage of taking college graduates with background and training them up to positions of responsibility. During the earlier years of the present economic depression there was a general curtailment of this policy just as there was a general curtailment of employment.

However, sixty-three seniors and graduates were interviewed here recently by representatives of the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company for the purpose of selecting a number out of these to be trained for employment. Without pointing out that this is any tangible evidence of return of prosperity, we think that this should at least be an encouraging sign to many college students who have nothing in sight but graduation.

Dean House might use the actions of the TVA and the Goodyear Company in employing college graduates as examples of the positive side of his query, "Why go to college?" Since a great number of students today refuse to recognize the intrinsic worth of a liberal education, they may reconcile themselves by seeing their effort materialize in a job which would not have been available without their college training and experience.

At the End Of His Rope

Herr Hitler, in a very few years, has done far more toward bringing Germany back to its pre-war status than even Kaiser Bill could have hoped for in his most fatherlandistic dreams. He has proved the Treaty of Versailles to be a mere scrap of parchment and brought arms back to the men of Germany, but—what next?

All that has been gained is likely to remain permanent. However it must be remembered that thus far the Allies have taken no forceful action because nothing that Hitler has done to date has been quite worth fighting about. The next logical step, the reclaiming of the lost German territories and colonies, will not be so easy. You can tear up treaties and build heavy guns without causing war, but you can't march your troops into foreign territory (even if it was once yours) without something happening. Even if the Stresa conference between Italy, France, and Great Britain had failed in a definite understanding, Germany would still have been forced to consider the recently formed agreement between France and Russia. And the anti-German party can always rely upon Italy and probably Great Britain. The result—the encircling of the Reich by a well-sharpened ring of unfriendly bayonets.

Hitler has two alternatives: to be satisfied with what he has accomplished; or to try for more with the risk of crushing defeat and probable dismemberment. He has accomplished much in a short time by force, but the Republic might have accomplished more in the end by the peaceful diplomacy it was using.

Peace by Understanding

Secretary of State Cordell Hull recently informed the nations of the world that the solution to their political and military problems did not lie in political negotiations, as exemplified by Sir John Simon's recent visit to Hitlerland, but rather in the adoption of "a sound and comprehensive economic program, both domestic and international, and carrying it forward."

At one of the many seminars of the recent Human Relations Institute we heard a prominent German authority on world trade and international commerce make the statement that although harmony in international trade and commerce was quite important to world peace it did not play the important part assigned to it.

The House of Representatives has just passed the McSwain bill taking the profits out of war, and supposedly removing all possibility of entering any but a defensive war, caused by invasion of our coasts or borders.

Here we have three divergent opinions concerning the probable causes and effects of war. There are many more. But after all is it really anything more than a matter of whether the nations desire war or peace? Increased understanding and an international attitude will come in time, but until then pressure against war, such as the proposed strike, will have its effect.

Help Prevent Athletes' Foot

The tubs of solution for the prevention of athletes' foot placed about the campus baths by the University health officer have been welcomed by many a student who has suffered in silence from the discomforting malady.

Since the beginning of the quarter only 25 tubs have been set in the dormitory rooms; but, according to Health Officer Nathan, the solutions in a short while will be placed in all the University bathing places if the preventive works.

The occupants of the dormitories where these tubs are now should abide by the request of the health authorities to keep the solution free from trash, for only by the fullest co-operation of the students can the spread of the detested malady be prevented.

Casual Correspondent
by Nelson Lansdale

HOW ABOUT ADMIRAL BYRD?

Somebody somewhere along the line last week told one about a candidate for West Point taking the entrance examination, and reaching the last question with only two minutes in which to finish. The question read: "Name ten Antarctic animals." The answer the cadet-to-be gave was: "Five walrusses and five seals." He passed the exam.

WHAT YOU DON'T KNOW WON'T

There's another, told in a sociology seminar by Sanford Bates, director of the Department of Justice's Bureau of Prisons, about an examination, this one given to a dumb athlete. Indispensable to the team, our athlete was flunking chemistry, so the coach—baseball, we guess it was—made an arrangement with the chemistry professor to give the athlete a special examination, in which coach and professor agreed that the athlete need make only a grade of 50% to pass. They asked him only two questions. The first, "What is the color of blue vitriol?" he messed up, replying that it was green. Then they asked him: "What are the component parts of H_2O?" to which he answered he didn't know. They couldn't argue with that, so they gave him his 50%, and he played in the game.

JOHN BULL AGAIN

We thought we weren't going to tell any stories about the Human Relations Institute, but we think it our duty to pass along one told us in an interview with the New Republic's genial, mild-voiced Editor George Soule, who was illustrating the English habit of looking at everything through English eyes. He recalled a terrific storm a few years ago which paralyzed all communication facilities between the Island and the rest of the world. In the London Times the headline over the story read as follows: "Terrific Storm: Continent Isolated."

GIVE 'EM HELL, BOYS

And we think you ought to know about the fraternity which piled its pledges into a car and drove them eight or nine miles out in the country, parked the car alongside the road near a ditch, and led the brothers-to-be blindfolded up into some wood about two hundred yards away. Leaving the blindfolded freshmen to shift for themselves, the brothers slunk away to the car. In a hasty effort to get away before the pledges should overtake them, the driver of the car somehow pulled it over into the ditch, where it got stuck. They spun the wheels and swore and grunted and shoved, but it didn't do any good. Relenting somewhat in self-defense, the brothers summoned the pledges, and everybody pushed. That didn't do any good either. The upshot was that two of the brothers walked the three miles to the nearest filling station, got a truck to pull them out, and brought the pledges on home.

CROCKFORD WILL LEAD PHYSICS COLLOQUIUM

"Some Applications of Quantum Mechanics to Electro-Chemistry" will be discussed in a physics colloquium this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. H. D. Crockford will conduct the discussion which will be held in room 250, Phillips hall. The physics department invites other scientists to be the guests of the colloquium.

War Protest

(Continued from page one)

cuss these questions in your classes. The purpose of the demonstration, as already announced, is to stimulate student thought and action on the means of preventing war. The questionnaire plays an important part.

Appeal to Students

One of the results of the anti-war demonstrations which are taking place all over the country today will be the effect that it will have on the militarists and those who promote war. All University students are asked to attend to show that the campus is conscious of the war problems that confront the youth of today.

Senators Nye and Bone are among the many prominent people endorsing the anti-war strikes. Senator Nye commented on the movement: "The student strike on April 12 is not as futile as some people seem to think. A strong demonstration will have the salutary effect of convincing jingoists of the task they will have on their hands if they attempt to force the youth of this country into another war. A unified and simultaneous movement on a national scale will have a far greater effect than has been obtained by occasional independent outbursts."

The call goes out to all Carolina students and faculty members to be on hand today. The committee especially urges the high school debating and athletic teams visiting the University to attend.

Don't forget—South building, 10:30!

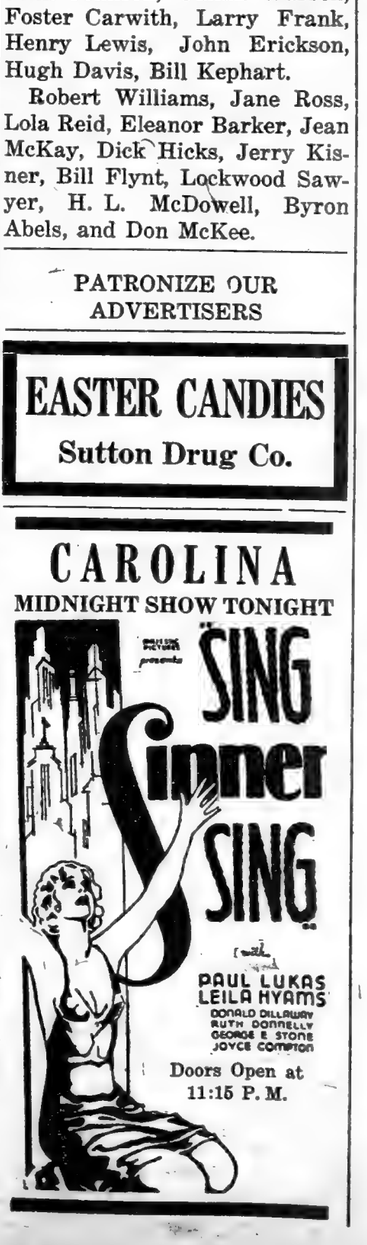
University Club

(Continued from page one)

sume actual duty two weeks hence, are:

New Members

Phil Kind, Dick Cox, Bob Gardiner, Billy Daniels, Joe Grier, Walter Illman, Bill Cochrane, Boylan Carr, Dick Buck, Jake Bond, William Priestly, Louis Shaffner, E. L. McKee, Jim Boone, Jack Bower, Herbert Alderman.



Joe Murnick, Julian Bobbitt, George MacFarland, Jack Clare, John Johnson, Julian Warren, Foster Carwith, Larry Frank, Henry Lewis, John Erickson, Hugh Davis, Bill Kephart.

Robert Williams, Jane Ross, Lola Reid, Eleanor Barker, Jean McKay, Dick Hicks, Jerry Kisner, Bill Flynt, Lockwood Sawyer, H. L. McDowell, Byron Abels, and Don McKee.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

EASTER CANDIES
Sutton Drug Co.

CAROLINA
MIDNIGHT SHOW TONIGHT

Doors Open at 11:15 P. M.

OUTSTANDING RADIO BROADCASTS

12:45: Allan Leafer orch., WABC, WBIG.

1:30: George Hall orch., WABC, WBIG.

2:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

3:15: Minneapolis Sym. orch., Eugene Ormandy, conductor, WABC, WBT, WBIG.

5:00: Loretta Lee, songs, WABC.

7:00: Bill Allsbrook orch., WBIG.

8:00: Concert, Jessica Dragonette, soprano, Rosario Bourdon orch., WEAF.

8:30: College Prom, Ruth Etting, songs, Red Nichols orch., WJZ, KDKA.

9:00: March of Time, WABC, WHAS.

9:30: Hollywood Hotel, Dick Powell, Raymond Paige orch., WABC, WBT, WBIG; Phil Baker, comedian, Leon Belasco orch., WJZ, KDKA.

10:15: Kay Kyser orch., WGN.

10:30: Frank Black, Countess Olga Albani, soprano, WLW, WPTF, WSB.

11:15: Ozzie Nelson orch., WBT.

11:30: Freddie Berrins orch., WABC, WBT; Wayne King orch., WGN.

11:45: Jan Garber orch., WGN.

Fraternity Pledges

The following men have pledged fraternities, it was announced yesterday from the dean of students' office: George Armfield of High Point, Phi Delta Theta; W. L. Clover of Glencoe, Ill., Sigma Chi; and David Teague of Sanford, Chi Phi.

"LETTER" MEN

"LETTER" men, as well as other leaders in undergraduate life, are individuals with lots of vitality. Their energy and their enthusiasm make them popular.

But many others fail to take proper care of their health. Their drive and pep is often slowed down by constipation due to insufficient "bulk."

Fortunately, this can be corrected. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious cereal, supplies "bulk" as well as vitamin B and iron. This "bulk" is mild in action.

Two tablespoonfuls daily, served with milk or cream, are usually sufficient to promote regular habits. Ask that it be served at your fraternity house, eating-club or campus restaurant.

The most popular ready-to-eat cereals served in the dining-rooms of American colleges, eating-clubs and fraternities are made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. They include Kellogg's Corn Flakes, PEP Bran Flakes, Rice Krispies, Wheat Krumbles, and Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit. Also Kaffee Hag Coffee—real coffee—97% caffeine free.

Tar Heels Beat Deacons By 7th Inning Rally, 6-2; Crouch Gives Only 3 Hits

STRAYHORN GETS LONG HOME RUN

Carolina Counts Four Runs in Lucky Seventh; Crouch Makes Decisive Blow.

GADDY FANS SEVEN MEN

A four-run rally in the seventh inning by Carolina broke a 1-1 deadlock and the Tar Heel nine went on to successfully open its home season yesterday by defeating Wake Forest, 6-4. The final three innings of the well-attended contest on Emerson field were played in a downpour of rain.

Freddie Crouch, veteran right-hander, on the mound for Carolina, demonstrated remarkable skill despite the cool weather. He held the Deacons to three singles and allowed no earned runs. Six errors by his teammates put Crouch in trouble on several occasions but he bore down with his high, fast ball and teasing change of pace to come out ahead.

Crouch struck out only one man, a pinch-hitter, but had most of the Deacons popping-up and hitting grounders.

One Bad Frame

Gaddy also performed well for the losers except for the big seventh when Carolina got five of its nine hits. Gaddy fanned seven Tar Heel batters.

Besides the winning rally, Strayhorn, catcher playing his first game on the Tar Heel varsity, furnished the biggest thrill of the afternoon in the eighth inning. The peppery receiver stepped into one of Gaddy's high pitches and cracked it on a line between the center and left fielders. He circled the sacks for a homer before the outfielders could get the ball back to the infield.

Captain Vick put the winners in the lead in the opening inning; Vick reached first on Shortstop Chappell's error, stole second, and came home on Tommy Irwin's single.

The losers tied things in the sixth after two outs had been made. With one down Second Baseman Mitchell hit a hot grounder down the third base line which got away from Ed Bullard. Centerfielder Wall forced Mitchell at second but reached second himself when Trip Rand, Tar Heel second baseman, bobbled Patton's grounder. Patton, big first sack player, then hit a line single to right field and Wall crossed the plate.

Crouch Wins Own

Crouch won his own ball game in the following inning with a big double to centerfield which counted Strayhorn and Bullard. The rally had been started by Strayhorn's single. Bullard had put the catcher and himself in scoring position by getting a bingle to right and taking second on the outfielder's attempt to catch Strayhorn at third.

Vick's grounder through Mitchell's legs brought the twirler around but the Tar Heel captain was retired when, after

(Continued on last page)

Number One!

Wake Forest	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
D. Morris, 3b	5	0	0	5	0	0
Gold, rf	3	1	0	5	1	0
Mitchell, 2b	4	0	0	1	2	1
Wall, cf	4	1	0	2	0	0
Patton, 1b	3	0	1	3	0	0
Chappell, ss	4	0	2	0	1	2
B. Morris, lf	4	0	0	1	0	0
Myers, c	2	0	0	4	0	1
Sheppard, c	1	0	0	3	0	0
Gaddy, p	4	0	0	0	1	0
xWarren	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	35	2	3	24	5	4

xBatted for Myers in 7th.

Carolina	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Vick, cf	4	1	1	1	0	0
Rand, 2b	4	1	2	7	1	1
Irwin, ss	4	0	2	5	7	1
McIver, lf	3	0	0	1	0	0
Tatum, 1b	4	0	0	9	2	0
Strayhorn, c	4	2	2	1	1	0
Shapiro, rf	4	0	0	1	0	0
Bullard, 3b	4	1	1	2	2	4
Crouch, p	3	1	1	0	0	0
Totals	34	6	9	27	13	6

Runs batted in: Crouch (2), Irwin (2), Vick, Strayhorn, Patton, and Chappell. Home run: Strayhorn. Double: Crouch. Stolen bases: Vick (2), Rand, Irwin. Struck out: by Crouch, 1; by Gaddy, 7. Walks: by Crouch, 2; by Gaddy, 1. Double play: Irwin to Rand to Tatum. Wild pitch: Gaddy. Passed ball: Myers. Umpire: Kerney (National League). Time of game: 1:33.

H. S. TRACK MEET OPENING TODAY

State Meet to Open at 10:45 O'clock This Morning with Many Schools Entered.

The 23d annual interscholastic track meet for North Carolina high schools will get under way here this morning with the field events beginning at 10:45 o'clock.

Among the high school track teams entered are Durham, defending champion; Winston-Salem, Raleigh, Rockingham, Goldsboro, Lewisville, Mineral Springs, Charlotte, Dunn, Oakhurst, Walkertown, Barium Springs, Greensboro, Sanford, and High Point. Several other schools may make last minute entries.

Previous to the beginning of the field events Friday morning, the coaches will meet at 10 o'clock.

Scoring System

Points will be counted in the following order: first place, five points; second place, three points; third place, two points; fourth place, one point.

The relay will not be counted in team scoring, but the winning team will be given a permanent cup.

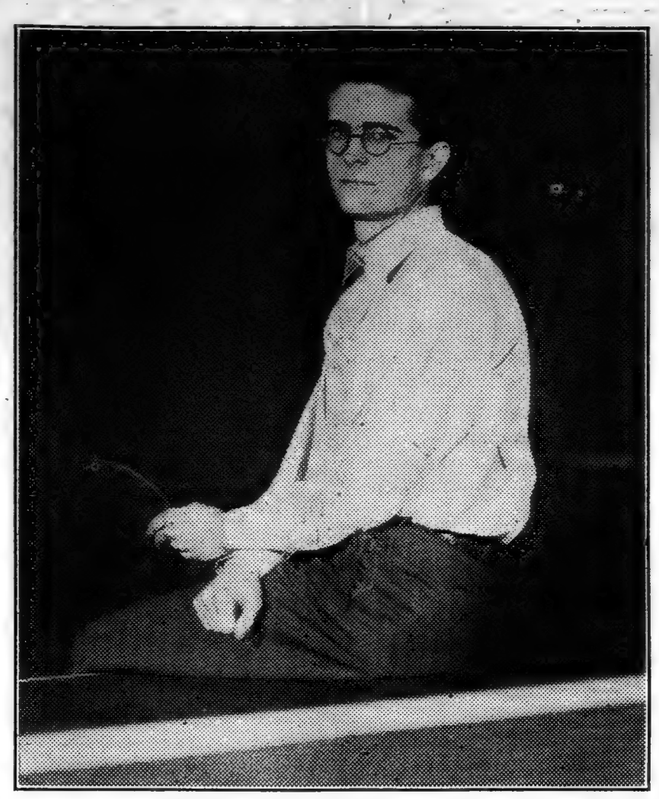
Team and individual awards will be presented Friday night at the conclusion of the high school debates here.

VARSITY GOLFERS TO RESUME PLAY

To Meet Augusta Junior College In Fifth Match of Season.

After almost a week of inactivity, the varsity golfers will resume play this afternoon when they meet Augusta Junior College.

This match, which is the fifth of the season, will be played on Hope Valley course. The Tar Heel linksters have remained unbeaten on their home course and so far have limited their opponents to no more than three points in a meet on the home grounds.



In four starts they have won three and dropped one. The team's only setback came at the hands of State and occurred last Saturday on the Raleigh links.

Once again Acting Captain Erwin Laxton will start off the play and will be followed by Dick Harris.

ON TO DUKE

All students scheduled to play at Duke in the mass tennis meet today are earnestly requested to appear for their matches. Cars will be awaiting the various players at 2 o'clock in front of Emerson stadium.

COMING HERE!

Abe Berenbaum, present national table tennis champion, who will appear in the novel exhibition to be held at Tin Can, Thursday and Friday of next week. Berenbaum recently captured the U. S. crown in Chicago. He will perform with Rudy Rubin and Chet Wells, other ranking stars.

Berenbaum, U.S. Champion, Amazing In Defensive Play

Opened Career Three Years Ago with Trick Service and Upon Its Abolishment Has Developed Spectacular Defense, Which Has Carried Him to National Table Tennis Title.

Did you ever have the feeling of utter hopelessness? That is the current condition which the opponents of Abe Berenbaum suffer from. The youthful national champion, a member of the coming table tennis troupe, is conceded to have the greatest defense in the United States.

Lean and bespectacled, Berenbaum is amazingly fast on the floor as he retrieves the most impossible of "put-aways." It has long been a cause of wonderment as to how he can be so agile and wide-awake on his feet.

C. C. N. Y. Student

Yet a student of the City College of New York, he continues his studies alongside of his pursuit of the table game. It was in this college, three years ago, that Berenbaum first experimented with table tennis.

His first discovery raised the greatest hullabaloo that table tennis has ever experienced, and threw the sport into a virtual turmoil. He had discovered a fingerspin service that was unreturnable. The ball spun crazily to all sides and within a few weeks other players adopted variations and soon the game was turned into a farce.

The game became a battle of service, and the U. S. T. T. A., in desperation, banned all service in which the finger is flicked against the ball. Berenbaum had one alternative and he accepted it. He learned to play without a trick serve.

He concentrated on the return and soon entered into the field of near perfection. Players threw up their hands in despair and fled from the ranks. He was a machine, errorless and merciless!

Opens Campaign

He began his quest for titles. He trailed but one player, Sol Schiff. Although runner-up in a few tourneys to the red-headed star, he was unable to surpass him.

However, starting in the early days of 1934, he opened a campaign that was climaxed last week with his thrilling conquest of the United States singles and doubles titles.

Berenbaum has toured the country in his table tennis quest. Last month he traveled to St. Louis, where in company with Schiff, and two other New Yorkers, he helped capture the U. S. team title.

Behind him lies a field of scalped opponents, and his path to more glory is first opening. Therefore comes this "you-shall-not-pass" hero out of the east with only a racquet and a little ball to guide him. For him, as for the others, it is his first visit to Dixie. Welcome!

FAVORED NETTERS WIN IN HI TENNIS

Canady, Rawlings, Jordan, and Sloan Sweep Singles.

The state-wide high school tennis championship play got under way yesterday on the University clay courts. All of the first four seeded players came through with flying colors to the semi-finals.

Canady, Rawlings, Jordan, and Sloan, the seeded stars, were not extended and took easy victories in the opening singles encounters. Jordan, the Chapel Hill representative, seeded third, played fine tennis to overwhelm Hobbs of Charlotte, 6-0, 6-1.

The doubles tournament in which 18 teams were entered ran according to form until the last quarter final of the day. Charlotte was pitted against the favored Durham pair, and after an hour of hard play, Turner and Beatty of Charlotte, succeeded in upsetting Markham and Swindell of Durham, 3-6, 8-6, 7-5.

The doubles team from Winston-Salem, Wilmington, Washington, and Charlotte will finish the tourney today starting at 3 o'clock, with the Winston-Salem boys favored to emerge victorious.

Today's Mural Card

There will be two intramural playground ball games today. Today's program is as follows:

4:00: Beta Theta Pi vs. Kappa Sigma.

5:00: Ruffin vs. New Dorms.

Netters Beat Duke, 5-1, For Fifth Successive Win

CAROLINA LEADS DUKE TEAM, 76-44

Carolina Lead Drops 8 Points as Duke Routs Tar Heels on Carolina Courts.

The huge gap separating Duke's mass tennis team from the Tar Heels was narrowed considerably yesterday as the Duke gladiators managed to capture 23 matches to Carolina's 15.

However, the Tar Heels hold a safe 28-point advantage going into the final two days. The score now reads Carolina 76; Duke 44. Yesterday's struggle showed the home boys humiliated on the local courts, as they won only five of the 18 contested matches.

Split at Duke

At the Duke courts, eight matches were still in the midst of play, when a slight downpour necessitated the cessation of activities. As four matches were approximately Carolina wins and vice versa, the contests were evenly divided among the two schools. This made the count on the Durham courts at 10 for each university.

Rain also hindered play at Carolina but only two matches were actually halted. They will be played today on the Carolina courts.

The results follow:

At Duke

Gardner (C) over Mason, 6-1, 6-2; Hurley (D) over Verberg, 7-5, 6-3; R. Taylor (C) over Wolf, 6-2, 6-4; Cole (D) over McMann, 6-1, 6-0; K. Smith (D) over Shore, 6-0, 6-0; Frampton (D) over R. Morgan, 6-1, 7-5; J. Pressley (C) over Stillman, 6-1, 6-1; J. H. Williams (C) over Fox, 6-0, 6-0; Clark (D) won by default.

Eisenberg (C) over Coey, 3-6, 6-0, 6-2; Cowan (D) won by default; R. Zauber (C) over Dearborn, 6-1, 6-2; J. Schiller (C) over Etheredge; H. Smith (D) over Steingrob; Schneweiss (D) over Orzack; M. Myers (C) over Cone; Bobbitt (C) over Thomas; Gabori (C) over McCollom; Sippel (D) over Worsley; Petty (C) over Hansen.

At Carolina

Ginsberg (D) over Rubin, 6-0, 6-2; Lasky (C) over Boyce, 6-2, 6-0; Stadium (C) over Beneke, 6-4, 6-3; Rice (D) over Reeves, 11-9, 6-2; Jenkinson (D) over Coffield, 6-1, 6-1; Hagey (C) over Sager, 6-3, 6-1; Orton (D) over Ressler, 6-1, 7-5; Hoffman (D) over Jackson, 6-1, 6-2; Piper (D) over Clingman, 6-2, 6-1.

Hawks (D) over Montgomery, 6-3, 6-4; McFarlan (D) over Polisar, 6-2, 6-2; Vibl (D) over Mullis, 6-2, 6-1; Rouiller (C) over Cleveland, 6-2, 6-0; Fager (D) over Mehlman, 6-0, 6-1; Alterman (D) over Stricker, 6-4, 6-2; Mallonee (C) over Bennett, 6-1, 7-5; Freidlander (D) over J. Clingman, 6-2, 6-2; Folson (D) over Morris, 6-4, 6-3.

Today's Matches

At Carolina: 122—Marv Chaiken, 124—Luke Copeland, 126—Francis Harrell, 128—J. R. Thomas, 130—George Armfield, 132—Ed Everett, 134—Lou Spelke, 136—Irwin Boyle, 138—R. D. Baxley, 140—Jim Hutchins, 142—J. H. Ellis, 144—Alex Hanes, 146—Herb Goldberg, 148—Robert Seymour, 150—Joe Kornegay, 152—R. Currie, 154—Nick Powell, 156—A. S. Ballard, 158—Irv Kalmanoff, 160—C. Davis.

At Duke: 125—Francis Rasberry, 127—Simmons Patterson, 129—Louis Brazen, 131—Charlie Rountree, 133—Peck Hart, 135—Rufus Worsley, 137—Blucher Ehringhaus, 139—Bert Potter, 141—L. S. Levitch, 143—Pinky Conner, 145—John Parker, 147—David Scott, 149—Giles Winstead, 151—Fred Tushnett, 153—Bill Stevenson, 155—Bill Millis, 157—Frank Wilson, 159—Sam Hatch.

DOUBLES STOPPED BY LIGHT DRIZZLE

Jones Is Only Tar Heel to Lose In Singles; Shore Pressed By Caton to Three Sets.

LEVITAN FAILS TO PLAY

The tennis team chalked up its fifth victory of the season with a spotty win over the Duke Blue Devils on the home courts yesterday afternoon.

Spattering raindrops, which finally brought the match to an incompleted finish, made the play rather ragged. However, Carolina was altogether too strong for the Duke players in the singles and had assumed a comfortable 5-1 lead before the contest was halted.

Walter Levitan, captain of the team, was not present and therefore Larry Jones was unexpectedly thrust into the fray. Jones bowed, after a bitter opening set, to Ashby for the sole Tar Heel setback of the day.

Harris Wins Again

Harvey Harris, again playing first singles, dropped Martin rather easily by 6-0, 6-4 scores. Willis, De Gray, Shore and Minor all followed with victories; only Shore encountering difficulty.

Shore had to go three sets before subduing Dave Caton, diminutive but troublesome Blue Devil. Caton is the one who bettered Levitan in the mass meet the other day. After two deuced sets, Frank managed to whip through a 6-1 set for victory.

The doubles were all stopped by rain, with two of the Carolina combinations one set in the lead.

Harris (C) over Martin, 6-0, 6-4.

Willis (C) over McNeil, 6-4, 6-3.

De Gray (C) over Parsons, 6-1, 6-3.

Shore (C) over Caton, 7-5, 5-7, 6-1.

Minor (C) over Gill, 6-1, 6-2.

Ashby (D) over Jones, 8-6, 6-1.

STROWD'S
Used Car Specials

1928	Oldsmobile Coach	$ 45.00
1928	Ford Phaeton	50.00
1929	Whippet Sedan	70.00
1928	Chevrolet Sedan	85.00
1930	Ford Coupe	185.00
1929	La Salle Sedan	195.00
1932	Ford V-8 Roadster	195.00
1932	Ford V-8 DeLuxe Coupe	295.00
1932	Ford V-8 Tudor	280.00
1933	Ford V-8 Tudor	385.00
1933	Ford V-8 Truck and Cab	395.00

Strowd Motor Co.
"Ford Products Since 1914"

DEBATE CONTEST CLOSES TONIGHT

Bradshaw Will Present Aycock Cup to Winner; Sports Meet Begins at 10.

High school debaters from all parts of North Carolina poured into Chapel Hill yesterday afternoon to hear Dr. Graham open the 23rd annual final contest of the North Carolina Debating Union and to enter the first preliminary which was held in 16 Carolina auditoriums last night.

The second preliminary will be run off this morning at 8:30 o'clock in the Phi and Di halls and the interscholastic tennis and track meets will be conducted today beginning at 10 o'clock at Emerson field and the tennis courts.

Presented by Dean Francis Bradshaw, the Aycock memorial cup will go to the winning team of the finals which will be conducted in Memorial hall tonight. The program begins at 7:30 with a half-hour orchestra concert by Earl Slocum's University Symphony Orchestra.

At 8 o'clock the final debate will be held with Dean of Administration R. B. House presiding and Debate Committee Secretary E. R. Rankin, secretary. After the Bradshaw presentationof the Aycock cup, Dr. Harold D. Meyer of the University sociology department will present the cups and medals to the winners in the interscholastic sports meets.

At the conclusion of the Memorial hall program, a reception will be given the visitors in Graham Memorial.

FROSH TO HAVE FORMAL FIGURE

Leaders Will Meet at 5 O'clock In Tin Can.

In a meeting yesterday the freshman dance leaders, changing their official minds for the fourth time, decided that the leaders will wear tuxedos. This may be the final decision.

Leaders will meet this afternoon in the Tin Can at 5 o'clock to practice the figure. It is imperative that all leaders and their dates be present at this meeting. Bill Seawell and Drew Martin will select the figure and lead at the practice session.

Denying the possibility of the dance being "sticky," Class President Clyde Mullis asks the freshmen to secure dates if possible.

Freshmen, instead of receiving bids, will have their names checked at the door. This is intended to prevent upper classmen from "crashing" the gate.

Giduz's Article Appears In March Journal

Says Out-of-State French Student Is Better Prepared.

The March issue of the High School Journal for North Carolina contains an article written by Hugo Giduz of the University department of education entitled "Students' Accomplishments in French."

Mr. Giduz qnotes statistics to show that the out-of-state student is, on the average, better prepared than the average state student for the study of French. Even so, the great majority of students are unable to continue successfully from the high school course.

Mr. Giduz quotes statistics to ing that this situation should be remedied by better teachers being chosen for high school French. "Teachers of French," he says, "should be chosen by superintendents and principals for their ability to teach French, not for their fine qualities as coaches."

Dormitory Banquet Set For Tomorrow Night

Council Members to Feast in Graham Memorial.

Graham Memorial fill be the scene of a gala inter-dormitory council banquet tomorrow night. The hour is 7:30 p. m. The councilors are bringing dates. Following the banquet the Grail dance will be attended by the council.

According to Council Head Albert Ellis, the banquet room will be decorated with evergreens and the waiters will wear tuxedos.

All councilors expecting to attend the banquet are requested to notify their dormitory president at once.

Chapel Hill Trade Week To Start Tomorrow

Merchants Will Solicit Trade by Special Prices and Displays.

Tomorrow will begin Chapel Hill Trade Week, an enterprise sponsored by local merchants which will last until next Saturday.

Offering their goods at special prices, merchants will make every effort to display them attractively. Unusual attention will be devoted to window displays.

The idea behind the week arises from an effort on the part of local merchants to bring before Chapel Hill customers the goods that they have to offer, so that these customers will buy at home before bestowing their patronage elsewhere.

Grail to Admit Frosh

Freshmen will be admitted to the first Grail dance of this quarter to be held Saturday night in the Tin Can.

Admission to the dance, which will begin at 9 o'clock, will be $1, according to Simmons Patterson, treasurer.

Bill Allsbrook and his orchestra will furnish the music.

CONFIRMATION

A scene from the battle ground of Wednesday's election of student officers for the next year. The University party, running true to form, succeeded in having its entire ticket put into office, making a commonplace out of its unusual victory last year.

Questionnaire

(Continued from page one)

12. Would you refuse to offer your services as an engineer, chemist, physician, teacher, artist, writer, technician, etc.—your chosen profession—to the preparation or execution of a war?

13. Do you favor the abolition of the Civilian Conservation Camps, and the replacement of such a potential source of cannon fodder by a complete system of unemployment and social insurance?

14. Would you be in favor of a general strike upon the declaration of war if you believed that workers in other countries were undertaking similar measures?

15. Do you believe with William R. Hearst and Bernarr MacFadden that an "adequate national defense is the best surety of peace"?

16. Have you ever had military training in the R. O. T. C. .....; C. M. T. C.....; National Guard.....; or the regular armed forces.....?

17. Will you bring pressure on your Congressional representative to keep this country from entering another world war?

CHORAL CLUB WILL SING "STABAT MATER" SUNDAY

The Chapel Hill Choral Club will sing Rossini's "Stabat Mater" in Hill Music hall Sunday at 5 p. m.

The soloists, all from Greensboro, are as follows: soprano, Miss Edyth Schneider, voice teacher at Woman's College; contralto, Mrs. E. C. Caldwell, contralto of the First Presbyterian Church; tenor, Karl Fisher, tenor of the First Presbyterian Church; and bass, Max Noah, director of music, Guilford College.

INFIRMARY LIST

The following students were confined to the infirmary yesterday: Robert Van Sleen, Franklin Brown, S. B. Knight, William Teague, S. P. Hancock, J. B. Foreman, Ellen Deppe, Eleanor Lockhart.

Margaret Ross, G. W. McLean, H. H. Gunn, Tom Jimison and James Idol.

DEPUTATION BODY ON TRI-CITY TOUR

Pool, McKee, McMullan, Barney, And Sink Make Trip.

Jack Pool, Don McKee, Harry McMullan, John Barney, and Edwin Sink left yesterday afternoon on a week-end Y. M. C. A. deputation trip to Aberdeen, Pinehurst, and Southern Pines.

The first three members of the team will speak to various assemblies, and the last two will compose a duet for further entertainment of the audiences.

The team's first stop was in Aberdeen last night to address a joint meeting of the Hi-Y clubs of the three towns. This morning they will speak in the schools, and tomorrow they will meet with Boy Scouts and other groups. They will address the congregations of the churches of Aberdeen Sunday, and return that afternoon.

Deputation teams will go to Rocky Mount and Raleigh during the last week-end in April.

Varsity Baseball

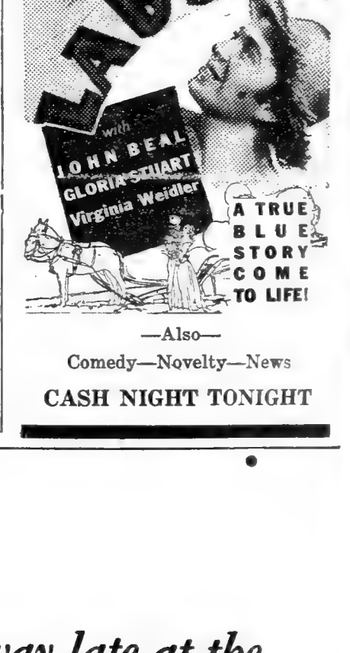
(Continued from page three)

successfully stealing second, he misunderstood the umpire's decision and started walking to the dugout.

Irwin's single to right brought Rand home after he had got a bingle and stole second.

Wake Forest got its final run in the eighth on no hits. Gold walked, took second on Bullard's error of Mitchell's blow, went to third on Wall's grounder, and came home on Patton's fly.

Strayhorn, Rand, and Irwin each got two hits to top Carolina's batting. This same trio also starred in the field. Strayhorn made a beautiful assist in the sixth after chasing Gold's bounder halfway to first base. The keystone pair each committed one error but Irwin made seven assists and five putouts, while Rand handled eight chances skillfully.



Chappell accounted for two of the three Deacon hits.

Dr. Trabue Visits University

Dr. M. R. Trabue of the Bureau for Educational Research, will be visiting Chapel Hill over the week-end.

EASTER CARDS
LEDBETTER-PICKARD
Stationery, Gifts, School Supplies

Frank MEDICO REVOLUTIONIZES PIPE SMOKING

This simple appearing yet amazing absorbent filter invention with Cellophane exterior and cooling mesh screen interior keeps juices and flakes in Filter and out of mouth.

Prevents tongue bite, raw mouth, wet heel, bad odor, frequent expectoration. No breaking in. Improves taste and aroma of any tobacco.

LATEST SHAPES
FINEST BRIAR MONEY CAN BUY
yet only $1.
PATENTED - NOS. 1,919,959 - 1,957,585

CAROLINA
TODAY

—Also—
Comedy—Novelty—News
CASH NIGHT TONIGHT

"Sure, enjoy yourself," said Jim. "It's a ding good cigarette."

I was working way late at the office one night and ran out of cigarettes. When Jim the watchman came through I tackled him for a smoke.

"Sure," says Jim, and he handed over a pack of Chesterfields. "Go ahead, Mr. Kent, take three or four."

Jim said he'd smoked a lot of cigarettes in his time, but he'd put Chesterfield up in front of any of 'em when it came to taste.

. . . "and they ain't a bit strong either," is the way Jim put it.

That was the first Chesterfield I ever smoked. And I'm right there with him, too, when he says it's a ding good cigarette.

Interesting—how people find out about Chesterfield

© 1935, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

RIL 12, 1935
University
e of the Bunal Research,
pel Hill over
CARDS
PICKARD chool Supplies
EDICO
ONIZES
OKING imple appearing asing absorbent invention with phane exterior
olling mesh screen or keeps juices
kes in Filter and
f mouth.
vents tongue bite,
r mouth, wet heel,
d odor, frequent xpectoration. No breaking in. Improves taste and aroma of any tobacco.
.959 . . . 1,967,585
LINA
Y
Love Story!
GENE STRATTON-
PORTER'S
A TRUE
BLUE
STORY
COME TO LIFE!
lty—News
TONIGHT
the ttes.
ugh
ed
d, a-eren ng
I
th
ng

U. N. C.-STATE—BASEBALL
3 P. M.
EMERSON FIELD

The Daily Tar Heel

EXPERIMENTAL PLAY
8:30 P. M.
PLAYMAKERS THEATRE

SERVED BY THE UNITED PRESS

VOLUME XLIII | CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, APRIL 13, 1935 | NUMBER 143

HUSBANDS SAYS 2,417 STUDENTS NOW IN SCHOOL

Current Total Is 211 More Than Last Spring's; Seven Less Than Spring of 1933.

59 NEW STUDENTS ENTER

Exactly 2,417 students are registered in the University to date, according to registration figures released by Ben Husbands, associate registrar, yesterday.

This number is 211 more than last spring and seven more than the number for spring quarter two years ago. The current registration is also one larger than for the fall quarter a year ago.

According to Mr. Husbands, 36 students are here now that were here in the fall but not here in the winter quarter. Students registering for the first time this year number 59.

219 Drop

Two hundred and nineteen students were here in the winter quarter who are not here now, pointed out the assocaite registrar.

Undergraduate students taking academic work number 2,018, students in medicine, the graduate school and the school of library science, 275 and law students, 124, giving the total for the quarter 2,417.

Of the 2,704 for the fall quarter, 296 dropped out at the end of the term. This drop was partially replaced by the 133 entering at the winter quarter. Adding this last group to the 59 new spring students and the original 2,704 for the fall quarter, Mr. Husbands finds that 2,896 different individuals have registered at Carolina this year.

Additional registrations in the graduate school will probably be made before commencement, indicated the associate registrar. In the main they will be graduates who are expecting to receive a higher degree in June and will register for thesis only.

U.N.C. GRADUATES MEET THIS WEEK

Graham, Chase Guests in New York; Other Meetings in Robeson County, New Orleans.

Three widely-separated alumni meetings, representing groups of sons in New York, New Orleans and Robeson county, have been scheduled for this week.

President Graham and United States Congressman J. Bayard Clark of Fayetteville, were the principal speakers at the annual New York meeting which took place last night at the Town Hall Club, New Yor.

Saunders Is Honor Guest

Over 200 alumni were present, indicated J. Maryon Saunders, alumni secretary, who with Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase, former president of the University, and head of the Alumni Loyalty Fund Felix A. Grisette, were honor guests at the New York affair.

The Robeson county meeting will be held in Lumberton with County Alumni Leader John Proctor at the head. A large number of the Robeson alumni are expected to attend the meeting set for April 16.

Dr. E. W. Knight, head of the University summer school and Dr. W. W. Pierson, dean of the graduate school represented

(Continued on page two)

Feline Mistress Of 'Y' Masters Hodges' Hate, Gets Gratuities

"Hodges' hate—Lizzie's love"—the mistress of the "Y"—an alley cat, widely renowned.

She drinks naught but the pure, icy waters of Comer's own fount and considers herself a guest at every bit of eating that takes place in the Y. M. C. A.

Lovably fuzzy, she's cared for by Bull's Head "Dopey" who behaves toward her ward like a mother toward her child.

"Miss Helen" can't stand cats, but this one she has to tolerate for she's the pet of Winslow and Greer, Comer and Hinson, and all the regular visitors at the "Y."

She stands taunt on the "Y" lobby's ice cooler and waits impatiently till a victim comes by to turn the spigot for her.

Basks in Sun

She waits for Comer's car and then hops on the roof-top to bask in the Carolina sun.

She perches on the metal cabinet in the Y. M. C. A. secretary's office and then leaps on the head of the typist and then down to the table—when there is any food nearby.

But Hodges' law is final and the favorite of the "Y" has learned, by now, "to get out—" when Miss Helen is eating.

"Rides" Visitors

No one else, though, can thus shove her off and she freely "rides" every visitor for cocacolas, sweets, cakes, and candies—but best of all, that ice-cold water from the fountain.

A beast when aroused, the tabby cat despises dogs. When scared, she always attacks first and, as she did last week, she usually leaves the worrisome terriers a-whelping for an hour, scratched almost clean by ole' tabby's filed claws.

But on the whole, "Dopey's" cat of her "Y"-gone days spends her hours just snoosin' in Miss Johnson's unoccupied Bull's Head lounge . . . a snooty, slant-eyed grin below her withered, sleepy face.

SYMPHONIC CHOIR APPEARS TUESDAY

Kibalchich Brings Russian Choir To Memorial Hall on Student Entertainment Series.

Basil Kibalchich with his Russian Symphonic Choir, will appear at Memorial hall on the 16th of April under the auspices of the Student Entertainment Committee.

Mr. Kibalchich is an accomplished musician and has been directing choral organizations for the past 30 years. The choir is composed of 20 mixed voices, and in colorful Russian costume, sings a varied program of sacred, symphonic and folk music.

According to reports, the chorus often suggests a string orchestra, by means of its fine graduation of tone and accent; other accounts claim that Mr. Kibalchich uses his voices like so many wind instruments and the singing of his chorus resembles some ideal sort of organ, whose widely varied qualities he attends to with an exquisite delicacy of registration.

Has No Rival

Today, the Russian Symphonic has no rival in its chosen sphere and its tremendous popularity has been shown by the long list of the choir's engagements during its eight years of continuous performances in the United States.

Since its beginning in 1915 the choir has become world-wide famous and has won great success in several extensive tours in Europe and America. Since its advent here, however, public demand has made it impossible for it to return to Europe.

Each singer is a competent soloist and as a result the Russian Choir is really a body of solo singers joined together under the able leadership of a master musician to produce an organization which has been called

(Continued on page three)

Daily Tar Heel Staff

A special meeting of the entire editorial staff of the Daily Tar Heel has been called for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the publication office in Graham Memorial.

All staff members are required to be present.

GOLDSBORO WINS HIGH SCHOOL CUP

Aycock Award Goes to '35 Winner for Third Time; Greensboro Is Other Finalist.

Goldsboro high school, duplicating its feat of the 1930 and 1931 debate seasons, again took home the 23-year-old treasured Aycock cup after defeating Greensboro in Memorial hall last night.

Her affirmative team represented by Powell Bland and Maurice Edwards, Goldsboro successfully declared that "the United States should adopt the policy of extending federal aid to general public education."

Greensboro, 1927 winner, was represented by Joe Stone and David Stafford.

Reception Follows Debate

Concluding a two-day program for the annual State High School Week, last night's debate was followed by a reception for the visitors in Graham Memorial. The University Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Earl Slocum, opened the evening program with a half-hour of symphonic music.

Dean Francis F. Bradshaw made the presentation of the famous Aycock cup to the Goldsboro team. Dean D. D. Carroll and Dr. Harold D. Meyer also appeared on the evening's program, which was directed by E. R. Rankin of the University extension division and secretary of the N. C. High School Debating Union. Mr. Meyer made the presentation of the sports awards.

Mullis' Dream Realized; Frosh Dance Successful

Under decorations of Carolina's Blue and White, the freshman class enjoyed its long-awaited dance last night in the Tin Can.

The first-year men strutted their stuff to the tunes of Billy Knauff's orchestra, with few upper classmen present to beat their time.

The feature of the evening came when shortly before intermission tuxedo-clad dance leaders and their dates, performing the same figure as that used at the mid-winters, had the floor to themselves in putting on their much-practiced act.

SUMMER SESSION FACULTY TO HAVE NOTED OUTSIDERS

Recently Issued Catalog Lists 23 Visiting Instructors; Many Are Nationally Famous.

SEVERAL HERE BEFORE

Twenty-three visiting instructors, many of them nationally and internationally famous, will teach during the 1935 University summer session, according to the recently issued catalog of the session.

A number of the visitors are already personally well-known in Chapel Hill, having taught or studied here before. Among the latter group are Drs. John T. Krumpelmann, professor of German at Marshall College, and Albert R. Newsom, secretary of the North Carolina Historical Commission, both of whom were former regular professors here.

Other Instructors

Other instructors not new here are: Drs. Henry N. DeWick, instructor in psychology, University of Rochester; William E. Drake, associate professor of the education extension division, Pennsylvania State College; J. Will French, superintendent of schools, Tulsa, Okla.; Karl Claude Garrison, professor of psychology, N. C. State College, and Joshua R. Reynolds, assistant professor of biology, Birmingham Southern College; Francis Speight, instructor in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts; Frederick C. Shepard, professor of education, Guilford College, and Jack Dendy, professor of biology, Brevard College.

Teachers new here this year are: Drs. Carter Alexander, library professor, Teachers College, Columbia University; David H. Bishop, professor of English and vice-chancellor, University of Mississippi; John M. Steadman, professor of English, Emory University; Benjamin F. Swalin, professor of violin, school of music, De Pauw University; Holland Thompson, professor of history, College of the City of New York; and Anthony P. Wagener, professor of ancient languages, College of

(Continued on page three)

PLAYERS TO GIVE "WATER" TONIGHT

Public Invited to Experimental Production of Play.

The Carolina Playmakers will present an experimental production of Alton Williams' new original full-length play "Water" tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Playmaker theatre. All dramatic students and others particularly interested in the drama are invited.

Williams, assistant to Proff Koch for the past two years, writes of his native Californians in this story of the struggle of the early San Joaquin Valley settlers to prevent later emigrants from stealing their hard-won irrigation water and driving them from the farms which they had created for themselves by their pioneer irrigation projects.

This far-western author has written two other plays, both one-act productions, about the western scene, "Golden Wedding" and "Bought with the Vittles," which were both presented experimentally by the Playmakers last year.

Students Express Feeling In Rally Condemning War

Inter-Dorm Banquet

All dormitory councilors who desire to attend the inter-dormitory banquet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in Graham Memorial and who have not yet made arrangements with their dormitory presidents are requested to get in touch with Albert Ellis, council president, in Old East before 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The councilors are planning to take dates to the affair and attend the Grail dance afterwards in a body.

AUTHORS REVIEW BURLINGTON CASE

New Carolina Magazine Issue Carries Article on Threat to Engineering School.

The April issue of the Carolina Magazine which appeared last night carries the two feature articles, "Must We Lose the Engineering School?" by Bruce Old, a graduate student in chemical engineering, and "Dynamite in Burlington," by W. T. Couch, director of the University Press, and J. O. Bailey of the English department.

The article on engineering is an attempt to call the attention of Carolina students to the very real threat of the local engineering school's being moved to Raleigh. Such action was discussed by the board of trustees but was deferred until June.

Thorough Analysis

Old has made a thorough analysis of the claims of those groups which insist that the two schools should be combined and finds them groundless. He takes a position contrary to the previous plans and states that if the two schools are consolidated it is the state school which should be transferred.

The article on the Burlington case is the result of a three-month investigation in the struggle of the six mill workers convicted of dynamiting the E. M. Holt plaid mill. The author seeks to show that the convicted men did not have an adequate trial and that an appeal should be granted.

Article on Hearst

"Such the Kingdom of Hearst," by David Vernon Lowry, who traces the newspaper magnate's career from his expulsion from Harvard in the 80's to his recent "Red" baiting activities, is another article of interest.

Other articles are "Faulkner Before 'Sanctuary'," by Bill Hudson, "The Agrarians—They've Taken Their Stand," by Richard Waymire, "Raleigh Politicians Love the Negro," by E. C. Daniel, and "Thomas Wolfe Hungers On," by Joe Sugarman, the editor.

Also included in the magazine are a short story, "Back to the Devil," by Vernon Crook, poems, and a full page cartoon by Vass Shephard.

Senior Regalia

Today is the last day for members of the senior class to have themselves measured for the Senior Week regalia. Seniors who have not already been measured should do so at once in the Student Co-operative Store.

SPEAKERS OPPOSE ARMED CONFLICT

Phillips Russell, Reverend Donald Stewart, Dave Lewis Address Meeting.

MOVEMENT NATION-WIDE

A hand-clapping 900 cheered anti-war speakers in Memorial hall yesterday morning at 10:30 when the student body moved indoors on account of bad weather to stage their mass protest against armed conflict.

Delegate to Brussels Phillips Russell, Presbyterian Minister Donald Stewart and Sarcastic Dave Lewis "pitched into" Presiding Officer Phil Hammer's address program and led the energetic students in the expression of their feeling against warfare.

"Use Common Sense"

Young Russell told the Carolina audience that he did not advocate "layin' down" or being un-patriotic but that he thought the matter of war an issue which should be outlawed by common-sense—before the immediate danger for it arises.

"It is hard to feel any purpose in being a gentleman in a world run on barbaric principles of war, which murders its products," declared the Reverend Donald Stewart who faced the enthusiastic audience after Russell.

"War a Racket

Denouncing war a "racket, a futile thing, an explosion," Stewart outlined a four-point program that "youth must and can do." We must renounce war personally, in the first place, pointed out Stewart.

"It is time now for those who will be expected to be pawns in the next war to call the hand of militarism," said the Presbyterian preacher. "If we are going

(Continued on page two)

VIOLENCE MARKS STUDENT STRIKES

Riots Break Out in Chicago and Los Angeles as Anti-War Demonstrations Proceed.

April 12.—(UP)—American campuses seethed today with a national student strike against war. Young leaders estimated the participation of a hundred and fifty thousand in the nation-wide demonstrations.

They hope that youth, by refusing to fight, will abolish war.

Girls Clubbed

The walkout, at 11 a. m. was generally peaceful. The University of Chicago and the Los Angeles Junior College were exceptions. The opposition of the faculty and unsympathetic students caused fighting at Los Angeles, in which the police clubbed two girl pacifists unconscious. The meeting dispersed.

The Chicago foes of the strike hurled eggs and bricks on the demonstrants until the police with night sticks ended the row, and the meeting continued.

Washington collegians delivered at the White House the "solemn pledge that we won't support the government in any war that it may conduct." They left a resolution addressed to Roosevelt protesting armaments, naval maneuvers, and military training in schools.

The Daily Tar Heel

The official newspaper of the Publications Union Board of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where it is printed daily except Mondays, and the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Spring Holidays. Entered as second class matter at the post office of Chapel Hill, N. C., under act of March 3, 1879. Subscription price, $3.00 for the college year.

A. T. Dill ..... Editor
Robert C. Page, Jr. ..... Managing Editor
Joe Webb ..... Business Manager
Joe Robinson ..... Circulation Manager

Editorial Staff

EDITORIAL BOARD—Phil Hammer, chairman, Earl Wolslagel, Franklin Harward, John Schulz, DuPont Snowden, Morty Slavin, Sam Leager, Dick Myers, Charles Lloyd, Jake Snyder, Phil Kind, Charles Daniel, George Butler, Don Wetherbee, Don McKee.

FEATURE BOARD—Francis Clingman and Willis Harrison, co-chairmen, Nick Read, Bob Browder, J. E. Poindexter, W. M. Cochrane, Nelson Lansdale.

CITY EDITORS—Walter Hargett, Jim Daniel, Reed Sarratt, Eddie Kahn.

TELEGRAPH EDITORS—Charlie Gilmore, Bill Jordan.

DESK MEN—Stuart Rabb and Mac Smith.

SPORTS DEPARTMENT—Jimmy Morris and Stuart Sechriest, co-editors, Tom Bost, Lee Turk, Len Rubin, Fletcher Ferguson, Lester Ostrow, Ira Sarasohn.

EXCHANGES—Margaret Gaines.

STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER—Don Becker.

REPORTERS—Bill Hudson, J. F. Jonas, Lawrence Weisbrod, Hazel Beacham, Morton Feldman, Ralph Sprinkle, Newton Craig.

Business Staff

ASST. BUSINESS MANAGER ..... Butler French
COLLECTION MANAGER ..... Herbert Osterheld
OFFICE MANAGERS ..... Walter Eckert, Roy Crooks
NATIONAL ADVERTISING ..... Boylan Carr
DURHAM REPRESENTATIVE—Joe Murnick.
LOCAL ADVERTISING—Hugh Primrose, Robt. Sosnik, Eli Joyner, Niles Bond (managers), Louis Shaffner, Bill MacDonald, Page Keel, Bill McLean, Crist Blackwell.

CITY EDITOR FOR THIS ISSUE: REED SARRATT

Saturday, April 13, 1935

PARAGRAPHICS

So the Publications Union Board has decided there are too many keys to the journalistic situation.

The nobodies accuse the Interfraternity Council of being anybodies. Any argument along this line will lead nowhere, we don't think.

"Denying the possibility of the dance being 'sticky,' Class President Clyde Mullis asks the freshmen to secure dates if possible." In other words, it'll be a good dance—if possible.

De-Militarizing
A Slow Process

The anti-war expression yesterday morning was gratifying to all concerned. An orderly and well-conducted demonstration, the appeal for peace was well received and, we believe, appreciated and digested.

An emotional or hysterical demonstration has not half the effect of a quiet and sincere attempt to apply thought to the problem. On the other hand, it is this hysteria, this propagandizing appeal, which drags thousands upon thousands into war when the emotions of a nation let go under the war strain.

Where does the difference lie, in these two appeals, one so effective, for war, and the other, seemingly futile, against it?

When the war propaganda sweeps a nation in a flood of emotional rallying to the cause, there is something to follow it up, something which makes the propaganda seem real and true and a part of patriotic response to a nation's needs. But when we shout against war from the platform, it is an ephemeral voice and soon forgotten. For in our comparative isolation in this country, when news reports of impending war are so many and so often confused, the whole fight against armed conflict seems futile, foolish, and unnecessary.

Consequently, it takes a steady, slow building-up process to rouse the people to the realization that war is hell, that war is unnecessary. And this slow process must, to be effective, be the result of sincere thought and conscientious effort. Then, and only then, can there ever be formed a unified stand for peace which can and must hold its position in the face of the hysteria-bitten "nationalists" who, with the munitions makers and the international ambassadors-of-ill-will, strive to stir us to fight, for their own profit or baseless ideals or economic benefit.

It Has Its
Disadvantages

The move on the part of the Interfraternity Council to have chapter presidents represent the fraternities is both good and bad.

The Council's authority might be made more obvious, its business hastened, its impotence somewhat removed, but what about next year, when a new set of chapter presidents gets together to do business? Being inexperienced at Council work, although ostensibly skilled in the fraternity game, they might be at a slight disadvantage.

Nevertheless, the advantages are easily apparent and it is encouraging to see a spirit of improvement, or tendencies toward improvement, by such a representative campus group.

When Will
We Grow Up?

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of Hell Week, paddles, and poor, downtrodden, abused and misunderstood freshmen. It seems that once each year, along with the budding out of the trees and flowers, man's more savage instincts experience a re-awakening, and manifest themselves in the phenomenon of college life known as Hell Week.

This season of the year does bring out a lot of laughs, it is true, but there is one aspect of it which has neither humor nor disciplinary value. That is, the old barbaric custom of paddling. Education may be absorbed, Joe College may become Mr. Joseph J. College, Jr., college life may come to mean more than merely a series of dances and parties, but still we revert to the childish, savage, ridiculous, and thoroughly insupportable rite of the paddle. Our hope for the future of the human race has received a slight boost in the knowledge that there are some fraternities and organizations on the campus with a mature enough viewpoint to dispense with their paddles, but there is still to be heard at this season the loud whacks of wood meeting flesh.

While there is no excuse whatever for paddling in any organization on the campus, there is less than no excuse for the existence of such a custom in the supposedly honorary societies. Why honor, distinction, achievement should be rewarded with the childish, undignified, and useless paddle-waving is a thing which is quite beyond our feeble powers of comprehension. And why a new fraternity brother should be welcomed with a lusty swat on the rear, is another incomprehensible item in the great life known as college days, or should we say college daze.

We like
To Relax

We submit our rather tardy felicitations to the management of Graham Memorial for getting back into the swing of Sunday afternoon concerts in the lounge. Of course, the presentation was in conjunction with a student entertainment series but we hope that was not the only reason for its being sponsored. There is widespread approbation and appreciation on the part of students for Sunday afternoon programs.

Last spring the lounge was consistently crowded with students and faculty and townspeople, who found great rest and enjoyment in the comfortable chairs and attractive surroundings. It is rather interesting to notice that many of the busiest and most efficient undergraduate leaders are conspicuously relaxing on the big sofas when the sweet music and early evening combine to end up a justly-famous Chapel Hill Sunday.

Tomorrow afternoon the choral club will present a concert in Hill Music hall and again we express our appreciation. Hill Music hall is, also, a comfortable place and it means a lot to some of us harried students to stretch out and enjoy some real music once in a while.

Death in The Mausoleum

Our stalwart debaters battled manfully against N. Y. U. recently on this query: Resolved, that Japan's policy in the Far East is comparable to the Monroe Doctrine of the United States.

The question is of momentous import. Nations will bite pencils nervously, stay up nights, become cross and anxious in this state of horrible suspense. Something must be done.

But Chapel Hill is impervious. We are dullards here. All we can do is ask: do you wonder Gerrard hall looks like a mausoleum on debate nights?

The Truth Is Desired

"Some 95 per cent of the advertising is done by a comparatively small group of people and they sell over 80 per cent of the goods," replied Mr. Sully, representative of the National Cash Register Co., when asked what he considered the best argument to advance to prospective advertisers.

Speaking here before a class of commerce and journalistic students, Mr. Sully stated that advertising was a requisite part of the structure of all successful concerns. The growth of his own company, he declared, bore a close parallel to the expenditures allotted for advertising.

With the augmenting number of mediums—radio, theatre, billboard, newspapers, and magazines—the merchant must bear in mind the class of people whom he desires to reach and use the medium which will prove most effective.

While admitting that bad advertising is better than no advertising, Mr. Sully declared, of a heterogeneous group of people which were interviewed, that "57 per cent of them said they didn't believe what they saw in advertisements and 90 per cent of the people would like to see reliable information given."

In recent years, much impetus has been given to make advertising more valid; one of the most notable actions has been that of the Federal Trade Commission and their issuance of "cease and desist" orders. Resultant has been the conformity of many flagrant violaters to the new standards.

Casual Correspondent
by Nelson Lansdale

DOG HAIRS

Faculty Chairman Harland of the Student Entertainment Committee tells us that the program notes for the University of Michigan Little Symphony's night concert were written by the University's own Thor Johnson. The squib about Johann Strauss, whose overture to the operetta "Die Fledermaus" they played contained the first conscious humor we've ever seen on a student entertainment program. In case you missed it, here it is: "In 1872, Strauss came to America to play in Boston accompanied by his wife and a poodle. The latter was not only a companion, but was of great service to Mme. Strauss in fulfilling the requests of innumerable ladies who wrote ardent letters to the great violinist and composer in which they begged for a lock of his hair."

NOTE OF NOSTALGIA

Maybe you'll appreciate the annual wonder that is spring in Chapel Hill a little more after this comment from a Carolina graduate who is now in New York: "I can't conceive of spring weather—except that mothed did send me a box of lilacs several days ago. I adore them, and I suppose she was tired of having me write about the disagreeable weather—except that mother did dead now, but I haven't the nerve to throw them out."

From which it would appear that no matter how frenzied and over-scheduled the spring quarter is here, we've a lot to be thankful for.

WHO'D RATHER BE WRONG THAN BE PRESIDENT?

Now that what little political uproar there was has subsided, it's seasonable to remind you that Phi Gamma Delta's efficient, omnipotent Herb Taylor, unquestioned head of the University Party, last year won the presidency of the law school running independently against a frame-up!

THE MATTER OF PEACE

When the Presbyterian church's brilliant young Englishman, Donald Stewart, approached the microphone to speak in Memorial hall yesterday at the protest against war, somebody in the back of the audience shouted "Sissy!" We're not much given to moralizing, but it's the opinion of this department that that vociferous imbecile ought to be taken out and hanged as quietly as possible.

Any man with an idea deserves a hearing. This, in his own words, was Stewart's: "For God's sake, let us die for that which doesn't mock us when we're through!"

LETTER TO THE EDITORS

We can't resist the temptation to quote a little from a recent letter of Don Shoemaker's: "Having been an editor, let me warn you against such venal sins as (1) taking yourself too seriously, (2) not taking yourself seriously enough, (3) having opinions, (4) not having opinions, and (5) worrying about anything but the crease in your slacks . . ."

GRAIL DANCE TONIGHT

With Bill Allsbrook and his orchestra furnishing the music, the first Grail dance of the quarter will begin tonight at 9 o'clock in the Tin Can.

Freshmen, as well as all others, will be admitted to the dance for $1, according to Simmons Patterson, treasurer.

Anti-War Rally

(Continued from page one)

to die, then let's die for something that won't mock us."

Secondly, the sovereignty of states must be challenged. "The anarchy of irresponsible states must give way to the control of nations by an international law," declared Mr. Stewart.

Thirdly, we must say farewell to isolation policies. "The world is a boarding house," he said, "and it matters what others do in it. Uncle Sam can't expect eternal food in the dining room if John Bull or any other plays hell in the larder."

Peace Without Victory

In the last place, we must create the will to peace without victory. Treaties must quit favoring the "haves" and attempting to justify the "have-nots" for sooner or later other wars will be the result, indicated Mr. Stewart. "Conference tables will do better when we have less Shylocks," he stated.

Concluding his vigorous address, the Reverend Mr. Stewart declared that "if we believe that peace is better than war, that conversation is better than fisticuffs, that understanding our neighbors is better than killing them and mean it, then we can help to make a better and better world if we wish to, where wars shall decreasingly be—just because they are not our way, and because we will not be used by others in that way to settle differences between nations."

Dave Lewis Speaks

Carolina Student Dave Lewis took the stand and with several biting remarks, picked up the intense feeling where Stewart and Russell had brought it. Lewis' talk concluded the mass meeting. The anti-war movements questionnaire sheets were distributed among the audience who repaired to their classes to continue the protest against war discussion.

Hammer's anti-war-group-sponsored meeting was duplicated throughout the whole United States in various colleges and universities. Yesterday's program, originally planned for an open-air affair in front of South building, had to be moved in on account of the weather.

"Stabat Mater"

The Chapel Hill Choral Club will sing Rossini's "Stabat Mater" tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in Hill Music hall.

Alumni Meetings

(Continued from page one)

Carolina at the meeting of the Louisiana alumni in New Orleans yesterday.

Dr. Knight and Dr. Pierson both are attending the Diamond Jubilee and conference commemorating the 75th anniversary of the founding of Louisiana State University.

The two men are appearing on the celebration program which began April 4 and will continue through today.

Dr. William Morton Dey, head of the French department; W. T. Couch, director of the University Press, and Dr. L. R. Wilson, dean of the school of library science at the University of Chicago, and formerly librarian at the University, are also appearing on the various conference programs.

After the Baton Rouge meeting they will go to New Orleans for the alumni meeting. Before returning to Carolina the two University heads will visit the University of Mississippi, Alabama, Furman University, Converse College and Wofford College in the interest of the graduate school for the summer session.

Patronize Our Advertisers

LOST

Tortoise-shell glasses in brown soft leather case, stamped "McClelland." D. Myers, 414 Ruffin.

The Newest in Slacks

RING

SLACKS

5.95 thru 9.85

Very unusual patterns including shetlands, gabardines, flannels, doeskins, etc.

OTHER SLACKS AT

$3—$4—$5

●

TAB COLLAR SHIRTS

In Woven Mauras Materials

1.50

●

The Young Men's Shop

126-128 E. Main St.

DURHAM

POE'S AUTO SERVICE

DeSoto and Plymouth Sales and Service
CALL US FOR A DEMONSTRATION
We repair all makes of cars. Have your brakes relined with Grey-Rock Balanced Brakset, and your valves ground for summer weather.

FORUM DEBATE

Louisiana State University
on
"What Is the Solution for the Question of Collective Bargaining"

PLANS FOR U. N. C.—Ralph Burgin, W. T. Chichester.
Audience Vote on Best Plan Presented
GERRARD HALL—SATURDAY, APRIL 13
8:00 P. M.

Debate on Medicine
U. N. C. vs. Emory University
on
RESOLVED: That the Several States Should Adopt Legislation Providing to the Citizens at Nominal Costs General Medical Care and the Services of Hospitals and Clinics.

The University will be represented on the negative by Winthrop Durfee and Jack Voliva
GERRARD HALL—SATURDAY, APRIL 13
7:00 P. M.

Tar Heel Nine Will Clash With State Here At 3:00

Tilt with Leaksville Called Off, Wet Field

Webster or Wright, Carolina Rookies, to Face Freeman, Who Fanned Babe Ruth.

REX IS WOLFPACK STAR

STATE	CAROLINA
Going, 2b	Vick, cf
Williams, 1b	Rand, 2b
Lambeth, ss	Irwin, ss
Rex, lf	McIver, lf
Northwood, cf	Tatum, 1b
Ware, 3b	Strayhorn, c
Bugg, rf	Shapiro, rf
Staton, c	Montgomery or Bullard, 3b
Freeman, p	Wright or Webster, p

Unless the 10-day-old April shower interferes, Carolina's nine will start the defense of its Southern Conference championship on Emerson field this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Wet grounds caused the postponement of yesterday's scheduled game between the Tar Heels and Leaksville, making the third tilt out of five that Carolina has had to call off.

Webster or Wright

Latcher Webster was picked to start yesterday's contest and Irby Wright today's. Coach Bunn Hearn may send either one of these rookies to the mound this afternoon depending on how each looks.

Ray Freeman, who has already been a sensation in the box this year, will begin the hurling for the Wolfpack with Flythe being held in reserve. Freeman gained fame by fanning the once mighty Babe Ruth when State met the Braves in an exhibition game some two weeks ago.

The four-letter man Ray Rex is the big gun in State's attack. The hefty leftfielder has been hitting plenty hard so far this year and so have Lambeth, shortstop, and Northwood, centerfielder.

Carolina's nine has as yet failed to show the power which carried it through 20 games successfully last season although some of the team did come to life against Wake Forest in the last of the seventh to stage one of the old characteristic rallies. These rallies featured nearly every tilt last season.

Coach Hearn is especially anxious to see his rookie pitchers in action against real competition.

The tilt will be the first in the Big Five for State and as a result will entirely determine the Wolfpack's position in the race for the present.

SPRING WRESTLING

Spring wrestling will begin Monday at 4 p. m., according to an announcement made by Coach Quinlan. Practice will last three weeks.

It is necessary for all wrestlers to be out for practice. Standing will be stressed. Since there was a lack of space during the winter, this is the only time it can be stressed.

WILMINGTON COPS HIGH NET CROWN

All-Around Play of Morris Canady Is Highlight of Scholastic Tennis Tournament.

Morris Canady's consistent forehand and never-die spirit brought the state high school title to Wilmington late yesterday afternoon.

The chunky youth showed a remarkable degree of tenacity in staving off Rawlings' rally in winning the final from the Winston-Salem representative 6-2, 9-11, 6-2.

Play Doubles Today

The doubles tournament will be completed early this morning with Charlotte and Winston-Salem set to battle it out. Approaching darkness caused this arrangement and the boys are remaining over night to compete in this final.

Rawlings and Croom, Winston-Salem, defeated Wilmington 6-3, 6-3, and Turner-Beatty, Charlotte, beat Washington 6-3, 4-6, 6-1 to reach the final.

Canady eliminated Durham in the semi-final, routing Sloan 6-2, 6-1. Canady was altogether too steady for his opponent.

In the other semi-final, Rawlings had blasted home town hopes by decisively scoring over Jordan, Chapel Hill, 6-3, 6-1. Rawlings played fine ball throughout the day and looked grand with his splendid returns and well-rounded strokes.

Canady, although lacking a forehand volley, managed to stop Rawlings after a bitter second set, that took an hour to play.

Coach Kenfield, Carolina mentor, remarked later that the singles final was the best he has seen in any high school tournament during the past six years.

Summer Session

(Continued from page one)

William and Mary.

Robert C. Beatty, associate professor of sociology, University of Florida; Helen Louise Butler, associate professor of librarianship, University of Denver; Ralph S. Collins, Coon High School, Wilson, N. C.; Lucile Nix, assistant reference librarian, Emory University; Jan Philip Schinman, head of the department of organ, San Francisco Conservatory; and Leslie P. Spelman, director of the department of music, Meredith College.

Mayor John M. Foushee Wins Theatre Prize

"Thirteen fifty!" An excited murmur ran through the crowd of would-be prize winners last night at the Carolina theatre as the lucky number was sung out by the ushers, but the bearer of the lucky ticket was not present.

Presently, however, Mayor Foushee, the winner, bland and bespectacled, elbowed his way through the out-going throng to collect his $30.

FROSH NETSTERS PLAY WILMINGTON THIS AFTERNOON

Ramsay Potts Will Hold Number One Position on Strong Freshman Outfit.

TO START AT 3 O'CLOCK

The freshman tennis team, long obscured by the varsity activities, comes into its own today when it meets the Wilmington high school aggregation at 3 o'clock.

Although this is only the second match for the frosh, their strength is well-known and they are heavy favorites to rout their youthful opponents.

Potts at Top

Ramsay Potts, top junior player in the south, will open the meet in first singles. He will probably clash racquets with Morris Canady, newly crowned high school champion.

Eddy Fuller will certainly play in second place. He is also another remarkable frosh star and is a likely winner. The remaining positions may be juggled by Coach Kenfield, who has now had an additional week to survey the various players.

Gordon Robinson, Johnny Foreman, and Frank Farrel seem to be the other probable starters. The sixth singles is very much in doubt with Earl Ruth, Ray Bartleman, Vic Strasberger, and Seymore Fast listed as possibilities.

If a large enough lead is garnered in the singles, Coach Kenfield expects to throw a new set of boys into the fray. This was done against the Duke frosh with almost disastrous results.

HIGH POINT WINS SCHOLASTIC MEET FOR STATE TITLE

Track Champs Are Pushed Hard By Durham Team; Goldsboro Takes Third.

SUTHERLAND IS BIG STAR

A well-balanced group of tracksters from High Point proved a bit too much for the defending champions of Durham to handle, and yesterday won the state interscholastic crown in the annual meet held on Emerson field.

The winners amassed a total of 29 1-3 points, while Durham came into the runner-up post with 23 1-2. Goldsboro was third with 22 1-6, and Charlotte fourth with 17 1-3.

Sutherland Stars

Though Captain Sam Sutherland was the star of the meet, his Durham team mates could not keep pace and allowed the High Point team to go on to victory.

Sutherland, who last year annexed the quarter-mile title, returned yesterday to lead the sprinters as he captured both the 100 and 220-yard dashes in fine style.

In the century he won by six yards, but in the latter more than doubled this margin. Griffin of Goldsboro and Napier of Rockingham followed Sutherland to the tape in both races.

Hendrix Wins Mile

Perhaps another boy to share the spotlight should be Hendrix of Greensboro. He won the mile event and was also responsible for his team's victory in

(Continued on last page)

Rubin Boys Will Display Famous Brother Act In Ping Pong Tourney

Player Number Six in National Ranking and Freshman Brother Will Make Family Affair of Coming Table Tennis Tournament; Elder Rubin Is Favored to Win.

In line with the famous "Dean show" another brother act will be staged this Thursday evening in the Tin Can, when Rudy Rubin, the sixth ranking player in the United States, clashes with his kid brother, Len Rubin, who is recognized as the foremost table tennis exponent at the University.

This feature family tilt will be played as part of the exhibition scheduled for that night. Despite the fact that brotherly love exists between the two, their battle should be one of the closest ever waged in this vicinity.

Brother Superiority

Although Len has never beaten his famous brother he is determined to turn the trick this time. All previous encounters between the two have been confined to the ole homestead, and this will be their initial public competitive get-together.

Like most big brothers Rudy would not relish defeat at the hands of the later addition to the family, and consequently he is equally determined to keep Len from achieving a seemingly improbable victory.

Among the elder Rubin's conquests are listed the Bronx championship and the Great Lakes doubles championship, which he won along with the national champ, Abe Berenbaum. Rudy is one of the cleverest of the penholder players now at large in the states.

Popular Favorite

He is noted for his consistent driving and for his excellent use of the drop shot. At all cities in which the troupe have played, Rudy has been a favorite with the crowd, and his visit to Chapel Hill will undoubtedly do a lot towards making the school table tennis conscious.

In 1934 he got as far as the semi-finals in the national singles play before losing out. His entrance into the N. Y. U. law school prevented him from entering the 1935 nationals, but his fine playing in the local tournaments kept his reputation intact.

The National Table Tennis Association has ranked the kid brother Len as the 32nd best in the United States, which doesn't

(Continued on last page)

Track Practice

Varsity and freshman track squads will hold today's practice session at 11:30 o'clock this morning, Coach Dale Ranson announced late yesterday afternoon.

FROSH DIAMOND OUTFIT PREPARES FOR FIRST GAME

Yearlings Will Hold Practice Session at 1:30 Today.

Although their opening tilt with the Augusta Military Academy is but two days off, the yearling baseball squad has been prevented by inclement weather from doing any serious training.

Coach James will attempt to get his team in ship shape by today's practice which gets under way at 1:30 sharp. Batting and fielding drills climaxed by an intra squad game is to be the program of the last practice prior to the opener.

Humphries to Pitch

The first nine appears to be settled and the game will probably see the same men on the field who have played on the regular outfit this past week. Johnny Humphries is slated to pitch with the peppery Bricklemyer behind the plate.

The infield will have Pete Boone around the first sack; Tom Carver will be the guardian of the second base; Steve Collins will occupy the shortstop post, and Bunny Burnette will take care of the hot corner.

Coffey will be in right field; Shore in center, and Lloyd in left. The frosh have shown themselves to be as capable in fielding as they have been at the bat, and despite the fact that the Cadets are bringing their big berthas with them, the frosh will be ready to put up a strong first line defense.

Symphonic Choir

(Continued from page one)

by many critics "a human orchestra."

Music lovers all over America have flocked to hear the concerts of the European singers, and today the Russian Choir has its own definite niche in the American music world, and has come to be the choral group by which others are judged.

Miller at Blacksburg Meeting

Acting Dean Wm. J. Miller of the School of Engineering is in Blacksburg, Va., attending the southern district meeting of the student branches of A. I. E. E. He is accompanied by a deputation of students composed of Walter Gordy, Earnie Eutsler, and A. J. Snively.

Baseball Game

The Carolina-State baseball game on Emerson field this afternoon will start at 3 o'clock. Students may get in with passbooks, while all others will be admitted for 50 cents.

Tar Heel Golfers Defeat Augusta Junior College

Linksmen Chalk Up Fourth Win, 15½-2½

Dick Harris Blanks Opponent; Wilson Coffin Replaces Pijanowski in Lineup.

LAXTON SHOOTS LOW 75

Playing during a slow drizzle and on a wet course the varsity golfers beat Augusta Junior College 15½-2½ yesterday for the fourth victory in five starts.

The meet was one-sided throughout the play and in spite of the hampering weather conditions no upsets occurred. All the favorites came through in grand style with the result that no Tar Heel allowed more than one point to be scored on him.

Laxton Shoots 75

Low score honors went to Erwin Laxton with a 75, while Stafford with a 77 was medalist for the losers. No doubt the respective scores would have been two or three strokes lower if the grounds were in better playing condition.

Acting Captain Erwin Laxton as usual was lead off man meeting Luther Stafford in the opening match of the meet. Laxton played a good game, getting off some beautiful drives to beat Stafford 2½-½.

Dick Harris easily blanked his opponent, Emile Humme, in the second of the singles match by a score of 3-0. This was Harris' fourth individual match out of five starts.

Coffin in Lineup

Wilson Coffin took Pijanowski's place in the third position and brought in a 2-1 victory over Joe Stubb of Augusta Junior College.

The final of the singles matches was won by Horace Hamilton, the only sophomore competing for the winners. Hamilton beat Hampton Bryson who played the fourth position for the losers, by a 3-0 score.

The first of the doubles matches saw Laxton and Harris teamed together against Stafford and Humme. The first two Carolina linksmen blanked their visiting opponents by a 3-0 score.

The final doubles match of the meet resulted in Coffin and Hamilton teaming up against Stubb and Bryson and beating the Augusta Junior College pair 2-1.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

CAROLINA
TODAY
GLORIA STUART
in
"Maybe It's Love"
—Also—
STAR NIGHT AT THE COCOANUT GROVE
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer MUSICAL REVUE
Produced in TECHNICOLOR

GRAIL DANCE
TONIGHT
Tin Can 9-12
Music by
BILL ALLSBROOK
And His Orchestra
Freshmen Admitted

WITH THE CHURCHES

Presbyterian

10 a. m.—Student class taught by Rev. Watt Cooper. Topic: "The Problem of Human Suffering."

11 a. m.—Service and sermon, Rev. Donald Stewart, "Sincerity."

7 p. m.—Discussion, led by Mr. Stewart, "War Clouds over Europe."

Methodist

9:45 a. m.—Sunday school.

11 a. m.—Service and sermon, Rev. W. A. Jenkins.

7 p. m.—Student forum.

Lutheran

10:15 a. m.—Sunday school discussion led by Eugene Bricklemyer.

11 a. m.—Service and sermon, Rev. Roscoe Fisher, "Jesus Weeps over Jerusalem."

Baptist

10 a. m.—Student class taught by M. J. Hagood.

10 a. m.—Co-ed class taught by Mrs. E. T. Howell.

11 a. m.—Service and sermon, Dr. O. T. Binkley, "Christian Religion and Human Relations."

7 p. m.—B. Y. P. U. for college students.

7 p. m.—Young people's society for high school students.

United

10 a. m.—Student Bible class, "The Significance of Palm Sunday."

11 a. m.—Sermon, Dr. W. J. McKee, "The Message of the Cross to Twentieth Century Christians."

